XXII. He beareth Gules, a Shoveller Argent, born by Lancford. In Heraldry, antiquity hath drawn this Fowl with a hairy tuft behind its head, and a like tuft hanging down from the middle of the Breast, with a loose dropping and falling Tail; which proportion we do keep for a Shoveller to this day: though I do confess naturally they have none of the foresaid things: but do in shape, and proportion, very much resemble the common Duck, whose description further take thus: the Bill is coal black, much broader at the tip end, then at the base, being of a round form and flat; at the end it hath a small crooked hook or nail, each mandible is pectinated, or toothed, like a Comb, with rays, or thin Plates, falling mutually one into another when the Mouth is shut; the Eyes yellow, Feet and Legs of a Vermilion colour, Claws black, hinder Toe little, the Membrane connecting the Toes, are Serrate or Toothed about the edges: the Head and the Neck half way are of a fair blew, (in some more dark or black, having a tincture of a deep shining green) the lower part of the Neck, and region of the Craw, are white: the rest of the Breast, Belly and Vent, are red: the under Tail black. The upper side as Shoulders, partly coloured of white and brown, the Back brown, with a light dash of a shining green, blew, or purple. The Feathers on the Thighs are adorned with transverse dusky lines. The ten first Quill Feathers are brown, the next ten a deep shining green, those next the Body white: the Feathers on the second row have white tips; the lesser covert Feathers are of a pleasant pale blew. The Tail is black edged on each side with white Feathers.

L. 1

of

S the like A born by Popeler.

S 3 such in Pale A born by Peplesham.

B 3 Shovellers heads crazed A born by Lary.

A a Shoveller B Beak and Legs G born by Lever or Leverpole.

XXIII. He beareth Argent, an Emew, or Emy, Sable. Crested, Palloped, and Legged Gules. This is a Fowl like to an Ostrich, of most Authors, named a Cassowary: it hath a horny Crown on the top of the Head, the Head and Neck bare of Feathers, only thin set with a hairy down, the skin is of a purplish blew colour, except the lower part of the Back of the Neck which is red, or Vermillion colour: in the lower part of the Neck hangs down two Wattles, or Lobs of flesh as low as the Breast, the Bill is straight, and sharp pointed, the Legs are thick and strong; with three Toes on each Foot, wanting a back Toe, the Claws long. It hath some rudiment of Wings, reather then Wings, consisting only of the naked shafts of Feathers, like Porcupines quills, having either no Webs, or else as if the Feathers were fretted away. It hath no Tail, but a great Body invested with blackish or dusky Feathers, of a rare texture which to one that beholds them at a little distance, they seem rather to be hairs then Feathers. Rough or Shagged like a Bears skin. This is born by Emew.

B 3 such head crazed A Crested and Wattled G. Born by Emewshall.

XXIV. He beareth Argent, the Head of a Crested Indian Bitterne, proper. The Crested Bitterne hath a long sharp pointed yellowish Bill, with a Comb like a Cock, on his Head red, this is a Water Fowl, in all parts of the Body, and feet like a Cook, with a little longer Neck, all over white, here and there spotted with ash colour: under the lower part of the Beak doth hang a kind of Pouch, or Bag, of a skinny substance in which they keep their provision, it is of a yellowish, and red colour. This is the Coate and Crest of Van Bitterstein, in Germany.

XXV. He beareth Azure, the Head of an Indian Bittern, Argent. This is the greater sort of Bittern that have Bags, or loose skinny Pouches under their Bill, whose description and colour is as followeth. The Bill is long and sharp pointed, with a hook at the end of the upper mandible, like a Birds Claw: the Eyes having a space between them and the Bill, naked or bare of Feathers; the Bill is of a Lead colour, yet yellowish at the end: the bagg which hangs at the lower Bill is skinny, which at its pleasure can contract and draw up, so to the Bill, that it is scarce conspicuous, other times it suffers the same to be so dilated as to receive and contain much Water and Fish; when this membranous skin is stretched, it appears transparent, so that many Fibres, and Veins may be seen running up and down through it; and are of a reddish yellow colour. Its Feathers are all white, yet those on the top of the Head, and behind off the Neck are longer then the rest, standing out like a Crest, and are of a yellowish colour. The Tail is short and sharp pointed, which with the Wings are of an ash colour, as in Geese. The Legs and Feet are of a Lead colour, the Shanks bare above the Knees, all the Toes are web'd together by a membrane, having no back Toe, see more of this numb. 65. The whole Bird is born by Bittern.

*

G 3 heads couped. Born by Scheckende of Germany.

XXVI. He beareth Azure, the Head of a Lever couped proper: of some termed a Shovellers head: this fowl is by Conradus Gesner fol. 641. called in Latin Pellicana, which he takes to be the Water Pellican, or Shoveller in England: but in Low Dutch Lepier, or Lepelaer, or Lester; from the Germane termed Lofster, which we more finely pronounce Leder: Yet Mr. Ray in the translation of the Ornithology terms this Bird, a Spoon Bill: and Onocrotalus to be the Pellican, whose figure I have set down, numb. 66, which may be taken rather for the Indian Bittern: set down numb. 24. Upon this account, then to term it either a Lever, Spoon Bill, or a Pellican, it may pass in Herauldry but no otherwise: whose description take thus: the Bill is long plain and broad, growing smaller from the Head till it came near the point, or end, and then dilated into an all most circular figure of the likeness of a Spoon, the broad part of the Bill graven with lines, or crevisses, but smooth in the Mouth; and is black in an old Bird, though a young Bill is white, or of a flesh colour: the Legs and Feet ash colour, and bare of Feathers half the Thighs, the Toes are joynd by a Membrane, that is to say, the outward and middle Toes, joynd to the second joynt; the middle and inward Toes to the first joynt: the Claws black. It is snow white all over the Body, only the Quill feathers are black; the Tail short. The Body in all parts and shape answereth that of the Crane, and the Tail of a Stork.

The Mexican Spoon Bill, its shape of Body is like the Lever, or Spoon Bill. The Bill of an ash colour, red Eyes: its Fore-head like that of a Turky, or Aura: the Head, and almost the whole Neck void of Feathers, and white, with a broad black Ring compassing the Head from the Neck: all the Plumage of the Body and Wings are of a most beautiful Scarlet, or pale red.

The British Spoon Bill, is the same in Body, but the Bill is white: Neck long, and is white all over, save the Back and Wings are of a pale carnation colour.

A a Lever B the Coat of the Town of Leverpole.

B 3 such heads couped. Born by Lever.

XXVII

XXVII. He beareth Gules, a Sea Pye, proper. Born by the name of Pye. This is called also a Turkey Sea Pye; and a Whole Footed Sea Pye. The Bill is dusky, the Head and about the Eyes bare of Feathers and red, with a white tuft of Feathers, from the Basis of the Bill to the hinder part of the Head, like the Crest of an Helmet; the Neck, Breast, Belly, and Wings all white, a broad Ring compassing the lower part of the Neck; the Back and Tail of a dark dusky colour. The Legs Feet, and Membrane connecting the Toes, ash colour: it wants a hinder Toe.

S 3 Sea Pyes proper. Born by Atcliffe.

B 3 Sea Pyes heads coupéd. Born by Sapy, also by Pijden.

XXVIII. He beareth Or, a Toucan, or a Brasilian Pye, proper. It is a Bird in the New found World, whose Bill is as large as all the Body: having two Claws before (though some Authors describe it irrationally, with three) and one behind: It is called by the Natives Toucan, or Toucan; see it further described chap. 11. numb. 80. By the name of Brasilian Pye.

A a Toucan, proper. Born by Brodbeske.

XXIX. He beareth Sable, an Owle Or. Born by the name of Owler. There are several sort of Owls of this shape, which are distinguished only by the bigness and colours, so that being born in Arms in their proper colours ought to be termed by such names; as,

The Toy Owle: of some termed the Screech Owle: this is the common Brown Owle, which in Latin is called Strix. The Bill is bending like a Hawks: and is of a horn colour or light blue, the Eyes black and great, the borders of the Eyes have red edges, a white circle of feathers compasses the Eyes and Chin, the exterior edges whereof are variegated with white, black and red. The back part of the Head, brown and dark. From the base of the Bill grows bristly Feathers with black shafts. All the Back part is partly coloured of ferrugineous and dark brown; that is, Waved with transverse lines succeeding one another, the Belly is the same, but more whitish. The Feet are covered down almost to the Claws, with dirty white Plumage, speckled with small dark specks, or Waved lines: the Wing feathers, and Tail, are marked with cross bars of a dirty white, and brown, or ferrugineous colour. The annular scales of the Legs a little bare at the parting of the Toes, which are of a blackish colour: they have two Toes standing forward, and two backward, as all Owls have.

The Grey Owle, hath the same description only using ash colour, for brown; and it hath long spots on the Breast, black: Feet yellowish.

The Church Owle, or Barn Owle, or White Owle, the Bill white, hooked at the end: a circle or wreath of white compassing the Eyes encompassed with yellow, beginning from the Nostrils on each side, passing round the Eyes, and under the Chin, resembling a Hood about a Womans face as they use to wear. The Eyes are covered with a Valve, which arises near the Eyes, and falls backwards. The Breast, and Belly, and under the Wings white, marked with a few quadrangular dark spots. The Head, Neck, and Back Waved with small whitish and blackish lines; the Wings and Tail, (for the Field or Ground seems to be) of a dilute tawny, or Orange colour, having transverse blackish bars: the Wings cloted are as long as the Tail: the Legs covered with a thick whitish down, the Feet only hairy: it hath but one Toe that stands backwards, yet the outmost Toe may be turned either way. It is in Latin called Aluco, which Margravius terms the Brasilian Cuidara.

The Alula, or Grey Owle; the Bill greenish, the Eyes great and black, covered over with an ash coloured nictating membrane: encompassed with white Feathers, within which Ring or Ambit, the borders of the Eyelids was a red circle: the Head, Back, Wings, Tail, were ash colour, speckled with whitish and black spots: the Belly white with blackish spots. The Legs ash colour being hairy down to the Claws. It is in most places with us termed the Owle, or Howlett, vulgarly an Hullert.

The Etone Owle, or Little Owle; it is no bigger then a Black Bird, yet carrieth the same shape of Body as other Nocturnal Birds: the Bill white. The Hood about the Face much less to be discernable; the upper parts of a dark brown, having transverse whitish spots: the Tail with white bars: the Chin and Breast white, the Belly marked with long dusky spots. The Wings marked with round white spots. The Legs hairy to the Feet, which are yellowish, and Claws black. Between the Eyes and the Bill grev certain Feathers like bristles; its called in Latin, Noctua.

The Brasilian Owle, called by them Cabure; hath a yellowish Bill, and Eyes, vvith a black Pupil: with dusky hairs about the Bill: the Legs and Feet wholly covered with yellow Feathers: the Head, Back, &c Wings, of a dilute umber colour, variegated with white spots: the Tail Waved with white bars, the Breast and Belly white with dilute umber spots. It is a very tameable Bird, and plays with Men like an Ape, and maketh Mouthes, and Antique mimical Faces, and snapeth with its Bill: also it can set up the Feathers on each side its Head as if it were Ears.

The Aluco, or Cuidara of Brasil, it is a kind of Owle, not unlike ours in shape, only a little differing in colour: the Bill and Claws white, Eyes black. The prone side, viz. the Breast and Belly spotted with great black spots: Head and Back, and Wings, and Tail variegated with whitish specks, the Legs feathered to the Feet, white; but the Feet with hair.

The American Owle, or Goat-sucker, called by them Ibijau: it is no bigger then our Swallow; black Eyes, the circle about of a yellowish white; a little small Bill, slit up to the Eyes: short white Legs, with three Toes forward, and one backward. The Breast and Belly speckled with white and black, like to a Sparrowhawk: the Head and Back, Wings and Tail black, speckled here and there with white. See chap. 13. numb. 5.

S 3 Owls A armed O. Born by Boughton.

S Cheveron between 3 such A born by Wood. The like by Griffith ap Jenkin. Also the same is born by Prescot; and Marlock de la Holme.

S Cheveron engrailed between 3 such A. Born by Hemitt.

A a Cheveron between 3 such B. Born by Hox, or Hooxe, now Hookes.

S an Escochion within an Orle of Owles A. Born by Calverley.

A an Owle G. Born by Harmart.

B an Owle crowned, standing on a ragged staff, O. Born by Van Gunterod.

XXX. He beareth Argent, an Horned Owle proper, born by Ouldbruex. It is called a Horned, or Eared Owle, in Latin Otus, or Asio, from certain small Feathers standing out on each side the Head in form of horns, or ears. This is termed also the Eagle Owle, and of this shape and form there is several species: as,

The Great Horne Owle, or Eagle-Owle, called in Latin Bubo; of the French called a Cat-Owle, because it resembles a Cats Face. The Bill short, black and hooked; the sides of the Nostrils have bristly hairs like beards: the colour all over the Body is various, of whitish, black, and reddish spots. The Legs hairy down to the Claws, of a pale red. The Breast more ash coloured, and marked with blackish spots. The Tail and Wing, Feathers divided into bars.

The Byzilian Eagle-Owle; called by them a Jacurutu, is as large as an Eagle, the least of the kind, as a Goose: hath a round Head like a Cat, the Bill hooked, and black: great round black Eyes, compassed with a yellow circle, the Feathers like Ears, are black: the Legs and Feet, hairy: three Toes forward, and one backward, yet the outmost Toe stands so as it may be removed back, as in other Owls. The Feathers of the whole body are elegantly variegated of yellow white, and black; the Wings and Tail divided into bars.

The Horned Owle, or Horn-Owle; called in Latin Otus, or Asio. The Bill is black, Irides of the Eyes yellow, the Ring of Feathers compassing the Face is of a double row, the exterior variegated with white, black, and red lines; the interior under the Eyes red: the Fore-head or end of the two Wreaths, more cinereous. The Breast, Belly, and Thighs, and Legs, reddish; speckled with white, black, and yellow. The Quill feathers of the Wing, with those of the Tail are crossed with black bars, ash colour and yellow. The Feet, and Claws black.

The little Horn-Owle, in Latin Scops: It is in form like the other Owls, but no bigger than a Thrush. The Bill black, the whole colour of the Body is a brown-red curiously speckled with Lead colour, and white spots. The Wing feathers, and Tail are crossed with transverse white spots: the Neck, and beginning of the Wings, are besprinkled with a lovely tincture of red: and the Belly is whiter then elsewhere, tipped with black. The Legs Feathered with a reddish ash colour: the Feet of a dark lead colour, Claws dusky. These kinds of Owls are termed, Lich Owls, Lich Fowls, or Like-Fowls, because Prognosticators of Peoples death, when they scrietch about their Houses.

G 3 such Heads erased O born by Monsley. Some take these for Cats Heads, or Faces.

A 3 such Owls S born by Brigg.

 The Owle is ever born Gardant or full Faced, and never mentioned to be so: because it hath no Face to be seen sideways.

XXXI. He beareth Aure, a Kalader Gardant, with

[]

Wings disclosed, Argent. This is a kind of Bark like Bird, (by Mr. Bojwells figure and description; pag. 70.) that is all white, without any mixture; and is of that marvellous Nature, that if it looked on a sick Person steadfastly, that Person will not then dye; but if he turn his countenance from him, then that sickness will surely kill him. Caladris is a kind of Bern, and Calandra a kind of Lark, but the Kaladre, I could never in any History of Birds find: therefore I take it, and its story to be fictitious, see numb. 1.

The Caladris, or Chaladris, is a kind of Bird whose dung cureth the dimness of the Eyes, but of what form and shape it is I have not yet read, except that of Bojwells above said.

XXXII. He beareth Or, a Bat (or Beremouse, or a Flittermouse) displaid, proper. This is of some termed a Bat volant: but to blazon it either Displaid or Volant, are but words of superfluity, by reason I never saw the Bat born in Arms otherwise then in this posture; neither indeed can it be drawn otherwise: therefore to name it a Bat, is sufficient.

The Bat is a Night Bird all hairy on the Body, with the Head of a Mouse, and toothed, of a Mouse colour: the Wings are a kind of leather, or skinny membrane, of a dark dusky colour. It may with reason be questioned, whether this kind be Bird, or Beast; seeing it partakes of both. For according to Pliny this Bird alone brings forth her young ones alive, and none but she hath Wings made of Panicles, or thin skins: and sucketh her young with her Paps, and giveth them Milk. This is born by Stanines.

A the like S born by Baxter.

A 3 such S born by Colira, or Collire.

O the like three S born by Bate.

XXXIII. He beareth Or, a Bats Wing Gules, Surmounted of an other, Azure. These Wings if they had been of one colour, were best termed two Wings expenced and joyned in the Palis. These are also as properly termed Dragons Wings, Wibervens: or Cockatrice Wings. This is born by the name of Alden.

A 3 Bats Wings S born by Baston.

XXXIV. He beareth Azure, a Demy Phenix Or, in its flames proper. This is the Crest of the Worshipful company of Painters.

XXXV. He beareth Sable, a Phenix proper in its flames. This some term a Burning Phenix.

The Phenix in her flames, is ever drawn in Arms with her Wings Overture, and therefore doth not need an expression thereof: but if they be otherwise, as Expenced, or Clole, then to be mentioned.

The Phenix with its story of Burning its self when it is old, out of whose ashes riseth a Worm, which grows to another Phenix, is looked upon by some Authors to be fabulous, and therefore omitted in Ray his English Ornithology: yet Gesner fol. 663. in his History of Birds hath discoursed several things concerning it: see Mr. Bojwells his Armory of Honour, pag. 69. 76. what is there said of it.

This

This is the Crest of Robert Needham, Viscount Kilmory, in Ireland; farther of that worthy and noble Gentleman Thomas Needham, of Dutton in Cheshire, Esquire; one of the Deputy Lieutenants, and Captain of the Horse, within the said County.

The like Gorged, with a Crown and Chain, is the Crest of the Company of Smiths.

XXXVI. He beareth Vert, a Pellican, Or. By the name of Pellican. This is the shape and form of the Pellican used in Coats of Arms; and this is also the standing posture that it is drawn in, viz. always with a wounded Breast. For if it were otherwise, it might as well be taken for an Eagle, or a Phoenix, as a Pellican. There are two sorts of Pellicans, the one, the Water-Pellican, Deut. 14. 17. which I have spoken of before, numb. 26. and the Land-Pellican, to be this, with divided feet.

The Land-Pellican, the Kingly Prophet David in his Psalms maketh mention of; I am (saith he) like a Pellican of the Wilderness, and an Owl of the Desert; which places are not for Water-Fowl to abide, and live in. This kind of Pellican, according to Gesner his Picture, is of the figure of a yellowish earthy colour on the upper parts; and the Cheeks, Neck, Breast, Belly, and under the Tail, of a more dilute, or brighter yellow.

B the like O. born by Fox.

B 3 such O vulned. Born by Pelham.

B a Pellican with Wings disclosed O vulned, proper. by Wakering.

XXXVII. H beareth Argent, a Pellican in her Nest, feeding of her young ones, Sable. Here I do not say vulned, or wounded in the Breast, proper. Because (as I said before) it is always drawn so, more especially when it is feeding its young. This is born by Chantrell; also by Cantrell.

G the like O born by the name of Carn, and Morgan.

S the like A Nest O born by Linde.

B the like A Sans Nest. Born by Pilaren. The like is the Crest of Hartman, turned to the sinister.

The like A Nest O is the Crest of the Lord Lumley.

XXXVIII. He beareth Gules, a Pellican displayed, Or. This is termed here a Pellican, for two causes: First, because it is Wounded on the Breast, which all are; which as Authors observe, it wounds it self for the reviving and feeding of its young, with its own blood (an Emblem of our Saviour Jesus Christ) else this might as well be termed any other kind of Bird that hath a tufted head. Secondly, from the spreading of the Tail, which is whole, and Tail-like; which in the Eagle displayed, is set out jagged and torn, as it were; also the Eagle hath the points of its Wings upwards, and these tend downwards; which is (as some Heraults affirm) peculiar onely to the Pellican, thus to be displayed. This is born by the name of Winckley.

B the like O born by Bamdriffe.

A the like B born by Ayer; also by Hensfeld.

G 3 such O born by Pellinor.

O the like wounding her self S born by Bambell. the same is his Crest on a Crownet O

XXXIX. He beareth Argent, an Ostridge, proper: holding in his Beak, an Horse-shoe, Azure. This is also called a Struthion; from its Latine name Struthio, and Struthius. It is the biggest of Birds, which by reason of his greatness cannot fly, but useth his Wings, as Sails onely to help him forward in running. The bill is compressed, or flat like a Goose, triangular of a horn colour, with a black tip; the Eyes hazle colour; Neck, Head and Thighs bare of Feathers, covered with a certain down, or thin set hairs, of a fleshy colour; the feathers on the breast pure white; the back is cole-black, or dusky black, the wing feathers the same; all the rest of the covert feathers purely white; the tail is thick, bushy, and round, curled, not to be spread as other Birds do; the component feathers are white: (In a Pen they are dusky with white tips.) Its neck and legs are very long, it hath but two Toes, which with the Legs are covered with annularly disjoyned scales, of a dusky tawney colour, claws black; the Toes are connected together by a thick strong Membrane as far as the first joint. This is the African Ostridge, which some write, Ostritch, or Estritch.

The American Ostridge, or Struthion, is much less than the other, they carry their Necks which are long, like a Swan bending; flat Bill, black Eyes, the whole body is covered with grey feathers; they have not such bushy tails made up of crested, or curled feathers, as in other Ostridges, but the feathers are stretched forth along the back, past the vent, so that the body appears almost round; they have three Toes on each foot, two forward, and the back Toe being round and gross, are armed with thick black claws.

This is the Crest of Sir Thomas Smith of Chester, Knight.

G the like A is both Coat and Crest of Eder Tollinger of Bavaria.

XL. He beareth Gules, an Ostridge regardant, Argent, Jessant, (or holding) a Key in his Beak, Or. This is another way or form, of drawing the Ostridge in Arms, and that very ancient, viz. with a sharp Bill, and Ears standing at a distance from the head, of a circular form. This is the Crest of the Family of Keyes.

XLI. He beareth Azure, an Ostridge feather, Argent: the Shaft, Or, passing through a Scrowl of the second, turned of the third. Others Blazon it, an Ostridge feather transpiercing a Scrowl, Argent: penned, and folding of the Scrowl, Or. Others more briefly, and that is best, an Ostridge feather, the quill pierced through an Escrowl, proper; or an Ostridge feather perforating an Escrowl, debased in the lower side, all proper: See the way and terms for such kind of Piercings, lib. 1. cap. 8. numb. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94.

The gentle Reader is to observe, that all Ostridge feathers, have a turning down in the top, or head of it: Whereas all other Feathers are born straight, or bending in the shaft, and therefore in this of the Ostridge, needs not to be mentioned. Also when the Feather ther is white, and the Shaft, Or: it is in your choice, whether you will term them proper, or omit it: But if they be of any other colours, or mettle, then they ought to be nominated.

Also the Escrol may be so Blazoned, proper, or not; for by Escrol, we understand it to be only a long rowl of paper, turned, or folded up at each end, being white on one side, and gold on the other.

O on a Bend S 3 such Feathers and Scrowles A was born by Roger Clarendon, base Son to the puissant Edward, called the Black Prince.

A 6 Ostritch Feathers, 3. 2. 1. S born by Jervis.

XLII. He beareth Sable, a Plume of Ostritch Feathers: three Feathers makes a Plume, if they exceed that number, then they are to be named, how many they are; as,

He beareth a plume of five Feathers, Argent, Azure, Or, Gules, and Vert: penned of the third: This is the Crest of Dutton of Dutton.

When each Feather is of a contrary colour; some will say, the first Argent, the second Azure, the third Or, &c. but that is superfluous, for by naming the colours; it is, or may be sufficiently understood; that every Feather is of those named colours, or metal, as they stand successively in the Plume, be they more or less; for in Arms I never yet saw a Feather born either parti-coloured, or commixt; but if any will make a variety in a Feather, it must be termed a Feather tip, or edged, with such or such a colour.

S 9 Ostritch Feathers conjoynd three and three together A (so Morgan hath it, fol. 65.) by the name of Tuffley.

B 3 such A in a Crown O born by Schecken of Germany.

3 such A is the Crest of Rothen; and B the Crest of Van Strackwitz.

Out of a Crown O a Plume of Feathers, one white between two red, is the Crest of Blancken-Steiner.

Out of a Crown a Plume of five Feathers one white, another red counterchangeably. Is the Crest of Van Plawisio. Some Blazon it a Plume of three white and two red fer inter-changed; or else two red between three white.

A Plume A. B. G. the Crest of Durchnabel. And the like O. B. G. by Daliber. The like G. A. B. banded with a Garland of Roses A. is the Crest of Van Lest.

Out of a Crown, a Plum O. A. B. is the Crest of Van Eckersberg.

A Plume of six Feathers, G. and O. one contrary to the other. by Bremer.

Out of a Crown O. a Plume of ten Feathers in falls, 1. 2. 3. 4. B. is the Crest of the Lord Scroope.

Out of a Crown O. seven Feathers A. tipped G. was the ancient Crest of Ardern, of Ardern in Cheshire.

Out of a Lamp G. within a Crown O. five Feathers A. is the now Crest belonging to the Family aforesaid. I have seen it born sometimes with two Feathers only.

Out of a Pyc, or Custard Case, a Plume of five Feathers, each shorter then the other from the last to the first, G. A. B. A. G. is the Crest of Millentz.

XLIII. He beareth Gules, a Feather in Bend, of (or with) three falls. This is but one Feather in the Pen, or Quill; yet hath three turns in the head, one above the other; as if it were supernatural, like a Creature with three heads. This is born by Van Noeckall.

Two such out of a Crown O. S. by Golditz.

XLIV. He beareth Azure, a Plume of fifteen Feathers, in three heights or falls: Or else thus, a Plume of Feathers, of three heights, containing five in each fall. Some will term them a fall of Feathers (instead of a Plume) of three heights; naming the number in each, as a fall of Feathers in the first height five, in the second four, and in the third three. This is also in a Field G. born by the name of Workenfotz.

Out of a Crown a plume of Feathers of two heights O. and S. each counterposed. For the Crest of Brockhea.

A Plume of two heights, each containing eight Feathers, half falling to the dexter, the other to the sinister, gradually A. by Ottermolse.

Out of a Crown a Plume of 4 heights containing 4, 3, 2, and one Feather at the top A. by Van Freyberg. Also by Zur Ascham.

XLIV. He beareth Sable, a Lagopus, Argent. This is a bird known by divers names, it is all white, as some Authors affirm; and therefore called the white Game, or white Partridge, yet these are but erroneous names. It is called in the Latine Tongue Lagopus; that is, the Hare-bird, and Hare-foot Bird, after Pliny, &c. Bof. pa. 25. because it hath Legs and Feet all hairy, and like a Hare, or Dogs-foot, having no hinder Toe. This is born by Harefoot.

The Lagopus, or Hare-foot Bird, hath a black bill, the Nostrils being covered with Feathers, coming out of a skin on the lower side of the holes; above the Eyes in the place of the Eye-brows is a naked skin, of a scarlet colour, and of the figure of a cressant. It hath in the Cock-bird a black line, drawn from the upper chap behind the Eyes to the Ears; in the Pen this is wanting: all the rest of the body white, except the Tail, which hath the two middle feathers white, all the rest on either side, black; the Claws of a lead-colour.

The Lagopus particoloured, hath its head, neck behind, and back, dusky and spotted. above each Eye, a semi-circular skin of a red colour; all the rest of the body white, but the Tail black; the Bill and Claws black. This is called in some Countreys, the Stone-hen, and the great Colmestree.

The Red Game, or Gorcock, or Mozcock, or the Red Lagopus: the Bill is black, the Nostrils covered with feathers; skin above the Eyes of a scarlet colour; the Head, Neck, Back, and Covert Feathers of the Wings are particoloured, of red and black transverse waved lines; with two great black spots on the Shoulders; the Throat and Breast red without any mixture; the Belly is like the Back; the Quill feathers all dusky; the Legs and Feet downy to the Claws; the Tail black, except the two middle Feathers which are red, varied.

The Damascus Partridge, in the Back and Neck, it resembles a Woodcock, the quill-feathers are cinereous; the covert feathers, and those joyning next the body are white, dusky, and fulvous; Belly white, it hath a collar-like mark on the Breast (like the ring Duzel), consisting of red, fulvous, and yellow colours: Head, Neck, Bill, and Eyes, like a Partridge; with rough or hairy Legs and Feet, like the Lagopus.

G. a Lagopus O. is born by Don Lagop, a Spanish Family.

A. a Red-Game proper. Born by Van Gargame.

XLVI. He beareth Argent, a crested Lark, proper. Born by Loyal. It is bigger than the common Lark, and hath a tuft on his head, pointing backwards; yet the feathers are so situate transversely, or a cross the Head, that they may be erected, or lowered, spread, or contracted at pleasure: The Bill is dusky; Head blackish, the Back is cinereous; the quill-feather of a dirty white, inclining to red, the Breast and Belly white, with a dash of yellow; the Throat spotted; Tail black, having the exterior borders white; it hath a long Heel or Claw on the hinder Toe: The Legs and Feet reddish. A. 3 such proper. Born by Crestall.

The crested Tit-mouse, or copped Tit-mouse: The Bill is blackish; the Crown of the Head, and tuft, is black with the edges of the feathers white; at the hinder part of the Head is a black line, which like a wreath or collar compasses the Neck; from the lower mandible to the said collar is a black line; beyond the Ears is a great spot of black; all the rest of the Head and Face, and about the Eyes white; the Breast is white in the middle, and reddish on the sides; the Back from the red inclining to a green; the Wings and Tail are dusky, onely the exterior edges somewhat green, the Feet and Legs lead-colour.

The Carculus, or Bohemian Chatterer: the Bill is a deep black; the Nostrils are encompassed with hairs of the same colour, which makes as it were a transverse black spot; the Eyes red; the Head is of a chestnut, or ferrugineous colour, adorned with a crest, or tuft, bending backwards; the Neck is black, in the fore and hinder parts, red on the sides; the Breast is a dilute Chestnut, or ferrugineous; the Belly ash-colour, vent white; the Back chestnut, or bay; the Rump, cinereous, or dun; the Feathers of the Wing are black, marked with white; their appendices, or coverts, red; tipped with white and a pale yellow. The Tail is yellow at the end, the middle wholly black, and the rump part, of a dark cinereous, or Mouse-dun; the Legs and Feet dusky inclining to blue; Claws black.

The Brazilian Wood-pecker, called by them Ipetu: the Bill is long and straight, and sharp pointed, ash-colour; the Head is covered with vermilion feathers, on which it hath a tuft, or crest standing backwards, yet the end or point thereof standing up; Neck black behind and before, white on both sides, produced towards the back; the Wings and Tail all black; Belly and Thighs, white and black. It hath short Legs with four Toes, two standing forward, and two backwards (like Parrots), of a lead-colour.

The Brazilian King-fisher, or Jaguacati-guacu: It hath a long straight, sharp Bill, and short black Legs, with four Toes, as in other Birds; Claws black; the superior feathers of the whole Body, as Head, Neck, Wings, and Tail, of a rusty, but shining colour; about the Neck, a ring of pure white; the Throat, underside of the Neck, Breast and Belly, are white; near both Eyes, it hath a spot of white; it hath a tuft in its head, like that of Ipetu, aforesaid: See chap. 13. numb. 15.

The Rose-Duzel, or Carnation Duzel, of some called the Sea-Starling; it is less than a Black-bird, with a tuft on its Head; the Bill next the Head black, the rest flesh-colour; the Feet yellow; the Back, Breast, and Wings, of a Rose, or Carnation colour; its Wings and Tail black; the prime feathers being near a chestnut colour.

In the Chief is the figure of a Brise-Fly.

XLVII. He beareth Argent, a Teal, proper. It is the least of the Duck kind, and is in all parts shaped like the Duck, or Drake: It hath a broad flat bill something reflected upwards, black at the end; Eyes hazle colour; the top of the Head, Throat, and upper part of the Neck, of a dark bay or spadiceous colour; from the Eyes on each side to the back of the Head, is a line of shining green; between these lines on the back of the head, a black spot intervenes; under the Eyes is a white line that separates the black from the red, or bay; the Feathers on the lower part of the Neck, Back, and Sides, are curiously varied with transverse waved lines of white and black; the region of the Crow, is yellowish, spotted elegantly, as if they resembled scales, with black; the Breast and Belly are of a sordid white, or grey colour; under the Rump is a black spot, encompassed with a yellowish colour; the quill feathers are brown, tipped with white; the covert feathers are brown, with white and some reddish yellow tips, else the Wings are all over brown; the Tail sharp pointed and short, of a brown and dusky colour; the Legs and Feet of a pale dusky colour, the membranes connecting the Toes together, black.

The Garganey, and of some called a Kernel; is another sort of Teal, its Bill black; its Legs and Feet livid, with a certain mixture of green, the back Toe small; the crown of the Head black; the Bill spotted with reddish white spots; from the middle of the Eyes, begins a broad white line, which passing backwards under the Ears, almost met in the hinder part of the Head; the Cheeks and Throat below these white streaks, were a lovely red, spotted with small white spots; the Breast is curiously varied with dusky and black transverse arcuate waved lines; the Belly white, or yellowish white; vent brown; the Back is brown with a purple gloss; the scapular feathers, ash colour; the Thighs varied with black and white transverse lines; the quill feathers, the ten outmost brown, the rest have white tips, with shining green webs; the lesser rows of the Wing-feathers, are all ash-coloured, some having white tips; the Tail short and sharp, of a brown and dusky colour, the outmost varied with spots, of a pale whitish red.

The Summer Teal, it is the smallest of this kind, shaped like the Duck; yet varietal in the colours; the Bill broad and brown, dusky coloured Legs and Feet; the upper side of a dark grey, or light brown; the extremes of the edges of the feathers on the back are white; in the Wings, is a line, or broad spot, partly black, partly of a shining green, terminated on both sides with white; the Tail is sharp pointed. The whole under side is white with a tincture of yellow, the Belly hath great black spots; the Legs and Feet of a pale blue; the membranes between the Toes, black.

The

The Braslian wild Duck, called Mareca: the Bill is brown, at the rise thereof on each side is a red spot; the top of the Head, grey; the sides of the head under the Eyes, all white; the Breast and Belly a whitish yellow, varied with black points, or specks; Tail, grey; Legs and Feet, black; Wings of a dark grey colour; but the Quill feather of a pale brown, in the middle of a shining green, with a border of black.

The lesser Mareca, or Braslian Teal: it hath a black shining Bill; the top of the Head, Neck, and Back, of an amber colour, mixt with brown; under the Throat white; Eyes black; the Breast and Belly a dark grey, with a mixture of gold yellow: the Wings dusky with a gloss of shining green and blew, with a waved line of black the Quill feathers are all tipped with white. The Legs, and Feet are of a bright red.

XLVIII. He beareth Azure, a Barnacle, or a Goose Arbozie: or a Tree Goose, proper. Born by Gleick. There are Trees in the Archades Isles, in the North of Scotland; which bringeth forth a kind of a shelly fruit hanging in clusters like ash Keys; which coming to perfection droop down; those as fall on the Earth perish, such as fall into the Water quicken, and become living Creatures, after the form of Geese, but much less. The Inhabitants of these Isles call them Clakis, and Clais-Geese, from them (saith Mr. Boswell p. 118.) we may fitly term them Orychadie Geese. Whose shape he sets down like a Goose, with a short pointed Tail turning up above the points of the Wings. But Cesnier fol. 108. in his History of Birds make it, as I have here done.

The Barnacle, hath a Goose Bill, flat and broad, with a hooked point, black: all the fore part of the Head, Chin and Cheeks are white, with a line, or belt of black between the Eyes and Bill: the Neck and fore part of the Breast is black, the Belly white, mixt with cinereous: the Thighs blackish. The Back is partly coloured, of black and cinereous; Tail black. The Quill feathers are brown, the lesser row of Covert feathers, have white edges, the rest black, and ash colour. The Legs and Feet brown, the hinder Toe very small, Claws blackish.

B 3 such A born by Bar. cle.

S a Barnacle A born by Barnacle.

G the like A born by Barner.

XLIX. He beareth Argent, a Coot, or Cote, proper. Born by Coot. It is all black, from whence comes the Proverb, as black as the Coot: it is less than a Duck, but sharp pointed in the Bill, having a red spot on its Fore-head from the Beak to the top of the Head: or an excrescency, or lobe of flesh, bare of Feathers: it is cloven footed, yet each Toe hath a Membrane, on the sides of them scalloped: the inner Toe, with two scallops aside the middle Toe, with three, and the outer, with four; of a blewish or dusky green: the Back-toe very little.

The Coot, or Fulica: is in the Ornithology thus described: the Bill is white, with a light tincture of blue; the Legs and Feet long, and blewish, or of a dusky green, about the joynts of the Toes are semicircular Membranes appendant. From the Bill to the Crown of the Head, a lobe of flesh without Feathers, red: the colour of all the Body is black, but deeper on the Head. The Breast and Belly of a Lead colour. The ten first Quill feathers, are dusky dark, or black. The next lighter with white tips; the Tail short, and sharp, black.

The Great Coat, is so exquisitely black, as if it were laid on with a pencil: the bald spot on the Head, is large, and white; the Bill is blackish, with a white tip at the end; from the back of the Head it hath a kind of falling tuft scarce obvious, except well noted (from hence it is that some time our Herald-painters draw the Coot with a tuft, but they ought not so to do) the Legs, and Toes are as the Common Coot.

The Porphyrus, or Purple Water Hen: it is of the Coot kind, the Bill and Legs, of a shining purple; its Body is all over of a blue colour, the extreme half of the Tail, of a whitish ash colour.

The American Porphyrus, is of a dark purple colour, with some white Feathers intermixt, the Bill is pale at the beginning, Legs yellow: the bald place at the rise of the Bill is red. The Eyes are black, with a fulvous circle about the Pupil. It is like the common Coot.

The Water Hen, in shape of Body it is like a Coot, the Bill is yellow, the bald part on the Fore-head is red: the Eyes red, the Body all over blackish, save from the Shoulders, or setting on of the Wings, all along the base, or ridge to the ends of the Feathers, runs a white line: the Breast and Belly of a Lead colour, under the Tail white: the Back and lesser row of Wing feathers, are ferrugineous: the Legs green, Claws near black. The Toes have no lateral Membranes, but broad, and plain below.

The Water Rail, Bilcock, or Brook-owl, hath a red Bill, with the point black: it hath a round black bald spot, or naked skin, in the Fore-head; the Head, Neck, Back, and all the upper side is various of black, or dark brown and olive colour; each Feather being black with olive edges. The Chin white, Throat red, the Breast is blue, the Belly, ruflet, Vent white: the Quill feathers black, along the base, or ridge of the Wing, is a line of white; the Tail short and black. Legs and Feet of a dark flesh colour, the Toes long divided from the very rise; Claws brown.

The Melbet Runner: is partly coloured all over the Body of black and red, except the Belly white: the Legs and Feet are long and dark coloured.

The Ginetta, or Small Water-hen; or Morhen, the Legs and Feet green; the Bill yellow, darker towards the tip: a crust of yellow plaster, above the Nostrils; the Crown black, from the Bill above the Eyes, is a line of ash colour; the Back and Shoulders, the Feathers black, tipped with a sordid red, and edged white: the Throat ash colour, Breast white: the Quill feathers of a dark brown, the Coverts red, with transverse waved lines of white, at intervals. The Tail short and brown.

The Braslian Water-hen; called a Jacana: its Bill is red at the top, and yellow at the end; the Legs long, and bare above the Knees; Toes very long and open, of a yellowish green, Claws yellow: the Head, Back, Wings, and Belly, mixed with green and black; the Neck and Breast, of a shining bluish green, as is in the Necks of Peacocks. The Fore-head is covered with a round Membranous skin of a red colour, and in some of a Turcois, stone colour.

The

The Italian Rail, answers our Coot: the Bill is black, Legs greenish (but it hath no such discoloured or scalloped Membrane between the Toes, nor baldness on the Head, as the Common Coot.) Yet this hath more white in the Wings, and about the Eyes than it.

A 3 Coots proper. Born by Sir Charles Coot, General of the English Forces in Ireland, in the late Rebellion, 1639.

L. He beareth Verr, a Gander, or a Goose Argent, Embrued and Beaked, Gules. The colour of tame Geese, (as in all other tame Birds) are various, in some brown, in some grey, in some white, in some Hodded, or Flecked, or party coloured, of white and grey, or brown: the Bills and Legs in young ones are yellow; in older red. This is born by the name of Goosely.

The Wild Goose, doth not much differ in colour from the tame. Its Head, Neck, and Back, generally the whole upper side is of a dark grey, or brown: the upper Covert feathers of the Wings are paler, the second, third, and fourth row of Wing feathers, have white edges and tips: the Quill feathers are of a dark brown, almost black: the Breast is a light grey, the Belly whiter, Vent white: the Tail above black, tip and edged with white; the Bill half way from the Head black, then Saffron colour, the tip black: toothed, or indented, in both Mandibles. Legs and Feet, of a Saffron colour, Claws black: under each Eye is a white line.

The Brent Goose; the Head, Neck, and upper part of the Breast, are black: a line of white about its Neck: the Back a dark grey; the Tail and the great Quill feathers black; the lesser grey: the Breast a dark grey, the Belly white; the Bill black, Eyes of an hazle colour, Feet black.

The Rat Goose, or Road Goose; the Bill and Feet black: the top of the Head, and Neck black; Throat and Breast brown, the rest of the under side white. The upper side grey, but the ends of the Feathers whitish: the Quills, and the Tail black, with white on each side.

The Gambo Goose, or Spurwinged Goose; it hath long red Legs: a white Belly; the Back of a dark shining purple colour; its Bill red, Cheeks and Chin, white: its Head hath a red caruncle, or fleshy protuberance, between the Bill and Fore-head: it hath no hinder Toe. But that as is most remarkable in this Bird, is a strong spur proceeding from the first joynt of the Wings, like to three or four sorts of Brasilian Birds, mentioned chap. 13. numb. 31. But no European Fowl as I know hath such.

The Canada Goose; the Bill is black, having a small hooke at the tip: the Eyes hazle colour: the Head, and half the Neck round, black: the lower part of the Neck white; it hath a kind of white stay, or musler like, under the Chin, continuing on each side below the Eyes to the back of the Head: the Back of a dark grey, the Rump white; Tail black; and so is the Quill feathers: but the Coverts, are of a dark grey; the Belly and Vent, white; the Feet, and Membrane, black; having a hinder Toe.

B 3 Geese A by the name of Hawdrip.

[]

G a Gander to the sinister A Bill and Legs, G th Coat and Crest of Van Enzelsdorf.

G the same A Crowned, O born to the sinister. By Gansen.

A Goose to the sinister, A is the Crest of Van Müchelsdorf.

An Hodded Goose (that is party coloured) is the Crest of Gazeling.

LI. He beareth Gules, a Swan-Eagle, Argent; Beak and Legs, Or. This is a bastard kind of Eagle, which in Latin is called Dupelargus, or Gypsetus: it hath its Feathers standing about its face, like a white Hood; the Neck short; Shoulders, and Covert feathers of the Wings, Breast, Belly, Back, and Tail, all over white: the Quill feathers, of a light amber colour; the Bill and Face yellow, blew Eyes, and flesh colour Legs and Feet. This is from its colour termed the White Eagle; or Buzzard Eagle. This is born by the name of Buzley.

LII. He beareth Argent; a Bittern, proper. Born by Bittour. It is called a Bittour, or Bittern, or Miredum. The top of the Head black; at the angles of the Mouth is a black spot; Throat and sides of the Neck red, with narrow transverse black lines: the Breast have the Feathers black in the middle; the Belly white, the Thighs have a light tincture of red, variegated with black spots. The Back red, with large black spots: the Quill feathers variegated with red, and black, all tip with black. The lesser rows of the Coverts, a pale red; the Tail short, varied with red and black, as the Wings: the Bill long growing slender to the point, of a greenish colour: Eyes yellow, under the Eyes the skin is bare of Feathers, and of a green colour. Legs bare about the Knees, which are very long, and greenish; the Toes long, and armed with long Claws. It is of late writers called Botaurus, and Butozius.

B the like O born by the name of Bittersham.
G 3 such A born by Bitterer, or Buttneck.

LIII. He beareth Argent, a Herons head erased, Gules. By the name of Herley. There is two sorts of Herons, the one hath the Neck beset with a kind of rough sharp pointed feathers, standing out.

The Brasilian Coco hath a head and long neck after this form; the Bill streight, black and sharp pointed; black eyes in a golden circle; wings and tail all of a length; legs long, bare above the Knees, covered with a dusky skin; head and neck brown, variegated with small specks; a white stroak down the lower side of the neck; the back and wings black, powdered with very small yellow specks or spots; the Belly is the same.

A 3 such S born by Herrmay.

LIV. He beareth Azure, a Herons head couped, Argent. By the name of Herlone. This is the true form of the Ardea, or Herons head, and is that other sort mentioned before; whose further description see numb. 14.

B. 3 such born by Herrthead.

LV. He beareth Verr, a Turtlew, proper. Born by Corlews. It hath a long Bill, narrow and something bowed, and its feet are black.

ed, with broad, depressed, or flat points, both in the upper and lower mandible; of a dark brown, or black colour; the legs long, bare of feathers half up the second joint, the toes long, and of a dusky blue colour; all the toes connected together by a Membrane to the first joints from the divarication; the head, neck, and back are black, each feather edged with ash colour, with a mixture of red; in the throat, and forepart of the neck and breast, the feathers are black in the shafts, the edges white, with a tincture of red; the belly, thighs and rump white; the first or outmost quill feathers are all black, all the rest are spotted with white; the first feather of the second row is black; all the rest of the covert feathers are tipped with white.

The Whimbrel, or Taranolo, or the lesser Curlew, it hath a long Bill moderately crooked, of a yellowish dun colour; the legs greenish; the crown a deep brown, without any spots; the back parts dusky or more buff than in the Curlew; the quill feathers black, with semicircular white spots; the lesser rows of covert feathers are of a reddish black, with white edges; the belly and thighs are white.

The Phacopus, or Rain-fowl, called also Taranolo, it is like the precedent Whimbrel; the upper body is black, speckled with red and yellowish spots; slender long black Bill, a little bending; the neck and under side tend to a yellow or red; the Belly white, with dusky or ash colour legs.

The Curliott, or Stone-Curlew, the Bill is short and thick; in all other things it resembles the Curlew, yellow legs, long and bare above the Knees; under the eyes is a bare space of a yellowish green; chin, breast and thighs white; the head, neck, back and throat of a reddish ash colour, spotted with black; the quill feathers black, each having a white spot; those next the body black; the first covert row black; the rest tipped with white; the tail brown, and white bars; the tips brown.

LVI. He beareth Argent, a Sea Crow, proper. It is all black, the Bill long and sharp pointed, of a dusky red colour, the legs and feet dark brown, near to a black; with a tuft of Feathers standing backwards. It hath several denominations: Some term it a Widdow or Savage Crow; others a Scheller; others a Sea Crow or Raven, being a kind of Cormorant.

In the Dexter side is the form and proportion of a Shath Fly, whose colour is variable, as red, blew, green and black with a shining gloss; or a various colour.

LVII. He beareth Argent, two Angels Wings elevated, Gules, the Pomons, Or. The term elevating is used when the points stand upwards, see chap. II. numb. 4. Some term these two Wings inverted and elevated; if they had touched in the bottom, then inverted, elevated and conjoined; and others Blazon them two Wings displayed and elevated.

LVIII. He beareth Argent, a Cocoe, proper. This is so named from its cry, which is Cocoe, or Cuckow; of these there is two kinds, the one differing in colour very much from the other; the upper Bill is a little hooked, and a dark or blackish colour; the nether of a pale or whitish yellow; the eyes yellow or Hazel colour, the edges of the eye lids yellow; the throat, breast and belly are white, with transverse dark lines, which are entire and not interrupted; the feathers on the head are a dark brown with white edges; in some cinereous, tending to a chestnut colour; the feathers on the middle of the neck, and back, and shoulders, are brown with a tincture of red, having the edges whitish; the Rump ash colour; the Beam feathers are blackish, having from the two outmost all their exterior veins spotted with red, the tip ends white; the covert feathers are like those on the back; the tail is black, each spotted with white spots; the feet and claws are yellow, having two toes standing forwards, and as many backwards. The Cuckow is in some parts of England called a Souke, from its German name Cucker. Gesner describes it to have three toes before, and a small tuft hanging behind the head, whom I have through a mistake followed.

The other Cocoe hath the transverse lines on the Breast, not continued but interrupted, there being here and there one; the neck, back and coverts are coloured of black and ferrugineous; the Remiges else where black, are in the middle and edges vvhite; the tail variegated vvhith three colours, black, vvhite, and ferrugineous, each colour concurring in the middle of the feathers in an acute Angle, like so many particoloured Cheverons.

The above said Blazon is the Coat Armour of Coe, or Cocoe.

In this quarter is the Figure of a Svans Neck out of a Cloud, vvhich Bearing is quartered by Romer, of Brunswick; Viz. Or, out of a Cloud, circled in form of a Torce or Wreath, a Svans neck Sable, vvhith an Horse-shoe in its Beak, Azure

LIX. He beareth Vert, a Bustard, or Bistard, proper. Born by the name of Bistard. It is by the Germans termed a Crappe, or Crap-Gause; it is of the bigness and shape of the Turkey-Pen; its Bill like a Pen, something crooked; the head and neck ash-colour, Belly white; the back variegated with red and black transverse lines; the feet are dusky white; it wants the back toe; the neck and legs indifferent long; the tail long and broad at the end, having cross bars over it of red and ash-colour, the end white.

In the chief of this quarter, is the figure of the creeping Worm Beetle, which is of diverse colours, as Black, a dusky red, or dark blew and green. It is covered with two shaths, husks or cods, without any wings; the first from the head to the shoulders ending in an Angle; the other husk to the end of the body being twice the length of the former; from the bottom of it hangs out a Worm like tail, cut into incisures. It hath six long Legs like a Bee.

LX. He beareth Argent, a Brome-Pen, proper. This is termed the Spilpen, the Ophen, or the Lapben and Engel-Pen. The Male is generally known by the name of Boore-cock, or Death-cock, or Black Game and Grows: This I have in chap. II.

numb. 69. described, therefore say no more of it here. This is born by Grizzel.

In this quarter I have set forth the figure and bigness of a Hoyle-Fly, so called because they sting and bite Horses in the Summer; and will draw Blood out of them though their Hides be never so thick. Some call it a Can-Bee, see chap. 18. numb. 154.

LXI. He beareth Azure, a Daker-Pen, or Schryke, proper. It is in some places called a Wasserhen, or Waterhen. It is thick and short bodied, sharp pointed Bill of a brown colour; the legs bare above the Knees, of an indifferent length, the toes very long for its bigness, of a greenish colour; the back and wings incline to a reddish brown; the rest of the body, as head, neck, breast, ash-colour, the Belly white, tail short, standing a little up between the points of the wings, of a dark ash-colour. It is disputed between some Authors, whither this be not the Land-Pen, or Land Raile.

This Blazoned as aforesaid, is the coat of Schoodell. O. 3 such proper, is born by Van Skryck.

LXII. He beareth Or, a Snipe, proper. By the name of Snipe. This Fowl I have before described under the name of Snipe, or Snite, chap. 11. numb. 77. only here give you the true shape and form of it, which the Germans call a Schneppf, those of Flanders a Sneppe.

LXIII. He beareth Argent, a Loria, or Cross Bill, proper. The Germans call this Bird in their Language Crooked-Bill, or Crooked-Nose, but by us Shell-Apple or Cross-Bill; because contrary to the manner of all other Birds, the mandibles near the tips cross one the other, by bending one up and the other down, and is black; the feet and legs dusky, claws black; the middle part of the head and back, the feathers are black edged with green; the rump green; the chin ash-colour, something of a cinereous mixt with it; the breast green, belly white; vent is black or dusky; quill feathers all black, the foremost are edged with green; the tail black with green edges. It is reported of this Bird, that it changes colour thrice in the year; that it is green in Autumn, yellow in Winter, and red in the Spring; and is a great destroyer of Apples, for the Kernels. This is the Coat Armour of Crosfeil.

A. the like proper, and a chief B. born by Hoberger.

LXIV. He beareth Argent, a Nightingale, proper. Some call it Nachtgall, and Slawik. It is a long slender Bird, almost as large as a Goldfinch, the Bill slender and streight, of a dusky colour; the head and back of a pale fulvous, with a mixture of green; the tail is deeper or more red; its Belly is white; the throat and breast are of a darker colour, with a tincture of green; the quill feathers, with the coverts are of a livid or fulvous colour; the tail long, not forked; the legs and feet and claws, a deep Flesh colour.

This is the Crest belonging to the name of Fielding.

*

A. a Fesse B. between 3 such proper, is born by Nightingale.

LXV. He beareth Vert, an Onocrotalus, proper. Born by Crotolus. It is also termed an Indian Bitterne, or Pelecan of the Sea; this is the true shape of the Bird, which I have formerly described, numb. 25, 26.

The Onocrotalus, as Mr. Ray describeth it, hath a space between the Bill and about the eyes, naked and bare of Feathers, the Bill towards the head is lead colour, the end yellowish, the upper mandible broad and flat, the nether (as it were) two long ribs or spars joined at the end, with a thick yellow skin interceeding, which reaches backwards to the throat behind the Bill; at the end of the Bill it is hooked, the top having a cranny or furrow running all the length of the Bill; the eyes are yellowish ash colour; the feathers on the top of the head longer than the rest, standing up like a Crest, yellowish as the Neck is; the colour of the whole body is white, the shafts of the back feathers are black; the tail and covert feathers of the wings are of a dusky ash colour, the ends of the quill feathers black; the legs and feet of a lead colour, the shanks bare above the Knees; all the four toes stand forward and are webb'd together having no heel behind.

B. the like O. is born by Homgall.

B. 3 such O. is born by Letfberg.

G. 3 such heads coup'd A. is born by Van Hemill.

LXVI. He beareth Argent, a Partridge proper. The Bill and Legs, and Feet white; the Eyes yellowish, under the Eyes are certain excrescencies, the Chin and side of the Head are of a deep yellow, or Saffron colour; the Cock hath on his Breast a red mark, of a Semicircular figure (the Hen hath no such red mark) from the Chin to this red Horse-shoe mark, is blue cinereous, adorned with black transverse lines: beneath the mark on the Belly, the colour fades into a dirty or yellowish cinereous. The upper part of the Body is testaceous, or posheard colour: the Prime feathers of the Wing are dusky, with transverse yellowish white spots. The covert Feathers have the shafts of a yellowish white. The Tail as the rest of the Body of a sordid yellow, with cinereous tips. Three such are the Arms of Partridge.

The Byzilian Partridge, called Jambu, is the same for shape and bulk of Body, and are all over of a dark fulvous colour, mingled and spotted with a dusky colour.

The Damascus Partridge, is the same in shape, but much less in Body; and is in colour like to our English Partridge, save that it hath yellow Feet.

The Pernice, or Red Partridge; the Eyes Bill and Legs are red, Claws dusky: the Toes to the first joyn't connected by a Membrane intervening, it hath small spurs, whereas others have none: the Head, Neck, Back, and Rump, are ash colour, as also the out parts of the Thighs: the Cheeks, Chin, and Throat white; lower part of the Neck tintured with a vinaceous colour: a black border, from the Nostrils over the Eyes encompass the said white. The Breast of a dilute red: inclining to a yellow, the tips of the Feathers black; with a transverse line over them, of a whitish colour. The quill Feathers dusky, edged with white, tinged with red: the Tail hath the middle Feathers cinereous, and the out side Feathers have the upper half red, and the lower cinereous.

M m 2

ing

A like proper, is the Coat and Crest of Partridge.

A 3 such proper, is also by the same name.

A Falcon on a Partrich, I have formerly shewed that it is the Crest of Glegge of Gayton in Wirrall.

The Terms given to a young Partridge are these.

First, a Pecked, or Peckled head.

Then a Chicken tail.

Then a Partridge of the 1. 2. 3. 4. Feathers. This is when they cast the 1. 2. &c. Feathers of the Wing which is about six Weeks old.

Then a Round set Partridge, is when it is as large as old one.

A Cock Partridge, is known by an Horse-shoe of red Feathers on its Breast. The Hen by some stragling red Feathers there.

LXVII. He beareth Argent, a Bohemian Chatterer, proper. This Bird I have described before, numb. 46. therefore shall say no more of it in this place, only shewing you the true shape of it.

LXVIII. He beareth Argent, a Wood pecker Sable, Crested, Gules. This for the distinguishing of the several sorts of Wood peckers, may be termed, the Crested Wood pecker. The Bill above the Nostrils is black, the rest is white: the Nostrils are round covered with reflexed hair, the Eyes yellow, the colour of the whole Body is black, except the Crown on the Head, which down to the Bill is of a lovely red, or vermillion colour. The Legs are feathered down half way, the Feet are of a Lead colour; it hath two Toes backward, and two forward: as all Birds of this kind have, Claws blackish. This is born by the name of Woodvile.

A 3 such S Crested G born by Peckerill.

O 3 such Heads coup'd S. Crested G. is born by Pickvile.

LXIX. He beareth Argent, a Wood pecker, Vert. Born by the name of Lanziner. This Bird hath several names with us, the general is Wood pecker, or Wood spit; others term it a Rain-fowl, some an Ugh-hoe, and in the North of England Pickatrees. The Bill is long and sharp at the end, and black; the Pupil of the Eyes is compassed with a reddish dusky circle, and that with another of white; the tongue, these kind can dart out of their mouths a great way, which ends in a sharp bony substance; wherewith it strikes, and catcheth insects, which it feeds upon. The top of the Head is a crimson or vermillion colour, spotted with black. The Eyes are compassed with black, under is a vermillion spot, the Throat, & Breast, of a pale green; Belly whiter; the Back and Neck, and lesser row of Covert feathers of the Wings green; (the young Birds are spotted on the Back with & white, Throat, & Belly, with blackish.) The Rump of a pale yellow, the Tail green, the tips of the Tail black. The Wing feathers are dusky, with Semicircular white spots, the Covert feathers are green, with transverse white dusky lines: the Feet are greenish and something of a Lead colour, Claws dusky. The Toes stand two forward, and two backward.

[]

The Whitwall, or Spotted Wood pecker, it is as a Black Bird, the Bill is long and slender, thick at the root, but ending in a sharp point, of a triangular figure, and channelled with a furrow or two, the Nostrils covered with black hairs, as the Bill is black. Eyes red, hinder part of the Head red; Head black, shining with green; about the Eyes and Ears white, the Back black; at the insertion of the Wings is a great white spot. From the corners of the Mouth, a black streak reacheth down to the Back, just below the Head another streak crosses it. The flag Feathers of the Wings are black, marked with semicircular white spots. The Covert feathers are white, the middle black; the Ridge or base of the Wing white; the Tail have the middle Feathers all black, the side Feathers being party black, party white, tipped with a reddish white. The Feet of a Lead colour, the Toes two forward, two backward.

The Pickwall, is a lesser kind of Spotted Wood pecker, the Bill black, Eyes red, top of Head white, the hinder part black; Throat, Breast, and Belly, of a sordid white; Back and upper Covert feathers of the Wings black: from the Eyes to the middle of the Neck, two broad white lines, the Prime feathers, and their coverts are all spotted with white and black Semicircularly: the Rump and lower part of the Back white; the Tail black, the outward Feathers being transverse bars of white, and black; tipped with white. Legs feathered half way, Feet and Toes as the foresaid. The Hen of this kind, hath a red spot on the top of the Head, instead of the white.

The Brasilian Jacamaci, or American Wood pecker, hath the same shape and form of Body and Feet; it is as big as a Lark, hath a straight and sharp pointed black Bill; blue Eyes, the Head, upper part of the Neck, Back, Wings, and Tail, are of a green mingled with a Golden colour; a Ring of the same about its Neck; Throat, Breast, and all the lower parts of a dark yellow colour. The Legs and Feet of a yellowish green.

The American Hang-nest, called by the Brasilians Guira-tangeima. It is as big as a Lark, the Bill a little arcuate, or bending, slender and sharp pointed, black; Head and Neck, to the Breast, black: back part of the Neck of a sky colour, so is the Breast and Belly: the Back hath transverse black spots: the Wings black, with a white spot in the middle, scituate long ways the Feathers. The Tail all black: Legs blewish, the Toes standing three forward, and one behind.

The Brasilian Jupu-juba, or Japu; is of the same figure with the precedent, the whole Body is invested with very black Feathers, in the middle of the Wings, it hath a yellow long spot: bottom of the Back is yellow; the Tail half black at the Rump, the other yellow: Legs and Feet black, the Bill a pale yellow, Eyes of a Sapphire colour. This Bird is of some called the Hang-nest Wood pecker, it hanging its nest at the twig of a Tree, as the foregoing Bird doth.

The Antjobber, or Buthatch; is a kind of Wood pecker, the Bill is black, and very sharp, pointed; the Head, Neck and Breast, ash colour; sides red, Throat and Breast, of a pale yellow, or chefnut red; Belly and

Vent

Vent red : there goes from the Bill and through the Eyes to the Neck, a black stroke ; Chin is white. The Quill feathers dusky ; the interior or those next the Body cinereous, the shafts of all black. The Tail is short, not much longer then the ends of the Wings, round in form, cinereous : the out side Feathers black, with ash colour tips. Legs and Feet, of a darkish colour ; Claws dusky. It is called in Latin Sitta.

The Wall-creeper, or Spider-catcher : it hath a long slender Bill, black ; the Head, Neck, and Back, cinereous ; the Breast white : the Wings party cinereous, and party red ; the Tail short and black : the lower part of the Back, the long feathers of the Wings, Belly and Legs, all black. The Toes, three stands forwards, and one backwards ; Claws dusky.

The Red Sparrow, hath a long arcute sharp pointed Bill, the upper Chap dusky, the lower white : Eyes of a red hazle, not far from the angles of the Mouth, grows in the upper Mandible four or five black hairs : the upper side of the Body is of a dusky yellow colour, above each Eye is a whitish line. The Throat, Belly, and Breast are white, with a kind of yellowish tincture, more yellow about the Vent. The Legs are of a greenish yellow.

The Reed-creeper, or lesser Reed Sparrow, hath the lower Chap of the Bill white, the upper blackish : Eyes hazle colour, the Back towards the Rump is of a dark Olive, or dusky green, towards the Head more cinereous ; the Breast white, the Throat and Belly, have a mixture of yellow ; the sides of a dirty greenish colour. The Quill feathers are of a dark brown, or dusky colour. Legs long and of a light blew ; the soles of the Feet yellow.

The Dre-Eye, or Creeper ; it is as small as the Wren. It hath a long slender sharp Bill, bending downwards like a bow, the upper Chap dark colour, the nether white at the base, and black at the tip : Eyes hazle colour ; the Head, Back, and Wings, inclining to a Fox colour, the middle of the Feathers being whitish : about the Eyes is a white spot ; the Beam feathers of the Wings, the outmost are dusky, the rest have white tips, and a broad line of white in the middle of them, inclining to fulvous ; the Coverts are all black, fulvous in the middle, and white tips. The Tail is of a dusky red, or reddish dun colour. The Legs are of a light brown, Claws white, the Back-toe having a long Claw, like a Lark.

A 3 Wood-peckers V born by Morthwait.

A Wall-creeper proper. By the name of Ha''umag.

O 3 Oxe-eyes, or Oxe-creeper proper. Born by Marley.

LXX. He beareth Azure, a Wittwall, (Wood-wall, or Widwall) proper. Born by that name. There are two Birds of this name, one of the Wood-peckers kind, which I have there described ; and of the Chruis kind, having three Toes before, and one backwards, which in Latin some term Oriolus, and Galbula, others Chlozeus, and Icerus. Its Bill and Legs are red as Scarlet, Eyes the same : the whole Body and Tail is of a pure yellow, only the Quill feathers are black, the tips of those next the Body yellow, the foremost Feather of the first row of Coverts, are also yellow ; else the whole Wing is black. From the Eyes towards the Nostrils there goes a black spot. This is by the Dutch called a Soutmerle, that is Souden Duzel.

[C]

The Suita-punga, is an American Bird almost as big as a Pigeon, hath a Bill broad, and sharp pointed, black ; Eyes between black and blew ; the Head is dark brown, the Neck, Breast, Belly, Back, and Thighs are ash colour, mixt in the Back with some black Feathers ; the Tail is mingled with ash colour, and black Feathers, and some of green ; the Legs and Feet are black, the Toes, as in other common Birds. Under the Throat, it hath to the lower part of the Neck many black fleshy Wattles, hanging down before, of the figure of a spear point.

LXXI. He beareth Argent, a Green Plover, proper. Born by Plover. Though we call this a Green Plover, it is not so named from its colour, but for some other cause : for the Bill is black, or a dark dusky colour ; all the whole upper part is black, thick set with yellowish green spots ; and if you heed each single Feathers you will find the middle part to be black, and the borders, or edges round about, spotted with a yellowish green. The Breast brown, spotted with the same, the Belly white ; the Quill feathers, and their Coverts are brown, or dusky, with white tips ; those next the Back of the colours of the Back. The Tail is short and round, no longer then the ends of the Wings. Feet and Claws black, no Back-toe.

The Grey Plover, the Bill black : Head, Back and lesser Covert of the Wings black, with tips of a greenish grey. The Chin white, the Throat is spotted with oblong brown, or dusky spots. The Breast, Belly, and Thighs, white. The Quill feathers black, those next the Body edged with white, the second row, the exterior are black ; the interior, next the Body, are tipped and edged white. The third row of Covert feathers, the outward are black, with white tips ; the Tail is short varied with transverse bars, or beds of white and black, the Feet of a sordid green, Claws little, and black : a very small Back-toe, the Fore-toes joyned to the first joynit, by a Membrane.

The Dottrell, it is of the shape of a Plover, the Bill is black, the Head variegated with black and white spots : a white line about the Eyes. The Chin whitish, Throat of a pale ash, with oblong brown spots : The Breast of a dirty yellow, Belly white, the Back brown, with yellowish white tips ; the Quill feathers are of a dusky brown, with the edges and tips whitish ; the lesser rows of Covert feathers are brown, with yellowish white tips. The Rump and Tail are cinereous, tips white : the Legs are bare above the Knees, and are of a sordid greenish yellow ; Toes and Claws darker, it hath no Back-toe. It is a foolish dull Bird, from whence we call a dull fellow, by way of a Proverb, a Dotterel, or Dottill.

The Sea Lark, is something bigger then the Common Lark, it hath a straight Bill, at the Head it is deep yellow, towards the point black. Eyes hazle colour, a line of black compasses the base of the upper Bill, which goes from the Mouth through the Eyes to the Ears, and then turns up, and passes cross the middle of the Head, and encompasses a bed of white about the Eyes. The hinder part of the Head, ash colour; Chin white, the Back, and lesser Covert feathers of the Wings, grey or ash colour; Breast, and Belly, white; there runs two rings, or collars about the Neck, one white, and the lower black. The Quill feathers are black, the middle of the shaft, spotted with white. Those next the Body of the same colour with the Back: the second row, makes a transverse line in the Wing. The Tail is ash colour, the out side Feathers being white. The Legs and Feet, of a pale yellow, Claws black; it wants a Back-toe.

hinder

The Turn-stone, or Sea Dottrell, is in shape like the Plover, a straight black Bill, the Head, Neck, Shoulders, Wings and upper part of the Breast is brown (some say black, or purplish black) with white edges; Belly and Thighs, snow white, the middle of the Back white, with a great black spot on the Rump: the Quill feathers are a brown, or dusky colour, from the outmost three, all tipped with white, the second row are black, the tips of them making a white line cross the Wing. The edges of the lesser row are red, near the second joint of the Wing is a white spot. Tail is of half black, and the lower part white. Legs and Feet, a Saffron, or Orenge colour, Claws black: it has a Back-toe.

The Glottis, or Cotanus, it is a kind of great Plover: the Bill is black, long and slender, at the angle of the lower Mandible, red: the upper side, of the Body is grey, a line of white compasses the Eyes, the under side is all white; the Quill Feathers dusky, or dark brown, the inner Quill Feathers are speckled with white, the Tail short, waved with cross lines, or bars of brown and white alternately; Legs very long, bare above the Knees, of a Lead colour, or between a green, and livid, Claws black; a small or no Back-toe.

The Redshank, or Pool-Snipe, it is between a Lapwing and a Snipe: the Bill is long and slender, red; or of a dark red at the base, and black towards the point. Eyes hazle colour, Nostrils oblong: the Head and Back of a dusky ash colour, spotted with black, (in some with dusky, or brown, inclining to green) the Neck more cinereous, the Throat parti-coloured, of white and black, in lines longways the Feathers; the Breast whiter, with fewer transverse lines: the Tail is no longer then the ends of the Wings, and is variegated with transverse waved lines of white, and black alternately: the Quill feathers of a black brown, sprinkled or powdered with white; the interior next the Body, are tipped with white, with one or two transverse black lines on them; the foremost of the Coverts being the two first rows are black, varied with white lines: the other rows, are dark ash colour. The Legs of a fair pale red, Claws small and black. This Fowl hath a very small Back-toe, and long Legs, bare above the Knees. It hath several Latin names, as Hematopus, Gallinula Erythropus, and Pardalus, from its being spotted like a Leoparde.

The Sambetta, is a Fowl near of kind, and shape to the Redshank, but lesser, the Bill near the Head of a flesh colour, the rest black; Eyes yellow, compassed with an other black circle: the upper surface of its Body is grey, or cinereous, all over besprinkled with brown spots; the Prime feathers of the Wing black, Belly white, Tail black, the Legs and Feet are long and yellow, inclining to red, Claws black.

[F

The Tringa or Steingall: it is of the Plover kind, though it exceeds not the bigness of a Black-bird, or Duzel: the Bill is straight and slender, and long, of a dark green, black at the point; Eyes hazle colour. The upper side of the Body is a dusky green, shining like Silk; or brown, with a tincture of green; save the Head and upper side of the Neck, all spotted with many white spots: the circumference of the Eyes, and Chin, white: the Throat white, spotted with brown: the Breast and Belly all white. The Tail is short having white tips, and transverse lines of white. The Legs and Feet long, naked about the Knees, of a Lead colour, with a tincture of green. Back-toe small, Claws black.

The Sandpiper, or Plisterlein, of the German so called. It is of kind and shape to the Tringa aforesaid, only of a lesser size: it is also as the others are, Water Birds, and feed about Pools, Laks, and Rivers. The Bill is dusky and blackish, bottom whitish, the tip a little bent downwards. Eyes hazle colour: middle of the Neck ash colour; or else the whole upper surface of the Body, Wings, and Tail, is of a dusky sordid green, elegantly variegated with dark transverse lines: only something of red mingled in the Feathers. About the Eyes, a white line; the Throat of a sordid white; Breast and Belly, white; the ends of the Wings tipped with white, the Covert feathers all tips, and the ridge, or base of the Wing white. The Tail hath the out side Feathers white. The Feet are of a pale green, Claws black; Back-toe small.

The Knot, or Canut; in Latin Callidus. It is of the same shape with the other, but the Bill not so long yet straight and slender, black; some have their Eyes hazle colour, and others yellow: the Head and Back of a dusky ash colour, or dark grey. The Rump and Tail varied with black and white lines, the outmost Feathers all white. The Breast and Belly white, a white line in some Birds between the Eyes and Bill. The Quill feathers black, the Shaft white. The Covert feathers were tipped with white: the Legs and Feet greenish, the Fore-toes are divided from the beginning of the divarication, no Membrane intervening, as in most Birds there is.

The Sanderling, called in Cornwall a Curwillet; it is of the same make and shape, to the Plover, and is bigger then the Sandpiper. The Bill is straight, long, slender, and black; the Neck cinereous, the Back and Shoulders, various of black and white (or black and ash colour) the Quill feathers a dark brown, or a dusky colour, them next the Body white; the first row of Coverts have their tips white, which makes a transverse white line through the Wing: them at the ridges of the Wings are dusky. The Wings closed reach behind the Tail, which is black or a dark ash, them on the Sides, cinereous. The Legs, Feet, and Claws black, it wants a Back-toe. The Fore-toes disjoyned from the very rise.

The Rot-Knuffel, which the German term Rothmillis; and by some Fowlers called Giarola. It is shaped after the manner of these examples, the Bill long, and a little bending black. The Head, Neck, Breast, or the middle of the Belly is red or dusky, with some spots of a sordid, or dark colour: the Belly white, with a tincture ture of red, curiously spotted with black: the Tail is white, but black at the end: the Legs and Feet are cold black: from whence some Authors term it Helampus, that is Black-feet.

The Harkern, is a Bird that much in figure, and magnitude resembles the Reeve, the Female of the Ruffe. The Bill is black, with something of red at the end, the whole Plumage is red, speckled with white on the Neck and Back; the Belly is only whitish, with a faint tincture of red. The Legs and Feet are a pale red, inclining to ash colour.

The Dunlin, so called in the North Country. It is of the bigness of a Jack-Snipe, it hath a straight channelled black Bill, a little broader at the end. The Throat and Breast white, spotted with black: the Belly blackish, waved with white lines, Vent white: all the upper side is red, spotted every where with pretty great black spots, with a little white. The Wings are grey, inclining to a brown, or dusky colour. The Legs and Feet, of a competent length, and black: the Back-toe short; the Tail middle Feathers are dusky brown, with one or two red spots, the Side feathers inclining to white.

The Stint, or Junco; it is a kind of a Sea Lark, with a straight, long, slender Bill, and black; the Legs long of a dusky or blackish colour, with a tincture of green; the Back-toe small: the upper side of the Body is grey, or cinereous, with spots or lines of black in the middle of each Feather; but the Quill feathers, and first row of Covert feathers, are dusky, those next the Body, white edges, with a white line cross the Wing: the Tail middle Feathers, dark ash colour; all the rest paler. all the under side of the Body is white, the Throat and Breast clouded with dark colour spots. These Birds in Cheshire we call Purres; they fly together by the Sea, and Water side, in great flocks.

A 3 Plovers proper. Born by Plover.

A a Dottrill proper. Born by the name of Dotterill

B a Red-shanke O Legs and Beak G born by Paoller.

A a Dunlin, or Jack-snipe, proper. By the name of Dunline.

LXXII. He beareth Argent, a Stare (or a Starling) proper. Born by Starling. It is of the shape and bigness of an Duzel: the Bill is straight, and sharp pointed, of a pale yellow; the Eyes of an hazle colour; the tips of the Feathers of the Neck and Back are yellow, else all the Body over, it is black with a certain blew, or purple gloss, varying as it is variously exposed to the light. (In the Pen Stare, the tips of the Feathers on the Breast and Belly to the very Throat are white) the Belly is more spotted. The Quill feathers are dusky and dark, the Covert feathers glister, the tips of the less covert, yellow: the Tail dusky, with pale yellow edges: they are a gregarious Bird, living and flying together in great flocks, and being brought up tame, is a very notable Bird at Imitation of mans voice, speaking articulately.

The Redstart, or Rock-Duzell; and of some called the Sea-Thrush; it is of kind and figure like the Stare, and of the same bigness: the Bill is broad and flat, yet sharp pointed, not rising in a ridge as in Black- birds, black of colour, higher Bill a little bent in the point: the Head, and Back brown, tips cinereous. The Chin whitish, the tips of the Breast feathers cinereous, below the Breast is a transverse black line, below which the Plumage is of a red, or Orange tawny colour: the Quill feathers of a black brown, with reddish tips. The Tail is of a red tawny colour, with white tips: the Feet and Legs of a Lead colour, Claws black.

The Solitary Sparrow; it is of the bigness of a Black-bird. The Head and Neck were thicker then to answer the proportion of the Body: the Bill straight, and blackish; top of the Head dark ash colour, Back deep blew, almost black; the edges of the Feathers whitish: Shoulder and Covert feathers, the same. The Quill feathers, dusky, with white tips; Tail black. The Breast, Belly and Thighs, were all variegated with black, cinereous and whitish transverse waved lines; the Throat, reddish and white lines. The Legs and Feet black.

B a Stare proper. Born by Starne.

O 3 Stares proper. Born by Sternhill.

G 3 Stares O spotted S. Born by the name of Starlinger.

LXXIII. He beareth Argent, a Feldfare, proper. Born by Felfare. This Bird is something larger then the Black-bird, or Thrush. It hath a straight Bill yellow, but the tip is black. The Head, Neck, and Rump, ash colour, the Crown sprinkled with black spots. The Back and Covert feathers, of a dark red or chestnut colour, spotted with black; the Throat, and upper Breast, yellow, spotted with long black spots, tending downwards; bottom of the Breast, and Belly white: the Quill Feathers are black with white edges, the inner are something redder. The first Covert row are white, thence a red or yellow line, separates the white and black: it hath a black stroke from the Bill to the Eye, and the edges of the Eyelids makes a yellow circle round the Eyes: at the bottom of the Neck a black spot. The Tail is a dark blew, or blackish colour, the edges of the middle Feathers, ash colour, and the tips of the outer white. The Legs and Feet blackish, the Claws more black.

The Thrush, or Missell Bird, or Shrit; its Bill is straight and dusky, Eyes hazle colour, the Head is a dusky cinereous, or Lead colour, spotted with black; the Back, Tail and Rump, are the same having some mixture of yellow, or Olive colour; the under side from Bill to Tail, is speckled with pretty great long spots of black; the Throat being reddish, the Breast yellow, the Belly white; the Covert feathers next incumbent on the Quills, are white; the Legs and Feet yellowish, Claws black.

The Throstle, Havis, or Singing Thrush: the Bill is of a dusky colour, the Eyes hazle colour: in the colour of the spots on the Breast, and Belly, it agrees with the Thrush, or Missell-bird; for the spots are dusky, the Breast yellow, and Belly white; the upper surface of the Body is dusky, with a mixture of yellow in the Wings, which is very like an Olive colour: the lower Covert feathers have yellow tips. The Legs and Feet are of a light brown, or dusky, the soles of the Feet yellow.

The Swine-Pipe, Wind-Thrush, or Redwing: it is rather less than the Havis, or Throstle, yet it is for outward shape and colour so like it, that they are hard to be distinguished, the under side of the Wings in the Havis, is yellow: and in this kind it is of a red Orange colour; by which mark, they are one known from the other. But if a Man do diligently observe, this Bird hath some other outward marks which the other hath not; as the lower Mandible is partly dusky, partly yellow: the Legs and Feet pale: and the spots are less, and thicker set, then in the Havis: about the Eyes is a long spot, or line of a clay colour, reaching from the Eyes to the hinder part of the Head. The Germans call this Bird, a Wine-Thrush.

A 3 Fieldfares proper. Born by the name of Stockham.

A a Fesse B between 3 Thrushes, proper. Born by Marvis.

A a Chevron G between 2 Throstles proper, and a Rose. By Throstle.

A 3 Throstles proper. Also by the name of Throstle.

LXXIV. He beareth Argent, a Culture, proper. Born by Stretton. It is observable that all kinds of Cultures have their Heads, and Necks, bare of Feathers, only covered with down: there are several coloured Cultures; as,

The Cinereous, or Ash coloured Culture.

The Black Culture.

The White Culture, but it is very rare to be seen.

The Chestnut Culture, hath a short Tail, and long Wings with Feathers on the Legs down to the Feet.

The Pare Culture, so called from Preying on Hares, Cones, Foxes, and Fawns: hath a black hooked Bill, foul Eyes, a long straight Train, or Tail, of a dark red colour; and yellow scally Feet. Standing or sitting, it rears up a Crest upon its Head, as if it were horned. See chap. 13. numb. 2.

The Golden Culture, of which this example is the true shape; the Breast, Belly, and Feet, were of a red colour; more dilute towards the Tail, the Toes of a dusky or horn colour; all the Wings blackish, and dusky, but the ridge of the Wings more blacker, and some of them marked with transverse reddish spots, cross the middle, others with whitish ones, near the bottom: the Back, black shining; the Feather shafts white, but in the Neck pale red: the Tail as the Wings, dusky.

B 2 Vultures O born for the Coat, and one for the Crest of Vulture.

[]

G a Chevron between 3 such O. Born by Runcorne.

A 3 such S. Born by Grimsby, or Grimsford.

LXXV. He beareth Argent, a Basilice, or Cockatrice, Sable; Crested, Pelopped, and Membré, Gules.

The Cockatrice is generally born in this posture, with the Wings expenced, and therefore I have observed that all Heralds in their blazoning, have only termed it a Cockatrice, without any other addition: but if the Wings, or Tail were drawn in any other posture, then it hath been mentioned, whether the Wings were Complicated, or Trussed up, or else Overture, or Volant, and the like: and again if the Tail be Extended, Erected, Embraced, or Torgant, and such like, as you have many examples of the turning and winding of Serpents tail, chap. 9. numb. 88. in such cases I say the Basilice is to be expressed, in what posture it is, but never in this; so the Dragon, or Alverne, are to have the same Rule observed in them, as numb. 79.

B the like O. Born by the name of Lingam.

A the like S Membré, Crested, &c. G born by Langley, and Lingley.

S a Cockatrice displayed, A Crested, Membré, and Jalopped, O. Is born by the name of Beggin.

LXXVI. He beareth Or, a Basilicke, having the point of his Tail converted (or turned) into a Serpents Head, Gules. By the name of Gurgraine.

This is termed the Amphisiben-Cockatrice, having a Head before and also at the Tail: after the same manner both the Dragon, and Alverne are drawn thus with Heads at the ends of their Tails; which are called Amphisiben-Dragons, and Amphisiben-Alverne; which is as much as to say, a Alverne with a Head behind and before. Which is borrowed from the Serpent Amphisiben, which hath two Heads, and goeth backwards, and forwards.

LXXVII. He beareth Gules, an Harpey, Overture, or with Wings disclosed, Or. This is a kind of fabulous monstrous Bird, having the Head and Face of a Woman, and the Wings and Body of an Eagle. Grillims, fol. 264. terms it thus, an Harpey with Wings disclosed, and her haire, flotant: This Coat stands in Huntington Church. And is Born by the name of Harpey.

G. three Harpeys A. born by the name of Harpey field.

B. such an Harpey Overture, and a Chief O. by Marshgate.

LXXVIII. He beareth Azure, an Harpey displayed, Argent; Crowned and Crined, Or. I have seen draughts of old, and the Dutch and French Heralds, do draw their Eagles (to this day) displayed, with Thighs after this manner, as if they were the thighs of of a Hall, more like than them of a Bird: which to me seems very improper either for the Eagle, or this Harpey; But Mr. Gilliams, is my Master in this shape, which here I have followed; though I would advise, that all sorts of Fowl that is born in Arms (displayed), might be done in imitation, and according to the Pattern, set down in the examples of Eagles, and Pellicans. numb. 38. and chap. 11. numb. 51. 53. This is born (Sans crown) by the name of Harpell.

B. the like; Crined, Crowned, and Armed O. is the City Arms of Norenberga, in the middle of Germany.

B. the like A. Crowned and Crined O. Face proper a Chief A. is born by the name of Thalwall.

B. the like O. is born by Erlin Van Rorberg.

LXXIX. He beareth Vert, a Wivern, Argent: This is the proper posture for this kind of Serpentine Creature, if it be in any other kind, then to be mentioned as in the example, numb. 75. This is of some old Heralds termed, a Dragon-Wivern, or a Dragon-Serpent, and the Serpent Pithon; which some again, draw with four Feet, and no Wings. This is the Coat and Crest of Wirvell.

G. the like to the sinister A. by Trachenfels.

The like A. devouring a Child proper, is the Crest of Venables, Baron of Kinderton.

V. a Wivern A. born by Moston of Moston in Cheshire.

A. the like to the sinister G. by Van Breidenstein.

LXXX. He beareth Argent, a Wivern, with the Tail torqued, (or Torgant), Azure. This is thus born by the name of Warmingham, vulgarly termed Warmisham, and Warmisham.

S. the like O. by Warmingham of Chester.

A. the like holding up his right foot V. by Burchenham.

A. the like to the sinister V. born by Burgehausen of Barvaria.

A. the like to the sinister, the Tail between his Legs B. born by Wurmelingen.

LXXXI. He beareth Gules, a Wivern, with the Tail Nothed under his Feet. Or. Gilliams, fol. 262. terms this, a Wivern, his Wings displayed, and Tail Nothed. But I suppose he meant the Wings Serpentine, or Overture, or Volant; but never displayed, except the Wings are open on either side the Head. The Tail is also termed fretted, in form of a True Loves Knot. For this is contrary to the common way of Nowing, or Nodeering of Serpents Tails, as having a fret, or crossing, more than usually; this four, the other but three. This is Born by Knott.

A. the like G. born by the name of Drakes.

LXXXII. He beareth Azure, a Harpey, with Wings complicated: (or else term it thus,) a Duck, Argent, with a Halos Face, proper, the Hair trussed up: on the back part of the Head, an Infula Gules, Fretted, Or. This is born by the name of Van Michelsach.

G. 3 such O. Faces proper. Born by Waltomwood.

B. the like with Wings disclosed A. born by Hombouse.

LXXXIII. He beareth Or, a Ram-Basilice, Gules Born by Scorcogull of Holland. This is also termed an Arietobasiliquill: or Ram-Eagle-Serpent. Because it partakes of three Natures; the Head of a Ram, the Body and Tail of the Cockatrice, and the Arms and Pounces of an Eagle.

But to avoid Confusion, let such kind of Creatures be termed according to their order and make, and then laying a-side all difficult names, I should term this a Cockatrice, or Basilice Ram-headed; and why not, a Ram-Cockatrice? deriving its name from the head, as well as the Cockatrice from his; and so of the like commixture of Creatures, a Ram-Wivern.

B. 3 such Wings expanded O. Born by Van Ramisch.

A. a Goat-Cock, G. Born by Van Bockerschen. This is a Creature having a Goats Head and Feet, and a Cocks Body and Tail; a fancy of the Bearer (as I suppose) in answer to the name: For this is by the Dutch termed, a Bockhean, Bock; and Bock, a Goat: and Han, and Hean, a Cock. O. the like Bockhean, S. is Born by Kockerscb.

Per Fesse A. and B. the like counterchanged is the Arms of the States of Zigenhan.

O. a Goat-Eagle displayed S. is the Town Arms of Treis in Germany.

The like rule must be observed in giving names to all these kind of double or compounded fictitious Creatures.

LXXXIV. He beareth Argent, a demy Aroponade, Sable: Wings displayed, (or Overture), Gules. This is called also the Ram-Eagle by some; but that is a mistake, for then it should have the entire Head of a Ram, whereas it hath but the Horns. It may therefore be Blazoned, a demy Eagle displayed, adorned with a pair of Rams Horns; and so it is Born by the name of Van Egelhornen, a Dutch Family.

The Tragoponades, are Birds in Ethiopia, as big as Eagles, and have Horns like a Goat.

The Indian Horned Bird, called by them Pohvalcuachilli: See it described, chap. 13. numb. 58. sect 2.

LXXXV. He beareth Sable, an Asnocrotalus, or Als-Bittern, Argent. This name is ascribed to this fictitious Bird, onely from the cry of a Bittern in the water, which resembleth the harsh, or humping, or bumping cry, which we term the Braying of an Ass; therefore they ascribe it an Ass-head, and a Bitterns Neck, Body, and Feet. Some term this an Onocrotalus, which is the Greek for a Bird that makes a noise like in Ass, or a Bittern, having an Asses Voice. This is Born by the name of Asbitter.

A. 3 such G. is born by Antrobus.

B. one such and a Canton A. is Born by Shawbrooke.

G. a Serpent-Goose, A. Born by the name of Weinting of Barvaria. This is a Fowl with a Serpentine Head and Neck casting out a sting, with the Body and Feet of a Duck, or Goose.

LXXXVI. He beareth Argent, a Parrot, or Popinfae, Vert. Born by Parrot. The Parrot alone (with the Crocodile) moves the upper Jaw, as all other Animals do the lower. The Bill is hooked, or crooked, of a semi-circular figure, by which it climbs Walls or Trees, it is of a whitish colour; the Feet is after the manner of an Dwl, two Toes standing forward, and two backwards, whitish; with crooked Claws, wherewith it holds its Meat, and brings it to its Mouth after the manner of Men. 3 such is born by Neuton.

Parrots in respect of their bigness may be divided into three kinds; the greatest sort of them, are equal to our common Raven, or a well fed Capon, of which kind in English they are called, Parcatus, or Paras, and Cockatoons, these have generally long Tails. The middle, or meanest sized Parrots, are as big, or bigger then a Pigeon, and have short Tails; these we call in English Parrots, and Poppinjays. The least sort are of the bulk of a Black-bird, or Chubb: having very long Tails, and are called in English Parakeets, or Parrotkeets.

The Macaw, or Macao, or Cockatoo, hath a long crooked upper Bill, much longer than the neather mandible, black: the Eyes white and black, three black lines branched, goes from the bill, compassing the Eyes underneath; the crown of the head green, the Throat adorned with a kind of black ringe; the Breast, Belly, Rump, and Tail underneath of a Saffron-colour; the Neck above, Back, Wings, and upper side of the Tail, of a very pleasant blue, or azure colour; the Legs very short, thick, and of a dark dusky colour, armed with great crooked black Talons.

The Arara canga, or the Brasilian Cockatoo, hath the upper mandible wholly white, and the lower black; a white membrane, or kin, about the Eyes bare of Feathers, and rough or rugged; Grey-eyes with a black pupil; the Head, Neck, Breast, Belly, Thighs, and Tail underneath, and the pinions of the Wings, are of a most lovely and elegant red, the middle part of the Wings green, and the lower half of them, from the middle to the end blue; the Rump and lower part of the Back, and Tail blue; the Legs are short; the Feet divided into long Toes, armed with crooked Claws, both of a dusky, or dark ash-colour.

The Brasilian Macao, called by them Ararauna: It is the same in shape to the Parrot, but of a different colour, its Bill is black, Eyes grey, with a black pupil: the naked skin about the Eyes white, variegated with black, as if it were wrought with a needle; the Legs and Feet dusky; about the Bill is a couple, or tuft of green feathers, the Throat black; the sides of the Neck, Breast, and Belly yellow; the hinder part of the Head, Back-side of the Neck, the Back and out-sides of the Wings blue; the ends of the Wings have yellow Feathers mingled with the blue: the Tail is blue, with some yellow Feathers intermingled. There is some kinds of these Birds that have their Wings and Tail parti-coloured of red and yellow and blue; have the Tail of a great length, especially the two middlemost feathers, which do much exceed the rest, and are blue.

The Aracana of Brasil, called also of them Arara: Is of the Parrot kind, and is all over of a bluish grey; the Bill black, the skin about the Eyes white, speckled with black; Eyes yellowish, pupil black. There is another sort of these Arara, which the Brasilians term Amuru curica; which have the whole Head, Neck, and Wings, green; the top of the head more dilute, and in a manner turning to blue; the Wings are likewise green, with their ends blue: and at the rise of each Wing, a red spot; the Legs and Feet, dusky.

The common Parrot, hath the upper chap of the Bill, at the point black, then bluish, the remainder being red: the under chap white, the Eyes yellow, or red, with a black pupil, the Crown of the head yellow, all the rest of the body green, the under side more dilute and yellowish, the Back, and Wings darker, onely the uppermost ridge of the Wing is red, the rest of the pinion, inclining to blue; the Tail is red, which is but short; the Legs and feet ash-colour, Claws black.

The parti-coloured Parrot, hath the Bill white, Eyes ferruginous, pupil black; the Fore-head and Crown white, variegated with black spots; hinder part of the Head, Neck, Back, Wings, Rump above, are of a dark green; the Throat and Ridges of the Wings, with a vermillion red; the Breast and Thighs, green; the Belly, and Rump, of a dusky red; the covert Feathers of the Wings blue, with a mixture of white; the Tail is red in the middle, the out-side of the Feathers being variegated with red yellow and blue, else are green; the Legs and Feet cinereous.

The Blue Parrot, hath a blackish Bill, the Head, Neck, and Breast are blue, the top of the crown hath a yellow spot, the region of the Eyes white; the circle dusky, and the pupil black; the Belly green, the Thighs white, rump yellow; the top of the back blue; the covert feathers of the Wings, parti-coloured of green yellow and rosie; the end of the Back, or region of the Lovns, yellowish; the Legs and Feet, ash-colour.

The Ash-coloured Parrot, the Bill is black, having a naked white skin in the upper part of the Bill next the head; the whole body is of a dark cinereous, or ash-colour; yet the lower part of the Back, Belly, and Rump, are paler, almost white; the Tail is red, and very short, scarce reaching further than the ends of the Wings. The Region of the Eyes (or sides of the head round the Eyes) are bare of feathers, and white. This is otherwise termed a Mina Parrot, being onely brought from Mina, an Indian City, of St. Georges.

The white Parrot, the Bill is black, the whole body white, but moderately shaded with dusky, so that it seems, to be pale ash-coloured; the hinder part of the Back, Rump, whole Tail, and prime Feathers of the Wing, are of a scarlet colour; the Feet, blackish.

The Paragua, is a Parrot-kind, the Bill is dark ash-colour, the Body black; the Breast, Back, and anterior, or fore-part of the Belly, red: the Eyes black, with the circle red.

The Carabe of the Brasilians; is a green Parrot, with a red Head and Breast; and the ridges or pinions of the Wings; the Beak and Feet, of a dark ash-colour.

The Brasilian Jurucatinga, is a Parrot of the bigness of a handsome Pullet, all green, with red Eyes, and the skin about the Eyes white; the Bill and Legs white; it hath a long green Tail.

The Jurupara, is a kind of Popinjay, agreeing in all respect with the precedent; as shape, and colour, onely it is of a less body; therefore may be ranked amongst the lesser Parrots, called Parakeets.

The Parakeet, the Bill all red, yellow Eyes, with a black pupil, it is all green, but the Neck, Breast, and all the under-side, more dilute, or pale; under the Chin a black line is drawn downwards, as far as the beginning of the Breast, which then divides, and goes to each side of the Neck, till it meets with that red circle, or ring, which compasses the back-side of the Neck. The Belly, and Tail, of a yellowish green; Legs and Feet, ash-colour.

The Ring-parakeet, the Bill all red; yellow Eyes, with a black pupil, it is all green; but the Neck, Breast, and all the under side, more dilute, or pale; under the Chin a black line is drawn downwards, as far as the beginning of the Breast, which then divides, and goes to each side of the Neck, till it meets with that red circle, or ring, which compasses the back side of the Neck. The Belly, and Tail, of a yellowish green; Legs and Feet, ash colour.

The Scarlet Parakeeto, is no larger than a Black bird: The whole Body is of a vermillion colour; the covert Feathers of the Wings yellow; the Tail hath the lower lower half red, and the upper green, or yellow; the Eyes yellow, the skin bare about the Eyes, of an ash-colour, Legs short and black; a ring of green Feathers, compasses the Legs above the Knees.

The Tui of the Brasilians, is of the bigness of a Swallow; all over green, having a very long Tail and a black hooked bill.

The Tuiapute-juba, is all over green, the Wings darker, the lower Breast and Belly, paler almost yellow; the Tail very long, it is of the bigness of a Swallow; it hath black Eyes, and a circle of yellow feathers, about the Eyes, and about the Bill, which is black and hooked; on the Head, it hath a great spot of orange-colour feathers.

The Tui-irica of Brasil, is a kind of Parakeeto, something larger then those of Guiny, all over of a green colour; deeper on the Back, and Wings; paler on the Breast, and Belly; Bill crooked, of a carnation colour, Eyes black, Feet bluish, the Tail not much longer than the points of the Wings.

The Jendava of the Brasilians, is as big as a Chiffie; hath a black Bill and Legs; black Eyes, with golden irides, or circle encompassing the pupil, outwardly white; the Back, Wings, Tail, and lower Belly, green, inclining to a sea-colour, the ends of the Wings black; the Head, Neck, and Breast, are of a yellow colour.

The Tuiete, is of the bigness of a Lark, the whole body of a light; but the beginning of the Wings, of a bright blue; the borders also of all the wing-feathers, are blue; on the Back, at the rise of the Tail, is a blue spot, the Tail is short; the Bill hooked, and of a carnation colour; the Legs and Feet, cinereous.

The Tuiapara, is of the bigness of a Lark, all over pale green; Tail short, as the Wings; the Bill of a carnation colour; the Legs, grey, or grissled; near the rise of the Bill, in the fore-head is a semi-lunar figure, or spot, as it were a crown, of a scarlet colour.

The Anaca of the Brasilians, is of the bigness of a Lark; its Bill hooked and dusky; the Feathers on the top of the head, of a Liver-colour; on the sides of the Head, and about the Eyes, of a brown; the Throat is ash-colour; the Neck behind, and the sides, green; Back green, with a spot of light brown; the Belly is of a reddish brown; the Tail is of a dilute brown; the beginning, or Pinions of the Wings, hath a crimson spot, or border, the rest of the Wings green, the ends of a sea-water colour; the Legs above, covered with green feathers, below bare and of an ash-colour, with black claws.

The Tuijuba-Tui, is all yellow, of the bigness of the Tuiapara, aforesaid; with a hooked grey Bill, and black Eyes; the ends of the Wings are of a dark green, the Tail long and yellow.

The Ajurucuruca, hath a tuft on the Head of blue and black, with a yellow spot in the middle of it; below the Eyes, is a yellow, and on the Throat, a blue spot; the Breast, Back, and Wings, green; the end of the Wings and Tail are more dilute; the tips of the Wing feathers are yellow, and red, mingled with blue; the Legs of a bluish ash-colour, claws black; the Bill above cinereous, in the extremities black.

A. a Chevelon S. between three Popinjaes V. collered beaked, and legged G. by the name of Newton of Pom-nall.

Per bend sinister A. and G. a Parrot V. collered G. by Maiser Van Pere.

G. two such respectant O. collered V. born by Van Uterharsen.

A. Fesse G. between 3 such V. Beaks and Leggs G. by Lumley Lord Lumley.

LXXXVII. He beareth Argent, a Parrot, or Popinjae, enraged (or in his Ire) Gules. The Parrot above all other Birds, have in their delight, and when pleased; or on the contrary, when moved to anger; the most fantastick, or antick tricks and postures of Body, turning and winding so as no other Birds can. Of which this and the two following examples are some parts of such postures, which may properly be termed antick Parrots, or Parrots in Antick postures. This I term enraged, because here he is ready to pick, or bite, at any that shall annoy him. This is Born by Parrire.

The Ajurucurau, is a very elegant Bird, of the Parrot-kind, being a Brasilian Bird, having above the Bill, on the top of the head, a tuft or cop of a lively blue; the Throat, Sides, and upper part of the head, yellow; the whole body of a pleasant green; the Tail edged with black, red, and blue. The Bill dusky, Legs and Feet, ash-colour.

A. three such V. born by Wildung; and them G. by Dungen.

LXXXVIII. He beareth Or, a Popinjae in his delight, Azure. This kind of posture the Parrot will oft be in, when he is delighted in any thing he beareth turning and winding his head, as if he gave attention to the thing in action.

LXXXIX. He beareth Vert, a Cockatoo Parrot in a volant antick posture, Or. Or if you please take it thus, a Parrot regardant, Wings disclosed, holding up his left foot. This is born by the name of Antick.

G. three the like A. born by Birtles, or Birchels.

O. the like V. Beak and Leggs A. born by Bollinger.

T O

The Ever Honored

ROBERT WERDEN, Esquire ;

Collonel of Horse under King Charles the First, and Second, of Blessed Memory : And now Major General of Horse under King James the Second.

A N D T O

Sir JOHN WERDEN, Knight and Barronett ;

His Son and Heir, Chief Baron of the Exchequer, for the County Palatine of CHESTER.

Right Worshipful,

AS our City of Chester may highly Glory, not onely in its own Loyalty, but in the Propagation of such noble Persons ; being (as) the Place of your Nativity, so of your Watch and Care to preserve the same in her Ancient Rights and Priviledges ; which as an Acknowledgment of your Worth, I do humbly present you with my small Endeavours in this Chapter ; subscribing My Self,

Your Faithful and Devoted Servant

Randle Holme.

C H A P. XIII.

I. IN the two former Chapters, I have treated off, and described the generally well known European Birds, with some other of the further part of the World ; but in this I shall give a further light of some other kinds and shapes of Birds less known in these Countreys ; which is, and may be good and honourable Bearings in Coats of Arms, to and for such as have them.

I. He beareth Argent, a Urubu, proper. Born by Scoppe. This is a rapacious Bird, as big as a Wite, it is a Brasilian Aulture ; called by some Authors, Ben-scheneter, and Aura. The Mexicans call it a Cropllotl. It hath a pretty long Bill, hooked at the end, and sharp, it is covered half way with a skin of a saffron colour ; the rest of the Bill is white ; it hath Eyes like a Ruby, with a black pupil ; Eye-lids of a saffron colour ; it hath a small head, almost of the shape of a Turkey covered with a rugged wrinkled skin, of a saffron colour ; about the Eyes blue, and on the top of the head ; all about

H: Cap: Confect. P. M. Robt. Werden: & D. Ioh. Werden: Mit: & Bar.

bout the Neck of a reddish brown : The Plumage, or Feathers of the whole Body, is black, with a little tawny colour here and there mingled. The Tail is long, yet the Wings closed are longer ; the Feet white like a Hens.

O. the like proper, a Cheif indented B. born by Bos-seley.

O. the head crazed proper ; by Bradley Van Gomyr.

A. a Cheveron S. between three Urubu's heads coupled B. born by Jackson.

In the Cheif of this Coat, having spare room, I have caused the Graver to make an Eagles Wing and Leg conjoined, in form of a Roman V. which is so Blazoned ; else term it a Leg and Wing conjoined, in Fesse, Talons to the sinister ; see chap. 11. numb. 7.

S. an Eagles Leg and Wing conjoined, in Fesse, and elevated, G. born by Langinger. S. the like O. by Langinger.

O. the same in pale S. born by the Town of Villach.

G. the like in pale with a Wing conjoined and elevated S. by the name of Wildenstein.

a Falcons Leg jessed and belled O. with a Wing conjoined A. is the Crest of Raphall Davis.

II. He beareth Or, an Urutaurana. This is a kind of crested Eagle of Brasil ; which I have else-where described, chap. 12. numb. 54. This is born by the name of the Harcvutire, but in the Dutch Hajegier.

III. He beareth Argent, a Ruffed Culture, proper. This is also termed a Beatic Culture. Having the feathers about its Neck long and narrow (like those that hang down about the Necks of Dunghill-Cocks ; and Stares) which cover the Back, Wings, and Sides ; the other feathers of the Body are small, and broad, like scales. The Back, Belly, and whole Body is of a chestnut colour ; the Stomach and Rump, more reddish ; its Tail short, in respect of its Wings ; the Beak black, hooked at the end ; the Head and Neck, covered with a soft white Down ; the Eyes were fierce looked, having a yellow irides ; in the lower part of the Neck, (as it were) a ruff of thick-set narrow feathers, much longer, and more curling than the rest.

The Gypaetos, or Culture Eagle, called by some Perknopteros, and Dypelargus. The Beak is long, and streight to the middle, then hooked, white towards the Head, black to the tip ; the lower Chap white ; the Eyes white, with a black pupil ; the whole head whitish, inclining to dusky ; the upper part of the Neck round, bald or belet with small and a few white downy feathers ; at the end of this Baldness, or below the middle of the Neck, grew small long feathers, like certain rough curled hairs, standing up above the rest of the plumage : The colour of the whole Body is a dark Chestnut, inclining to black, the Tail long, Feet and Leggs, white ; Claws dusky.

The Alpine Culture Eagle, the Bill was long, covered with a skin, or membrane past the middle, the hooked part, or tip end, dusky ; the Feet covered all over with scales, dusky ; Claws, of a dusky horn-colour ; the colour of the whole body was dusky, inclining to a dark chestnut, having an acute angle of white Feathers, running down the middle of the Back ; the Tail of a mean size.

The Dypelargus, or Mountain-Culture ; the Head and Neck, are destitute of Feathers, only covered with a white Down ; from the Bill to the Eyes, the skin is bare, and of a blue colour ; on the lower part of the Neck, it hath a collar, or ruff of long white Feathers ; all the rest of the body is of a pale ash-colour, or like the colour of a Stork : The Bill is covered at the Nostrils with a black membrane, the tip of the Bill white : It is feathered a little below the Knees ; the Leggs and Feet, of a lead colour, Claws black. It stands generally with its Wings stretcht out, or like the figure of this example, with the Wings out from the Body ; and therefore it is ever drawn in this posture, with the Body in full sight, whereby the ruff about its Neck, and the Wings standing at a distance from the Body, is best discovered. Else if it were an Eagle in this form, it would be termed, an Eagle in her Majesty, or in Full Aspect, as chap. 11. numb. 18.

IV. He beareth Argent, a Bird of Paradise, Gules. The Bird of Paradise, by the inhabitants of the Molucca Islands, is called Hanucodiata, that is God's Birds. They are of an excellent shape, and beauty of Body ; There are several sorts of them, of which I have formerly treated, chap. 12. numb. 2. in this place only I shall give you the figure of another kind with its description and colour.

The great Bird of Paradise, or Hippomancodiata, it hath long Wings and a long Tail ; the Bill is crooked in the upper mandible ; the whole Bird is white, except the Neck, and Belly, which is chestnut colour. The upper part of the Head is ferrugineous, to which succeeds a yellow, and after it a green colour ; they have two small long Feathers in the Tail, which exceeds the length of the rest of the Feathers in the Tail.

The Indian Apos, or greater Bird of Paradise, it is of the bigness of a Chrush, wonderful light, and long winged. About the Bill, which is black next the Head, and whitish towards the tip ; there is little feathers, resembling filaments, or thrums of silk, of a yellow colour ; under the Throat, black. From the Throat to the Breast, of a deep shining green ; the Breast black, inclining to red ; the Belly, Back and Tail Feathers, were of a ferrugineous, or dusky red colour ; the Wings were of a shining Gold, then a dusky red, or black sanguine, and those as covered the rest, of a pale ash-colour ; the Feet are like Pullets Feet, foul and unhandfom, which they clap close to their Body ; so that the Toes can only appear.

V. He beareth Argent, an Ibijau (or a Brasilian Goat-sucker) proper. This is also termed, an Noti-bo. The greater American Goat-sucker, hath a very sharp pointed Bill, bending ; the Mouth wide, with large patent Nostrils ; Leggs very short and small, all white ; the Head and Body, great and round ; the Wings reach almost to the end of the Tail ; the upper parts are black, white being intermingled ; the lower parts white, mixt with black, as in a Sparrow Hawk. The lesser Ibijau, see described chap. 12. numb. 29.

VI. He

VI. He beareth Or, a Suira-querea. It is another kind of Brasilian Goat-sucker, of the bigness of a Lark: It hath long Wings, and a longer Tail; the Bill is triangular, a little crooked on each side of the upper mandible, there is thick Bristles; the Eyes black; the whole Bird is of a dusky ash-colour, with dark, yellow, and whitish spots, intermingled after the manner of a Sparrow-Dalek: round the Neck, and behind the Head, it hath a ring of a deep or dark gold colour; the Tail hath the two out-side Feathers longer by much than the rest, whose shafts are thinly set with the Web, the filaments or threads, standing scattering, and open, as in the Peacocks Tail. The like O. in a Field G. is born by Kudae.

The Goat-sucker, or Fern-Owl, or Church-Owl, in Lacine, Caprimulgus; its Bill is very small, and Mouth wide, in proportion to its Body; on the sides of the upper chap of the Bill, under its Throat and Sides, and under the Eyes, there is stiff long hairs like Bristles; the Bill a little hooked, the hinder part of the Head, Neck, and Back, ash-colour; the middle of each Feather being black; the under side of the Body is black, and pale red lines transverse, but not continued; the Wings parti-coloured of black and red, the covert Feathers of the Wings are powdered with cinereous; the Tail have the out-side Feathers shortest, the middle ash-colour, with very small transverse lines of black, the other have the cross-bars, broader; the ash-colour part being powdered with black, and a tincture of red spots; the Legs small for the Body, feathered on the fore-side, half-way; the Feet and Claws, black.

The Turucui, is a Brasilian Bird, about the bigness of a Phe; hath a short Bill of a Brim-stone colour, wide Mouth, under the lower Bill, and on both sides, are black Bristles, in the Eye-lids above, and beneath, black stiff hairs; a blue Eye, with a yellow circle; under the Eye, a spot of white skin, as in Hens; the Throat, black; Breast and Belly scarlet colour; the whole Back, and upper-side of the Tail, of a shining green, with a gloss of blue, and Gold; the Wings are green in the beginning or pinions, the coverts hoary, and the long Feathers, a dark dusky blackish colour, spotted with small grey specks, as Hallards Feathers use to be; the Tail broad at the end, which end hath a black border; the Legs are feathered, with black to the Feet; the Toes are dusky ash-colour, two standing forwards, two backwards, Claws black.

VII. He beareth Argent, a Mitus head coupéd, proper. Born by Mittus. The Mitu, or Mutu, is a Brasilian Bird, of the Pheasant kind; it is as big as a Cock, and will spread its Tail circularly, like a Peacock, or Turkey-Cock: the Bill is of a Carnation colour, at the tip white; great black Eyes; behind the Ears, a white naked spot like a Pen; the top of the Head hath black feathers, complicated into a very low, and flat cop, but being angry, or on other occasions can erect them, into a conspicuous Crest: It is all over covered with black feathers; except the Belly, and under the Tail, which is brown; the Thighs black, the Legs and Feet, like to Hens, of a dusky black.

A. 3 such coupéd is born by Brownshaugh.

VIII. He beareth Azure, a crested Parrot, Argent. Born by Swindally. This sort of Parrot, hath and carries his Tail contrary to others, not stretched out in length, but erect; after the fashion of a Dunghill-Cock; the Bill is ash-colour, inclining to black; with wide Nostrils, rising up with a round ridge, or bunch, between them; Eyes yellow, with a black pupil; the plumage is generally white; having a Crest of long sharp pointed feathers on its Head, bending somewhat forwards, the Feet yellowish, Claws small and black.

There is another sort of these Parrots, called the Red and Green crested Parrot; whose Wings, Tail, and Crest, are red; the rest of the Body green; red Eyes, and a black pupil.

The Brasilian Ani, it is a kind of Parrot, of the bigness of a Throstle; wholly black in Wings, Bill, Eyes, and Feet; it hath a long erect Tail, and Feet like a Parrot.

The small Parrakeeto, hath a grey hooked Bill, Eyes black, with white irides; it can set up specious feathers on the crown of its head, like a Crest, Legs and Feet ash-colour; it hath a very long Tail; the Head, Neck, and Tail red; Wings green, enterwoven with red Feathers; the Breast and Belly, a pale Rose-colour; the Tail end, hath a border, or edge of blue.

B. three such A. born by Woodley.

G. 3 such Heads coupéd A. born by Walbank.

IX. He beareth Argent, a Rhinocerotis head coupéd, Sable, Beak, Gules. Some term it the head of a Rhinocerot Bird; the Brasilian Copau, or the horned Indian Raven. It hath a long Bill bending downwards, with a kind of horn fixt on the forehead, bending upward; of a pale or whitish colour, towards the head red; the horn on the Bill, is red in the upper and lower part, and yellow in the middle; of this sort of Bill, there is three varieties; which the two next examples, and this doth manifest. This Blazoned as aforesaid, is born by Swindall.

O. three such coupéd S. born by Bossen.

A. two such coupéd S. Beaks O. and a Rose. Is born by Schetscher.

X. He beareth Argent, the head of a Rhinocerot Bird, (or Indian horned Raven coupéd.) proper.

IX. He beareth Argent, the Head of a Brasilian Copau, coupéd, (or Indian horned Raven) proper. These are the several shaped, that have been seen of the Rhinoceros bird; and if the rest of the body be answerable to the head, it must needs be bigger than an Eagle.

XII. He beareth Argent, the head of an Indian Raven coupéd, proper. This is a kind of strange Raven in the Molucca Islands, it hath a great thick Bill at the head, a little pointed at the tip, wide Nostrils; great and black Eyes, bare of Feathers all about, which skin is red and blue, like Turkeys; the Head and Neck long, covered all over, with black feathers; see numb. 58.

A. 3 such coupéd, is born by Adzwooditz.

A. one such and a Canton S. is born by Chelford.

XIII. He

XIII. He beareth Argent, a Jay proper. Born by Jay, or Gey. It hath a strong Bill, the Irides, or Circle of the Eyes, white; near the lower chap of the Bill, are two black spots, the Chin whitish; Breast and Belly, cinereous, and red; the Rump white: the Head hath taller Feathers, then the rest of the Body, standing more erect, and staring, then ordinary being variegated with black and white Feathers; the Back red, with a certain mixture of blew. The Wings have much variety of colours in them, having the first of the Sail, or Quill feathers black; the six next, have their exterior Vanes, of an ash colour; the three next ash colour, but mingled with blew; and marked at the bottom with black, and white lines; the six succeeding, have the out Vanes, the lower half white, the upper black, but so as each extremity, or end of the white, is terminated with blew as an edge, or border; the remaining long Feathers, have transverse blew, black, and white spots: the Covert feather of the 15 exterior Sails, are very beautifully variegated, or chequered; with black, white, and lovely shining blew lines; the rest of the Covert feathers, being black: the Tail is wholly black; the Feet are of a ferrugineous dusky colour.

The Roller, is of the Dove, and Jay kind; and alike shaped in Body, but of different colours, for its Bill is black, the Eyes of a pale Hazle colour; near the Eyes, towards the hinder part of the Head, are two bunches, or warts, bare of Feathers, the circumference of the Eyes, is bare or void of Feathers. The Rump, and lesser row of Covert feathers of the Wings, are of a lovely blew, or ultramarine colour. The middle of the Back red; the Head of a sordid green, mingled with blew; the Throat also, with white lines in the middle of each Feather; the Breast, and Belly, of a pale blew. The Sail feathers of the Wings, have all of them, the lower half blew, and the upper half black: the coverts are of a pale blew. The Tail hath the two outside Feathers, extreme longer then the rest, the two middle are of a dark ash colour, the next to them are tipped with a bluish white, which colour increases gradually in the rest, till in the out-most, it takes up half the Feather; below the white, the exterior webs are blew, and the tips of the two out-most are black; the out-most Feather of the bastard Wing is black, the rest blew: the Feet, are of a dirty yellow colour, Claws black.

The Blew Crow, of some called a Wild Wood-Crow; others a German Pappagay, or Parrot; it is sent into forraign Countreys for no other end, but the commendation of its colour: there is that call it the Strasburgh Roller. The Bill is black, Legs dusky; it is here and there all over the Body, as Head, Wings, Tail, and Rump, and all the under side, of a shining blew colour; in some places more sincere, and in some mixt with green; the Back and upper side of the Neck dusky. The greater Feathers of the Wing, black.

A 5 Jays proper. Born by Fallombrome.

O a Fesse, G between 3 such proper. Born by Esthellers.

A Jay is the Crest of Goddelegb.

XIV. He beareth Argent, an Aracari, or Brasilian Wood-pecker, proper. The Bill is long, the upper

[]

Chap greater, and longer then the lower; both from the tip, half way are Serrate, or Toothed. The upper Chap white, having a black line, running a long the ridge, or middle, from Head to point, the lower Chap, all black: great black Eyes, with yellow ridges; the Legs and Feet, of a dark green, or black, having two Back-toes, and two Fore-toes; Claws dusky, or black: the Head, and Neck all black, which terminates in a circle; the Breast, and Belly yellow, mingled with a pavonine, or bluish green. Cross the Breast is a broad line, of a sanguine colour; the whole Back, Wings, Tail, and Thighs, of a dark green, or black, with a gloss of green. The end of the Back, and beginning of the Tail, is a sanguine, or blood red, round spot. This is the Badge of the Town of Hurlfield.

The Persian Wood-pecker, hath a thick Head, and Neck: and a longer Bill, the Feathers from Crown, to end of the Tail, are somewhat ferrugineous: but the Bill is altogether ferrugineous. Feet of a pale blew, and Claws black; the rest of the Body yellow; except the tips of the Quill feathers, which are ferrugineous: and that a spot of the same colour, encompasses the Eyes.

XV. He beareth Gules, the Head of an Iperu, or Brasilian Wood-pecker, proper. I have described this Bird else where, only give you the true shape here, referring you to chap. 12. numb. 46.

The Jaguacati-guacu; is a Brasilian Bird of this shape, with a tuft behind its Head, which I have described before in chap. 12. numb. 46.

XVI. He beareth Argent, a Gaira-acangata, proper. Or the Brasilian Cyper; from the great noise it makes in the Woods; it is as big as a Dove, the Bill is a little hooked, and of a dark yellow; the Eyes cristalline, with a dusky circle; Tail long, and broad at the end; the Head hath long Feathers erected like a crest, which with the Head, have dusky Feathers with yellow sides, or edges: the Neck, and Wings have the contrary. The ends of the Wings dusky: the Belly and Back, are pale yellow; the Tail dusky, the end of it white; the Legs and Feet, Sea green, the Toes two forward, and two backward. This is born by the name of Dan Guyrast a Spaniard.

O the like proper. By the name of Huyde.

A 3 such B. Born by the name of Charterer:

XVII. He beareth Argent, a Brasilian Gaira-guambi, proper. It is as big as a Thrush, Bill black, and Teeth on both sides, like a Saw; the Head hath (as it were) a Crown of Saphire coloured Feathers; Eyes yellow, with black Pupils: under the Eyes is black, mingled with Saphire. Throat, Breast, Belly, of a dark yellow; the Neck behind, Back, Wings, and Tail, of a grass green, mixt with Sea green, as in Peacocks; Thighs green. The Tail is very long, and straight, consisting of two or three shafts, which have thin scattering Webs, or Threads; the Feet black.

XVIII. He beareth Or, the Head of a Mitu-pozanga, proper. This is an Indian Bird, of the Mitu and Pheasant kind; and like them in shape, and proportion of Body, differing only in the Bill, and Crest of curled Feathers on the Head. This is born by Porang a Portugal.

The Indian Cock, by the Brasilians called, Mitu-poranga; and of some, Cepetototi. Hath the Bill a little hooked at the end, the tip of both Chaps is black; all the rest is covered with a Saffron coloured skin; the like whereto it hath also about its Eyes, it hath black Eyes: the Head and Neck is black, like Velvet. On the top of the Head, it hath curled Feathers, twisted, and turned up spirally, as far as the beginning of the Neck; which it can erect in manner of a curled, or frilled Crest. All the rest of the Bird is black, here and there having a gloss of green; about the Vent white; Legs and Feet, cinereous; the Tail long and black, but the extremities, or ends of its Feathers, white. Where other Birds had their Nostrils, there this Bird, had a certain yellow protuberance found, and of the bignes of a Cherry.

The Hauri, or Indian Hen: of the Mitu kind; its Bill is red and crooked, having a certain tumour, fastned to the root of its Bill, where it was more slender, of the shape of a Peat; and as hard as a stone, and of a blew colour; its Plumage is all black, but shining almost like a Peacock. The Legs of a pale red; the Tail was white, striped with black lines, and was long, and not erect, but stretched out in length. This Bird hath a great Head, which in some is plain or smooth, in others rough or erected; and in others, in stead of a crest of Feathers, arises a lump, or protuberance, like a stone of a globular Body, yet not very hard, of the colour of Soder.

A 3 such Mitu-poranga's Heads coupéd, proper. Is born by Its.

O 3 such S a chief G born by Kettleborne.

A one Head crazed, G born by Lymbang.

XIX. He beareth Sable, a Dodo: or Dronte, proper. By the name of Dronte. This Exotic bird, doth equal a Swan in bigness, and is of some Authors termed, Callus Peregrinus; and Sygnus Cucullatus; a Hooded Swan; yet it is of a far different shape. For the Head is great, covered (as it were) with a certain Membrane, resembling a Hood. The Bill is thick, and long, yellow next the Head, the point black; the upper Chap is hooked at the end, the lower Chap, had a blew foot, between the yellow and black: it is covered with thin short Feathers, and wants Wings; in stead thereof it hath four or five long black Feathers: that the hinder part of the Body is round, flat, and fleshy, wherein for the Tail, were four or five small curled Feathers, twirled up together, of an ash colour. The Legs, thick and short, with long sharp pointed Toes, yellowish; Claws black. Thighs covered with black Feathers, the rest of the Body grey. Yee Bomius, lib. 5. chap. 17. in his History of India, describes it to have a great ill favoured Head, covered with a Membrane like a Hood; the Bill bluish white, the tips of the upper Mandible black, the lower yellow, the Body is covered with soft grey Feathers; the soft Feathered Wings, of a yellowish ash colour; Legs yellowish, and both them, and the Toes, with broad scales.

XX. He beareth Argent, an Indian Quail, proper. Born by Equile. This is the true shape and figure of it, whose description, I have set down else where, chap. 11. numb. 78.

XXI. He beareth Argent, an Attagen, regardant, proper. Born by Tagen. This Bird is of the Italians, called a Francolino; because the common People are forbidden to take them, they are between a Pheasant, and a More-cock, or Red Game. It hath a short black Bill crooked at the end, the colour is various, almost all the Body, over; the Head hath a yellow crest, variegated with black, and white spots: the Eyes yellow, the Eye-brows are naked Scarlet skin; like the Heath-cock; a beard hangs under the Throat, the Neck long, and slender, of an ash colour, spotted with black & white; the Breast spotted with the same, and some ferrugineous ones, mingled: the Belly, Tail, Hips, and Legs, which are covered with Feathers, are of a Lead colour, and all besprinkled with black spots.

The Francolino, is otherwise described by some Authors; who say, it is in figure, and proportion of Body, resembling the Partridge, but in bigness exceeds it: the Breast and Belly, spotted with black, and white; the ends of the Wings, and Tail black; the Head, Neck, and Rump, fulvous; inclining to red, with white, and black spots; the Head hath no Crest, nor Legs hairy.

The Hazell, hen in shape it resembles this Attagen; save it hath neither tuft, nor beard: the Bill is blackish and crooked, about the Eyes a naked red skin; the Legs before, are feathered half way down; the Fore-toes are joyned together by a Membrane, from the divarication, to the first joyn, and have serrat borders, or welts standing out on each side the Toes, as in the Heath-cock, or Grouse. The Chin black, Throat red, Breast white, spotted with black spots, in the middle of each Feather; Belly white, Head of a reddish ash colour, from the Eyes to the hind part of the Head is a white line; the Back and Rump, of a more cinereous, the scapular Feathers, which cover the ridges of the Wings are all white. The Quill feathers are party coloured, of dusky, and white; the greater row of Covert feathers are variegated with red, black, and white. The Tail have the two middle Feathers party coloured of white and dusky: all the rest of the Feathers are tipped with a dusky white; next it a bar or bed of black, a good breadth; the rest of the Feather party coloured, of white and black.

A 3 Attagens heads coupéd, proper. Born by Don Swansco.

G the same O born by Tidnock.

XXII. He beareth Argent, the Head of a Virginian Crested Nightingale, coupéd, Azure. Born by Dungell. Some only term it a Virginian Nightingale, omitting its Crest: but all are not so Crested, as this figure is the example of its true shape; whose description I have given in chap. 11. numb. 64. Such a Head I take to be the Crest of Fence.

XXIII. He beareth Argent, an Indian Stare, proper. It resembles our Country Stare, or Starling, in its dark colours; as Seagreen, and dark blew Feathers, spotted with cinereous, or ash colour spots: but beside this, it hath a yellow Crest; and its Head is set with black soft Feathers, that feeling of it, you would would think you touched Velvet: as the figure doth lively represent.

O o

would

XXIV. He beareth Argent, a Matuitui, proper. Something it is bigger then a Stare, hath a Vermilion colour, straight, long Bill; with some hairs proceeding from the root of the lower Chap; the Head, upper side of the Neck, Back, Wings, and Tail, are browns spotted with a pale yellow; partly speckled, like a Sparrow Hawk. Under the Throat it is yellow, a short Neck, a full round Breast, and Belly, are speckled with brown, Short Legs, and Feet, of a dark ash colour.

XXV. He beareth Gules, an Atinga-guacu-mucu, Argent. This is a remarkable Bird, and may be born in Arms, in any colour; it is as big as a Throffle. The Bill of a greenish yellow, sanguine Eyes, with a black Pupil; Legs ash colour; the upper part of the Body is brown, or fulgineous; but in the Tail it is darker, and in the end, it is white, and between the white, and brown part, shaded with black; the lower parts ash colour; on the Head, at the root of the Bill, it hath Feathers, which it can set up like two horns. It hath a very long and slender Tail; Legs are ash colour.

XXVI. He beareth Argent, the Head of a Cife-guacu-paroara couped, proper. It is as big as a Lark, it hath a short thick Neb, hooked at the end, dusky above, white below; the Head and lower side of the Neck, are yellow, spotted with sanguine (the Male have the Plumage of these parts wholly sanguine) the upper side of the Neck, and Back, ash colour, shaded with umber; Wing feathers, dusky with white borders; so is the Tail. The Covert feathers are cinereous: the Legs and Feet are dusky: Eyes black.

XXVII. He beareth Argent, a Wynneck, proper. Born by that name of Wrynck. It is in Latin called Ynn, or Coquillia; it is of the bigness of a Lark, or less; the Bill is long and slender, of a Lead colour; Eyes, of yellow hazle colour; Feet of a flesh colour; the upper part of the Body, curiously variegated with white, black, reddish, dusky, and grey, or ash colour; from the Crown of the Head, all a long the middle of the Back, runs a list of black: the Quill feathers are dusky, marked in the exterior Webs, with red spots. The Throat, and Breast, yellow; Belly white; the Feet little, of an ash colour. It hath a strange, and ridiculous way of turning, and winding of his Head; which causeth it alway to be drawn in this posture.

Though I have here termed this a Wynneck, as from its posture, and so it may pass: yet upon further examination, I find this Bird, to be by the Brasilians, called a Cauimmbi, and Durissia, and Cominejo. Which I have further described, under the name of Humming Bird, numb. 58. sect. 2.

XXVIII. He beareth Azure, an American Diver, Argent. Born by Diver. This in our English tongue is so called, or else a Didaper; it is a kind of Duck with a long Bill; and falling Wings, with a downy Tail. Of these, there are several kinds as,

The Curle headed Diver; or the Venice Diver. Hath the Bill brown, red on the edges, hooked at the end; the lower Mandible wholly red, both toothed on the edges, like a Saw: Eyes sanguine; all the Head, and Neck, of a dark fulvous colour, but the Crown blackish. The Back is dusky, or dark cinereous; Throat white, under it grizzled, of white, black and red; the Belly white. The Wings are very short and little, for the bigness of the Bird, and hanging down: the Quill feathers are black, those next the Body tipped with white; the Covert feathers, are half white, half black; in the base of the Wing, is a great white spot. The Tail short, and dropping down; Legs short, Feet red, or of a deep Saffron colour, having no Back-toe, but a little bunch out from the Leg. This is of some Authors termed, a Serula; and a Mergus Circatus; from its long Crest or Tuft on its Head hanging down backwards, see numb. 32.

The Rhine Diver: it is the most Duck like of any of those Water-birds, termed by the name of Mergus, or Mergi; its Body is all over partly coloured, of black and white; its Bill and the space about the Eyes, black; the Neck and Belly white, varied with black specks, and cinereous spots; Legs and Toes dusky, the Membranes on the inside black, Tail black; Wings and Back, distinguished by white and black spaces, alternately. It hath no Tuft on its Head.

He beareth A such an American Diver G born by Longendale.

B 3 such O Legs and Beak, G born by Malley, or Metley.

A 3 such proper, a chief G born by Martugole.

V the whole Fowl proper. Born by Marepoole.

XXIX. He beareth Argent, a Brasilian Jabiru, Sable. Born by Jabiru. This is by the Dutch termed, a Negro; in bigness it exceeds the Swan; its Head great, and Neck thick and long, too great for the proportion of its Body, which is long but slender; its Thighs and Legs, long and slender. The Bill long and slender, towards the point bending down, & blackish: the Thighs half way bare; Legs and Feet, black. The whole Bird is all over white. The Tail is short ending with the end of the Wings.

XXX. He beareth Gules, the Head of a Jabiru guacu couped, Argent, this in all respects resembles the Jabiru: before said save in this, the Bill at the end turns something upwards. The Bill grey, on the top of the Head, doth grow a bony Crown, or Skul of a mixt colour, white and cinereous; Eyes black, and behind them large Eare holes: the Neck long, the upper half, together with the Head, is bare of Feathers, but covered with a scally ash coloured skin. It hath a short black Tail, no longer then the end of the Wings; the long Thighs, are half covered with white Feathers, as is the whole Body; the rest, with the Legs, are ash colour. The Quill feathers only black, with a gloss of Ruby colour.

A 3 such Heads couped, B Bills O born by Ston, or Overton.

B 3 such Heads crazed, O Bills A born by Prague.

XXXI

XXXI. He beareth Argent, a Brasilian Anhima, Gules. This is a Water-fowl of a rapacious kind, bigger then a Swan, its Bill is long and sharp, a little bending, and black: it hath golden Eyes, with a black Pupil, and a black circle without; it hath a horn on its Head, bending forwards, about the horn stands up very fine black and white Feathers; it hath large Wings, in the fore-part of the pinion of each, are two straight triangular horns (or spurs they may more properly be called) springing from the very bones of the Wing, of a dusky colour; Legs and Feet, of a good length, covered with a brown scaly skin. The Head white, and black varied; half the Neck and Throat, black; under half, and Breast variegated with cinereous, and black Feathers; Belly all white; Back and Sides, black: white Feathers here and there intermingled, the Wings and Tail, are black.

The Brasilian Water-Pen, call'd Agua-petaca; is in shape like the Jacana described, chap. 12. numb. 49. But different in colour; the Back, and Belly, are mixt of green, and black; the Wings browner: it wants the Cap, or Miter on the Head, but hath in each Wing a straight horn. or spur; wherewith it defends its self.

The Sambo-Goose, mentioned chap. 12. numb. 50. Hath the like spur, proceeding from the first joyn't of the Wings. The like hereunto Margrave hath observed, in four or five sorts of Brasilian Birds; but no European Fowl, that I know off, hath them. These kinds may be called spur winged Geese. And such another like Fowl A. in a Field B. I find born by Calcaby an Italian Family.

B-3 such O born by Gengenbech.

G 3 such proper, a Fesse between A. Born by Ranm Van Snijffon.

XXXII. He beareth Sable, the Head of a Aenice, (or Curle headed Diver) Argent. This Bird I have spoken off before, numb. 28. Therefore say no more but give you the form of its Head, with its long hooked Bill; toothed on both edges, with its Crest, or Tuft. 3 such blazoned as aforefaid is born by Romylegb.

XXXIII. He beareth Azure, a Belearic Crane, proper. It is of some Authors termed, the Sea Peacock. The shape of its Body is like a Stork, but a shorter Bill, of a dark colour; It hath on its Head, a thick round Crest, made of bristles: spread every way, of the colour of bristles, yellowish white; on both Cheeks, it hath a white spot, terminated about a red line: the whole Bird, is of a Coote colour, viz. black, only the small Quill feathers are white; under the Bill, hangs down a red excrescence, or lob of flesh, on each side, like Gills or Wattles of a Cock: having long hairy Feathers, all a long the fore-part of its Neck, to its Breast. The Thighs are half bare of Feathers; the Legs long, of a dusky colour; the China Ostrich, it is named by Visscher, in his Table of Birds. This is born by the name of Dobitz.

The Brasilian Cariama; Is a Water fowl of the bigness of a greater Heron; on its Head above the rise of its Bill it carries a Crest, or Tuft of Feathers standing upright, of a black, mingled with ash colour; the Bill short, a little hooked in the upper part, and brown:

[]

golden Eyes, with a black Pupil; long black Eye-brows, the Wings end a little behind the rise of the tail; it hath long Legs, the Thighs half covered with Feathers, and of a dark yellow colour: it hath a short Back-toe, set higher then ordinary; and a round Heel like an Ostrich: the whole Body is covered with grey or ash colour Feathers, waved with brown, (as in Falcons) and a dark yellow, intermingled: the end of the Wings, and Tail are brown, waved with a dark yellow, or grey; it carries its Tail low, and Neck high. See its figure, numb. 37.

A 3 such proper. Born by Starzeleg. Also by Van Girdorf.

A a China Ostrich, proper. Born by Ingerslegh.

B 3 Heads of the same coup'd, O. Born by Harrop.

G an Head crazed A a chief O. Born by Beristall.

XXXIV. He beareth Argent, a Cirris (or Red Leged) Heron, proper. It is in Latin termed Ardea Hematopus, which may be Englished the Red Shank Heron. This is the form and shape of its Body, which is described before, chap. 12. numb. 14. This is the Crest of Van Horting.

XXXV. He beareth Argent, a Squajotto, Sans Legs, proper. It is in all respects like a Heron, without a Tail, instead thereof it hath a kind of downy Feathers hanging down, between the points of the Wings; it hath a yellow Bill, black at point; green Feet: it hath a Tuft of Feathers on the Head, some white, some black; there groweth on its Neck, along to the Back and Breast, a sort of long slender Feathers, like to those about the Neck of a Cock; elegant Feathers of red, and black, mixt.

The Squacco, is in shape like the Heron, it hath a Tuft of Feathers, or else standing out roughly, as in Hérons: its Bill is yellow ferrugineous; the Back the same; Eyes Gold colour, encompassed with a black circle, the whole Head, and Neck partly coloured of yellow, white, and black; Belly white, the Wings and Tail, the same; Thighs yellow, Legs and Toes greenish. Both these names perchance are given them, from their cry: Squacco, and Squajotta.

The Bow Billed Heron, is a kind of Heron of this sort but smaller, the Bill is more arcuate, or bending like a bow, more then they; the whole Body is of an ash colour, under the Belly paler, the Back deeper, on the nether side the Neck, and Breast is white, sprinkled with black spots tending downwards: the Thighs in this Bird, is contrary to what they in others of of this kind, for they are all covered with Feathers.

XXXVI. He beareth Argent, a Cocoi Head, proper. It is a kind of Brasilian Heron, called by them a Cocoi. It is almost as big as a Storke, hath a long straight, sharp Bill, of a yellowish green; cristall Eyes, with a Golden circle; the skin about the Eyes bare, and ash coloured; the Neck longer then the Body, both being slender and thin; of an equal length are the Wings, and Tail, the Thighs half way Feathered, the Legs and Feet dusky: Head and Neck, brown variegated with small deeper specks; a long the lower side of the Neck, to the Breast, is a white line, mixt with black, and brown ones; Back, and Wings, black; but powdered with small yellow specks, or points; the Belly the like. On the Head it hath three or four loose stragling Feathers standing up as a Crown, and two the like slender Feathers, hanging down backwards, of a brown colour.

O o 2

small

A 3 such Heads, proper. Born by Turnock.
Such a Head, A. is the Crest of Wisterfield.

XXXVII. He beareth Sable, a Brasilian Carima, Or. This is described before, numb. 32. to which place I do refer you, only here give you the figure of the Bird.

XXXVIII. He beareth Argent, an Heron Bittour, Sans Feet, proper. I have before in chap. 12. numb. 52. spoken of the Bitterne. This here demonstrated by examples, is an other sort of Bitterne, which may properly be termed, the Speckled-Heron-Bitterne, because it seems to be a Bastard kind, between both Heron, and Bittour: whence it borroweth the name. In bigness, shape, and serrate Claw, it agrees with the common Heron. The Crown of the Head is dark, adorned with a long hairy Crest: its Back ash colour; from the Head and on the Neck, grows long slender hairy Feathers, which cover almost all the Back, and Breast, each Feather being of a reddish yellow, crossed with waved bars; the Thighs are white, dash't with red; in other particulars it agrees with the common Heron, as chap. 12. numb. 14. This without Feet is the Crest of Hernbitter.

A such a spotted Heron Bittour, proper. Is born by Van Schamick.

XXXIX. He beareth Argent, the Head of the Bird, Ruffe: Couped, proper. This Bird is called in Latin, avis pugnax mas, whether from its great fighting, or being contentious, and never at peace with other Birds: I cannot learn, but that it is the Male to another Bird of that Latin name, is certain; which some Authors call a Reeve. The Head was of a dusky ash colour, spotted with brown: the circle, or collar of long Feathers, resembling a Ruffe, encompassing the Neck, under the Head, is in some white, in some yellow, in some ash colour, in some of a deep blew, or black with a gloss of blew, shining like Silk; for there is much variety in the colours of the Feathers of the Cock. The outmost ten Quill feathers are black, the rest tipt with white; the Covert feathers black, tipt with white; the Tail dusky, with white tips. The Bill is black, but red about the Nostrils: Eyes yellowish, the Legs and Feet, a reddish yellow; a small Back-toe, Claws black. The Hens never have any Ruffs.

A 3 Ruffe Reeves heads couped S. Born by Hollick or Holly.

O a Ruffe head couped, in chief 3 Rofes proper. Born by Ruffe, or Ruffler.

XL. He beareth Argent, a Crested Diver, or Loons head couped, proper. It is also termed a Crested, or Horned Douker; as having long Feathers standing up, upon the Crown of the Head, black; and round about the upper part of the Neck red: the Bill is brownish, the Chin, and space about the Eyes, white; bounded with red; the Neck partly black, and partly reddish; Breast, and Belly blackish, with white and red spots. The Back reddish mingled with black spots: the Wings sooty, the tips and ridges, only white; it hath no Tail; the Legs and, three Fore-toes, are rounder and thicker, at the Claws, then at the divarication, or parting of the Foot, from the Leg; a small Back-toe and stands higher then ordinary. Such a Head proper is the Crest of Loons.

A 3 such Heads couped, B born by Tazall.
G one head crazed, O. born by Tingriffall.

XLI. He beareth Argent, a Tamatia, proper. It is no bigger then a Lark, hath a long Bill, crooked towards the end, red: Hairs or Bristles, about the Nostrils; it is yellow under the Throat, and about the Neck; the Belly white, with dusky spots: its Head and Bill is bigger then the proportion of its Body.

XLII. He beareth Argent, a Loon, or Arsfoot, proper. Born by Lornes. It is a whole footed Bird, without a Tail; with a straight sharp pointed Bill, its Legs are fixt near the Rump, which makes it stand very upright. Its Head, and Neck brown; Back blacker, Sides and Belly, dusky; Breast white: the Quill feathers black; those next the Body tipt with white; the lesser row of the Wing feathers, are white. The Bill black, yellow at the angles of the Mouth; Eyes ash colour, the Toes round and broad, bordered on each side, with appendant membranes, but not Webbed together, the Claws like Nails of a Man; the Legs broad, flat, serrate behind, with a double row of asperities, or roughness of scales: these kind of Fowl have no Back-toe.

The Diver, or Dipper, or Dobchick: this is the small Douker, or Loon, or Arsfoot; for shape it is like a Cuck, but lesser. Higher Bill is black, except the tip, and edges, and under Bill is yellow; Eyes Hazle colour; the Back dusky or dark brown; Belly white, Head and Neck, darker; Chin white, Throat and Sides of the Neck, reddish; so are the Thighs: the Quill feathers of a Mouse colour, those next the Body tipt with white; the Covert Feathers, black and white. It hath no Tail but a little bush, or tuft of Feathers, and the Rump-glandules; as in other Birds, that have their Tails pulled away. The Legs and Feet of a sordid green: the Feet are divided into three broad, and round Toes, finned on each side, and joyned together only to the first joyns, from the divarication.

The Speckled, or Spotted Diver, or Loon: which is called also the Greatest Loon, with a Tail and whole Feet; it is of the bigness of a Came Duck; it hath a long Body, round Tail, like a Goose; and a small Head: all the upper part of the Body is a deep grey, or dusky, specked or pointed with white spots. The Breast, Belly, white: the Bill streight and black, the under Mandible white. It hath very long Toes, wanting the hinder Toe, or it is very short, being brownish black.

The Fluder, is a kind of Diver, or Douker, which hath a long hairy Bill, the Feet broad, the Toes web'd together; the upper side of the Body is cinereous and black, the under side white.

The

The Lumme, or Noether Ducker. Hath a black sharp Bill: his Head, and Neck behind, grey or cinereous, ending in a sharp point, as if it had a Monks-hood, on its Back; the Back, and Wings, black, speckled with square white spots; under the Neck, near the Throat, is a square oblong black spot, compassed on all sides with white, as with a Fringe; the whole Belly, and lower parts of the Wings white, Tail black, being round like a Ducks. The Legs grow out at the Rump, which are slender, flat, and broad; Feet black, joyned together with black Membranes. The Claws crooked.

- A 3 Loons proper. By the name of Waylegh.
- A a Fesse between 3 Lummes S. Born by Mickelhurst.
- A 3 Loons heads coupéd, proper. Born by Longdan.
- A a Loon proper, a chief ingrailed B. Born by Looney.
- A the like proper, Jessant on a Fesse G. Born by Havely.

XLIII. He beareth Argent a Mergus, or Diver, proper. It is termed, Mergus Cirratus, the Curled Diver, or Curle headed Diver, having (as it were) Feathers turning in way of a circle, on the Back of his Head. It hath a long streight Bill, hooked at the tip, over the lower Mandible. Body and Tail, like a Duck; scaled Legs, and Feet web'd together by a Membrane; a little, or no hind toe. There is several kinds of this Fowl.

The Goosander, in Latin Merganser; of some termed, a Harle, it is long bodied, its Back broad, and flat: the Head, and upper part of the Neck, a deep shining green, almost black; lower half of the Neck, a glossie white; the Back, and Shoulders, black; Rump, a pale ash colour; the Quill feathers of the Wing black; those next the Body, tipped with white; the Tail cinereous. The Bill black, with red edges, all along the sides of the upper Mandible; the tip being black and hooked: the Bill both edges toothed. Legs and Feet red, a short broad Back-toe, with an appendant Membrane. It hath not a crest on the Head, but the Feathers are more loose, and stand more staring backwards, then ordinary.

The Dun Diver, or Sparling Fowl; hath the Head red, the Feathers standing backwards in form of a topping or crest; Chin white, Back a bluish ash colour: the under side of the Body, whitish: the Bill and Feet as the aforesaid. Of some it is only called, a Dun.

- O a Curle headed Diver, proper. Born by Nungrave.
- A a Chevron between 3 such S. Born by Blackleg.
- B 3 such heads coupéd, O. born by Earott.
- G one head erased, O born by Winckle.

XLIV. He beareth Azure, a Smew (or White Dun) proper. Born by Abnott. This is also called, an Abell: from its Latin name Abellus. It is all white, save the spot behind its Neck, and a space from the angle of the Mouth to the Eyes; and the Back, which are all black. The Quill feathers black, those next the Body tipped with white; the Covert feathers black, tipped with white; the ridges of the Wing, dusky: Tail between an ash colour, and black. The Bill a cinereous, or lead colour; both tipped with white; the upper hooked at the end, both toothed on the sides. Legs and Feet cinereous, or lead colour; the Toes joyned with a dusky Membrane, no Back-toe, but a kind of a heel. This is of some Authors called a Lough Diver. The Female of this kind, hath no tuft, or crest; but hath a red Head, and brown Breast; the Back, ash colour, and two transverse white lines, over cross the Wings.

[]

- G 3 such proper. Is born by the name of Ca-sidit.
- B the Heads of 3 such coupéd, A. born by Werzith.
- B one head coupéd and canton, A born by Hockersge.
- S a Fesse between 3 such heads erased, A. by Whentrough, or Welltrough.

XLV. He beareth Argent, a Pengwin, proper. Born by the name of Whitehead. I have before chap. 12. numb. 7. given you the form and description of it as then I understood of the Bird, but since being better instructed, take this for the true draught of the Fowl; which comes near the bigness of a Goose. The upper side all black, under side all white, the Wings are small, and seems to be unfit for flight: the Bill is dark dusky, having furrows graven on the both Mandibles. From the Bill to the Eye is a white spot, and a white ring about its Neck, a short or no Tail, the Feet scally, and joyned together with a blackish Membrane: it hath no Back-toe. They walk crest, with their Heads on high, and Tails down, as the figure sheweth.

The Magellanic Goose, is an other sort of Pengwin. It is a great lazy Bird, with a white Head, and a coal black Body; which is the true Pengwin, or White-head; according to the Welsh Language.

- O a Chevron S between 3 such proper. Is born by Van Hamwitz.
- O 3 such proper. By the name of Lazy.
- O one such proper on a Mount in base, V. By Ashfield.

XLVI. He beareth Gules, a Tarrok Argent, Beaked, and Legged, Sable. This is a kind of ash coloured Gull, with an arcuate, or bending Bill, black: the under side of the Body wholly white: the Ears have black spots, and the tip of the Tail black. The Feet ash or livid colour, Claws black; it hath no hinder Toe, but only a caruncous knob, without any Claw. This is born by the name of Trollock.

- B 3 such A Beaks and Legs, G. Born by Tarrok.
- G 3 such proper, with an Estoile between them, O. Born by Gill or Gull.

XLVII. He beareth Argent, an Anhinga, proper. this is also termed, a Brasilian Diver, or Water Diver; Its Body is of the bigness of a Duck, the Bill is streight and long, toothed on each side; the Head like a Serpents head, with a very long, slender, Neck. The Bill

Bill

Bill is grey, Head and Neck from grey inclining to yellow; the Breast, Belly, Thighs, of a silver colour; the Back brown, spotted with oblong whitish spots; the Rump black, the Tail black, with grey ends or tips; the Wings, have a row of white, then black, then white, the quill feathers all black; Legs and Feet of a dark yellow, inclining to grey.

XLVIII. He beareth Or, the head of a Razor-bill, (or an Auke.) proper. Born by Aukes. This Fowl I find called by several names here in England, as Razor-bill, in the West, Auk in the North, Murre in Cornwall; Historians name it Alca. It is of the Penguin kind, but no bigger than a Duck: The Bill is black, behind the Nostrils, to the end of it there is engraven furrows, or incisions, very deep, the Edges white; the Eyes hazle colour, the mouth within of a lovely yellow; the Head, Neck, and all the upper side black; Belly and Breast, and fore-part of the Neck to the Throat pure white; the Throat dusky, or purplish like a Duck, the Legs are situated as in the Penguin, and are black, it wants the back Toe.

The Atamania, or the Candy Sea-diver: differs only from the precedent, in nothing but this; that it hath the upper mandible black, and the lower white, and is no bigger than a Teal.

The Coulterneb, Bottle-Nose, or Golden-head: it hath the like furrowed bill, near the Head it is ash-colour, towards the point red; Mouth yellow, Eyes grey; the Eye-lids, have a black cartilage; under the Eyes a carnosus protuberance, of a livid colour; the Feet are red (yellow in young ones) scituate backwards almost to the Rump, as they are in the Douckers, so that the Bird walks almost perpendicular upon his Tail; it wants a Back Toe; Claws, a dark blue; the top of the Head, the Neck and Back are black; Breast and Belly white; and white all about the Eyes, with a ring, or muffler of black encompasses the Throat. The wings are small and black, with a white transverse bar in the middle of it; Tail round and short all black. The Bill (to give a further description of its form) is short and broad of a triangular figure, ending in a sharp point; the upper mandible arcuate, and crooked at the point: where it is joined to the head, a certain callous substance encompasses its Base, as in Parrots: between this callous body, and the first furrow, are long holes for the Nostrils, produced by the aperture of the Mouth. This Fowl hath several names in England, and the Islands thereunto belonging; at the Farn Islands, called a Coulterneb; in the Isle of Man, a Puffin; in South-Wales, a Golden-head, or Bottle-nose, or Helegug; at Scarburgh, a Mullet; in Cornwall, and Jersey, and Guernsey, a Barbalot; in Latine it is termed, Anas Arctica, a Northern-Duck; and Pica Marina, or Fratercula.

The Guillem, or Guillemot; of others a Skout and a Kiddatu; in Latine a Lomtwia. It is in all respects like the Auk but greater; onely the Bill is streight, and sharp pointed, without any furrows, and black; the head, upper-side of the Neck, Back, Wings, Tail, are of a dark brown, or black ash-colour; the Belly, Breast, and Throat white; the tips of the outmost Wing feathers are white; the Tail short and round like a Duck: the Feet scituate very backward, near the Tail, and are black; it wants the back Toe.

The Greenland-Dove, or Sea-Turtle; it is like the Coulterneb, or Puffin, but less; it is whole fowled, and wants the back Toe; Legs are red; the Bill is blackish, long and sharp pointed, a little crooked at the end; it hath a large white spot on the upper surface of each Wing, else it is all over black, of the colour of a Coot. Some take this to be the same with the Puffinet, which breeds in the Farn Islands, which is about the bigness of a Dove.

A. three Razor-bill heads coupéd S. born by Bransburgh.

A. three Razor-bills, proper. Born by Grange, or Granger.

O. a Fesse between three Puffins, proper. By the name of Puffin.

A. Green-land Dove S. Born by Darby.

XLIX. He beareth Argent, a Tufted Duck, proper. Born by the name of Le Granges. It is in Latine called Anas fuligula, and Querquedula cristata, a crested Fen-Duck. Its Bill is of a pale blue, the tip is black, Eyes yellow, the head of a dark purple, or black with a gloss of purple (from whence it is called by some people Capo Negro, as in Italy and Venice) it hath a cop, or crest hanging down backwards from the Head. Neck, Shoulders, Back, and whole upper part is a dark brown, almost black; the nether side of the neck, and fore-part of the Breast, are black; the Breast below, and Belly to the vent, white; the Wings and Tail short, the quill feathers black, those next the Body tip with white, the covert feathers black; the Leggs and Feet of a livid, or dark blue colour; the web or membrane connecting the Toes, black.

A. three such proper. Born by Charletown.

A. the Head coupéd S. born by Frankelby.

O. Fesse between three such heads S. Born by Dou Fendock a Spanish Family.

L. He beareth Or, an Ivocati-Apoa, or a wild Brazilian Duck, proper. This Fowl is of the bigness of a Goose, and is of the shape, and figure of our common Duck. The bill is black, and hooked at the end; upon and above the bill, it carries a fleshy and almost round crest, black of colour, remarkably spotted with white. The Legs of a dark, or dusky ash colour; the Head, Neck, Belly and Tail, are white; the Back, Wings, and top of the Head, are black with a gloss of green, as in the Necks of our Ducks. In the white are black feathers, dispersally mingled. It is also termed a Ivata.

A. the like fowle proper. is Born by Traveller.

O. 3. such proper. Born by Gresseby.

LI. He beareth Argent, a Muscovy-Ducks head, coupéd, proper. It is far larger than our tame, and common Ducks, and severally in their colours, some are of a purplish black, some all white; they have rising feathers on the head like a tuft, and about the Nostrils, and the eyes, they have red caruncles, or a tuberosus naked skin; their Feet and Bills, as other Ducks; and a small back Toe, with a little Claw, of a chesnut colour; see this further described in numb. 58. under the title of Guiny-Duck.

A. three

A. three such Ducks proper. Born by Nocturnum an Italian.

A. three such Heads couped, proper. Born by Ronna or Rovner.

LII. He beareth Argent, a Tropick Bird, proper. It is also termed, a Tropick Bird displayed. Born by Wallia. The Bill is red, bending and sharp pointed, its Body is white, with transverse lines of black, thick set; with a black line drawn from each side the Mouth to the back of the head; the Wing feathers have one web black, the other white; the covert feathers are all black, with white edges; the lesser covert feathers are black; the ridges of the Wings, white: the Leggs are white, Feet black, all the four Toes are web'd together, the Tail is only two long Feathers, white and narrow, ending in a sharp point.

The Caribbee Island Sea-Bird, is the same in all respects, save the Body is all white, the Beak and Leggs red; having a long Tail, only of two Feathers.

A. three such displayed, proper. Born by Landecane, or Lancorne.

B. three such O. Born by the name of Irebergh.

O. one and a Chief B. Born by Knockgon.

LIII. He beareth Argent, the King of all the birds of Paradise, proper. This is a very rare Bird, and of different feathers to other Birds of Paradise, it is a small Bird, from the head to the Tail, not exceeding two inches; the Bill is white, being covered half way with elegant short feathers, or hairs of a red colour, like filken thrums; and so was the forepart of its head; about the Eyes on each side, there is little black spots; the Neck, and Breast, is covered with fine slender feathers of a deep red, or sanguine colour; so that they seem to be no other than filken thrums, or filaments; all the covert feathers of the Back, Wings, and Tail, were almost of one and the same colour: The prime, or quill feathers, are on the upper side, a dusky red, on the under side, a dusky yellow; the Tail was short being all brown feathers: The Belly is adorned with a kind of ring of black; the rest is white; but that part next the Wings is black, having a shining gloss of green, not unlike that of a Hallard's Neck. Out of the Rump, amongst the Feathers of the Tail, proceeded two strings (as it were Horse-hairs) black: only the ends are reflected round, and on one side set with very fine Hairs, or downy threads, of a deep shining green, the other side, their Feathers were of a dusky colour. It hath no Feet, but flies perpetually, nor doth it ever rest, but by hanging in some Tree, by those long strings, or bristles twined about a bough. No Ship Sails so swiftly, nor so far from the continent, which it doth not fly round about. It is termed the Indian Apos, or Indian foot-less Bird.

LIV. He beareth Argent, a Rabo-fozcano displayed, or Sable. Of some called Rabo-fozcano, it is a Bird that divides his forked Tail into two parts, sometimes opening, sometimes shutting, or drawing them together.

LV. He beareth Sable, a Brazilian Cannatia, or an American Water-Pen, Argent. This Bird is of the bigness of a Lark; it hath a long red Bill, dusky; above the Nostrils stands up black slender Feathers, like Hairs, or Bristles; its Head is bigger than the proportion of the Body requires, as also its Bill. It is all spotted like a Throstle, or Havis: yellow about the Neck, and under the Throat; the Belly is white, with dusky spots.

LVI. He beareth Argent, a Swallow tailed Sheldrake, proper. This Fowl hath a short Bill, and simous; black at the root to the Nostrils, and at the end, but the middle red; the Head and Neck, all white, even to a good part of the Breast; behind the Ears there is a dusky place; the Breast, to the middle of the Belly, Back, and Wings, are black, but the Wings have the middle pens, inclining to russet on either side the Back from the Shoulders, goes down divers sharp pointed Feathers all white: The rest of the Belly, and under the Tail, is all white: the Tail is forked, black, but white on the out-side; the Feet are a whitish blue, with black webs. This is of some termed an Havelda.

A. the like proper. Born by Lustarke, or Listarcke.

A. three such proper. Born by the name of Lairtornes.

A. a Fesse between three such S. By Nesse, or Nesfels.

LVII. He beareth Argent, a Shear-water, sedant, proper. Born by Sharman. It is a short necked Fowl, having a long Bill, bending towards the end, dusky; all the upper parts of the Body are black; the Throat, and Breast, Belly and under the Tail white; with a ring of white, pointing to the hinder part of his Neck; the Legs and Feet, ash-colour, the Toes webbed together by a membrane.

A. three such. Born by Shirbill.

O. one of them S. is born by Murfell, or Morefall.

LVIII. He beareth Gules, the Bill of an Indian Raven, Or. This Bill I caused to be set in this place, to shew the curious Reader the several species, and varieties, that are found in that Bird, this being contrary to that described, numb. 12.

2. AND now I have done with Birds, according to the Figures represented in my Plates; give me leave to give the Courteous Reader an Addition of some other Outlandish Birds and Fowl, with their Description; which I have found mentioned by some Forreign and Domestick Authors; as,

The Sea-Pye, it carryeth the shape of a Mag-pye; which Aldrovandus thus briefly describes; the Bill is a little longer than a Pies, and stronger; the top of the Head, and the third part of the Neck, of a delayed chestnut colour; the lower part of the Head, Temples and Eyes, yellow; Eyes black, with yellow irides, encompassed again with a black circle; the whole body (except part of the Wings) is green; the second row of the Wing

Fea-

Feathers is a dilute Chestnut, ends blew: the Feet dusky, Toes very long, Claws crooked and black.

The Persian Dove, hath a thick strong short whitish Bill, and white Eyes, with a black Pupil; the second row of the Wing Feathers, Rump and fore-most Feathers of the Tail, are yellow; else it is all over of a dusky colour: the Feet bluish, with black tabular scales, Claws small, crooked and black.

The Indian Mock-bird, it is not much unlike the Jay; but something smaller.

The Caryocatactes, is a Bird of the Dove kind, the Bill is black, and blunt at the end; the Eyes of a Hazle colour, the Nostrils round covered with whitish bristly reflected Feathers; the whole Body is of a dusky red, all spotted with triangular spots, in the tips or tops of the Feathers; except the Head which hath no spots, between the Eyes and Bill, it is white; the quill, or sail Feathers, of a black, or dark colour: the Tail of a shining black, the outmost Feather on each side are three quarters white, which in the succeeding Feathers, is less and less to the middlemost, the Feet and Claws black.

The Macucagua of the Brasilians, it is a kind of Brasil Hen, and as large as ours. It hath a black Bill and Eyes, the Neck slender, Body thick, Wings at the Rump, for Tail it hath none. It hath three Toes forward, and a round Heel, like an Ostridge, and a little above that a short Toe with a blunt Claw, standing inwards. The Head, and Neck, is speckled with a dark yellow and black: under the Throat white; the Breast, Belly and Back, of a dark colour; the Wings are all over of an umber colour, waved with black; except the Prime feathers which are black. The Legs and Feet blew, Claws grey.

The Livia, or Bologna Dove, or Rock Dove; it is of the shape of a Dove, or Pigeon, but less; with red Feet, and whitish Bill, purple about the Nostrils; the Body all over is cinereous; but the Tail is black, with something of red; so are the long Feathers of the Wing, but the lesser Quill feathers are cinereous. It shineth about the Neck with a gloss of purple and green, as it is diversly exposed to the light.

The Pitanga-guacu, or the Cuiriri of Brasil: it is as big as a Stare, a thick pyramidal Bill, and a short Neck, which fixing it contracts, or draws in: the Head, Neck, Back, Wings, and Tail, of a dark brown or black, mingled with a gloss of green; the under side have yellow Feathers; the Legs and Feet, dusky. But above, by the Head, it hath a Crown (like that of a Monks-hood) of a white colour.

The Calandra, it is in bigness answerable to a Stare, or Thrush; yet in voice, colour of Body, Feet, and with a long back Claw, which is called the Heel, it is like the Lark. Having a circle of black Feathers encompassing the Neck, in fashion of a Collar, or Neck lace. See chap. 12. numb. 31.

The Mouche-Rolle, it is a small Bird of the bigness of a Pen-Sparrow; the Bill is straight, and black, the upper Chap, rising up in a ridge; the Legs short & black, the whole upper side of the Body of a dark cinereous, or Mouse-dun; the Wings and Tail, more dark; on the top of the Head are certain black spots, all the nether side is white, with black shafts; under the Throat it is reddish, in some Birds of this kind, the tips of the Covert feathers are yellow.

[]

The Tife-guacu of Brasil; It is as big as a Sparrow, a short triangular, broad black Bill; Eyes Sapphire coloured, Legs and Feet yellow or Wax colour; Claws dusky: the whole Body is as black as a Raven; but on the top of the Head, it hath a shining guine spot.

The Spipoletta, or Spipola; it is less than a Lark. The Bill is straight, and sharp, coal black; the top of the Head, Neck, and Back, cinereous; with a dash of green. The Breast, and Belly, white; the Throat spotted. The Prime feathers, dusky: the out edges whitish, or yellowish; the Covert first row, are the same. The Tail dark colour, almost black, the two out-most Feathers, have the outer Vanes white. It hath a long Heel, or Back-claw, like a Lark.

The Stopparola, hath a Bill black, long and sharp; Legs slender, and black: the Head, Neck, Back and Tail, brown. The Head on the Crown, speckled with white: Quill feathers, and Coverts, black: Breast and Belly white; it is a small Bird.

The Gyrola, is a small Bird, the Bill slender, straight, and long; Legs and Feet of a dusky colour: the whole Belly is white; the Neck and Breast hath oblong brown spots, tending downwards; all the upper side, Wings and Tail, dusky; the great Feathers, edged and tipped, with a pale ash colour. This Bird is by some Authors, called the Clareana, or Gien Aogelin.

The Aflus, or Luteola: It is a Bird bigger than the Crested Wren; the Bill slender and dusky; the angles of the Mouth yellowish: Legs and Feet, of a dusky Amber colour; all the upper Body of a dusky cinereous colour, tintured with green; a yellowish line from the Nostrils, above the Eyes, almost to the hinder part of the Head; Wings and Tail, dusky: having their out edges green. The nether Side is white, with a dash of green, and sometimes yellow.

The Humming Bird; which by several Authors doth pass under diverse names, as Guainumbi, and Guainimi-bique, and Gonambuch, or Gouambuch; and Tominefo, and Durissia, and Passer Mosquitus, or the Mosquit Sparrow, or Wren; and Circilim. This Bird is the least of all Birds, in weight not above twelve grains; and moves its Wings with such swiftness, as it cannot be discerned by the Eye; in its flying it makes a humming noise, like a Hornet, or Bee: when it moves from place to place, it is carried with that velocity, and swiftness, as a bullet through the Aire: It is reported that it lies torpid, or asleep all Winter, and that there is nine species, or kinds of them. From the Head to the Rump, it is but two inches; the Bill is black, straight and slender, almost as long as the whole Body and Head; the lower Chap towards the rife, is reddish: small black Eyes, small short Legs, black; Claws long and crooked; the Head, upper side of the Neck, and Back, it is green shining as a Peacocks, or Mallards neck, in which a flame colour, or yellow are strangely mixt: all the lower parts are white; the Breast hath Feathers of an excellent colour, diversely mixt. The Wings of a brown, and of a shining spadiceous; the Quill Feathers have the subsequent interiors, much longer than the precedent exterior; so that the inmost determining the Wing end, is longest of all, and reach almost to the end of the Tail: which consists only of four Feathers, of a blew or polished steel colour. Their Eggs are white and oval, not bigger than a Pease.

The other kinds, are in the Birds something here and there differing, which to me seems so little, and of no moment to our business in Heraldry; as I forbear to mention them. This Bird by the Brasilians is also called by several names, as Aratica, and Aratara-taguacu, and Guara-cyaba, that is a Sun-beam Bird, and Guara-cigaba, the hair of the Sun: It is common in all the hotter Countries of America.

The White Wagtail; hath a slender and black Bill, Eyes hazle colour; the Feet, Toes and Claws, long and of a dark blackish colour; the Back claw very long as in Larks. It is white all about the Bill to the Eye; the Crown and hinder part of the Head, black: the Breast and Belly white; Back, and hinder part of the Neck, black; some have a black spot like a crescent, under the Throat, the Horns or points reaching almost to the Jaws. The Wing feathers, black; the Coverts of the first row black with white tips; the second row, white: the Tail is very long; the outmost Feathers all white, the middle black. In some places this is called the Seed-bird.

The Brasilian Guira-guacu-beraba, is a Bird of the bigness of a Goldfinch. It hath a straight yellow Bill, black on the upper part; the Legs and Feet, of a dusky colour; the upper part of the Head, and half the Back, the Wings and Tail, of a pale green, in the end of the Wings are some dusky Feathers, intermixed. The Throat, Breast, and Belly, yellow or Gold colour; under the Throat, up to the Eyes, it hath a great black spot of stragling hairy Feathers, hanging down like beard.

The Brasilian Guira-coereba, it is of the bigness of a Chaffinch; with a black Bill, and Eyes. On the Head, a cop or tuft of Sea-green; the rest of the Head, Throat, and lower parts, and hinder half of the Back, are blew; though the Breast, beginning of the Wings to the Back, is blew; the upper side of the Neck, and fore half of the Back is black. The Wings yellow, straked with black; the Thighs black, and so is the Tail. The Feet of a Vermilion colour, Claws black.

The Japacani; hath a black sharp Bill, beading a little downwards; Golden Eyes. The Head black: all the lower parts under the Head, mixt with white, and yellow, with transverse lines of black. Legs and Feet, dusky; Claws black.

The Dalmatic Sparrow; the Bill is whitish, the upper part like a Sparrow; underneath white; the Tail forked, Feet yellowish, with transverse lines of a flesh colour; Claws, long and black.

The Purple, and Black long Tailed Sparrow; the Bill is thick, white at the Head, black at the end; the Tail and Quill Feathers, black; the Body purple.

The Tijepiranga; or Brasilian, or American Sparrow; the Bill black, and Legs: the whole Body is red, or sanguine; Wings and Tail black, mixt with red: the Head is all black.

The long tailed Indian Sparrow; hath a thick Bill, of a Scarlet colour; the Head is black, with a gloss of blew and green; so is the Back and upper part of the Wings; the Wings are on the ridges the same, the next Covert white, the next Covert black, the Covert of the Quills yellowish; and the Quill Feathers, black; with something of cinereous; the under side is white; the Tail is double, the under short, and white: the upper consists of four long Feathers, of a deep black. Legs and Feet spotted, of black and white; Claws crooked and black.

The Indian fork tailed (or long tailed forked) Sparrow; its Bill blew, Eyes black, with a white, then a yellow Irides; Neck and Breast, Scarlet; Belly white, and Thighs: the Wings, Tail and Back, black. It hath for a Tail, but two very long and broad Feathers, supported by other short ones. Legs and Feet white, Claws black.

The Rumpleless Indian Sparrow; the whole Body and beginning of the Wings, of a lovely scarlet, the rest of the Wings black. It hath on the Back two long black spots. The Bill is white at the Head, and black at the end, Legs and Feet black.

The Guiran-beemgatu of Brasil; it is a kind of Sparrow; the Bill and Eyes black; Legs dusky: Head and Throat, a pale yellow: lower parts, yellow; the Wings and Tail, mixt of green and yellow.

The Brasilian Sayacu. Bill and Eyes, black; the whole Body of a cinereous, and Sea-green, mixt.

The Brasilian Guira-perca; is as big as a Lark; short black Bill; the upper parts, of a dusky yellow, like Wax: the lower side of the Head, Neck and Breast, black: Tail and Wings dusky; the edges of a Sea-green: Legs and Feet, of a dark grey, or ash colour; Claws black.

The Denantha-congener: or Petronia Marina. Is of the bigness of a Chaffinch; with a strong black Bill; the lower Chap, about the angle yellow: the Head ash colour dusky, with a white line drawn through the middle of the Crown: the Neck ash colour, the Shoulders black, the Feathers edged with light ash, so is the Back: the Rump greenish, tipped with white. The Prime feathers, the exterior are brown, or blackish, edged with a pale green: all the rows of Coverts are black, with white tips. The base or ridge of the Wing is of a sordid green: the Breast of a sordid, or dirty white; the vent, and under Belly, have yellow tips. It hath a very fair yellow spot under the Throat; the Tail is all black, edged with green; each Feather having a white spot at the tip end; the outmost Feather on each side is half white.

The Portulane, it is equal in bigness to the Pellow Hammer; the Bill is thick and short, of a red or flesh colour, with a knob on the upper Chap: with a tooth or angle, which falls into an angular trough in the lower Bill. The Feet reddish: the Head of an ash colour, the middle of the Feathers black: the Back black, with reddish edges. The Throat ash colour, Breast red, under the Bill is a yellow spot; Belly and Rump, of a deep red. The Quill Feathers have the exterior or out Feathers edged with a whitish green; those Quills next the Body, edged with red. The tips of the second row are white, and edges red; the third row, is tipped with white. The edges of the lesser Coverts, are cinereous; else the middle of all the Feathers on the Wings are black. The Tail, have the middle Feathers of a dark brown, edged with red, the out side Feathers black.

The Pellow Portulane, or Garden Frequenter; is all yellow, of a straw colour; except the tips of the Wings, and Ridges of the Wings, which are white.

Feathers is a dilute Chestnut, ends blew: the Feet dusky, Toes very long, Claws crooked and black.

The Persian Pigeon, hath a thick strong short whitish Bill, and white Eyes, with a black Pupil; the second row of the Wing Feathers, Rump and fore-most Feathers of the Tail, are yellow; else it is all over of a dusky colour: the Feet bluish, with black tabular scales, Claws small, crooked and black.

The Indian Mock-bird, it is not much unlike the Jay; but something smaller.

The Caryo-catactes, is a Bird of the Pigeon kind, the Bill is black, and blunt at the end; the Eyes of a Hazle colour, the Nostrils round covered with whitish bristly reflected Feathers; the whole Body is of a dusky red, all spotted with triangular spots, in the tips or tops of the Feathers; except the Head which hath no spots, between the Eyes and Bill, it is white; the quill, or sail Feathers, of a black, or dark colour: the Tail of a shining black, the outmost Feather on each side are three quarters white, which in the succeeding Feathers, is less and less to the middlemost, the Feet and Claws black.

The Bacu-cagua of the Brasilians, it is a kind of Brasil Hen, and as large as ours. It hath a black Bill and Eyes, the Neck slender, Body thick, Wings at the Rump, for Tail it hath none. It hath three Toes forward, and a round Heel, like an Ostridge, and a little above that a short Toe with a blunt Claw, standing inwards. The Head, and Neck, is speckled with a dark yellow and black: under the Throat white; the Breast, Belly and Back, of a dark colour; the Wings are all over of an umber colour, waved with black; except the Prime feathers which are black. The Legs and Feet blew, Claws grey.

The Livia, or Bologna Dove, or Rock Dove; it is of the shape of a Dove, or Pigeon, but less; with red Feet, and whitish Bill, purple about the Nostrils; the Body all over is cinereous; but the Tail is black, with something of red; so are the long Feathers of the Wing, but the lesser Quill feathers are cinereous. It shineth about the Neck with a gloss of purple and green, as it is diversly exposed to the light.

The Pitanga-guacu, or the Cuiriri of Brasil: it is as big as a Stare, a thick pyramidal Bill, and a short Neck, which fixing it contracts, or draws in: the Head, Neck, Back, Wings, and Tail, of a dark brown or black, mingled with a gloss of green; the under side have yellow Feathers; the Legs and Feet, dusky. But above, by the Head, it hath a Crown (like that of a Monks-hood) of a white colour.

The Calandra, it is in bigness answerable to a Stare, or Thrush; yet in voice, colour of Body, Feet, and with a long back Claw, which is called the Heel, it is like the Lark. Having a circle of black Feathers encompassing the Neck, in fashion of a Collar, or Neck lace. See chap. 12. numb. 31.

The Mouche-Rolle, it is a small Bird of the bigness of a Pen-Sparrow; the Bill is straight, and black, the upper Chap, rising up in a ridge; the Legs short & black, the whole upper side of the Body of a dark cinereous, or Mouse-dun; the Wings and Tail, more dark; on the top of the Head are certain black spots, all the nether side is white, with black shafts: under the Throat it is reddish, in some Birds of this kind, the tips of the Covert feathers are yellow.

[]

The Tise-guacu of Brasil; It is as big as a Sparrow, a short triangular, broad black Bill; Eyes Sapphire coloured, Legs and Feet yellow or Wax colour; Claws dusky: the whole Body is as black as a Raven; but on the top of the Head, it hath a shining sanguine spot.

The Spipoletta, or Spipola; it is less than a Lark. The Bill is straight, and sharp, coal black; the top of the Head, Neck, and Back, cinereous; with a dash of green. The Breast, and Belly, white; the Throat spotted. The Prime feathers, dusky: the out edges whitish, or yellowish; the Covert first row, are the same. The Tail dark colour, almost black, the two out-most Feathers, have the outer Vanes white. It hath a long Heel, or Back-claw, like a Lark.

The Stopparola, hath a Bill black, long and sharp; Legs slender, and black: the Head, Neck, Back and Tail, brown. The Head on the Crown, specked with white: Quill feathers, and Coverts, black: Breast and Belly white; it is a small Bird.

The Gylola, is a small Bird, the Bill slender, straight, and long; Legs and Feet of a dusky colour: the whole Belly is white; the Neck and Breast hath oblong brown spots, tending downwards; all the upper side, Wings and Tail, dusky; the great Feathers, edged and tipped, with a pale ash colour. This Bird is by some Authors, called the Glareana, or Gien Vogel.

The Attilus, or Luteola: It is a Bird bigger than the Crested Wren; the Bill slender and dusky; the angles of the Mouth yellowish. Legs and Feet, of a dusky Amber colour; all the upper Body of a dusky cinereous colour, tinged with green; a yellowish line from the Nostrils, above the Eyes, almost to the hinder part of the Head; Wings and Tail, dusky: having their out edges green. The nether Side is white, with a dash of green, and sometimes yellow.

The Humming Bird; which by several Authors doth pass under diverse names, as Guainumbi, and Guainimi-bique, and Gonambuch, or Gouambuch; and Cominejo, and Durissia, and Passer Volquitus, or the Volquit Sparrow, or Wren; and Citacilin. This Bird is the least of all Birds, in weight not above twelve grains; and moves its Wings with such swiftness, as it cannot be discerned by the Eye; in its flying it makes a humming noise, like a Hornet, or Bee; when it moves from place to place, it is carried with that velocity, and swiftness, as a bullet through the Air: It is reported that it lies torpid, or asleep all Winter; and that there is nine species, or kinds of them. From the Head to the Rump, it is but two inches; the Bill is black, straight and slender, almost as long as the whole Body and Head; the lower Chap towards the rise, is reddish: small black Eyes, small short Legs, black; Claws long and crooked; the Head, upper side of the Neck, and Back, it is green shining as a Peacock, or Mallards neck, in which a flame colour, or yellow are strangely mixt: all the lower parts are white; the Breast hath Feathers of an excellent colour, diversly mixt. The Wings of a brown, and of a shining spadiceous; the Quill Feathers have the subsequent interiors, much longer than the precedent exterior; so that the inmost determining the Wing end, is longest of all, and reach almost to the end of the Tail: which consists only of four Feathers, of a blew or polished steel colour. Their Eggs are white and oval, not bigger than a Pease.

The other kinds, are in the Birds something here and there differing, which to me seems so little, and of no moment to our business in Heraldry; as I forbear to mention them. This Bird by the Brasilians is also called by several names, as Aratica, and Aratara-taguacu, and Guara-cyaba, that is a Sun-beam Bird, and Guara-cigaba, the hair of the Sun: It is common in all the hotter Countys of America.

The White Wagtail; hath a slender and black Bill, Eyes hazle colour; the Feet, Toes and Claws, long and of a dark blackish colour; the Back claw very long as in Larks. It is white all about the Bill to the Eye; the Crown and hinder part of the Head, black: the Breast and Belly white; Back; and hinder part of the Neck, black; some have a black spot like a crescent, under the Throat, the Horns or points reaching almost to the Jaws. The Wing feathers, black; the Coverts of the first row black with white tips; the second row, white: the Tail is very long; the outmost Feathers all white, the middle black. In some places this is called the Seed-bird.

The Brasilian Guira-guacu-beraba, is a Bird of the bigness of a Goldfinch. It hath a straight yellow Bill, black on the upper part; the Legs and Feet, of a dusky colour; the upper part of the Head, and half the Back, the Wings and Tail, of a pale green, in the end of the Wings are some dusky Feathers, intermixed. The Throat, Breast, and Belly, yellow or Gold colour; under the Throat, up to the Eyes, it hath a great black spot of stragling hairy Feathers, hanging down like beard.

The Brasilian Guira-coereba, it is of the bigness of a Chaffinch; with a black Bill, and Eyes. On the Head, a cop or tuft of Sea-green; the rest of the Head, Throat, and lower parts, and hinder half of the Back, are blew; though the Breast, beginning of the Wings to the Back, is blew; the upper side of the Neck, and fore half of the Back is black. The Wings yellow, straked with black; the Thighs black, and so is the Tail. The Feet of a Vermilion colour, Claws black.

The Japacani; hath a black sharp Bill, bending a little downwards; Golden Eyes. The Head black: all the lower parts under the Head, mixt with white, and yellow, with transverse lines of black. Legs and Feet, dusky; Claws black.

The Dalmatic Sparrow; the Bill is whitish, the upper part like a Sparrow; underneath white; the Tail forked, Feet yellowish, with transverse lines of a flesh colour; Claws, long and black.

The Purple, and Black long Tailed Sparrow; the Bill is thick, white at the Head, black at the end; the Tail and Quill Feathers, black; the Body purple.

The Cispiranga; or Brasilian, or American Sparrow; the Bill black, and Legs: the whole Body is red, or sanguine; Wings and Tail black, mixt with red: the Head is all black.

The long tailed Indian Sparrow; hath a thick Bill, of a Scarlet colour; the Head is black, with a gloss of blew and green; so is the Back and upper part of the Wings; the Wings are on the ridges the same, the next Covert white, the next Covert black, the Covert of the Quills yellowish; and the Quill Feathers, black; with something of cinereous; the under side is white; the Tail is double, the under short, and white: the upper consists of four long Feathers, of a deep black. Legs and Feet spotted, of black and white; Claws crooked and black.

The Indian fork tailed (or long tailed forked) Sparrow; its Bill blew, Eyes black, with a white, then a yellow Irides; Neck and Breast, Scarlet; Belly white, and Thighs: the Wings, Tail and Back, black. It hath for a Tail, but two very long and broad Feathers, supported by other short ones. Legs and Feet white, Claws black.

The Rumpled Indian Sparrow; the whole Body and beginning of the Wings, of a lovely scarlet, the rest of the Wings black. It hath on the Back two long black spots. The Bill is white at the Head, and black at the end, Legs and Feet black.

The Guitan-beemgatu of Brasil; it is a kind of Sparrow; the Bill and Eyes black; Legs dusky: Head and Throat, a pale yellow: lower parts, yellow; the Wings and Tail, mixt of green and yellow.

The Brasilian Sayacu. Bill and Eyes, black; the whole Body of a cinereous, and Sea-green, mixt.

The Brasilian Guira-perca; is as big as a Lark; short black Bill; the upper parts, of a dusky yellow, like Wax: the lower side of the Head, Neck and Breast, black: Tail and Wings dusky; the edges of a Sea-green: Legs and Feet, of a dark grey, or ash colour; Claws black.

The Denantha-congener: or Petronia Marina. Is of the bigness of a Chaffinch; with a strong black Bill; the lower Chap, about the angle yellow: the Head ash colour dusky, with a white line drawn through the middle of the Crown: the Neck ash colour, the Shoulders black, the Feathers edged with light ash, so is the Back: the Rump greenish, tipped with white. The Prime feathers, the exterior are brown, or blackish, edged with a pale green; all the rows of Coverts are black, with white tips. The base or ridge of the Wing is of a fardid green: the Breast of a fardid, or dirty white; the vent, and under Belly, have yellow tips. It hath a very fair yellow spot under the Throat; the Tail is all black, edged with green; each Feather having a white spot at the tip end; the outmost Feather on each side is half white.

The Portulane, it is equal in bigness to the Pellow Hammer; the Bill is thick and short, of a red or flesh colour, with a knob on the upper Chap: with a tooth or angle, which falls into an angular trough in the lower Bill. The Feet reddish; the Head of an ash colour, the middle of the Feathers black: the Back black, with reddish edges. The Throat ash colour, Breast red, under the Bill is a yellow spot; Belly and Rump, of a deep red. The Quill Feathers have the exterior or out Feathers edged with a whitish green; those Quills next the Body, edged with red. The tips of the second row are white, and edges red; the third row, is tipped with white. The edges of the lesser Coverts, are cinereous; else the middle of all the Feathers on the Wings are black. The Tail, have the middle Feathers of a dark brown, edged with red, the out side Feathers black.

The Pellow Portulane, or Garden Frequenter; is all yellow, of a straw colour; except the tips of the Wings, and Ridges of the Wings, which are white.

The White Portulane is all over white.

The Spotted Portulane, the head from cinereous inclines to yellow; the neck speckled with black; belly, legs and feet yellow; ridges of the wings, and quill feathers white; all the other parts partly black, and partly cinereous.

The Black Portulane, hath a red bill, green head, and neck; ash colour legs, all the rest black; yet it hath on the crown and quill wings, an oblong white spot; the legs and feet in all Portulanes are yellow.

The Circus Stultus, it is as big as the Pellon Hammer, with the same figure and shape. only differs in colour; the head behind, and back are ferruginous, spotted with black; from the Bill over the eyes to the end of the neck is a whitish ash-colour; the tail and wing feathers are blackish, edged with ferruginous; the wings have some white spots; and the tail hath two feathers on each side, partly whitish. This Bird is called also Cia, from its cry, Ci, Ci, and for distinction sake, Cia feluatica, and Cia Pontania, and Cirio-Pat-to.

Thus much of strange and outlandish Land Birds, which because they have no proper English Names, we give them such names as they have in their own Native Countreys; and now proceed to the description of some strange and out-landish Water-fowl, which we have in Authors met withal; which also have no proper English Names but what is brought out of their own Country with them, or what Latine names Scholars have from their nature, shape, colour, or cry imputed to them, as

The Turco, it is of the bigness of a Sparrow, hath a black channelled Bill, and a little bending; the upper part of the head, neck, and belly, of a chestnut colour; the under side of the neck and breast, white; all the other parts of the body from dusky inclining to black; the tail longer than the wings; the legs and feet dark brown.

The Demopus, or Schmirring; it is a kind of Water-hen, so named from its yellowish or Brimstone colour legs and bill; only the tip is black; all the body appears a Russet colour; a white both on the head, and about the eyes, and in the middle feathers of the wing, and in the belly; the quill feathers are black; and the ends of the shortest feathers of the Wings are red like red Ocker. In the back, tail, neck and wings are spots of black; the edges of the eye-lids are tinged with a Saffron colour; the feet want the back toe.

The Wyn-Kernel, or Gallinula Ochrea; this is so named from the greenish, but sordid and dark colour of almost the whole body, but more dusky on the upper side; the head, neck, breast and wings are adorned with spots of white; the tail is in part white; the bill is partly purple, and partly black; the legs pale yellow.

The Indian Pouter Bird, called by them Pobu-al-tuachili; it is as big as a Dove, and for figure and likeness it resembles the Jacana, chap. 12. numb. 49. described; long neck, long legs and very long toes; only it differs in colour from that; for the whole body, upper parts are black; the beginning of the wings brown, the remaining part green; the ends of the quill feathers brown; the breast, belly, and upper half of the thighs brown; the Bill is straight, of a Saffron colour, with a red skin at its rise, and on the fore-part of the head the legs are bare, feet ash colour. In the fore part of each wing it hath the like horn or spur as the Aguapecara, mentioned numb. 31.

The Mitered, or coped Water-hen, of Brasil, it is so named to distinguish it from other Water-hens; it is of the same shape and figure as the precedent; yellow bill, it hath a red skinny Miter, or cap on its forehead, near the rise of its Bill; it hath also processes of red skinny tubrances extending down the sides of the neck, after the manner of Guiny-hens, or Turkeys; its whole head, neck, breast and lower belly are black; the back, tail, and beginning of the wings red or light brown; the quill feathers of the wing are of a Sea-green, with black tips; the legs and toes very long of an ash-colour; each wing hath a very sharp horn or spur, of a Saffron colour.

The Flammant, or Phoeni-copter; it hath an extraordinary long neck and legs; the Bill is broad, flat, crooked, and toothed; the colour blue, with the tip black; with two long Nostrils on each side the Bill, which makes as if the Bill were furrowed; the neck and body all white; quill feathers black, the covert feathers of a bright purple and flame colour; the tail shorter than the ends of the Wings; it is whole footed in the foremost three toes, yet the membrane connects them but to the second joints.

The Trochilus, commonly called Corrira, the Courier, from its swift running; it hath a straight yellow Bill, black at the tip; white eyes and black pupil; all the upper side is of a ferruginous colour; underneath it is all white; it hath a little round head, little or no Neck, and full round plump body; two white feathers with black tips, cover the tail, which is but short; it hath short thighs, but long legs; whole footed, something above the middle of the toes.

The Artemia, or Diomedean Bird; it is of the bigness of a good large Hen, but have pretty long necks and legs; the colour of the whole Bird is dusky, or a dark Ash colour, with white under the Belly; the Bill is crooked at the end, like an Eagle, of a pale yellow, the hook black, the feet yellowish.

The Puffin of the Isle of Man, or the Manx Puffin, it is something less in body than a Came Pigeon; the Bill is narrow, and straight, and black, the upper chap being hooked at the end like a Cormorant; its Base is covered with a callous naked skin, in which are the Nostrils; from the Nostrils, on each side a furrow or groove is produced almost to the hook, the head is blacker than the back; the wings long, and tail longer, and black; the legs and feet, are on the out-side half black; and the inner side of a pale or whitish flesh colour, so that the middle toe is partly white, and partly black; it hath a small back toe, and black claws; the membrane joining the toes together, is underneath the foot black; see numb. 48.

The Matague of Brasil, it is a whole footed Wild Fowl, of the bigness and shape of a Goose; the end of its Bill is hooked, it hath a thick round head, shining eyes, a long Neck, decently bowed like a Swan; the whole Bird is of a dusky and blackish colour; only the forepart of the neck, adorned with yellow feathers.

The great crested, or copped Douker, both mandibles where they are joined to the head, are tinged with a Saffron colour, tips black; the head is black on the crown, beneath cinereous; which meets near the eyes, which are yellow; from the back of the head hangs down a tuft of black feathers; the upper part of the neck, back, and wings black; the ridges and extremities are white; the breast and belly of a whitish ash colour: It hath no tail at all, the rump from cinereous is black; the legs broad and flat, serrate behind with a double row of alperities, the toes are broad, bordered on each side with appendant Membranes like Fins; but not webbed or join'd together, of a dark dusky colour, the claws like the nails of a Man's hand, black.

The Water Hare Fowl, or the crested Mexican Douker; the Mexicans in their Language, call it an Acitli; it is the same to the precedent, only the head is adorned with a greater and black crest; the belly of a shining silver colour, and the neck beneath of a pure white; above of a dark brown; near the eyes there are white feathers; this Fowl is of the bigness of a Duck.

The Brasilian Gull, called Guaca-guacu; of others Gabiot; it is as big as a common Pen, a straight and long yellow Bill, the head above black; so are the hinder moities of the wings and tail; the throat and whole neck, breast and lower belly, and fore part of the wings are white.

The Scate-Crow, called by the Dutch Brahvogel, or Hegvogel: it is a kind of small Gull, Bill black, head, neck, breast, belly, back and wings ash-coloured; the wings reach behind the tail; the legs have a light dash of red: the male hath a white spot under its chin; it is no bigger than a Black-Bird, and hath web'd feet.

The Cloven footed black Gull; it is as small as a Sea Swallow; Bill black, head black, upper part of the body, dark cinereous; throat and breast, black, belly white; quill feathers on the out side all white, those next the body ash colour, tail forked, legs bare up to the middle of the second joint, feet small, of a reddish black colour, claws black.

The Velvet Duck; It is bigger then our common Duck. The Bill is broad and short, yellow on both sides and black on the middle, with a red hook at the tip; the head, and part of the neck, of a black green, or black, with a gloss or tincture of green; the legs and feet are red on the out side, and of a Citron colour on the inside, the web of the foot, and claws of a deep black, all the rest of the body is black, save a cross line of white in the middle of the wings, and a white spot behind each eye; the plumage of the whole body is so soft, as if it were Velvet, and therefore so named; though some Authors call it the Black Duck with a black red and yellow Bill.

The Tufted, or crested red head Duck. It is in all respects like other Ducks, but larger; having a greater and thicker head, then in proportion to the body; for the crown is covered with a curious silken plumage, of a pale red colour, they are longer than ordinary, and more erect, so that they appear like a great crest or tuft; the Bill and Eyes are red, beneath the eyes, on each side and under the throat, it is of a deep red; the whole neck, breast, belly and shoulders are black; the outmost quill feathers are black, tip with white; the smaller quill feathers next the body are grey or ash colour, tip with black; all the covert feathers are grey, except a white line in the uppermost ridge of the wing; middle of the back grey, with a tincture of red; with two white spots; the rump black, tail short and grey; the legs and feet red, clouded about the joints with black, the web connecting the toes, and soles black.

The Scaup-Duck; the Bill broad and blue; the head and neck, of a black with a gloze of green; the breast and under side of the neck black, mingled with some white; belly white, with a sprindling of yellow; the upper part of the back sooty or blackish; the middle white, waved with transverse brown lines; the rump and tail brown; the wings brown, having a cross line of white, the rest adorned with white spots; legs and feet, with the web and claws are of a dusky blue colour.

The Wild Brasilian Duck-Goose, it hath the shape of a Duck, yet as big as a Goose; it hath a black Bill, and dusky legs and feet; it is all over black, except the setting on of the Wings, which is white, but the black hath a gloss of a shining green; it hath a crest or tuft on its head, of black feathers, and a corrugated red mass or bunch of flesh about the rise of the upper mandible of the Bill, it hath also a red skin about the eyes.

The Guinny Duck, they exceed our common Ducks in bigness of body; the Bill is very thick and tubercous at the head, from thence to the tip it grows narrower, till it ends in a sharp and crooked hook, it is black, but the end is red; in the head rises up something of a red colour like a Crest, but much different from a Cocks comb; for it is a certain tubercous eminency, situated between the Nostrils, exactly resembling a red Cherry; the temples near the eyes are without feathers, the skin shewing red; it hath short legs of a chestnut colour; its head was black and tufted; the throat was powdered with whitish specks; eyes yellow, wherein appeared many little sanguine Veins; the whole body was also black, in the back having a tincture or gloss of green; in the wings and tail here and there, are some green and white feathers seen. This is by some Authors called a Cairo-Duck; of others a Muscovy-Duck; others an African, Libic, or Guinny Duck; see numb. 51.

The Indian Duck; hath a Head as red as blood, and so is a great part of the Neck adjoining on the Back side, which is a kind of callous flesh, divided by incisions; and where it ends at the Nostrils, it lets down a caruncle of a different figure from the rest of the flesh (like that of a Swan) contiguous, or joyned to the Bill. Its Head is bare of Feathers, save that on the top of the Head, through the whole length of it, there is a Crest or Tuft of Feathers, which when it is angry, it sets up. About and under the Eyes, the skin is spotted with white; the Eyes yellow, separated from the rest of the Head by a black circle. The Bill is blew, with a black spot at the tip: the Feathers all along the rest of the Neck, are white; at the setting on of the Neck, is a circle of black, spotted with a few white spots; below this circle, the plumage of the Belly is white, and the upper side of the Body is brown: the ends of the Wings, and Tail, are of a shining green. The skin of the Legs are brown, with light circular incisions: the Membrane between the intervals of the Toes, is more pale, sprinkled with brown spots.

This is by some taken to be the same kind of Duck as the precedent, but more accurately described, for without all doubt, there may be many varieties of them: both in the tuberos flesh about the Bill, as also in the change of colours; and this we often see in our own tame Duck, that they vary infinitely.

The Hercynie Birds, are so called from their place of breeding, viz. Hercina, which is a Wood in Germany, being 11 days journey in breadth, and 40 in length. Whose Feathers in the darkest and closest Night, do shine so bright, that they give light to travellers in their journey, if they be before them in the way wherein they go.

3. I Come now to give some Examples of bearing of Fowls contrary to those shewed in former chapters, and also of other kinds of bearing, proceeding from parts of Fowls omitted before; as,

LIX. He beareth Azure, two Doves Coambulant, or side to side, or Pigeons in Breast, Argent; Beaks and Legs, Gules. These are a loving pair walking together hand in hand, both a breast; which is by some termed, a Dove surmounted of another, because some part of the further Bird is hid or covered, by that next in fight; but that can be no proper term in this case. Other a Pair of Doves; and no more, which is more likely, seeing they stand together as a friendly couple. This is born by the name of Truelove.

So other things after this manner standing, sitting, or flying side to side are born, as

A 2 such S born by Die Holtzalell.

G two such O born by Vangall.

So on a Crown 2 Talbots co-sejant A collered O is the Crest of the Earl of Unganadt.

And out of a Crown 2 Swans Necks, side to side, to the sinister O is the Crest of Thummen van Nemenburg. See chap. 19. numb. 97.

LX. He beareth Argent, two Rooks, or Crows, endowed, regardant, Sable: In chief an Eagles foot erected, and couped, in the Thigh Gules. By the name of Rockfote. These are contrary to the precedent; going from, & departing asunder, yet like the old Proverb (loth to depart bids oft farewell) so these though going from each other, yet are determined to see each other as long as they can. Some term the Eagle Leg, erected, reflected, and couped: and the Birds contrary-passant, or counter-passant: regardant, or respecting each other. This is born by the name of Passall: viz. the Birds alone Counter-passant.

Per pale G and O 2 such Birds, counterchanged. Born by Die Mounfinger, and Van Frundeck.

Out of a Crown the Eagle foot erected O is the Crest of Van Tanharsen, and being S is the Crest of Grienthal.

[]

LXI. He beareth Argent, two Wood-peckers, erected, and endowed, proper. Thus these Birds will by their little sharp Claws, hang by the branches, picking the bark of Trees. This is born by the name of Dicobon.

O a Pheasant Cock Sarcelled, or cut through the middle and erected, endowed, B born by Die Remmel. As this Bird is cloven throughout by the half, and set each half back to back. So the like bearing I have seen in the Lyon, Bear, and Bull, &c. That is cut in half and endowed, or set Salter-wise which is very common in Holland, and Germany. O a Cock the like G. born by Rothan of Brunswick.

LXII. He beareth Sable, an Eagle displaid, with Eares, (or Eared) Argent, collared at the bottom of the Neck, Gules. Some do term this an Eagles body displaid, with the Head of a Griffon: or an Eagle displaid, headed like a Griffon.

After this manner I have found in diverse Dutch Coats, Birds thus displaid, with Wolves-heads, Dogs-heads, and Lions-heads, and the like. Which I should term from their Natures, a Wolf-Eagle, a Lyon-Eagle, and this a Griffon-Eagle: because the Heads are so, and the rest of the Body wholly Eagle, or Bird-like, see chap. 19. numb. 99. This is born by the name of Wigdorhessen.

O a Goat-Eagle displaid S on his Breast an Escochion per fesse B and O a Muller of six points, is the Town Arms of Neukirchen in Germany. See more chap. 12. numb. 83, 84, 85.

LXIII. He beareth Or, a Demy Griffon displaid, Sans Wings, Gules. After this manner, it is very ordinary, to have born in Arms, by the Low-Country Gentry: several sorts of Beasts, see chap. 9. numb. 3. This is born by the name of Budlarvan.

A the like G is born by the name of Mioles.

LXIV. He beareth the Vert, a Demy Owle, erased and displaid, Argent. Some say an Owle displaid, erased at the middle, or above the Thighs. Born by name of Bachlingel.

LXV. He beareth Purple, an Eagle displaid, Sans head, and the Tail displumed, Or. Some term it, without Head and Neck; the Tail Serpentine; because it runs out long from the Body. This is born by the name of Rafin.

A. the like Born by Die Geroltomsky, Sans head only S.

LXVI. He beareth Argent, the Body of an Eagle, with two Heads, Azure. This is also termed an Eagle displaid with two Heads, Sans Wings, Legs, and Tail: Others say, dismembred of its Wings, Leggs and Tail. This is Born by the name of Stangen.

A. the like S. dehuzed, or surmounted with 3 bars G. Born by the name of Die Stangen Zu Gunitz, of the Dukedom of Saxony.

LXVII. He beareth Gules, a Swans Neck couped, with its Head extended, or thrust out, Argent. The Swan by reason of his long Neck, (when his Head, either couped, or erazed, is born in Coats of Arms) it is not termed (as in other Birds) the Head of a Swan, or Swans Head, couped: But ever termed, a Swans Neck couped or erazed. Yet some will say, a Swans Head and Neck, &c. This is Born by the name of Swanhead.

The Head and Neck thus, is the Crest of Ruseck.

LXVIII. He beareth Sable, a Swans Neck couped, Argent; and maned, Or. The Swan above all Birds hath ever his Beak and Head drawn tending downwards, and it is because of the length of his Neck, which he always carryeth in an arcuate, or bent form; when as all other Birds have their Bills, or Beaks drawn straight forwards. This is Born by the name of Swan.

The like S. Maned O. is the Crest of Wyselcofen.
Out of a Crown the like S. Nebulee, or clouded proper. Is the Crest of Aspach; and also of Ering; two Families in Bavaria:

LXIX. He beareth Azure, out of a Chapernon, (or Chaplet) Or: fretted, Sable, a Swans-head, Argent; Embrized Sable, engrailed down the back of the Neck, Gules; on each point a Beasant. There are Coats, who have each point adorned with several other things; as Roses, Trefoils, Annulets, and divers sorts of leaves, and the like; which are all to be mentioned, as aforesaid. Some Heraulds call that thing out of which the Swans Neck issueth; the round top of a Pass, the foretop of a Pass, and others the top of a Tower, but I take it rather to be a Barons Chaplet, or Circle of Gold, which anciently the Barons of our Kingdom, to distinguish them from other sort of People, did wear on their heads. This is the Coat of Van Montferr.

The like O. Is the Crest of Skaringen.

a Swans Neck to the sinister O. the back of it adorned with 3 Plates, on each a Plume of Feathers O. and G. Is the Crest of Sturmen.

An Eagles Head barry of 6. A. and G. the Neck engrailed B. on each point a Peacocks Feather. Is the Crest of Froburg.

a Swans Neck per three G. A. and B. on the back of the first 2 Ostrich Feathers G. and on the second the like A. is the Crest of Falckenstein.

a Swans Neck A. the Engrail G. each point a Tortoise or Button tufted G. Is the Crest of Dortzer.

The like O. on the Back 3 Buttons tufted G. Born by Van Sickingen: and a Griffons Head with four Buttons tufted G. Is the Crest of Schebmen, and also of Van Bergen; and an Eagles head S. with the like O. Is the Crest of Van Helmslat.

The like Neck per Fesse B. and A. on the first 3 Beacons, by Lorrach.

The like B. on the points of three Dentals G. as many Mullets of six points O. Is the Crest of Van Gosteheim.

The like B. Engrailed G. on each point on Hawks bell O. the like in a Field A. Is the Crest and Coat of Van Casselberg of Switzerland.

An Eagles head S. 3 indents, and on each 2 Buttons A. Is the Crest of Gammer-Meister.

LXX. He beareth Gules, a Swans Neck Argent, fined on the Back, Or. Some term this a smooth fin, and skinny Membrane; which in some Authors I have seen Gobony of two colours, which then is to be mentioned. This is Born by the name of Die Van Nexam.

The like A. the Fin Gobony O. and G. Born for the Crest of Van Stagsale.

And as these Swans Necks are Adorned, so in many Out-landish Coats and Crests, other Birds, and Beasts, also are set forth: Which for the Blazoning thereof, you may follow these foresaid Rules and Terms.

LXXI. He beareth Argent, the Head of a Skua, or Cornish Gannet, couped, proper. This Bird I have described in chap. 12. numb. 19. under the name of Skna.

Therefore shall say no more of it here, only shew you the shape of the Head, being bodyed like the Gull, of which kind it is, being whole footed, wanting the hinder Toe.

A. three such heads couped proper. By the name of Van Escue.

LXXII. He beareth Sable, two Eagles Legs erected, couped in the Thighs, the dexter surmounted of the sinister salterwise, Or. Some again only Blazon it in short; two Eagle Leggs erected and couped in Salter: as mattering not which of them surmounted the other. This is born by Salterage.

A. the like G. Born by Die Heln Van Suthem.

LXXIII. He beareth Gules, a Wing, Argent. This I have caused to be set here, for two causes: First to shew you the old fashion of drawing Wings, how the Prime or Quill Feathers stand open, and at distance, one from another, with a third between each Feather, and the Ponion very large and broad.

And Secondly to give you to understand, what I mean by the exteriour and interiour Feathers of the Wing; so often repeated in the foresaid description of Birds: By exteriours, are meant the greater Wing Feathers, or the first halfe of the quills on the Ponion, seated at the end, or outside of it from the Body. And the interiour, or lesser Wing Feathers, are the other halfe of the quill feathers, fixed on the Ponion next the Body. And these are againe divided into three parts, the Greater Wing Feathers, which are all those fixed from the end of the Ponion to the first joynt. The Lesser Wing Feathers, are those on the second, or middle part of the wing between the Joynts. And the Least Wing Feathers, which are those fixed on the Pinion, about the second Joynt next the body.

The Duch Heraulds make all their Wings, after this forme to these very tymes, as is to be seen by many Coats lately extant. se numb: 75 76 77.

B 2 Wings elevated A is the coat & crest of Van Leib-Walks. And out of a Coronet O such a Wing B charged with a Cross cheque G & A is the crest of Van Ingelheim of the Rhine Palatinate.

2 Wings expanded S is the crest of Bosen van Weldeck. The like A is the crest of Van Andernach.

a Wing

a Wing A at the end of each quill feather a Rose G is the crest of Van Lindaw.

G a Pilgrims staff erected O between 2 Wings displayed A is the coat & crest of Van Harstall.

LXXIV. He beareth Gules, a Swans head issuing out of Base Argent, Hembread Gules; a Stable, (or the Greek Letter Pie) thrust through the middle of the Neck, points Erected, Or; On the ends, two Coronets, of the first; with Peacocks Tails, out of them, proper. These kind of Crests are in much esteem in the Low Countreys; having the Stable thrust through several sorts of Beasts, and Fowl; and out of the Coronets variety of other things, as Leaves, branches of Flowers, Feathers, &c. and some instead of Crowns, have Balls fixt on the points; with such like things as afore said, set on them. This is the Crest of Van Plasbach.

The Swans Neck as afore said O. is the Crest of Lupfen; and Helsenstein.

The same with the rest G. Is the Crest of Gundelfingen.

Out of a Crown an Eagles head G. holding the like Stable with Coronets Feathered in her Beak. Is the Crest of Van Tren'ach.

The Swans Neck A. the rest O. by Justingen.

a Demy-Horse A. Bridled S. thrust through as afore O. Is the Crest of Van Fraunberg.

a Swans head G. thrust through with a Stable points erected and bearded on the out-sides O. with a plume of Feathers thereon A. by the name of Ehinger.

a Unicorns head A. with the like Stable at whose points are Beazants with a tuft of Grass thereon V. Is the Crest of Rothemban.

a Demy Lyon G. with a Stable as afore said, the points Buttoned A. each with an Acorn slip proper. Is the Crest of Van Hackenberg.

a Demy Woman clothed G. crined and floatant O. holding such a Stable before her with both hand points crowned and set with a Peacocks Tail. Is the Crest of Van Besen.

LXXV. He beareth Vert, (Feathers of two ponions) or rather two Dutch Wings conjoined in one pendant, Argent. By the name of Tusch. These would be best termed, two Wings conjoined in one at the Shoulder-joynt Fesse-ways, the quill-feathers pendant.

The joyning of the two bottom, or Shoulder parts of the Wings together maketh that round Button in the middle, which the German Heraulds often make into three Buttons; and by joyning the out-most parts of the Wings, make the said Shoulder parts out-wards, and end them in Buttonies, Crosses, Eagles heads, Lions heads, and such like, as in the next examples.

A. two such in Fesse S. Born by the name of Wellenberg of Switzerland.

O. two such S. Born by Strafs.

A. one B. charged with a Cressant O. Is the Coat and Crest of Pelderzimer.

LXXVI. He beareth Azure, two Dutch Wings

conjoyned in one, and in form of a Semi-circle; (or joined in fesse and displayed) the dexter point of the ponion adorned with a cross Patee; and the sinister with an Eagles head, Or. I call these Dutch Wings, because they always make them thus joynt together: See numb. 73-77-78. This is Born by Van Mambachful.

S. the like (Sans Eagles Head and Cross) A. Born by Van Derspar.

S. the like O. Born by Soneck.

S. the like with Cross Buttony fixt to the middle A. Born by Van Rudighheim.

A. the like G. a Cressant on it O. by Van Erberg.

Some term this a Cressant, the points adorned, as afore said, and the out-side with Feathers. But that may not be, if the figures of Wings set down in the squares following be compared together; which manifests them to be Wings conjoined, not a Cressant; and in my Judgment is best termed, two Wings conjoined in one at the Prime, or principal Feathers in a semi-circular form, Fesse-ways. But were an English Painter to draw them, he would set them forth, as depicted in chap. 19. 89. and Blazon the same Cherub Wings, which are always thus conjoined, as you may see, chap. 1. numb. 24. and the Cross and Eagles Head to proceed from the rise of the first and last of the Ridge, or covert Feathers of the ponion.

LXXVII. He beareth Argent, an Ogress, with three Feathers fixed to it, having the Vanes, or Filiment only on the nether sides, pointing to the corners of the Escochion Azure, variegated with Or. Some Blazon it more briefly, three variegated (or mixt) Feathers in triangle, fixed to an Ogress, (or Roundlet, or Ball) vanned on the lower sides. The French say three Feathers in the form of a Y. This is Born by Featherston.

G. the like A. Born by Edovic of France.

A. the like G. Born by Van Eddam.

In the Dexter-Base of this quarter, I have caused to be Engraven another form of a Wing made generally by the German and Dutch Heraulds, which may clearly convince any ingenious person that both the precedent, and subsequent Wings, are two joined in one.

Those before, answering to our Wings mentioned, chap. 11. numb. 3. which we term Wings conjoined pendant, and that following answereth to our Wings mentioned chap. 12. numb. 57. which we Blazon Wings conjoined elevated: Therefore notwithstanding what I have said before, as from other Pens: for brevity sake, and also to distinguish these from ours, they may be truly termed, two Dutch Wings conjoined pendant, as numb. 75. and two Dutch Wings conjoined circular pendant, as numb. 76. and two Dutch Wings conjoined circular elevated, as in the square, numb. 78.

B. a Dutch Wing elevated, the Shoulder end or joint Buttony A. a Canton O. Born by Velberg of Francovia.

A. the like B. Born by Statenbergh.

LXXVIII. He

LXXVIII. He beareth Argent, two Feathers in pale, each declining (or bending) from the other, in the tops, Gules; Shafts, or Quills, Or.

All Feathers of what kind so ever (except the Ostritch, which falls and doubles in the top onely) are either born straight or declining, as this example; but never doubled into Falls. This is born by the name of Die Brobrach.

The like O. Is the Crest of Graben: having a Rose between the points of them.

In the Chief of this quarter, I have set another form of the Dutch or German Wings, which are conjoined and elevated, as I shewed you in the last example G. the like A. in the Chief a Mullet of six points O. Born by Van Hohenfels.

S. the like Bottomy in the middle; and the Mullet A. by Van Rudighelm.

B. two Dutch Wings conjoined Semi-circular in Fesse O. born by Soneck of the Palatinate of Rhine.

B. the like A. a Mullet of six points in Chief O born by Van Der spar.

XXIX. He beareth Sable, three Ostritch Feathers in triangle, fixed together in the Center (or Fesse point), Argent; Shafts, Or.

All things born in triangle do ever point to the three Corners of the Escuchion; and though they be born in a round, oval, or square; yet the same rule must hold, two to be upwards, and one down. This is born by the name of Ostarch.

G. the like A. Born by Van Leuthorheger.

G. the like A. fixed to a Beazant. Born by the Earl of Harrath in Germany.

LXXX. He beareth Azure, a Mullet of six points Gules; surrounded with twelve Ostritch Feathers, Argent: the Shafts in point, Or.

If these Feathers were of one colour, and another of another colour, and so round counter-colour, then Blazon it thus; a Mullet of six points, Gules; at each an Ostritch Feather, Argent; between as many, Or: Shafts, Sable: In which Blazon you need not mention a surrounding or in point, as in the former. This is Born by Feathersome.

Others again term it, a fall or round of Ostritch feathers, with a Mullet (or such like) in the Center, or middle. Others have Roses, or Rundlets, or Leopards faces, &c. for the Center of the Feathers.

A. the like G. Mullet O. Born by Die Steger of Hafsa.

A. the like B. Mullet A. by Steger of Carimbia.

A. the like B. a plate in the middle. Born by Van Hagenest.

An Annulet G. surrounded with a Turkeys Tail Feathers A. edged S. Born by the name of Koler, whose Crest it is.

a Rose G. surrounded with Peacocks Tail Feathers, proper. Is the Crest of Van Siermergan.

LXXXI. He beareth Or, on a Coronet, Gules; a Table of six squares, Chequy, Argent and Sable; at each point an Ostritch Feather of the third, quilled or Shafts, Sable. This is by Artists, termed an Oval Heragon Table; or Heragon Oval Table: because it is framed out of an Oval, being longer one way than another. This is born by the name of Van Sadagon.

The like S. out of a Coronet O. charged with a Lion Rampant, debrused with a Latice O. the Feathers Alternatim, or Interchanged A. and O. Is the Crest of Van Lawming.

The like Octagon Table B. charged with a Fesse O. at each point a Peacocks Feather, proper. Is the Crest of Frankensten.

The like A. charged with a Goat Saliant S. at each point the like Feather proper. Is the Crest of Chur.

And so I shall Conclude this Treatise of Birds, and such Bearings as proceed from them: Onely making this Addition, which is to give the Terms of Art used by Historians, and such as have written concerning them; which are used in or about, or any way belonging to Birds, with their Explanations.

The signification of Birds used in Armory.

4. Birds in general, signifies Activity and Celerity, with speed in Matters of weight, and moment, and high Enterprizes.

Wings, are Hieroglyphicks of Celerity, and sometimes of Protection and Coverture; as the Psalmist often speaks, of hiding under the Wings of Gods favour: Because the Hen doth shelter her young from the Rapine of the Mightier, with spreading her Wings over them.

Feathers of Ostritches, are Emblems of Order and Rule: for vi nulla inconvulsa Ordo, as no Storm can put the Plume out of Order; so it betokeneth such an one, as nothing can disturb his Mind, or Disquiet his Spirits, but is ever one and the same.

Feathers of Eagles, being put amongst others, eats and destroys them; which denotes that to accompany Great Persons, and have too much Familiarity with them, is Dangerous, and Destructive, both to Soul, Body, or Estate.

Eagle signifies Magnanimity and Fortitude of mind, which never seeks to Combat with small ones, but his equals. St. Johns Divine Bird.

Eagle displayed, signifies both Protection, or Ruin, and Destruction; for the displaying of the Wings assurareth Protection and Safety to the Obedient; and the extending of her griping Talons, doth betoken the renting, and ruin of all that resist and Rebel.

Eagles Legs, they are the Emblems of Warriors; it also denoteth that Devourers shall be Devoured, as the Leg hath destroyed, now it is rent away it self; a worthy thy Document for all great Men, to stand in fear how they sicze on any Prey against Justice; if they escape the like with Man, yet it is just with God to shew no Mercy to the Mercylefs.

Phoenix, Is the Emblem of the Resurrection, and her Feathers of Gold are the symbol of Eternal Glory: She is a Bird of so many colours, that she is properly no colour; signifies such as would be every thing, yet good at nothing; except Destroyers and Wasters of their own Estates, and Embalmers of their own Bodies.

Falcon, signifies fruitfulness, vivacity, celerity and quickness of sight, so that this Bird doth represent the Soul of Man, which mounts from Earth to Heaven, by the Wings of Divine Speculation and Contemplation. It is an Emblem in Heraldry betokening speedy performance in any business; and is also to be taken for such a one, as doth eagerly pursue, vex, and molest poor, and silly Creatures.

Hawks, They are generally taken for Persons of Heroick Spirits, and such who are ready and serviceable for high affairs, though they live at rest, and not employed; and being drawn down to the Lower, betokeneth a freedom in Bonds.

Crow. Is the Hieroglyphick of long Life; and the blacker the Bird, the more nobler the kind; and denotes pulchritude; though I be Black, yet I am comely, Eccles. 1. 4. and 5. 11.

Swan. Betokens sincerity and purity, it also denotes Beauty and Harmony of the Tongue, being the prevailing Solicitors for the obtaining of Love and Affection: It is the Ensign of the Poets, and well befits the Muses; being the Hieroglyphick of a Musical Man, and on that like Solon counts none happy till the last end, and then to sing out his own Epitaph, makes himself Immortal.

Ostritch, resembles one who is a better Indicter than an Orator, helping by his Wing, what he cannot do by his Tongue, or Feet.

Raven, signifies an industrious Person that Cherisheth and Fostereth them that are of the like Spirit, Gifts, or Qualifications to themselves: For it is reported of the old Ravens that they will not feed their young ones, till they perceive them pen-feathered and black like them; then do they labour to bring them up. It is also the Emblem of a Clamorous, Fraudulent person, stealing filthy things and hiding them secretly; eager and cruel in fighting amongst themselves, tyronizing and subjecting the vanquished to their Wills.

Young Ravens, denotes God's Providence.

Ibis, is a destroyer of Serpents, and denotes Heroes and valiant Persons of ancient times, who were worthy of Praise and Renown, because they destroyed serpentick kind of Men.

Dove. Is the symbol of the Church, which though she have layn amongst the Pots, yet she shall be as the Wings of a Dove, whose Wings are Silver, and her Feathers of Gold: denoting her Simplicity in the one, and her future Glory in the other; which the Bearer of it ought to imitate, expelling that pureness of Life through Innocency and Constancy here, that in the end he may attain eternal Felicity.

Nightingale, is the sister of Harmony, and doth allude to Poetry and Oratory: It signifies Solitariness and Sequestration from the converse of Men, but frequented by the Gods and the Muses.

Swallow. Is the Mistress of Melody; yet delights in solitary places; especially in Houses, Towns, and Cities, where she exerciseth her Eloquence. So that it denotes one that is Industrious, prompt and ready to dispatch business.

Lapwing. Is made the Emblem of Tyranny; his long sharp Bill representing his Tyranny; his tuft on his head signifies his Diadem.

Cock. Is the Herald of the Day, and the Sentinel of the Night, by whom the Ancients in their Hieroglyphicks represented Vigilancy. It is the Emblem of Courage and Chivalry; and denotes a noble Commander that comes to fly the Field, that keeps a vigilant watch by Night, and rejoiceth for the Victory, boasting when his Enemy is vanquished.

Owl. Is the Emblem of Death, yet hath the faculty of Watching, and Musing the powers of the Mind, being in the silent Night more collected and vigorous: She betokenes in Arms a prudent Man, vigilant, and of an acute Wit, yet it shews a Melancholy Temper, Solitary Company, and loving solitariness. The Owl is Minerva's Bird, as consecrated to her.

Crane. is an Emblem of Pride and Arrogancy, and therefore serves as a Monitor to the Bearers thereof to avoid such Vices: For if a Man once begin to admire his own Parts and Features, and those Excellencies wherewith he is endued; it causeth a contempt of those in the higher Powers.

Stork. Is the Emblem of Dutifulness. We are sent to this Fowl to learn their Seasons: Jer. 8. 7. as they take care of their young, when helpless; so Nature binds them to care for their Parents in old Age. It denotes a thankful Person, one that returns the like for like; as Love, Honour, Obedience, Aid and Succour, all which are found in this Fowl.

Bat, or Bats, signifies men of quick and secret execution, that brings his Stratagems to pass in the Night: They also betoken men of small power or nobility, yet raiseth himself by wit and industry.

Chough, or Cornish Crow. It is accounted King of Crows, and is a Bird that many times proves a great Incendiary stealing of fire to the indangering of Houses; and may betoken the Bearers thereof to be Men of Execution of Stratagems to the disadvantage of his Enemies.

Artlet, and Swallow are Companions in swiftness, and Companions in the Spring of Prosperity; but forsakes their own Country in the time of Adversity: And therefore a fit Emblem of Feined & Temporizing Friends, who in time of Honour and Abundance will gladly converse with those, who in Needs and Tribulations will forsake, and scarce acknowledge they ever saw them.

Peacock, is the Emblem of Pride and Ambition; and denotes the Bearer to be an Admirer of himself, though he be basely descended, and of a dirty Condition.

Peacocks Tails, are much Born in Crests, and are Symbols of Honour and Nobleness.

Pellican, is an Emblem of the four Paternal Duties of the Parents to their Children, as Generation, Education, Instruction, and Examples for the Exercise of a virtuous and honest Life. Also is the Emblem of an affectionate Prince; and denotes Christs sufferings.

Hens and Chickens, is an Hieroglyphick of Safety, Protection, and Preservation; for by the Hens spreading of her Wings over her Brood to defend them from Rapine: So Christ doth defend his People from the Insolency of all Enemies.

Hens Feeding with her Chickens, denotes care over them, Providence, and Instruction.

Harpy, is the Emblem of Rapine and Man-slaughter, and is fit to be given to such that by their often viewing of their Ensigns, they may be moved to bewail the foulness of their offence.

Cockatrice, is the most pestiferous and poysonful of all Serpents, and is a little King among them; and denotes Devilish and Destructive people; as Wizards, Witches, Conjurers, &c. that do work the destruction of silly Infants and Cattle of their Neighbours, whose prosperous Estate is to them a most grievous Eye-sore. Sometimes denotes a Courageous Soul, not to be daunted.

Græbern, is an Hieroglyphick of the Keeper and Preserver of Riches and Treasure; and denotes such a one which hath the charge of such things, that he is admirable sharp sighted, and most valiant.

Martinet, is painted without Feet, to denote that the bearer must trust to the wings of Virtue and Merit to rise thereby, and not to their own stay or trust, which is Leggless and therein not able to raise.

Duck and Mallard; Creatures of much care by reason of many Enemies, as Men, Eagles, Dogs; and therefore Nature hath assisted with many shifts; if Man, layes wait, they fly to the Water; if the Eagle pursue, they dive under Water, if there the Dog molest they mount into the Aire: and so it denotes unto us, that wit, and varieties of divises doth often beguile the hopes of Enimies, which most eagerly pursue.

Kings Fisher doth denote tranquillity, rest, safety, because she is an observer of the time, and knoweth her season: having an aspect of things before hand.

Heron: is the emblem of security, height, and loftiness of spirit, aspiring minde, and haughty actions; for he flyeth high.

Coccyus: denotes a person to be kept in subjection, to be under anothers care and protection, and that cannot live but by help of them; it signifieth a person to live on anothers labour; Parit in alieno. This Bird also betokenes feigned friends who in the Summer of honor and prosperity abide with; but in the Winter of adversity will forsake us.

Duale, it is the emblem of rest, and to be void of care and labour, to cease from troubles; after much care, troubles and labour of Body, and Spirit: to bear a conscience and quiet mind, in the midst of calamities.

Pheasant Cock; is a deceitful Bird, and signifieth a person that is of an uncertain judgment, that his fame and reputation is deceivable: unfaithful, unloyal, and unconstant in his actions.

Coot is an emblem of a joyful mind according to the times and seasons.

Finch, or Chaffinch: small Birds are of much nimbleness and activity: and therefore are emblems of working spirits, ready to perform and accomplish any actions: but like these Birds fly confusedly, some here, some there, not knowing their lighting place; so it betokeneth such a person as is doing and undoing, acting he knoweth not what, would make himself busie in a matter he understands not: a Busy-body.

Woodcock; when he flyeth shuteth his Eyes, supposing he is not seen, because he seeth no body. Is a fit emblem of a wicked deceivable person who indeavouring to chate others, chats himself: and denotes a fool that is wise in his own conceit; or would be thought to be wise.

Dag-pye; is an emblem of him who gathereth riches, yet knowes not who shall enjoy them. And by his chattering hath a double voice, which denotes a two fold meaning: a dissembler, a double minded person.

Turtle Dove; is the emblem of conjugal love, and betoketh matrimonial chastity. For if one of the pair dye, the other pineth away, and dieth for grief.

Turkey-cock, or

Indian Cock; being enraged, or furiously angry, exalts himself: is proud, stately, and lofty: and therefore fitly decipher such a person who swells with wrath and malice, when not worshiped, and honoured, as (in his thoughts) he ought to be.

Commonant, hath but one Gut, and therefore his Prey is no sooner in the Belly but out, so; by often swallowing it is at length digested: which is a fit emblem of this mortal life, being no sooner come into the World but out again. From the Womb to the Tomb.

Duzell, or Black-birds; sings in Summer, and in Winter is silent, or tongue tied: which denotes the humours of Men in the various conditions of this life, jocos in prosperity and time of abundance, but dejected in adversity.

Kite, and all Birds of Prey that are armed with Talons, are emblems of warriours and valours, and that nothing will satisfie such, but the overcoming of their Enemy.

Goose, is the emblem of dulness and dasterlyness, if they go through a Barn-door, they will hold dowe their head: It is a name cast off and dispised of all Men to be termed a Goose. Thereby denoting the person to be of no parts or excellency.

Parrot, or Popinjay; denotes an excellent Logician one that can be the Mouth of other Men, speak (as the Bird doth) both by Nature, and with Art.

Sparrow, is the emblem of instability and unconstancy of mind (according to the Proverb) off and on, like a Cock Sparrow. It denotes a wanderer from place to place, having no certain aboad.

Partridge, is the emblem of charity, and denote one that feeds maintaines, succours, and keep warm even those which are ready to perish.

Blood-pecker, the emblem of advancement, climbing high, and gathering of riches: and denoteth one that will rise in the World let him have never so much opposition and molestation.

Of the External, or outward parts of Birds, in general;

4. WE do not intend to treat of all the parts of Birds, but those only which are peculiar, and proper proper to them, and to no other Creatures, as in shape, size, use, or some other remarkable accident; as,

In the Bill or Beak, Mandible or Chap:

The Rise of the Bill, that part next and fixt to the Head.

The Arcuate Bill, bends either up or down like a bow.

The Streight Bill, and thick.

The long and slender Bill.

The thick and short Bill: a chub Bill.

The short and hooked Bill, when it hath a hook or bent in the tip end.

The short and slender Bill.

The narrow serrate, or toothed Bill; the edges indented like a Saw.

The broad Bill, flat, or depressed Bill.

The sharp pointed Bill.

The flat Bill, and triangular Bill.

The furrowed Bill, having incisures, or slits cut into the Bill.

The Angled Bill, which hath only one tooth in the middle of the upper Chap.

Nostrils.

The Hairy, or Bristled Nostrils, such as are covered or have hair growing near or about them.

The tuberos Nostrils, which have swelling or fleshy rising, about the Nostrils, a lob of flesh on the Nostrils.

The membranous Nostrils, such as are covered about with a naked skin.

The Caruncles, or knotty pieces of flesh, hanging about the Bill, Nostrils, or any part of the Head, as in Turkey-cocks, and Muscovy Ducks.

Eyes and Eye-lids.

The Pupil of the Eye, is the black spot in the middle.

The Iris, and Irides, the circle or circles about the black of the Eye.

The Ball of the Eye.

The Nictitating Membrane, or membrane for nictation, is that skin wherewith Birds cover their Eyes, though their Eye-lids be open. Nictating membrane.

The Orbit or Cavity, is the hole in the skull, in which the Eyes are placed.

Prominent Brows: that is when the Eye-brows over-hang the Eyes: rising Eye-brows.

Head and Mouth and Ears.

A Crested head, such as have Feathers standing up on the Crown of the Head, like the Crest, or top of a Helmet.

A Tufted head, such as have only some few Feathers falling backwards from the Head.

A Crowned head, such as carry fleshy Crowns, Crests or Combs, or any other tuberos, or callicous, hard or brawny, substance.

A Naked head, when it hath no Feathers on it.

The Fissure, the cleft, or crevice, in the Pallar of the Mouth.

The Valves, the covers of the Ears, Feathers standing about the Ears to cover them.

The Fronte, is the fore-part of the Head.

The Occipite, is the hinder part of the Head.

The Aperture of the Mouth, is the open of the Mouth.

The Bydle, or the Membrane connecting the Mandibles, are the skins at each corner of the Mouth which rye the two Chaps together: by the softness, colour, and thickness of this part, young Birds may be discovered from old ones.

The Vertebres of the Neck, the turning joynts of the Neck.

The Crest, or Comb; that as groweth on the Heads of Cocks, of several kinds.

The Gill, or Wattles; that red fleshy part or skin, which hangs under the Chin of several sorts of Cocks, as the Pheasant, Turkey, and Dunghill-Cock, &c. Some call them, the Cocks Jelloppes, or Tow-loppes.

Wings and Feathers therein.

Rudiments of Wings, useless Wings, such as cannot fly with them, as in the Penguin, Dodo, and Cassin.

Agitated Wings, are Wings that being extended, assist the Bird to run, but cannot fly with them, as in the Ostridge.

Membranaceous Wings, are Wings like thin skin or filme, or pill of a tree, as in the insects: Bees and Hornets.

Cutaneous Wings, Leather Wings, as in Bats.

Calamous Wings, are such as are composed of Quills, and Feathers, a feathered Wing, by which Birds and Fowl fly by beating the Aire.

Secondary, or Bastard Wing: It is a certain finger-like appendix, made up of four, or five small Feathers, at the end, or extremitie of the Wing: of which there are two, the exterior bastard Wing, and the interior bastard Wing, which is the row of Feathers on the inside, next the Body.

Ridge, or base of the Wing, is the very edge, or outside of the Ponion, in which the Quill feathers are; that Quill that part of the Feathers, as sticks into the flesh.

Shaft, or Stem, the middle part of the Feather to which the Vane or Filiment is fixed.

Feather, Plume, Callow, Fledge, or Pluck; Filiment, Web or Vane: by all which Names or Terms it is called, being the soft hairy part, which is fixt to the Stem, or Shaft of the quill.

Downy feathers, is the finest and softest kind of Feather, having little or no Quill, or no Shaft at it.

Body and Thighs.

Plumage, is the Feathers wherewith the Trunk, or Body of Birds, are covered.

Down

Down, is that which young Birds are covered withall after they are hatched.

Moult their Feathers, is to cast their Feathers yearly, and new ones to come in their room.

Legs and Feet, or Toes.

Divarcation, the parting place, of the Leg, where it shoots forth into the Toes: called the Divarcation of the Foot.

Membranous Leg, such as be covered with a skinny substance.

Scaled Leg, such as are covered either with scales, or after a scale-like form.

Spur, is a sharp pointed horny substance, fixed on the Legs of a Cock, or Pheasant.

Commixture of the Legs, the joynings of the scales of the Legs and Feet.

Incisures of the Legs, are the impressions, or cuttings in, or marks of the scales, on the Legs and Toes.

Whole footed, or Webbed foot, such as have skinny Membranes between the Toes, joyning the Toes together.

Divided foot, such as have the Feet open, without a Membrane.

Connected foot, is such as have a Membrane between the Toes, and yet the Toes are joyned or knit, but to the first joyn.

Finned foot, such as have skinny Membranes on each side the Toes, yet joyn not the Toes together.

Membrane, is that skinny substance, that joyns the Toes together, as in the Toes of Geese, and Ducks.

Claw, or Calon, Clutch, sharp Horny hooks, or Nails fixed on the end of the Toes of Birds Feet by which they seize on their Prey.

Tail, Rump, and Hole.

The Vent, or Orifice, its the place by which the excrements is avoided. The Arse hole.

The Rump, is the place in which the Tail feathers are fixed.

The Stern, or Tail, are those Feathers fixt on the Rump, which serves as a Rudder, for to steer their course, and to turn them in the Aire.

The Flexures, of the Tail, are the Birds turning and winding of its Tail, as it flyeth.

Of some remarkable Inward parts of Birds and Fowl, not incident to other Animals.

The Wind-pipe, or Trachea.

The Crop, the place for the reception of meat, which hangs at the lower part of the Neck. Called the Crop.

The Merry thought, is the bone that lieth between the Neck, and the Breast-bone.

The Gizzard, or Gizzard, or Stomach in which the meat is ground, brused and digested; it is not common to all Birds; for Rapacious, and some Piscivorous Birds have a Membranous one.

[]

The Gullet, is the thin skinny Gut, by which the meat goes from the Mouth, to the Craw, or Crop.

The Blind Guts, or Appendices, a Gut that descends from the Somach, downwards to the Fundament; most Birds have two of them, the Heron kind have but one, and the Wood-pecker kind, none.

The Single blind Gut, is a small Gut like a Worm, which is nothing else, but the remainder of that passage, by which the Yolk is conveyed into the Guts of the young Birds. In some it is very conspicuous, others very little, and in some, not seen at all.

The Pancreas, all Birds have 2 of them, which some call the Sweet-broads in quadrupeds or four footed Beasts.

The Testicles or Stones of Cock-birds.

The Labyrinth, is a kind of a Vessel in which the Wind-pipe ends: made up of bone and intermediate Membranes, in some whole footed Birds; and in some it is made up wholly of bone without any void spaces to be filled up of Membranes: and some wholly want it.

The Ovaria, are clusters, or knots of Eggs, which in the Cock are taken for his Testicles.

The Ante-stomach: is the supply of the Gullet, by being large and wide, in those Birds that want a Crop, or Craw: where meat is retained till it be ready for the Gizzard.

The Glandules, are two kind of kernells which grow in the upper side of the Rump, within the skin.

The Dyl-bor, the Holes in the Rump, where the Glandules lye.

Remarkable things in Birds.

All Birds have Bills of horny substance, by which they gather and receive their meat, or are as weapons to fight with, or defend themselves. They use them also, to build their Nests, to feed their young, and climb withal.

All Birds want the Epiglottis, the cover of the Wind-pipe, it being not necessary to them, for the modulation, or articulation of the voice.

That the Cranny in the top of the Head of the Wind-pipe, by which the Aire passes to and fro in respiration, lyes directly under cleft of the Pallate, or the holes which goes to the Nostrils.

All Birds that have long Legs, have long Necks, otherwise they could not gather up their food on land, or in the Water. But on the other side all that have long Necks have not long Legs.

All Birds want the Channel-bones in the Breast, instead whereof they have a bone, which we call the Merry thought.

All Birds have four Toes on each foot, three standing forward, and one backwards; yet some have all four standing forward; some two forwards, and two backwards; others three forwards, and want a Back-toe, the Ostrich of all other, having but two Toes.

All Birds wanting the Back-toe, never sit, or Roost on trees, and the Leg-bone, and middle Toe, in most Birds are of an equal length.

All Birds that are whole footed (some few excepted) have the inner Toes with an external welt, or border of skin, all along the Toes, of a good breadth, but never welted on the outmost Toes.

Q q 2

Al

All Birds that have four Toes, the Back-toe hath but one bone; the outmost of the Fore-toes, two bones: the middlemost three and the inmost four.

All Birds that have a Back-toe, have generally the outmost and middle Toes, for some space, even to the first joyn from the divarication, joyned together in the bottom by a skinny Membrane: very few excepted.

All Birds have a Rump, even such as want Tails, in which grow two glangules in holes, or excretory vessels, furnished with a certain unctuous humour.

All Birds generally have their bodies covered with Feathers, few with hair: some have their Heads bare, some their Thighs, but most have their Legs, and Feet.

All Birds are covered with down, when and while they are young.

All Birds of the smallest sort generally have 18 flag, or quill feathers in the Wing: and 12 in the Tail. Those of the middle size, have the like number; those of the Poultry kind have 27 Quill, or Wing Feathers; and some 14, others 16, others 18, in the Tail. Those of the greatest bulk of Body, have 38 flag, or quill feathers, and 18 in the Tail.

All Birds have the Vanes, or Webs of the Quill feathers of the Wing, much broader in the interior side of the shaft, then on the exterior. All other Feathers on the Body, and Tail, have the Vanes, or Filaments, both of a breadth.

All Birds have the bottom of all the Feathers, such as appear not to sight, of one and the same colour; and for the most part, differ from what is exposed to view.

All Birds in a manner have their lower Belly, & Vent, and under their Wings whitish.

All Birds have a Crop or Croop to receive their meat, and a Gizzard to grind and digest it, they having no other Stomach, or Middriff, as in quadrupes.

All Birds though they want a Bladder for Urine, yet have they large Reins, and Ureters, by which the Urine is carried away, so runs down into the common sink, designed for the receiving of the Excrements of the Belly: and being therewith mingled, both are cast together.

All Birds are oviparous; bringers forth of Eggs, which Eggs though they have a different colour, according to the Birds kind, yet the exterior bark being pilled off, they are white and yolk.

All female Birds, have in them from their first formation, a knot or cluster of Eggs, of all that they shall afterwards lay throughout their whole life time. So that when the cluster is spent they cease breeding, and become effete; past bearing.

In all Eggs, there is first the shell, secondly 4 skinny membranes, two which begirds the thinner outward white; and another thinner and more subtle Membrane, which covers the inner white, and one that contains the yolk. Thirdly a two folded white, both involved in their proper Membranes, the outward thinner, and more liquid; the other thicker, and more clammy. Fourthly the yolk; and lastly the Treddles, or Cock trades, which are two white spots, like hail fastned to the Membrane of the yolk.

All animals are said to proceed from Eggs, not only Birds, Serpents, Fish, and Insects, which are known to cast forth Eggs; but also Viviparous, or live bringers forth, as all four footed Beasts do, nay Women also: for all females of what Nature soever have Eggs within them, though they do not bring them forth; that is, those two Bodies, commonly called Female testicles; are nothing else but knots, or masses, of very small Eggs; as will manifestly appear to any that will dissect the same, which Ovaria, have many Eggs of different magnitudes; which by generation being brought forth, or marred, or corrupted, that Female ceases to bear.

All or most Birds, when they sleep turn their Head backward, and put it under their Wing; and also stand upon one foot, the other being drawn up to the Belly, to keep it warm among the Feathers.

All long legged Birds, when they fly stretch out their Legs to the Tail; and short legged Birds, draw them up to the Belly.

All Birds naturally make Nest both hear and in forraign parts, all alike; according to their several species, or kinds: using the same materials, and observe the same shape or form as if they made them by the same patterns; meerly by instinct of Nature, not imitation.

All Birds grow faster then quadrupes; for in six weeks they are generally able to feed themselves, and fly about, and in six Mounth attain to their full growth, and maturity of strength.

All Birds with hooked Bills, through age have them grown so much, that they are hindered of feeding.

All Birds as run, and feed themselves as soon as they are hatched; build, and make their Nest, on the ground.

5. BIRDS may be distinguished by their usual places of Living, their Food, Bigness, Shape, Use, &c. which by the Reverend Dr. Wilkins are reduced into these eight Classis or Orders.

First, Carnivorous Birds, such as feed on Flesh.

1. Rapacious Diurnal Birds, such as Prey on Animals in the day time, as

Eagle	Butchers Bird	Gerfalcon
Vulture	Bald Vulture	Falcon
Hawk	Goshawk	Lannerett
Kite	Tarcell	Hobby
Buzzard	Sparrow Hawk	Merlin
Glede	Muskett	Ring Taile
Cuckoc	Bald Buzzard	Goat-Sucker

2. Rapacious Nocturnall Birds, such as Prey in the Night, as

Owle	Horned Owle	Serich Owle
------	-------------	-------------

3. Semi Rapacious, such as feed on Carrion or other things, Seldom on living Animals, as

Raven	Parageto	Woodspite
Grone	Py Magpy	Hickwall
Chough	Woodpicker	Witwall
Rook	Jay	Hiho
Whitebill Crow	Wryneck	Red Sparrow
Roller	Nuthatch	Oxe-eye Creeper
Parrot	Wall Creeper

4. Croats

4. Erotic Birds, such as have Shapes contrary to other Fowles, as

Toucan	Dodo	Emew
Rhinocerot	Ostritch	Lagopus
Bird of Paradise	Casslaware

Secondly, Phytivorous Birds, such as feed on Vegetables.1. Domestick, living at Houses, and called Poultry.

Cock Hen	Chicken	Peacock
Capon	Pullet	Turkey

2. Wild, Living in Fields and Woods. as

Pheasant	Wood cock	Hazel Hen
Partridge	Heath cock	Bustard
Grouse	Quaile	Raile
Queefe	Field Drakes	Attagen

Thirdly, Phytivorous Birds, such which have long wings. as

1. Of the Pigeon or Dove kind. as

Pigeon	Ring Dove	Turtle
Dove	Stock Dove	Queest

2. Of the Thrush kinde, such as feed on Mistle Berries. as

Mistle bird	Mountaine ouzell	Starling
Throstle	Solitary Sparrow	Mearle
Ouzell	Stare	Shreight
Black bird

3. Birds of Passage, Coming only in Winter. as

Feldefare	Redwing	Swinepipe
Thursh

4. Birds Crested, having tufts on their heads, as

Galbula	Vpupa	Crested Regulus
Hoop	Crested Tit

5. Birds having their foremost Toes joined together, or two Toes behind, and two before, as

Kings Fisher	Bee-Eater	Merops
Parrott

Fourthly, Phytivorous Birds, with thick, strong short Bills. as1. Canorous, or of a Singing kind, as

Bunting	Alpe	Green Finch
Yellow Hammer	Nope	Bramble
Hortulane	Chaffinch	Brambling
Canary Bird	Shell Apple	Linnert
Bullfinch	Crofs-bill

2. Not Canorous, as

Sparrow	Mountain Sparrow	Cocothraustes
---------	------------------	---------------

Fifthly, Insectivorous Birds, that feed chiefly on Insects, and sometimes on Seeds, as1. Birds of Passage coming in Summer, as

Swallow	Swift	Sand Martin
Martlet	Martin	Shore Bird

2. Canorous Birds, as

Nightingale	Robin Redbreast	Ligurinus
Lark	Ruddock	Serinus
Tr-lark	Redstart	Citrinella

3. Not Canorous, as

Aticapilla	Wagtail	Hedg Sparrow
Beccafigo	Stone smich	Regulus
Wheat-Ear

4. Least kind of Insectious Birds, as

Humming Bird	Great Titmouse	Colemouse
Mope	Titmouse	Long tailed Tit

Sixthly, Aquatick Birds, such as live in or about wet places, having long legs.

1. Such as have Bills above an Inch long, as

Lapwing	Green Plover	Dotterell
Puett	Grey Plover	Sea Lark

2. Such as have Bills about two inches long, as

Redshank	Knot	Moor Hen
Ruffe	Stint	Water Hen
Tringa

3. Such as have Bills about three inches long, as

Woodcock	Sea Pye	Silken Pullet
Snipe	Godwit

4. Such as have long and crooked Bills, as

Curlew	Guara of Brasile
--------	------------------	--

Seventhly, Aquatick Birds, living much in Water, being filipedes, or having open Toes, as

1. Such as Swim not, but Wade, as

Grane	Hearn	Bittour of Brasile
Stork	Grey Hearn	Shoveler
Phenicopter	Bittour	Spoon Bill
Grus Balearica

2. Such as Swim, having Finned Toes, but not joined together, as

Didapper	Dabchick	Coote
----------	----------	-------

Eighthly, Aquatick Birds, being Palmipedes, having their Toes joined together with a Membrane.1. Herbivorous, such as feed on Grass or Herbs, as

Swan	Duck	Brant Goose
Goose	Widgeon	Bernicle
Gander	Teale	Brenta
Gosling	Hooper	Sea Pheasant
Sheldrake	Wild Swan	Gargane
Drake

2. Piscivorous, such as are Fish Eaters, and have their four toes joined together, as

Solan Goose	Shagg	Razor Bill
Pellican	Puffin	Guillam
Cormorant	Pengwin

3. Such as are of a Diving kind, as

Diver	Sea Mew	Scray
Dun Diver	Sea Swallow	Ayogetta
Gull

6. A more Brief Division of Birds.

1. Terrestrial, or Birds, such as seldom frequent Waters, of which kind these following are, as the Rapacious, or Carnivorous Birds, which prey on flesh, and have Crooked Hooked Beaks, and Talions, as Hawkes.

Fugiborons, or more Gentle Hooked Bills, and Claws, as Parrots:

Rapacious Diurnall Birds, such as prey by day light, as the Eagle, Falcon, Sparrow-Hawk, &c:

Rapacious Nocturnall Birds, such as prey by night, as the Owle.

Insect Birds, such as feed upon Worms, Flies, Beetles, as the Woodpeckers kind, the Robin, &c.

Gnamborons Birds, such as feed on Grain, as the Pigeon, and all Poultry kind.

Fructivorous Birds, such as feed upon Fruit, as Apples, Cherries and Berries; as the Thrush, Feildfaire, Mop and Tittimouse.

Promiscuous Birds, such as feed on Flesh, Insects, Fruit or Grain; as the Raven, and Crow kind.

Semenivorous Birds, such as feed upon Seeds, as the Linnet, Jackinco, and the several sorts of Finches.

2. Aquatick Birds, such as are in; and much conversant about Water, of which are these;

Herbivorous Birds, such as eat Herbs and Grasse.

Piscivorous Birds, that feed upon Fish, as all Water Fowl generally do, and upon Insects, which may be divided into the Cloven footed Birds, that swim not, as the Crane.

Cloven footed Birds, that do swim, as the Water Hen.

Fin-toed, that have lateral Membranes appendant to each side the toes, as the Coot.

Web-footed, and Cloven-footed, as the Osprey.

Web-footed Birds, which have the three foremost toes connect and joined together by a skinny Membrane, as the Swan, Goose, Duck.

Web-footed Birds, that want the back toe, as the Puffin.

Web-footed, having all four toes joined together by a Membrane, as the Cormorant, Soland Goose, the Shagge, and Sea Pelecan.

Duck-footed, with narrow sharp pointed Bills, as the Gull, Mew, Turrock, Pewit.

Duck-footed, with narrow, serrate, or toothed Bills, as the Goosander, Diver.

Duck-footed, with broad Bills, as Barnacle, Shel-drake, Shoveler, and their kinds.

Of the Voices of Birds.

All young Birds when they are first hatched, when they begin to cry, we say they peep, cheep, or pep.

The Cock Croweth, the Hen Cackleth, when she hath laid her Egg, and Clucketh when she hath Chickens; and the Chicken Peepeth or Chicketh.

The Turkey Cock Tollupeth.

The Dove and Pigeon Cooeth, Mourneth, or Lamenteth, in building time; and Crooweth in following his Hen.

The Lark singeth Cyra Lyra.

The Sparrow Chirpeth or Chirippeth; being a company of small Birds together, Tittleteth.

The Cuckow cryeth Cuckow.

The Bitter or Bitterne, Bumpeth, when he puts his Bill in the Reeds, some say then the Bitter Loweth or Belloweth.

The Chough, Cornish Crow, Jay, and the Pye; Chattereth, or Annotteth.

The Nightingale Singeth pleasantly, tuneably, and by measure.

The Eagle Scrilleteth, or Scriketh.

The Hawk, as Falcon, Gawshawk, and all such Birds of Prey, cryeth, peepeth, or scrilleteth.

The Gander hilleth, or creaketh, the Goose gaggleth.

The Raven crooketh, cryeth Coyves.

The Crow haweth, kateth, or crooketh.

The Partridge chucketh.

The Swan singeth, the wild Swan braveth.

The Ring-Dove, Stock-Dove, Wood-culver, and Queest cryeth, or singeth, rejoiceth.

The Stork glottereth, this is a kind of fictitious term from the sound, chattereth.

The Peacock pupilleth, scriketh, cryeth.

The Crane grueth.

The Kite scriketh or soyroweth.

The Drake and Duck or Mallard quacketh.

The Throftle, Ouzell, Thrush, whistleth, singeth.

The Tittimouse and Mob twitteth.

The Quale squaileth.

The Bat chippeth.

The Owl, Night Raven, skritcheth, hooteth, wo-woeth.

The Turtle cryeth tu, tu, mourneth.

The Yellow-hammer cryeth zi, zi.

The Sea Swallow scrapeth.

The Lapwing cries Cee-wit.

The Pheasant crieth jacu, jacu.

Birds how termed when many are together:

A Herd of Swans, Curlews, and Cranes.

A Broud of Cocks and Hens, and a Peep or Flap of Chickens.

A Py of Pheasants.

An Exalting of Larks.

A relatching of Nightingales.
 A Soye, or Safe of Ducks and Mallards, or a Team of Ducks.
 A Chern of Gold-finches.
 A Buster of Peacocks.
 A Clattering of Choughes.
 A Beaby of Quails.
 A Flight of Doves, and Stares.
 A flock of small Birds; or a disimulation of Birds.
 A Shegh of Herons.
 A Seigh of Bitters.
 A flock, or Gaggie of Geese.
 A Cove of Partridges, is 3 or more, 2 is a Brace.
 A Spring of Teals.
 A Desart of Lapwings and Plover.
 A fall of Wood-cocks.
 An Eirey of Hawks, or a Cast of Hawks; 2 a lease of Hawks, and three a staff of Hawks.
 A Pack of Grouse, or Heath-cocks.
 A Swearm of Bees, Wasps, and such like Insects.

The Feeding of several sorts of birds:

The Lapwing, or Plover, on Horse-dung, or Cow-The Gnat-Snapper, on Figs. (thorn).
 The Cole-mouse, Titty-mouse, the Hooper, on Bees.
 The Robin Red-breast, and Swallow, on Flys.
 The Sparrow, on Worms and Corn.
 The Wood-pecker, on picking of Trees, and pulling out thence little Worms, lurking in them.
 The Thrush and Feldfare, on Juniper and Hay berries.
 The Nightingale, Tit-mous, Chaffinch, Gold finch, and Linnet, on Poppy, Flax, and Thistle seeds.
 The Duck and Mallard, on Chick-weed, Frogs and Toads, Oats.
 The Goose, on Grass and Herbs.
 The Cock, Hen, Turkey, and Pea-cock, on all sorts of Corn.
 The Vulture and Raven, on raw Flesh, or Carrion.
 The Hawks of all kinds, on small Birds, and what they can by way of Preying take.
 The Water Fowl, on Fish and Water Insects.
 The Stork, Crane, and Heron, on Snigs and Eels.
 The Cormorant, on all sorts of small Fish.

Several sorts of Poultry, how called according to their Age.

A Cock, first a Peep, then a Chicken, then a Poot, then a Cockrel, then a Crowing Cock; and if his Comb and Wattles be cut off, and Scile Tail trimmed, then a fighting Cock; if the Cock have his Testicles cut away, then he is a Capon.
 A Hen, a Chick, then a Chicken, then a Pullet, then a Pullen, then a young Hen, then a laying Hen.
 A Duck or Mallard; first a dig Bird, then a Duckling, then a Duck.
 A Goose, first a Gazeling, then a Green-Goose, then a Stubble-Goose, then a Goose.
 A Partridge, first a Peckle-Head, then a Chicken-Tail; then a 1, 2, 3, and 4 Feather, then a round set; then an old Partridge.

Nestlings, are all sorts of young Birds, not yet parted with their Nests.

Branchers, young Birds which when they forsake their Nest, begin to fly from branch to branch.

Fledged Birds, ripe Birds that are able to fly any where, and provide themselves.

Terms of Art used by Naturalists in their description of Birds, explained.

7. A Niary, or Aviary, the place in which many Birds are kept together.

Aperture of the Mouth, is the open of the Mouth.

Ambit, or circle of the Eye-lid.

Arccuate Bill, is an arched, or bending Bill.

Alternately placed, that is when cross Bars in Feathers, or Wings, succeed on the other, as first white, then black, then white, &c.

Appendices, are any little things, which as extravagants in Nature hang by any part of the Body, Dependences, Additions.

Azure colour, a pure blue, or sky-colour.

Aquileous colour, the colour of Water, blackish, or dusky.

Anomalous bird, such a Bird as is not like another Inequality in Birds.

Asperities, things that are rough, rugged, or hard and uneven.

Birds of passage: See Passage.

Branchers, are Birds newly forsaking their Nest, and begin to fly from branch to branch.

Baccivorous Birds, are such as eat or devour Berries, and small Fruit.

Crust, or Case of Grasshoppers Eggs.

Couvie, to sit as Hens do.

Cyaneous, a bright blue, an azure colour, sky colour.

Cereous, a wax colour.

Croceous, a saffron yellow.

Castaneous, chestnut colour.

Ceruleous, a bluish colour, or between blue and green.

Corrugated, wrinkled or furrowed.

Concoct solid Meat, digest strong feeding.

Carnivorous Birds, such as feed on flesh, flesh-eaters.

Contiguous Bird, a Bird that is very near, or like to another.

Canorous Bird, that Whistles, or Sings; a singing Bird.

Cartilage, or Membrane, or skin in Ducks, or Geese-Feet, which joyns the Fore-toes.

Callous Leggs, having no scales, without scally Leggs.

Cartilaginous, of a gristly substance, full of Gristles.

Crampy

Cranny billed, a Bill channelled, or with furrows in it.

Convolutions, a flying together; also a wrapping, or winding, or compassing about.

Carneous colour, a flesh colour, fleshy.

Coaster, a Keeper of a Decoy, or place to catch wild Fowl.

Callous, a kind of hard brawny flesh, or hardness of the Skin.

Collision of the Beak, is the knocking or dashing of the upper and lower parts of the Bill together.

Contusion, a bruising, or grinding of the Grain in the Gizzard, or Stomach of Birds.

Comate, born or brought forth together, are of the like Age, and standing.

Capillaments, a kind of Down at the ends of the Feathers of young Birds, on their Heads.

Caruncles, or knotty pieces of flesh, hanging about the heads of some Birds, and Fowl.

Dilated Wings, the Wings spread a-broad.

Dilute colour, a colour more whitish than the colour before mentioned, as the Breast cinereous, the Belly more Dilute, the Belly being of the same colour to the Breast, yet more whitish. Dilute, is also often taken for a whitish flesh-colour; or a light pale mixt colour.

Dusky colour, is a colour deep, or more dirty than the colour mentioned before it. As the Head is white, the Back more dusky; that is of a more dirty colour, as if it had a kind of brown, mixt in it.

Divariation of the Leg, the parting of the Leg into Toes; the parting of the Foot.

Dapled, spotted.

Decoy, vulgarly called a Cuyp, a place made to take wild Fowl in.

Diurnal Birds, Birds that fly in the Day to catch their Prey.

Disseminated, thick set with spots; or set here and there.

Decorticate, hull or peel Seeds, as Birds do that that they may feed on the inner part, or pulp of the seed only.

Delayed, as a delayed chestnut-colour.

Exterior part, any part taken to be the out-side, or the out-most part of a thing: See Interior.

Extremities of Feathers, the top, or out-most end of Feathers.

Ereterate, to Gut, or take out the Intrals, or Guts.

Elliptical, arched, bended, crooked; or bending crooked.

Equivocal, one part answerable to another.

Excavated, or made hollow, as in Bills, and Claws; which are generally so.

Effete, Birds that are past Bearing, or laying of Eggs.

Exotic Birds, such as are brought out of a strange Country.

Embryon Birds, are young Birds, before they have received their perfect shape in the Egg.

Exclusion, promote Exclusion, that hastens the Hatching of Eggs; forces a shutting out.

Fulvous colour, a Bay colour, or reddish ash-colour; a Lion, Tawny, or Fox-colour.

Fesille-Port, a dusky, or dirty yellow.

Ferrugineous, of the colour of rusty Iron, black and blue colour.

Frugivorous Birds, are Birds that eat and feed upon Fruit.

Florid, garnished or adorned, beautified with shining Feathers.

Fuliginous colour, a foot-colour, a black brown.

Fledged, or ripe Birds, ready to fly.

Fluid Excrements, the Dung of Birds being liquid and soft.

Flavus, or Flavus, a bright yellow.

Fuscus, a dusky dark brown.

Filipedes, cloven-footed.

Finn-footed, that have Membranes each side their Toes like Fish-Fins.

Gregarious Birds, such as Love to fly in Flocks, and Companies.

Genuine, a right kind, or off-spring, such as proceed not by Adulteration, or mingling of contrary Species, or Kinds.

Granivorous Birds, such as feed on Seeds and Corn.

Granulated, made into small or little Grains.

Glandules: See Papillary-Glandules.

Glaucous, Grey, sky-colour.

Perl of a Pea-cocks Tail, the open or loose vane, or Filaments, on the quill-shaft.

Peronries, places where Herons make their Nests, and Breed.

Herbivorous Birds, such as Feed on Herbs, and Greens.

Interior, the inner-side, that part of the Wing, or Feather that lyeth next to the Body: As the Interior Wing Feathers, are those quill-feathers next the Body; the Exterior Wing feathers, those more outward at the first joint of the pinion of the Wing: the Interior vane of the first quill-feather, is the inner vane or web of the shaft, which lyeth under the second quill feather; the exterior vane, is the out-most vane of the shaft, to fight.

Insects, are all sorts of Flys and Worms, which Birds feed upon.

Igneous colour, is a fire-colour, or Gold-colour.

Inferend: See Subventaneous.

Indocile Bird, such as are incapable of teaching, or of so wild and furious a nature, as will not receive discipline, or be tamed.

Insectivorous Birds, such as feed on Flys, Worms, Beetles, and such like.

Incisures, the Marks or Impressions in the Legs and Toes of Birds, which makes them look scaly; the cutting of the scales.

Laternal borders of the Wing, the side borders, or edges of the Wing Feathers.

Libidinous, lustful, full of Spirit, time of treading.

Loquacious Birds, ratling, prating Birds.

Livous, Livid-colour, black and blue colour.

Luteous, yellow like the yolk of an Egg.

Moulting, loosing their Feathers; Moulting time, is that season of the year, when Birds cast their Feathers, and receive new ones.

Multiparous Birds, such as are great breeders, and lay many Eggs, and sit often in a year.

Erinaceous colour, a scarlet, or vermillion colour.

Excitation, a chewing, or grinding of Meat.

Fulgidous, much jagged, having many flits, or crevices.

Gaducifers, Birds that suck and dabble in muddy waters.

Garnageous, a Marble colour, a black blue.

Geb, is the end, or point of the Birds bill; some take it for the whole Bill, some for the top Bill.

Nestlings, young Birds in the Nest.

Nocturnal Birds, such as fly about in the Night, to seek their Prey.

Nictation, is the winking of a Bird, by covering his Eye with a thin skin, or membrane.

Oblong Nostrils, Nostrils which have long holes.

Ovaria, the Egg-cluster in a Hen; a lump of seed-Eggs.

Outer-Toe, is that as stands on the outermost side of the Foot in both Feet.

Ocular Experience, the Learning or Knowing of a thing by the sight of the Eye, and not by hear-say.

Oviparous Bird, such as bring forth Eggs, a She, a female, that produceth her young ones by Eggs.

Passage Birds, or Birds of Passage, are such as stay with us in the Summer, and go away in the Winter; or that are with us in the Winter, and are gone in Summer.

Pulveratricious, an earthly kind of colour, mouse-colour.

Pellucid, thin and clear, that as may be seen through;

Pellucid Membrane, a skin that is clear seen through.

Panicles, thin skins.

Prominent, longer than another; reaching further, or over the thing next to it.

Prono, the nether side of the Body; as the Head prone to the Belly, the Head stooping or turning to the Belly.

Papillary Glandules, swellings, or carnels in the flesh.

Puriceous, a crimson, or blush-colour.

Pavonine, Peacock colour, or Peacock like.

Pavonaceous, Pea-cock colour, a shining bluish green.

Piscivorous Birds, such as eat, and feed upon Fish.

Prolific, the lengthening, or making of things long.

Plumbeous colour, of the colour of Lead, bluish.

Pallidous, pale, wan, whitish.

Phoeniceous, crimson, or scarlet-colour.

Puriceous, red, or pomegranate colour.

Palmipede, that hath a flat broad foot, like an hand, Goose-footed.

Phytivorous Birds, such as feed on Herbs, and Vegetables.

Pulveratriceous, covered with a dusty colour.

Postica, the postern, or vent-hole of a Fowl.

Processus, a Possess, proceeding, or passage through Birds.

Rapacious Birds, Ravinous, devouring Birds.

Respiration, a breathing too and again.

Remiges, the flying of Birds in the Air; Birds able to fly abroad.

Rigid, rough uneven: lying at a distance.

Ruteleous, bright Gold colour.

Rutileous, bright as Gold.

Roseous, Rose, or Carnation colour.

Spurious kind, a bastard kind, begotten of contrary Birds of other Species; degenerate, degenerated.

Species, all things, as Birds, Beasts, of the like kind.

Spadiceous colour, of a chestnut-colour; some dusky.

Salacious, venerious; lustful, given to Lechery.

Scapular feathers, are such as grow on, or cover the Shoulders.

Serrate billed, the edges of the Bill, toothed like a Saw.

Spontaneous, willingly, voluntary, of its own accord.

Stupified: See Torpid.

Spiral Beak, that hath a Bill thick at the head, and grows smaller and smaller by degrees, to the tip end.

Simous Beak, that hath a flat bill; not round, or triangular.

Subventaneous Eggs, such as the Hen brings forth without the Treading of the Cock: Infecund Eggs, Barren or unfruitful Eggs.

Tunicle, or thick skin, that covers the Eye in Nictation, or winking.

Tessaceous colour, a reddish brown, or earthly colour like clay, or brick.

Torpid, un-active, lyes dead, stupified.

Tegument, a covering.

Transverse lines, over cross lines in a Feather, or Wing of any other colour.

Torose, mighty and strong in the Legs or Arms.

Terra-vert colour, a kind of a dusky green; it is an earthy Clay Painters use.

Vinaceous colour, the colour of the Seeds or Kernels in Grapes, an olive-colour, or pale green.

Vermivorous Bird, such as lived and feed on Worms.

Voracious Bird, a greedy devouring Bird.

Viviparous Animal, such as bring forth their young alive; it is opposite to Oviparus, that brings forth Eggs.

Villose shafts, or quills, are quills set with downy threads instead of Feathers.

Amber colour, it is a kind of Earth which Painters use, of a Mouse, or hair-colour.

Cermilion colour, a pure red, or scarlet.

Urvacious Bird, such as are of long Life; lively Birds.

Velocity, swiftness, nimbleness, activity.

Viridis, virideous, green-colour.

There are several other Terms, which I have mentioned in other places, concerning the Art of Falconry; and therefore have omitted them here.

Terms of Blazon contained in these three Chapters of Birds, or Fowl, with the Chapter, Number, and Section, in which they are Explained.

- A.
Armed, II 87 16 21 53
Armed, II 43 51 * 19
- B.
Beaked, II 16 21 43 53 87.
- C.
Comjoined, II 3 7
Clbs, II 12 14
Complicated, II 12 14 and 12 82
Colling, Colliveth, II 15
Crested, II 87
Cut, Cloven, 13 61
Co-mulant, 13 59
- D.
Displayed, II 9 43 51 38 26
Disclosed, II 24 35 28 31 41 29
Disclosed Elevated, II 24
Displayed fore-shortned, II 44 45 46
Descendant, II 47 48
Degenerate, 18 85
Displayed recurfant, or Tergiant, 18 95.
- E.
Elevated, II 3 4 31 24
Expanded, II 4 28 30 31 34 35
Expended, II 28
Expended inverted, II 30
Expended elevated, II 31
Expended cr. ss. ways, II 31 & 18 III
Erasing, 12 18 10
Endorsed, 13 61
Endorsed regardant, 13 60
Erected, 13 61 Expanded, II 28.
- F.
Foreshortned, II 13 44 45 46
Flotant, II 21 and 12 77
Flying aloft, II 38 Feeding, II 49
- G.
Gaze, II 13 43
Gaze Displayed, II 43
- H.
Hovering, II 21
- I.
Inverted, Invertant, II 3 17 22 30
Imbored, II 12
In Majesty, II 18
Inverted displayed, II 26
Jessant, 12 18
Jelloped, II 87.
- K.
Kerved, II 90.
- L.
Lolling, II 49.
- M.
Memmbred, II 16 53
Majestie, II 18
Mantleing, II 25
- O.
Overt, II 21
Overture, II 21 39 26 42 & 15
Overture elevated, II 21 24
- P.
Pendant, II 2 3
Pruning, II 32 33
- Q.
Quarterly, quartered, II 19
Quise, a la Quise, II 6
- R.
Rousant, II 23 27
Rising, II 23
Recurfant, II 17 22 39
- S.
Recurfant Overture, II 26
Regardant, II 32 33 and 13 60
Recurfant volant Overture, II 42
Recurfant volant, II 48
Recurfant displayed, 18 95
Recurfant Tergiant, ibid.
- Spectant, II 13
Sejant, II 20
Seated, ibid.
Surgiant, II 23 52 and 18 86
Sepulture, II 28 35 40 54
Sepulture disclosed, II 29
Scoarant, Scoaring, II 38
Seazing, II 49
Stouping, II 50
Spread, II 53
Sarcelled, 13 61.
- T.
Tergant, II 26
Tergiant, II 22 37
Tergiant Volant, II 37
Trussed, II 12
Trian-asselt, II 19
Three quartered, II 19
Tergiant Surgant, 18 86
- V.
Volant, II 11 21 24 37 48
Volant Expended, II 34
Volant Sepulture, II 34
Volant Sepulture Disclosed, II 35
Volant Overture, II 36 41 & 12 15
Volant in Fesse, II 37 42 & 12 15
Volant Tergiant Overture, II 37
Volant in bend, II 38 39
Volant displayed, II 38
Volant descendant, II 47 48.
- W.
Wattled, II 87.
- Y.
Yelloped, II 87.

For the Readers better Ease, and his more Ready finding the Birds he desires to see, or read of it; I have Annexed the Names of all the Birds, and Fowl; which are mentioned in these three last Chapters, Alphabetically: The first Figure shews the Chapter, the second the Number, in the Plate, in which the Bird is described, the Section, by an s.

THE several Postures of Birds, chap. 11. numb. 1. to 53.
 Observations in Birds of Prey, 11. s 2.
 Several sorts of Eagles, 11. s 2.
 Names of all kinds of Hawks, chap. 11. numb. 55, 57, 62. s 3.
 Names of Male-Hawks from Female, 11. s 3.
 Names of Hawks, and other Fowl according to their Age, 11. 62. s 3.
 Names or Terms given to each part of a Hawk, chap. 11. sect. 3.
 Diseases incident to Hawks, ibid.
 Terms of Art used in Falconry, ibid.
 Things useful and belonging to Hawks, ibid.
 Terms used by Cock-Masters about fighting their Cocks, chap. 11. numb. 89.

Sorts of Parrots, chap. 12. numb. 86.
 Signification of Birds used in Armory, chap. 13. numb. 81. sect. 3.
 Names of all the parts of a Bird in general, chap. 13. sect. 4.
 Remarkable things in Birds, ibid.
 The Division of Birds as to Earth and Water, chap. 13. sect. 5.
 Voices of Birds, ibid.
 How termed when many are together, ibid.
 Feeding for several sorts of Birds, ibid.
 Birds and Poultry, how called according to their Age, ibid.
 Terms of Art used in the Description of Birds, chap. 13. sect. 6.
 Terms of Blazon used about Birds, ibid.

A.

Alp, 11 64
 Andorad bird, 11 70
 American Bulfinch, 11 71
 Anthus, 11 71
 American chat, 11 71
 Annet, 11 80 81
 American Swallow, 11 82
 African Cock, 12 3
 American Starke, 12 8
 Acacalot, 12 12
 Acocetta, 12 13
 Ardea, 12 14
 Alb colour Heron, 12 14
 Alcion, 12 18
 Alb-Mew, 12 19
 Aluco, 12 29
 American Owl, 12 29
 Alu, 12 30
 African Ostridge, 12 39

American Ostridge, 12 39
 American Wood-picker, 12 69
 Ash colour Vulture, 12 74
 Arieto-basilauquil, 12 83
 Aroponade, 12 84
 Asnocrotalus, 12 85
 Asse-bitterne, 12 85
 Araracanga, 12 86
 Ararauna, 12 86
 Arara, 12 86
 Amura-curica, 12 86
 Ash colour Parrott, 12 86
 Ajurucatinga, 12 86
 Ajuru-Pata, 12 86
 Anaca, 12 86
 Ajuru-curuca, 12 86
 Ajuru-curan, 12 87
 Aura, 13 1
 Alpine Vulture, 13 3
 Ani, 13 8
 Attegen, 13 21
 Atinga-guacu-mucu, 13 25
 American Diver, 13 28

Agna-Pecaca, 13 31
 Avis Pugnax, 13 39
 Arssfoot, 13 42
 Albell, 13 44
 Anhinga, 13 47
 Auke, 13 48
 Anas Arctica, 13 48
 Anas Fuligula, 13 49
 Anas Querquedula, 13 49
 American Water-hen, 13 55
 Asilus, 13 58 s 2
 Aratica, ibid.
 Aratara-taguacu, ibid.
 Artenna, 13 s 2
 Acitili, ibid.
 Affrican Duck, ibid.
 Anhima, 13 31
 Alka, 13 48
 Allerion, 11 86
 Amphisiben Cockatrice, or Wrover, 12 76.

B

Black Eagle, 11 54
 Brail Eagle, ibidem
 Bald Buzzard, ibid.
 Brail Hawk, ibid.
 Bunch Bird, ibid.
 Bird, 11 63 71
 Black Fly, 11 63 71
 Bunting, 11 63 71
 Bullfinch, 11 64 71
 Bramble, 11 64
 Brambling, ibid.
 Black Cap, 11 65 and 12 19
 Blue Titmouse, 11 65
 Brail Titmouse, ibid.
 Broad Tail Dove, 11 86
 Barbados Turtle, ibid.
 Black Game, 11 69
 Brail Ouzel, 11 72
 Brail Merganser, 11 80
 Black Martin, 11 82
 Bastard Plover, 11 100
 Brail Pheasant, 11 102
 Bird of Paradise, 12 2 & 13 4 53
 Black Stork, 12 8
 Black Heron, 12 14
 Brail Heron, 12 14 16 & 13 36
 Bee-Eater, 12 18
 Brown Tern, ibid.
 Barrough Duck, 12 20
 Brander, ibid.
 Black Duck, 12 20
 Bittern, 12 24 25 65
 Brail Spoonbill, 12 26
 Brail Sea Pigeon, 12 28
 Brail Owl, 12 29
 Barne Owl, ibid.
 Brail Eagle Owl, 12 30
 Batt, 12 32
 Bohemian Chatterer, 12 46 67
 Brail Wood-Picker, 12 46 & 13 14
 Brail Kingfisher, 12 46
 Brail Wild Duck, 12 47 and 13 50
 Brail Teal, 12 47
 Baraacle, 12 48
 Brook Ousell, 12 49
 Brail Water Hen, 12 49 and 13 31
 Brent Goose, 12 50
 Bastard Eagle, 12 51 and 18 85
 Bittern, 12 52
 Bitton, ibid.
 Botaurus, ibid.
 Butorius, ibid.
 Brail Coco, 12 53
 Bustard, 12 59 and 18 86
 Bistard, 12 59
 Brome Hen, 12 60
 Bilcock, 12 49

Brail Partridge, 12 66
 Black Vulture, 12 74
 Basilick, 12 75 76
 Batic Vulture, 13 3
 Brail Goat Sucker, 13 6
 Blew Crow, 13 13
 Brail Cryer, 13 16
 Balearic Crane, 13 33
 Bon killed Heron, 13 35
 Brail Diver, 13 47
 Battle-Nose, 13 48
 Barbalot, ibid.
 Bologna Dove, 13 38 s 2
 Brail Sparrow, ibid.
 Brail Gull, ibid.
 Brantvogell, ibid.
 Black Cap, 11 70
 Bramlin, 11 64
 Bockbean, 12 83.

C.

Crested Eagle, 11 54
 Coracara, 11 57
 Canary bird, 11 63 64
 Chaffinch, 11 64
 Citrill, ibid.
 Citrinella, ibid.
 Cole Mouse, 11 65
 Cropper-Dove, 11 66
 Carrier Pigeon, ibid.
 Casser Pigeon, ibid.
 Cap-headed Pigeon, ibid.
 Coribeeck Pigeon, ibid.
 Crested Wren, 11 70
 Crowned Wren, ibid.
 Cirrus, 11 71 and 13 58 s 2
 Coldfinch, 11 71
 Colfinch, ibid.
 Cornish Chough, 11 73
 Chough, 11 73 and 13 60
 Crow, 11 73 74 and 13 13 60
 Collared Jack dam, 11 73
 Cock, 11 87 88 89 93
 Capon, 11 90
 Chicken, 11 91 92
 Caladre, 12 1
 Caladrus, 12 31
 Chalcelet, 12 1
 Crested Bird of Paradise, 12 2
 Crane, 12 11 and 13 33
 Curicaca, 12 12
 Crex, ibid.
 Cirris, 12 14 and 13 14
 Cormorant, 12 17
 Coddie-Moddy, 12 19
 Cornish Gannet, 12 19 and 13 71
 Cataracta, 12 19
 Cornish Wagell, ibid.
 Cepphur, ibid.
 Craher, 12 20

Crested Indian Bittern, 12 24
 Church Owl, 12 29
 Cabure, 12 29
 Caladris, 12 31 71
 Calandra, 12 1 31 and 13 58 12
 Chaladrius, 12 31
 Crested Lark, 12 46
 Crested Titmouse, ibid.
 Coped Titmouse, ibid.
 Cootie, or Cote, 12 49
 Canada Goose, 12 50
 Curlew, 12 53 12
 Carlot, 12 55
 Cocoe, 12 58 55
 Cuckoo, 12 58
 Cross-bill, 12 63
 Crooked bill, ibid.
 Crooked Nose, ibid.
 Crested Wood-pecker, 12 68
 Creeper, 12 69
 Chloerus, 12 70
 Canut, 12 71
 Cockatrice, 12 75 76
 Cockatoo, 12 86
 Caprimulgus, 13 6
 Curucui, ibid.
 Crested Parrot, 13 8
 Cuculate Swan, 13 19
 Curle Head Diver, 13 28 32
 China Ostrich, 13 33
 Carriama, 13 33 37
 Cocoi, 13 36
 Crested Diver, 13 40
 Curled Diver, 13 43
 Canly Sea Diver, 13 48
 Coulterneb, ibid.
 Crested Fen Duck, 13 49
 Capo-Negro, ibid.
 Caribbee Sea-bird, 13 52
 Caryo-cotactes, 13 58 s 2
 Curiri, ibid.
 Cirrus Stultus, ibid.
 Cia, ibid.
 Cia Seluatica, ibid.
 Cia Montana, ibid.
 Cirlo-Matto, ibid.
 Coped Water-Hen, ibid.
 Corriira, ibid.
 Courier, ibid.
 Coped Douker, ibid.
 Crested Douker, ibid.
 Clowen foot-gull, ibid.
 Crested red head Duck, ibid.
 Cairo Duck, ibid.
 Crested Falcon, 11 56
 Curmillet, 12 71
 Chatterer, 12 46
 Chat, 11 71
 Cryer, 13 16.

D.

Dove, 11 64 66 67 13 48 58 59
 Drake, 12 20
 Duck 12 20 21 and 13 48 49 50 51 52
 Damascus Partridge, 12 45 66
 Daker Hen, 12 61
 Dotrel, 12 71
 Dunlin, ibid.
 Dragon-Serpent, 12 79
 Dragon-Wolvern, ibid.
 Dodo, 13 19
 Dronte, ibid.
 Diver, 13 28 42
 Diver, 13 28 40 43 44 47 48 and 12 20
 Douker, 13 40 42 58 59
 Dipper, 13 42
 Dohick, ibid.
 Don Driver, 13 43
 Dalmatic Sparrow, 13 58 s 2
 Diomedean Bird, ibid.
 Duck-Goose, ibid.
 Disfigured Eagle, 12 1
 Degenerated Eagle, 18 85
 Dove, 11 73.

E.

Eagle, 11 1 to 54 and 12 1
 Eider, 12 20
 Ewe, 12 23
 Emy, ibid.
 Eared Owl, 12 30
 Eagle Owl, ibid.
 Erythropus, 12 71
 Eared Eagle, 13 62.

F.

Falcon, 11 55 56 59 60 62
 Falcon gentle, 11 56
 French Pie, 11 57
 Flusher, ibid.
 Finch, 11 63 64 71
 Fallow Smich, 11 71
 Fig-Eater, ibid.
 Fullick, Fullice, 11 73
 Fisherlin, 11 82
 Fighting Cock, 11 89
 Frisland Cock, 11 93
 Fryled Cock, ibid.
 Fasant, 11 102
 Falsinellus, 12 12
 Flutter-Mouse, 12 32
 Feldfare, 12 73
 Francolino, 13 21
 Fludder, 13 42
 Fearn Owl, 13 6
 Fratercula, 13 48
 Foot-leaf bird, 13 53
 Forked Tail Sparrow, 13 58 s 2
 Flammant, ibid.

Florus, 11 71
 Ferroyer Duck, 12 20
 Fen-Duck, 13 49
 Grey Falcon, 11 56
 Golden Eagle, 11 54
 Gersfalcon, 11 55 56
 Gamshawk, 11 57
 Glead, ibid.
 Grey Pie, ibid.
 Goldfinch, 11 63 71
 Greenfinch, 11 63 64
 Green Linnet, 11 64
 Grassbeak, ibid.
 Great Blamlin, ibid.
 Guira-jenoia, 11 65
 Groms, 11 69
 Golden Crowned Wren, 11 70
 Gimpell, ibid.
 Gid, 11 77
 Gua-rauna, ibid.
 God-mit, ibid.
 Giarola, 11 78
 Golden Wagtail, 11 81
 Grey Wagtail, ibid.
 Gripe, 12 1
 Greefe, ibid.
 Guiny Cock, 12 3
 Guara, 12 12
 Garzetta, 12 14
 Graculus Palmipes, 12 17
 Green Merops, 12 18
 Gull, 12 19 and 13 58 s 2
 Great Gull, 12 19
 Grey Gull, ibid.
 Gadwall, 12 20
 Gray, ibid.
 Glancium, ibid.
 Golden Eye, ibid.
 Grey Owl, 12 29
 Goat Sucker, 12 29 and 13 5 6
 Great Horned Owl, 12 30
 Gorceck, 12 45
 Garrulus, 12 46
 Garganey, 12 47
 Goose-Arborie, 12 48
 Gander, 12 50
 Goose, 12 48 50
 Grinetta, 12 49
 Gambo Goose, 12 50 and 13 31
 Gypa-etus, 12 51
 Gouke, 12 58
 Gucker, ibid.
 Grigel Hen, 12 60
 Guira-tan-eima, 12 69
 Galbula, 12 70
 Gout-Merle, ibid.
 Golden Ousel, ibid.
 Guira-punga, ibid.
 Green Plover, 12 73
 Grey Plover, ibid.
 Glottis, ibid.

Gallinula, ibid.
 Gambetta, ibid.
 Giarola, ibid.
 Golden Vulture, 12 74
 Gypactos Vulture, 13 3
 Gods bird, 13 4
 Guira-quera, 13 6
 Guira-acanga-tara, 13 16
 Guira-guat-nombi, 13 17
 Gallus Peregrinus, 13 19
 Guajnumbi, 13 27 58
 Gooander, 13 43
 Golden Head, 13 48
 Grillem, ibid.
 Guillemot, ibid.
 Greenland Dove, ibid.
 Grisola, 13 58 s 2
 Glareana, ibid.
 Grien-Vogelin, ibid.
 Guaimini-bique, ibid.
 Gonmbuch, ibid.
 Garvamboch, ibid.
 Guara-cyaba, ibid.
 Guara-cigaba, ibid.
 Guira-guacu-beraba, ibid.
 Guira-cocereba, ibid.
 Guiram-Heemgatu, ibid.
 Guira-Perea, ibid.
 Garden Frequenter, ibid.
 Gallinulla Ochra, ibid.
 Guacu-guacu, ibid.
 Garvotta, ibid.
 Guiny Duck, ibid.
 Gannet, 12 19 and 13 71
 Goat-cock, 12 83
 Goat-Eagle, ibid.

H.

Haggard Falcon, 11 56
 Hawk, 11 57
 Honey Buzzard, ibid.
 Henharrier, ibid.
 Henharrom, ibid.
 Himgrill, 11 64
 Helmet Pigeon, 11 66
 Horseman Pigeon, ibid.
 Heath-cock, 11 69
 Heath Hen, ibid.
 Hedge Sparrow, 11 71
 Hortulane, 11 71 and 13 58 s 2
 Hen, 11 91 92 and 13 18
 Hoopo, 11 99
 Hematopus, 12 11 71
 Heron, 12 14 15 16 and 13 34 35
 Heronshaw, 12 14
 Halcion, 12 18
 Huge Sea gull, 12 19
 Herring Gull, ibid.
 Havelda, 12 20 & 13 56
 Hullart, 12 29
 Howlet, ibid.
 Horned Owl, 12 30

Hare bird, 12 45
 Hare-foot bird, ibid.
 High-hoe, 12 69
 Hemhole, ibid.
 Hickwall, ibid.
 Hang nest, ibid.
 Hare Vulture, 12 74
 Harpey, 12 77 78 82
 Hippomanu-codiata, 13 4
 Horned Raven, 13 9 10 11
 Hooded Swan, 13 19
 Hassel Hen, 13 21
 Humming bird, 13 27 s 2
 Hern-bittour, 13 38
 Horned Doucker, 13 40
 Harle, 13 43
 Helegug, 13 48
 Horned bird, 13 s 2
 Heron, 12 53 54
 Hirundo, 11 82
 Hercynie Bird, 13 s 2

I.

Indian Falcon, 11 56
 Jack Merlin, 11 57
 Jacobine Pigeon, 11 66 68
 Indian Turtle Dove, 11 66
 Jack Daw, 11 73
 Jack Snipe, 11 77
 Jua-cock, ibid.
 Indian Quail, 11 78 and 13 20
 Jamacaij, 11 81
 Jacufema, 11 102
 Ibis, 12 10
 Indian Grean, 12 11
 Indian Curlew, 12 12
 Ipeca-guacu, 12 20
 Island Duck, ibid.
 Indian Bittern, 12 25 65
 Ivy-Owl, 12 29
 Ibijsan, 12 29 and 13 6
 Jacurutu, 12 30
 Ipecu, 12 46 and 13 15
 Iaguacati-guacu, ibid.
 Iambu, 12 66
 Iacana, 12 49
 Italian Rail, ibid.
 Iacamaciri, 12 69
 Jupu-juba, ibid.
 Jupu, ibid.
 Icterus, 12 70
 Junco, 12 71
 Jendaya, 12 86
 Indian Apos, 13 4 53
 Indian Raven, 13 12 58
 Jay, 13 13
 Iracari, 13 14
 Indian Cock, 13 18
 Indian Hen, ibid.
 Indian Stare, 13 23
 Inyx, 13 27
 Iabiru, 13 29
 Iabiru-guacu, 13 30

Iposati-apoa, 13 50
 Indian footless Bird, 13 53
 Jacapani, 13 s 2
 Indian long Tail Sparrow, ibid.
 Indian Rumpless Sparrow, ibid.
 Junco, ibid.
 Indian Duck, ibid.
 Juba, 12 86.

K.

Kestral, 11 57
 Kite, ibid.
 Kalader, 12 1 131
 King of Birds of Paradise, 12 2 & 13 53
 Kings Fisher, 12 18 46
 King Bee-Eater, 12 18
 Kernel, 12 47
 Knot, 12 71
 Kiddaw, 13 48.

L

Lanner, 11 57
 Leonard, ibid.
 Ligurine, 11 64
 Lark heel Mountain fynch, ibid.
 Linnet, 11 64 65
 Long tail Tit-mouse, 11 65
 Lark, 11 71 and 12 46 71
 Lapwing, 11 100
 Lever, 12 26
 Lich Owl, 12 30
 Lich Fowl, ibid.
 Lagopus, 12 45
 Land Rail, 12 61
 Loxia, 12 63
 Loon, 13 40 42
 Lumme, 13 42
 Lough Diver, 13 44
 Lomwia, 13 48
 Luvia, 13 s 2
 Luteola, ibid.
 Long tail Sparrow, ibid.
 Libic Duck, ibid.
 Laubhen, 12 60.

M.

Morphno Eagle, 11 54
 Mountain Falcon, 11 56
 Merlin, 11 57
 More Buzzard, ibid.
 Murthring Pie, ibid.
 Mountain Finch, 11 64
 Marsh Tit-mouse, 11 65
 Mop, ibid.
 Mountain Linnet, ibid.
 Mawmet Pigeon, 11 66
 More-cock, 11 69 and 12 45
 Mountain Cock, 11 69 94
 Mountain Hen, 11 69
 Moor Titling, 11 71
 Mag-pie, 11 80

Martin, 11 82
 Martinet, ibid.
 Martlet, 11 85 86
 Magnari, 12 8
 Matutu, 12 12
 Merops, 12 18
 Men, 12 19
 Mall, ibid.
 Meb, ibid.
 Mire Crow, ibid.
 Mallard, 12 20
 Mitelenen, ibid.
 Muggent, ibid.
 Morillon, ibid.
 Mexican Spoon-bill, 12 26
 Marica, 12 47
 More-Hen, 12 49
 Mire Drum, 12 52
 Mat-kern, 12 71
 Missel-bird, 12 73
 Marvia, ibid.
 Maccans, 12 86
 Macaos, ibid.
 Mara cana, ibid.
 Mina Parrot, ibid.
 Menscheneter, 13 1
 Mountain Vulture, 13 3
 Manu-codiata, 13 4
 Mitu. Mutu, 13 7
 Mitu-paranga, 13 18
 Matutui, 13 24
 Mergus Carratus, 13 28
 Mergus, 13 28 43
 Merganser, 13 43
 Magellanic Goose, 13 45
 Murre, 13 48
 Mullet, ibid.
 Muscovy Duck, 13 51 s 2
 Mock bird, 13 s 2
 Macu-cagua, ibid.
 Mouche Rolle, ibid.
 Musquit Sparrow, ibid.
 Musquit Wren, ibid.
 Mitered Water Hen, ibid.
 Manks Puffin, ibid.
 Majague, ibid.
 Maxican Duck, ibid.
 Megvogel, ibid.

N.

Nope, 11 64
 Nut-cracker, ibid.
 Nun, 11 65 and 13 44
 Nicticorax, 11 101
 Night Raven, ibid.
 Noctua, 12 29
 Nightingale, 12 64 and 13 22
 Nachtgall, 12 64
 Nut-jobber, 12 69
 Nut-hatch, ibid.
 Noitibo, 13 5
 Negro, 13 29
 Northern Doucker, 13 42

Nor:

Northern Duck, 13 48

O.

Osprey, 11 54
 Ostrage, 11 54 and 12 1
 Ouzel, Ouzell, 11 63 72 & 12 46
 Ox-Eye, 11 65 and 12 69
 Oxyotulus, 12 6 26 65 85
 Owl, 12 29 and 13 6
 Otus, 12 30
 Ostridge, Ostritch, 12 39 40
 Orchard-Goose, 12 48
 Oripelargus, 12 51 & 13 3
 Orben, 12 60
 Oriolus, 12 70
 Orissia, 13 27 s 2
 Oenambha congener, 13 s 2
 Ochropus, 13 s 2

P.

Peregr. n. falcon, 11 56
 Puntick, 11 57
 Pigeon, 11 66 and 13 59
 Pheasant, 11 76 102 and 12 20
 Pie, 11 80 and 12 11 27 28
 Pie annet, 11 57 80
 Persian Cock, 11 87
 Pea-Cock, 11 95 96
 Pea-Hen, ibid.
 Pemit, 11 100 and 12 19
 Penguin, 12 7 and 13 45
 Palm-footed Crow, 12 17
 Poker, 12 20
 Pochard, ibid.
 Platea, 12 26
 Phenix, 12 35
 Pellican, 12 36 37 38 65
 Partridge, 12 45 66
 Porphyrio, 12 49
 Purple Water-hen, 12 49
 Pheopus, 12 55
 Pernice, 12 66
 Plover, 12 71
 Pool Snipe, ibid.
 Pardalus, ibid.
 Pfisterlein, ibid.
 Purres, Perres, ibid.
 Pitbon, 12 76
 Parrot, 12 86 and 12 8
 Parakeetoe, ibid.
 Popinae, 12 86
 Paragua, ibid.
 Parrotete, ibid.
 Perknopteros, 13 3
 Papagay, 13 13
 Persian Wood-pecker, 13 14
 Pauxi, 13 18
 Puffin, 13 48 s 2
 Pica Marina, ibid.
 Puffinet, 13 48 Pata, 13 50
 Persian Pit, 13 s 2
 Pitanga-guacu, ibid.
 Purple long tail Sparrow, ibid.

Petronia Marina, 13 s 2
 Phoenix-copter, ibid.
 Passer Musquitus, ibid.
 Pickatree, 12 69.

Q.

Quees, 11 66
 Quies, ibid.
 Quale, 11 78
 Qujuba tui, 12 86.

R.

Ring-tail, 11 57
 Red head Linnet, 11 65
 Runt Pigeon, 11 66
 Russian Dove, ibid.
 Ring-dove, ibid.
 Robin red breast, 11 70
 Robin, ibid.
 Ruddock, ibid.
 Red, or Reed Sparrow, 11 71
 Red st. rt, 11 71 and 12 72
 Ring Ouzell, 11 72
 Rook, 11 73 74 75 and 13 60
 Raven, 11 74 and 12 12 and 13 58
 Royston Crow, 11 74
 Rail, 11 78 and 12 49
 Recurvirostra, 12 13
 Red legged Heron, 12 14
 Red head Wigeon, 12 20
 Red head Duck, ibid.
 Renomouse, 12 32
 Red Game, 12 45
 Red Lagopus, ibid.
 Rose Ouzell, 12 46
 Runner, 12 49
 Rat Goose, 12 50
 Road Goose, ibid.
 Rain Owl, 12 55 69
 Red Partridge, 12 66
 Reed Sparrow, 12 69
 Reed Creeper, ibid.
 Red-shanke, 12 71
 Rotkussel, ibid.
 Rotmillis, ibid.
 Rock Ouzel, 12 72
 Redwing, 12 73
 Ram-basilice, 12 83
 Ram-Eagle-Serpent, ibid.
 Ram-Eagle, 12 84
 Ruffed Vulture, 13 3
 Rhinocerot, 13 9 10 11
 Roller, 13 13
 Rhine Driver, 13 28
 Redshank Heron, 13 34
 Ruff, 13 39
 Reeve, ibid.
 Razor-bill, 13 48
 Rabi-horcado, 13 54
 Rabo-forcado, ibid.
 Rock Dove, 13 s 2
 Rumpless Sparrow, ibid.

Red Head Duck, 13 s 2
 Ring-Parakeet, 12 86
 Ramatrice, 12 83
 Ram-Wevern, 12 8.

S.

Sea-Eagle, 11 54
 Sacre-Falcon, 11 56
 Sparhawk, 11 57 59
 Sparrow-hawk, 11 57
 Stannell, Stanniell, ibid.
 Stone-gall, ibid.
 Shrike, ibid.
 Sparrow, 11 64 and 13 s 2
 Siskin, 11 64
 Serin, ibid.
 Shaker Pigeon, 11 66
 Smiter Pigeon, ibid.
 Stock Dove, ibid.
 Stone Chatter, 11 71
 Stone Smith, ibid.
 Snipe, 11 77 and 12 62 71
 Smitte, 11 77
 Sand Martin, 11 82
 Shore bird, ibid.
 Swift, ibid.
 Sea Swallow, ibid.
 Swallow, 11 82 84
 Spurre, 11 82
 Scray, ibid.
 Sarrat, 12 1
 Sacret, ibid.
 Swan, 12 4 and 13 67 68 69 70
 Swan-Goose, 12 4
 Stork, 12 8 9
 Sea Pie, 12 11 27 28 and 13 s 2
 Sith-bill, 12 12
 Shagg, 12 17
 Soland Goose, ibid.
 Sula, ibid.
 Sea Mem, 12 19
 Sea Mall, ibid.
 Sea Gull, ibid.
 Smarth back, ibid.
 Sea Crow, 12 19 56
 Skua, 12 19 and 13 71
 Spotted Gull, 12 19
 Spotted Sea M-m, ibid.
 Sheldrake, 12 20 and 13 56
 St. Cuthberds Duck, 12 20
 Sea Pheasant, ibid.
 Sharp Tail Duck, ibid.
 Scoter, ibid.
 Shorveller, 12 22 26
 Spoon Bill, 12 26
 Stone Owl, 12 29
 Scops, 12 30
 Struthion, 12 39
 Starling, 12 46
 Sea Starling, ibid.
 Summer Teal, 12 47
 Spurwinged Goose, 12 59
 Swan Eagle, 12 51

Stone

Stone Curlew, 12 55
 Savage Crow, 12 56
 Scheller, ibid.
 Spilber, 12 60
 Schryke, 12 61
 Shell Apple, 12 63
 Slamick, 12 64
 Sea Pellican, 12 65
 Spotted Wood-pecker, 12 69
 Sitta, ibid.
 Spider Catcher, ibid.
 Sea Lark, 12 71
 Sea Dottrel, ibid.
 Streingallegg, ibid.
 Sand Piper, ibid.
 Sisterlein, ibid.
 Sanderling, ibid.
 Stint, ibid.
 Stare, 12 72
 Sea Thrush, ibid.
 Solitary Sparrow, ibid.
 Shirt, 12 73
 Singing Thrush, ibid.
 Swine-pipe, ibid.
 Serula, 13 28
 Squawotta, 13 35
 Squacco, ibid.
 Spotted Loon, 13 42
 Sparling Fowl, 13 43
 Smew, 13 44
 Skut, 13 48
 Sea Turtle, ibid.
 Small Tail Sheldrake, 13 56
 Shear Water, 13 57
 Spizolitta, 13 58 s 2
 Spizola, ibid.
 Stopparola, ibid.
 Sun-beam bird, ibid.
 Seed bird, ibid.
 Spotted Hortulane, ibid.
 Schmirring, ibid.
 Scare Crow, ibid.
 Scaupe Duck, ibid.
 Sajacu, ibid.
 Serpent Goose, 12 85.

T.

Tangara, 11 64
 Titmouse. Tittimouse, 11 65 & 12 46
 Tame Pigeon, 11 66
 Turbit Pigeon, ibid.
 Tumbler Pigeon, ibid.
 Turner Pigeon, ibid.
 Turtle Dove, ibid.
 Teitei, 11 70
 Titlark, 11 71
 Titling, ibid.
 Tern, 11 82
 Turkey Cock, 11 97 98
 Turkey Hen, 11 92
 Thuet, 11 99
 Teewit, 11 100
 Termwhite, ibid.

Truon, 12 6
 Turkey Sea Pie, 12 27
 Toucan, 12 28
 Tuidara, 12 29
 Teal, 12 47
 Tree Goose, 12 48
 Tarangolo, 12 55
 Trappe, 12 59
 Trapgaufe, ibid.
 Tringa, 12 71
 Thrush, 12 73
 Throfile, ibid.
 Tragoponade, 12 84
 Tin, 12 86
 Tinapute-Juba, ibid.
 Tin-tirica, ibid.
 Tuete, ibid.
 Tuipara, ibid.
 Tzopilot, 13 1
 Tije-guacu-parowra, 13 26
 Torquilla, 13 27
 Tominejo, ibid.
 Tamatia, 13 41 55
 Tarrok, 13 46
 Tufted Duck, 13 49
 Tropick Bird, 13 52
 Tije-guacu, 13 58 s 2
 Teminejo, ibid.
 Tije-paranga, ibid.
 Trochilus, ibid.
 Tufted red head Duck, ibid.
 Taraviole, 12 55
 Turnstone, 12 71
 Totanus, ibid. Tarabe, 12 86
 Turn-bill, 12 13
 Topa, 13 9 10 11
 Tefetel, 13 18

V.

Vrutavran, 11 54 and 13 2
 Virginia Nightingale, 11 64 & 13 22
 Vrocallus, 11 94
 Vrecock, ibid.
 Upupa, 11 99
 Vulture, 12 1 74
 Velvet Runner, 12 49
 Urubu, 13 1
 Virginia Crested Nightingale, 13 22
 Venice Diver, 13 28
 Utamania, 13 48
 Vici-cilin, 13 58 s 2
 Velvet Duck, ibid.
 Ulula, 12 29

W.

White Eagle, 11 54
 White Falcon, 11 56
 Wind-borer, 11 57
 Vier angle, ibid.
 Wood Tit-mouse, 11 65
 Wild Pigeon, 11 66
 Wren, 11 70

Wood Lark, 11 71
 White Throat, ibid.
 Whin-Chat, ibid.
 White Tail, ibid.
 White Ear bird, ibid.
 White bill Crow, 11 73
 Wood-cock, 11 77
 Water-Wagtail, 11 81
 Wagtail, 11 81 and 13 58 s 2
 Wooll cock, 11 93
 Whoophoo, 11 99
 Whoopee, ibid.
 Wild Swan, 12 4
 Water Raven, 12 12
 White Heron, 12 14
 Water Ouzell, 12 18
 Water Crane, ibid.
 Wasser Amzell, ibid.
 Winter Mew, 12 19
 Winter Mew, ibid.
 White Gull, ibid.
 Wagell, ibid.
 Wild Duck, 12 20 47
 Vigeon, 12 20
 Whewer, ibid.
 Water Pellican, 12 26
 Whole footed Sea Pie, 12 27
 White Owl, 12 29
 White Game, 12 45
 White Partridge, ibid.
 Water Hen, 12 49 61 and 13 31 55
 Water Rail, 12 49
 Wild Goose, 12 50
 Whimbrel, 12 55
 Wasser Hen, 12 61
 Wood-pecker, 12 68 69 & 13 14 15
 Woodstite, 12 69
 Witwall, 12 69 70
 Vidroll, 12 70
 Wall-creeper, 12 69
 Woodwall, 12 70
 Wind Thrush, 12 73
 White Vulture, 12 74
 Wivern, 12 80 81
 White Parrot, 12 86
 Wild Wood-Crow, 13 13
 Vryneck, 13 27
 White Nun, 13 44
 Water Diver, 13 47
 Wild Duck, 13 50
 White Wagtail, 13 58 s 2
 White Hortulane, ibid.
 Wyn Kernel, ibid.
 Water Hare Doucker, ibid.

Y.

Yellow Hammer, 11 71
 Yarnhelp, 11 77
 Yarnip, ibid.
 Yellow Wagtail, 11 81
 Yellow Hortulane, 13 58 s 2
 Yohval-cuachili, ibid.

Do

Domino EDUARDO LUTWICHE Militi,
 SERVIENTI Regis ad Legem
 Uni Justiciorum COMMUNIIUM PLACITORUM
 Dicti Domini Regis apud WESTMONESTER,
 Et nuper Recordatori Civitatis CESTRIÆ

Et non minus in Legibus perito, quam omnis Literarum generi Amatori; hoc caput Humilissime consecrat.

Ranulphus Holme

CHAP. XIV.

FROM the Fowl which fly in the Aire, we proceed now to give example of such Fish as either swim in fresh Water, as Rivers, Pits, and Ponds: or else that dive, and play in the deep Ocean, and Salt Seas.

It is an observotion of the learned, that whatsoever is engendred, or bred in any part of the World, the same is to be found in the Seas: besides many things more are in it, which no where else are to be seen.

And Pliny saith that Natures great and wonderful power, is more demonstrated in the Sea, then on the Land: and this may appear by those numerous and various Creatures, which inhabit in and about that Element. The number and the various shapes of these Fishes are not more strange, then they are different in Nature, Inclinations, and Actions.

The Coverings of Fish.

1. Some have hard and crusty Coverings, as Shells, or Bones; and such are the Tortoise, Escallop, Oyster, Crabs, Welkes, Cockles, Muscles, Periwinkles.

[]

Others have a softer Shell, or a tender or brittle Crust: which are easily bruised and broken to peeces as the Lobster, Crevices.

Others have Shells, which are very tender and soft, as Prawns, Beards.

2. Some have their covering of Scales, which are very hard, and unpenetrable, as the Crocodile, Orbon.

Others have Scales of a hard nature, yet may easily be pierced, or broken: as the Pearch.

Others with soft and gentle Scales, which may be fretted or rubbed off the Fish: as the Salmon, Barbell, Bream, Tench, and such like.

3. Some are covered with Bristles, or hard, stiff, and strong Hair, as the Rosmare, the Sea-boar.

Others a more soft and gentle Hair, as Seales, Water-horses.

Others with a kind of Woolly down.

4. Some have their coverings of Skinny coverts, that is hard, thick, strong and rough, as Sea-dogs.

Others tough and gentle, as Soles, Arbutts.

S f

Others

Others have Skinny coverts, that are smooth, soft and gentle, yet thick and tough, as the Conger, Eeles, Snigges, Dolphins.

Others Skins, are thin and tender, as Lampries, Flocks, Flooders.

Others no Skin at all, as the Pourcuttle, or Cuttle-Fishes.

5. Some are again covered with sharp pointed Pricks, and Thorns; as the Strickleback, or Banstickle, Sea-Urchins, Sturcott, Thornback, Harp-Fish.

Others with more blunter, knots, knobs, and Scab-like Scroofs, as Orbe-Fish, Sea-Rhinocereous, Glob-Fish.

Others with Crusts, or hard pills; as the Locusts.

The Form and Shape of Fish.

1. Some are plain and flat, as Turbots, Soales, Place, Flouders.

2. Others are long and round, as Eeles, Lamprey, Conger.

3. Others are bulked Bodies, as Salmons, Chalbois, Cods.

4. Others are Monstrous, as Whales, of all sorts.

5. Some have two feet, as Rana's, Brethmechin, Sea-Horse.

6. Others have four feet, as the Crocodile, Orobou.

Difference in Fish fins.

1. Fins are of different Nature, which to Fish are instead of Feet of which none have above nine, as the Salmon, (though Mr. Morgan lib. 1. fol. 67. saith the most is four; but therein is a gross mistake.)

2. Others have seven, some five, others four, others three, some two, others only one, but few without any.

3. Fins are some broad, others long and narrow, some round at the opening, others straight, all small Fish have them generally ending in a point.

4. Some Fins have the spine, or thorny substance between each Membrane, or Skinny pannacle, of a strong and sharp nature, not to be bended, and exceeds the limmers of the Fin.

5. Some are of less strength, being of a bone-like substance that is brittle, which in bending will break.

6. Other Fins are spicked with a Gristly spine, such as is gentle and easily bended.

7. Others have slender, small, thin, soft and weak spines.

8. Others have no Spine at all, but the Fin made of Skin or thin Pellicle, or Membrane.

BUT Fish may be Distributed better if we will consider them as they are distinguished into these several Classes or Orders.

First, Uniparous oblong Fish, such as breed their young within them: as,

1. Cetaceous, such as are of the whale kind, as Balæna Porpoise Dolphin
Whale

2. Cartilaginous, such as are Gristly and have long Snouts and hatch their young within their Bellies, as

Saw-Fish Spotted Hound-fish Fox-Fish
Sword-Fish Thorn-back Sturgeon Glaucus Hog-Fish Hulo or Shark Dog-Fish Hudson
Hound-Fish Zygena

Secondly, Uniparous Cartilaginous Fish, such as are Flat and Broad, as

1. Spinous, such as have Thorny fins, as Pallinaca Sea-Eagle

2. Not Serrated, without Sharp fins, as Ray Cramp-Fish Scate
Maide Sea-Divell Angle-Fish
Flare

3. Such as are Thick, Short, and Round, as Mole Lump

Thirdly, Oviparous fish, such as lay Egges, whose back Fins are Soft and Flexible, as

1. Such as are of the Cod-Kinde, having three fins on the Back, as

Keeling Haddock Haak
Codd-Fish Whirting Poor-John
Cole-Fish Ling

2. Such as have two Flexible fins, and are of the Tunny-kinde, as

Pelamis Tunny Mackerell

3. Such as have Finny wings, as
Kite-Fish Swallow-Fish Flying-Fish

4. Such as are of the Herring-kinde, as Sprat Herring Sarda
Shad Anchovy Chalcis
Pilchard

5. Such of the Lesser kinde which have Long Snouts, as

Sea-Pike Needle-Fish Tobacco-Pipe-Fish

Fourthly, Oviparous Fish, having Two Fins on the Back, the one Spinous, the other Flexible, as

1. Such as are of the Bigger kinde, as

Amia Coracinus Wolfe
Glaucus Umbra Mullet

2. Such as are of the Gournet kinde, having great Bonny heads, and Larg Fins, as

Rochet Piper Weaver
Gournet Mullet major Dragon-Fish
Tub-Fish

3. Such as have an Horn on some part of them, as

Trumpet - Fish	Uranoscopus	Doree
Monoceros	Scorpena

Fifthly, Oviparous Fish, haveing one Finn on the Back which are partly Spinous and Stiffe, and partly Flerile.

1. Such as are Broad and of a Golden Colour, as

Gilt Head	Salpa	Chromis
Sea Bream	Sargus	Jaguraca
Starus	Mormylus	Acara
Cantharus

2. Such whose Fin on the Back is so low in the middle that it seems to be two, as

Scorpion - Fish	Perch
-----------------	-------

3. Such as are of Variety and Beautiful colours, as

Peacock - Fish	Julis	Sechettus
Sea - Thrush	Sea - Peach

Sixthly, Oviparous Fish, without Scales, having Slimy Skins, as

1. Such as are of oblong Figure, and are for Salt-Water, as

Conger	Opodion	Lamprey
Murzena	Sand - Eeles	Lamporn
Sea - Serpent

2. Such as are for Fresh - Waters, as

Seah - Fish	Eel	Horn - Fish
Ed - Pout	Spada Marina	Remora

3. Such as are Plain & Flat, having their Mouths transverse, as

Sole	Turbut	Plais
Spotted - Sole	Halibut	Flounder
Pole	Bret	Fluk

Seventhly, Fish of an Hard Crustaceous skin, as

1. Such as are round, and either smooth or thorny, as

Orbe - Fish	Urchen - Fish	Wrethen-globe-fish
Globe - Fish	Rough-Globe-Fish

2. Such as are Triangular, as

Triangle - Fish	Horned - Triangle - Fish
-----------------	--------------------------

3. Such as are Pentagonal or 5 angled, as

Holotheus	Bonny - Scale - Fish
-----------	----------------------

4. Such as are Imperfect, having no Mouths, as

Sea - Needle	Hippocampus
--------------	-------------

5. Such as are Radiat, having Rays in form of a Star, as

Muller	Star - Fish
--------	-------------

Eighthly, Squamous River - Fish, such as are Scally, as

1. Voracious or devouring Fish, having one Fin, as

Pike	Jack	Pickrel
------	------	---------

2. Such as have two fins, the hinder being fleshy and without Rays, as

Salmon	Char	Lavarettus
Smelt	Grayling	Perch
Spurling	Umbex	Ruff
Trot	Farra	Golden - Perch

[]

3. Such as are not Voracious or devourers, as

Carb	Chevin	Dare
Tench	Bream	Bleak
Barble	Roche	Blea
Chub	Dace

4. Such as are the least River - Fish, as

Gudgeon	Bull-head	Minnow
Loach	Miller - Thumb	Banstickle
Groundling	Gull	Stickle-back

Ninthly, Cranguinous Animals, such kind of Fish which have no Blood, as

1. Crustaceous Fish, such as are covered with hard Shells or Covers, as

Lobster	Sea - Cock	Hermit - Fish
Long - Oyster	Crab	Shouldier - Fish
Sea - Bear	Molucca - Crab

2. Such as are covered with soft Shells, as

Sprawn	Squill	Cray - Fish
Shrimp	Crevice	Sea - Spider

Tenthly, Testaceous, Turbinated, Cranguinous Fish, such as are covered with hard knobbed or crusty Shells, top-like or spiral, as

Water - Snail	Cylinder like Fish	Wrinkle
Sea - Snail	Aporthais	Welk
Nautilus	Nerites	Periwinkle
Murex	Buccinum	Venus - Shell
Purple	Turbo	Persian - Shell
Cylindroides	Trochus	Sea - Ear

Eleventhly, Cranguinous Testaceous Fish, not Turbinated, but flat or even, as

1. Univalves, such as have one Shell, as

Limpet	Button - Fish	Mermaids - Head Center - Fish

2. Bivalves having two Shells and smooth, as

Mother of Pearl	Muscle	Sheath - Fish
Galades	Chama	Razor - Fish
Pinna	Tellina	Barnicle
Horfe - Muscle	Limpin

3. Such whose Shells are Rough, or furrowed, as

Oyster	Scallop	Cockle
Spondyl

Twelfthly, soft Cranguinous Fish, such as handle Flesh-like, yet are Blood-less, as

1. Such as are more perfect, having Mouths like Beaks of Bird, as

Pourcontrel	Sweet Polipus	Sleve
Preke	Cuttle - Fish	Reddish Sleeve
Polypus

2. Zoophytes, or such which are less perfect, as being between Plants and Animals, as

Sea - Hare	Sea - Pulmo	Sea - Nettle
Holothurius	Blubber	Tethya

The

The several parts of a Fish.

First of the Head, (setting aside common Terms) as Head, Eyes, Mouth, Throat and the like, which are proper Names for all Creatures, yet in Fish there are peculiar Names for the parts of the Head, which no other Creature have: as

The Gills, is the grisly part which compasses out the Chauls, and so comes down to the Throat. They move and open at the breathing of the Fish.

The Gill Poles, are the holes above the Throat, where the Fish lets out the Water that comes into the Mouth.

The Gills or Dugs, (which some call the Gills) are four Semi-circles of red Flesh, the out side ragged: these lye one upon another by the side of the Gill-holes.

The Barb, Lobb, or Beard, is any long skinny substance that proceeds from the Fish Snout or Nose, or under Chap.

The Snout, the Nose, or Beak of a Fish.

The Chaul, the under part of the Fish mouth which moveth.

The Wry, or Crooked Mouth.

The Heavier Mouth.

The Imbition Score.

The Body, all the Fish from the Head to the Tail.

The Dowle, is the fore part of the Fish.

The Tail pect, is the hinder part of the Fish.

Fork Tail.

Straight Tail.

The Scales, and skin, is the covering of the Fish.

The Navel, a small hole at the bottom of the Belly, through which the Fish evacuates.

The Fins, are those things fixed on several parts of the Fish, by which they row and move themselves in the Water, and are termed according to the place where they are fixed upon the Body: as,

The Back Fin.

The Lower Fin.

The Dangle Fin.

The Belly Fin, or Fins,

The Navel Fin.

The Tail Fin.

The Flesh Fin or Skinny Fin.

The Thorn Fin, or Sharp Fins.

The Hocked Fin.

The Raines, Intrails, or Guts: are the general terms for all that lieth in the Belly of a Fish: the particulars of none are,

The Heart, Gaul, Liver, and Belly Gut, which runs down to the Navel.

The Spawn, or Frye, is the seed of the Fish: of some called Eggs; in a Cod-Fish termed the Breaches.

The Wit or Rows, the seed of the Male or Cock fish.

The Swim or Swimmer, is a white round swollen Bladder in a Fish Bell, which being broken disables him from swimming.

The Chin-bone, or Back-bone.

The Gistle-bone.

The Prickles, are the small Bones that are set on each side the Back-bone, as so many Ribs.

[]

The Clegs, or Claws of Fish, as in Crabs, Lobsters and such as have Feet.

The Beards, and Hair, and Horns, in shell Fish: are skinny substances proceeding from the Fish in the Shell by which they feel or grope their way, or draw things to them, as in Oysters, Crabs, Scallops, and Sea Snails and such like.

Terms of Fishing for several sorts of Fish.

Angling, is a fishing for Trouts; which is with a Rod, Line, Hook and Bait.

Draw for a Salmon: and more then two, is called a draught of Salmon. This is with Nets drawn in the Water.

Snigling or Broggling, is the way of fishing for Eeles, by a bait and line on the end of a stick thrust into holes.

Bobbing for Eeles, is another way of fishing for them, by hanging the bait in hanks like Yern at the end of a cord.

Spear Eeling, is the way of taking them with an instrument called an Eel-spear, which is thrust into the Mouth.

Crowl, a fishing for a Pike: and this is by walking, and the line to run on a winch, that it may be wound up, or let out at pleasure.

Ledger, is another way of fishing for a Pike, and this is by fixing the Rods in any place, the Angler being absent.

Snap, is a fishing for Pike, which is to let them go away with the Bait, and then strike the contrary way to which he runeth.

Rode, is the fishing for a Perch.

Leading, is a way of fishing, by which all the Water in the Pond, Pit, or Mare is drawn away by a line.

Termed Sue the Pond, that is cleanse it, to fish it.

Dart, is taking great Fish by darting Hooks cast upon them.

Gorge.

Snare, see Snigle.

Dopp.

Grope, or Cickle; is to go into the Water, and gently to play with a Fish with ones Fingers, and seeing an opportunity suddenly strike them under the Gills, and so cast them out off the Water. This way of fishing may be used to Salmon, Mort, Trout, Chub, & Eeles Places where Fish abide.

1. THE Pond, or Pool fish; are the Carp, Bream, Tench, Gilt-head, Eel, Leech.

2. River, or Fresh Water fish; are the Flounder, Dace, Beards, Trout, Gudgion, Perch, Barbel, Mullet, Conger, Pollard, Lamprey, and Lampers.

3. Sea fish, which usually come to Fresh Water in spawning time; as the Herring, Salmon, Smelt, Sparling: Whidings, Aberdine, or Stock-Fish, Gold Sturgeon, Ray, Thornback.

[]

4. Sea

4. Sea, or Salt Water Fish, are the Dolphin, Sea-Calf, Sale, Orke, Whale, Sword-Fish, Crocodile. With several other Sea Monsters, which are like breeders, and proceed not from Eggs, as other Fish do.

Fish Haunts, or Places they delight in.

Barbell, Roach, Dace, and Ruff, delight in sandy gravelly grounds. The Deepest part of the River, and the Shadows of Trees are equally delightful to them.

The Bream, Pike, and Chub, chuse a clay, and ouzie ground. The first delight most in the midst of the River, whose stream is not too rapid, but gently gliding. The second for Still Waters, full of fry: and that he may the better, and securer seize his Prey; he frequently absconds himself amongst Water-docks, under Bushes and Bull-rushes.

The Carp, Tench, and Eel, frequent still Waters, and what are foul, and muddy. The two first delight in the deepest place of the Water, and where there are green Weeds. The latter lieth lurking under Roots, and Stones.

The Perch delight in gentle streams, not too deep, yet they must not be shallow; and a hollow bank is their chiefest refuge.

The Gudgeon love sandy ground, in gentle streams, they effect small Rivers above the great, or small Brooks.

The Salmon delights most in Rivers that ebb and flow, are large, and have a swift current; if the Rivers be Rocky or Woody, they are so much the better, for in such are the greatest plenty.

The Shad, Thwait, Plaice, and Flounder; have the greatest love for Salt, or Brackish Waters, which ebb and flow.

The Umbrell effect Barly clay Grounds, clear and swift streams: but they must be then far from the Sea, for they seldom come near it.

A Smelt, or Sparling, first a Sprat, then a small Sparling, then a Sparling.

A Minnow, first a Shad-brid, then a Sprat, then a Minnow.

A Roach, first a Rud, then a Roachell, or Roachet, then a Roach.

A Perch, first a Hurling, at a Year old a Tranling; second Year, an Egling; third Year, a Stichling, or Perchling; and lastly a Perch.

A Barbell, first a Barbett, then a Barbalett, then a Barb or a Barbell.

A Loach, first a Lochett, a young Loche, then a Loach.

A Codd, first a Whiting, then a Codling, then a Codd.

A Lamprey, first a Lampron-Grigg, then a Lampret, then a Lamprell, then a Lamprey.

A Furn-fish, first a Forn-fish, then a Gnutt, then a Furn.

A Carpe, first a Scizling, then a Sproll, or Spraff; then a Carbe, or Karbe.

A Tunny, first a Cordly, then a Pelamide, then a Tunny, then a Whale.

A Frog, first a Bull-head, then a Frog-tail, then a Frog.

A Lampron, first a Barle, then a Barling, then a Lamprell, and then a Lamprey, or Lampron.

A Mackerell, first a Colia, then a Lacrer, then a Mackerell.

A Sturgeon, first ——— then a Porceller, then a Sturgeon.

A Gogion, or Gudgion; first a Sand-Gressen, then a Grundel, or a Grundlin; then a Gougeon.

A Sprat, a Shad-brid, then a Sprat, then a large Sprat.

A Crevice, first a Spron Frey, then a Shrimp, then a Sprawn, and when it is large then call'd a Crevice.

Fish how Termed in companies.

A Fray of fish, is the general Term when many together.

A Scoole of Herring.

A Drught of Salmons.

A Shoale of Barbells, or Beards.

A Bed of Oysters, Muscles, and Cockles.

A Flote, or Troups of Tunnies, or Whales.

How several sorts of Fish are named, according to their Age, or Growth.

3. A N Eel, first a Fausen, then a Grigg, or Snigg, then a Scaffing, then a little Eel, when it is large then an Eel, and when very large, a Conger.

A Pike, first a Hurling pick, then a Pickereel, then a Pike, then a Lucie, or Lucie.

A Salmon, first a Shad, then a Sprat, then a Trout, or Salmon Trout; then a Mort, then a Salmon Mort, then a Salmon Peal, or Samlett, or young Salmon, then a Salmon, then a Scipper Salmon; a Skegger is a little Salmon, which will never be bigger.

[C]

I. He beareth Argent, a Dolphin Nasant, Azure. This Term Nasant, is taken from the Latin word, Nati to swim; for in such manner do they bear themselves in the Water when they swim; so that in plain English this is blazoned, a Dolphin swimming. Yet this posture is of some Heralds (in other sorts of great bodied Fish, and such as have Feet) Termed no otherwise then by naming the Fish, as the examples following will manifest.

This is of some Heralds Termed, a Dolphin Nasant, extended: because the Dolphin is generally born embowed, which they blazon only Nasant; as in the next example. This is born by the name of Nabhouse.

B 3

B. three such in pale O. Born by Dolphin, a Vene-

lian.

A. 3 such Naïant S. Born by Darburg.

V. 3 such in pale O. Born by Dolphinley.

I. He beareth Azure, a Dolphin Naïant Im-bowed, Argent. By the name of Fitz James.

An Antaceus, or Dolphin kind of fish; it is both as big, and like the Dolphin; having two Lobs like a Beard hanging at the higher Chap, a little below the Nostrils, each side one, the under Chap much shorter than the other; three double Fins under the Belly, viz. two at the Throat, two at the Navel, and two near the Tail. The Tail forked, but the higher much longer than the nether. The Germans call it a Dick, or Tick; and Paus, or Hus. This Fish is dusky on the Back; with a pure white Belly.

S. a Dolphin Naïant Imbowed, devouring a Fish, proper. Born by the name of Symonds.

S. the same Naïant Imbowed, proper. Born by Fitz

James.

G. a Chevron Ermine between three such A. Born by Blezerhuffe.

S. a Dolphin Imbowed Hauriant A. by Fayst n., also by Van Iltingen.

II. He beareth Or, a Dolphin Hauriant, Imbowed, Gules. These are the two usual Postures that the Dolphin is drawn in, whether they be for Names, for Chambers, or Signs for Houses; viz. Imbowed, either Naïant, or Hauriant. This is born by the name of Fortisor.

B. the like O. Born by the Dolphin, the Kings Eldest Son in France.

The like also is born by Goldolphin.

II. He beareth Azure, a Dolphin Hauriant, Argent; of old it was termed, Errant. This word Hauriant, is derived from Hawio, to draw, or suck out; because Fish do often-times put their Heads above the Water to refresh and cool themselves with the temperate Air; especially when the Waters do so rage, and boile, that they cannot endure the heat thereof. This is Born by Vischarell.

G. the like O. Born by Forgeham, or Forsham.

G. the like A. born by Fore, also by Visscherby and Visscher.

Note that this term Hauriant, as saith Gwillim, fol. 236. is used to all Fish in this posture having Fins; if they have no Fins then they are termed Erected or upright, see numb. 30.

III. He beareth Gules, a Dolphin reversed, Argent; (or else a Dolphin with the tail erected;) but most properly a Dolphin Arinant, from the word Urim, to duck or dive under Water, as if he were going down to the depth of the Sea. This is born by the name of Dyer.

A. 3 such in Fesse G born by Rein.

III. He beareth Sable, a Dolphin Hauriant torqued, (or targent) Or. Words that are borrowed from Torqueo, which signifies to wrest or wreath; to turn one way and another, as this doth. This is born by Van Daughenber.

*

O. 3 such B. by the name of Van de put, which Morgan, lib. 1. fol. 69. terms Dolphins Springing and Hauriant.

IV. He beareth Vert, two Dolphins Hauriant Imbowed, respecting each other, Argent. So Gwillim, fol. 232. Blazons it; but to use the term respectant and omit each other, would be more compendious, and more agreeable to the rule; but that I leave to the more judicious; these are by Morgan, lib. 1. fol. 67. termed Imbowed Inverted.

Between these Dolphins, for want of other room, I have placed the Sea Cornet, a kind of Purple Shell Fish described numb. 12. to which I refer you.

V. He beareth Or, two Dolphins Hauriant Imbowed, endorfed, Gules. To endorfe, is to set one thing on the back of another, or a turning back to back. This is born by Rodolfine.

A. the like G. born by Urkingen.

B. 2 such respectant O. born by Herdoffine.

V. 2 such endorfed O. born by Hammer.

G. 2 such O. born by Lamere.

VI. He beareth Gules, a demy Dolphin Hauriant, Or. Born by Smyster.

A Starred Antaceus, or Starry Tuck, or Dick, it is of the Dolphin kind, according to its Figure by us Drawn; having a fleshy Fin on the back near the tail, and three under the Belly; the tail forked after a semi-circular form within and without; it hath four or five Lobs or beards hanging from its higher chap, for an under chap it hath none, but a gristle Bone for its gills; the back shews of a caruleous or sky colour, the belly white, inclining to a rose colour, and the thorns or hooked fins on the back, and the row of Stars down the sides, which have thorns set in the middle of each, are of a pale or wan whitish hue; the points of the thorns of all are of a dusky or dark brown. This only differs from the Dolphin in the shape of its Nose, which is long, flat and slender, almost like the Bill or Beak of a Goose. This is of the Species of the Antaceus, mentioned before numb. 1. * see chap. 19. numb. 110.

VII. He beareth Azure, three Dolphins Imbowed, 2 Hauriant endorfed, the other Naïant, born by Boytang. Others again term them three Dolphins Hauriant, Endorfed, and Naïant, all Imbowed. Others three Dolphins turned back to back; and three Dolphins endorfed; being all turned one from or contrary to the other; and three Dolphins Imbowed and endorfed in triangle. Sometimes these are thus born with a Fesse or a Chevron between them, which you may thus Blazon, a Chevron or Fesse between three Dolphins endorfed and imbowed.

Some Coats have them, three Hauriant Imbowed, and respecting each other; others a Chevron between three hauriant, (or erected) imbowed, them in chief respectant. Thus variety of ways are they born and Blazoned.

B. a Chevron between three Dolphins Hauriant Imbowed them in chief respectant A. born by Trabuaine Goch of Llyn.

S. 2

S. a Fesse A. between 3 such O. is born by Reddings.

VIII. He beareth Vert, three Dolphins in triangle, their heads meeting in Fesse, Argent. Others say, three Dolphins extended in triangle, their heads together. Born by Tredolphin.

Some Coats have them in triangle, their tails in Fesse (or their heads to the three points of the Escuchion, as some term it) but that is to be observed that all triangular Bearings are set according to the three corners or points of the Shield or Escuchion.

B. 3 such A. born by Lewerber.

B. 3 Salmons so in triangle A. born by Trymkin.

IX. He beareth Azure, a Sole Fish, Argent, by the name of Solegh. Of some called a Tongue Fish, It is a long flat Fish, with a crooked mouth like a Flook, Finned on both sides from the tip of the Nose to the end of the tail, with an intire Fin, having no Intervane; the belly of a whitish blue, or milky colour, the back a little more dusky.

An Eyed Sole Fish, is in all respects agreeable to the Sole Fish; but it hath divers spots upon its back part, great, and like Eyes, with a round circle, and a pupil or sight of an eye in the middle; from whence it is called the Eyed Sole, and of some the Eyed Rave, or Eyed Grampe fish: in Germany it is Angebot, and Spiegelbot, or Spiegelzunge.

An Hounds tongue Fish, it hath a wrye Mouth like the Sole, finned on both sides, the Body is flat, but thicker and shorter than the Sole, it is covered with small Scales, the out edges being serrate, or toothed after the manner of a Saw; of a dusky, or dark brown colour.

A Merzangen, as the Germans call it, which is as much as to say the Lambs tongue fish, it is a smooth Fish, without any scales; with an intersecance line streight through the middle of it. Other some there are which be covered with a multitude of most slender, thin or small scales, which are subject to fall off, or be rubbed away, by reason of their looseness; the body is so very thin and slender, and white, that it may be seen through.

A Little Tongue fish, it is the least of this long and flat kind of Fish, never exceeding 9 Inches in length; it hath a streight line that divides or separates the body; it hath thorny Fins, longer on the higher side than on the nether; the scales longer, and woven together more on the body, more loose in the parts about the Jaws and under side; the Germans call it a Zunglin, or Heerzungen.

An Hippoglossie fish, or the Horse tongue fish, it is scaled all over the body with small scales, the higher side finned from the head to the tail; the under side from a little distance of the head; with two small slender fins hanging down under the gills.

A Sandling, of some called a Dab; it is long and flat, like the Sole Fish; but it hath sharp fins beginning at the top of the head; the back is with blackish lines divided from head to tail in a Waved Lozenge form.

V. a cheveron O. between three Sole Fishes born by Soley, and quartered by Randle Holme, of Chester, Author of this Academy of Armory, &c.

V. a cheveron per pale O. and G. between three such A. born by Soley, of Bendley, and Woodson, in Worcestershire.

X. He beareth Sable, a Flook, Argent, By the name of Fisler. This is a broad flat Fish with a wry mouth; both sides or edges intirely finned from the head; to the fin of the tail; its belly is white; the back of a dark or blackish umber colour, the fins reddish. Of this sort of flat, smooth fish, with spinoseous or thorny fins there are several kinds, yet in shape all one and the same, as

The Flounder, of some called Turbott, or Turbut, and the Germans call it a Thornbutt. A. 3 such B. is born by Turbott. The Turbott is rounder than a Flook in the body and the skin, on the back more rougher, being stroked upwards from the tail.

The Heerbudden, it is much less than the Flounder, yet of the same shape with it; of the Germans called a Carbutten.

A Plase, or Playse, in Latine termed Passer, because it is of the colour of a Sparrow, white on the belly, and of an Earth colour on the back, with reddish brown spots on the back and fins.

A Plye, of the Germans called a Platpse, or little Plase; it differs from the shape thereof only in this; the tail is divided in the middle, and it hath a row of short thorny prickles down the middle of its back. I know no English name it hath.

A Gold streine, or as the Dutch call it a Goltstreymer, and the Germans a Tippich, or Tippicher. It is finned almost from the head to the tail, on the back, and on the belly, from the Navel to the tail; the body flat like the Flook, the whole body is full of golden short stroaks or lines, and hath a forked tail.

An Anthias, is a flat and long Fish, finned like the Gold strein, it is of a Silver colour, with golden bloss, strikes or dashes (as it were) smeared on the back, but none on the belly.

A Holybutt, or Hallibutt; which the Germans call a Duep, and a Rass, or Regling; it is the largest sort of the Flounder kind; it hath red spots upon the fins which compass the body; and the back covered with black scales, having a streight line down the middle of the back (as it were) a parting or cutting between the two sides.

An Arbutt, in shape and form resembles the Flat and Flounder, only differeth in colour, for the belly is of a whitish red, and the back brown or umber colour, which is rough under ones hand being rubbed upwards from the tail to the head; and the flesh of it is more solid and flesh like than those of the like form and shape.

A. 3 Playse B. born by Plasington.

G. 3 Flooks A. born by Arbutt.

B. a cheveron between 3 such A. born by Holybate.

B. a Flook O. born by Ply.

XI. He beareth Azure, a Salmon Variant (or erected) sans head, Or; else a Headless fish erected; or a fish sans head erected. Born by Heedless or Headless.

XII. He beareth Gules, a Fish Variant, Or, by the name of Samlet. This Fish, and all Fish after this form born born in Coats, will pass in Blazoning by the name of a Fish, without any other name thereunto appropriated: For though in the several Coats, to whom this is Born according to the Names they belong unto; do give them proper and peculiar Denominations, as a Lucy, in the Blazoning of Lucies Coat; a Salmon, in Samons Coat; an Herring, in Heringands Coat; a Trout, in Troutbecks Coat; a Mort, in the Coat of Mort, &c. Now if the Blazoner be not acquainted with the name the Coat belongs unto, thereby to give it the true term; then in his Blazoning to call it, or them a Fish, or Fishes; is no obscurity, but is held good and sufficient Blazoning; and the Artist not to be counted unskilful in his Terms, when he is altogether unacquainted with the Names of the Owners of such Coats.

Fishes of this form and shape, there is very many, both small and great, of which take these few descriptions.

A Shade, of some termed a Shade-fish, or Shad-birds. This is the least of this form, and shape of Fish; being long and round, tending smaller and smaller from its Head to the Tail, it is covered with soft, and loose, thin, tender scales, easily taken of the Body by handling; it hath a silver colour Belly; the Back and Head tending to a blue. It hath a Fin on the Back, two on either side the Head by the Uges, or Dugs, or Gills, two pointed, in the middle of the Belly, and a long Fin running from the bottom of the Belly to the Tail; all of them, and the Tail Fin, being more dusky than the Back.

An Anchovis, it is also a small Fish, of about five or six inches long; with two Fins under it Gills, and two at the Navel, and one over against them in the middle of the Back. The Belly is white, the Back dusky, and the Fins more dusky then it. The Germans call it an Herring-art, or Spiring art.

A Trout, from the Latine Trutta. It is a long and slender Fish; on the Back are two Fins, and on the Belly three; they stand contrary, not opposite to them on the Back, only those next the Tail stand over against the one and other; the Belly is white, the back, of a fire or bright Gold colour, with a row of round red spots, down the sides; with several other little spots, here and there sprinkled both above, and below them.

B. 3 such Hauriant in Fesse A. Born by Trutt.

Verr 3 such Hauriant in Fesse A. Born by Hame.

A Bambele, or Sea-bambele; of the Germans called Heerpstille, that is the Sea pfeil, of the Latine Hepseus. It hath no English name but what is borrowed from the Germans; it is all white, hath two Fins on the Back, and two on the Belly, one opposite to the other; with a Fin each side the Head, at the Gills: It is of the Apua kind, having thin and slender scales; therefore by some Germans termed, Heerfeelen, or Spirinch gevellet, and Heerfischle.

S. in Fesse three such Hauriant A. a Chief O. Born by Kisjan.

A. three such Hauriant B. Born by Van Spirinb.

A Chapling, of some called an Amber; and an Amber: It hath a long round Fin on the middle of the Back, and a small one a little from the Tail; two long, and slender ones, sharp pointed at the Throat; and two on the Belly, opposite to them on the Back; the whole Body is rough, or full of silver scales, or white; and grey on the Back, besprinkled with black points, or spots: It is of the German called, a Churling, or Kozmling.

A. one such proper. Born by Curling.

A Herring, it is thick set with whitish scales, which are easily displaced; the Belly is white, the Back a darkish blue, or grey; it hath a Fin in the middle of the Back, two under the Throat, two either side the middle of the Belly; and one between them and the Tail.

G. three such Naïant in pale O. born by Herrin-gand.

A Luce, or Lucie: See this described in the Pike, num. 23. G. three such Hauriant A. Born by Lu-cy.

A Pylicher, or Pylichearde; it is covered all over with round scales, standing one by another, not under one another; it hath a rough or rugged line under its Belly; one Fin on the Back, one on the Belly; and one under the Throat.

A Groveling, Groundling, or a Minow; and of some called a Peel-fish; it hath a Fin on each side the head, two opposite one to the other, a little from the Tail; and one on the Back; it is full of small scales: The Germans call it a Sea-Grundel, or Sea-Smer-tin.

A Smelt, or Sparling, and in some places a Sprotte, and being dried, or smoaked, (which I never saw any of them, as red Herrings are) a red sprotte, or dried sprotte; The Latine calls it Apua, and Apvra, being a Fish that will be boyled in an instant. It hath a long narrow Fin on the Back, almost from Head to Tail; that is the whole middle of the Back; two long pointed Fins, either side the Head, at the Gills; two smaller under the Throat, at the beginning of the Belly, and a pretty long narrow Fin, double pointed, or swallow tail finned. It hath a white Belly, the Back inclining to a yellow, else all whitish; covered with soft gentle scales.

Gesner makes mention of three other small Fishes, of the Sparling, or Herring-kind, which he terms in Latine, the one Atherina, or Acerina; and the other Encrasicholus, like to the Anchovy; and the third Bembas, or Bembades; of the French called, Calliques and Latches; like to the Clupea, a little Fish with a sharp Snout, Enemy to the Tunny, or Whale.

A Loze, or Schiler; which we English the Changeable, or diverse coloured Fish: in Latine, called Chreska, or Piscis Variatus, or Variati. It is fuller, and rounder in the Body then the Smelt, or Herring; It is bigger then a little white Fish, called a Bleak; but in skin and flesh, like the Perch. It is of a lustrous spendant purple colour, shining like Gold; being set against the light of the Sun, like the colour about the Neck of a Pigeon, or Wild Duck.

A Sorte, or a White Fish, of some Termed a Whiting: It is a numerous, or great breeding Fish; it hath a Fin on the middle of the Back; one each side the Gills; one above the Navel, and one near the Tail; It is fretted all over, with insect lines, with a streight row of pointed dents, each side from Head to Tail; see num. 24.

An Alfon Fish, or Haringen : hath only one Finn on the Back, one at each Gill ; and two at the Navil ; it is a deep and round bellied Fish, scally, with the line at the bottom of the Belly, sharp rigged, or dented, transverse ; the Tail forked with an indenting, but not very sharp.

B 3 Fishes Najant to the Sinister in pale A. born by Van Drakvit.

G the like in pale A. born by Lamparter Van Ramsbach.

B 3 Fishes Hauriant A. born by Nelson or Nesse-tonne.

S 3 such Hauriant A. born by Pickmere.

A 3 such Najant in pale S. born by Welfb.

B 2 such disposed in Salte the dexter surmounting A. by Gidney.

B 3 such Najant in pale to the sinister A. born by Somersfeld.

Per Cheveron S and G 2 Swans respecting each other, and a Herring Cobb A. born by the name of Cobb.

In the base, I have figured the shapes of two purple shell fish ; of the German Termed a Purpurschnec-ken. So named, because from the Fish there comes a precious liquor, with the which purple cloath is died ; It is a kind of a rough shell, open on one side, beset about with certain crooked Hooks, bending some one way, some another : being of the same substance the other part of the shell is of. It is called in the Latin tongue, Pelagia, and Perjuria. There is several sorts of them ; as,

The Sea-Cornet, called Buccinum ; fashioned like unto a Horn, or Cornet ; It hath a round Back, and is cut like a Saw in the edges, and is of a purplish colour : see its figure numb. 4.

The other is the Purple, which these two figures do manifest : shooting out a long Back like a gutter, and within on the one side, it doth writh, and turn hollow in form of a pipe ; they are bestued as far as to the sharp top, or turbant thereof, round about with sharp knobs and pointed, generally 6 or 7 in number ; which the Sea-Cornet hath not. But this is common to both these kinds, that look how many writhings, or roundles, they have like tendrils, clasping about them, so many years old they be.

The Mudde purple, from its lying and feeding in Mud.

The Alga, or Argense purple, is the worst of purples ; by reason it feeds on Riets, and Sea-weeds.

The Temense purple, so called from the resemblance of Fillets, or Lists of cloath, it hath about it ; it is the best of the fore going purples.

The Calculosous purple, or Sea gravel purple ; because set over all the shell, with great and small rough pimples, representing the Gravel on the Sea-shoar.

The Dilated purple ; or the Wandering purple Shell-fish : it is the best colour of all others, by reason it doth keep no constant place, but doth feed in sundry soiles, in the Sea.

XIII. He beareth Azure, a Demy Salmon, Argent. More vulgarly Termed a Salmon, or Samon : some call this the Dowle of a Samon. This is born by the Dowley.

He beareth Gules, the hinder part of a Salmon, or a Demy Salmons Tail, proper : or as properly called, the Tail of a Salmon. This is born by Tailor.

Thus they are blazoned, when born by parts, and asunder : but tasting them as they now are, for but one entire Coat : then they are thus Termed. He beareth Vert, a Salmon cut into two, (or divided in the middle) Argent : (or after others) the Dowle and Tail of a Salmon. Others blazon it, to shew that one peece lyeth above the other thus : a Demy Salmon in chief, and the Tail in base. This is born by Mounfier Devall of France.

S the Head to the sinister, and Tail to the dexter side A. is born by Thuner.

XIV. He beareth Gules, a Salmons head erect, Or. Born by the name Salmonhead. Of some termed a Demy Salmon, or a Dowl of a Salmon erect.

A a Salmons head to the sinister B. born by Dohn alias Ham of Silicians.

A a demy Salmon in Bend sinister proper. Born by Refeyhu.

A on a pale S a Salmons head, O and the like head for the Crest. Is born by the name of Gascoyne.

XV. He beareth Sable, a Salmons Tail erect, proper. Born by Van Boffinger.

This is the Crest of Laurence : and also of Van Sommerfeldt.

B 3 such erected A. born by Tail.

XVI. He beareth Vert, a Fish Volant in bend, Argent : Winged Or. Some again blazon it, a Fish in bend Argent, Winged Or. And a Winged fish, when they are both of one colour or mettle ; but more properly a Fish with Wings, to distinguish it from those Winged fishes, mentioned chap. 16. numb. 44, 46, and 18. numb. 115. This is born by the name of Griffy.

B 3 such Haurian O. born by Llyderbach.

G a like Fish Wings expanded A. born by Truchling.

G the like Volant in bend sinister, A. born by Utingen.

G the like in bend, A Winged O. born by Van Boltzig.

A the like volant in pale B. born by Newton.

G the like volant in bend A. born by Van Semiz.

XVII. He beareth Argent, a Skelliton of a Salmon, Sable. Termed also by some, the Annotomy of a Salmon : or the bones of a Salmon Annotomized. This is born by the name of Skelliton.

G. two such disposed in Salter A. by Gradel Van Boden.

S. one such Imbowed to the sinister A. by Van Pramon.

XVIII. He beareth Sable, three Trouts, fretted (or brased) in triangle, Argent. They are by others blazoned, fretted in triangle, Ceste a triangle : that is, they are fretted so, as the Head of the one, lyeth over the Tail of the other. But that is a needless expression ; for by a triangular fretting, it is presupposed that their Heads are not together, but one contrary to, or from the other, else there can be no good Fret made of it. This is Born by the name of Treutbeck.

G. three Eels in triangle Fretted O. Born by Pennally.

XIX. He beareth Sable, a Salmon, Argent. By the name of Shalme. Most do term these kind of Fish in this posture, to be Naïant, or wimming, which as is the proper posture of all Fish, so being thus, it hath no need of any such term, but if it be otherwise, then it is needful to mention how it is, whether emboved, hauriant, or the like, as I have shewed in the first six numbers of this Chapter.

S. 3 such Hauriant A. born by Salmon.

The Salmon, is of a blewish ash colour on the sides; and more dusky or brown, on the top of the back; the belly white; it hath a large fin on the middle of the back, and a small one near the tail; two fins under the throat, two in the middle of the belly above the Navel; and one fin near the tail; the tail is streight finned, not forked.

A Kyppter, or Skypper Salmon, is when the Salmon hath spawned, and is not in season, but is poor and out of order, which is known by the hook which it will have at the end of the lower chap or mandible; and its back and sides spotted.

A Selmling, or Samlet; or Salmon-Mort, are little or young Salmons not yet come to their full growth.

A Slegger Salmon, is a Dwarf Salmon, such as will never grow bigger, which is known by the head being bigger than for the proportion of the body.

An Albelen, or Wissfisch, from the Latine name, Albus Piscis Nobilis, the Noble White Fish, its scales are white, yet there are a sort of them which are of a blewish green on the back, which the Germans call a Brat-Fish, and a Felcken, and a Blawling from its colour. It is in all parts scaled and finned as the Salmon.

An Albele, or Wigling, is the same as above, but of a lesser species; it is called by the Dutch Wissgansich, and the least of these kinds is called an Hagling, or an Hagele. These have all forked finny tails.

A Pool, or Pond Carp; is of the Pond Trout kind; the nose or snout is not so sharp, the eyes are bigger, the back inclining to more blackness, and the belly more whiter and swollen up than the River Carp, the fins are as many, and placed in the same manner as in a Salmon or Trout.

An Amber, of Umbra, & Umbra; the Latine name, it is of the Netherlanders termed a Rottele, or Rottenc, and Pitzling. It hath a small little Stone in its Brain; the Fins have no points, by which notes and more it may be accurately known; for they are all over red, and have teeth in their cheek bones or jaws, and on their tongues, to the number of five or six. It hath a Gemill, or double line of Incision cut through the sides of it.

A Rott, or Lake Salmon, is a kind of Amber, and is taken in Lemannus, which is a Lake of the Allobroges, near Geneva and Lausanna, there is also there another gross and round bodied Salmon, called Salma Lemani Lacus, which the Germans call Grossen Rotten; the great Bellied Salmon, or Amber; which is colored and toothed as in the Amber.

*

A Rottle, of the Germans called a Puch, it is of a Trout and Salmon kind; the two fins on the back part, one stands on the middle of the back, and the other between and the tail. It is of a red colour, and the flesh of it is, also red like to the Salmon; it is also termed a Rot buerchen.

A Huson hath two fins on the back at an equal distance from the head and tail; it hath a sharp snout and a blunt under chap; as it halt of it were cut off; it is of a smooth skin, after the nature of Sturgeon the flesh eateth; it groweth to such a bigness that some are taken of a 1000 l. weight.

The Salmon Trout, or a Salmon Mort, are a sort of young Salmons growing to perfection; the Trout is so called from a fingers length till it be larger than an Herring or Backarel. The Mort then begins to take its name, and continueth it till it is a fish of half a yard long, or more, then it is a young Salmon; they are on the top of the head of a light umber colour, and about the gills more yellowish inclining to a green, and shines much after the manner of a Drakes neck feathers, the under chap is pure white; the eye black, with a yellow circle or Irides; the mouth is white, having a little tincture of flesh colour; it hath sharp teeth in the higher and lower jaw bones; the tongue is an absolute bone set with sharp teeth, and covered with a fleshy skin; the back of the fish is umber, or a kind of earthy colour; if it be turned from the light, the sides more paler and the belly white; but turn the same about, and it sheweth to be of a pure shining silver colour, intermixed with blew, yellow and green interchangeably; the body appeareth scaly, and they may be scraped of with a Knife; they have an Incision line on each side set with reddish spots, so the back and sides are here and there confusedly and thin set with the like spots; it hath a large fin on the middle of the back, a leis near the tail, and the tail fine something forked, all of an earthy umber colour; a long and narrow fin at each side the throat, or at the gills; two such like fins set together at the bottom of the belly; and a fin just below the Navel, all of a yellow colour inclining to a red.

G. 3 Salmons in Fesse Hauriant, proper; born by Salmon, and also by Sammon.

S. 3 such najant A. born by Dame.

V. 3 such Hauriant A. born by Dodd.

G. 3 such Hauriant A. by Gloucester.

A. one such in Bend Siniter B. born by Fischborne; on a Torce or wreath of his colours, an Oak tree proper, with the like Fish cross the body of it B. is his crest.

B. 3 Morts, or Salmon Morts hauriant A. by Mort.

A. on a cheveron B. 3 Trouts, the middle hauriant, the other counter naïant A. born by Pennals; thus by Mr. Morean, lib. 2. fol. 52. but more briefly term it a Trout hauriant between two, counternaïant, or two respectant, that is swimming or looking at one another.

XX. He beareth Gules, a Perch, Argent. Born by the name of Perch. In Latine it is called Perca; the Germans Bersich, or Bersing, or Barz, or Barzch there is of this fish several kinds, as

A fresh Water Perch, hath a broad fin all along the back, divided into two parts, sharp pointed and deep dented; two fins above the Navel, sharp pointed, and another near the tail; it is of a fulvous, or dusky dark colour (yet in some Rivers they are more white) with transverse lines and a forked tail.

T t 2

another

A Sea Water, or Sea Perch, hath but one long fin on his back, almost from head to tail, a fin each side the gills (which the other hath not) two long pointed fins at the middle of the belly, and a broad round fin near the tail; the tail is not forked but straight; the *German*s call this the Puntel-Parsch, that is the Spotted Perch.

A Rock Fish; of some termed, Golden Head or Goldeneye, or Gilt head; it is of the *German*s, called a Neuer, or Bewling, or a Punter-Bewling, it is of a tawny colour, the head like gold scaled all over, with an insidious score on each side; straight tailed; the back fins sharp pointed, extending almost from head to tail, at the gills a broad pointed fin, middle of the belly two, and near the tail a round fin; this Fish, and the following of this kind are termed Rock fish, because they love to live among Rocks; the *German*s call it a Gold-forn.

A Sea Merle, or Cock Fish; so called from the colour of a Bird named so; for the *Latin*s term it Merula Piscis, the Durple, or Black Fish; yet the Bird is black; but the Fish is of a deep Violet; in India the fish is black, and the belly purple; it is a more shorter and rounder bodied fish than the Golden-eye, or Rock-fish before said; else in scales and fins is the same, only this hath them not so sharp pointed.

An Atteff, of the *Latin*e Alphestes or Alphesta, is a fish of the Perch kind; it is of a Cereous, or Wax colour.

A Chanuss, or Chanua, is a fish of the same kind and the Physic, which are so variable in their colours, that they are often taken for the Thrush and Peacock fishes.

A Peacock Fish, or the Sea Peacock, is of the colour which a Peacock hath about his neck, viz. green, blew, it is a short thick round fish, scaled, finned, and fork-tail, as the precedent.

A Kings Mantle Fish, so called from its variety of colours wherewith it is spotted; it is of the Thrush kind in form and shape, but the greatest part of it is green, speckled with pricks of purple, blew, and other confused colours.

A Sea Parrot, or a Parroquet Fish, is also a kind of Sea Thrush, it is of various colours, the back is black, the Fins inclining to green, spotted with several colours like that Indian Bird, and white about the eyes.

A Sea Leoper Fish, or a Lepre fish, it is of the Sea Thrush kind, with the higher chap only turned up; the Fins on the back sharp pointed and dented, the tail straight; it is of some called, by reason of its diversity of spots, the Attagen fish, and the Sea African Pen fish; it is all red, spotted with greater and smaller all over the body and fins, with spots of diverse colours; it is of the *German*s termed a Roeter Punterfish, and a Roeter Krametfish; a red fish of the Thrush fish kind. See more of this Thrush fish kind, chap. 15. numb. 24.

A Mormyle, so named from the *Latin*e name Mormylus, and Mormyrus; it is a Fish of the Perch kind, of diverse colours; it is the colour of Silver with transverse lines from the back to the belly; black or dusky, and at equal and even distances; the *German*s call it a Metbrachsmie, or a Matbrachsmie.

A Chromis, or a Cremys, is a fish with thorny fins, taking the middle of the back of a chestnut colour; it is from thence named Castagnus, from the said castaneous colour, but the whole body of the fish is of a black colour.

An Dyph, of the *Latin*e named Orphes; it is of the Perch kind, and is of a purple colour, inclining to a red: It is like the Pagrus, in the number of fins, and in the pricks and sharpness of them.

A Frombder Fish, or the red Dyphus, hath a red body, in which is seen a glance of other colours; it is a kind of flat fish, compressed more in breadth than in length; the scales firmly fixed; the fins as be held are of various colours; the lips are carnosous and fleshy to the middle part of the body, it is black and blue; the belly white; the head is almost round, the spots in the root or bottom of the Tail are black.

An Hepatus, or Delcon, of the *German*s, called a Schwarzblawe. It is a Fish like the Dyph, a compressed body, very scaly; great eyes, and a little mouth, the body of a Liver colour, whence it is called Hepar, a Liver fish; the lips are bright as gold; the head of somewhat an obscure colour, &c.

An Umber, or Seerapp, as the *German*s call it; or a Heer Karpfen. It is of an Umber colour, more white on the belly, with lines or dashes oblique the back, descending to the belly, part gold colour, and part more obscure like umber colour, from whence it took its name.

A Glaucus, or a Gesch-lecht, or Seerappen. It is of the Umber kind, it is named also a Mager, or a Mager fish, the scales are of a gray or blew colour. A. the like B. born by Mager;

A Cozacin, from the *Latin*e name Coracinus, or the Sea-crow-fish, because it is all black; it is of the Umber kind, and by Fishers is often sold for the Umber, and the Umber for it.

A. 3 Umber fish proper, born by Umlrell.
A. one such born by Oxton.

A Schroll, or Schrollen; of the *German*s called a Schrellele; it is of the Perch kind, with the like fins and pricks on its back; the back is a dusky brown, with a greenish gloss, with very many pricks or spots of brown; the belly is white; the fins on the back have the thorns or pricks white; and the beginning of the fins at the gills are red.

B. a Pearch proper, born by Don Percy of Spain.

A. the like B. born by Bersich.

A. 3 such G. born by Oldjich.

G. 3 such O. born by the name of Oldfield.

XXI. He beareth Azure, a Witt (or Burt, or Bert) proper by the name of Birt. It is not altogether so round a Bodied Fish, as my engraver hath made it; but rather longer, and slenderer; especially at the Tail, it is a flat Fish like a Sole or a Stoke. It hath bright yellow spots in the fins, and also upon the Back, the rest of the Body of an colour; the Skin is rough and full of scales, the fins compass the Body about; the Tail is forked a little; it hath two narrow sharp point pointed fins under its Throat; and the like fin by its Gills, the line of Intercision, or parting of the Body, hath many turnings and windings, which in the Flocke is stright. It is by the Germans termed, a Brett-fish or Brett-cock.

Scipenter is a Fish of an unnatural making and quality, for his scales turne all towards the Head and he ever swimeth against the streame: It was a Fish that the old Romans made a cheif reckoning off.

B. 3. Brits naiant proper born by Bretsch.

O. 3. such B. born, by Torold or Torrard.

G. one such. O. is borne by Ormefton.

XXII. He beareth Gules, a Chalbott, proper. All the Face and Head, is of a horny bony Substance, with two sharp pointed hookes standing over his Eyes, and the hinder part of the Head, hooked in like maner; like the Swallow Fish; it hath two large round fins on each side, with an Incision downe the Back; the Sides hooked, on fins like hookes; and the Taile forked. This Fish of Authors is termed Lucerna, or the Lanterne-fish; for it hath a Tongue which shineth like Fire, which in a dark, and calme night giveth light. And also Milvago, because it useth to fly. And Milvus piscis, the Kite-fish. The Germans have two, or three names for it, as Heerwepe, Gonard, Curtsich, Seehan, and Red-fish; but the most vulgar, or general name is Scheyn-fish, and we call it in English, Chalbott; from the French who call it Cabote, and Gabote; from the greatness of its Head. And Redfish, or Gournard, from the Germans, and Dutch; because it is of a red colour; yet spotted with darke spots, neither round nor square, but dashed on.

O. 3. such erect G. born by Chalbot.

A Cabot; it is a Fish of the Chalbott kind, it is of a shining hue, and therefore is also called the Lanterne fish; for its Eyes shine in the night. It is black of colour, inclining to red; the Head is very much Compresed, or made broad from the Eyes, to the Nose. The fins are sharpe pointed, and reach from the Head to the Tail; and againe from the Tail, to the middle of the Belly; the Tail forked. Two large fins at its Gills, with a kind of star on its Cheecks, under the Eyes. The intersecans line through the middle of the Body, resembles small arrow Heads, put one into another.

A Sea Raven fish; it is of the colour of a Kite, yellow; inclining to be somewhat black on the back; it resembles the Cabote in all things, only the incision excepted, which is (as it were) two lines wreathen one on the other.

The Roman sea Pen; the Sea Cocoe; the Sea Lyra, or Harp fish are all Fish of the Thrush kind therefore shall say no more of them.

B. a Chalbott. O. born by Chalbuter.

A. the like. G. born by Merchalden.

G. a Cabot proper by the name of Cabott.

XXIII. He beareth Argent, a Basiliske fish, Gules by the name of Cock-fish. It is termed also, a Sea Cockatrice fish; or a Crested fish. Which Gesner calls in Latine, Exocoetus; from its use, to come to land and sleep. It hath a finned crest on its Head like a Cock, and sharpe pointed fins down all the Back, almost to the Tail; two pointed fins, long and slender under the chin, and two broad sharp fins each side the Head; and a long narrow like sharp pointed or prickly fin, from the middle of the Belly, almost to the Tail; the fin of the Tail freight, with sharp prickles. This is termed, a Punterhane, and a Steinrup. It hath a plain, smooth Skin, and slippery, spotted all over: with an Incision line each side from Head to Tail. There are three kinds of these Fish, whose shape of Body, and fins, in all respects are agreeable; save one is crested like a Cock, smooth not dented, the other hath a bunch or tuberos swelling on the Head; and the other hath no crest at all. Which the Germans call Seelerth.

*. XXIII. He beareth Vert, a Pike, Or. Born by Pickell. Of some for distinction sake, and to decipher it from another thing of that name, it is termed a Pike fish; also a Lucie, and a Hurling. It is called in Latine, Lucius; from Lupus, because it is as great a devourer of fish in the Waters, as the Wolfe is on the Land, it hath a long and sharp Snout, with sharp Teeth: a long and slender Body, with two fins opposite one to the other, near the Tail; two fins under the Throat, and two in the middle of the Belly, the one beside the other; the Tail, forked.

G. 2. such Hauriant endorsed. O. are the Armes of the Dominion of Phiert and quartered by the Duke of Wittenberg.

B. 2. such endorsed. A. is born by Van Hartwisch.

A Menoy, or Menow so called from the Latine word, Minutus; it being the least of fish for when it is at its full growth, it exceeds not a fingers length, it is a long slender Fish and Finnd with as many fins, and in the same places, and after the same maner as the Pike is, the Germans call it, a Pstall, and a Milling or Mulling; a Wetling, and a Brechling.

A. 3. such Naiant in pale. G. born by Pictom.

A Spit fish; of the Germans called, a Sea Pike or Heerbecht, a Spissfisch, and a Schwirefisch; so called from the length and form; the later for the length of its under Chap, which in length much exceeds the higher, it is a long slender; ravenous, great Eyed, sharp Nosed, crooked Toothed, Sea-fish, haveing a blackish Back, and a white Belly. The fin of the Tail triforked, or three points.

An Hautin, or Small spit fish: of the Germans called a Heerhecht, the Body is of the same Kind as aforesaid, and very like it, it hath a sharp Snout, and torke Tailed.

A Sandile, or a Sandeale; of the Netherlanders called a Walmeester; it is a litle long Fish with a Head like an Eete, with a short little Mouth, without Teeth, from the Nose to the Brows sharp, other parts of the Head great and round; the Body is Congnious Conger like and of the same colour, it is a Fish that lives in the Sands, and some writ that it is of a Sandy colour.

G. 3. Pikes Hauriant. A. born by Pickton.

G. 3. such Hauriant in Fesse. O. born by Walbome.

G. 2. such Hauriant endorsed. A. cheife. O. by Pat-titt.

O. 2. such endorsed. G. born by Nessholt.

A.

A. 3 Sande'es najant in pale S. by Sandile.
G. 3 Pikes hauriant endorfed A. born by Siglingen & Blankenlery.

G. one such Imbowed to the Sinister A. is the coat & Crest of Colner, or Colliner of Polony.

G. 2 such hauriant endorfed O. born by Mampelgart & also by Plivat of Holland.

XXIV. He beareth Sable, a Barbell, Proper. born by the name of Parbell. It is called a Barbell from the beards which it hath on either side the mouth. It is a long bodyed fish, with a forked taile; one fin on the middle of the back, and three on the belly: it is marked all over the body with transverse lines, one so crossing the other, that it makes the body all Diamon wise, or more properly Lozenge. Two long fleshy lobbs hang downe from the nose, and one on each side at the opening, or corners of the mouth. It is also called a Barb, but in Flanders, a Barne. and in Saxony, a Parne.

A Rose Fish, soe called from the roundness & shortness of its Nose, it answers the Barbell else, in all the shapes and making of the Body, Fins, and Taile: Save the want of the fleshy lobbs. The inner side of the belly is compassed about with a most black membrane, or thinn Skin.

A Loch, or Loach, It is a small fish in all respects like the Barbell, and is called in latine, Cobitis Barbatula, a Fish with a little Beard. But the Germans a Grundeie, or Schmerle, or Sengele, or Frite.

B. 2 Barbells hauriant respecting each other A. born by Barbe.

A. the same B. is born by Colston, or Golston.

* XXIV. He beareth Cules, a Cod Fish, Argent. by the name of Colling. Of others termed a Stockfish, or an Haberdine. It is a White fish, the back of a dusky yellow, or inclining to an Ash colour; having three fins on the back, one on either side the Gills, and one at the further end of the Belly neere the Taile. It hath a little Beard, or slender Lobb of Skin hanging under the nether lip, the like also from each side the Throat. It hath noe Scales but a soft smooth Skin. In the North part of this Kingdome it is called a Reling, In the Southerne parts a Cod, and in the Westerne parts a Uelwell. The Germans a Bolck, or Bollich, because the head is too big for the body.

A Horhuel, which the Germans call a Meerhuel, It hath a small thread, or skine hanging from the tip of the under lip, but none at the throat as the Cod hath; in all other things it answereth the Cod, only it hath two fins, one in the middle of the Belly, and the other neere the Taile.

A Whiting, or Wittling, Of the Germans called a Willing, or a Gad, some think that this is but a yong Sprat of a Codfish, and will come to be a Cod. But such are mistaken, for they be a distinct Fish, yet for shap of body very like the Cod, especially in a big head, for that is much larger than the shape of the body requires. It hath fins downe the Back, and from the Taile to the middle of the Belly, with two narrow fins hanging under the Throat; It is all white, being a little dusky on the Back: and a long narrow and sharp pointed fin on each side the Gills

*

B. 3 Whittings A. is the coat of Whitting.

G. 3 such A. born by Whitling, & by Whittings.

B. 3 Cods heads couped A. born by Coddings.

A Picarel, or the White Cackarel fish. It is in Latine called Garus and Smavis; the Dutch call it a Wisser Scheyfsterling; it always remains white; of this Fish the best Garum or Pickle is made. The Cackarel, the Picarel, and the Bocque are fishes of one kind, they have a small fin long and narrow from the navel to the tail; in all other things finned as the Bocque, viz. two at the gills, and two together between the throat and navel; only in the Bocque those spots, blotches, or dashes are wanting which is in the Cackarel, or not having so many; the Picarel hath the scales more rough or sharp, with right lines like tile work, or in Lozenges orderly; but the Cackarel hath them in no order, but confusedly. G. three Pickarels hauriant A. by Pickerin.

A Bocque, beside what is afore said, hath several gold and silver lines or streaks running along from his neck to the tail. There is another species of the Bocque, which hath great eyes, as the fore said hath; but all the fins both on the back and belly, are smooth, not thorny pointed.

A Saupe, which the Germans call a Goldschreymer or a Heerberschen. It is of some termed a Stockfish, from the Latine name Salpa, but those are mistaken, for it is a small headed, little mouthed, blunt nosed, large scaled, unfavoury and unwholesom Sea fish, having many golden lines all along its gills to the tail; it hath a thorny or crooked fin on the middle half of the back; two jagged fins at the gills, two under the throat, and a long narrow jagged fin from the navel almost to the tail.

A Uergabelle, or the Rod-fish, of the Germans called a Streymbachne; it is of the Saupe species, and hath two parallel lines on the sides, meeting in one at the head and tail. This is also called the lesser Saupe.

A Cole-fish, it is a species of the Cod-fish, and hath its name from its colour, being black like a Cole; it doth differ nothing from the shape and make of the Stockfish, but in these particulars, the skin is smooth without any scaly incisions; the tail is forked, whereas the rest of this kind are streight or round; and the long fin at the bottom of the belly running from the navel to the tail, is divided into two; the fins under the throat are short and broad, and hang not, but ly along the belly.

A Witcher, or a Hole-fish, of the Germans called a Cruschen, or Alputten; and in some parts a Willing; it hath a wide mouth, with two strings or lobbs behind the gills, reaching to the navel, and ending in a double point, with a string from its under chap, an engrailed fin almost the length of the back, ending at both ends in a round; the like from the navel to the tail; the tail fin engrailed circularly; a round pointed fin on the neck, engrailed on the top; and two long fins sharp pointed, set in knots of skin, or tuberos bunches near the gills. These fish are all white, only the backs are dusky and yellowish.

A. a Cole Fish proper, born by Colley.

G. 3 Cod fishes hauriant A. born by Lairlerg.

B. 3

B. 3 Cods naient in pale A. born by Beck.
 G. a Ling head erected O. born by Lingly.
 S. 3 Cods heads A. born by Codhed. also by Codding.

A Stock-fish, or Marling, else Merling; in Latine Marlarius, and Marlingus. It hath a scaly infect all over the body; with an incision score from head to tail both sides the body; the two fins on the back, one from the tail to the middle of the belly; one narrow fin each side the gills, and two under the throat; the back is carthy colour, else all the rest of the body is white, inclining to yellow.

A Hadock, or Schellfish, an Eglefish, it hath a little short beard or string hanging at the tip of the under chap; three fins on the back, two between the navel and tail, two long narrow fins below the throat; and a broad fin ending in a point at the gills; the head is great, the body thick at the head, but short and very slender at the tail; the tail fin round forked. This is of some called a Reynfish.

A Goberge, or Bergerfish, is a kind of Cod or Stock-fish; We have no English name for it but what we borrow from the French and Dutch; it is a scaled Fish with an incision line through the sides as most Fish have, three sharp pointed indented fins on the back, a straight ended tail; a fin from the navel to the tail, one at each side the gills; and two long and slender hanging down from the throat, the belly is round and full from the head to the tail.

A Haberdine, or Inland Fish; of some called Pow John, it is the worst sort of Ling fish, though very often it doth pass for it, because it is of so near relation, and so much resembles it in form and colour; it is by the Latines termed Afinus Piscis, Leopardus, and Molus; because this Fish is variously spotted, and after the same manner as the Goberge is.

A Ling, or Codling; and of some called a Haka, of the Germans who term it Haggen or Hacken; it is much longer than the Cod, yet it is of the same colour, but being boiled turns to a kind of dusky yellow; the head and body is proportionable, the two long fins which hang in the others under the throat; in this Fish and the Haberdine, hangs a little above the navel; else in other things they are finned like the Cod, but hath no incision score along the sides.

XXV. He beareth Or, a Lamprey, proper. By the name of Lamprell. It is also called a Lamprel, or more vulgarly a Lampzon, of some a Nine eyed Cele; it hath no mouth but an hole with a round lip about it like an Hoyle Leech; it is pure white all under the belly, the upper side and fins, and tail part coal black; the Latines call it Lampreda, but the Germans Lampred and Lampfrit, and Lampfervin; and them of the lesser kind Barle and Berling, and Brick or Pick. It is of some with us termed a Luckstone, because it will fix its mouth to a Stone, and hang thereby. 3 in Pale born by Lamprell.

A French Lamprey, or Star Lamprey, is a kind of Fish which in the North of France have in their right jaw seven spots resembling the seven Stars about the North Pole, called Charlemaigns Wain, they be of a yellow colour, and glitter like Gold as long as the Lampreys be alive, but being dead, they vanish away, and are no more seen.

A. 3 Lamprous S. born by Lampfrid.
 O. 3 such in pale proper, born by Lampfish.

a XXV. He beareth Gules, a Sea Lamprey, Argent. Born by Hargrave. It hath two threads of small skin hanging down under its throat, else in all respects it is like the former. It is of some Authors called Lampetra Serpentina, the Serpentine Lampzon; by reason it hath a head and mouth like a Serpent, and the neck and tail of a Lamprey, or the Cele Lamprey; but the French call it a Lampillon, and the Germans Mamaug.

A Lampzell or Eleponto, are like the Sea Lampreis, both in shape and proportion; the He or Miltre, is called Myrus, and the She or Spawner Mirena; the he is of one colour, and is very strong, having teeth standing out of his mouth, but the she is of sundry colours, and spotted, and weakish; they Spawne at all times in the year, whereas other Fish are delivered of their young at one certain season. If these Fish slip out of the Water to dry Land, it is the common report that they will engender with Serpents and Adders.

A Sea Powte, or Sea Cele Powte, which the Germans call a Ruppen, or Alruppen; a Ratten, or Rufelcken; they differ from the shape of the Sea Lamprey only in this, that the fins on the back and belly are thorny and sharp pointed, and reach not to the fin of the tail; they have also fins at the gills, and a string at the nether chap, and like two thorns stand upright on the nose, bending a little in the point; the like thorn also on the hinder part of the head; in all other things it is like the Sea Lamprey.

A Donzelle, this is the French name to another species of a Sea Cele Powte, which in body is like the Sea Lamprey, and in the fins, having the two strings falling from the open, or Rixis of the mouth, and the body divided by three incision lines, each again parted by bevil or oblique lines, one answering, yet going contrary to the other, on the other sides of the lines, so that in the term of Blazon, the whole body (to the belly which is plain) is by lines divided into Pally Cheverony; it is in all respects shaped like a Conger: Some call it a Gill from its Latine term Grillus.

A Wallfurer, or a Walleiter, as the Low Countreys call it; English name we have none; it is in all respects like the Donzelle, only distinguished from it in the head, by having two black short threads on the upper lip, and one on the under, and the tail to end in a kind of Loienge form (as the Sea Lamprey) in the fin; whereas the Donzells tail ends in a sharp point taperwise, as the body doth; it hath small teeth.

There is another kind of Mustela, or Sea Lamprey, which hath two threads on the higher lip, and two at the end of the under lip, a fin at the gill, two strings at the throat, and a jagged fin at the hinder part of the head, the body thick and short (which makes it differ from the Lampreys) else it is finned on the back, and round the tail, and under the belly, directly like to the Sea Lamprey.

XXVI. He beareth Vert, an Cele or Conger, naant, proper, and two Celes entwapped, or wreathed together, Or. Some term them twisted or turned one about the other; the belly is white, all the rest of the the Head, Body, and fins, of a dark Earthly colour, inclining to a black. It hath two round skinny fins set on each side the neck, which in swimming fly out, else they ly close to the neck; it is finned in some all down the back, and turns the tail for a good space; others have the fin to begin in the middle of the back, and turn a little of the tail. This is born by Eller.

¶ The Etele because of its length my Graver was forced to wind about his tail, which if the Reader please he may term an Etele Naiant, with the end of his tail embowed, debused and dejected. Eteles of all Fish will live the longest out of water, which (as Plin saith) if the North Wind blow, will be for six days; but if any other Wind blow, they will not live so long; and they of all fish alone (if they be dead) will swim about the water.

A Guacamus, or the Satchell Cele; which the *German*s call a Heerlockel. It is a long fish in form of Body, like an Etele, or Conger; the Head being of a great stature, in the hinder part thereof was a Skin like leather, made in form of a great purse or Satchell. Such an Etele was taken in the Island of Cuba, in the New found World, as Gesner relates; it may be called the Monks Hood Fish.

A. 3 Eteles in Pale S. born by Ellis.

B. 3 Congers Haurient A. born by Conghurst.

XXVII. He beareth Azure, a Roch, proper. Born by Rochlev. It is more generally termed a Roch fish, or a Rochett, or Rochell. It is of the *German*s termed a Rotte, or Rottel, from the Latine Rutilus. It hath a fin on the back, two under the throat, two at the Navel, and one round fin near the tail; it is made scaly by incision cross lines all over the body in form of squares or Diamond cuts. It is called Rutilus Piscis, from its colour, which is a bright reddish yellow, or a fiery red; the belly paler.

G. 3 such in Pale naiant, A. born by Roche.

A Schwall, or Furn fish, of some called a Blick, or a Roteugell; it is of the Alburnus, or Whitefish, species, fork tailed, a fin on the middle of the back, and 3 on the belly, as the Roch with an incision score or stroak all along the sides, with the whole body made Losengy, with transverse arched, or bending lines crossing one the other. Gesner calls it in Latine Leuciscus, or Mugilis, a Bullet, and Orada, ab aureo capitis fulgore, from the golden shining of his head.

A Dace, or a Blawling, or a Gresling, or a Zienfische, or Weyfische; by all which the *German*s call it, which in Latine is termed Leucorinus. And the French Aengeron, which is English'd to me, a Dace, or Dace-fish. The shape and figure whereof answereth that of the plate in all points, save that the Blawling, and Dace, have spots at the corners of all the Joynts of the cross lines in the loseng part which tends to the Tail, and an Incision line, through both sides, and all the fins on the Body and Tail are red at the ends.

A Carpe, is in most of the European Languages so called: it hath 2 Beards of skin, or fleshy lobbs, hanging down from the two sides or corners of his Mouth, and a square Tail, in all other respects answers the form of the Roch; only something more round Backed, it being a full Bodied fish.

G. A Dace. A. by the name of Dace, or Dajon.

V. 1 Carpe. O. born by Carpvell.

B. 3 Breames. O. born by Bream.

A Bream for shape answers the Carpe, only the tail as my Author informs me, is three forked; but Gesner figure is only forked; the scaly lines are set at a greater distance in this Fish than others of its kind; the body is ----- with dark spots at the angle of each square on the back, not elsewhere.

A Bramble, is a small Fish full of scales made after the shape of a Dace, it never exceeds six inches in length, it hath a broad compressed body, of a deluce or yellow earthly colour; the fins in number and place agree with the Roch.

A Brambelen, or a Riemling; it is a squamous or scaly Fish, full bodied, of the bigness of a Smelt, but made like a Roch in body and fins; the fins are red at the root or bottom; and the line which cuts through the body to the tail is arcuate towards the belly; it is in its growth about 20 fingers breadth long, and a hands breadth broad.

A Bleke, or Bleake, or Blay, or Bleis, of the *German*s called Blick and Blickline; of its Latine name Blicca. It is a full bodied little Fish of the Alburnus kind, with red eyes, and a white body, scaled all over, with fins and tail like the Roch.

A Ruffe, or Rutt, or of some a Gold-fish, of the Latine termed Porcus Fluvialis, and Porcus Nilis, which some English take to be the Round Pearch fish. It is about the head and Breches full of thorns or pricks in all other parts, it resembles the Pearch of the Sea.

A Chevyn, or a Pollarde; it is in Latine called Carpinus, from its great head; the *German*s Schwall, or Alet; and Hyn or Honen; a Schupfish, from whence we title it a Chub fish. It is a white Fish of the Alburnus kind; in all respects it answers the form of the Roch, but it is a small Fish not exceeding a hands length. B. the like Hauriant O. born by Pollarde.

A Macrel, or Macril, which the Dutch term Wattfish, they are bigger than a Herring, yet they never exceed a cubit in length, and three or four fingers in the breadth; the back and part of the head is blew, tending to a dark green; the sides and belly of a silver colour, the fins and tail are red; the fins on the belly are one placed above the navel a little, the other just under the navel. V. 3 such O. born by Macrell.

A Rappe, of Rafax the Latine, being a ravenous devouring Fish, which makes more waste than the Pike, or Silurus, or Whale of the River. Its teeth are not in its mouth but in its cheeks; the body is losenged all over by insect lines.

A Passing, or Pasele, they are a species of the small Alburnus Fish; the eyes are red, and a bright yellow over the eyes; its teeth are in the cheeks or throat; the back is fuscous, or of a dusky dark brown, and so is the head, the sides and belly more white; the scales are indifferently big.

A Mugil, of Mugilus, which the *German*s call Zweierley Fisch, it is a small Fish, not above a hands length some, but very rarely attain to a cubit long; the aspect of the body is like to the Bullet Fish, the fins being being also of that number; it hath a sharp nose or snout, and no teeth.

A Studder or Garnished Carp, which the Latines call Cyprinus Clavatus, and the Germans a Thornbach, men, and a Steinkarpfen, because on the scales in the middle is fixed a kind of knot or button like the round head of a nail; else in all other things it is of the Carp kind. It is blunt, or round nosed, with a little mouth, from whence it is by some Latine Authors termed Beccus or Beccum, thence also by the Netherlanders called a Becken.

An Agon, which I may so call from the Latin name Agonus, it is a small Fish ten fingers breadth in length, and two or a little more in breadth; great eyes, the scales of a middle size, the line under the belly is rough and uneven, as the Thressa, or Herbambele; the Germans call it an Agunen, and Welsche Agunen.

A Karas, or Garis, and Karpkaras, a name borrowed of the Low Countrey men; it is a round well set Fish, about eight fingers breadth in length; it is of the Bream Species, or Carpe in the scales; it is of a shining gold colour, with a dusky dark brown on the back; having a cut or pointed incision through the middle on each side. It is called in Latine Charax, by Chance, in that it hath firm teeth standing out of its mouth.

An Oste, or Arffe Fish, of the Dutch termed a Roosting or Wurssing, in some places called a Weyssfisch; the back is reddish, the belly inclining to white, the scales great and broad; this Fish is less than the Carp, and bigger than a Bullet; the incision line in the middle of the body composed of points scarce discernable.

A Cackarel Fish, or a Cagarel; It hath a thorny fin from the neck to the tail almost; fins at the gills, and below the throat, and one below the Navel; the tail forked, it is a kind of small Herring having round black spots; the Germans call it a Scheyfferling, and a Poutnick; in Latine Mena, and Mamula.

A Risale, or Ryserle, or Rising; it is a little Fish not much above a finger long, derived from its Latine name Risela. It is by Gejner called also Leuciscus, which Thomasius Englisheth a River Mugle, or Lompe, or the Fresh Water Bullet; It is half a foot long, hath small Gills, scales very small; the back of it is between a blew and green colour, the belly is white, the fins incline to a white, almost like the River Bullet.

XXVIII. He beareth Gules, a Rape Argent. Born by Rea. There are several kinds of this Fish, and diverse names given to them, whose description I shall leave here, and refer you to chap. 15. numb. 37, 38, 39, 40, 41.

The Ray, or Skait, the Hais, or Thornbacks, and the Cramp fish are flat and broad Fishes, and in lieu of a back bone have gristles with cartilaginous fins, whose manner is to ly on their back when they feed; and as Pliny saith, instead of Eggs and spawning, these gristly Fish bring forth their young alive.

A Smooth Ray, in Latine called Rais Levis, and so termed from its glib and smooth Skin, being naked & free from Pricks and Sharpness of the Hide. It is like in Body to this example in the Plate, having a sharp pointed Taile, with two small round Gristly Fins, Set one above the other, at the side of the taile neere the end. It Back part is of a Dusky Browne, the Belly much Whiter. The Germans call this a Slatter Rouch, or a Rouchling, or a Rouchfarb.

A Thornbacke, soe called from the Sharp Crooked Pricks set on Studs, all down the middle of the Back: the Belly is light cinereous, inclining to a white; The Back parts of a dark, dirty, Vmber colour; and so rough and sharp, that a man cannot rub upwards upon it, but the Pricks will strike into his hand.

There is an other sort of Thornback, which hath a very smooth Skin, and wants Pricks or Thorns, except such as are in the line of the Back, which are few, little, And very rarely near together: None about the eyes, the taile hath three rowes of them.

A Sharp Snouted Ray, or a Smooth Sharp Snout Ray, as pertaking of both: The Body on the upper side is marked with many Spots, after the manner of Lentill seeds. at the eyes it hath foure Thorns, or Pricks; and on the tail three rows of hooks set orderly; see chap. 15. 39.

A Fork fish, or a Possen fish; it is like the Ray, only it wants a fin at the end of the tail, which is long and small, running taper till it end in a small point; in the middle of the said tail stands a fork after the manner of a double or trebble barbed Arrow head, and some with two single pointed nails one above another; with these forks or sharp rods he striketh the Fish that pafs by him; the outward colour is as if it were a tanned hide. It is called by some Authors a Turtle or Pigeon fish or Sea Pigeon fish, from its similitude to a flying Bird with its Wings stretched out; the Germans have several names for it, some whereof are borrowed from other places; as a Schwartzter Roche, that is a black Ray; a Peilfert, or Arrow Tail; a Ratte point, from its long tail; and an Angel fish, an Alder fish, a Stachel-Roche, from the prick or radix in the tail; and a Heertaup, &c. See more of these chap. 15. numb. 40, 41. and 19. 50.

XXIX. He beareth Argent, a Globe Fish, Gules, born by Orbell. It is also termed an Oye fish, and a Lump fish, and a Sea Oyle. It is round in the body, having the tail part a little slenderer, with two fins each side of it, at the parting of the body, the tail straight finned; it hath no scales, is set all over with rough pricks in a hard skin; it hath teeth like a human Creature. It is of some called Calcaria Marina, a Sea Scule; the Germans a Rundling, and a Flaschling, and an Egyptian Lump fish. See chap. 15. numb. 35.

The Urebin, or Hedghog Lump fish, hath its skin set with more sharper and longer pricks, so that one cannot take it in the hand but by the tail; the pricks are all four pointed, like Caltropes, which is an Engine of War with sharp points that are usually cast in the way to hinder the approach of an Enemy. S. the like A. born by Lumper.

A Scuchen, or Dual Lump fish, is in body like an Egg, covered over with a kind of snotty filth; set here and there in intervals, with pricks like Caltropes. These the Germans call Snot, and Snotolse, and Schnuder.

The British Obe Fish, is of the oval form, with the head extended or standing out from the body; the back inclines to red, the belly is white from the head to the tail, and all along the sides, it hath crooked recurved fins like them on a Sturgeon; the Scots call this a Paddeh.

XXX. He beareth Or, a Lobster erected, Gules. These Shell Fish wanting Fins saith Mr. Gwillim, pag. 240. are not, neither can they be termed Upright, but upright; but erected is the more proper word in the Art of Blazon.

The Lobster naturally is all over blackish, or of an earthly dark colour, but when it is boyled, the Shell or Coat wherein it is invested, turns to a most pure Scarlet or Vermilion colour. It is called in Latine Asellus and Locusta Marina; see the true Figure of the Lobster, chap. 15. numb. 34. This is born by the name of Lobster.

A Crevice, or a Crefish, or as some write it, a Crevis Fish; are in all respects the same in form, and are a Species of the Lobster, but of a lesser size, and the head is set more into the body of the Crevice, than in the Lobster. Some call this a Gambell.

A. the like G. by Cravissley.

G. on a Bend Or. a Lobster S. born by Grilla.

A. a Lobster G. born by Lobcock.

A. a Cheveron S. between 3 Crevises upright G. born by Crevice.

B. a Crevice in Bend G. on the dexter side three Mulletts of six points; born by Van Aengern; sans mullets; by Gergelaje.

A. a Lobster in Bend G. born by Hager.

O. the same erected G. on a hill out of Base V. born by Crebsberg.

B. a Staff raguled and trunked between two Crevises erected, and one reversed G. born by Hagen Pribern.

XXXI. He beareth Argent, two Lobsters claws in Salter, the sinister surmounted of the Dexter, proper; others thus, a Lobsters claw in Bend surmounted of another Salterways. But Gwillim is most off the mark, when he saith a Lobsters claw in Bend Sinister, Salter like, surmounted of another Dexter wise. In which Blazon he forgot the Coat and his own rule; not to multiply words when few will serve to express the meaning of a thing. Therefore say two Lobsters claws in Salter, the Sinister surmounting; the top part of these claws are, of some termed Takers, or holders, Forceps or Pincers. This is the Coat Armor Tregarthcke.

O. the like born by Van Grientellinger.

B. three such Claws erected G. born by Claws.

XXXII. He beareth Gules, a Pratone, (a Shrimp or a Beard), Argent. These Fish are naturally of a dunish white till they be boyled, then like the Lobster they turn to a pure red. It is vulgarly called a Spratone.

A Beerbar, or Rootes, Beerbarlin, or the Variable Pratone, hath a foursquare head, rough and full of indented parts, with two jointed horns, forked at the ends; the feet are five on a side, sharp pointed, each having two joints or bendings coming out from the body under the square head; the tail consists of five pieces ending in a tail of three broad pieces after the manner of a Lobster, see numb. 57. and chap. 15. numb. 6. This is born by the name of Beard.

Barry Wavy of 6 O. and G. 3 such in Pale naire. G. born by Sea alias Aisla in Kent.

O. 3 such G. born by Soane.

A. 3 such erected G. born by Pravne.

XXXII. a. He beareth Azure a Crab fish or Seacrab Or. some terme them River Crabs: the German a Krab: and Beerkrebbha, and Sulwasserkrabbe: there are of several colours, being yong or smal they are whitish, some inclining to a dirty yellow, but the middle sort of them, are of a darke cinerous, or ash colour, tending to a earthly grey. others of the largest sort are of a redish browne, some about the edges inclining to a dusky yellow. Pliny saith, that in the begining of the spring, they cast their old shell or coat (as Serpents do) and then ly hid for five months, til they have new coats again, this is born by the name of Crabley.

An Heracleotic Crab; so named from it chesnut colour, it is an adult, or Bastard Crab, being the least of his species. it is in body made after the form of a Chesnut, the legs short behind, and longer before; the pincers or claws which are forked, are very strong, is rough and dented in the shells of the body, and those that cover the feet all along them, as if the were hairy. the *German*s call these Beertraschen and Beerkrabben.

A. cheveron engr. S. between. 3 such G. borne by Bridger.

XXXII. b. He beareth Or, a Sea Crab Crested Sable. born by Le Greves. se the true shape of a Crab chap. 15. numb. 43.

A Round Crab. it is of the colour of the Chesnut Crab, being of that species, the Armes to which the pincers or nippers are fixed are very short, the pincers thick and large, the two being almost the quantity (if put together) as the whole round body; it hath according to Gesners figure but four feet, and they all on one side; the first next the eyes longest, containing five joints; the rest shorter and shorter by degrees; the feet seem to come out, or be joined altogether in the belly.

XXXIII. He beareth Sable, an Escallop Shell (or an Escallop) Or. The Shell is the Ensign or mark of the Apostle St. James, whereof Pilgrims make use, especially in their Voyages to the Sepulcher of the said Apostle, gathering them on the Sea shore, and fastning them on their Hoods or Hats as a mark of their Pilgrimage; like them that go the great Voiage to Jerusalem, who at their return bring Palms with them, which was the occasion of calling such Travellers Palmers. The Shell is pure white, yet some (whiche it be through Age) incline to a yellow; they are called also a Cot, and Jacobs Muschell by the *German*s for the reasons above said, and some St. Michaels Muschen. This is born by the name of Poyton.

A smooth head Scallop, is such whole lines come not straight to the top of the head, but keep at a distance from from it, and hath ears so large as to equal the breadth of the Escallopp, it is all white, and called in Latine Pecten.

- A. the like G. born by Prelatt.
- B. the like O. born by Poyton.
- G. 3 such O. born by Pale.
- B. 5 such O. born by Shorvill, 2, 2, and 1.
- V. 6 such A. born by Holbeck.
- B. chevron Er. between three such A. born by Townsend.
- A. 3 such S. born by Armray, and by Strickland.
- A. 3 such G. born by Barnaby, and likewise by Kelke.
- V. 5 such in Salter A. by Holbecke, and Thorley, alias Thorsley.

XXXIV. He beareth Gules, a Cockle (or Cockle shell) Argent. Born by Cockle. The Cockle shell is white having a tincture of a dusky yellow in it; it is toothed, infected, and furrowed, so exactly to its own fellow shell, that if it be seperated from it, there is not an other shell to be found that will fit it again.

A Corall-cockle; of the Germans called, a Corall Muschel; so called from it being red like a Corall, it hath two little, or small Eares coming on each side the top part.

A single ear Cockle, these have ears diversely set, some have an ear on the right side, some on the left side, with a slip or part of one, ever set on the contrary side; they are also diversely coloured; some are candidly white, others growing to a red.

The rough, or sharp pricked Cockle, because between every infect, on the rising furrow of the shell, there is set rows of pricks bending upwards like hooks. It is by the Germans called a Stachelmuschel, and a Rauche-Muschel.

B. a Fesse between three Cockles A. Born by Pole.

G. a Chevron A. between three such O. born by Premen.

XXXV. He beareth Azure, a Cockle shell revert, or Cockle shell inverted, that is returned or turned in contrary to the right form, or the inside turned outward. It is of some termed a Cockle shell opened, or the inner side turned outward. Born by the name of Cockler.

Nature hath made these Shells of divers forms, for some are direct round, with a crooked bending head; others oblong, others broad; and of all these sorts some are furrowed and dented in the edges, and others plain, not having any shew of an infect; others again with lines infected the broad way, not downwards; all which have their several names both in Latine, Dutch, and English, as Concha Echinata, Rauche Muschel, a Cockle covered or set with pricks. An Archin Cockle.

Concha Striata, Streym Muschel, a Champered or Channelled-cockle, a furrow and Dented Cockle.

Concha Chama Aspera, Glatt-Muschel, 2

Cockle Wrinkled round, or Infected round.

Concha Fasciata, Glatt Bandel Muschel, a Banded or Swadled-cockle, a Cockle double, or treble Channelled at a place, or near together.

Concha Gata, a Sallet-cockle, such as Women use to put over the nipples of their Breasts when they are sore. Called also the ----- they are generally white, or a little yellowish: some are black.

Concha Rugata, Ruzell-muschel; the Wrinkled or Winding or Crumpled-cockle. Such as have no true form, but on part winds one way, and an other part turns another, a wreathed Cockle.

Concha pictata, Maler muschel, the Painted-cockle, not because the shell is of diverse colours; but because the colour of the shell is easily rubbed, or scraped of the same, and so becomes diversely coloured.

There is a tender, and dainty Shell-fish not much unlike a Cockle. But that the shell thereof is much smoother and whitter: the Latins term it Tellina, the Germans a Tell-muschel, and we name it the Oybe or Round Cockle; yet some are Oval-wise, but all are smooth and even in the edges, the out sides being Shelved, rough or rigged.

XXXVI. He beareth Argent, a Muscle-shell (or a Musle) proper: Born by the name of Musline. It is generally black, inclining to blew: edges are whitish; called also a Mut-muschel.

A Hoyle-muscle, or Pearle-muscle are of an equal breadth at both ends it is of a dusky white colour. By the Germans called Perle-muter, and Perle-muschel.

A Pirot, or Pitot (in some places called a Bag-fish) shell: it is a round shell like a finger, which in Latine is termed Unguis Marinus; the Sea finger shell; it opens like the Muscle, and is of it species. It is of the Germans named, a Bagel-schale, or a finger schale; or a Langschale; or a Bagel-muschel. It is a long and round shell fish of a bright shining colour; and is in some places called a Sleeve-fish, and a Long Muscle. Plinie saith that of the shell fish kind, this (which he calls Dactylus) is of a most wonderful nature, for they will shine in the night when all other lights are taken away; and the more moistue they have, the more light they will give; in so much that if any drop of their fattie liquor fall by, it will shine.

B. a chevron between 3 such Cockle-shells turnne d inside out. O. by the name of Barker.

B. 3 such. Born by Pulton, also by Seacombe.

G. 3 such A. born by Spittle. With a Fesse, by Puddington.

XXXVII. He beareth Azure, an Oyster-shell Argent. Called by the Netherlands, Ostre and Oster; the shell is thick and hard, composed of many foulds, or plates. The shell open, it is pure white within, but the out side is of a dusky dirty colour. Plinie saith that in Spain they are red; fuscous, or a dark brown in Illyrico; and black in other places. 3 such is born by the name of Oisler.

XXXVIII. He beareth Sable, an Oyster shell Argent. This for distinction sake (and that very properly) terme a Knotted, or Wrinkled, or Chamfered Oyster shell; being full of carbuncles and rough skabby knots.

A Smooth Oyster is of variable shapes; as round, long Ovell, &c.

A Crisped, and Hairy Oyster; it is being opened so transparent, that the shell may be seen through: It is of a purplish colour without, and white within. The outside of the shell is full of curlings, crispings, friskings, and wrinkled, in the several heights of the doublings in the same.

A Stein Oyster, which the Germans call Eis-hub: that is Ades-hoof, because it very much resembles the foot, or hoof of an Als; being opened, and the inner side to us.

B. 3 Oyster-shells; A. born by Oster.

G. a fesse between 3 such O. born by Raly.

A Clamme is a kind of large shell-fish of the Muscle or Cockle species, which the Latin terms Chama; the Germans Chimmuscheln, or Pfeffer-muscheln, or Flammuscheln: the shell is soft that it may be prest together with ones fingers, and the fish in its being eaten, doth inflame the mouth like pepper. They are generally round and ovell after the Oyster form, some smooth, others rough and shelled; some whitish, others black.

A Gebbling is a kind of round shell-fish, and thick-shelled of the Oyster form, it lives, and lyes altogether in the Mud. The Germans call it, a Kaatmuscheln; or a Murmuscheln. The Latin term it, Concha Maris, and Conchila Varieta; because of its various lines and adornings.

XXXIX. He beareth Gules, four Escallops in Cross, their Heads Revertant to the Fesse, Argent. Of some, their Head in point towards the fesse, or four Escallops in Crosse, their Heads respectant; or four escallops in Aspect Cross-wise: This is born by the name of Ludmaner of Bavaria.

B. the like O. born by Aufderam.

XL. He beareth Sable, a Welk, Or. Born by the name of Welk and Shellie. This is of some called a Periwinkle shell; but that is a mistake, as you may see numb. 42. and chap. 15. numb. 20. It is called in Latin Turbo, which is a Welk, or Winkle; yet there is a difference; for the Welk is always open on the top, whereas the Periwinkle, or Winkle are open on the sides; though both are wreathed, and wrinkled in the bottom. They are generally white, yet some have a tincture of yellow in them. S. a Fesse engrailed between 3 such O. is born by Shelley.

A Troch Welk, or a Top Welk, Trochus in Latin so called from its resemblance to a Topp; an instrument that Boys and Children used to play with; ample and broad in the higher part, and presently end in a point; some are long, others are short; the out sides are rough (like the bullions, imbossing, and swelling ornaments in plate) or the rough cast of a plastered wall; less pure or clean, being of a dusky or dirty colour: but the inner sides shine with a splendor like the precious Pearl, called a Anton. []

A two fingered Welk, are such as at the open point into two corners, as the figure numb. 52. Some into three, or more; Pentadactilo Turbo, as Pliny terms it, a Welk with five Fingers, or Corners, or Points. They have usually four or five appendices long and sharp, some have the appendices square, some are white, others black, others purple, and others with various colours. These the Germans call Zinckel, and Zinckelstrauben.

In the base, both dexter and sinister, I have set the forms of two Welks, or Winkles: which the Germans call, a Hantcherley, and a Kleine Schnecke, or Straupen-Schnecke.

XLI. He beareth Or, out of a Welk Dejectant, proper: a Demy Dragon Issuant, Gules. There are some Heraulds that term it, a Demy Dragon, or Wevern passant, out of a Welk. As this Welk (as it were) cast down with the Wevern out of it: so there are Crests, and Crests, which have them standing upright or erected, with Lyons, Dragons, Flowers, Leaves, &c. issuing out of them; and then we say out of a Welk, such or such a thing.

And here give me leave to set down the several Terms used by Artists, by which they express the standing, lying, falling or the like, of senseless or inaniminal things: according to their several beings, as they are born in Arms.

Erected, or Erectant; is when any thing is raised, and set uppright; advanced or lifted up, as numb. 40.

Dejected, Dejectant; or Cast aside: is when a thing that is usually born upright, as in its proper nature; yet by some accident is cast down or laid along on the ground, or field, as it were: as in the example, numb. 41.

Reverted, Everted, Subverted, Subvertant, or Debased: is when a thing from its proper nature and use, is turned over, or downwards. That is turned up side down, as numb. 3.

Counterposed, set together, or one to the other, or against one another: as lib. 3. chap. 17. numb. 70.

Point, or in Point; or Point in Point: when either the Heads, or Feet, or ends of any thing are set or meet together in a place whether it be in cheit, fesse, or base of the Escochion: as numb. 39. lib. 4. chap. 1. numb. 15, 16, 17.

Reverted, turned back side, or inside outwards: as numb. 35.

Endorsed, or Doys an Doys: that is when one thing is set to the back of another, whether they be erected or dejected. Things set on contrary to another; one one way, and another the other way: as numb. 5.

Dissevered, put or set asunder, one from the other: as lib. 3. cap. 17. numb. 79.

Respecting, or Aspecting; is when not only live things, are looking or turned one to another; but it is used for dead things or inaniminals, as when one is set one way, and the other is set in opposition to it; as when two heads, or mouths, or handles of things are set to one another, or turned to one the other; contrary to their proper station, then such turnings are so termed: as numb. 4.

For example, two Cressants respectant, or two Cressants with the Horns in aspect; is when the Cressants which usually hath the horns upward, are turned turned with the horns sidewise one towards the other.

And two Bottles rampant, of their Mouths in aspect: is when the mouths of the bottles, or such like have the mouths set one against, or in opposition to the other, & so of the like. In which kind of bearing we must understand that they cannot be thus set, but they must have their proper way of station; & be turned both side-ways by being dejected, & so the mouths are in aspect.

Reader in the sinister chief, I have placed a Dolphin in a posture, as in all the turning and winding of Serpents mentioned in chap. 9. There is not the like, all of them having their heads over their tails; but this hath its tail over the head. Which is thus termed a Dolphin (or any other kind of Serpent, Adder, or bending filth in this posture) embowed debased the Tail surmounting. After some others' embow'd, the Head surmounting by the Tail. Here thou may if it please thee leave out the last words (by the Tail) as superfluous, and then it is well blazoned, as embowed the Head debased. This A. in a field B. is born by Van Hackham.

XLII. He beareth Gules, a Periwinkle or Periwinkle-shell, or as others term it a Cucur shell Argent, born by Rosacre. It is in Latine termed Purpure Operculum, and Cochylus Operculum; the same much resembling the Purple shell fish, and the Sea Cornett, being between both. The Germans call it, a Seckele, of the Purpurschnecken. Pliny calls them Scalped Winkles, because the seeme to have several coats or covers one upon another. Of this kind we may see wonderful varieties, and many sundry colours, with diversity of formes, and figures, for of them we shall have plain, long, round, Horned like a Creslant, half round, bow Backed, smooth, rough, toothed like a saw, ridged and champhred between; wrinkled and winding to the top, bearing out sharp points. Some with the open place spread out, others hath them Rowled in, some Striped, Rayed, Crested, Wreathed, Crisped, Studded, Imbossed with bullions, swellings with net or lattice-work. All which are termed according their formes and turnings and adornments. this is born by Periwinkle, when three are in the field.

In the dexter base I have set one of the foresaid formes which is called, a Round plain Periwinkle; these kinds are generally white, and of some call'd the Wilky-periwinkle.

A Pointed, or Studded, or Imbossed, Periwinkle; whose figure you may see numb. 43. which is termed Turbo Maritus, of the Latine; a pointed, or Rugged Winkle, it much resembles the form of the Buccinus, or the Sea Cornet. The Germans call it Duckelstraub; from its tubercous, and knotty forme; being short and obtuse or blunt the outer part is tumidous, or swelled out and white, the inside is of a purple colour. The fish thrust themselves out of the shells, and goe in, when they please; they have two Horns sharp at the ends (Eyes they have none) but grope with them whether the way be safe, and sure they goe in.

XLIII. He beareth Or, a Snail shell, Sable. The Latine calls it, Cochlea testis, and the Germans a Schnecke. It is round, the Tail of it, turning inward, or wrapped one upon another; the largest shells are of a blackish blew colour; some are white, others yellow, others are variegated, and some lines of contrary colours drawne from the first opening of it, turning as it turnes to the very point or center; some have them with gemill lines, others with treble lines. 3 such is born by Snail.

S. 3 such A. born by Snailston.

G. one such. A. is the coat and crest of Schneck heuser. In English Snailhouse.

In the Base I have placed, an Angled Wleke; treated off in numb. 42. to which place I refer you, onely here giving you its form, and shape.

XLIV. He beareth Azure, an Indian snail shell (a Mother of pearle shell) proper. This is vulgarly so called, but its true and proper name, is an Indian, or Persian Sea Snail shell. The Latine termes it Margaritifera Cebilea: a snail that brings forth Pearles, from whence it tooke the name of being the Mother of Pearle. It is of a dusky white without, but within it is very splendide, of the colour of a Unione stone, viz. like polished Silver with reflections according to the light upon it, with purple, red, blew, and Sea-water green. The Germans call it a Meerschneck Aufz India.

A Carved Snail shell, is of the Wleke species, whose intorted Tail, or Shell end; stand more out in length as the Periwinkle, or Wleke, which rotundity is cut and carved about, as if it were set with round Pearles. It is of the colour of the Unione stone within, but redish without. It is called a Meerboone, and if smooth a Sinwel-schnecke.

A Navel Snail shell; called in Latine Umbilicum from the form or shape it hath to a Navel, or turning in of the Skin at the navel; a Wrethen shell, or wrinkled. See the figure chap. 16. numb. 5. a Navel-schnecke.

A Crumpled, or Rugged Snail shell; Cochlea Rugosa: being full of wrinkles, crumples or plaits: rough and riviled and withered: it is of some termed, a Crumpled Navel shell.

G. 3 Mother of Pearle shells proper. born by Pearler.

B. one A. is born by Saughall.

B. A Fesse O. between 3 such A. born by Hamlet.

XLV. He beareth Vert, a Cuttle fish Argent. Some call it a Scuttle fish; and the shell of it Scuttle bone. It is by Pliny called Pourcuttle, or Pourcontrell: it is generally known to the Goldsmith which use it by the name of the Goldsmith fishbone; the Germans call it Meerschpin, and Kuttelfish. The bone is something flat, having a little concave (in which the Fish lieth) of a spongy substance, covered on the top with a thick Flethy, soft, & smooth Skin; of an Umber or hair colour, and white, intermixed into spots and lines, after the airyness of a Tortoise shell. All the rest of the fish is pure white, and doth resemble the body of a Snail, and creeps like it: having the Tail part divided into two skinny flaps. In the middle of the Head under the long lobbs, or skin like membranes, is a round hole, in which is fixed a Mouth directly like a Hawks beake, black as a coal: turned up side down, the hook standing upward in the lower mandible, and the higher falling into it. This is born by the name of Cuttle or Cutler.

G. 3 such A. born by Goldsmith.

B. 3 such and a Cheveron A. is born by Skutell,

A Sleeve, of some called a Black fish: by reason it is all black as inck within, the Head like the Cuttle fish, the Body streight, till it end in the Tail which is like a square Head, four square, or Losenge like. It is called in Latine Loligo which as Thomas interpretes, is a Fish whose Head, is between his inner parts, and Belly: it hath two bones, one like a knife, the other like a quill, whereof it is called, a Calamarie, and a Sea Cutt, or Cuttle fish. See the figure chap. 15 numb. 31.

XLVI. He beareth Azure, a Stoyme fish (or a Scorpion fish) Or. It is a full round bodyed Fish, and more longer and narrower in the Tail (then my graver hath made it) long sharp pointed fins on the middle of the Back, at the end of it a round fin near the Tail, and such an other each side the Gills, under the Belly one, and at the Tail such a fin sharp pointed as is on the Back. The Head is rough, hooked, and the Gills the same, a full black Eye; and the colour of the whole Body inclining to a black on the Back, sides and Belly of the colour of the Hackrell; the Tail red spotted with black. The Germans call it, a Scorpfisch, and a Meerscorp.

A Posidon is a fish very like this Stoyme fish, only differs a little in colour; but in what respects my Authors faith nothing.

B. the like A. born by Storeton, or Stormeton.

XLVII. He beareth Argent, a Finned Scorpion fish, Gules. This is the lesser Scorpion fish, and differs from the foresaid Scorpion in the Hornes, and large fins, under the Throat, and at the Tail, and therefore for distinction sake may be fitly termed, the finned Scorpion fish, or a Horned, and Finned Scorpion fish. It is termed Scorpius Minor, the lesser Scorpion fish: and is of the same colour in all respects. This is born by the name of Scorpi.

B. 3 such. O. is born by Kingston.

G. one A. a Chiefe. O. born by Shotwick.

XLVIII. He beareth Purpure, an Araneus or a Spider fish, Argent: Horned and Finned, Or. This is of some termed a Horne fish. It hath diverse names given it by writers; in Latine, Draco Marinus, the Sea Dragon, our English name is a Weaver, or Sea Weaver, or a Sea water Alverne, or others called a Petermanche, or Pieterfish, and a Coypoz. There are two sorts of the Araneus, the greater & the lesser. The Greater Araneus, hath a Body and Tail like a Solomon, but forked, and spotted; the Scales small, Back dark, sides ----- it hath a sharp pointed prick, and long, standing on the fins; that on the Back, reacheth from the Tail, to the Neck; and those on the Belly, from the Tail to the Throat; sharp and long hooked, as the other: a beard at the Throat, a large triangular fin each side the Gills. A short Nose, and two sharp streight Hornes behind the Head at the tope of the Gills, called Cornuta. The Lesser Araneus, or Spider fish: wants the hairy beard which the greater Araneus hath under it Throat; and is spotted with round spots all over the Body, which the great one, wants, else in form and shape and colour I know no difference.

In the Sinister cheife is the shell of a Fish called a Sea Cornett It is of the Poets termed a Sea Nymphes borne, or Trumpet, in Latine Buccinum; of the Germans Linckhozen. It is of the Purple shell fish species being between it, and a Winkle, for its excellency hath been often taken for the Purple, there are of them two kinds; one with lines, set with little small round knobbes, with the open part shooting out into corners, or one or two becks like Gutters; the other side turning round, writhen inwards like a horne. See numb. 32.

The other Sea Cornett, is round Backed, and cut like a Saw in the edges: it is made on the out side, as if one long turning plate, or scale, were above the edge of the other, terne like: and is of a dusky yellow on the out side, but smooth within, of a light and whelmish purple colour but the nearer the Mouth whiter, the edges white.

A Stachel shell, or a Stachel fish; is a name borrowed from the Germans, which the Latins call Murex. It is of the Sea Cornett species; of which there are several sorts, as the Marble coloured Stachel shell is on the out side, of a white; and the in side white, inclining to a purple. The Triangular Stachel hath one side streight, and plain, the other round, with a double hole full of wrinkles, or Rough plaits: it is of a various colour. The Milky Stachel shell, so named from its Milky colour; this hath a little swelling, rather then knotts or knobs. The Fingered Stachel shell, so called because it hath Pins, or Fingers standing out of the edges of it, like the purple shell, mentioned numb. 12.

G. 3 Sea Cornetts. A. is born by Stick, or Stocke.

XLIX. He beareth Sable, a Tunny, or Tunnie, Argent. Gesner in his History of fish, saith that the Chin, which we in English call, a Tunie, according to its age and growth hath several names, and that in its first degree becomes a Whale; or Pompili. This is born by Tunney.

An Orcyn, of the Latine Orcynus, is the great Tunny; by the Germans called, a Waltunny, or Groffer Tunny, for it doth in all parts resemble the figure of the Tunny, onely the Back fin, by a declining degree, extends to the other fin upon the lower part of the Back, and the Tail streight, not forked.

An Amia; it is of the Tunny shape, and fashion, yet is a Fish no bigger then a Herring: the Germans call it a Hacrillen of the Tunny kind: it is Ceruleous, of a bluish shining colour, splendant with green on the Back, and silver colour on the sides, and white on the Belly, it hath sharp Teeth.

Hacrrell, or a Hacrill or Hackerell; called also a Bratfish: it is the shape and form of the Tunny, yet no larger then a Scotch Herring; onely it wants at the tail below, those small fins which are next the tail. It is of a shining silver colour, greenish on the Back, Belly white, the fins and Tail dusky. It is called in Latine Scomber, and Scombrus. S 3 such najant A. is born by the name of Makrell.

A Haffard Hackrell, of the Germans called Hacquerele: as being of the kinds of two fishes, in figure it is like the Hackrell; also in colour, and pleasantness of taste: It is in Latine Lacretis, and Trachurus. The fin on the lower part of the Back, extends to the Tail, narrower and narrower by degrees; that at the Navel doth the like. The Germans call this a Heet-Heidor, or Heidor fish.

In the Sinister cheife is the figure of the shell Conchile, or a Round end Cockle, which in Latine is termed Conchilus: it is rough by reason of a certain hollowlythat is on the out side of it, as if it were all over picked full of pin holes. It is of the Purple shell fish species, and is between it, and the Sea Cornett, Bucconium. Of the German called, a Purpurschnecken; the middle is round and broad, open almost to the bottom, which is not writhed, but wrought about with a kind of rugged rings shelly or scaly, as if one Scale of the Shell lay over, or stood higher then an other in 4 or 5 strait or narrow rings ending like a Winckle, it is of a dusky white, or Earthly colour without, a pale purple within, being more white towards the edges.

I. He beareth Azure, the Head of a Rake fish, in head Couped, Or. The Body of this fish is comparable to the Whale, and in all respects do answer the figure, of shape of the Sword fish, next following numb. 51. It is of the German called, a Sagfish, and Frombred Walisch. This is born by Rakerley.

An Indian Rake fish: hath the Snout rough, and of an Amber or dark brown, it is something less than the Whale, but of it shape, a great fleshy, or thick Skinny Fin on it Back: with the like two hanging down in sharp ends under it Throat, the Tail fleshy, and streight finned. It is in the Latine called, Serra Piscis, as Saw fish, from the likeness that it Nose was to a Saw.

A. a Rake fish. B. born by Storton.

B. 3 such Head couped. O. born by Waterbanke.

II. He beareth Gules, a Sword fish, Argent. The Latine call it Gladius Piscis, and the German a Swert fish, or Schwert-fisch. It is a long slender fish with a long sharp pointed Spout, like a Woodcock bill; two fins on the Back, at a distance; two under the Throat, and one near the tail; the tail is broad and streight yet narrow withall in respect of it latitude. The whole fish Erected in bend, is born by Sarpine.

V. 3 such Heads couped. O. born by Taubridge.

*II. He beareth Sable, the Broad-mouth Sword-fish, Or. This is the lesser sort of Sword-fishes, and for distinction termed the Duck-bill, or Broad-mouth Sword-fish. It is full and round at the Head and slender at the Tail, resembling the figure in all points. The Back fin should have been set higher towards the Head, almost on the crown.

S 3 such najant in pale is born by Ronmouth.

III. He beareth Or, a Porpoise (or Purpess) proper. This fish is by Conradus Gejer, & all other writers; laid to be the true shape, and form of the Dolphin, which whosoever saw any of them swim; with him, and them, will conclude the same: for they never swim streight, and extended to its length, as other fish do, but imbowed, tumbling up and down in the water. The fins are all solid fish as the Body: it is all over of a pure shining black, like satin; the Skin as soft as silk and all under the Belly from the throat to the tail fin, pure white as Snow. It is in Latine termed Delphinus, or Delphin, the German Gantz Schweyn, that is the Goose-fish, being compounded of the flesh of both; they call it also a Sea-goose, and Swin-fish; Orea, and Piscina, or Pague, Piscis: from whence we borrow our name Porpoise, made up of Porck and fish, a Pork fish.

A small Porpoise hath only one fin on the Back, and two pointed, under the Throat: thick and round on the Head, and middle (as it were) all in a round; and so by degrees small at the Tail, with a fleshy forked round fin there.

O. 3 Porpoises najant in pale proper. Born by Purpose.

In the base Sinister part of this square, I have placed a Curba Digitatus, a Fingered Winckle. Which is described before in mb. 40. to which place I do refer you these kinds of Winckles, or Winckles, have their insides generally of a purple hue.

LIII. He beareth Argent, a Sea Frogg fish, Gules, Horns Or. It is called Rana piscatrice, vel Marina: the German, a Sreetode, and a Coich, and a Heer krotte. It represent the shape of a young Frogg, having the Head bigger then all the rest, a mouth wide and great, the lower chap larp, with two rows of teeth, with sharp teeth fixed on the tongue; the Feet Cartilaginous; or gristly fins, with two horns like gristles, on it head; double pointed. This is but a young Frogg, the shape of one at full age and growth see chap. 15. numb. 36. this is Merfogg's coate.

LIV. He beareth Or; a Star fish Sable. This is all hairy & of an earthy colour, and is born by Stellerby.

A Toothed Star fish, Stellia Pectinata, so called because it being a solid shell hath like the teeth of a comb, set on each side the Rayes.

The Globe Star fish; or Oyle Star fish is round like a ball, and is all hairy: or else beset with sharp prickles from its center to all parts; which is by some Authors termed the Archin fish, or Sea Archin, it being laid on the Earth moves not; but put in Water, opens its quills, & turnes it Belly upwards; it hath a mouth and five teeth, it is of some Authors called, a Sea Apple.

There are diverse forms, and fashions of Star fish: some have three Rayes, or Fins some 5. 7. 8. others have many which run like Branches, or Boughes of tree from one another. Some are inclining to Red, some to Black, some to Grey, or Asht colour, others to Yellow.

A Smooth Star fish, of the German called a Heerstern, it is a smooth Shell sharp pointed, the top sides rough with tuberos Knots. The Rays are flexible, and like the bendings of Hice tails, or Serpents. In the middle of the Body is a round Globe, in which are five round spots, from which the said five Rayes, variously flexed, do rise, or spring forth.

A Wheele Star fish; or a Tree Star fish, of the German called a Strauden fish. From the Body (which is neither round nor square) proceeds five Rayes, or trunkes, like the boughes of Trees, which again shoores into each two apeece; which after shoot in many lesser, and smaller branches; all keeping in the compals of a round, or circle. It is all black, only a white line doth proceed from every corner, or Angle of the Mouth: from whence it is named, the Black sea Star.

A. 3. Star fishes S. born by Stanlow.

G. a cheueron between 3 such A. is born by Sonhton.

LV. He beareth Argent, a Dog fish, or a Sea Dog fish, proper. It is by the Dutch termed a Blackhund, and a Hundfish: the Skin is hard and redish, beset befet with hard and sharp scales; sharp and rough and black, the Belly is more white and softer. Some attributes a whiteness to the scales: the fins are of the same nature to the Skin on the Body. 3 such S. is born by Gesse.

A Thorn-hound; in the Latine called, Galeus Acanthias which the German interpretate to be, an Aischfarber-Hundfish: it hath its name from its pricks; for in its Back he beares two sharp pricks, to which the fins are joynd, or rest upon; they are not very broad, but wonderful acute, and sharp, as the sting of a Gnat. This fish is of a cinereous, or ash colour.

G. 3 Dog fish najant in pale. A. born by Thingwall.
B. one such O. born by Leatherland.

A Star Dog fish, of some called a Donhound. Of the German Sternhund, and Falckhund; its Skin and shape is like our figure of the Dog-fish, only this is longer and slenderer; with its Nose ending in a sharp point, and turned up: it hath spots on its Back resemble Stars.

A Venetian Dog fish; it is of the species of a Dog fish, only the Nose as broad as the Head, which are both larg; the Body from thence declining, or lessening to the Tail; it hath three fins on the Back; and one, each side a little below the Gills: the Tail forked. It is of a redlish colour, with a multitude of black spots on its Back. The sides and Belly fuscous, or of a dusky brown.

A Baked Dog fish; so called because it is all white, and pure and free from all spots, scales, or roughness of skin. It is in Latine called, Carcharia, of the German termed, a Kleiner Hund fish, or an Hundle. It is of the Dog-fish kind, and in all respects answers its shape and proportion; setting aside its length and slenderness, with a sharp Nose, in which it exceeds the Sea Dog-fish.

A Spotted Dog-fish, is the same as above, having two fleshy fins near the Tail, at a little distance: and the fins under the Belly, viz. at the Throat, Navel, and near the Tail. The Tail is streight at the end, with two or three dents on the under side; it is spotted all over the Body and fins, with curious separated (or orderly contrariety) spots, of an oval form. The Paps, or tears are white, with the place of conception, which is cut in two places. The German call it a Gefackter, or Katlachter Hund-fish.

A Stone-Dogfish, or a Gravel-Dogfish; so called by reason of its breeding, and living amongst stones and gravelly grounds; the Latin calls it, Canicula Sarafilis, which is by the Saxons termed a Flackhund, or a Steinhund. It is about two cubits long, freckled all over fins and all: it hath two fleshy fins near the Tail, set at a little distance one from the other; with three under the Belly, viz. one under the Throat, one at the Navel, and one near the Tail, opposite to the lower most on the Back. The Tail fin is streight, the higher point extended high to a sharp point; the lower side cut into two or three indents, see more of these Dog-fishes, chap. 15. numb. 42.

LVI. He beareth Or, a Sea Ape, proper. Born by Apety. It is termed Simia Marina, of the Latines: when it flyeth, the fins are extended, which are two long fleshy and gristle fins, near the Neck; and two such like on each side, at the ending of the Body; with a fin on the middle of the Back. It hath a long serpentine Tail. It is flat nosed, having an oblique descent from the Eyes to the Mouth: the holes or issues of the Gills, appear round like Eares. The colour of the whole Body is green, but on the Back it is fulcous, or of a dark dusky brown; the sides paler or more wan. The Teeth broad, and continued as (it were) in one.

[]

LVII. He beareth Azure, a Sturghion, Argent. Born by Surger. It is in Latin called Strurto, and Stora; the German, Stoz, and Styr, or Style. It hath a Fin at the hinder part of the Head, from which down the middle of the Back, goes a row of hooks (bending backwards) almost to the Tail, which ends in another like Fin, as is at the Head. From the Throat a long the Belly (as far as the hooks on the Back) is set with bony round buttons, chamfered, or furrowed; each having a hook in the Head, turning to the Tail; at the end of which buttons a little from the Tail, is set another fin answering that on the Back. The Tail fin is forked, ending in two points, the Head is gristley, and uneven; the Snout or Nose, is long and broad, yet ends in a bluntish point. It is from thence called, Acipenser, and Aquipenser: being the only fish set by the Gentry; and as Pliny saith, hath its scales growing towards the Head (which I could never observe in our Sturghion) and always swims against the stream. It is of kind to a fish called, an Antacens, which is as big as a Dolphin, of whose skin, mouth-glew is made, see *numb. * 1. 6.*

A Prickly Sturghion; doth in all respects answer the Sturghion above said, only in this it differs, that whereas the other hath a row of pricks, tending with the points to the Tail, on each side; this hath the whole Back set and each side, to the middle of the fish, with three or four rows of pricks: and two fins above, near the Tail at a space one from the other, with some gristley strings hanging about his Nostrils.

A Silurus, or a Sheath-fish; of some called a Whale of the river: it is like a Sturghion, and is a great devourer of fish.

B. 3 Sturghions in pale. A. Born by Sturghon.
G. one such O. born by Gornen.

In the dexter base of this quarter, is the figure and true image of the small Sprawne, or Shrimpe: called in Latin Squilla parva; it hath that name from its species, or nearness it hath to the Sprawne not from its age, for this kind of Shrimpe will never attain to any bigger stature, then the figure on the plate; which is not in Body and Tail, above an inch long; of some termed from its littleness a Prane (instead of a Small Prane) and a Shrimpet, their colour is so obscure, through their thin and smallness, that it is hard to judge rightly of it; out of the water they appear to be of a dusky white; in the water they seem to be some reddish, others greenish, others yellowish, or tawny.

A Sea Prane, or Sea Shrimpet, or Shrimplet. It is something bigger then those of the river or fresh waters: they are near a fingers length, called Squilla, and Cancellus. The Head is bigger then the hind Body requireth; It is all joints, and hath three or four long beards, turning at the ends, like the claspers of a Cane. They are of a dusky white; but being boiled they turn (both the husk or shell, and the fish) to a pure red. The Germans call this, a Swerg - Krebslin.

A Crook - back Pyane, or a Bunched Shrimpe; is a small fish also, and is so termed either from its bending of its back, or from the bunch in the end of his Tail, being (as it were) four round fins set together. The Feet are long, and set all together at the beginning of the first joint, from the Body: the two first are long, consisting of two joints; the three next Feet, shorter: and the three hindmost shorter then them. The Low - Countrey Men give this several names, as a Spring - Krebsle, a See - gitzle, a Heergelz; and from its bunch, a Hoger - ling, and Hogergermier, being alive they are of a dusky white, but boiled wax red. These kind have no horns at all.

A Cigale, or Engraven prawn; It is a jointed kind of crusted fish, like a many footed Worm: the Germans call it, a Polstossel, and the Latin Pantis, or Squilla Celata. It is grey eyed, thin shelled, white and almost transparent fish (of the species of Crevises, or insects of the Sea) having two crimson or eye like spots, upon the Tail; and on either side of the upper part of its Body. It hath three Feet, a long Arm, with a strong Clef: and two long thin jointed horns.

LVIII. He beareth Gules, a Storen, or Small Sturgeon, Argent; so called, because it is of the Sturgeon kind, having the like sharp, hook bones on the back, and sides, as the Sturgeon; only the Nose shorter and blunter. It is in Latin called Galeus Rhodius, and of some, Culpes Rhodia: It hath a thick short Head, and Nose, no under chap; a large fin at the gills under the Throat; and two fins, or lobes of skin, near the Tail, and one above; the Tail is straight, having a slit in the middle, the higher side stretching it self out into an acute, Angle, or sharp point. This is born by Storne.

An Attilus, or Attill Fish: It is a cartilaginous, or gristly fish, of kind to the Storen; and the Antecus, mentioned *numb. * 1. and 6.* The Attilus is of the Germans called an Hausen. It hath straight sharp bones on his back, sloping backwards: which ends in a crooked fleshy fin, a little from the Tail; those under the Belly are more large and gros, ending at two like fins, standing at a little distance one from another, and from the Tail.

[]

a thick short head, with a sharp pointed Nose, turning upwards; a great round wide Mouth; hath no under chap: from the under side of the Snout or Nose, hangs three or four strings, or gristles, over his Mouth; and a large fin from beneath his gill. It is said, that this fish (when his thorny scales are grown to such a magnitude) doth cast the thorns.

The Dolphin, and the Antecus, are of the Surgion, and Storen, species, which because I have treated of them elsewhere, I shall say nothing of them in this place; if not of their kinds, yet they be of their form and shape, as all Painters draw them.

In the sinister chief of this numb. r 58. I have caused the figure of a Fin - shell; in the Latin it is called Pinna and Perna, which the Germans term a Hamme - Muschell, because it doth resemble the form of a Ham, or Sammon of Bacon. It hath teeth in the edges of the shells, which clap one into another, like an Escallop, or Cockle; and furrowed on the out sides like them, all tending to the sharp point or end, as the center. From these shell fish, proceeds the Union ston, which is ever as large as the fish his eye.

A Great Ham - Muskle, or Pearl Muskle; It is of a cubit length growing to its extremity; but generally, they are a foot long, or more. It is not furrowed, as the small one is, but plain and smooth, having one round rick, or ridge from the point to the round end; which is broad there, and sharp pointed below; the out shell is straike, being cut, or (as it were) worra eaten, or graven on, confusedly with crookes, turnings, windings, and crossings all over very thick. They have generally a great bush, or tuft of an hairy substance, growing out of the shell from the fish, which is called the Muskles Wool. It is called a Steck - Muskle, because one end is sharp: and a Ham - Muskie in that it resembles a Sammon of Bacon; and a Pearl - Muskle, because it breedeth Pearls, as the Hagarit, and Antion.

A small Ham - muskle; is of the same form, plain and without teeth in the margents or edges; yet on one side, hath a certain excavary, or the edges of the shell are made hollow, like the sides of a treble Vial. The top shell, is shelvy, or scally having one crust, lying upon another; after the manner of a Muskle.

X x

T O

TO THE
Worthy and ever Honored

Sir JOHN ARDERNE of Arderne, Knight.

IN token of true Gratitude for unmerited Kindness, and innumerable Favours continually Vouchsafed; doth in most humble manner constrain the Dedication of this Chapter and Plate to your sacred Thoughts and Devotion; not doubting of Your Acceptance and well-wishes, to him who is

Your Devoted Servant

Randle Holme.

CHAP. XV.

I HE beareth Gates, a Fish, Argent. By the name of Fishlingen. The Germans only have a name for this fish, which they call a Meerseele. Gesner calls it from the Latine, Pycnolus: a little or small Fish. What other name to give it, is yet to me unknown: It is a flat long fish like a Sole fish having a fin from head to taile, and the like from the middle of the belly to the taile; a Fin at each Gill, the taile is triparted.

The fish called a Remora, or Echeneis, or Stayship: hath amazed the beholders in considering the occult and hid strength and virtue therein: For Plinie l 9 c 25. saith it is a very small fish living amongst the Rocks, yet by his strength he will stay a great Ship under sail; when tempests arise. Aristotle thinketh that this fish hath tar, placed in a manner like to Birds wings. It is described by Imperatus to have a flat head and part of his back in which there are diverse transverse Remulae or Chinks.

The Ephemera, is a fish which ariseth in the Sea-water, even as a Bubble doth, where much rain is; which after three hours of the day dyeth, as Jorack in his Book de Animalibus reporteth.

In the base of this quarter, I have given you the figure of a Sea-worm, called by the Germans, a Mettlen, or a Beer-worm. It is like an Earth or Garden- worm, which we call a Lob-worm. It is about a finger long and smooth, having no inclures, or joints: the skin soft and gentle. The Mouth or Snout is obtuse, and hard; a little standing out.

There is another sort of these Mettlens which have no Mouth or Snout, but only a hole by which it sucks in its food.

The Great Sea-worm, or Mettlen; called by the Germans a Long Schnail. It is near two cubites long; and the Snout much longer, then the Mettlen abovesaid, and like the Snout of an Hippocampus: It resembles a But Pudding.

A Reed, or Cafe-worm: are Worms about a finger long, which breed in Canes, and Reeds, or any hollow cafe in the water, which are in form like the Mettlens; the hinder part of this Worm ends in a sharp point, like the leaf of a Myrtle tree; and the fore part of it, hath Feet like the Scolopendra, (mentioned numb. 46) from whence it shuts out a Pipe, in form of a Trumpet, very hard: by which it sucks nourishment into its body: they are all red. The Germans call these a Kanelworm, and a Kanelnaseln, and a Rotlacht.

II. He beareth Azure, a Gudgion or Gogion, proper. Born by Gogion. The Germans have several names for for it, as Gressling, Kressen, Gob, Guse; It hath an high fin on the middle of the Back; two under the Throat, two at the Navel, and one near the Tail: the fin in the Tail forked. It is of a Silver colour, with a white Belly; the Back a blackish dusky colour, spotted with round black spots, above the incision line on the sides.

A Kellen, or Pfaffen: of the Germans so called, but we term it, a small Loach, it is a small fish, that lives much in the mud; and is bred off, but never comes to the bigness of the Gudgion, some call it a Groundling. It is in the Body of a bright yellow colour, with blackish spots, on the back and sides.

A Prickly or thorny Loach, so called from the sharp points of its prickles on the Back and Belly: having no membrane between them, but stand like bristles on a Swines back: at the Gills it hath fins, and a forked finny Tail. It is not a round, but a compress, or flat Body: long and slender, without scales, and fins on the Belly. The Germans call it a Smerlun, or Stainbyssen.

A Zwetterley fish, so called by the Netherlands, it is in Body and fins like the Bullet, and Gudgion; but the Snout is more sharp.

A. 3 Gudgions proper. Born by Camley.

G. a Gudgion O. Born by Mayowe.

III. He beareth Argent, an Harp fish, Gules. In Latin Lyra, from its resemblance to a Harp, having a great vast Head, with a small Body. It hath a row of hook-bones all along the Back and Belly, to the Tail; and two such rows on each side; with two long and slender sharp pointed fins, lying on each side the Belly. It is an eight square fish (Octagonus) in Body; of a Phoenix us or crimson colour; the scales of the whole Body and Head, are of a hard, or bony substance. The Germans call it, a Sable, or Gabler, and a Seharnscheiter. Red fish. This is born by the name of Lyran.

IV. He beareth Sable, a Clipp najant, torqued, Argent. Born by the name of Clippe. And some say, he beareth Sable, a Klip (or Klip fish) Argent, Fins Or. This is also blazoned, an Hippurus, with its Tail embowed: or bowed in the Tail. It is a fish that hath a great Head, and two large fins under its Throat, like to a Bats Wings; and finned all along the Back and Belly from Head to Tail; the Tail fin forked, and turned backwards in the points. This fish hath round and sharp teeth, both in the Jaws, Pallet or Root of the Mouth, and on the Tongue.

An Hippurus, or as the Germans call it, a Feder-Roh: because he hath a fin all along his Back, from Head to the Tail. And on the Belly from the Navel to the Tail very near; a fin at each Gill, and two long, slender, and sharp pointed, lying under the Belly. The Jaws, Rooft and Tongue set with sharp Teeth. It is of a sky, or light blew colour; the Fins and Tail more dusky.

A Coryphaena, is a fish of the Klip species, with its Mouth, Jaws, and Tongue full of sharp teeth; and hath erected fins, from the Crown of the Head, to the Tail.

V. He beareth Vert, a Shell of Mother of Pearl, proper. Born by the name of Houghy. These Shells are set with the inner side to the sight, that the beauty thereof may be admired; for it is of the colour of polished Silver, with various reflections, of a glistering and shining blew, green, purple and red: according to its opposition to the light. The outside of the shell is of a dusky white. It is called in Latin, Auris Marina, the Sea-Ear; because it doth something resemble an Ear, swelling on the out side, depicted with many lines after the manner of a Muscle, wrinkled and wreathen like the tendrills of a vine; from the holes which is on the outside, the beginning being but a little turned, but afterwards they augment to great and greater turnings.

[]

VI. He beareth Argent, a Crangon, or Crangon, Gules. Born by Cragge. This shell fish is but little bigger then a hands breadth: It is alive, in a candide or white shell; but boiled the whiteness waxeth red. There is this difference between the Crangon, and the Crevice, and Sprawn: the Crangon, though in other things is of their kind, yet in the Tail of the Sprawn there are four fins, which are sharp pointed; but in the Crangon they are broad, and are (as it were) but one, divided in the middle. And in the middle of the said fins, proceeding from the Tail, is a kind of spinaous or thornlike substance, resembling a sting; which in the Sprawn is slender, and sharp pointed; but in the Crangon thick, and blunt ended. Again the horns in the first are long and slender, ending in a point; but in the latter thick and short, as if they were broken off in the middle. So the feet of the one are ended in a sharp point or spur, undivided; but in the other, the feet are divided.

A Genetian Prawne, it hath six horns standing streight out from the Mouth, long and sharp pointed; with a kind of a hairy beard about the Mouth; the eyes black standing out of the Head. The Body is round, to which is joyned six Feet, each having four joynts, the last ending in a spur, or sharp divided point; near the Mouth there is four other Claws, or Feet of several joynts, ending in a division like the Lobsters Claws. The Tail consists of five or six joynts, without and Feet fixed to it; the fins at the end of the Tail, are six crusts, or shells, haired or fingered on the edges, as a Lobster. This is the greatest kind of Prawne, somewhat resembling, and a little less then the Crevice.

B. three in pale O. born by Shipley.

A. 3 such G. born by Thurston, alias Thurston.

G. a fesse between 3 such erected. Born by Coak.

VII. He beareth Azure, a Spyall - Cele (or Pimper-Cele) proper. It is a fish supposed to be generated between an Adder or Snake, and a Lamprey. It is a long and slender fish, with a fin on the middle of the Back; two under the Throat, two in the middle of the Belly, and one between the Navel, and the Tail; the fin at the Tail round. It hath two lobes, or skins like beards hanging down from the higher Lip near the Nostrils. The Back is cinereous, having a multitude of spots, and prickles transverse; partly black, and partly caeruleous, or blewish; or between blew and green. The lines on the sides are both black and white: the Belly is a bright yellow, with white spots, with prickles of red, and black, very little and sharp, as if a needle had made them.

called a Pike-Eele, and a Stunfish, and a Seepoll.

B. 4 such Naiaunt in fesse A. Born by the name of Tramole.

G. 3 such Naiaunt in pale G. Born by the name of Seahorse.

VIII. He beareth Argent, a Cypinus Monstrous, or a Monstrous Carp, proper. This is termed also with a Human Face; several fishes of this form were taken in the Year 1545. and 1557. in the Pool or Lake Aeron, near Betz; in the Dukdom of Austria; about 9 inches long; the Head round; the Mouth also round and prominent; the Body short and round; the Belly well knit together; the Tail small and slender: and was of a yellowish colour; only this difference, there was amongst them some were very scaly, and others had no scales at all. Gesner terms it, an Dermaphrodite Carp.

IX. He beareth Sable, an Eele-Powote (or a Powote) proper. Born by Eelspot: or else term it this, from the German, an Alput naiaunt, with the Tail Vertant. It is a long muddy fish, that is headed, skinned, and finned like an Eele, with a smooth skin like a Snake, or Modet, of a milke colour; (that is a whitish blew) not spotted, but dished here and there all over the skin with a dusky colour; It hath two large round fins at the Gill; with a jagged fin, above them towards the Mouth; all the fins are coloured as the skin. It hath a lob or beards, sharp pointed under the lower Lip; in the higher side of the Mouth it hath a double row, or two orders of Teeth; and in the Jaws below, but one. It is in Latin termed Mustela flubiatilis, and Silurus Nili; which the Netherlanders have several names for, as a Criech, a Rut or Rutten; a Welfisch, or a Guellisch; a Hofrie, a Rugget; a Ruffisch; an Alrapp, or Rupp; &c. There are diverse kinds of these fish, in shape and fins alike, but of contrary colours; as,

A Criechen; which we may call an Elepowten, or a Powten, or Powtel. The French call it, Lote de mer, a Sea Lote, or Beard-fish; or a Bearded Eele-powte. From the middle of the Back, to the middle of the Belly, the fins compasseth about the Tail; the Nose or Snout is sharper, and they with the fin compassing it, runs to an accute point, the Belly more prominent, or swelling round, where its Guts lyeth; It hath a lob, or skinny thread, hangs down from the tip of the lower chap, two under the Throat, and two fins by its Gills, narrow and sharp pointed: with a fin also on the Back, joyning to the foot of the long fin, which compasses the Tail.

A Beautiful Eele-Powte: or the Starred Eele-Powte. So called from the variety of colours wherewith it is adorned; the Eyes are large, of a blewish green colour, with a black Pupil: the Body is of variable colours, shining according to the reflection of the light, as bright yellow, lassicron colour, white, rose or carnation colour; black and dark coloured spots like stars, dispersed all over the Head and Body.

B. such an Eele-powte A. born by Alput.

B. 3 such najant in pale O. born by Firby.

[]

X. He beareth Argent, a Starred Star-fish proper. It is termed Stella Reticulara, or Cancellata; that is, a Star-fish whose shell is impoled, or carved all over with net-work, or like a lattice, or crofs barred: It hath also round tubercous knots or bunches, like round buttons, upon the joynt of each crofs bar; from whence some have termed it, Stella tuberosa; a Spotted or bunched Star-fish. Others from its resemblance of a Mullet or Spur-rowell, have called it the Mullet-shell, or Mullet-Shell-fish; and the Spur-rowell fish. This is the Crest of Starburg.

An Archin Star-fish; this is a Sat-fish of five long and slender Rays, bending and waving like a Serpents tail, and all beset with sharp pricks; all proceeding from a small circle in the middle, on which the joyning of the Rays makes a perfect crofs. It is of the German termed a Wolm-star.

A Sea Sun, or the Sun shell fish; It differs from the Star-fish in this, that all the rays which are five (and sharp in the points) come out of the sides of the round shell, or circumference in the middle: whereas the rays of the Star-fish, all lie upon the body of the circumference, meeting and joyning at the center thereof: In the middle of which round body, is the figure of a Rose expressed, the rays are rough and rigged, as if they were scaly, all white as snow.

A Sea Moon, or a Moon shell fish; hath also five rays out of the sides of the Body of the shell, which are joynted, or knotty like, the Tail of a Credice. The substance of it is testaceous, or shell like; but more softer, as if it were the shell of an egg, which may be crumbled or broken small, and is full of sand and gravel when it is chewed, or grinded in the Teeth.

XI. He beareth Gules, a Lucioperca, proper. This is called a Lucy-pearch, of Lucius and Perc, being a bastard fish, resembling both the Lucy or Pike, and the Pearch: that is to say the form and shape of Body, like the Pike; in the greatness, order, and roughness, or sharpness of the scales, is like the Pearch. The two fins on the Back, (that next the Head hooked, or with pricks, the other smooth) are erected almost three fingers in length; the Eyes white. The fish is at his full growth, near three foot long; in the highest part of the Back, and towards the sides, are many transverse blackish spots, as is seen in the Pearch. This is born by Van Luciferg.

A Mullet, or an Alet, or Meeralet, in Latin Mugil: hath a like Body & fins to the Lucy-Pearch, only the head rounder & shorter; the fish in its growth is a cubite long, and is scaly from the Nose to the Tail, with several incision scores through the sides.

A Cestreus, is a species of the Mullet, and altogether like it, only the Head is less and more sharp, and the lines from the Gills to the Tail are drawn more shorter.

A Base, or Frassling, or a Roubling, as the German call it: for its delicacy of meat, it is termed, a Lucilinus: It is of the Pearch kind, of which there be two sorts. One hath the Back from white to ash colour, with a white Belly, and black spots conspered. The other is without spots, and is called Lanatus, from its white soft skin and flesh.

XII. He beareth Azure, a Schadole (or Schied) proper. It is a species of the Lucy-Pearch, having two prominent Prominent little horns from the upper lip, it is as long as the Snout. It is called in Latin Cornicula Mystacis, which may be termed the Horn-lip, Lury-pearch. This is born by the name of Schadlerie.

XIII. He beareth Or, a Spike-nose, Azure. This is called by the Germans, a Spitznatz, from whence we have borrowed the name; It hath a snout like the Sea-Sphyræna, long, slender and thin; and very sharp, but soft and black: at Antwerp they are frequently taken, where they are called, an Hautin, and Houtinck; which we may interpretate to be a sharp or Razor Nose. It hath three thorny fins on the Back; and one under the Belly near the Tail, which is also thorny, and fork pointed; the two fins at the Gills, and those at the Navel, as other Fish fins. This is born by the name of Spikley.

XIV. He beareth Vert, an American Distractor, proper. It is a great thick, yet short headed fish; the Body to the Tail is of a long Pentagonus form, that is, five square; from the Head to the Tail. It is armed (like the Catus a little Beast in the same Region) as with a joynted Plate coat of Mail. It hath sharp bones in the fins on the Back; the Tail is streight, and two fins at the Throat. It is eaten by the inhabitants, who call it Camouhata.

A Glaucus, or Heerblawling, or a Beerstichling: of the Germans, which we may English, the little Blewish, or Blewling: being of a ceruleous colour; for the Back is ash blew. It hath on its Back short stings or pricks, those next the Tail forked and very sharp, they have no membrane between, like fins. The Tail fin forked; a fin at the Gills; and two at the Throat: It is called a Bonito-fish, or Poung Tunny: the incision line in the Body is indented, the Back scaly.

XV. He beareth Sable, a Salut (or Saluten) Argen. Born by Schaluten. It is in Latin called, Glanis; which may be Englished a Glanin, for there is no other name for it but what we borrow from the said Language, and Germany. It hath a great round Body, with a little short Head, with a sharp Nose; Teeth it hath in its Mouth set in many rows and orders. It hath a forked Tail, a fin on the middle of the Back; a little distant from it, a long, narrow fin reaching to the Tail: with the like under the Belly; a fin at each Gill, and two small fins pointed in the middle of the Belly: It is of a Sable colour.

XVI. He beareth Or, a Tenne, proper. Born by the name of Tenchford. It is a grose, full round bodied fish, with soft and gentle scales, which in the boyling doth easily wash off. It hath a Wry or crooked Mouth, bending downwards from the Nose: It hath a fin on the middle of the Back; and two under the Throat, two in the middle of the Belly, and one roundish fin, near the Tail; the fin of the Tail is broad and streight. The colour of the Body is blackish, having a tincture of green; the Belly is white. It is in Latin called Tinea from tincta; because its thick, fat, or grose skin; seems to be dyed or stained, or embrued with a black and green colour. The Germans call it, a Schley, and a Schlig, or Sly, and Slyen: the Hollanders call it, a Schoema. [] ker, and a Graumaker, or Grabmaker, but for what reason I have not learned, except one be from the famel or thickness of its skin; and the other because it hath and is found in holes, and hollow cavities of the Earth, as it were in a Sepulcher.

S. 3 such A. born by Tench.

A. a Cheveron between 2 such, and a Star G. by Capellin.

B. a fesse between 3 such A. born by Upton.

G. 3 such O. born by Woodbank, also by Whitby.

XVII. He beareth Sable, a Sand-Cele (or Sandfish) proper. Born by Gobione. This is a small fish of which there is two sorts; this being by Gesner termed, the Venetian or great Gobion; or the great Sea-Gobion. It hath two fins on its Back, sharp thorned; the one on the Neck, standing up (as it were a Dragons Wing) the other longer pointing down the Back, and reacheth almost to the middle of the Tail. It hath the like thorny fins each side the Gills, and under the Throat, and one near the Tail; the Tail fin is almost semi-circular. It is by some Authors, said to be white and dusky on the Back, others all white; from whence some have called it a Whiting and Smelt. Others say it is somewhat yellow, with the Belly more paler, or whitish; but those erre that attribute any greenness to it. It is called by the Germans a Heergob, and a Steingob: the French call it a Boulerot, which is Englished to us, to be a little round Gudgeon, that lives continually in fenny, and muddy places: from whence we call it a Sandil.

The other sort of Gobion, see numb. 22.

XVIII. He beareth Argent, the shell of a Sea Coitice, proper. The fish of this shell, when he puts himself forth, doth in all respects resemble the Land Coitice, which you may see chap. 10. numb. 14. only it hath a longer Tail; it is of the Netherlands called a Schitkrot, and a Schilot-padde, that is a Frog or Toade, Armed or covered with a Shield, or Target. Pliny saith these Creatures are so great, that one only shell of them is sufficient for the roof of an Indians dwelling; and that they make use of them for Boats, and Wherries.

3 such is born by the name of Shell, or Shall.

XIX. He beareth Azure, a Venus Cockle shell. Argent. Born by Muscheller. Of some called a Venus Musckle, in Latin Concha Venera, a Venus Winckle. Pliny calls it Murex; being a round shell with two becks or corners, the edges of the sides turn both inward as if they were rowled up, the edges are not dented, but crumpled, or crisped: It is by many of our fishers termed a Cuntshell. The shell is all within and without, of a pure white, shining as if it were smoothly polished. The Germans call it, a Muter muscheln, a Venus-Muscheln, and a Glett muscheln.

A diverse coloured Venus Winckle, hath all the inside of a candid colour; the outside is variously coloured, not with spots, but dashed all over here and there, imperfectly in lines.

A Spotted Venus Winckle, hath the shell all over white, and the back part of it, spotted with dark, or dusky spots.

A Circled Venus shell, hath all the outside of a pure white, with a golden circle on the back part of it; and all the inner part of the shell is of a blewish colour: and some again are Reddish. These are called in the Latin tongue by several names, as Porcellana, Matriculus, Calculus Matricis; in all these shells nature hath many varieties for some are full round, others half round, some bow backed, and cut as it were just through the middle; some both edges turned in; others but one side, the other a little bowed: some smooth edges, others dented; champhired and crisped, or wrinkled; some fashioned like a hollow gutter, others like the fashion of a womb, some are crooked and byas; others spread out directly in length, others turned inward, crooked like a Cornet: with diversity of other forms, and figures.

B. 3 Venus shells A. born by Willaston.

G. a fesse between 3 such A. born by Whitmore.

B. 3 such erected A. by the name of Hiccock.

XX. He beareth Gules, a Knotted Welk, Or. Born by Welford. It is so termed by reason the wreathing of the shell is full of little knots, and bunches like buttonis. These Welks never exceed the bigness of a mans thumb: some are white, others dusky, and others blackish. The Germans call these, Stauben-Schnecke; the term of Schnecke, being generally used both for Cockles, Welks, and Periwinkles, see chap. 14. numb. 40.

An Angled Welk, or a Comered Welk, this hath all the wreathen part of the Welk, cut and carved into knobs, or corners of raised work. It is by the Germans termed, an Eckelstraub-Schnecke. It much resembles the Buccinus, or Sea-Cornet, by reason the opening is towards the top, being both long, and sharp. It is of a Marmoreous or marble colour. that is a blackish blew; the Mouth or inside is of a light purple. There is also another kind of Welk in the form, and tuberousness like this; but is much more fuller of knots, or studs: and of a shorter figure, and more swelling out. The shell is purple within, without white, like as if it were smeared or laid over with lymie, or chalk. The Latin name for it, is Turbo Mauricatus; in Germany Buckelstraub-Schnecke. G. 3 such knotted Welks O. is born by Burke.

B. a Chevron between 3 such O. born by Watt.

XXI. He beareth Sable, an Oyster-Cockle, Argent. So called because it partaketh of both: being termed in Latin, Concha Imbricata: a Cockle whose shell is like half round gutter tyles, laid (as it were) one upon another. It is furrowed in the shell like the Cockle, yet the fish is Oyster; which Pliny terms Tridacna; that is an Oyster so large, that every one will be three mouthfulls. The Germans call it a Grosse-Ostern-Butheln.

XXII. He beareth Argent, a Riger, or Black Gobion; This is called a Black Gobion, or Sable Sandill, to distinguish it from the Sand Cele, mentioned numb. 17. It being like that in all respects, and likewise placed on the body; only the Sable Gobion hath not sharp thorny fins, but a soft gentle fin, as in other common sort of Fishes.

All other Gobions are naturally white, and therefore are generally called White Fish, if they live and abide in Stony or Gravelly grounds; though there be amongst them, such as are inclining to a yellow.

XXIII. He beareth Or, a Snail Fish (or a Schneckling Fish) proper. This Fish in the Latine is called Scorpioides Piscis, the Scorpion Fish, because the head is like a Scorpion, but the French call it an Hare Fish, because it is like a Hare, with a short round face, and a little mouth; the Germans call it a Snail Fish, because it puts out its Horns like the Snail; for it hath above its eyes two sharp bones standing out, which are soft; it hath a thorny fin all the length of the Back; the higher part, or that next the Head of a considerable breadth standing backwards, which by degrees grows narrower and narrower, till it touch the fin on the tail; the like is under from the navel to the tail; a broad thorny fin at each gill, and two slender sharp pointed ones under the throat; the tail is not thorny, but even on the edges, going into the tail with a semi-circle; it hath two black spots on the back fin; the skin smooth, in colour like a Lark, viz. a yellowish white, spotted with dark blackish small long spots or dashes.

A Meergropp, so called by the Germans, who also have another name for it, as a Schleymling, and a Zwibel fish, which we may English a Swag fish, or a Swagbelly fish; or the thorny finned Snail fish. It is of that species, for it hath two horns like a Snail above the eyes; the fin on the back is divided into two, the tail streight and thorny; in all other things it is of the foresaid figure and shape, only the belly from the head to the navel swells up, and is almost half round.

A Crested Lark fish, of some called a Basilisk fish, from that tuberous bunch that is on the crown of the head; in all things else it resembles the Snail fish set down in the Plate; only the back fin in this is all of a breadth; it is a little slender scaleless small mouthed, round headed, and grey eyed Sea Fish, living amongst the Rocks; of a blewish colour, with some spots on the belly; the Germans call it a Seelerche, and a Kobellerch; some Authors call it a Sea Peacock fish, because of its crest and caruleous or blewish green colour like to the Peacock.

A Spotted Sea Lark, called in Latine Pholis Piscis, it is of the foresaid Species, hath a most soft and glutinous flesh; the fins in all respects like the crested Sea Lark fish, being spotted all over the body, and a round pointed fin at the tail; this the Germans term a Schleymlarch.

XXIV. He beareth Argent, a Sea Thrush (or Duzel-fish) proper. It is a Hog backed Fish, living amongst the Rocks; it is like a Tench, sharp teeth on both sides the mouth, the Snout turning up almost like a Swine, the higher part of the back is a dusky or dark brown, like the colour of a Tile, full of black spots; it hath three lines extending from the gills to the tail; of a blue colour; two yellow circles go about the pupil of the eye, the inner being more dusky, or of a browner colour; the fin of the tail blewish, the beginning of the gill fins are blewish, and about the head and gills, and under under the throat blew; the middle parts of the fins on the back are painted with a fair yellow, the hinder parts with yellow, distinguished with blewish spots; the middle lower parts are yellow with somewhat red spots; two fins round pointed under the belly, and one thorny fin near the breech, of a bright yellow; the long fin on the back is thorny, and (as it were) indented or cut into about the middle; the tail is streight; the Germans call this a Crammetfish, or Krammetfischen.

There is another kind of Sea Thrush, which hath only one white line from the eye to the tail; with the spots black, asperfed over the body; it wants those of a yellow or golden colour.

Another kind there is, which hath also but one line from the eye to the tail, of a blew colour, with a long Snout Eagle like.

There is another kind of Sea Thrush Fish, which hath no line at all, having the back of a gold colour asperfed with green spots; the belly is white with red lines, winding and bending many ways without any orderly disposition.

There is another kind, which differs nothing from the former, but that it hath many lines on the belly (sefe intersectis) cutting through, or crossing one another.

Another Thrush fish kind, is of a various colour, green waxing to a yellow; one line from the eye to the tail white, with many other confused oblique lines, of a wax or yellow colour.

Another is of a green colour on the back, and white on the belly, inclining to a yellow, the mouth little, lips small; eyes red, the covering of the gills, and the fins of the belly, are inclining to a purple.

A Venetian Thrush fish, it is of a ruddy colour, more red on the back, in the belly inclining to a white; there are three spots in the middle of the back, so as the last toucheth the end of the tail; the pupil of the eye black, with a red circle about it, and that inclosed again in a blewish one; his prominent lips standing out, and turned up, of a red colour, sharp white teeth on both sides, the fins red. Some of this kind have many black and blew spots dispersed here and there, which others have not.

Another of this kind hath a blewish green head, the back inclining to a green, the line from the gills to the tail is green, ending in a round spot near the tail; the rest of the body is growing to a red, the fins various, but the major part of them are purple.

A various or diverse coloured Duzel Fish, so called, by reason there is more variety of colours and painting than all the rest; the principal colour of the body is a dusky brown, or black and red; the fins at the gills yellow; the rest were brown, but the fibres or thorny pricks of the fins are red, the like is the tail; the eye is large, having a black pupil, compassed about with a circle of a luteous colour, somewhat greenish, whose exterior circle is a Violet colour, which is followed by another of a Luteous, or yellow (like Wax, or the Yolk of an Egg) which is lastly compassed about by a fourth circle which is black; the body is made black with great spots, as if they were dashed on without any form; this is by the Italians termed Papagallus, and Pav, a Peacock Fish, because it much resembles a Peacock colour; and for the same reason it is by others called the Parrot Fish, or Sea Merlin, or Spe, Hawk fish.

A Posten, so called from its Swiftness, and the Kings Sea Messenger; and of others called a Sea, or Ocean Carp. It is of the Turdus kind, but the colours various, for the tail and hinder part of the fin on the back are reddish, and the points various; the anterior and major part of the fin on the back, from a dusky brown inclines to a white; the back is a blewish green, the belly white, but towards the tail waxeth black; the spots or points in the whole body are somewhat black and brown, variously mixt; the eye hath a black pupil, circled about with a gold or saffron colour, with another about it of dusky or dark brown; and lastly invironed with a third circle somewhat of a bright yellow.

A lesser Posten, in this Fish there is more blewish green, principally in the extremity of the tail, and the prone or lower part of the body and fins; also the middle circle of the eye is white; the body is almost dusky or of a dark brown, but with other colours, every where temperately and moderately mixed; and with points which are more various, of a dusky brown, or of somewhat black colour.

A Salber, or a golden Salber, in Latine called Adonis or Exocetue. It is of the Turdo, or Sea Duzell Fish kind; the fins not sharp or thorny; it is of a somewhat yellowish colour.

XXV. He beareth Argent, an Anthia, proper. Born by the name of Yokson. This is by the French called Barbier, from its bone or prominent gristle hanging down each side the mouth, after the manner of a Muchato Beard; and the Sacred Fish, because no ravenous or hurtful Fish doth ever swim near it; the Germans call it a Rotlachter Rundkopf, for the body and fins are red, and the head round: There is several kinds of this Fish, nothing differing in form but in colour; as the Red Anthia, the yellow Anthia, the White Anthia, which we call a Cod-fish, the Black, or purple Anthia.

An Cuopus, or an Aulopion, of some Authors called a Boniton, the Germans, a Seebachfimen; it is of the Anthia Species, but of a rounder and fuller body, else finned and scaled alike; the eyes are round, great and set open, like an Owl; the Jaws and Cheeks are not only strong, but fair and large; the back is of a blewish green, the belly white; from the head to the tail goes a golden line, which endeth in a turn about the cheeks, and so under the lower chap.

A Junckerlin, or a Schonling, is a small Sea Fish, scarce a finger long, of the Anthia form and kind, save the tail is streight not forked; the back fin engaled growing taperwise, till it come to nothing near the tail; the back is of a Violet colour; from the head to the tail is a broad line indented on both sides, somewhat of a gold colour; the head and parts under, are blew, the belly white, inclining to a yellow.

XXVI. He beareth Argent, a Gurnarde, proper. It is of the Germans called a Gornart, and a Garnaett, from the crookedness of its nose. It is termed Cuculus, the Cuckow Fish, and a Red Fish, because it is of a reddish or brown colour, like the Cuculus. This is born by the name Gurnarde.

A Gray Gurnard, is another kind of them, being of the same shape, but of a cinereous, or ash, or gray colour tending to a blew.

A Rochet, or Rotbart, is a red kind of Gurnard, and is so called in the South parts of England, and in the East parts it is called a Curre, and a Golden-pole.

A Harp Fish, so called because the Nose is biforked coming out in two points, the ancient form of the Harp. It is also of the same form and colour as the Cuculus. It is in some places of England called a Millers Chubb, the Germans call this a Sea hen, and a Scobafz.

O. 3 Gurnard G. born by Gills.

A. one in Bend G. born by Eccones.

XXVII. He beareth Or, a Sea Swallow Fish, proper, born by Van Swall. It hath long and broad fins, by which it can fly out of the water, as if it were a Water Fowl; the mouth and the eyes so bright that they will shine in the night; it is of body and colour the species of a Swallow; the mouth and throat is red, the back black, the belly white. 2 such are born by Swallow.

A Sea Kite Fish, in Latine Milvus Piscis, is shaped in the head and body like the Swallow Fish, having two thorny pointed fins on the back, the body scaly, and two long and broad fins (almost like Hornets or Bikes Wings) adorned and set full of Stars, both on and between the fibres or thorny shafts of the fins.

A. 3 Sea Swallow Fishes proper, born by Leene, or Leens.

O. 3 such proper with a Fesse between S. Born by the name of Pooler.

A. 3 such in Pale naiant S. born by Forshall.

XXVIII. He beareth Azure, a Meerass, (or a Flamingen, or a Leimfish), proper; it is in Latine called Tenia, a Fillet Fish, so named from its length and narrowness; it hath a deformed Ape like head, the body is a finger broad and five palmes long, of a Silver colour; a long prickly sharp fin and long, on the back and tail; two fins at the gills, and under the belly not a fin, but bones like hooks standing at a little distance all the length of the belly; there is several other sorts of these Fish which differ in their colour and fins yet like in body, as

A Binde Fish, or Fillet Fish, with a smooth and sharp pointed tail; it differs much from the other, for the head is round like an Ape; the body slender, round and long, like an Earth or Garden Worm, with a sharp tail, having a long narrow fin half the length of the back, and two small fins at the gills; the eyes great, and the mouth bending downwards; it is all white, and is born by the name of Bend, or Bind.

A Spotted Bind Fish, differs from the former in this that it is grosser in the body being 3 cubits long when it comes to its maturity; besides the two fins it hath at the gills, it hath two more under the throat of a red colour, of which colour is the fin on the back, and the small fin at the end of the tail; besides it hath 5 round spots on its sides, of a purple colour, the rest of the body is white.

XXIX. He beareth Sable, a Balena, Or. This is a kind of Whale, after the shape of a Purpess, or a Dolphin; It is of some Authors called a Gibbar, from Gibber, a hog back, or a crooked and bunch back, in which there is a large skinny Fin; it hath a Fistula or Pipe in its forehead, out of which it (like the Phyleter) casts water in great abundance upon such as assault it; It hath also two fleshy or skinny lobes like Beards hanging from each side of the higher Jaw cheek, therefore of some named the Bearded Balena.

A Capitoleus, is of some Authors said to be the Whale with a Fistula or Pipe in its forehead (as the Phyleter) and that the Balena hath no such thing, but only two great round fleshy fins like Hounds ears hanging down under its throat as the Figure doth demonstrate. It is called a Wall fish, or a Hogertwall, or a Bartwall by the Germans; and we term it a Hore, a Spring Whale Bearded.

An Orea, is another such like Monstrous Fish, which to describe (saith Pliny) I can resemble to nothing else but a mighty mass or lump of Flesh without all form or fashion, armed with most terrible, sharp and cutting teeth. The Orea hath by Gesners Figure, a hole or pipe in the head, by which water is cast forth: it hath no Beard like the Balena; the skin is as the skin of a Man, very smooth and soft; on the back it is of a black colour, shining blewish; the belly is pure white; the Germans call this a Masswal, and a Zuberwall, a Beer-schweyn, and a Whale Swine.

A Scolopendria Whale, or the many footed Whale; it hath its name from an insect of the earth called a 100 feet; which the Germans call a Nassel; this kind of Whale in Body resembles the Balena, having like tail and like fins, with a multitude of feet under the Belly resembling the Scolopendria, or like long slender lobes or fleshy fins. This the Netherlanders call a Wallnassel.

XXX. He beareth Argent, a Brethmechin, proper. This is a kind of a Beswa, or Whale Fish, which in the year 1551 was cast up in the Java Island, it was 10 cubits long, and 2 cubits high: It is an Amphibious creature, living both on Land and in the Water; it hath the head and feet of a Panther, back and belly set with bristles, and the end of the tail; it is of a red colour here and there blewish, the tail is a more dilute ceruleous colour, the hair or bristles be all red. It is of some called an Arabian Brethmechin, or Whale Panther. This is born in Bend, by the name of Paccareno.

In the chief of this quarter I have set the figure of a Leech; of some called a Horse-Leeche, a Lowch-Leach, and a Blood-sucker. The Germans term it an Aegle, a Lake, or a Lychelake; in Latine it hath the name of Hirudo, but more properly Sanguisuga, which is a kind of Worm that sucketh blood; there are some of them that are black, others of an earthy colour, and some of a yellowish green; which are spotted, and streaked with black or dark colour.

A. 3 Horse-Leeches proper, born by Leecher.

Y y

XXXI. He

*

XXXI. He beareth Argent, a Sleeve (or a Black fish) proper. It is another sort of Cuttle fish than what I have described chap. 14. numb. 45. as the Figure doth manifest. This is also called the lesser Calamary, or lesser Sea Cut; in Latine Sepia and Loligo; the Germans do, from the Blood which is as black as Ink call it a Black fisch, which name we borrow from them; and in some places of Higher Germany, Raankuttel, that is, the slender and oblong Cuttle.

A Polypus, which some English a Pourcontrell, a Pourcuttel, or a Fish with many feet; it is directly round, with another smaller round set upon it, from whence proceeds many stringed winding feet, and strong Arms knotted and knobbed like Clubs, which they could bend and turn any way; these the Germans call a Wismmer, a Wismeling, or a Wismkuttel; it resembles a round Inkhorn with many Shafts of Pens standing out of it.

There are other sorts of Cuttle fish; as Far cuttel, Schiffcuttel, Chift cuttel, Rock cuttel, Seehafz, Seequapp, &c. but being Shells without all form or fashion, and nothing but confused lumps turning and winding, and therefore as pertaining nothing to our purpose; I refer those to Gessners History of Fish that desire a sight of them.

A. 3 Sleeves erected S. born by Blake, or Bleake.

XXXII. He beareth Azure, a Bulhead Fish, proper. This is so called from the greatness of its head; it hath a round fin on its neck, from which proceeds to the tail a long jagged fin; the like goes from the Navel almost to the tail; two large jagged fins from the gills, the tail small; the Germans have many names for this Fish, as a Gropp, Cop, Kap, Kopt, Kaulrapp, Babst, and Hull, &c. but with us it is most known by the term of a Bulhead fish or Millers Thumb; Gull, and a Chabot.

An Asper, or Aspron, of the German called a Ruchling, or a Zindel. It is a little rough Fish, or Goudgeon like Fish, found only in the Rosne, which is between Vienna and Lions; it is flat headed, two rough fins on the back, two at the gills, two under the throat, one in the middle of the belly, the tail somewhat forked; the colour is red, having black spots from the back to the belly, oblong descending variously.

XXXIII. He beareth Vert, a Silurus (or a Salute, or a Salut) Argent. It is the Whale amongst Fishes in fresh Water; as the Balena is the Whale or greatest of Fishes in the Salt Waters; therefore the Germans do call it a Waller, and a Walline, or Wallarine. In some places in Germany it is called a Schaid, a Wellsz, a Dick, or Cuck, &c. It hath but small Teeth, but a wide mouth, and a great head; the under jaws have but one row of teeth, but the upper jaws have two; it is a gristly finned Fish all white; at the open of the mouth above and below, are four Beards or gristly strings hanging down; and a few red spots on its belly.

This Fish (or any other in this posture) is termed a Salut, Spectant, Corqued. Yet some say Spectant, Mañant, Corqued. G. such an one A. is born by Salute.

A small (or the lesser) Silurus, is blackish, with many spots all over the body; the beards but short; two large fins at the gill; it hath no tail fin, but almost from the throat to the end of the tail, is a fin sharp pointed in the fibres; in the middle of the back a small fin; the belly is whitish.

XXXIV. He beareth Argent, a Lobster, Gules. Born by the name of Zekrab. This Fish I have described elsewhere, to which I shall refer you; and only here give you the true shape, which in the other Plate was grossly mistaken, chap. 14. numb. 30. when it is alive, the higher side of it, both in the back, claws and tail, with the horns and small feet, are of a blackish or earthy colour; the undersides of the belly and claws are white, which as it mixeth or enters into the blackish part, doth it with a kind of spotting, some being white, others black; and so, till both be lost, and run faintly one into the other. Now this is to be noted, that what was white, or inclining to that colour, in the boiling doth still retain its whiteness, and goes rather whiter; but all that is of the dark earthy colour, turns to a pure Scarlet; where you shall see the sides of the Lobsters body, and of the great claws most curiously spotted with White and Vermilion after the manner of a Shadow, till the back end in Scarlet, and the Belly terminate in white.

A. 3 Lobsters erected G. born by Krebsler.

XXXV. He beareth Sable, a bunched (or crooked back) Globe fish, Argent. This is also called a Camel back Globe fish, or Lump fish. It is by the Germans called an Hogerlumpe, and a Rucken Schnottholfs. They are much taken in the Baltick Ocean; the skin or hide is thick and hard, full of rough knobs and knots and thorns; the fins are red. See chap. 14. numb. 29.

S. 3 such A. born by Gloesfischer.

An Oblong Globe fish, it is a long Fish, rough and bunchbacked, resembling it in all things save length of body. It is called by the Germans a Snotolfs.

A Mon Oye fish, so called because it hath no finny tail, but being a direct round lump, hath in the extreme hinder part, from the head the perfect figure of a Crescent, or Half Moon; in other things it is like the Globe fish; this is also called a Mon fish, and a Sauwisch; and the French term it a Molebout. It hath two long skinny Fins, but slender, standing out on each side, with short round fins like ears a little below the eyes.

XXXVI. He beareth Vert, a Sea Frog fish, Or. This I have described elsewhere, chap. 14. numb. 31. therefore shall say no more of it in this place: This is a Frog fish at his full growth. The like to this was in Sept. 26. Anno 1680. taken in Chester River; it was about a yard and half long, being flat bellied like a Flook; all white; the back and top of the tail, and fins of a black earthy colour; the skin soft and smooth like the Flook; it had only two fins on the sides, that were visible, being curled or turned up at the edges; and two such like, but very small in the middle of the Belly, which cannot be noted except the Fish be turned up.

In the Sinister chief is engraved the Figure of a Sea Loufe, Pedicularis Marinus; the Germans call it a Welsch.

Maerlaufz, and a Heerlaufz; because they are found both in fresh and salt waters. It is covered with a joyned husk, or shell; and is as large and broad as the black Fly, called a Bettle. It hath many Feet, and a big round Tail, and is of a blackish colour: of some it is termed a Heerfel.

XXXVII. He beareth Azure, a Sealed Cramp-fish hauriant, the Tail imbowed, Argent. I have in this fish taken notice of several kinds, which I have set down in chap. 16. numb. 38. Yet in this, and the following example: I observe a contrariety both in the form, and colouring, to those of the common sorts of Cramp-fish: as may easily be discovered if compared together. The Ordinary Cramp-fish having a Body distinct from the fins, these having Body and fins, as it were all one, no distinction of parts. Therefore Gesner, for to describe these from the common Cramp-fishes, terms the one, a Cramp-fish not spotted; and the other, a Venetian Cramp-fish.

XXXVIII. He beareth Gules a Venetian Cramp-fish hauriant, the Tail Embowed, Or. This might for its resemblance of the Bull-head (the spawn of a frog) be fitly termed, the Bull-head Cramp-fish. This is born by the name of Crampin of Venice.

3 such A. in a field B. is born by Crump, or Cramp.

XXXIX. He beareth Vert, a Sharp Snouted Ray in bend, the Tail embowed, Argent. This kind of Ray hath (I find by Authors) several denominations; one terms it, Raia Lacvis, a smooth Ray, because it hath no thorns or pricks, but on the Tail only where there is one Row: It is called, Oxyrhynchus Raia, a Ray with a sharp Snout, because its Nose stands out like the beak of a Fowl. It is called Bos, and Uacca Raia; the Or or Cow Ray: because of its magnitude, for it exceeds all fish of that kind, in so much that he will seize on a Man swimming, and devour him. The Germans in their Language term it, a Grosser Esch-roch; a pointed Ray, a Whale Ray: and is born as afore blazoned by the name of Wallray, or Whaleray.

XL. He beareth Sable, a smooth Oculated Ray, Or. Born by Reavand. This Ray is called so from the spots which are on each side of it on the gristly fins, resembling Eyes: set about and all over the Body with small dispersed and obscure spots, on a dusky or dark brown ground. The Pupil of the Eyes are blew, or sky colour, the interiour Iris or circle next it, is back: and the exterior circle is yellow. The Germans call this a Glatter Spiegelroch, or an Augeroch.

A Starred Ray, and of some termed, the Starred rough and sharp Ray; for the fins and body is adorned with painted Stars; and from the Head, to the fin of the Tail, the Back is set with crooked thorns. This is called a Sterneoch.

A Rough, or thorny oculated Ray: in this the crooked thorns or pricks differs from the other. In that the Tail is set full, and in no order, and so is the Back, but the foresaid hath only but one row down. Some of the kind have the pricks set in the middle of spots, others upon the Heads of round buttons.

[]

There is another kind of Starred, and rough prick-to Ray, which hath three rows of hooks on the Tail, viz. the top, and each side; with many painted Stars on the fins and body; the whole Body, and Gristly fins being covered with a rough sharp skin, upon which a Man (the contrary way) cannot stroak his hand, but the pins will run into it. Of this kind of Ray, there are two sorts, one have the Body of the Stars white, and the circle about black: the other have the Stars white: both have their whole Bodys horribly aculeous, or prickly; and these the Netherlands call, Raucher Sterneroch.

A Nailed, or Stripped Ray: which the Latin terms, Raia Clavata, a Ray garnished, or beset with Nails. The Body having round studs, each adorned with a crooked Nail, bending backwards to the Tail. These kind the Germans call, Naegelroch: of old it was termed, the Eagle Ray. The colour of the higher or Back parts is inclining to a black, the hinder part of the Body beset with many sharp pointed and crooked thorns; in bosses; the forefront towards the Head, only here; and there, set one. The fins have each a row of Iron like Nails set upright upon them. The other species of this Nailed Ray, differs from this. In that it hath an acute Snout, and the pricks it wanteth; It is of an ash colour, and for Teeth it hath sharp rigged Jaws. See more of the Ray-fish chap. 14. numb. 28.

XLI. He beareth Argent, a Skate (or Skeat) hauriant, the Tail embowed, and elevated, as high as the Head, proper. This is a great long hard, and rough skinned fish, like the Ray. The French call it, the Sea-Angle, from its similitude of a Painted-Angle with its Wings expended; The Germans call it an Engel-fish, and also a Hugghe. It is named in Latin Squatus, and Squatina; perhaps from Squalor, its filthyness and roughness of the skin: which is of a dark Umber colour, inclining to black; with a fin of crooked sharp thorny bones down the Back, to the end of the Tail.

A. the like S. a chief B. is born by Skatell.

XLII. He beareth Argent, a Sow-hound-fish, proper. Born by Sowbach. So it is called, from its resemblance of a Dog, and its famels like to a Stwine: though most term it a Dog-fish. It hath a small Head, great Eyes; wide Mouth, rough, sharp and thick skinned. The Germans call it a Hound-fish. It is of an Umber colour, or somewhat more darker and earthy, full of blackish small spots, dispersedly set all over the Body and fins; which are lobs of fleshy skins, as is the Body. This is born by the name of Sowdeller.

A Thorn-hound; is the same in shape, only it hath two thorns, or streight pricks standing upright on the middle of the Back, at a distance one from the other. A. 3 such S. born by Kardiffe.

A For-fish, or a Sea-For-fish, is of a Whale kind: it hath a round thick grosse Body, a little Mouth under the Snout; sharp Teeth, the top part of the Tail fin is longer then the whole Body: for which cause it is termed a Sea-For, or a Sea-For-fish. It is ash coloured on the Back, and white on the Belly.

A Smooth Dog-fish; or as the Germans call it, a Klein-hundfisch: having a smooth and gentle skin. It is a long and slender fish, having three fins under the Belly, and two on the Back, the Tail fin, is (as it were) cut half off on the lower side, the top part of the said fin, Smooth but bent to a great length, and is smooth at the higher side, and rugged under, ending in a point. All rough Dogs, or Pointed Dogs, are rough and thorny beneath, which hath a naked skin, of the colour of a Stock Dove, or Wood-Cuckoo, on the Back; and white on the Belly.

Y y 2

half

A Blue-hound, or Dog-fish: called in Latin Galeus Glauco. It is usually at full growth, four or five years old: It differs in nothing from the Smooth-Dog-fish but in the colour, which is a bright blew, or Azure. It hath a little Mouth, lying much under the higher Dorsal, with small Teeth.

A Mallet-Dog-fish: is called from the ugliness of the Head, which is set cross way over the Body, as the head of a Mallet, or handle of a Spade. It is of the German called, a Ham, or Schlegel, or a Schlegel-hund. The Eyes are at the corners of the out side of the Head, and the Mouth is under the Head at the Neck: all the Body in shape and proportion answerable to the Dog-fish, see chap. 10. umb. 100.

A Creelnet-Dog-fish: It is the most ravenous, and the greatest kind of Dog-fish, it is called in Latin, Canis Cantharus, and Lamia Piscis. It grows to a great stature, according to which it hath several denominations as the German term it, for if it be small, they call it, a Fraz, or a Frazhund: when large an Arhund, or a Grosser Hund-fisch, or a Whale-hound. It is said that this fish hath the sharpest rough side, and strongest teeth of all other fish.

A Short Snouted, or blunt nosed Hound-fish: called also a Wood-hound-fish, from the softness of the Body. It hath three fins on the Belly, one on the Back, and one on the Tail: the Tail fin parts in the lower side, as in other Dog-fish, the Mouth opens almost in the Throat.

XLIII. He beareth Argent, a Crab-fish, (or a Sea Crab) erected, proper. Born by Crab. These fish are covered with smooth, bare, and slippery shells; they are some long, others broad, and others round; but of what form soever they be, generally the fore-part is narrower than the posterior part. In all these things and many more, as colours, length of Feet, setting of the Eyes, &c. manner of going, as forwards, backwards, sideways &c. which shew a manifest difference, and that there is many kinds of them: yet in general they all agree in this, in having eight Feet set altogether, besides the two Cleys, or foremost Feet, which are also called the Pincers, or long Feet; horns thin and slender, little and short. The Head not severed or distinct from the Body, but the Head and Body (in all Crabs) is in one paunch, or Belly; which Head and Eyes, we usually call the Tail, by reason they are seen to go forward, transverse, and sideways; and in fear going backwards with as much celerity, as when they went any other way.

A Bear-Crab-fish: It is so named, not from the form, but the actions and manners of the Bear, in going side-ways, and backwards: this is of the kind of a Sea-Onion, for in form it resembles the head of a Garlick, or the shape of a Chestnut furrowed: the two forked Feet, or pincers, are one much longer than the other, and all the Feet, are a degree from them, shorter than the next about it.

[]

A Pungar, or Pungere is a kind of Crab-fish with a Body of a Heart form; the Eyes and Horns standing in the cavity, or hollowness of the heart, which is again scalloped about after the manner of an Iron, the Feet and Cleys stand on the side, it is of the colour of a red haired Man; freckled and spotted with a deeper brown. It is in Latin called a Pagurus, of which kind of Heart-Crab-fish there is two other species, one more rounder than a heart, and is bigger, and of a more dusky brown; and this is in Latin called Maina, being the largest of all Crabs, to which others are no more to compared than a Child to the Mother; or the Infant to the Midwife. The other is more four square, and less of a more dilute, and paler colour, with green; and this is called in Latin Homissa. These Pungar-Crab-fish have generally all hairy Feet, and small Cleys.

A. 3 Crabs erected S. born by Allym, or Anallym.

A. a fesse between 3 such G. born by Smithback.

A. 3 such G born by Alvanston.

XLIV. He beareth Or, a Monstrous Sea-Stone, Azure. Such a Swine as this was taken in the Ile of Thule, in the North; in the Year 1538. It was of an incredible magnitude (as Olaus Magnus Writeth) seven two Foot long, and fourteen Foot high; seven Foot between the Eyes, the Head like a Swine, with two crooked horns in form of a Crest, standing on his Back; the Body and Tail full of large scales, and on the sides between the scales, are three Eyes set in triangle, the Feet like Dragons Feet. The German call it, Heril, and a Schweynwal: or Swine-Whale. See chap. 16. umb. 23.

XLV. He beareth Azure, a Wall (or Beard Whale) Argent. This is by some termed a Scolopendra Cetacea; a Monstrous Whale with many Feet; It hath a long bristled beard, on both mandibles, with great shining Eyes, with several radicated horns, at about his Neck. The Head is great, but the posterior are but small, in estimation of it.

XLVI. He beareth Sable, in the sinister base, the Head of a Sea Monoceros Argent, horned Or. This is also of others termed, a Sea-Unicorn, &c. the Whale Monoceros.

A Hair-Whale; which Gesner names, an Harwall from its being covered with long hair; the Head only is delineated, which is like an Hound.

A Haned Whale, this is a Monstrous Whale (set down by Olaus Magnus) in the Northren Region, under Greenland; It hath a humane Face, with a bristly beard from the Chin, streight down, like thorns of pines, with a Mane from the top of the Head, down the Neck, like a Horse.

A Cow of the Sea, or a Sea Cow: and of some the Whale Cow; it hath the Head, and Horns of a Cow: with a long beard under its Chin, as Olaus Magnus it forth in his Table of the Northren Ocean.

In the chief of this quarter, I do present you with the form of the Sea Scolopendra, it is a reddish looking worm, with many Legs; It is like the Earth Scolopendra, which we call a hundred feet; but this of the Sea is much much bigger, and longer, and hath also a number more Feet, both at the Head and Tail. It can contract, and draw it self up either shorter, and stretcheth it self out longer, at pleasure.

The greater Sea Scolopendze, is about a cubite long, and is of a whitish colour. They will creep into the Sea Lizards belly, and live there without hurt. The Germans call these Worms, Meernasseln, Kotlache, or Tunne-Worm.

XLVII. He beareth Argent, a Sea Rhinoceros, Gules: spotted and finned, Or. It hath a Dragon like fin, on the Crown of the Head; a sharp Nose, and Teeth, with a horn at the end of the Nose, and an acute, or sharp pointed fin on its Back. It is termed, a Monstrous Sea Rhinoceros; and the Whales Rhinoceros; and of the Germans, a Ratzwal, and a Spitzwal; that is, the Rosewhale, and the Spike, or horn Whale.

XLVIII. He beareth Azure, a Monstrous Satyre of the Sea (or a Sea Satyre of Nilus) proper. This kind of Sea monster hath several denominations, to distinguish it from the Triton, mentioned chap. 16. numb. 1. and from the Satyre-fish spoken of, chap. 16. numb. 19. and from the Sea Pan, or Devil fish, described ibid. numb. 39. when it hath no Feet.

Now this having Feet joyned to the fish part makes it both unnatural, and Monstrous; therefore it is by such Authors (as have written of it) termed by the name of a Monster Satyre-fish, & a Satyre fish with Feet. Gesner expresses it thus, Monstrum Marinum, a Meerwunder, a Sea Wonder, a Wonder of the Sea; but yet gives it no name, to which may fitly be added, the term (Satyre) and that more properly than a Triton, or a Sea Pan, or a Man-fish; by reason the Satyre is ever drawn with (as he hath long) Horse-like Ears. Pareus calls it Monstri marini humanæ facie effigies; the shape or figure of a Sea Monster, with a humane Face; but it is best Englished (with a Satyres Face) for the Face is so. Therefore as it is Monstrous, and prodigious being more then Natures first gift, it is best termed a Monstrous Satyre Fish, or a Prodigious Sea Satyre, &c. This may fitly be born of him whose name is monstrous, filthy, and stinketh in the Nostrils of the People.

XLIX. He beareth Argent, a Rosmarus (or a Rose-mate Whale) proper. It is termed by the Germans, and Norwegians, a Rusor; and a Rosfinger, and a Wolfshey; the French call it a Rohart. It is of the Sea Elephant species, and far greater then the Land Elephant. It hath the Head of an Ox, the hide rough and hairy; whose pili hairs, like Reeds or stalks of corn, in grossness, flow largely about him: for which cause he is of Albertus magnus, termed the Piscuta Cetenea, the Palmer Worm Whale: (which Worm is so covered with a rough stragling hair) It hath two great, and long Teeth growing from it under Jaw. It is of some termed, the Ocean Sea Horse, Hippotamus Oceanus; and the Ocean Whale Elephant, or Whale Ox, or Boar.

L. Here I present you with the shape of an Amphus Marinus, or Sea Gadzee: It is a kind of fly that creeps in the Water, and infecteth certain Fishes: It is white of colour; and said that the greatest of Fishes are made mad and ragious, with it stinging, and biting.

LI. He beareth Gules, a Goat fish Pauriant, with its Tail embowed, and erected, Argent: Horned, hooped and finned, &c. I say Pauriant, to signify the rising or springing up of the Goatish part; else it might be mistaken in the posture, and have been supposed to be on its Belly and Feet, as those mentioned chap. 16. numb. 5. 10 & 12. Some term this a Goat fish, Springing or Mounting, with the Tail erected. This is born by the name of Meergotten.

LII. He beareth Vert, an Orbon fish, Or. Born by Orbon or Orban. It is a fish that exceeds the Crocodile, and lives both in the Water, and on the Earth: It is a terrible Creature, having Feet like a Dragon, and scaled on the Body & Belly, like as we draw the scales of a Dragons. This is born by the name of Don Argolla Venetian; the Field being Gules.

LIII. He beareth Azure a Sea Urchen (or Hedgehog) fish, Or. It is a fish that fears not to encounter with any fish: and is a kind contrary to all, having a Swines head, with broad serrated Ears; and all the Body covered over with sharp pricks, like the Hedgehog, with a fin at the Tail; and one on the Back, near the Tail of a fleshy or skinnny substance. This is born by the name of Urchenperg.

B. 3 such erected A. born by Alstanston.

G. 3 such in pale A. born by Astorn.

LIV. He beareth Gules, a Bishop fish (or a Fish like, or in the Habite of a Bishop) Argent. Such a shape of a fish, or rather Monster, was seen in Polonia in the Year, 1531. Gesner calls it, the Sea wonder in Poland. The Hands and Breast was covered with scales.

LV. He beareth Vert, a Lamb triping, having three heads, the middle Gardant (or at gaze) and the third regardant (or looking backwards) Argent, hooves Or. Born by Tripur. This is a Monster in nature, of such there might be whole Volumes written, (if it were noted by us, what varieties of procreations and conceptions: and in them mention, the deformities, duplicities of members, and conjunctions of kinds) there have within these few centuries of Years happened: but of such Monsters I shall say no more, but refer the Reader to such who have spent their time in writing of such things, and conclude with Albertus Magnus, that great Astrologer, and Astronomer: that such births are not so much from the generation of contrary species, as from the influence and operations of the Stars, at such conceptions.

LVI. He beareth Argent, three Celes their Heads in point in fesse, torqued in triangle, Sable Others blazon this Coat; three Celes in triangle, heads in point, seated, and reflected. Born by the name of Stroud.

B.

B. the like A. born by Van Hanffengel of Carinthia.

LVII. He beareth Vert, three Trouts in triangle, conjoynd under one Head, Argent. And some will say, under one Head in fesse: which must be presupposed to be in fesse, for in triangle they can be joynd no where else. Others a Trout with three Bodies conjoynd in triangle, under one Head. Born by the name of Tritot.

B. the like A. by Van Kreckwitz.

G. 3. Trouts in triangle Tails in point A. born by Van Kippenheim of Alsatia.

LVIII. He beareth Azure, three Sole Fishers in triangle conjoynd at their Tails, Or. Born by the name of Soletry.

G. the like O. born by Van Kippenheim of Alsatia.

G. 3. Fish so conjoynd O. Heads S. born by Bernbach.

LIX. He beareth Or, a Skeleton of an Hipocampus (or a Sea Horse) Azure. This is taken so by many, but in truth it is an Insect Vermine of the Sea, whose foreparts are something like a Horse, and hinder parts bend in joynts, having many knotty or nappy incisions, by means whereof he is able to turn, and wind his Tail round inward. It is of some called the Sea Salamander, the Sea Dragon, a Sea Asphe. The Germans call it a Seer of the; but the proper name for it in English is an Hipocampus insect, or Sea Horse worm. See the figure of this as I took it from the Worm it self, chap. 16. numb. 47.

In the base of this quarter, is the figure of the Sea Leech, this lives in Salt Waters, as the other mentioned numb. 30. doth in the fresh; it is (as some write) seven cubits long, and hath gills perforated or bored through the insect skin, by which it takes its breath; the mouth is round like a Lampreys.

LX. He beareth Gules, a Sittard, Argent. This is a Fish of the Flook kind, flat in the body, with back and belly finned almost from head to tail; the head is round and short, the end of the Snout to the extent of the mouth of the higher mandible turned Swine like, it hath large round white eyes, with a black pupil. The Fish is very red or ruddy, a blood red. The Italians call it a Pecten, or Comb-fish. This is born by the name of Sittardale.

LXI. He beareth Azure, a Venetian Moon-fish, proper. It is called in Latine, the Orthogoriscus; it is a Species of the Moon Fish, mentioned numb. 35. but that it hath no Fins; the skin is smooth without any scales or incision lines; the mouth is gathered into a close round hole, with a kind of brim about it, open and wide eyes, ample and prominent more than usually; the gills close, covered with a fleshy Fin: It hath three round skinny fins behind, of 9 or 10 inches in length (standing out like the husk of a flower) it hath a hard bunch or swelling in its forehead, the jaws are armed with solid teeth of Bone; in magnitude it exceeds the Udale called Belua, or Balena.

LXII. He beareth Argent, the Shell of a Nautilus (or Nautilick shell) Gules. This is by the Germans called a Sarkuttel, or Schiff kuttel, and of some the Oval like Pourcontrol, or many feet; because when it opens, it sends forth several long knobbed feet like Aders Tails; the Shell is almost like the form of a Beaver, it swims with its Belly upwards, and is of a Gold colour naturally.

LXIII. He beareth Vert, a Sea Pipe, Or. 3 fish in Pale, is born by Piper. This is by several Antons called by diverse names, as a Dentale, or Shell Trumpet, from its similitude to a Tooth; a Sea Horn, the Germans a Sea Royle. It may be well called in English Critons Trumpet, who is Trumpeter to Nestune, God of the Sea; or Neptunes Hunters Horn. It is of a white colour naturally; lined long ways with one or two lines transverse at an equal distance; the substance is very hard, strong and flinty, as in other shells; between the insect lines, clefts or gashes, like Vermine ly lurking, and do hide themselves.

In the Sinister corner of this quarter I have given you the true form of a Water Skipper, or Water Fly, because the body is like a Fly with a cut waist, or parting in the middle, it is covered with a hard husk or cod, and the feet stand Salterwise; it is of an earthy colour.

LXIV. He beareth Sable, a Zinde (or Zindel or Zingel) proper; it is termed in Latine Asper Danubius, which we cannot better English than an Aspe of the River Danubius, or Ister; because its head and body is rough, rugged and hard; and also shaped in the head like to it. It is covered with scales, and hath a parted Fin from the Breech to the Head, of a skinny substance, with the like fin at each gill; the colour is fuscous, inclining to a red; others have distinct intervals, with many black spots on the back oblique; it hath a hard tail, which can scarcely be cut about.

LXV. He beareth Azure, a Magmaul Fish, Argent; of the Germans it is called a Schill; it is a kind of Globe or Dye Fish, scaled on the back; having three rows or orders of fins, one down the back, one on each side; all consisting of three or four Fins. They are taken in the Lake of Bavaria, and the River Danubius.

LXVI. He beareth Gules, an Houperou Fish, Or. In America there is found a Fish of a huge length, which devourerth all other Fish (one little Fish excepted, called a Cypinus, a Carpe or Bream, which accompanies him; and in whose tuition and keeping, he secures himself from the violence of all other devouring Fishes) he is so ravenous, as if he were of the terrible Family of the Lion or Wolf: The Natives in their Language call it a Houperou, from whence the Latine calls it Huperus. It hath a short head and nose; two knots or bunches on its crown like two round ears, two Wattles like a Cock, two double Fins, at an equal distance in the Belly Belly; a sharp pointed long fin on the middle of the back; the last sharp point extending behind its tail; the body all over rough, large, and open scaled; the tail straight not forked.

There is another Species of this Duperus, which is also termed Hastopogon, and Egomastus, which hath a head like a Salmon, and also the body, with an incision line down the sides; tail and skin like Salmon; having two large thorny fins at the gills; the like from the navel to the tail; and from the hinder part of the neck almost to the tail; but what colours these are, my Authors mention not.

LXVII. He beareth Argent, a Lizard fish, or the Sea Lizard fish, proper. This is called the Lizard fish, from the similitude it hath in its mouth and whole head to the Land Lizard, it is of a greenish colour, pleasant to behold; the body is full of scales, a fin at each gill, and two long jagged fins on each side the body, the back and belly none; the tail forked; it is called by the Germans a Frombder Sea fish; the Latine Lacertus Peregrinus, the Stranger or Pilgrim Lizard, the Peregrine Lizard fish of the Red Sea. 3 such in Pale is born by Lizcarck.

LXVIII. He beareth Argent, a Golden head fish, proper. Born by Goldhead. This is a Fish that is black of colour, with a head shining like Gold; it is called in Latine Coracius, from the colour of the Coar, or Raven. The Low Country Men call it a Groskopf, a Rapplin, or a Rotlachter. It hath a short nose, two fins at the gills, two at a distance on the back, and two on the belly; the tail but a little forked.

There is another kind of these Fish that are white and black; and a third Species that are lesser Fish, and of a reddish, or inclining to a red colour.

A Cephalus is shaped and finned like the Golden head, except the Nose which is longer, and the first fin on the back thorned, and a double fin next the throat.

*

TO

TO THE

Ever Loyal, and most Worthily Honored

THOMAS CHOLMONDELEY, of Vale-Royal, Esq;

AND TO

Francis Cholmondeley, his Virtuous and Loving Brother.

Noble Worthies of our County, being your selves so great Lovers of Reading and Learning, makes me out of fear or doubt, but that amongst the rest of your Books, this may find a place in your Library, and not be undervalued, therefore presents the same to your consideration, which after perusal and kind acceptance; it shall abundantly satisfy him that is Devoted to your Service, and desires to remain as ever

Your Devoted Servant

Randle Holme.

O T

CHAP. XVI.

I. Having in the former Plates given you a brief description of most known Fishes, with their several species or kinds; it now remains that I give examples of Monstrous and less known Fish, such as are very rarely seen, and as little used in Arms: Yet for History sake, and because they have never before (as I could hear of) been described in English; I am the more willing to give a brief account of them; and what is used in Coats, I shall shew it.

I. He beareth Azure, a Mer-man (or a Man-marine, or a Man fish) holding a Sword in his right hand, and the left upon his side; with an Helmet (or an Head-peece) on his head, all proper. If you desire to have the particulars of the Fish, and the other Changes named, then Blazon it thus; Azure a Mer-man to the navel proper, the fish part Argent, crined and fanned, Or, holding a Sword in his right hand, of the third; Hilt, Cross and Pomell of the fourth; with a head peece or Horion on his head, Gules. This is by Pliny and others termed a Criton, or Sea Goblin, or a Sea Man, and that there were certainly such Sea Creatures he assures us, and that they are of the same form and shape as those commonly Drawn and Painted for Critons or Ware-men, viz. the upper parts from the bottom of the Belly like Men, and the lower part Fish.

You need not in Blazoning mention the bowing or turning of the tail, either in the Mer-man, or Mermaid, for they are ever born bending, or bowed round, or curved, according to the pleasure of the Work-man.

A Persea Sea Man scaled, was several times seen, and observed to come aboard the Ships on the Coast of Spain, near to Gades. And in the year 1180. near Orford in Suffolk there was a Fish taken in the perfect shape of a Man, which was kept in the Castle of Orford above half half a year, but at last (not being carefully looked to) he stole to the Sea, and was never seen after; he never spake, but would eat any meat that was given him, especially raw Fish, when he had squeezed out the Juice; he was often had to the Church, but never shewed any sign of Adoration.

Cytron is by the Poets said to be the Son of Neptune and the Nymph Salasia; that is the Son of Air, Water, and Earth: He was a Man to the middle, a Dolphin below, his fore-feet like Horse-feet, and had two circled tails. This Monster (saith Lycophron) did overturn and drown many, and therefore was Superstitiously Worshipped as a God of the Sea.

This is the Supporter of the Worshipful Company of Fishmongers.

The like Crowned, holding a Trident S. is the Supporter of the Earl of Sandwich.

II. He beareth Vert, a Mermaid, proper, holding a Spire in her right hand, and a Comb in her left, Or. The Mermaid is generally made holding a Looking Glass and Comb, yet in Arms I have seen them born holding of Fish, of a Ship, of Branches, of Flowers, and the like, which ought to be mentioned; and some do bear the Mermaid alone, and of one entire colour, without holding of any thing. The Mermaid is also termed a Siren, or Sereide, it being no Fable (as Pliny saith) that goes of them, for look how Painters Draw them, so they are indeed, only their body is round and scaled all over, even in those parts where in they resemble a Woman. There are three sorts of Hermen and Mermaids, these are the first, the second have Wings instead of Arms, as numb. 17. 19. and the other have legs coming out on either side under the belly, as numb. 20. but the two latter are held to be spurious and monstrous, having such things more than Nature hath at first allowed them. See chap. 15. numb. 48.

Echidna, the Mother of Chimera, is by the Poets feigned to have from the Navel upwards the shape of a Virgin, and downwards of a Serpent, or Uper.

The Mermaid is the Crest of Morbury, of Mare, in Cheshire; also the crest of Walloppe.

S. a Mermaid to the Sinister, the tail elevated A. by Zelin.

III. He beareth Argent, out of a Coronett, Gules, a demý Woman, Face proper, clothed Azure, crowned and crined, Or; with fish tails in place of Arms or Hands, of the second. Or else Blazon it thus, out of a Crown, a demý Negro, or Blackmore, proper, clothed Azure, crowned and girded with Arms and Hands from the Elbows converted (or metamorphosed, or turned) into the hinder parts of a Salmon, Or. This is born by Wasserhagen.

Out of a Coronet a demý Woman crowned O. clothed G. her Arms converted into 2 Fishes O. is the crest of Mumpelgart and Phirdt.

A demý Woman crowned, clothed G. with Stags horns for Arms A. on each tip or point a Rose G. is the crest of Thierstein.

Out of a Crown a demý Boy clothed B. on the top of his head a Plume of Feathers B. A. G. His Arms converted into Fish hooks the Beards reversed A. is the crest of Van Angeloch.

An old Man to the middle clothed O. turned down A. cap B. turned up A. the Arms turned into Goats horns, wreathed G. and A. is the crest of Van Schan- steten.

A demý Boy proper, clothed per Fesse S. and O. his temples adorned with a Garland of Roses G. and Arms Stags horns; A. is the crest of Burman.

A demý Woman proper clothed V. hair florant O. Arms converted into Elephants Snouts, Barry A. and V. is the crest of Fleckenstein.

A demý Boy out of a Crown clothed G. Arms turned to Bulls horns A. is the Crest of Van Starckenberg.

The Chronicle of Belgia makes mention of a Sea Monster Woman, taken in Holland in the year 1402, and was brought to Harlaem; she was tamed and taught to Spin, and lived 15 years after.

IV. He beareth Azure, a Mermaid, proper, double tailed contrary Imbowed, Argent; supporting or the Arms extended to them, fins, Or, crined Sable. Else thus, he beareth Gules, a Mermaid double tailed, holding of them up, proper, crined and finned Or. Both by the name of Wasser Schwen den of Swabidun.

Such a Mermaid A. is the crest of Zelin of Austria.

On a Crown the like crowned G. in a field per Fesse B. and A. is the coat and crest of Ritter.

G. the same proper tails B. crowned and finned O. born by Fenden.

The same, tails erected, crowned, holding a Muller of six points O. the left on its side, is the Crest of the Lord of Colona van Fels.

V. He beareth Argent, a Sea Horse fish, (or an Hippotame, or Warehorse, a Water horse fish, Azure, finned and tusked, Or. This is the forepart of a Horse, and the hinder of a Fish, which in Heraldry is ever turned up after this manner, which needs no mentioning in these kind of Water Creatures, but if they be otherwise, term them according as in the examples given, chap. 9. numb. 88. fess. 9. and in this chapter numb. 10, 11, 12, 13. This is the Crest of Waterman.

B. a Cheveron imbattled on the top O. between 3 such A. born by Tucker.

B. a Cheveron O. between three such A. is also born by Tuckers.

On a Sea Horse Fish, a King in Armour sounding of an Horn, all proper, Bridle G. and is the Crest of Cat-grave.

This is of some termed a Sea Horse Naunt; but that cannot be, except the tail were extended, as numb. 10. also Antiquity hath given this the name of a Sea Horse, which I call a Sea Horse fish, and that for good reason, which is to distinguish it from the whole Sea Horse which hath four feet, as I have described such creatures of the Sea, numb. 31.

In the chief is the figure of an Umbilicus or Navel shell; it is a kind of writhen cockle, or shell fish wrinkled and turned in on the top like a Navel; of which there is two sorts, the lesser navel shell is very slender, a little bigger than a Pease or Pulse, some less than a Pease, pointed below and spongy (as if it were) set with grains of red Coral after the manner of a rough cast Wall.

The greater Navel shell is admirable, being naturally of all coloured Coralls, the grains or tuberos knots being black, red and white curiously mixed. It is round like an Egg at the top, and sharp at bottom.

VI. He beareth Gules, a Sea Horse head coupéd, Argent. All Sea Creatures that are partly flesh, partly fish, or partaking of two sorts of Animals in contrary Elements Land and Water, it is to be noted that, We do in Heraldry generally make the Land Animal part, partake of something also of the Water, by making the feet generally like Ducks feet, and a Dolphin like Fin from the Crown of the head down the neck; and all along the back of the fish part to the tail end; yet Gesner in his description of the Hippopotamus, or the Sea Horse, draws him with the Hane and Topping of a Horse.

3 such is the Coat Armour of Horsling.

B. a chevron between three such O. born by Hussentale.

VII. He beareth Argent, a demy Sea Wolf coupéd, Azure, Fins, Or. It is of some termed a Sea Lupe saliant, which is a needless term, by reason all such demy Sea Animals, which have their Fishy part either couped or erazed from them, are ever set in this posture, erected, upright. These Creatures were in former times termed Dragon-wolves, Dragon-horses, Dragon Bears, &c. This is the crest or cognizance of Wasserlupel.

B. 3 such A. finned O. born by Ridgeray.

G. one O. is the crest of Samslfe.

VIII. He beareth Argent, a demy Sea Bear erazed, Sable; fins and feet, Or. These kind of Sea Creatures, which are Drawn from the Land Creatures, and (as it were) have a dependance on both kinds, are (as I have said before) delineated after this form, viz.

The half of the Land Beast, and the other half of the Dolphin kind, with a fin from the top or back of the head, down all along the back, and the feet whole like a Swan to swim withall. They are called also Water Bears, when they are the true shape and figure of the Sea Water, or Ocean Creatures; but these afore said being only Devices and Fictions of Men; see how to distinguish them according to their kinds, numb. 10, 31. This is born by the name of Wasserlupel.

G. 3 such A. born by Merrill.

IX. He beareth Azure, a demy Boar-fish, or Hog fish, Argent; finned, tusked, (or tushed, and hoofed, Or.

This I do not term as the others afore, a Sea Hog, or a Sea Boar, but a Boar or Hog-fish; the reason is, because this is directly the half of a Boar, with Boars feet, whereas them of the Sea have feet like a Swan to swim withall, which makes them absolute Sea Creatures; but this being not properly of the Sea, but (as it were) both of the Sea and of the Land, is therefore termed a Boar-fish, as being half the one and half the other. In like manner the Artist must be careful to observe this distinction in the foregoing Creatures; for there is a great difference between a Sea Horse and a Horse-fish, a Sea Wolf and a Wolf-fish, a Sea Dog, and a Dog-fish, (and yet by most Heralds but little observed) and so of the rest of those kinds; for the first have feet to swim withall like Duck feet; and the latter (as I said) the direct half of the Creature with its own proper feet; yet in both kinds or sorts of them, I have observed that Antiquity hath given fins to both alike down the middle of the neck, and back. Some have termed these Amphibious Creatures by the names of an Horse-Dolphin, a Wolf-Dolphin, a Dog-Dolphin, because the Fish part represents the tail of the Dolphin, as we draw it in Heraldry; see numb. 31. This is the Crest of Breson, or Borston.

B. 3 such O. is born by Hilditch.

X. He beareth Sable, a Dog-fish Naïant, Argent. This is of some termed a Dog-fish with its tail extended, (or stretched, or thrust out at length); which I term Naïant, being the Fish part with the feet stretched out, is in a Swimming posture. This is another example of half a Land, and half a Water Creature, which being joined together, makes an Animal of both kinds, which cannot be termed a Sea Dog, by the reason afore said in the last and foregoing example. This is also of old Blazoned a fish with a Dogs head, and short feet. Sometimes these Creature are born, one part or half, of one colour, & the other half of another; see numb. 31. This is born by the name of Watling.

G. 3 such in Pale O. tails A. Finned O. born by Kenton.

B. 3 such A. born by Becht:n.

In this quarter also, for want of room elsewhere I have placed a young tailed Frog; having now (as it were) the feet and legs just sprung out of its sides, and is grown from its first term in age, a Bull head, to a Frog tail, see chap. 10. numb. 7, 8. G. 3 Frog tails erected O. is born by Barthomley, or Bartmiley.

XI. He beareth Vert, a Sea Bull, Argent, the Tail targent, Or. Born by the name of Taurail, alias Tawrell.

B. the like O. is born by the name of Blaken, or Blaknall.

XII. He beareth Sable, an Hound-fish, with the Tail Erected and Imbowed, Argent. By the name of Hundley.

B. the like A. Finned O. born by Hopfengen.

A. the Dog part S. and the Fish part B. finned O. born the name of Linsleele.

XIII. He beareth Gules, a Cat fish, Or. the Tail dected imbowed, Argent. As these Tails of the fish-bands; so you must give them the same terms, when you observe them to be in other sea water Creatures, feeding. 181. numb. 12. This is born by the name of Overling.

B. 3 such A. fined O. is born by Purpach.

XIV. He beareth Azure, a Demy sea Hound (or sea Calbot) Argent: tusked and fined, Or. It is termed also a Water Calbot. In the great seas by the Isle of Taprabones, there are often seen many fishes which have heads like to Lions, Unicorns, Panthers, Rams, and other such like land Beasts: which to give examples of all were endless, and of no great effect: these being sufficient to instruct the ingenious how to term such, when he finds them in Coats of Arms, or in Histories. This is the Crest of Talbotter. G. the like O. is the Coat of Houndshall.

To these kind of Creatures saith Grillims fol. 264. must be added the Montegres, Satpres, Honk-fishes, and also Lion-fishes, Lion-poysons, or whatsoever double shaped Animal be of any two or more particular kinds.

XV. He beareth Vert, the Head of a Sea Serpent couped, Or, debouring of a naked Man, proper. This is termed a Noztwegian Sea Monster, and is of such an incredible length, and bigness, that as Olanus Magnus reports, it is above thirty, or forty Foot long; nay, some are a hundred, and two hundred foot long. They will in the Baltick and Swedish Ocean, raise themselves out of the Sea, and take Men out of the ships, and swallow them up whole. The German calls this, a Noztwegian Sea Serpent, in their Language, a Meer-schlange. This is born by Van Barthertum.

A Cyoneide, is a Worm or Serpent, with two fins of a side; of a blew colour, and are sixty cubits long.

Note that all fishes of what kind soever, that are born feeding, in their blazon shall be termed debouring, or swallowing; because such Creatures use not mastication, or chewing: and you must tell whereon they feed.

XVI. He beareth, a Physeters head couped, Argent; in a Field Azure. It is also termed, a Whirl-pooles head, or a Hozlepole; because it can receive the Sea in his Mouth, and cast it out a great height, by two Pipes, or conduit-tunnells; which are on the top of its Head. It hath two Latin names, Physalus and Flator; and the German calls it, a Wetterwall, or a Spring-wall. Pliny saith, that they are so large, that they can raise themselves out of the Water, like a colume or Pillar, higher then the very sails of a Ship, and spouteth out Water enough to sink and drown a Ship. They are generally two hundred Cubits long, having a great, and wide Mouth; on the whole Body it hath a black fat, and grosse skin, like that of a Black-Hoo; the fin of the Tail biforked, being fifteen or twenty Foot Broad.

XVII. He beareth Argent, a Finned, or Winged Syren, Gules. This is one of the kinds of Mermaids, of which I spoke before, numb. 2. and is the right Syren, two of them, about the Year 1670. was brought dead to our City of Chester to be publicly shewed for Money, whereto both drew them, and took this description. Their Heads both of the Male and Female, were like Frogs, flat and broad: the Breast was Ribbed; they had Pan and Navels like Men and Women, with the other privy parts; they had two large fins, like Wings, instead of Arms; and their Feet whole after the manner of a Duck; from the Nose, to the Tail end, they were about a yard three quarters in length; and covered with a smooth skin of a dusky colour. This Hauriant is the Coat Armour of Swyren.

[]

B. 3 such Hauriant (or erected) O. is born by Siran.

G. 3 such A. by the name of Barkesford or Barsford, now vulgarly Basford.

XVIII. He beareth Azure, a Balena or Whirl-poole, Argent. This is another kind of Monstrous fish of the Whale kind, that spouts out water from the conduits, fixed on the top of the Head: In the Indian Seas they are so large (saith Pliny) that they take up in length, as much as four Acres of Land.

A Piste, is another kind of Whale, near two hundred Cubits long. Some make this with two Feet, like to Lyons Pawes; but the Females have none, but three or four large Duggs under their Bellies, like to Womans Breast.

A Belua, is a vast Sea Monster, like the Balena; it hath two Feet like a Duck. In the Year 1532 there was one of them cast up on the shore, which was thirty ells long; from the Belly to the Back-bone eight or nine ells. The open of the Mouth eight ells and a half. The Feet were twenty five Foot long; the genitale Masculine, was of a Prodigious magnitude. The Tail biforked, and serrated, or cut like a Saw, being seven ells broad: It had two great holes in the Head, from whence it would spout water as through a Conduit, or Pipe.

A Platanista, is a large Whale like fish, in the River Ganges in India; Snouted & Tailed, like Dolphins, and are fifteen or twenty Cubits long. These I suppose are termed by the German, a Teufelwal, or a Trol-wall.

In the sinister chief, is the Limpyn or Lempet shell. It is a shell like an Oyster, but riseth more Pyramide in the middle: It is much used by Women to cover their fore Nipples, or Breast heads, that are sore. Some are smooth, others furrowed like Cockles, dusky without and white within. It is a single shelled fish, see numb. 27.

XIX. He beareth Gules, a Winged Satyre fish, or a Sea-Satyre, Arms converted into finny wings, Or; the Tail double bowed-debaused, Argent. And it is the Crest of Bridesmeer.

In like manner is the Criton and Syren, born with Wings, instead of Arms; which are to be termed a Winged Criton, or Mermaid, or Man-fish, &c. For if they have Wings, they have no Arms; and the Wings of such, ever stand each side the Head, if their Bodies be in full aspect, if side-ways then expanded, &c.

XX.

XX. He beareth Sable, a Mermaid, or Siren with feet Argent; holding a Mirror and Comb, crined and finned, Or. Some term this a Finn footed Siren, or a Pedale Mermaid. This is the Crest of Marston.

Sometimes you will see in Arms Critons and Sirens both winged and with feet: which are blazoned either a Criton, (or Siren) winged and footed with Wings and Feet: or a Pedale Criton without; or wings displayed.

XXI. He beareth Argent, the Serpent Python, Conchant, Winged, Or. This is the Crest of Griffin, a Spanish Family; of this Serpent see more chap. 10. numb. 24.

S. the like O. is born by the name of Gausley.
B. the like with Apollo striding over him, holding an Arrow in one hand and Bow in another, all O. is the Coat of the Apothecaries company in London.

XXII. He beareth Gules, a Falcon fish, with a Round Ear Argent, fins Or. Born by the name of Mac Farquhar. This is best blazon'd (for the better understanding of the posture) to say the Tail dejected-imbrued; because the general way of bearing them is imbrued, & not to mention the same, is according to the examples, numb. 1. 2. 5. 20. But this being as numb. 13. ought to be so termed.

XXIII. He beareth Azure, a Sea-pig or Sea-hog, Argent; tusked, bristled and finned, Or. This is the true shape of the Ocean pig or Hog, which Gesner sets down, which to distinguish from our Sea Hog or Sea Boar, it is best termed and that properly, the Ocean Swine, or Sow: for so in the Latin he terms it, Oceani Monstrosa Porca, vel Sus Marinus Magnus; a monstrous or wonderfull Pig of the Ocean, or a great Sow, or Swine of the vast Seas. Ambrise Parry gives the figure of this Monster otherwise, which I have set down in chap. 15. numb. 44.

XXIV. He beareth Gules, a Monstrous Oble-fish, Or; this is termed both an Oble-fish, and a Sele-hound. It is so large, and terrible a Creature; that it can swallow, or devour a whole Sea-calf: It is in Latin termed, Ziphius, the German term it, Zyffwal, and Saußwal.

There is a kind of these Sele-hounds, that have a spiral bunch upon their Backs, adorned all to the top with straight lines and invecks, as is on the Body, all running one way, as those on the Back.

XXV. He beareth Sable, a Roken, or a Ray-monster, in chief, Argent; and a Water Rat, in base, Or. The latter is a full round bodied Creature, short Legs and hairy, with a bushy Tail, or more hairy then the House Rat, and of a brown colour.

G. 3 such Water Rats O. is born by Farnivall.
B. the like in pale O. is born by Rod. Some term them Conchant, but by reason their Legs are short, they are ever drawn thus, and therefore need not to be mentioned.

[]

XXXVI. He beareth party per fesse, in base, (or party per base) Aire and Water; Neptune, or the God of the Sea, riding on the Back of a Whale, proper. Thrusting his Trident, or three rooted Staffe into the deeps, Sable. His Mantle flying aloft, Gules. This is the Coat and Crest of that Marshall Hero, Don Pedro Banguarvil, (who as Nephtis by one thrust of his Trident into the Sea, allwaged the trumpling bellows of the vast Ocean, and made a stormy calm) so he at one blow slew three-score and ten, whereby the rest of a great Army fled. This is a noble Achievement for such Heroick persons.

A King in Armour, riding on a Sea-horse, all proper: is the Crest of Trappes. And sounding of a horn is Cogeraves Crest.

XXVII. He beareth Argent, on a Mount in base, Vert: a Sea Nymph lying along, (or sedant) resting her Arm upon a Water-pot or Fontain, from whence issues water all proper. This is termed in short, upon a Mount or Hill, a Nymph of the fountain sedant, proper: see chap. 2. numb. 23. because such Nymphs of the Water are so painted, resting upon a Scateba, or Water-pot; representing thereby a fountain or spring of Water. This is the Coat of Springhill of Springhill.

In the dexter quarter, I have caused to be set, the small round Cockle, called the Scotch-cockle; which the German call, Wasser-sch-neckle: if the Limpine shell were in furrows or round, it would resemble this shell: but that it is not, yet several of those Limpines, I have seen shelvy, or scally: as if one crust of the shell, lay upon another: see numb. 18.

XXVIII. He beareth Argent, an Oika, or Spring-wal, Gules. This is another kind of the Oica or Spring-whale, of which I have spoken, numb. 16.

In base a Salmon, adorned with a pair of Stags horns: of some termed a fish Azure, having on its head the attire of a Stag, Or. Others a Fish horned like a Stag: is the Coat of Ragelha in a Field Argent.
B. 3 such A. Horns O. is born by Chartley.

XXIX. He beareth Azure, a Sea Boar, Or. This is a very huge Monstrous Creature, as Olannus Magnus informs us; but gives no name to it, but by reason of its long Teeth, Gesner calls it, a Sea Boar; or rather a Boar-Whale: for such a one was taken in the Isle of Thule, in the Northern Ocean, in the Year 1538. which was seventy two foot long, and fourteen foot high; and seven foot in distance were the Eyes. Its whole Body was rough and sharp, as if it were set with bunched scales: the Head like a Swine; the Liver was so large, and vast, as five Wine Vessels could but contain it; on the highest part of the Back, and between the Eyes, it had three rows or lunips, like dried Clay: It had long Teeth in its Mouth, of six, eight, or twelve foot long.

In the sinister base, is for want of other names, a Water-Dopper, or Water-Grashopper; they do swim and slide on the Water, and Rivers, like the Land-Grashoppers on the Earth. The German call them, Wasser-

Wassergrillen, and a Baumgrillen; it is reversed, having the head turned downward.

XXX. He beareth Argent, a Scate, Azure; fimbriated. It is a round-bodied, and headed fish, with a Cat-like beard, and a collar engraved about its Neck, the like about the Back, and a third about the middle of the fish; to all which, at the sides are fixed long and sharp ended fins; down the Back to the Tail is a row of tubercous knobs, or burrows. The Tail large, deeply forked; but what the colour of the fish is, or any part of it my Author saith nothing.

In the latter chief, is a Spreu, sans Arms, Tail elevated and imbowed. Some term it erectus flect. Others flectus and reflexus. This in a Field Gules is the Coat and Crest of Van Bardon of Francoeur; being in its proper colour.

Such Arms created, torqued, respecting each other proper, is the Crest of Croft.

XXXI. He beareth Argent, a Sea water Wolf, or Ocean Sea Wolf, proper. This is by most Authors described, and set down for the proper shape of the Sea, or Ocean Wolf; yet for distinction sake, and that we may upon its name, know it from the Sea Wolf fish, before spoken of, numb. 7. which hath in Heraldry a fish tail; I hold it best to term this a Water Wolf, or the Ocean, or Sea Wolf. It is all hair, of a dark brown, or Umber colour; with strong hair or blistles standing up like a Swines back; all along from the top of the Head to the end of the Tail: to answer which, both our ancient, and modern Heralds, have drawn and do still make all Sea creatures, of this nature, as Wolves, Horses, Hounds, Bulls, Bears, and such like quadrupeds, to have a Dolphin like fin from the Head to the Tail of them, also to have Swan like Feet, and a Tail of fish, resembling the Tail of the Beaver, set down chap. 10. numb. 22.

3. Sorts of Water - Beasts; Natural, Supposed, Devised: how distinguished.

1. A Sea Water or Ocean Sea Wolf, or Water Sea Wolf: so termed when the Beast is born in its natural shape as in this and other figures, numb. 9, 10. chap. 14. numb. 53, 55. chap. 15. numb. 44. 47. 49. 52. and the like.

2. A Sea or Water Wolf, or Sea Horse, or the like: so termed when devised by Heraldry, as is afore said. Having four Feet Duck like, and a Fish Tail, as numb. 7. 14. chap. 10. numb. 18. 20. 22. Such a Sea Wolf, A. finned O. is the supporters of the Lord Chandos: and a Sea Hound the supporters of the Lord Straton. Some draw them in their own shapes, and make the Bodies scaly; see lib. 4. chap. 7. numb. 19, 20.

3. A Sea Wolfe fish: being half the Land Creature, and half of the Dolphin kind; having whole, or Duck like Feet to swim with: as numb. 5. 7. 8. and such like.

[]

4. A Wolf fish; when the Land creature retains its own shape, having cloven Feet, not to swim with, as numb. 9, 10, 11, 12. and the like.

XXXII. He beareth Or, an Hippotamus, or a Sea water Horse, Sable. It is of some called a Water, or Sea water Dr. It is by Albericus termed, Equus Nilis, and Equus Fluminis, a Horse of the River Nile; and by others Bos Marinus, and Porcus Marinus, a Sea Dr., and a Sea Porke or Swine. It is of the bigness of a great Cow; a great Head, and deep under Clay, white Teeth on both sides above and below, much like a Swine, full bodied like an Dr.; short Legs cloven footed, (and some say round indented Toes, like to the Elephant, or finger Toes) the Tail of a Swine, or Corteise: It lives both in the Water, and on the Land. The Germans give it the name of the Egyptian water horse, or Egyptian water swine.

A Sea Water Horse, is the Crest of Don Maldanah of Spain.

XXXIII. He beareth Vert, an Hoga fish, or the Netian Hoga, or Andura, Or. In the Kingdom of Mexico in the City Themsitana, was a fish seen of the bigness of a Calf, which they called Andura; but the Spaniards Hoga: It had the Head and Ears of a Swine, with a fleshy beard, half a Foot long hanging down. It was all over hairy except the fin on its Back, and two round pointed fins, like the Oars of a Boat, which were on both sides; and a broad finny Tail. It was for changing its colour, like the Chameleon; for in the water it was all green; and taken out, it immediately turned to a bright yellow-red: It is a most furious and devouring fish, and therefore never taken by fishers alive. This is also termed a Hogs head fish; that is a fish with a Hog or a Swines head.

In the base is a Water Flea, it is a small Water Aermine, like a Grashopper, which the Germans call, Kerderle, and Karder: It is in Latin by some Authors called, Tenea aquatica, and Peicus aquaticus; a Water Moth, or Water Louse. It is a little oblong animal, having three Feet on each side; it is included or shut up in a sheath or husk, to preserve it self from Frogs, whence it is called Ruckle; and of some Querclen, and Wasserluse.

There is another kind of these sheathed Creatures, of which you will see the figure, numb. 34.

B. 6 such Water - Fleas O. is born by Flea; but they are erected.

XXXIV. He beareth Argent, a Water or Ocean Elephant, Gules; tusked and finned, Or. This is an Animal, that lives both upon Land, and in the Sea; It is greater then the Terrestrial Elephant; and hath two great Teeth like the Elephant, proceeding from the higher chap; by which he climeth the rocks, and hangeh by them, whilst he sleepeth. It is a most cruel and dreadful Sea Monster, all over hairy, with four Feet like to an Ape, with sharp and long Claws: having a kind of fleshy fin, on each side at the Shoulders. Some Authors call it, Phoca Marina, and Aper Oceanus: a Sea Calf, and an Ocean Wild Boar.

In the base I have placed the figure of another kind of Monstrous Creatures call, a Harder; see numb. 33.

XXXV. He beareth Argent, a Utelif, or an Ocean Sea Unicorn, Azure; horned, and finned, Or. This is a fish much seen in the Atlantick Ocean, which the Inhabitants of that Country call in their Language, an Utelif; which we may well term a Sea Unicorn, the Rake fish, or Sword fish, having such a horn as this, but it groweth out of the Nose: as chap. 14 numb. 50. It hath a large Head, wrinkled Fore-head; a scaled Body, thick towards the Head, and smaller and smaller to the Tail: with two large fins on each side, resembling Dragons wings; with other small fins on the Back and belly: as the figure doth demonstrate. This is the Coat of Urtise a Venetian.

XXXVI. He beareth Azure, a Caspian fish Argent; Armed (or Spicked) Or. This fish is not above two Foot in length, but it is almost so broad; being a thick short fish; with a great Head, much larger then for the proportion of the Body, with a Swines Nose; and a skin or hide, not unlike to that of a Sea Dog. It is Armed with spiks, or sharp horns; a long one in the Fore-head, and one on each side if it, something shorter; two on the Back, and three under the Belly; with two fleshy, or skinny fins, on each side the Body. This is born by Caspillian an Italian by Birth.

XXXVII. He beareth Or, a Ocean Sea-Bear, Sable. This was a Sea Monstrous Bear, having the Head of a Bear, the Arms, and Fingers of an Ape; and the hinder parts of a Water Animal. Some have ventured to call it, an Indian Ocean Serpent; but it is from its natural, and participation with other Animals; best termed, a Bears Head-Ape, Handed-fish; or Bear-Ape-fish of the Ocean.

XXXVIII. He beareth Gules, a Cramp-fish, Argent. It is a flat and braad fish, much after the form of a Ray, being cartilaginous, or a gristly fish. It is so called, because it benummeth, or stupifieth all other fish that swim over it, or come near it. It is termed in Latin Torpedo, or Piscis Oculatus; by reason it is full of spots like Eyes. It is of an Iron colour red, or of the colour of rusty Iron; with five or six circles upon the Body of it, each having a pupil, or spot in it like that of an Eye. The fins are round and solid; not ferate, or cut into indents. This is born by the name of Cramp, alias Crump.

A Masculous, or spotted Cramp-fish; hath the Eyes turned into black round spots.

There is another species of these Cramp-fish, which have neither spots, nor Eyes; but are speckled all over on the Body, and gristly fins; with black oblong specks: which the Germans call, Zitterling, or Zitterfisch.

XXXIX. He beareth Argent, a Marin Damon (or Damon-Marin; or a Sea Devil, or a Devil fish) Gules, horns and fins, Sable. This Terrible Sea Monster, hath several names ascribed to it by several Authors; as a Sea Pan Monster, or a Monstrous Sea Satyre; or a Footed Pan or Satyre-fish; and a Centaur-fish. Its upper parts are of a humane shape, with long Ears, and two small horns on its Head, the Arms finned behind, after the manner of Dragons Wings; from the middle down is fish: having two Duck like Feet, in the sides of it. The Germans term it, a Heerteufel; see chap. 15. numb. 48.

[]

XL. He beareth Argent, an Ocean Sea Calf, proper. It is all hairy like the ordinary Seal, or Sea Calf: of a kind of a dark Umber, or Mouse colour. There are three sorts of these Water Animals; one see chap. 10. numb. 18. and this is the other, which Gesner terms, the Ocean Phoca, or Sea Ocean Calf: the third is called the Mediterranean Sea Calf; which is more rough, and shagged then either; and spotted, or striped in several parts, with a contrary or of a lighter colour. This is the Coat of Meercalse, or Midealf.

In the base I have given you the true shape, or image of a Water Grill; It is a kind of Water Locust, bigger then a Water Hopper, with a long joynted Tail, and six Feet. It is covered with a soft crusty shell, ending in a thread at the Tail; the Latin call it, Grillus Fluvialis; the Germans a Wasser-Muheim. A. 3 such erected S. born by Grill.

XLI. He beareth Azure, an Aloes, or a Sea Water, or Ocean Goose-fish, Argent. It hath the Head and Neck of a Goose; with a bunch, or tuberos lump upon the Head, the Tail of a fish, with a full round Body of a Goose, having two long round ended, and smooth fins, set at a little distance on each side the Body, instead of Wings, and Feet: and scaled all over with very small scales, or hardly any at all; making a shew of them, yet wanting them. This is an Italian bearing, and is the Coat of Albens.

In the sinister chief I have placed the true form of an insect, called in Latin, according to Gesner, Libella Fluvialis. The Germans call it, Sunderliche, or a Wagle. It is in form like a T, or a Smiths instrument, or Carpenters plummet, as the afore said Author describeth it.

XLII. He beareth Argent, a Sea Snail, Gules; the shell, Azure. In the German Ocean, there are very great and Monstrous House Snails; short round Nosed, with a skinny jagged fin each side the Mouth, hanging down, round horns like a Deer, with round balls at the several Ancklers, shining Eyes: having two Feet, by which it creepeth, like Dragons feet. It lives both in the Sea, and on the Land, when the Sun shineth clear and splendent. This is born by the name of Snailmere.

In the sinister chief is the figure of the Water Cantharis, or Water Glowworm; or the Water Lamp fly; which the Germans call, Wasser Kaserlin, and Glezzling: from its bright shining husk, where-with it is covered: It is of the magnitude of a Punie, or Wallouse; with reddish small Legs: the sheath or case, or shard wherewith it is covered, is a shining blackish green, under which it hath Wings.

XLI. He beareth Vert, a Whale, Argent. It is the most vast and Monstrous fish of all others, some have two short short legs, with whole or webbed feet; they are covered with a smooth skin, the fins also are the same, and of a dusky grey on the back, and more white on the belly.

Whales if they be come to their full growth are 240 foot long, and 120 foot broad; several have been cast on Shoar, which have been 80, 90, or a 100 feet in length. We with the Germans call it a Whale, or a Whale-fish; in Latine Cetus and Cete: The skin is without scales, like dressed Leather, of a Lead colour as some Authors say. This is born by the name of Whalley.

A. 3 Whales head crazed S. born by Whaley.

The Spotted Whale, it is a large Fish, about 60 or 70 foot long, something resembling the Great Whale, but hath no visible Piscal; and the Fins are gristly and webbed, as in other Fish. It is spotted all over the body with great and small round blackish spots; from whence Gesner terms it Maculo, and the Germans a Flackfish.

A Syllurus, a Lar, and an Attilus, are vast great Whale-fishes, which (as Pliny saith) keep in the Rivers Nilus, Po, and the Rhene.

There are several other Whales, whose names are these, a Wangwhale, an Andwhale, a Swinwhale, a Ravenwhale, a Whitewhale, a Schilwhale, an Haneckeit, a Nozwarfrack, a Trollwhale, a Springwhale, a Gerwhale, a Blotewhale, a Hill, a Herill, a Karrkwhale, a Rufswhale, a Nachtwhalle, a Nozwal, a Wintinger, a Fish keeke, a Shellewyncke, a Roze, a Rostinger, and a Schlichtback; but of these I have no Descriptions here.

XLIV. He beareth Argent, a Bulampech, or a flying Fish, Azure, the Wings and Fins, Gules. This is a kind of Water Animal which will rise out of the Water, and fly for about 50 Paces, and then dive into the Water again; it hath a round head, and is of the Hackarel kind, and doth not exceed it in magnitude; and is blewish, or between blew and green on the back, with a white belly; it hath two wings almost as long as the body; of a finny substance. Those who have Sailed in the New found World, tell us that they fly in such multitudes, that very often they fall into the Ships, by striking themselves against the Sails, and other Tackle of the Ships. See this truly figured chap. 18. numb. 116.

3 such naiant in Pale, is born by Bulamseck.

B. 3 such in Pale O. is born by Van Hoyter.

XLV. He beareth Sable, a Sea Pen (or a Sea Feather, or Quill) Argent. This is also called a Feather fish. There is not that Creature or senceless thing on earth (as saith Pliny;) but its resemblance is to be found in the Seas; and many more things therein, which are to be found no where else beside; for there shall you meet with Fishes resembling not only the forms and shapes of Land Creatures; but also of the figures and fashions of many things without Life; there may we see Bunches of Grapes, and Cowcumbers, Smoking Saws, Quills, Bullets, &c. with thousands of such like; which for colour, shape, smell and taste, resemble such things upon earth. Three such in Fesse, the upper part erected, is born by the name of Penmere.

B. 3 such erected A. born by the name of Feather, alias Feather.

XLVI. He beareth Argent, a Venetian Monstrous flying Fish, Vert. I so term this flying Fish, because such a one was caught flying in the Venetian Seas, in the year 1550. It was very horrible and monstrous, being four feet long, the head was gross, thick, and very fleshy; the eyes were not set in the region of the head, but hanging down, it had two ears and a double mouth, a Snout like an Elephant, very carnosus or fleshy, and hollow, double winged, with holes on each side the body like to a Lampyre, a tail an Ell long like an Adder or Serpent.

A Fork-fish, of a second Species, is in all respects like this Monstrous flying fish, having at the lower part of the body, at the coming out of the tail; and above the tail, a fork or dart like rod or prick joined to it; which Fish is called in Latine Pastinaca; which we interpret to be a Fork or Possen fish. See more chap. 14. numb. 28. and 15. numb. 37, 38, 39, 40. It is of some called a Sea Eagle fish, or an Angel fish. See also chap. 19. numb. 90.

XLVII. In the City of Chester, amongst other Fish there came to be sold a long and slender Fish after this form, which none of the Fishmongers could inform me what it was called, till perusing my Collections of Fish, I found it was of kind to the Sea Horse Worm mentioned before, chap. 15. numb. 59. saying it run not in so many outward incisures as that. It had no mouth, but a long slender snout or pipe, with a hole in the end; through which it sucked its food and nourishment; the nose and the gills was all one intire bony or hard gristly substance; just at the gills behind, were two small fins narrow and close at the setting on, but broad at the end, when opened it was of the shape of a triangle; it had a small fin on the middle of the back, and another at the end of the tail; from the head to the tail the Fish was perfect four square, declining taperwise smaller and smaller, till at the tail it end in a small point; only the sides near the top of the back, from the head to the fin on the middle of the Fish, was sunk in cornerways after the manner of a Rabber (as Joyners make on the sides of Doors for another square to fall even and flat into it) the back and sides were not scaly, but spotted scale like, of a light umber colour; the belly was the same Adder like, but white inclining to a yellow. It was from head to tail, two spans long; but what to name it I know not, except a Sea Horse Leech, or a Sea Elephant Snout Worm, or as the Germans a Sea Rolsle.

*

The signification of Fish used in Arms.

Fishes in general, are the Emblems of Chastity; therefore Vowers of Chastity are tied to that Diet; also typic stmes silent motion.

Fish with Wings, or that use their fins to fly with, are Emblems of Safety; such as may go where they will, and none shall make them afraid; also denotes protection and carefulness of safety.

Crowned fish, is the Emblem of Honour and Loyalty, and that through the Art of Navigation and Fishing, the Bearer hath attained to great Wealth and Glory, and liveth in much tame and splendor.

Bridled fish, is the Emblem of Hypocrisie and Falshood, in as much as this Fish participates of the outward shew and name, but not of the Nature of the Bishop.

Heads of fish betoken force and valour, boldly daring to enter where he can find place to Harbour; and is a fit Emblem of Jurisdiction and Justice.

Tails of fish betoken strength and agility in the Bearer, and that nothing can hold him from his purposes and designs, no more than keep a Snig by having it by the tail.

Fish and Fowl together, doth denote one to keep a copious and plentiful Table, one ready and apt to relieve those which are ready to famish or starve.

Dolphin, is the Emblem of Love and Sociery; there being no Fish else that loves the company of Men.

Dolphin, or other Fish Bridled, was by the Ancients represented for the Emblem of Safety.

Dolphin wound about an Anchor is the Emblem of Delay, or an acting of those affairs slowly, and by little, which requireth hast and speed; yet on the other side it betokens seriousness, advise and counsel, not to do those things hastily and rashly which require time and consideration.

Lobster, is the Emblem of subtilty.

Escallop, no other Shell of Thousands of Millions will fit it but its own, and therefore, fitly resembles the indissoluable Friendship that ought to be in Fraternities and Societies.

Crab, is an Emblem of Falshood and Dissimulation, for it can go any way.

Barbell, is the Emblem of Pleasantry, Pleasure, and Profit.

Dog fish, is the Emblem of Plenty and Fruitfulness both with and without the Sea, or Fertility and Increase both by Sea and Land.

Carp, is the Emblem of Hospitality, and denotes Food and Nourishment from the Bearer to those in Need.

Crocodile is the Emblem of Dissimulation, for it vorp over its Prey before it devours it.

Lanthorn fish is the Emblem of Night guiding and Protection and Safety in the Night, and so denotes help and deliverance out of Danger by the guide and direction of a Friend; a Friend in Adversity.

Luce or Pike, is the Emblem of Tyranny and Oppression, a devourer of themselves rather than not to exercise their power; for when they are grown to maturity it is said of them that they will spare none, but feed upon their own kind.

Purple fish, is the Emblem of hidden Vertues, whose Talent is in a Napkin, and denotes a person of worth and parts, yet layeth not out himself for the World to take notice of him, that which is precious is hid.

Cockle denotes his Value from within, and not by outward appearance, in as much as its Shell covers the Gem, but shews an outside crust.

Scuttle fish, casts forth a black matter, and so secures it self; and therefore is the Emblem of a Wicked Man that will say or Swear and Vomit out any kind of black Hellish words, to free and save himself from danger, or get out of danger.

Fork fish, is an Emblem of such an one that is able to defend himself, and make his Argument good; whom he strives with, he overcomes, Quod jungit, perimit; where he Stings he Kills.

Sword fish, is the Emblem of Victory and Valour, for he never assaults but he overcomes, though his Enemy be that great Leviathan who maketh a mock at all inferiour Creatures, Job 40. 20.

Cramp fish, is the Emblem of a Debauched fellow, that disturbs and infects all Societies or persons that he comes into; in as much as this Fish stupifies all that touch it.

Trout and Mox, are Emblems of quiet, calm and gentleness, such as love not to be in Troubled Waters; or be tossed to and fro by the blustering of wicked and malevolent Spirits, but rather live quiet at home, than enjoy abundance through labour and trouble.

Salmon, is the Emblem of an unsettled and unconstant mind, and one who through desire and novelty, seeking after a better Estate and Condition; generally plunge themselves into worse: In Salt Waters they live quiet, but do not increase; in the fresh, by endeavouring to multiply, they are caught in the Snare and so destroyed.

Congen and Celes, and all such kind of round, smooth and slippery Fish are the Emblems of unsteady and unconstant Minds and be taken a pretended friendship, such an one that cannot be known to be had or not had in time of necessity.

Water Serpents or Adders, denote the Bearer to be very skilful, prudent and subtle in the Affairs of the time, observing the Vicissitude and turning therein, which he improveth, and makes use of to compass his own ends, though never so base and vile.

Shell fish signifies the first Bearers of them to have been a Commander or Chieftain, who by his Vertue and Valour had so gained the Hearts and Love of his Soldiers and Companions in Arms, that they desired much to follow him, even into dangers mouth.

A a a

Terms

Terms of Art, or difficult Words used in Blazon within these three Chapters of Fishes, with the places in which they are explained, as Armed , 16 36.	Everted , 14 41.	Point . In Point , 14 41.

Aspecting , 14 41.	Fretted , 14 18.	Pale . In Pale , 14 12.
Bend . In Bend , 15 12 14.	Fretted in Triangle , 14 18.	Queve . a la Queve , 14 18.
Brased , 14 8.	Flect . Flected . Flectant . 15 56 & 16	Respecting . Respectant , 14 4 41.
Bowed , 16 19.	Finned , 16 1. 5. 20. 35.	Reversed , 14 3.
Bowed Imbowed , 16 1. & 18 110.	Flected Reflected , 15 56. & 16 30.	Reflected . 15 56, & 16 30.
Bowed Debrused , 16 19.	Fesse . In Fesse . 14 12	Salter . In Salter , 14 12.
Crined , 16 1. 5. 20.	Hauriant , 14 2, 2 a. 6.	Sinister . To the Sinister , 14 12 13 14
Counter-naiant , 14 19.	Hauriant Imbowed , 14 2 & 15 37 38	Surmounting , 14 31 41.
Devouring , 14 2 & 16 15.	41 & 18 112.	Subvertant . Subverted , 14 41.
Dirceing , 14 3.	Hauriant Torqued , 14 3 a.	Spectant , 15 33.
Demy , 14 13. 14. 15. & 16 7. 8. 9.	Hauriant Imbowed Respecting , 14 4	Spectant Torqued , 15 33.
Dejected . Dejectant , 14 26 41.	Hauriant Imbowed Endorsed , 14 5.	Spectant Naiant Torqued , 15 33.
Debased , 14 41.	Horned , 16 28 35.	Springing , 15 51. & 14 3 a
Dors an Dors , 14 41.	Hoofed , 16 9.	Springing & Hauriant , 14 3 a
Dejected Imbowed , 16 13. 2.	Imbowed , 15 37. 38. 39. 41. & 16 1	Swallowing , 16 15.
Debrused , 14 41. & 16 19.	12 13 22 30. & 14 1 a. 2.	Triangle . Triangled , 14 8 18 & 15
Debrused Dejected , 14 26.	Imbowed Erected , 15 51.	56 57 58
Double Bowed Debrused , 16 19.	Imbowed Respecting , 14 4.	Torqued , 14 3 a. & 15 4 33
Disposed , 14 12 17.	Imbowed Endorsed , 14 5. 7.	Targiant , 14 3 a. & 16 11
Erected , 14 2 a. 14. 30. 41. & 15 51.	Imbowed Debrused 14 41.	Tusked . Tushed , 16 5 9
Erectant , 15 51.	Imbowed Debrused Dejected , 14 26.	Upright , 14 2 a. 30 41
Erected Imbowed , 16 12. 20.	Inverted , 14 35.	Vrinant , 14 3.
Erected Flect , 16 30.	In Point , 14 41. & 15 56.	Volant , 14 16
Eleveted , Imbowed , 16 30.	Mounting , 15 51.	Wreathed , 14 26
Extended , 14 8 & 16 10. 11	Naiant , 14 1. 12. & 16 10.	Winged , 14 19 44 46
Endorsed , 14 5. 7. 41.	Naiant Imbowed , 14 1 a.
Errant , 14 2 a.	Naiant Torqued , 15 4 33.
Embowed . se Imbowed ,	Naiant Bowed Imbowed , 18 110.
Emrraped , 14 26 & 16 11.

Some few terms of Art used by Historians in the description of Fish and Sea-Worms.

Antennae, or feelers, strings coming from fish, by which they grope or find out their way; some have buttons or flaps at the ends.

Asperous, of Asper, rough, sharp, rugged.

Aculeus, stings or pricks Aculeous, full of pricks, prickly.

Armature a covering of fish like Armour.

*

Analagous, generation. Such as are proportionable in shape, equal, resembling their kind.

Annulous, or Ring incisions, as in Worms, whose body is all in round joints.

Appendages, stumps, or thick short legs at the tail of Worms.

Apoda, without feet.

Apr.

Apertures, opening of the mouth.
Branchia, gills of Fish.
Bony Laminae, coverings of thin bony plates, that of Fish, which cannot properly be called scales.
Bivalvus, Fish covered with two shells; two shelled fish.
Connected, knit or tyed together.
Cartilaginous, stiffly, or full of gristles.
Callous, hardness, have thick skins, brawny hard.
Cutis, the skin. Cuticulous, thin skinned.
Corius, or Corioulitie, the skin, or skinniness of Man, Beast, or Fish.
Chamfred, ridged and nicked, as in scallop shells.
Crassus, thick, fat, gross nature.
Crustaceous covering, the shell, or pill, or hard skin that any Fish is covered with.
Cavity, the hollowness of any part.
Cetaceous, Whale like, or of the Whale kind.
Callous skin, or Fish of an hard brawny substance.
Convolution, the rolling or tumbling together of parts or things.
Echinous, or Urchin pricks, or chestnut pill pricks.
Esculent pulpy substance, a pulpy or soft substance, fit to be eaten.
Flexible Fins, such as are soft and easy to be bent.
Fins connected, tied, knit, or fastned together by thin Membranes.
Fistulous, a thing like a Pipe, Pipe like.
Fasciated, swaddled, bound about.
Films, small and tender fleshy threads for Beards to Fish. Also thin skins that divide the flesh or gristles Furrowed shells, the indents or crevisses in scalops, or such like shells.
Glaber, Glaberous, smooth.
Gracilious, slender, small, thin, soft and weak.
Gregariously, such as swim by Flocks, Troops, or Companies together.
Husk or Cod, which covers the Wings of some flies,
 as the Beetle.
Hirsute, rough or hairy, rugged, any thing opposite to smoothness.
Ignitious, fire colour.
Insect, the cutting in, or incision of Water flies, or Worms, or any kind of Bee into any part of the body.
Imperfect Fish, such which have no mouths, or want any part that another Fish hath.
Ker, or husk of Worms.
Lubricus, Lubricious, or Lubrick, slippery.
Maculous, spots, full of spots. Macula, a spot.
Membrane, the thin skin of which the fins are made,
 and joins the rays or spikes of the fins together.
Neb, or Beak of a Fish, the nose or snout.
Oviparous Animals, either Birds, Beasts, or Fish, which breed by Eggs or Spawn.
Oleous, Oily.
Obliquely crossing, awry, crookedly crossing.
Obtuse Angled, blunt, or not right cornered.
Oround, a round that is longer one way than another.
Oblong, any square whose length exceeds its breadth.
Pinna, a Fin.
Pellicle, or thin skin. Pallicle, or Panicle, membrane, or the out-shell, or thin skin of Bees or Ants Eggs, of some called Bladders.

Pellicles, is also taken for Bees Wings, the fine skins of them.
Panicle Web, is the working of the Flies and Hornets, and Wasps Wings.
Prominencies, prominent rising up or swelling on the outside of any Fish shell.
Pinnules, Fins of a Fish or the quills or shafts in them.
Perforated, pierced or thrust into.
Pirai Propagation, thievish base Generation.
Pellucid, shining, bright, that may be seen through.
Revolution, or turning again of a thing to its first place, a course.
Rapacious, ravenous, greedy, devouring.
Radiate, having rays like Stars, bright shining.
Rugated, wrinkled, plaited, crumpled, rough with wrinkles, rugged.
Rays of the Fin, the quills or thorny pricks in the membrane of the fin.
Rimule, or chinks, chaps, or cliffs. Bimorous full of such Species, kind, of the like nature, shape, form or semblance.
Striated, channelled, chamfred, wrought inward,
 furrowed.
Squama, scales of Fish. Squamaous, or Squa- maous, scaly, full of scales.
Serrated, toothed after the fashion of a Saw.
Spinal, thorny, or the Back-bone of any creature.
Sinus, a cavity or hollowness of a part of a Fish.
Sharp, or Thorny Fins, such Fins as have pricks standing out.
Sanguineous, blood colour.
Spinolus, thorny Fish, Fish full of pricks.
Spinous Fins, thorny fins.
Scaly Armature, that is covered with scales like great pieces of Armour.
Spiral convolutions, a turning round, or winding about of things together.
Tuberos, knot, bunch, swelling, knotty.
Testaceous, shell like, of a shell nature, or substance.
Tumid Jaws, such as have risen, swollen, or puffed up Jaws.
Transverse mouths, such as turn awry.
Turbinated, copped, or top-like.
Testaceous Animals, such Fish as have shells.
Uiscous, a slimy substance Bird-lime like.
Uiscous, or viscous mucilage, a kind of Slime or Spawn of Mussels, Uiscid.
Uiscosity, sluminess, or glewiness.
Uioleceous, Violet colour.
Voracious, a devouring or greedy eating, or raven-
 ing.
Valve, or Valves, those that have holes or laps of skin to cover them instead of mouths.
Univalvus, of one shell, such Fish as have only one shell which hath a hole in it for the mouth of the Fish.
Undulated, moved or waved up and down like Waves.
Undulation obliquely, a waving awry or crookedly.
Oviparus, that brings forth their young living, without either Spawn or Eggs.
Zophytes Animals, such as are between Plants and living Creatures, and partake of both.

An Alphabet of all the English, Latin, or Germane Names of Fish, mentioned in these foregoing Chapters, and elsewhere within this second Book.

Things of Note.

Coverings of Fish, 14. s. 1.
 Distribution of Fish into their several orders, ibid.
 Difference in Fish fins, ibid.
 Several forms of Fish, ibid.
 Terms of fishing for several sorts of Fish, ibid.
 Places for Fish, 14. s. 2.
 Haunts for Fish, ibid.
 Names of Fish according to age, 14. s. 3.

Fish how termed in companies, ibid.
 Several postures of Fish, 14. 1. to 9.
 Terms for the postures of Inanimal things, 14. 41.
 Natural and fixious Creatures of the Water how distinguished, 16. 8, 9, 10, 31.
 Signification of Fish used in Arms, 16. 47. s. 2.
 Terms of Blazon used about Fish, ibid.
 Terms used by Historians in the description of Fish, ibid.

A

Antaeus, 14 1 a. 6 57 58.
 Auge'ot, 14 9. Afober ib. 12
 Anthias, 14 10. Anthia, 15 25
 Anchovis, 14 12. Atherina, ibm.
 Acher, ibid.
 Apha, 14 12. Aphya, ibm.
 Acervina, 14 12. Alfon, ibm.
 Alea Purple, 14 12. Albelen, ib. 19
 Albulus Piscis. Albele, 14 19.
 Albst. Albhesta, 14 20
 Aitegen Fish. African Hen fish, ib. 20
 Alput, 15 9. Alputten, 14 24 a.
 Alpinus Piscis, 14 24 a. Alburnus, 27
 Alruppen, 14 25 a. Astacus, ibm. 30
 Alett, 14 27 & 15 11
 Agon. Agonis, 14 27 Agumen, ib.
 Augell fish, 14 28 & 15 41. & 16 46.
 Arron Taile, 14 28. Acipenser, ib. 21
 Alder fish, 14 28. Asse Hooft, ibm. 38
 Araneus, 14 48. Amia, ibm. 49
 Angled Welke, 14 43. & 15 20.
 Asf faber Hound fish, 14 55.
 Attill. Atilus, 14 58 & 16 43
 Auris marini, 15 5. Alrup, ibm. 9
 American Ostracion, 15 14.
 Adonis, 15 24. Aulopton, ibm. 25.
 Aegle, 15 30. Augeroch, ibm. 40
 Asper. Aspron, 15 32 Aspe, ib. 59 64
 Asper Danubii, 15 64. Aegomastus 66
 Asilus Marinus, 15 50. Aloes, 16 41
 Aper Oceanus, 16 34. Andura, ib. 33
 Andwhale, 16 43. Ape fish, 14 56
 Apple fish of the sea, 14 54.

B

Bramble, 14 12 27. Barfz, ibm. 20
 Bombraces, 14 12. Bleake, ibm.
 Buccinum, ibm. 12 42 48
 Brat fish, 14 19 27 49. Bersich, 20
 Blanking, 14 19 27 & 15 14
 Berling, 14 20. Barlin, ibm. 32
 Black fish, 14 20 45 & 15 31
 Birt. Bert. Burt Brett fish, 14 21
 Brettcoke, 14 21. Barme, ibm. 24
 Bajuliske fish, 14 23. & 15 23.
 Brechling, 14 23 a. Berschen, ib. 24 a
 Barb. Barbell. Beard fish, 14 24 & 15 9
 Barbatula Cobitis, 14 24
 Boque. Bolch. Bollich, 14 24 a.
 Barle, Berling. Brick, 14 25.
 Berger fish, 14 24 a. Blicke, ib. 27
 Bleke. Bleake. Bluck, 14 27.
 Blackling, Bli ca, Becken, 14 27
 Brambell, Brambellen, 14 27.
 Breame, 14 27. & 15 66.
 Beccus. Beccum. Bamele, 14 27.
 Britisb Orbe fish, 14 29.
 Beard. Bastard Crab, 14 32 a. b.
 Black Ray, 14 28. Banded Cockle, 35
 Buckelstraub. 14 42. Base, 15 11.
 Bastard Macarell, 14 49
 Broad Sword fish, 14 51 a.
 Bunched Shrimpe, 14 57.
 Bearded Eele-Pont. Beautifull Eele-
Pont, 15 9.
 Bunched Star fish, 15 10.
 Blem fish, 15 14. Barbier, ibm. 25
 Bonito fish, 15 14. Boniton, ibm. 25.

Boulerot, ib. 15 14. Black Gotion, 22
 Buckelstaub Schnecke, 15 20.
 Binde fish, 15 28. Bisemere, ibm. 31.
 Balena, 15 29. & 16 18.
 Bearded Balena. Partwall, 15 29 45
 Brethmechin. Bloodsucker, 15 30
 Bisemling. Bisem-Cuttell, 15 31.
 Babst. Bullhead fish, 15 32.
 Bunched Globe fish, ibm. 31
 Bullhead Cramp fish, 15 38.
 Bos Raia, 15 39. Beare Crab, ib. 43
 Blem Houndfish, Break net Doe-fish.
 Blunt nose Hound fish, 15 42
 Blood Hound fish, 15 42.
 Bearded Whale, ibm. 45
 Bishop fish, 15 54. Belwa, 16 18
 Boare fish, 16 9 29 34
 Boare Whale, 15 49. & 16 29.
 Baum-Grillen, 16 29.
 Beare-Ape fish, 16 37.
 Beare-Head Ape-Handed fish, ibm.
 Blote Whale, 16 43. Bulampech ib. 44
 Beare fish, 16 8 37. Bull fish, ibm. 11
 Bellied Salmon, 14 19. Boone, ib. 44
 Bate of the Sea, 18 116. Byssen, 15 2.
 Becht fish, 14 23 a. Budden, ibm. 12
 Black Sea Star fish, 14 54.
 Brachsmen, 15 25.

C

Churling. Cornling, 14 12
 Calliques. Changeable fish, 14 12
 Clupea. Coloured fish, ibm.
 Calculous Purple ibm.

373

Great,

Great, or Groffer Hound fish, 15 42
 Grosse Fish, 15 51 Grosse fish, 15 68
 Gudgeon of the Sea, 15 30
 Gudgeon of the water, 15 29
 Grillick, Grillick, Grillick, ibid. 40
 Grasse fish, Grasse of the sea, 15 45
 Gropp, 15 32 Glesling, 15 42
 Great Ham Muffin, 14 58
 Grundell, 14 17 Griffin fish, 15 13
 Gull, Gull fish, 15 32
 Giffitt Cuttill, 15 31 Gitzle, 14 57
 Goblin of the sea, 15 1
 Gormone of the sea, 15 42
 Ger-Whale, 14 43 Gerslett, 14 12
 Great Sow of the sea, 15 23
 Gull Forz, 14 20

H

Hans, Hae, 14 1 a
 Houn is tongue, Horse tongue, 14 9
 Hobyatt, Hipseloff fish, 14 9
 Herring, Herring, Herring, 14 12
 Hagle, Hagle, 14 19
 Huch, Huch, Huch, 14 19
 Heferus, 14 12 Hepatus, ibid. 20
 Hajar pices, 14 20
 Harpe fish, 14 22 & 15 3, 26
 Hurling, 14 23 a Hurling, ibid. 15
 Hake, Hake, 14 24 a (13)
 Haberdine, Haberdine, 14 24 a
 Hecht, 14 23 a Hecht fish, ibid. 26
 Hagen, Hagen, 14 24 a
 Haele, Haele, 14 27
 Huitack, ibid. 15 13
 Hodgehog - Lamp fish, 14 29
 Heracleotic Crab, ibid. 33 a. b.
 Horse Muffin, Hagg fish shell, 14 36
 Horned Scorpion fish, 14 47
 Horne fish, ibid. 48 & 15 28
 Hogerling, Hogerling, 14 57
 Hogeacerinea, 14 57
 Hausen, 14 58 Heide fish, ibid. 29
 Hamme Muffin, ibid. Hippurus, 15 4
 Hirmophrodite Curpe, 15 8
 Horn-lip Luci Peach, 15 12
 Hare fish, 15 23
 Hogback Whale, 15 29
 Hoger Wall, ibid.
 Hore, ibid.
 Horse Leech, 15 30 Hirudo, ibid.
 Huyche, 15 41
 Hound fish, 15 42 55 & 16 12 14
 Heart, or Heart like Crab, 15 43
 Herill, 15 44 Hairy Whale, 15 46
 Haerwall, 15 46
 Hirsuta Cetene, 15 49
 Hedghog fish, 15 53
 Hipocampus, 15 59
 Hipotamus Insect, ibid.
 Houperon, 15 66 Huferus, ibid.
 Hipotame, 15 53
 Horse of the Sea, 15 5 & 15 49 & 16
 5 6 32

*

Hipopotamus, 15 5 Hog fish, 15 9 23
 Horle Pole, 15 16
 Horned Salmon, 15 28
 Horse of Nilus, 15 32 Hoga fish, 15 33
 Hoga of Venice, 15 33
 Hogs head fish, ibid. Hanekeit, 15 43
 Hill Whale, 15 43 Herillwall, ibid.
 Hundle, 14 55 Hagerlumpe, 15 35
 Horn Whale, 15 47
 Horse Worm of the Sea, 15 59
 Horne of the Sea, 15 63

I

Island fish, 14 24 a
 John, or Poor John, ibid.
 Jacobs Muffin, 14 33
 Imbossed Parnackle, 14 42
 Indian Sea Snail shell, 14 44
 Imbossed Star fish, 15 10
 Juckerlin, 15 25
 Jud, 15 42 Ister, 15 64

K

Koruling, 14 12
 King's Mantle fish, 14 20
 Kramet fish, ibid.
 Kite fish, 14 22, and 15 27
 Keline, 14 24 a Kutt 14 27
 Karkaras, 14 27 Krab 14 32 a b
 Kant Muscheln, 14 38
 Kuttelfisch, 14 45 & 15 31
 Kinkhornen, 14 48
 Klein r hind fish, 14 55, & 15 42
 Kresle, 14 57
 Kanelworm, 15 1. Kanell nasseln, ibid.
 Kressen, 15 2 Klipfish, 15 4
 Knotty Star fish, 15 10
 Knotted Welke, 15 20
 Kobellerch, 15 23
 Kramet fish, 15 24
 Kings Sea Messenger, ibid.
 Koff, ibid. Kap, 15 32 Kopt, ibid.
 Kaultrapp, ibid. Kerderle, 15 33
 Karder, 15 33 34 Kaserlin, 15 42
 Karckrall, 15 43
 Knotted Oyster, 14 38
 Karas, 14 27 Karpfen, ibid.

L

Lambs tongue, 14 9
 Little tongue fish, ibid.
 Luce, Lucie, 14 18 23 a
 Lasches, 14 12 Lake Salmon, 14 19
 Lepresie Fish, 14 20 Liver fish, ibid.
 Lucerna, 14 22 Lanterne fish, ibid.
 Lyra, ibid. and 15 3
 Lucius, 14 23 a
 Loach, 14 24, and 15 2
 Lesser Saup, 14 24 a
 Leopardus Piscis, ibid. Ling, ibid.

Lamprell, 14 25 25 a
 Lamprey, 14 25 Lempron, ibid.
 Lempsrid, ibid. Lemphern, ibid.
 Lugston, ibid.
 Lampetra Serpentina, ibid. a
 Lamprellon, ibid. a
 Leuciscus, 14 27
 Leucorimus, ibid. Lompe, ibid.
 Lumpe fish, 14 29, and 15 35
 Lobster, 14 30, 31 and 15 34
 Locusta Marina, 14 30
 Lang Schale, 14 36
 Long Muscles, ibid.
 Loligo 14 45, and 15 31
 Eacetus, 14 49
 Little fish, 15 1 Lobworm, ibid.
 Lot de Mer, 15 9 Lote, ibid.
 Lucioferca, 15 11
 Lucy-Pearch, 15 11 12
 Lucilus, 15 11 Lanatus, ibid.
 Little round Gudgeon, 15 17
 Lesser Posten, 15 24
 Leim fish, 15 28
 Leech, 15 20 59
 Lowch Leech, 15 30
 Lake, ibid. Lychelake, ibid.
 Lesser Calamary, 15 31
 Lesser Sea Cut, ibid.
 Lesser Silurus, 15 33
 Lousses of the Sea, 15 36, & 16 33
 Iamia Piscis 15 42
 Lizard fish, 15 67
 Lacertus Peregrinus, ibid.
 Lupe fish, 15 7. Limpyn 15 18 27
 Lempett, 15 18
 Libella Fluvialis, 15 41
 Lamp fly, 15 42 Lax, 15 43
 Lark fish, 15 23 Leoper fish, 14 20
 Locust of the Water, 15 40

M

Merzungen, 14 9
 Meerbatten, 14 10
 Mort, 14 12 Meerfrille, ibid.
 Merseelen, ibid. Minow, ibid. 12 23 a
 Membras, 14 12 Muddy Purple, ibid.
 Merle of the Sea, 14 20
 Merula Piscis, ibid. Mormyle, ibid.
 Mormylus, ibid. Mormyrus, ibid.
 Marmelbrachme, Malbrachme ibid.
 Mager, ibid. Milvago, 14 22
 Milvus Piscis, ibid. Meerwe, ibid.
 Menoy, 14 23 a Minutus, ibid.
 Milling, Mulling, ibid.
 Morhuell, 14 24 a
 Meerhuell, ibid. Milcher, ibid.
 Mole fish, ibid. Marling, ibid.
 Marlanus, ibid. Marlangus, ibid.
 Molua, ibid. Myrus, 14 25 a
 Mwena, ibid. Mustella, ibid.
 Meerseckel, 14 26
 Monks hood fish, ibid.

Mugil

- M. alis*, 14 27. Mugil, ibid. & 15 11. Monstrous Carp, 15 8
Mullet, 14 27 & 15 10 11. Mustella Fl. variabilis, 15 9. Mosierle, ib.
Mya, 14 27. Monen, ibid. Mullet shell fish, 15 10
Macrill. Macrell, 14 27, 49. Moon shell fish, 15 10. 35 61
Meerboornle, 14 27. Meena, ibid. Meeralet, 15 11
Merula, 14 21. Meerblawling, 15 14
Milvina Thomb, 15 26 32. Meerstichling, ibid.
Milvina Pigeon, 15 27. Mar ff, 15 28. Meergob, 15 17
Merfchmeyn, 15 29. Mutter muscheln, 15 19. Matriculus, ib.
Mull, 15 32. Molchout, 15 35. Meergropp, 15 23.
Merula f., 15 36. Meersell, ibid.
M. let Doe fish, 15 42.
Maia, 15 43.
Monstros Sea Swine, 15 44.
Moneros of the Sea, 15 46.
Manned Whal., ibid. Meernaslen, ibid.
Monstros Sea Satyre, 15 48.
Monstros Marinum, ibid.
Meerwader, ibid. Meerwan, 16 1.
Man-Marine, 16 1.
Man Fish, 16 1 19.
Mermaid, 15 2 20.
Mermaid double tailed, 16 4.
Meer Schlange, 16 15.
Mermaid with feet, 16 20.
Monster of a Ray, 16 25.
Macabus, or spotted Cramp fish, 16 38.
Marine Demon, 16 39.
Monstros Sea Satyre, 16 39.
Meer-Tesell, ibid.
Mohme, 16 40. Macul, 16 43.
Monstros flying Fish, 16 46.
Mugle, 14 27. Muter, 14 36.
Moneros Whale, 15 46.
Maifogon, 15 66.
Mouth of the Water, 16 33.
Maid. Mids, 14 28.
Meerbar, 14 32. Meerbarling, ibid.
Meerkab, 14 32 a b.
Meerkrabben, ibid. Meertaschen, ibid.
Meertaube, 14 28.
Muskle, 14 33 36, and 15 19.
Michael's Muskle, 14 33.
Muscheln. Muschell, 14 33 34.
Maler Muscheln, 14 35.
Musile, 14 36.
Marmuscheln, 14 36 37 38.
Mancherley, 14 41.
Milky Perewinkle, 14 42.
Mother of Pearl shell, 14 44, and 15 5.
Margaritifera Cochlea, 14 44.
Meerschneck, ibid. Meerboone, ibid.
Meerspinn, 14 45. Meerscorp, 14 46.
Murex, 14 48, and 15 19.
Marbled Stachell shell, 14 48.
Milky Stachell shell, ibid.
Macrillen, 14 49.
Macrell. Mackerell, ibi l.
Maqueralse, ibid. Meer-Heidox, ibid.
Meerkrott, 14 53. Meerster, 14 54.
Meerga, 14 57. Mantis, ibid.
Meerfeelen, 15 1. Mettlen, ibid.
Meerworme, ibid.
Meerputten, 15 7.
- N
- Noble White Fish*, 14 19.
Newer, 14 20. Newling, ibid.
Nose fish, 14 24 & 15 13.
Nine Eyed Eele, 14 25.
Norling, 14 27.
Nagel shell. Nagelschale, 14 36.
Nagel-Muscheln, ibid.
Nagel Snail Stel, 14 44.
Natell Schneck, ibid.
Nymphs horn of the Sea, 14 48.
Naked Dog fish, 14 55.
Niger Piscis, 15 22. Nassellwall, 15 29.
Nagell rock, 15 40.
Naslen, 15 46. Naszwall, 15 47.
Nose Whale, ibid. Nautilus, 15 62.
Nautick shell, ibid.
Nagmaul fish, 15 65. Nereide, 16 2.
Nagel shell, 16 5.
Normegian Sea Serpent, ibid. 15.
Neptun: God of the Sea, 16 26.
Nymph of the Sea, 16 27.
Neckle, ibm. Normarfrack, 16 43.
Nachtwall, ibid. Nordwhale, ibm.
Nailed or Studded Ray, 15 40.
Neptun's Hunters Trumpet, 15 63.
Nerwanz, 14 25 a.
Nosed Ray, 15 39.
- O
- Orphe*. Orphus, 14 20.
Orada, 14 27. Orffe, ibid.
Orbe fish, 14 29, & 15 65.
Oml fish, 14 29 & 16 24.
Oval Lump fish, 14 29.
Orbe Cockle, 14 35. Oyster, 14 37 38.
Ofre. Ofter, 14 38.
Orcyn. Orcynus, 14 49.
Orca, 14 52 & 15 29 & 16 28.
Ostration, 15 14. Oyster-cockle, 15 21.
Ouzel Fish, 15 24 & 14 20.
Ocean Carp, 15 24.
Oblong Cuttle, 15 31.
Oblong Globe Fish, 15 35.
Oxyrrhynchus Raja, 15 39.
Oxe Ray, 15 39.
Oculated av, 15 40.
Ocean Sea Horse, 15 49.
Ocean Eleph nt hale, ibid.
Oxe Whal., ibid.
- P
- Probon* 15 52. Orithra-goriscus 15 61.
Oval Pourcantrell, 15 62.
Oceani Pocca, 16 23.
Ocean Swine or Sow, ibid.
Ocean Wolf, 16 31.
Oxe of the Sea, 16 32.
Ocean Elephant, 16 34.
Ocean Sea Unicorn, 16 35.
Ocean Phoca, 16 40.
Ocean Sea Snail, 16 41.
Ocean Wild Boar, 16 34.
Ocean Sea Boar, 16 37.
Plafe, 14 10. Ply, ibid.
Platyste, ibid.
Pylcher. Pylcharde, 14 12.
Peele Fish, ibid.
Purple Shell Fish, ibid. 12 42.
Purpura, ibid. Pelagia, ibid.
Poole Carpe, 14 19. Pond Trout, ibid.
Pitzling, ibid.
Perch. Pearch, 14 20 27.
Perca, 14 20.
Punter Newling, ibid. Phycis, ibid.
Peacock fish, ibid. & 15 23.
Parroquet fish, 14 20.
Parrot fish, ibid.
Punterhane, 14 23.
Pike, 14 23 a. Pike fish, ibid.
Pfrill, ibid. Parme, 14 24.
Picarell, 14 24 a. Poor John, ibid.
Prick, 14 25. Pomie, 14 25 a.
Porcus Fluvialis, 14 27.
Porcus Nili, ibid. Pollarde, ibi l.
Paddell, 14 29. Prawne, 14 32 & 15 6.
Poffen fish, 14 28 & 16 46.
Pigeon Fish, 14 28. Peilfert, ibid.
Pecten, 14 33. Prickly Cockle, 14 34.
Painted Cockle, 14 35.
Pearl Muskle, 14 36 58.
Pearl Muter, 14 36.
Pyrot, ibid. Pyrot, ibid.
Pfesser Muscheln, 14 38.
Periminkle, 14 40 42.
Pentadactilo Turbo, 14 40.
Purura Operculum, 14 42.
Purpur-Schnecken, 14 42 49.
Perwinckle, 14 42.
Persian Sea Snail, 14 44.
Pourcuttle, 14 45 & 15 31 62.
Pourcantrell, ibid.
Postken, 14 46. Posten, 15 24.
Petermauche, 14 48. Peters-fisch, ibid.
Pompili, 14 49. Porpose, 14 52.
Purpelle, ibid. Phocena, ibid.
Porcus Piscis, ibid.
Prickly Sturgeon, 14 57. Prane, ibid.
Pinna, 14 58. Perna, ibid.
Pisciculus, 15 1. Prickly Loach, 15 2.
Pimper Eele, 15 7. Pipe Eele, ibid.
Pfult-fisch, ibid. Putten, ibid.
Ponten,

Porten, 15 9 Powte, ibid.

Powtle, ibid.

Painted Venus Winkle, 15 19

Porcellana, ibid.

Panther Whale, 15 30

Polypus, 15 31

Pediculus Marinus, 15 36 & 16 33

Pointed Rays, 15 39

Pungar Crab, 15 43

Pagurus, ibid. Pagrus, 14 20

Porella, 15 43

Palmer Worm Whale, 15 49

Peten Piscis, 15 60

Pipe shell, or Sea Pipe, 15 63

Pilgrim Lizard Fish, 15 67

Percevine Lizard fish, ibid.

Perfect Man of the Sea, 16 1

Physeter, 16 16 Physalus, ibid.

Prille, 16 18 Platanista, ibid.

Pelale or footed Mermaid, 16 20

Pythons, 16 21

Pig of the Sea, 16 23

Pocca, ibid. Phoca, 16 34

Pork of the Sea, 16 32

Pan of the Sea, 16 39

Pedale Pan, ibid.

Punie, 16 42

Pen of the Sea, 16 45

Pastinaca, 16 46

Piscis variatus, 14 12

Pinter fish, 14 20

Pholis Piscis, 15 23

Partridge of the Sea, 14 9

Q

Quercidens, 16 33

Quill of the Sea, 16 45

Quip, 14 10

R

Raff, 14 10. Raffe, 14 27

Keeling, 14 10

Rottels, 14 19 27

Rotten, 14 19. Rutten, 14 25

and 15 9

Rott, 14 19 27

Rott-huechen, 14 19 Rutt, 15 9

Rock fish, 14 20

Rotter Punter fish, ibid.

Rooter Kramet fish, ibid.

Red Orphus, ibid.

Ruppen, 14 25 4

Red fish, 14 22 & 15 16 3

Raven fish, 14 22

Roman Sea Hen, ibid.

Rod fish, 14 24

Reyn fish, ibid. Rufelcken, 14 25

Raach. Roch fish, 14 27 28

Rochett, 14 27 and 15 26

Roachell, 14 27 Rutilus, ibid.

Roengel, ibid. Riemling, ibid.

Round Pearch fish, ibid.

Rappe, ibid. Rapax, ibid.

River Muggle, ibid. Rijele, ibid.

Risela, ibid. Ryserle, ibid.

Risling, ibid. Rupp, 15 9

Ray, 14 28 Raja 28, & 15 39

Rcundling, 14 29

Rootes, 14 32

Round Crab, 14 26

Rouchling, 14 28

Rouchfarb, ibid.

Rouch, ibid.

Ratte-pointe, ibid.

Rough Cockle, 14 34

Rauhe Muscheln, ibid.

Romnd Cockle, 14 35

Ruzell Muscheln, ibid.

Round plain Perewinkle, 14 42

Rugged Perewinkle, ibid.

Rake fish, 14 50 & 16 35

Rana Piscatrix, 14 53

Ratlachter Hund fish, 14 55

Reednorm, 15 1

Ratlacht, ibid.

Rotlache, 15 46 68

Rugget, 15 9

Ruffelck, ibid.

Rowel fish, 15 10

Roubling, 15 11

Razor Nose fish, 15 13

Ratlachter - Rundt - Koff, 15 25

Rotbard, 15 26

Raan kutel, 15 31

Rock Cuttel, ibid.

Ruchling, 15 32

Ruchen - schnotttholfs, 15 35

Raja Lewis, 15 39

Raucher Sterne Rock, 15 40

Raja Clavata, ibid.

Rhinoceros of the Sea, 15 47

Rosmare. Rosmarus, 15 49

Rufor, ibid.

Rostinger, ibid.

Rohari, ibid.

Rofsle, 15 59

Rorle, 15 63

Rapplin, 15 68

Roken, 16 25

Ray Monster, ibid.

Rat of the Water, ibid.

Ruckle, 16 33

Raven Whale, 16 43

Rufs Whale, ibid.

Rore, ibid.

Rostinger, ibid.

Round end Cockle, 14 49

Remora, 15 1

S

Sea Cornet, 14 6 12 42 48

Starred Antaceus, 14 6

Starry Tuck, ibid.

Sole, 14 9

Sole fish, 15 59

Spiegelbot, 14 9

Spiegel-zunge, ibid.

Sandling, ibid.

Streine, 14 10

Streymer, ibid.

Salmon, 14 12 13 14 15 19

Salmon Mort, 14 19

Salmon Trout, 14 12 18 19

Schaid, 15 33

Shad, 14 12

Spiringart, ibid.

Sea Bramble, ibid.

Spirinch Gezelet, ibid.

Sparling, ibid.

Smerlin. Smerling, ibid. and 15 2

Swelt, ibid. and 15 17

Sprott. Sprote, ibid.

Schiler, ibid.

Skipper Salmon, 14 19

Samlett, ibid.

Skegger Salmon, ibid.

Selmling, ibid.

Skelliton of a Salmon, 14 17

Sea Peacock, 14 20 and 15 23

Sea Hen fish, 14 20 22, and 15 26

Sea Perch, 14 20

Sea Merle, ibid.

Sea Parrot, ibid.

Sea Leofor, ibid.

Schmarf-blame, ibid.

Sea Rappe, ibid.

Sea Crow fish, ibid.

Schroll, ibid.

Skrollen, ibid.

Schrellele, ibid.

Swallow fish, ibid.

Seehen, 14 22

Skeyn fish, ibid.

Sea Raven fish, ibid.

Sea Cocos, ibid.

Sea Lyra, ibid.

Sea Cockatrice, 14 23

Steinrup, ibid.

Sea Lerch, 14 23 & 15 23

Spit fish, 14 23

Sea Pike, ibid.

Spifs fish, ibid.

Squer, or Skwire fish, ibid.

Small spit fish, ibid.

Sea Hecht, ibid.

Sandile, ibid. and 15 17

Sand Eele, ibid. & 15 17

Schmerle, 14 24

Sengele, ibid.

Stock fish, 14 24

Sprat, ibid.

Smaris, ibid.

Skeyfferling, ibid.

Saupe, ibid.

Salpa, ibid.

Streyembrachsme, ibid.

- Shell fish, ibid.
 Star Lamprey, 14 25
 Serpentine Lamprey, 14 25 a Sea Pomte, ibid.
 Sea Eele Pomte, ibid.
 Satchel Eele, 14 26
 Sea Sackel, ibid.
 Schwall, 14 27
 Schimp fish, ibid.
 Studder, ibid. Stein-karpfen, ibid.
 Sebyfferling, ibid. Skait, 14 28
 Smooth Ray, 14 28 Snouted Ray, ibid.
 Sharp Nosed Ray, 15 29
 Sachel-Roche. Sea Pigeon, 14 28
 Sea Onle fish. Sea Scule, 14 29
 Schuchen-Lumpfish. Snot, ibid.
 Snottse. Schunder, ibid.
 Shrimpe 14 32 57
 Sprarne, 14 32 Sufwasser krab, ib. a b
 St. Jacobs Muscle, 14 33
 St. Michaels Muscle, ibid.
 Smooth head Scollop, ibid.
 Scollop, 14 33
 Sea Crab, 14 32 a b and 15 43
 Single eared Cockle, 14 34
 Stabel-Muscheln, ibid.
 Sallet Cockle, 14 35
 Sreyen Muscheln, ibid.
 Sea finger shell, 14 36
 Sleeve shell, 14 36 45 and 15 31
 Smooth Oyster, 14 38 Stein, ibid.
 Strahlen-Schnecke, 14 41
 Scaled and Studded Winkle, 14 42
 Snail shell. Schnecke, 14 43, 44
 Sea snail shell, 14 44
 Sirell Schnecke, ibid.
 Scuttle. Sea Cut, 14 45
 Storm Fish. Scorpfish, 14 46
 Scorpion fish, 14 46 47 and 15 23
 Scorpins minor, 14 47
 Spider fish. Sea Dragon, 14 48
 Sea Weaverne. Sea Nymphs Horn, ib.
 Sea Trumpet. Stachell shell, ibid.
 Stachell fish, ibid.
 Scomber. Scombrus, 14 49
 Sag fish. Serra Piscis, 14 50
 Sam fish, ibid. and 15 35
 Sword fish, 14 51 51 a and 16 35
 Steward or Schmerd fish, 14 51
 Sweet fish, ibid. (16 32
 Sea Swine fish, 14 52 and 15 44 and Sea Goose fish, ibid. and 16 41
 Small Porpoise, ibid.
 Sea Frog, 14 53 and 15 18 36
 Sea Toad, ibid.
 Star fish, 14 54 and 15 10
 Sea Apple fish. Smooth Star fish, ibid.
 Stauden fish, ibid.
 Sea Dog fish, 14 55 and 15 42
 Star Dog fish. Sternhound, ibid.
 Spotted Dog fish. Stone Dog fish, ibid.
 Stein Hound, ibid. Sea Ape, 14 56
 Simia Marina, 14 56
 Spurgeon, 14 57 58
 Strario. Stora. Stor, Styr, 14 57
 Styrl. Small Sprarne, ibid.
 Squilla Parva. Shrimper, ibid.
 Sea Shrimplet. Squilula, ibm.
 Sea Prane. Spring-Krebsle, ibid.
 See gitzle, ibm. Storer, 14 58
 Small Sturgeon. Steck Muckle, ibid.
 Small Ham Muskle, ibid.
 Sea Worm. Schnabell, 15 1
 Small Loach. Stainbyffen, 15 2
 Sea Ear shell, 15 5 Sprall Eele, 15 7
 Silurus Nili, 15 9 33
 Sea Lote, 15 9
 Strred Eele pomte, ibid.
 Sjur romel fish, 15 10
 Sea Sun, or Sun shell fish, ibid.
 Sea Moon fish, ibid.
 Schaidle. Schid, 15 12
 Spike Nose. Spitz Nasz, 15 13
 Sphyrena, ibid.
 Salut. Saluten, 15 15 33
 Schley. Schleg. Sly. Slyn, 15 16
 Shoemaker fish, ibid.
 Sea Tortois shell, 15 18
 Schilt krot. Schilt Padde, ibid.
 Sheila Frog, ibid.
 Spotted Venus Winkle, 15 19
 Stauben Schnecke, 15 20
 Sable Sandill, 15 22
 Snail fish. Schneckling fish, 15 23
 Scorpuides Pisces. Schleymling, ibid.
 Swag, or Swagbelly fish, ibid.
 Spotted Sea Lark fish, ibid.
 Schleyrn Larch, ibid.
 Sea Thrush. Sea Onzel fish, 15 24
 Sacred Fish. Seebrachsmen, 15 25
 Schonling, ibid. Seebusz, 15 26
 Sea Swallow Fish, 15 27
 Sea Kite fish, ibid.
 Spotted Bine Fish, 15 28
 Spring Whale Bearded, 15 29
 Scolopendra Whale, 15 29 45
 Sanguisuga, 15 30 Sepia, 15 31
 Slender Cuttle. Schiff cuttle, 15 31
 Sechse Cuttel. See squappcuttel, ibid.
 Salore. Salurus, 15 33, and 16 43
 Sch. ottholfs, 15 35
 Sea Loufe, 15 36
 Scaled Crampfish, 15 37
 Spotted Crampfish, ibid.
 Smooth Ray, 15 39
 Spiegel Roch. Starred Ray, 15 40
 Sternrech. Studied Ray, ibid.
 Skate. Skeate, 15 41
 Sea Angel fish, ibid.
 Squatus. Squatina, ibid.
 Sea Hound fish, 15 42
 Sea F x fish. Smooth Dog fish, ibid.
 Schlegel H. and. ibi.
 Srin-White, 15 44 and 16 43
 Scolopendra Cetacea, 15 45
 Sea Monoceros, 15 46
 Sea Unicorn, ibid. and 16 35
 Sea Cow. Sea Scolopendra, 15 46
 Sea Rhinoceros, 15 46
 Spike Whale, 15 47
 Satyre of the Sea, 15 48 and 16 39
 Satyre Fish, 15 48 and 16 19 39
 Sea Wonder. Sea Monster, 15 48
 Sea Monster with a Human Face, ibid.
 Sea Urchin fish, 15 53
 Sea Wonder of Poland, 15 54
 Skeleton of a Sea Horse, 15 59
 Salamander of the Sea, ibid.
 Sea Dragon. Sea Aspe. Sea Rossle, ibid.
 Sea Horse Worm. Sea Leech, ibid.
 Sittard, 15 60 Schiff-kuttel, 15 62
 Sea Pipe. Sea Trumpet, 15 63
 Shell, or Sea Horn, ibid.
 Skipper of the Water, 15 63
 Schill, 15 65. Sea Lizard Fish, 15 67
 Sea Goblin, 16 1 Sea Man, 16 1 19
 Scaled Man of the Sea, 16 1
 Syren, 16 2 20 30
 Sea Horse, 16 5 6
 Sea Wolf. Sea Lupe, 16 7
 Sea Bear, 16 8
 Sea Bull, 16 11. Sea Ox, 16 32
 Sea Talbot or H. and, 16 14
 Sea Serpent. Schlange, 16 15
 Springwall, 16 16 28 43
 Serpent Python, 16 21
 Sus Marinus magnus, 16 23 43
 Sele-Hounl. Sauffwall, 16 24
 Sea Nymph. Scottish Cockle, 16 27
 Sea Boar, 16 29. Scate, 16 30
 Syren sans Arms, 16 30
 Sea Water Horse, 16 32
 Sea Water Wolfe, 16 31
 Sea Water Elephant, 16 34
 Spotted Crampfish, 16 38
 Sea Calf, 16 34. Sea Pan, 16 39
 Sea Water Devil, 16 39
 Sunterlize, 16 41
 Sea Snale, 16 42
 Spotted Whale, 16 43
 Schil-Whale, ibid.
 Shellenynke. Schlicht-back, ibid.
 Sea Pen. Sea Feather, 16 45
 Sea Sword. Sea Saw, ibid.
 Sea Eagle Fish, 16 46
 St. chling, 15 14. Sea Boone, 14 44
 Sea Weaver, or Weaverne, 14 48
 Sradled Cockle, 14 25 Stern, 14 54
 Sea Gadbre, 15 50
 T
 Tick, 14 1 a
 Tuck, 14 6 and 15 33
 Tongue Fish, 14 9
 Turbutt. Turbutt, 14 10
 Thornbutt. Tarbutten, ibid.
 Tippich. Tippicher, ibid.
 Trout, 14 12 19 18 and 15 59
 Trutta, 14 12
 Thrush-fish, 14 20 and 15 24
 Bbb Truf-

- Truschen*, 14 24 a
Thornback. Turk fsh. Taybe, 14 28
Tharabyschmien, 14 27
Tellina. Tall Muscheen, 14 35
Turbo. Troch Welke, 14 40
Topfelke. Trochus, 14 40
Tekele, 14 42
Turbo Muritus, 14 42 and 15 20
Torpor. Trumet of the Sea, 14 48
Triangular Stachel shell, ibid.
Tunny. Tunpie, 14 49 and 15 14
Thun us. Trachurus, 14 49
Tarbo Disitatus, 14 52
Toad of the Sea. Torsch, 14 53
Touched Starfish. Tree Starfish, 14 54
Thornhound, 14 55 and 15 42
Thorny Loach, 15 2
Tricel. Trischen, 15 9
Tamoubata, 15 54
Tench. Tinca, 15 16
Tortois shell, 15 18
Tridacn, 15 21
Tanna Piscis, 15 28
Thorny orulated Ray, 15 40
Tunne Wrm, 15 46
Tritons Trumpet, 15 63 Triton, 16 1
Tailed Frog, 16 10
Talbot of the Sea, 16 14
Tauschwall. Trolwall, 16 18
Triton with Wings, 16 19
Trinia Aquatica, 16 33
Trolrhale, 16 43
Thrsia, 14 12 27
Thorn finned Snail fish, 15 23
- U
- Umber*, 14 12 19 20 Vore, 14 12
Umbla. Umbra, 14 19
Vergadelle, 14 24 a
Veneron. Vrffe fish, 14 27
Variable Prawne, 14 32
Urchin Cockle, 14 35
Unguis Marinus, 14 36
Umbellium, 14 44 and 16 5
Urchin fish, 14 54
Venetian Dog fish, 14 55
Vulpes Rhodia, 14 58
- *
- Venetian Prawne*, 15 6
Urchin Star fish, 15 10
Venetian Gobion, 15 17
Venus Cockle shell, 15 19
Venus Muckle. Venus Winkle, ibid.
Venetian Thrush fish, 15 24
Various coloured Ozell fish, ibid.
Vaszwall, 15 29
Venetian Crampfish, 15 37 38
Vrehound, 15 41
Unicorn of the Sea, 15 46
Urchin of the Sea, 15 53
Venetian Moon fish, 15 61
Venetian Hoga, 16 33
Utelis, 16 35
- W
- White fish*, 14 12 19 27 and 15 22
Whiting, 14 12 24 a and 15 17
Winged fish, 14 16 19
Wigling. Wiggan fish, 14 19
Wettling. Walmester, 14 23 a
Welwell. Wittling. Wytling, 14 24 a Wistling. Wisser-Skeysserling, ibid.
Wallfurer. Walleiter, 14 25 a
Weyfish. Welsche Agunen, 14 27
Wor-fising, ibid.
Wrinkled Cockle, 14 35
Winding Cockle, ibid.
Wrinkled Oyster, 14 38
Welke, 14 40 41 43 and 15 20
Wrinkle, 14 40
Winkle, 14 42 and 15 19
Whale, 14 49 and 15 29 49 and 16 16
Wall-Tunny, 14 49 (18 26
Wheel Starfish, 14 54
Well fish, 15 9 Worm Star fish, 15 10
Wall fish. Whale Swine, 15 29
Wall-Nassell, ibid.
Valler. Valline. Vallarine, 15 33
VVasser Louz, 15 36 and 16 33
VVhale Ray, 15 39
VVhale Hound, 15 42
VVhale with many feet, 15 45
VVhale Com, 15 46
VVhale Rhinoceros, 15 47
VVorszbey, 15 49
- Y
- Young Tunny*, 15 14
- Z
- Zungen*. Zunglin, 14 9
Zorte, 14 12 Zirle, 14 24
Zien fish, 14 27
Zweierley fish, 14 27 and 15 2
Zinckeler. Zinckelstrauben, 14 41
Zwerg-Krebslin, 14 57
Zwibell fish, 15 23
Zubermall, 15 29 Zindell, 15 31
Zinde, 15 64 Zindell, ibid.
Zingell, ibid. Ziphius, 16 24
Zyffwall, 16 24
Zitterling. Zitterfish, 16 38
- VWhale Oxe or Bear, 15 49
 VWater skipper. VWater fly, 15 63
 VWater horse, 16 5 32
 VWater Bear, 16 8
 VWhirlepoole, 16 16 18
 VVetterwall, 16 16
 VVinged Syren, 16 17
 VVinged Satyre fish, 16 19
 VVinged Triton, ibid.
 VVinged Men fish, ibid.
 VWater Rat, 16 25
 VVasser schmeckle, 16 27
 VWater grasshopper, 16 29
 VVasser Grillen, 16 29 40
 VWater VVolf, 16 31
 VWater Oxe, 16 32
 VWater Flea. VWater Mooth, 16 33
 VWater Louse, ibid.
 VWater Grill. VWater Locust, 16 40
 VVasser Muhcime, ibid.
 VVagle, 16 41
 VWater Cantharis, 16 42
 VWater Glow worm, ibid.
 VWater Lamp fly. VWall louse, ibid.
 VVhale-fish. VVauge-VVhale, 16 43
 VVhite VVhale. VVintinger, ibid.
 VVolf fish, 18 112

TO THE
Much Esteemed ALLEN PENINGTON Esq;
Doctor of PHYSICK:

AND TO

William Pennington Practitioner in Physick, his Son and Heir.

IT may be thought a Presumption in me (having been brought up only in Herauldry) to Treat of things above my Sphere, and what belong more properly to Doctors, and Chyrurgions. It is true, yet give me leave to make this Appology; that though for the Practick there may be pleaded an insufficiency; yet as a lover of Arts and Sciences, it cannot be taken amiss to have the Theorick, and be acquainted as with their Instruments (which are in Arms) so with their Terms, which is for Gentlemens discourse; therefore as it is necessary for the Ingenious to know the one, so it is much satisfaction to be acquainted in the other (for Knowledge is no great Burthen) which is here drawn up into an easie Method for the benefit of such as be Discreet. And therefore is hoped will with others be as willingly accepted by You, which is all that is desired from him who is

Your Devoted Friend Ready to Serve You,
Randle Holme.

CHAP. XVII.

I Have long insisted on the bearing of Animimals, or living Creatures unreasonable; distinguishing them according to their kinds, and forms; and as they had a similitude one too another, which being finished; we proceed in the next place to treat of the most nobler Creature, which above all others is indued with reason and understanding; I mean Man: whom GOD hath given a reasonable Soul, and for whose sake He created all other things: subjecting them to His Sovereignty, that they should serve Man; and Man only should serve, and Glorifie his God, and Creator.

Man in the Creation of his Body is subject to a three fold Estate; to Live, to Dye, to Rise again. The first is to have a Body to live, and have a being therein: to enjoy that outward form and lineament of the Body; which as it is in itself, is divided into several parts and members; not the least, but it hath its peculiar term, or name, by which it is distinguished from its other (whither) external, or internal parts.

[]

We shall then in the first place give you the several terms of Art used by Anatomists, and Chirurgions; for the fundry part of the Body: and to begin with the internals.

Terms for the several parts of the Head.

Brain.

The Percutition, is the skin that covers all the Skull.

The Dura Meninx, is the thin outward skin, or film, or membrane, or tegument that covers the Brain; and enwrappeth it about, sticking to the inside of the Skull.

Bbb 2

The

The Brain Tunnell, which is a thin skin between the two Brains in the middle of the Head; called the Corcular Alein of the Brain, or Sinus of the Dura Menynx.

The Cerebrum, or Brain; which is divided in the middle with a duplicated membrane.

The Cerebellum, is the little Brain which lyeth in the hinder part of the Head: the after Brain.

The Pia Mater, is the Caul or Film, or thin skin, that covers the Brain in its several fouldings, ruts, or embossed knots.

The Dura Mater, is the outward Tunicles or Kells, which covers the Brain, and divides it from the Cerebellum.

The Ventricles, are four little Cells, or places in the Skull, in which the Brain lyeth.

The Coroides, are thin Membranes in form of Nets, that are called Plerus Choroides, the complication or thrumb Vessels of the Head. Called Rete mirabile.

The Conarium, is a Kernel sticking on the out side of the Brain, in form of a pine apple.

The Labyrinthes, or Meanders of the Brain; are the curious and manifest turning and twistings of the Brain, as it lyeth in the outward Film.

The Sandule, or Kernells called Penealis, being a round tuberos lumplying near the Ventricles like a Pine apple.

The Periostrum, is a thin nervous Membrane or skin, which lyeth next the Skull under the Pericranion, and may be severed from it by the point of a knife.

The Sinus or Canale of the Dura Menynx; see Brain Tunnell.

The Crasse Menynx, the skins dividing the Brain, see the Brain Tunnell. Called also the Sythe of the Brain.

The Convulsions of the Brain, are the several breaches or division, or running of the Film in which the Brain is closed. Called also the Oybicall circumbolutions of the Brain.

The Rillets, are diverse branched, or creeping Fibres, or Veins which run disperedly on both sides the Dura Menynx.

The Corpus Callosum, is the callous substance of the Brain, the marrow of the Head.

The Fornix, or arch of the Brain: is a kind of a vaulted Body which lyeth in the middle of the Brain, and is like a three footed bridge, or stool; gibbous im-bowed and convex.

The Barke of the Brain.

The Cesticles or Buttocks of the Brain, are particles of the Brain; and of the same substance, but of a little different colour.

The Pelvis, or Infundibulum, the Boson or Tunnel.

The Hamillary Processes, are the swelling of the Brain.

The Double Tabulature of the skull.

The Region of the Brain, the whole compass of the Brain, as it is compassed in with the Dura Mater.

The Uermi-formes, are wormy processes diversly orbiculated or rowled up, consisting of many particles transverse (or oblique or right) but coupled together by a thin Membrane. It is nothing else but the Pia Mater corugated, or foulded togethe, or crumpled up like a Worm.

The Spinall Harrow, is that silver Cord, mentioned Ecclef. 12.6. and is the Brain lengthened from the hinder ventricles of the Brain, down the rack bone of the Neck, and Back.

Eyes.

The Optick Nerves, are both matrowey and membranous strings, which from the Brain, communicates to the Eye the sense of seeing.

The Coat of the Eye, is the cover of the Ball, or Apple of the Eye; of which there are four. The first Adnata, the second Cornea, the third Uvea, and the fourth Aranea.

The Coition of the Optick Nerves; is the joyning together of the strings of the Eyes.

The Motorick Nerves, are those strings, or fibres which give motion to the Eyes; called Tendons.

The Sandule of the Eye, is a Kernell in the upper part of the Eye near the outer angle, which serves as soft pillows that the Eyes be not offended in their motion, at the hardness of the bone.

The Oybicular Muscle, or Semicircular Muscle of the Eye - lids; are those Muscle which give motion to them.

The Bladder of the Eye, is the hollow of the Eye above and below, which swelleth when the Eyes are bleared, or weepeth.

The Muscles of the Eyes, are Membranous tendons which compasseth the whole Eye, and grow to the horny, or glassy tunicle, or coat of the Eye; which tendons joyning together makes the Albugo, or white of the Eye, which give motion to the Eye, and are called,

The Attollens, or superbus Muscle; is seated above the Iris, and lifts up the Eye.

The Deprimens, or humilis Muscle; is that as draws the Eye downwards.

The Adducens, or obstiporous Muscle; is seated in the great angle, and draws the Eye inward to the Nose: this is termed, the Sleeping Muscle.

The Abducens, or indignatorious Muscle; it is seated on the out side, and draws the Eye to the lesser angle, or temples; and is called the Scu-muscle or Disdainfull muscle.

The Oybe, or Vessel of the Eye; is the hollow place or hole, where it is in the Skull.

The Membranes of the Eye; are the Coats of the Eye: of which there are these several sorts.

The Adnata membrane, is the utmost Coat or cover of the apple of the Eye, and is termed the adherent, or cleaving Membrane. This is the white of the Eye; as some say, but others affirm it, to be but the cover of the white.

The Innominata membrane, is the true white of the Eyes, and is raised from the Nervous tendons, or Chords of the Muscles of the Eyes, determined near to the Iris, and under the Adnata, or Conjunctive membrane, Coat or Ligament: whether you please to call it.

The Cornea membrane, is the thick or hard Coat, of a thorny substance, which is round, fast, thin, transparent, bright polished, and smooth in the high part: but thick dark and obscure on the Back, or inner part.

The Uvea, or Chapie membrane; it lieth under the Cornea coat, is smooth on the outside, and rough within: and doth adhere to the said horny Membrane by certain furcles of Veins, and Arteries. This circle of the Eye causeth the Iris, or Rainbow, which in man is of diverse colours; and is called the Choroides.

The Aranca membrane, or the Cobweb coat, it is also called the Cristalloides coat, or the looking glass, because it is bright and transluclid. This is a very thin skin, and contains in it the Cristalline humour, which being broken, falls flat. This is the Pupilla or the Apple of the Eye.

The Retina, or Reti-formis, or Net Membrane; or net like body rather: being of a Brain like substance and is inclosed in the Aranca Membrane.

The Fozamen Uvea, is the hole in the middle of the Chapie Membrane, in which the Pupil of the Eye resteth.

The Pupilla, or Ulio; the sight, or apple of the Eye, the little circle in the Eye, or center of the Eye.

The Ombiculus, the Oybe, or Bail of the Eye; is the whole Eye as it is in the Orbe, or hole in the Skull.

The Humours of the Eye, are those moist and liquid, or waterish substance, that are contained between the several Coats or Membranes of the Eye: and they are called,

The Tenuous, or thin Humour, and of some called Aqueus Humour, because it is fluide and transparent like water; and the Albugineous Humour, because it is like the white of an Egg: it lyes between the Aranca, and Retina Membranes.

The Cristalline Humour, so called because of its splendor and brightness: it is called Diaphanum Deuili. It is a pure liquid substance, contained between the two Coats Aranca, and Retina; called also Aitreous or Glassy Humour.

The Aitreous Humour, or the Glassy Humour; it is a liquid humour, that in consistence and thickness is like to melted glass, and lyeth at the Back of the Eye, between the Adnata, and the Cornea Membranes.

Nose.

The Ethmoïdes, or Spongy bone: situated in the top of the Nose at the Skull. Called also the Spongoides.

The Hamillary Processes of the Nose; are the outward parts of the inward Nose; which are the Organs of smelling. They are two small things like Herbes, round & slender, & arise out of the Marrowey substance of the Brain in the basis of the Nose; and called the Herbes of smelling.

The Grille of the Nose, called Cartilago Nasi is the partition of the Nostrils in the middle of the Nose.

The Wing of the Nose, is the soft and bottom part of the Nose next to the joyning of the Face.

[]

Mouth.

The Fauces, or Og; is all the void cavity which is between the Lips, and the roots of the Chaps.

The Lips are the fleshy part of the Mouth, fugous and moveable. Termed the Libra.

The Puffs of the Cheek; are the skins each side the Mouth within.

The Pallate is the upper part of the Mouth; the skin whereof is somewhat rugous, rough or wrinkled: the Roofe of the Mouth.

The Uvula, is a peece of flesh in the Roofe of the Mouth, at the top of the Throat. It is called also the Columella, and the Plectrum; the Gargareon, and Gargulio: the two last taken from the gargleing or washing of the Mouth.

The Membrane of the Mouth, is the skin that covers the whole Cavity of the Mouth, and spreadeth over the Gums, and covereth the upper part of the Lips; which skin being re-duplicated, maketh the Uvula.

The Squadratus muscle, or square muscle, is one of the muscles in the puff of the Cheeks, and Lips.

The Buccinator, or the Trumpeter Muscle; is another muscle in the puff of the Cheeks and Lips, by which is the help of Speech, and sound of the voice.

The Muscles of the Lips, are the four muscles each side, two in the upper Lip, and two in the nether Lip; which cause their motion.

The Suture of the Pallate, is the Seam in the bone in the Roofe of the Mouth.

The Holes of the Pallate, or Mouth bone, called Fozamen Pallati, are two holes at the end of the fore-said Suture through which the Brain is purged, and by holding ones breath we may expire and inspire, breath in and out by the Nose.

The Coat of the Pallate, is the skin on the Roofe of the Mouth.

The Crenas, is the Rugous, or Rugged skin on the Roofe or Pallate of the Mouth.

The Plectrum vocis, the Quill of the voice, which is that which is called the Uvula, for the said peece of flesh hanging between the Larynx, and the Cavity of the Nostrils, it makes a repercussion of the aire, and it issues out of the throttle.

The Fauces or the Chaps, of some taken for the whole Cavity of the Mouth: but generally it is taken for the Back or lower part of the Mouth, next the Throat.

The Conilla, or the Almons of the Throat, which are Glandules seated in both sides of the Mouth at the root of the Tongue, on either side one. Termed also Antiades and Paristhymus.

The Parotis ——— or the Almonds of the Ears, which are two Glandules seated in the Mouth, under the root of the Ears. Called also, the Parotick Kernells.

The ——— are Glandules growing at the root of the Larynx on the sides of the rough Artery.

The Isthmus is a place or space between the Larynx and Pharynx, seated in the Throat like a neck of Land between two Seas.

Tongue

Tongue.

The Lingua, or the Tongue: is the instrument both of Speech and taste.

The Conneriou of the tongue, is the tying of the tongue to the Larynx and the Bone Hyois.

Basis linguae: is the root of the tongue, the bottom of it.

The Ligament of the Tongue, is that broad and strong membranous skin, which is under the middle of tongue, and tyeth it to the lower Chap.

The Frenum, or Bridge of the Tongue; is a little chord at the end of the said Ligament & goes toward the tip of the tongue.

The Coat of the Tongue, is the thin skin where-with it is invested, being rough on the upper side, the Scarfe skin.

The Pulpe of the Tongue, is the soft fleshy substance of the tongue, which is spongy.

The Fat of the Tongue, is the hard fat at the root of it.

The Nerves of the Tongue, are three. The one Branches, and is disseminated into the Coat of the tongue, which makes it an instrument of the sense of touching. The second Nerve, is sprinkled into the fleshy part of the tongue, and makes it an instrument of tasting. The third is a hard Nerve, and is placed in the lower part of the tongue, which is the Nerve of motion.

The Arteries of the Tongue, are two: which lye on each side, one.

The Median, is the middle or division, or rather the white line that divides the tongue, into a right and left side, through the middle of the surface.

The Locutarij Musc, is the Muscle that helpeth speech, or speaking.

The Gustatori Musc, is the Muscle of tasting.

The Cibi-revolutores Muscles, are such Muscles and Nerves, which help the motion of the tongue; it is also called the Rolling Muscles.

Throat.

The Aspera Arteria, is the Wind-pipe or the Channel by which we breath: the Waezen.

The Larynx, or Throttle; which is the Organ of the voice, it is the head of the Wind-pipe, or top of the Semicircular Gristles of the Throat, which we call the Waezen-pipe. Some call it the knot of the Throat, or the Kist.

The Glottis, is the small cleft in the Throat, the Whistle, the Orifice of the Larynx.

The Epiglottis, or after tongue; it is a gristle that covers the Whistle, or hole of the Larynx: that nothing go down it when we Eat or Drink; called the Flap or Guggle.

The Arytaenoides, or the Core Gristle, which is double; the Thyroides Gristle, and the Crycoides, are three Gristles at the top of the Larynx, of which it is composed.

[]

The Shield Gristle, called Thyroides; buncheth out in the Throats of Men: and is called Adams Apple, or the Apple of the Throat.

The Hyo-thyroides, are a pair of Muscles belonging to the Bone Hyois, and the Shield Gristle of the Larynx.

The Styloides, or certain small processes in bones, like the fashion of a small bodkin.

The Pterygoides, are four processes to the outward part of the Cluneal bone, at the foundation of the skull, where the teeth called the Grinders are fastned, that is on each side two, spreading like unto the Wings of a Bar.

The Spine, or ridge of the ring Gristle, being a ridge.

The Hyoglossij Musc, are Muscles having their places, and dependencies about the root of the Tongue and Throat.

The Crycoides, or the Ring Gristle; is another gristle of which the Larynx is framed, it is an immovable Gristle on whom the other rest as on a Basis, which makes the lower Basis of the Waezen or Larynx larger then the upper Orifice.

The Membrane of the Larynx, is that Ligament, or skin by which the Semicircular Gristle of the Waezen are connected and tyed together. The outward sides being crasse and hard, and rugous.

The inward Coat of the Larynx, is the smooth skin wherewith the hollow Cavity of the throttle is covered, which is soft stretched out and slipperie.

The Os Hyoides, is the Bone Hyois, which beareth up the tongue by its Basis.

The Proglottis, is the pointed end of the tongue, which limes against the teeth.

The Oesophagus, or Gullet, the Channel by which we swallow Meat and Drink: which is a fleshy Membrane.

The Pharynx, is the top part, or beginning of the Gullet.

The Internal Tunicle of the Gullet: is that part within, whose beginning or original proceeds from the Mouth.

The Thyroides, and the Arytaenoides; are the two only moveable Gristles in the Larynx.

Ear.

The Auditory Nerve, is that which is the reception of the sound.

The Drum, is a Membrane stretched out before the airy Nerve of hearing, which is supported by.

The Hammer, the Anvile, the Stirrop of the Ear, which are three bones, the smallest of the whole Body; but none formed with more curious Art.

The Membrane of the Tympane, is the Drum of the Ear.

The Cavity, is the hollowness, or pipes of the Ear.

The Canal, is the pipes of the Ear.

The Burrows, or little holes, in the Cavity of the Ear.

The Harmozatum, or Eare war, or excrement of the Ear.

The Window of the Snailly shell, or the Window holes.

The

The Mammillary Processes, is a thing like the Womans dug, hanging on the bone called, the rocky Bone.

The Styloides, or Appendix.

The Knob of the Nöwle bone, is that bunch or Knob bone behind the middle of the Ear, which is inarticulated, or joyned to the first Back-bone of the Neck.

The Semicircles of the Ears, called Cuniculi; Conny burroughs, they are three half round bones, joyned together by their ends to the Snaily shell bone.

The Cochlea, is the turning, or winding of that part in the Ear inward, which is like the Snail shell: the interior face of the Snaily shell; or the Cavity in the stony bone.

The Sporosity, or sponginess of the bone about the hole of hearing.

The Trumpet of the Ear, is a Cavity for the Organ of hearing.

The Malleus, or Malleolus, the Mallet or Hammer, is a little bone like a Hammer seated at the beginning of the Cavity of the stony, or rocky bone; at the end of the hole of hearing.

The Incus, or Anvill, or Stithy: is another little bone resembling an Anvil and is situated in the hinder side of the first Cavity, opposite to the Hammer bone.

The Stapes, or Stirrop bone, is like a triangular stirrop and is articulated to the bone at the Oval window: this stirrop hole is of some called the Pupilla, or Apple of the Ear: the Pupil of hearing.

The Cord, or Chred, is a slender and Nervous Ligament which runneth through the middle of a Membrane, and is joyned to the joynt where the stirrop bone is articulated.

The Internal Muscle of the Ear, is situated in the stony bone, and so runs length-wise and is determined in the Membrane of the Tympane.

The External Muscle, is situated without the Membrane of the Tympane, in the upper part of the hole of hearing.

The Concha, is a Cavity or Cave in the rocky bone, which in its turning is like the snell of a Winkle, or Taber: of some called the Tympane.

The Labyrinth, is a Cavity in the rocky or stony bone, and is so called from its turnings.

The Fenestra Ovalis, or the Oval Window, is an Oval hole or like an Egg in the Concha Cavity.

The Fenestra, or Fenestella, is another Window, or hole in the said Concha Cavity: which is cleaven into a double pipe lying one on another, and are divided by a thin bony scale.

The Water course, is the lower of the said divided holes; which is called a Serpentine Still, or Saplie Pipe: because it is wrethen first forward, then backwards, then obliquely.

Breast.

The Pleura, is that Membranous part which incloses all the internal parts of the Chest, or Breast.

The Mediastium, is the reduplication or doubling of the Pleura Membrane at the Back and Breast.

[]

The Cavity of the Mediastium, is the separation of the bulk of the chest, into two Cavities, and divides the Lungs one from another.

The Pericardium, is the bag or case of the Heart, which contains a Watery humor to moisten the Heart.

The Diaphragma, or Widrif: is the middle partition between the Breast and Belly: and is made up of a fleshy and sinewy Membrane. It is called the Fan of the Belly, because of its motion, which is like that of the Heart.

Lungs.

The Pulmones, or the Lungs or lights, they are the instruments of breathing and framing the voice, and are made of a substance soft light and spongy, whitish without, and red within.

The Bronchia, or Pipes of the Wizzard.

The Lobs, Laps, or Scallops of the Lungs: are the Wings or out sides so wrought, that if one part be corrupted and rotten, the other may remain whole and sound.

The Membrane of the Lungs, is the thin skin, by which they are covered which is porous and full of little holes.

The Cavities of the Lungs, are the holes or Cell, of which they are full, each Cavity representing the form of an Ox hoofe.

The Dyspnea, is the lesser of the Holes, which being stopped causeth purfines and difficulty of breathing.

The Spinalis, or the Spinal Marrow, or Pith of the Back-bone, it is termed also Dorsalis, or Cervicalis, and Lumbalis.

Heart.

The Cox, or the Heart, it is a triangular form and the noblest part of all the Body, it is the Fountain of Life, being the first that lives, and the last that dyes.

The Basis or bottom of the Heart, is the broad end by which it hangs and receives all its Vessels, as Veins and Arteries.

The Auriculæ Cordis, the Ears of the Heart: are the little hollow cases or covers in the Basis of the Heart placed by the Vessels which carry blood into the Heart; in grown persons the right Ear is larger then the left, in Infants the left is the larger.

The Comus, or pointed end of the Heart: called Cone.

The Ventricles of the Heart, are the Cavities or hollow places in the Heart, which are two; the right ventricle which is the wider and softer, the left is harder narrower and compassed with a thick wall, reaching as far as the point of the Heart, which the right doth not.

The Septum, or Septum medianum, is the middle partition in the Heart between the two Ventricles: which is porous, and full of holes.

The Valves or Shutters, are three pointed covers set on the Orifice of the Vena Cava at the Heart which stops and hinders the going back of the Blood.

The

The Valves of the Vena Arteriosa, are three shutters at the Orifices of the said Vein, and are fashioned like the old Greek letter Sigma.

The Carnosity or fleshy Membrane, is the fleshy substance of the Body which lies under the fat, and is joyned inseparably to it: it is more red in the Neck, Forehead, and Coods, then else where.

The Adeps, or the fatty Membrane; It is of substance soft and Oily: it is of colour white, except blood by reason of some laceration, is mixt with it.

The Medulla Spinalis: the Marrow of the Back-bone, which is of the same substance of the Brain.

Belly.

The Peritoneum, is a Membrane stretched out over all the parts of the Bowels or Guts: the Paunch, or Rim of the Belly.

The Region of the Body; is all the parts of the higher Belly: all above the Navel, and contains the Omentum, the Liver, Gall, Stomach, Spleen, Sweet-bread, Bowels, Mesenterium, Vena Porta, and the Caeliacal Artery.

The second Region of the Body includes within the doubling of the Peritoneum, which comprehends the Reins, Ureters, Bladder, Genital in Men, and the Uterus with the parts annexed in Women.

The Omentum, or Epiploon, or Gall; is a thin Membrane indued with much fat, and covers all the parts of the Belly: it is divided into four parts.

The Intestinal, is that part of the Omentum as covers, and is stretched out over the Guts.

The Hepatical, is that part which riseth from the Cavities of the Liver, including the small lobes thereof.

The Lienal, is that part as lyes upon the Spleen.

The Mesenterical, is that part which is produced from the Mesenterium. to the external parts.

The Abdomen, or Belly.

Gutts.

The Intestina — or Bowels, or Guts; which are Organical parts and are hollow appointed to carry the Chyle, and to receive the excrements: they are placed in the Abdomen and fills its Cavities without confusion, being disposed in various turnings and divided into the thin and thick Guts. Called Intrales.

The thin Guts, is taken for the inferiour Orifice of the Stomach; and consists of thin and narrow Membrane, which is again divided into three parts or Guts: as,

The Duodenum is the first Gut, which lies towards the Back-bone under the Sweet-breads.

The Iejunum, is the second thin Gut; which begin when the first turns towards the left side, it lies alway in the Ambilical Region, and is in length about a cubit and an half.

The Ilium, is the third thin Gut; but in length passes all the rest of the Guts. It occupieth the Ilium and Hypogastrium, and compasseth about the Iesu- num. In this Gut is the disease which is called the twirling of the Guts: and the Itack passion.

[]

The thick Guts, are the inferior Guts, but the superior and shorter in situation, and more capacious or wider; and hath thicker Membranes: which is also divided into three parts or Guts: as,

The Caecum, is the first of the thick Guts, and begins at the ending of the Gut, Ilium.

The Gut colon, is the second of the thick Guts, and succeeds the Caecum, and begins at the right Kidney and being turned upwards, it lyes under the Liver and Stomach; no Gut is more large and capacious then this.

The Rectum, or the right Gut; is the third of the thick Guts, and goes from the Os Sacrum to the Fundament, it is stronger then the rest, for besides the internal fleshy Membrane, it hath also an external fleshy muscular covering like a sheath.

The Mesenterium, is a double Membrane, between which is fat and many Glandules or Kernels and a four fold kind of Vessels. It is seated in the midst of the Belly and is the bond of the Guts: keeping them in their places that they pass not into confusion.

The Pancreas, or Sweet bread; vulgarly Sweet-breads. It is a Body neither fleshy or Glandulous, but in a middle between both, yet very spungy to receive the excrements of the Spleen and Liver: it lyes under the Stomach, and stretcheth from the Spleen to the Liver.

Stomach.

The Stomachus, or the Stomach; is made of a proper Membrane, the internal side is rugged, and hairy like a peece of Silk; the external is fleshy. also.

The Somachus, is the ingress, or the upper Orifice of the Stomach; being the seat of hunger and thirst.

The Pylorus, is the second Orifice of the Stomach, and is seated the lower of the two, it is for the egress and going out of the Chyle, when the meat is cockted in the Stomach.

The Valvus Pylori, or the Valve of the Orifice Pylorus; is the shutter of the hole or orifice, to hinder the Chyle that it shall not return to the Stomach.

The Basis Stomachi, is the bottom of the Stomach: which is more fleshy then any other part, because there the Meat is boiled for digestion.

Liver.

The Jacur or the Liver; it is the instrument of making blood, and is of a substance, like congealed blood, and therefore red: It is seated in the right Hypochondrium, under the short Ribs.

The ——— or the cleft of the Liver, where the umbilical Vein creeps into the Liver.

The Gibbous part of the Liver, is the superior or upper Region thereof: or the bunching part of the Liver.

The

The ——— of the hollow part of the Liver, is the lower or interior Region of it: out of the higher part springs Vena Cava; and the lower Region, Vena Porta loveth it Suckers.

Gall.

The Folliculus, or Fellis, or Cystis Biliaria; the Gall bladder it is a bladder which is ordained to contain the excrementious collar which flows from the Liver, it is of a Membranous substance, of two Coats; it is fixed to the Liver under the great lob, or lap thereof.

The Canalis Cysticus; is the Pipe, or Neck of the Gall bladder.

The Canalis Hepaticus; is the Pipe, or Neck of the Liver, to which the Gall pipe obliquely meets:

The Intestinum Jejunum; that is the hungry Gut, or Gut Jejunum by which the coler passeth away out of the Gall bladder. Called also Meatum Hypatium, or Liver Channel.

The Meatum Cysticum, or bladder passage, or channel: by which the thinner coler is carried into the Liver, which is a porous Membrane, full of holes.

Spleen.

The Spleen, or Lien, or the Spleen, or Milt: It is a spongy soft substance sprinkled all over with very many vessels like fibres, or threads: covered with a Membrane proper to it self. It is seated right against the Liver, as its Lieutenant, or a kind of bastard Liver, that when the Liver is diseased, it may assist the same in Sanguification, or Blood making.

The Color Lienis, or the colour of the Milt, or Spleen; is a black and blew, with an obscure reddish.

The Caput Splenis, or the head of the Spleen, is the upper part of it.

The Cauda Splenis, or the tail of the Spleen; is that part as hangs down the nether end: for it is of an oblong shape, like the sole of a Mans foot; being hollow towards the Stomach, and bunched out the Back part towards the Ribs.

The Clas hveve, or the short way Veins, are those two or three Veins, by which the Spleen is knit to the Stomach.

The Splenical Veins, and Arteries; are those which run from the Spleen to the Guts and Kidneys, through which it purges it self.

Kidneys.

The Ren, or Renes, or Kidneys; they are a fleshy substance, of a dark red colour, solid and proper to themselves: covered with a very thin Membrane, or skinny coat, and in shape like a Kidney Bean.

The Membrana Adiposa, is the fat loose Coat, or Membrane which wraps and infolds the Kidneys.

[]

The Glandula Renalis, is a fleshy substance in shape like the Kidneys, which hangs upon the Kidneys in Children, but by degrees is separated from them by a portion of the fat which covers the Kidneys.

The Pelvis, or bason, is a vacuity or hollow place in the Kidney, being cut on the hollow side, which contains in it a wheyish humor.

The Carunculae Papillares, are the nine little fleshy tears, through which the wheyish humor drops into the cavity of the Kidney.

The Caliculi renum, or Kidney Sieve; are the nine Pipes through which the said wheyish excrements drops.

The Vessels of the Kidneys, are the Emulgent Veins, and Arteries, proceeding from the Trunk of the Vena Cava, and Aorta.

Bladder.

The Ureters, or Channels of the bladder; are the conduit Pipes, which convey the Urine to the Bladder.

The Piss Bladder, is the receptacle of the Urine, and is a Membranous substance consisting of two Coats; it lyeth hid (hanging like a bottle with its bottom upwards) in the Peritoneum, which is a duplication of its Coats:

The Musculus Detrusor Vessicae, is the external or thick outward Membrane of the Bladder, which by some Authors is held to be Muscular. Some call it the Epulsozom, or expulsive Musc. of the Bladder.

The Musculus Sphincter, is that as shuts the Office of the Bladder.

The Muscle Externus Spleniatus, is a Muscle as broad as two Fingers, placed about the Neck of the Bladder, which the Urenells or Glandules rest upon, by which the Bladder is shut and opened.

The Prostatae, are the Glandules aforesaid.

Yard

The Pannaculus Carnosus, is the fleshy part of the Yard under the skin, which closely girds in the Ligaments, Nerves, Veins, and Arteries.

The Pudenda, are portions of the Veins and Arteries which are spread out into the external parts of the Yard.

The Erectors, are two Muscles, which arise from the tuberos part of the Huckle-bone, and are side long fastened to the Ligaments of the Yard, by which it is erected and made to stand.

The Ejaculators, are two Muscles springing out of the transverse Ligaments placed between the Huckle-bones; and serve to press the drops of water, or seed which happen to rest between the Office, and the Bladder.

The Urethra, is the Piss pipe, or Channel by which Urine issues forth.

C c c

The

The Perinasum, the Seam parting the skin of the Testicles.

The Preputium, the prepuce, the fore skin that covers the Head or Nut of a Mans Yard; which the He- brewe is cut off in Circumcision.

Cods.

The Codros, is the fleshy Membrane, under the Cuticular or outmost skin which covers the Stones: and is a continuation of the Membrana Carnosa of the Belly.

The Cavities of the Cods, is the division of the said Membrane into two Cells, or Cavities, which receive the two Stones.

The Vessels of the Cods, are Veins and Arteries, which rise from the Privy parts, and Nerves from the Os Sacrum.

Stones.

The Erythroides, or Erythroides; is the first of the three proper Menr rains of which the Stones are compounded and made: and hath its original from an expansion, or whitening of the Muscle Cremaster, which holds and draws up the Stone.

The Production of the Peritoneum, which is the second Membrane that in folds the Testicle. Called Elythroides.

The Perba, or Perbous Membrane; is the third which immediately covers the substance of the Testicle.

The Testes, Testicles, or Stones; which is a Glandulous or Kernellish body, white and pretty firm.

The Epididymis, is a small body like a Silk-worm, which is placed upon the Testicle (the Membranes being taken away) overthwart it.

The Uas Spermaticum deferens; is the Spermatick, or seed vessel which enters into the substance of the Testicle at one end of it.

The Uas Ejaculatorum, or Ejaculatory Vessel; which is at the other end of the Testicle, which is in the beginning full of turnings and windings, as is the body of the Epididymis.

The Seminal Vesica, or seed Bladder, is that which contains the seed, made pure and fit for conception. The Spermatick Bladder.

The Prostatae, or Auxiliary Testicles; are Glandules which contain in them a Seminal, or seed like matter.

The Spermatick Veins, and Arteries.

The Parastatae, are two Kernels full of seed which in a Man doth grow at the end or neck of the Bladder and serves to receive the seed brought thither by Uasa Deferentia.

Matrix.

The Uasa Spermatica deferentia; the Spermatick or seed vessels, which proceed from the Stones to the bottom of the Womb. []

The Testicles of a Woman have but one Coat, their substance is soft made up of little Bladders, which contains a wheyish matter.

The Uterus, or Trumpit of the Womb; it is a fistulous and hollowish substance in the Womb, which is jagged and torn in the lower part: it contains in it a certain hard, and round texture, with white seed within it.

The Uter, or Albua; the Womb is the place of conception, it is seated in the lower part of the Belly; the body or substance of it is fleshy and spongy, and as thick as a Mans finger.

The Cavities of the Womb, are the Cells or partitions in the middle of it, which is the cause that some Women bring forth two or three or more Children at a birth.

The Placenta, or the Womb Liver; it is a mass or lump of flesh which is fixed to the side of the Womb, which doth often interpose it self between the Navel strings of the Child, and the vessels of the Mothers Womb.

The Amnion, is one of the Membranes that compasses the Child in the Womb.

The Chorion, is an other Membrane that compasses the Child.

Arse.

The Intestinum Rectum, or streight Gut; the outmost end comes to, and makes up the Anus, or Arse-hole; which is shut and purled together by a round Muscle, termed Sphincter.

The Colos, the Tuell or Fundament; is that by which the Excrements are expelled, and thrust out of the Poder, which are more hard and solid then ordinary.

The Levatores, are four Muscles by which the Tuell is relieved and raised up, when it pouches forwards, or is ready to fall out, in the expelling of excrements.

Arms

The Membrana Adiposa, is the fatty Membrane in the Arm as far as the Rist; and in the Leg, from the Groin to the Ankle.

The Glandules of the Arm pits, are the Kernels under the Arm holes. They are termed the Axillary Kernels, and the close Stools of the Chest or Heart.

The Medula, Marrow of the bones; is the Pith, Marrow, or congealed Oily liquor, which is contained in the hollownels and porosity of the bones, which is three fold, as being red in the large bones, white in the smaller; and in the spongy bones, there is a Marrow liquor.

The Churoides, are the Oval holes in the Hockle bone.

Thighs

The Groyns, is the inward bendings of the Thigh, in which are the Crurall Veins, and Arteries, and Nerves; which descend into the Thighs.

The Groyns Glandules, are the Kernells both above and under the bend of the Thighs.

The Fascialata; the broad Muscle of the Thigh which compasseth it about like a swadling band: the broad swath Membrane.

The Cestigium, is the lump of flesh, which fills up the Cavity, or empty place or space of the first joynts of the toes. It is also termed Massa Carnea.

All the Senses do derive their original from the Head, the seat of all. So I shall in the next place give the Reader some Terms of Art used by the naturalists in the handling of the said Senses; which say the most, are in number five: the first and chiefest place (as being the most excellent Sense) is assigned to that of touching, or feeling. Aristotle calleth it, the Sense; as if he should have said, the Sense of Senses: being the most excellent, and eminent Sense of all.

Terms of Art that the Learned use about the Sense of Touching, and Feeling.

Touching

A Tactation, or a touching; is that whereby we discern the difference of objects, and the figure of things: as by

A Tactation, or Digitation; which is a bare or simple touching of a thing, whereby we perceive the object touched to be either hot, cold, or luke-warm.

A Palpation, or Palmatation, or Cractation; is the handling, or gentle stroaking of a thing, by which the object is discovered to be either rough or smooth, hairy or naked.

A Manipulation, is a gripping touch by which we know a thing to be either wet or dry; lollid or porous or puny.

A Depression, or Compression; by pressing, thrusting together, we know the thing to be hard or soft.

An Elevation, or Eollation; is the lifting up of a thing, which shews it to be light or heavy.

Feeling

A Sensibility or Sense of Feeling; is that feeling which is in our selves, and this is communicated to us in divers manners: as,

A Citillation, or a Tickling; which is when we are touched with a soft fine and gentle touch.

A Puriginous, or tickling Itch, is when we feel a pricking tickle, being a smart between both.

A Punction, or Punctious feeling; when we are pierced (as it were) with sharp pricks, or sharp pain.

A Uerminous feeling; is when one is gnawed and pulled in the Belly with Worms.

A Uerberation, or Uerberous feeling; a smarting pain, as when we are beaten with rods, whips, or scourges.

A Flamation, or Flamattious feeling; as the pain of burning and scalding: or through hot raging distempers.

A Dolorous feeling; is any kind of paine or grief of the Body.

A Corcurous, or Cormenting feeling; is when pains bring horror, and amazement: and that there is a continued grief without ease. This is that which the School Men term Poenā Sensus, an Intollerable painful feeling which with patience cannot be undergon.

The Sense of Tasting.

A Gustation is the Sence of tasting, which proceeds from the Instrument of the Tongue, and Pallate; now there are several sorts of taste: as,

The Sapious, or Sapitious, or Savoury taste; is when the Sense is pleased and delighted therewith: as in eating ripe fruit.

The Dulceous, Lustious, or sweet taste; as in Honey.

The Amarous, or bitter taste; as in Galls and Wormwood, &c.

The Acerous, or Asterous taste; is a sharp sower tart taste as in Vinegar, and Verges.

The Flamous, Keen, smart fiery, and biting taste; as in Pepper and Ginger.

The Harsh, or Crabbed taste; in Crabs, and Wild fruit.

The Sense of Smelling.

An Odorous, or Order, and Odoration: the Sense of smelling which is distinguished by,

The Odonifarous, Fragrant, sweet, pleasant scent, a smell that pleaseth and refresheth the Sense.

The Aromatick, or sweet smell; is a pleasant smell.

The foetrous, or Puteous smell; when it hath a stench and tainteth the Air.

The Aciduous, or Acid smell; a sower smell, which is troublesome and disturbeth the Sense.

The Luscious, or Fainty smell; is that which is sweet, yet it hath a faintness in it, that hurts the Sense.

The Ranciduous, or Houlby scent; which is a smell from things corrupted.

The Sense of Hearing.

An Audiens, or hearing of sounds; hath the Instrument of the Ears, and Head to receive the same: which are several, as A Sound, is any noise.

An Eccho, is a sound beaten Back, or the rocoyling of a sound.

A Song, or a Tuned Noise; a Musical, or pleasant sound.

A Crash, a noise proceeding from a breach of a house or wall.

A Crack, or Thunder clap; is a sound from the squeezing or pressing of airy things together.

A Voice, is the noise or sound of speaking.

A Cinkling sound, is the sound of Mirtles.

A Rumbling noise, is the sound that proceeds from a violent motion, or blast; as of Wind or Thunder.

The Sense of Seeing.

The Uisus, or sight; proceeds from the Instrument of the Eye, which seeth according to the several distances, as the object is placed: for,

The Lippeous, or Sand blind, or Pore blind; sees not the object except it be near the Eyes.

The Blinkard, or he that looks Asquint; sees when the thing is at a small distance.

The Luscifous, or Luscitrous; a dimm sight, such as sees the object faintly, and in a mist: that sees a little by Day light, worse at Twi-light, and nothing at all in the Night.

The Rolling Eyed, or the Goggle Eyes; Eyes that are always in motion: which see neither near, or far off.

The Nocturnal sight, that sees the object in the Night.

The Sense of Generation, or Procreation.

I am not the first which have termed it a Sense, but it is set down to my Hands by that title, who from its delight in the act, give it that name. Its pleasure exceeds the delights of all the other Senses, and is contrary to them: hear what my Author saith concerning it, Crook lib. 8. fol. 648. Nature hath endued the parts of Generation with a most exquisite Sense of tickling pleasure, for the conservation of the species, or kinds of Creatures; so that the Creatures being ravished with an incredible kind of pleasures, do more readily apply themselves to venereal embracements: which otherwise is a thing filthy and abominable, and would not be done; were not the Sense of pleasure, in the case which is variable, according to its several Acts: as,

The Delectation of the Senses, the fountain of pleasure: it is the Sense of delight, that Creatures have in the conception of their species or kinds, whose instruments are the weapons of Procreation.

The Aspection, or beholding and affosiation, or accompanying of the Creatures, each with its desired Mate.

The Osculation, or kissing; and the Amplexation, or embracings of the Creatures.

The Surgation, or rising of the instrument of Procreation.

The Erection, or Prostitution; the laying out of the Body, the humble of the Creature.

The Jungation, or Copulation; the joyning and coupling of the parts.

The Stupification, the dulling and besotting of all the other Senses in this act.

The Ejection, or Ejaculation; is the parting with of the Spermatick humour, or Semenical liquor which consummateth the action.

The Titillation, or tickling pleasure, in Procreation.

The Sense of Ease and Rest.

If this of Procreation, from its Pleasure, Delight, and Sweetness in the Act be counted a Sense; then I may add one more, to make the number seven; it shall not (as many of our skilful Anatomists, name several Arteries and Sinews, Innominata) be a thing that goes without a name, but it shall be termed

The Quiesceous sense, or requies sentum, the resting sense; it is the pleasure of rest, and sweetness of ease after labour and trouble: Now this sense of ease hath many branches in it, which makes it sweet, pleasant, and delightful; as Ambulation, or Walking, it is contrary to the violent and laborious act of running, in which there is no little pleasure and delight; for when Men have toiled themselves in the ways of Sin, if after with David they walk in the ways of Gods Commands, they will find much delight and sweetness therein, and rest to their Souls, Psal. 1. 1.

Station, or Standing, hath an ease, and rest in it; that is, to stand to the Faith, and confess the Cross, when others are weary and turtheped with walking in Iniquity.

Sedation, or sitting, is a sign of Rest and Pleasure for every Man that walks with God, hath that Blessing, to sit under his own Vine and Fig tree, and to eat and drink, and none to rise up against him, or make him afraid.

Cubation, or lying down, it is to take our rest, and ease our toiled and weary Limbs; the Bed to ly on, is termed by Solomon and the Prophet Isaiah, the place of rest, and pleasure, and delight, to them as ly thereon.

Dormition or sleeping, it is a comfortable ease, rest and repose after toil; the Sleep of a Labouring Man is (saith Solomon) sweet to him; and Blessed are those that are asleep in the Lord, for they rest from their Labours.

Now as Physicians say, he that is born Deaf shall never speak; so those that do not enjoy this sense of ease and rest, have none of their other senses; so consequently without sense, senseless Creatures, stupified, insatuated, reproached.

The various Voices of a Man.

A Suspuration, or sighing, that is, when he is sad.

A Moaning, when he is Sick.

Moans and Wailes, when outrageously grieved.

Roars, when he is tortured.

Whispers, Mumbles, Whispers, when he speak

Softly.

Clamours, Balls, Cries out, when he speaketh loud.

Canteth, Tuneth, Singeth, when he is merry and glad.

Speaketh, Confabulates, when he discourses, or tells his mind.

Lips, that speaks between his teeth, and makes half words.

Stammer, Stut, when the Voice, or Words come not freely, that hath an impediment in his Speech.

Dumb, is not to speak at all, but to make a muttering and a blathering noise.

Hoarseness, that hath lost the sound of his Voice through cold, that speaks low, nor easily to be heard.

Speaks hoarse, acting hoarse, that is heard a great way off.

Taures, when set in Curls on the forehead.

Perkins, when set about the lower parts.

2 hands holding the like, Sleeves O. turnings up A. is the Crest of Hudleston, of Millam Castle, in Cumberland.

Colours of Hair.

White, or Light coloured Hair, as in most young Children.

White, Hoary, when it is Snow white through Age.

Grey, is to have a mixture of white and black hairs.

Carrot colour, is between a red and yellow.

For colour, red hair, sandy colour.

Flaxen hair, whitish, with a tincture of red or yellow.

Brown, or hair colour.

Bright Brown, or light brown.

Black brown, or dark brown, a Mouse colour.

Black.

Coal Black, or Raven black.

Pellow colour, and a high or deep yellow, and a low or more faint, or whelmish yellow.

III. He beareth Gules, a Mans Face, proper, crested and Bearded, Or. Some term it a Mans Face, proper, and say no more.

Now here note, that if the Face be full, and that both eyes are seen, then it is termed a Man, or Woman, or Childs face, and when it stands sideways, so that half the face and but one eye is seen, then it is termed a Head of a Man, or the like, and not a Face, as num. 6. 7. &c. Some term these full faces, (having neither shoulder nor neck to be seen) a Mans face Decollated, or Crunked, or cut off: Others a Mans face couped, (not mentioning any place, as in the Neck or Shoulders) signifying thereby, that it was couped so close to the head, that no part was to be seen, as the small heads and faces set in the corners of this quarter, and the 7. doth also shew.

G. 3 such proper, is born by Gillmere. And them A. by Lingard.

In the Sinister Chief is set another sort of a full Face with a sharp pointed Beard, and is termed in Blazon, a Mans face with a Pick-a-devant, (or sharp pointed) Beard. And such a face A. in a field S. is born by Parth of Asprey.

B. 3 such proper, is born by Kettle. These may be called middle Aged Mens Faces except they be grey; then Old Mens faces.

In the dexter Base is the figure of another kind of face, and is termed a Mans face, with a Basket hilt, (or rough) Beard. And such a face proper, crested and barbed S. in a field A. is born by Jacks. And B. 3 such proper, is born by Tue.

G. a Fesse O. between three such A. is born by Highfield.

IV.

I. He beareth Azure, a Peruque, or Perawicke, Or. Born by the name of Coke. This is a counterfeit Hair which Men wear instead of their own, a thing much used in our days by the generality of Men, contrary to our forefathers, who for Estates loved their Wives, and wore their own Hair; but in these days there is no such things.

A Cheveron between 3 such S. born by Charley.

A Cheveron G. between 3 such S. is born by Williams, a Wells family.

II. He beareth Argent, a Peruque, Sable, with the Crown or top cut off, Gules. Some term it the Border of a Peruque, or a Border of Hair, see chap. 18. num. 118. Women usually wear such Borders, which they call Curls or Locks when they hang over their ears.

*

IV. He beareth Or, an Old Mans face, with a broad Beard, proper; crined, Sable. There are several forms and fashions of Beards, as

The Broad, or Cathedral Beard, because Bishops and grave Men of the Church, antiently did wear such Beards, numb. 4.

The Pick-a-devant Beard, when it ends in a point under the chin, and on the higher lip, chin and cheeks, as numb. 11. 12.

The Forked Beard, is a broad Beard ending in two points, as numb. 10.

The British Beard, hath long Moches on the higher lip hanging down either side the chin, all the rest of the face being bare.

The Horse eaten Beard, when the Beard groweth scatteringly, not together, but here a tuft and there a tuft.

S an Old Mans face A is born by Barit zu Kopehau- sen.

G. the like proper, crowned O. is the Arms of the City of Königsberg, in Preussen.

V. He beareth Sable, a Childs face couped at the Shoulders, Argent, crined or haired, or his Petruque, Or, embrapped about the Neck with a Snake or Ad- der, Vert, Stinged, Gules. Three such is born by the name of Moread's Warryn, being a person of great Account in Northwales.

S a Cheveron A. between three such, born by Vaughan.

G. a Childs face so couped A. is born by Van Loff- tuit.

O. 3 such S. and one for the Crest is born by Van Seydenitz.

B. 3 such S. their Temples wreathed, with the end pendant, A. is born by Van Metenwill.

VI. He beareth Azure, a Youths head couped at the Shoulders, proper, crined Argent, by the name of Wauris. Why this is termed a head, and not a Face, see numb. 3.

B. 3 such A. crined proper, born by Littlefield.

VII. He beareth Vert, a Mans head, (or a Pen- tures, or English Mans head), couped at the shoul- ders, proper, crined and bearded, Sable. In these fore- said figures you see the difference in the faces of

A Child, which is smooth and little hair, numb. 5.

A Youth, hair on the head, but none on the face, numb. 6. 26.

A Young Man, hair on the head, and little on the higher lip, a Mulchatoc.

A Man, having a Beard, numb. 7.

A Middle Aged Man, with a rough or round Beard, numb. 10. 3.

An Old Man, with a long broad Beard, and hoary or grey.

A Very Old Man, or Detripped Age, or Bald, without any hair, and a wrinkled face, as numb. 50.

G. a Cheveron Er. between three such heads A. is born by Edmevent Vichan, a Noble Man in Wales.

*

The several Terms given to the out- ward part of the Head and Face.

Head.

Caput, the head, which is the back and hairy scalp all behind the face, which hath several parts, as

The Supercilium, or forepart of the head, the top of the head.

The Vertex or Vertical part, the crown of the head, where the hair turns.

The Occiput, or hinder part of the head.

The Tempora, temples, or times of the head, are the lateral parts or sides of the head, so called because they first discover the Age of Man by their hollowness, hoariness and baltness.

The Hair termed Crinis, the piles or threads of hair on the head only.

In the dexter chief is set the form of an Old Mans Head, with a forked Beard, and is so termed in Bla- zonty; and such a head couped proper, in a Field B is born by Prentice or Pentice.

B. 3 such A. is born by Widdows.

Such an Head couped at the Shoulders proper, wreath- ed about the temples A. and S. is the Crest of Staple- ton.

Face.

The Facies, Face, or smooth part of the head, without hair.

The Epidermis, or Scarf skin, is the outward skin of the Face, or any other part of the body.

The Frons, Frontall, or forehead, the brow.

The Palpebra, or eye brows, or hairy places over the eye-lids.

The Glabella, the space between the Eye brows.

The Eye-lids, or covers of the eyes, which are Mem- brane skins.

The Carus are the extremities of the eye-lids, which is a Cartilaginous or gristle edging, in which the hair is set one by one.

The Cilia, the hairs of the eye-lids, the Brees, Pal- pabrae.

The Locus luminis, the eye hole or socket, or light of the eye.

The Sinus, or circles of the eyes, are the joining together of the upper and neather eye-lids, called the angles or corners of the eyes.

The Mala, or Check Ball. And Bucca the puff of the cheek.

The Mentum, or Chin.

The Barba, the Beard; all the hair on the higher and lower lips, chin and cheeks.

The

The Collum or Neck, which is the Stay or Pillar of the Head.

The Truncus, the trunk or Pillar of the Neck.

The Inguis, the hollow or hole of the Neck; the Nape of the neck.

Eyes.

The Canthus minor, or externus, is the outer angle or corner of the eyes next the temples.

The Canthus major, are corners of the eyes next the Nose, or canthus internus, the inward corners of the eyes, termed also the Fountain Angle, because Tears proceed from thence. And the Great corners of the eye.

The Puncta Lachrymalia, the holes in the corner of the eyes, out of which the Tears proceed.

The Con, the whole compass of the Eye; the Ball of the Eye.

The Rhea, is the little piece of red flesh in the great corner of the eye.

The Albugo, or white of the Eye; see Muscles of the Eye.

The Iris, and Irides, is the circle or circles that compass the Pupil, or black, or sight of the eye, called the Rainbow, or great Circle of the Eye.

The Pupila, or Pupile, the black or sight of the eye.

The Mication of the Eye, is the winking and twinkling of the Eye-lids.

The Orbita, or socket of the eye, is the hole of the skull for the eye.

Nose.

The Nasus, Naris, or outward part of the Nose, as much as is visible, and to be seen, of which there are several sorts, as

The Simus, or Silus Nose, that have a Camosse Nose, whose Nose end turns upwards.

The Sublimus Nose, that turns somewhat upwards.

The Gypheus, or Gypheale Nose, that hath a Hawk Nose, or the end turning downward.

The Roman or bunched Nose, is that which hath a rise, ridge, or swelling up in the middle of the Nose.

The ----- wry or scue Nose, having a Nose standing awry either to the right or left Check.

The Nasutus, or great Nose.

The Nasus externus, the ridge of the Nose.

The Nares or Nostrils, the holes of the Nose, by which both the excrements and superfluities of the head do fall away; and is the Instrument of Smelling.

The Basis of the Nose, is that part which begins between the Angles or corners of the Eyes, and ends at the beginning of the lips.

The Dorsum, or the Bark, the spine, or ridge of the Nose, which is the upper part of the Nose towards the eyes, which is immovable.

*

The globe, or tip, or foot of the Nose, is the end of it.

The ----- or skin of the Nose.

The Columna, or Pillar of the Nose, which is the partition, or the rising, or prominent fleshy particle, near the top of the lip.

The Abrissi, or Capitis vibratio, are the hairs that grow in the foresaid fungous, or thick cartilage, or gristly Pillar.

The Muscles of the Nose, are the two outsides of the Nostrils, which are for dilatation and contraction, to open and shut, that smells may be received, or kept out.

Mouth:

The Os, or mouth, is the slit in the skin in the lower part of the face, made of two lips.

The Labrum, or lip, is the extremity of the slit of the Mouth, that above termed the upper, the other the under lip.

The Mustar, or hair of the upper lip; the Mustachoes, or Multichadoes. Mystar.

The Chin, termed Mentum, which is the utmost bound of the Face.

The Barbula, or Pick-a-dibant, or the little tuft of hair just under the middle of the lower Lip.

The Barba, or the Barbe, or Beard, is all the hair of the higher and lower lips, with Cheeks and Chin.

The Bucca, or Cheeks, the fleshy part of the face, each side the Nose and Mouth.

The Dentes Lactei, the Milk Teeth, such as when Children have cast them, others grow again in their place.

The Cutters, are the sharp teeth in the forepart of the mouth, which are 8 in the whole.

The Dog teeth are next them, on each side two, called also the Shearers.

The Grinders, are the five furthestmost teeth in the mouth, which have two roots or tangs.

The Cheek Teeth, are the inner teeth on both sides the upper Jaw.

The Eye Tooth, is the furthest tooth on the higher side, on each side one, which generally hath three roots.

The Alveoli, or the holes of the Jaws in which the teeth are set.

The Basis of the tooth, is the external part of the Tooth, which is seen out of the Gums.

The root or internal part of the tooth, which is covered in the Gums.

The Gomphosis, the skin or ligaments, by which the teeth are articulated, or made fast to the Gums.

The Fauces, or Gingiva, the Gum or Jaw bone, in which the teeth are set.

Ear.

The Lap of the Ear, is the lower part of it; called the tip of the Ear; the handle of the Ear, in Latin

Pinna or Ansa Auriculæ ; the loo of the Ear.

The Pelix or circumference of the Ear, which turneth

The Caling of the Ear, is the circumference of the

The Tragus, or little gristle on the out side of the hole, which in ancient Men is haired. Called Hyrus, or hoors beard.

The Spinna, the Fin, or Gistle, or Wing of the Ear: is the whole out side of the Ear, the compass of the Ear, as being the guid to convey the sound to the Ear.

The Capreotis, is the turn of the Wing of the Ear.

The Scapha, is the inner compass of the Ear.

The Concha, is the great Cavity of the Ear, which is

The Aureolum, is the Cavity which is next the hole of the Ear.

The Anchor, is the interieur protuberation, or swelling of the Ear near the hole.

The Anti-tragus, is the place equal in a line with the Tragus, being a little gristly rising over against it.

The External hole of the Ear.

The Hemipane of the Cympane.

The Cuticle, or Skarfe skin ; is the skin which covers the whole Ear, which is somewhat thicker in the Globous or Back-side; then in the Concavous or fore-side of the Ear.

The Oval hole, or the Window of the Labyrinth.

The Auris Externa, the outward Ear, as much as is seen.

So much for the several terms, of the visible parts of the Head and Face. We proceed now to other bearing in Heraldry of this Nature, viz. Heads of Men, and Women.

VIII. He beareth Sable, the Head of St. John Baptist Decollated, proper; laid in a Dish or Platter, Argent: Others term it more briefly, the Head of St. John Baptist in a Platter, proper. This in the hands of an Archangel issuing out of a Cloud is the Crest of the Society or company of Tallow-Chandlers.

The like erected proper, in a Dish A. set in the Honor point between four quartered Coats, is born as part of the Town Arms of Breslaw in Germany.

S. 3 such in Platters, is born for the Coat and Crest of Platter.

IX. He beareth Argent, a Negroes head coupéd at the shoulders, having a Jewel or Pendant hanging in his Ear, Or. Some term it a Moors head, a Black-Moors head, or an Indians head coupéd, proper. Which term proper may well be omitted, knowing that those kind of People are all black, as we are white. Three Negroes heads is born by the name of Troutbecke.

A. a Cheveron between three Moors heads coupéd, is born by Jus. Some term these Black Boyes heads.

O. on a fesse between three Black-Mores heads erased: as many Cressants A. by the name of Black-More.

A. such an Head S. is born by Schedell.

[]

O. such an Head coupéd in the Neck S. with a fillet about his temples, and tied in a Botw-knot behind A. is the Coat and Crest of Spysser, and Meancop. And three such is born by Micho of Croscow.

O. the like fans Arms, coupéd in the middle; with the ends of the Fillet flying each side the Head. Is the Coat and Crest of Wildrich.

The Black-Moors head is the Crest of the Lord Coaway.

X. He beareth Gules, a Sarazens head, coupéd at the shoulders, crined proper: environed about the temples with a Wreath or Torce, Argent, and Sable.

If the head be thus half faced, then there appears the Knot, or tying up of the Wreath behind: but if it be a full Face, then it is not seen; more over it is rarely set on the side of the head, being contrary to the use, and manner of wearing with the Sarazens.

G. such a head, born by the name of Sordosh.

G. a Sarazens Head crazed A. wreathed about the temples A. and S. born by Sarazen.

B. the like proper, wreathed A. and G. is born by Saville.

XI. He beareth Azure, a Sarazens face, crazed in the Neck proper: environed about the Temples with a Wreath or Torce, Or. and Gules. Some will say the head or temples adorned with a Wreath Gr. which is no way blameable. This is born by Wrath.

G. such a Head, with a Torce A. and S. is born by the name of Marchudd, a great Person in Wales: and one of the fifteen Tribes, or Houses of chief account.

XII. He beareth Vert, a Sarazens face coupéd at the shoulders: environed about the temples with a Wreath, or Torce, Argent and Sable; his Frontal adorned with a Plume, of fall of three feathers, of the second; shafts Or. This is the Crest of Sir Peter Warberton of Arley in Cheshire Baronet.

XIII. He beareth Argent, a Cesars head coupéd at the shoulders proper, cloathed Gules, lined and adorned, or imbrauthered, Or. This is also blazoned a Romans head, or a Roman Emperours head: for it was a custom amongst them, thus to adorn their heads with Laurel Garlands in their triumphs, and victory over their enemies, and called a Cesars head because the said Roman Emperours, from Julius Cesar their first Emperour, were termed Cesars.

The Romans are ever drawn with yellow Carrusers or Tunica imbrauthered with Silver; the Labels of their sleeves, and Short basis, of Watchet; the under sleeves, and long stockings, white; with a Laurel Wreath with a Silver Jewel before: and rays of Gold, issuing from the Wreath.

Such an Head I find to be the Crest of Ba dinton.

XIV. He beareth Argent, a Mans head coupéd at the shoulders, and crined, proper: his head adorned with a Couronet, Or.

Some blazon this a Kings head, and say no more: and it is generally to be noted, that if the head (or

D d d

if

The Collum or Neck, which is the Stay or Pillar of the Head.

The Truncus, the trunk or Pillar of the Neck.

The Ingulus, the hollow or hole of the Neck; the Nape of the neck.

Eyes.

The Canthus minor, or externus, is the outer angle or corner of the eyes next the temples.

The Canthus major, are corners of the eyes next the Nose, or canthus internus, the inward corners of the eyes, termed also the Fountain Angle, because Tears proceed from thence. And the Great corners of the eye.

The Puncta Lachrymalia, the holes in the corner of the eyes, out of which the Tears proceed.

The Con, the whole compass of the Eye; the Ball of the Eye.

The Rhea, is the little piece of red flesh in the great corner of the eye.

The Albugo, or white of the Eye; see Muscles of the Eye.

The Iris, and Irides, is the circle or circles that compass the Pupil, or black, or sight of the eye, called the Rainbow, or great Circle of the Eye.

The Pupila, or Pupile, the black or sight of the eye.

The Mutation of the Eye, is the winking and twinkling of the Eye-lids.

The Oribita, or socket of the eye, is the hole of the skull for the eye.

Nose.

The Nasus, Naris, or outward part of the Nose, as much as is visible, and to be seen, of which there are several sorts, as

The Sinus, or Silus Nose, that have a Camosse Nose, whose Nose end turns upwards.

The Sublimus Nose, that turns somewhat upwards.

The Gypheus, or Gypheale Nose, that hath a Hawk Nose, or the end turning downward.

The Roman or bunched Nose, is that which hath a rise, ridge, or swelling up in the middle of the Nose.

The ----- wry or scue Nose, having a Nose standing awry either to the right or left Check.

The Nasutus, or great Nose.

The Nasus externus, the ridge of the Nose.

The Nares or Nostrils, the holes of the Nose, by which both the excrements and superfluities of the head do fall away; and is the Instrument of Smelling.

The Basis of the Nose, is that part which begins between the Angles or corners of the Eyes, and ends at the beginning of the lips.

The Dorsum, or the Bark, the spine, or ridge of the Nose, which is the upper part of the Nose towards the eyes, which is immovable.

*

The globe, or tip, or foot of the Nose, is the end of it.

The ----- or skin of the Nose.

The Columna, or Pillar of the Nose, which is the partition, or the rising, or prominent fleshy particle, near the top of the lip.

The Abrissi, or Capitis vibratio, are the hairs that grow in the foresaid fungous, or thick cartilage, or gristly Pillar.

The Muscles of the Nose, are the two outsidies of the Nostrils, which are for dilatation and contraction, to open and shut, that smells may be received, or kept out.

Mouth:

The Os, or mouth, is the slit in the skin in the lower part of the face, made of two lips.

The Labrum, or lip, is the extremity of the slit of the Mouth, that above termed the upper, the other the under lip.

The Mustar, or hair of the upper lip; the Mustachoes, or Mustchadoes. Mustar.

The Chin, termed Mentum, which is the utmost bound of the Face.

The Barbula, or Pick-a-dibant, or the little tuft of hair just under the middle of the lower Lip.

The Barba, or the Barbe, or Beard, is all the hair of the higher and lower lips, with Cheeks and Chin.

The Bucca, or Cheeks, the fleshy part of the face, each side the Nose and Mouth.

The Dentes Lactei, the Milk Teeth, such as when Children have cast them, others grow again in their place.

The Cutters, are the sharp teeth in the forepart of the mouth, which are 8 in the whole.

The Dog teeth are next them, on each side two, called also the Shearers.

The Grinders, are the five furthestmost teeth in the mouth, which have two roots or tangs.

The Cheek Teeth, are the inner teeth on both sides the upper Jaw.

The Eye Tooth, is the furthest tooth on the higher side, on each side one, which generally hath three roots.

The Alveoli, or the holes of the Jaws in which the teeth are set.

The Basis of the tooth, is the external part of the Tooth, which is seen out of the Gums.

The root or internal part of the tooth, which is covered in the Gums.

The Gomphosis, the skin or ligaments, by which the teeth are Articulated, or made fast to the Gums.

The Fauces, or Gingiva, the Gum or jaw bone, in which the teeth are set.

Ear.

The Lap of the Ear, is the lower part of it; called the tip of the Ear; the handle of the Ear, in Latin

Pinna, or Ansa Auriculæ; the loo of the Ear.

The Pelvis or circumference of the Ear, which turneth

The Wing of the Ear, is the circumference of the

The Tragus, or little gristle on the out side of the hole, which in ancient Men is haired. Called Pyrcus, or Boars beard.

The Spinna, the Fin, or Gistle, or Wing of the Ear: is the whole out side of the Ear, the compass of the Ear, as being the guid to convey the sound to the Ear.

The Capitellus, is the turn of the Wing of the Ear.

The Scapha, is the inner compass of the Ear.

The Concha, is the great Cavity of the Ear, which is

The Avicularium, is the Cavity which is next the hole of the Ear.

The Anticheliv, is the interfour protuberation, or swelling of the Ear near the hole.

The Anti-tragus, is the place equal in a line with the Tragus, being a little gristly rising over against it.

The External hole of the Ear.

The Hemibrane of the Cympane.

The Cuticle, or Skarfe skin; is the skin which covers the whole Ear, which is somewhat thicker in the Globois or Back-side; then in the Concavous or fore-side of the Ear.

The Oval hole, or the Window of the Labyrinth.

The Auris Externa, the outward Ear, as much as is seen.

So much for the several terms, of the visible parts of the Head and Face. We proceed now to other bearing in Heraldry of this Nature, viz. Heads of Men, and Women.

VIII. He beareth Sable, the Head of St. John Baptist Decollated, proper; laid in a Dish or Platter, Argent: Others term it more briefly, the Head of St. John Baptist in a Platter, proper. This in the hands of an Archangel issuing out of a Cloud is the Crest of the Society or company of Tallow-Chandlers.

The like erected proper, in a Dish A. set in the Honor point between four quartered Coats, is born as part of the Town Arms of Breslaw in Germany.

S. 3. such in Platters, is born for the Coat and Crest of Platur.

IX. He beareth Argent, a Negroes head couped at the shoulders, having a Jewel or Pendant hanging in his Ear. Or. Some term it a Moors head, a Black-Moors head, or an Indians head couped, proper. Which term proper may well be omitted, knowing that those kind of People are all black, as we are white. Three Negroes heads is born by the name of Troutbecke.

A. a Chevron between three Moors heads couped, is born by Jues. Some term these Black Boyes heads.

O. on a fesse between three Black-Mores heads erad: as many Cressants A. by the name of Black-More.

A. such an Head S. is born by Schedell.

[]

O. such an Head couped in the Neck S. with a fillet about his temples, and tied in a Botw-knot behind A. is the Coat and Crest of Spysser, and Meancop. And three such is born by Micho of Croscow.

O. the like fans Arms, couped in the middle; with the ends of the Fillet flying each side the Head. Is the Coat and Crest of Wildrich.

The Black-Moors head is the Crest of the Lord Coaway.

X. He beareth Gules, a Sarazens head, couped at the shoulders, crined proper: environed about the temples with a Wreath or Torce, Argent, and Sable.

¶ If the head be thus half faced, then there appears the Knot, or tying up of the Wreath behind: but, if it be a full Face, then it is not seen; more over it is rarely set on the side of the head, being contrary to the use, and manner of wearing with the Sarazens.

G. such a head, born by the name of Sordosh.

G. a Sarazens Head erad: A. wreathed about the temples A. and S. born by Sarazen.

B. the like proper, wreathed A. and G. is born by Saville.

XI. He beareth Azure, a Sarazens face, erad: in the Neck proper: environed about the Temples with a Wreath or Torce, Or. and Gules. Some will say the head or temples adorned with a Wreath &c. which is no way blameable. This is born by Wrath.

G. such a Head, with a Torce A. and S. is born by the name of Marchudd, a great Person in Wales: and one of the fifteen Tribes, or Houses of chief account.

XII. He beareth Vert, a Sarazens face couped at the shoulders: environed about the temples with a Wreath, or Torce, Argent and Sable; his frontal adorned with a Plume, or fall of three feathers, of the second; shafts Or. This is the Crest of Sir Peter Warberton of Arley in Cheshire Baronet.

XIII. He beareth Argent, a Cesars head couped at the shoulders proper, clothed Gules, lined and adorned, or imbrauthered, Or. This is also blazoned a Romans head, or a Roman Emperours head: for it was a custom amongst them, thus to adorn their heads with Laurel Garlands in their triumphs, and victory over their enemies, and called a Cesars head because the said Roman Emperours, from Julius Cesar their first Emperour, were termed Cesars.

The Romans are ever drawn with yellow Carruffers or Tunica imbrauthered with Silver; the Labels of their sleeves, and Short basis, of Watchet; the under sleeves, and long stockings, white; with a Laurel Wreath with a Silver Jewel before: and rays of Gold, issuing from the Wreath.

Such an Head I find to be the Crest of Ba dinton.

XIV. He beareth Argent, a Mans head couped at the shoulders, and crined, proper: his head adorned with a Coronet, Or.

¶ Some blazon this a Kings head, and say no more: and it is generally to be noted, that if the head (or

D d d

if

If it be the whole Man be crowned with an Imperial crown, it is termed a King or Kings head; although the Garments, Habit, or other coverings, (as Armour, Steeple, Crown &c the like) be contrary to the Robes of Majesty; yet in such cases they are termed Kings, though to avoid confusion, these habits are to be named in the blazoning, as for example.

If the Head have an Imperial crown, it is termed a Kings head.

If the Head have a Ducal crown, the it is termed a Dukes head, and so according to the degrees of Crowns mentioned in lib. 3. chap. 1. numb. 1. to 11.

If it have a Treble crown, then it is blazoned a Popes head, and such an Head is the Coat of Baskin Van Bollenheim in Holland.

If it have a four cornered Cap; a Judges, or Docrors head; and such an Head is the Crest of Van Hop- gar. If with a Cardinals hat, a Cardinals head; and with a Biter, a Bishops head; and so of the rest. The last of which, viz. a Bishops head is born for the Crest of Van Munderfack, in the Palatinate of Rhine.

If with a Fools cap, a Fools head.

If with a Turbote, a Turks head; as the following example will further manifest.

Quarterly A. and G. 1 and 4 a Kings head issuant, the 2 and 3 a Dukes head issuant, respectant, proper. Is born by Königsfeldt.

An old Mans Face blinde, coupé at the shoulders proper, crowned O. is the Crest of Ufford Earl of Suffolk in time of E. the 3. Some blazon this a blind Kings head.

XV. He beareth Argent, Bacchus face, coupé at the shoulders, crined: environed about the temple with a Garland of Vine leaves, and Bunches of Grapes proper; Clothed Gules. This is more briefly termed Bacchus head, and so in some blazoning I have seen it, &c of other blazoned Bacchus the god of wine; who as the Poets say was the adulterous Son of Hammon, which is called Jupiter Ammon who for fear of his Wife Rhea, sent him to Nysa in Arabia where he set Vines, & made Wine: from whence he was called, the Son of Wine. This Coat is born by the name of Dytrell.

A. 3 Bacchus Faces coupé at the shoulder, clothes G. is the Coat, and one the Crest of Brom ill.

XVI. He beareth Or, a Wood-mans face, coupé at the shoulders, adorned with an Oak Garland about his temples, all proper. A Wood-man is ever drawn with an Oak Garland, fructed on his head, and another about his middle, if he be either a Demy, or whole Man, 3 such as this, is born by the name of Woodman.

A Demy one fans Arms clothed S. is the Crest of Ougspere.

XVII. He beareth Sable, a Wittals face, coupé at the shoulders, proper: Horns Or. This may very well be a contented Cuckold seeing his horns are made of Gold. Argent on a bend Sable, 3 Wittalls Faces Argent. Is born by the name of Whitall, Vitall or Witwell in Yorkshire.

EJ

There are three sorts of Cuckolds: the Rame Cuckold, the Coat Cuckold, and the Als Cuckold. The first sees his horns and is contented with them. The second thinks he hath none, because he sees them not. And the last is jealous that his Ears are horns, when they are not.

A Mans Face proper, Horned A. coupé below the shoulders clothed per Pale A. and V. band A. is the Crest of Uzzineen.

A Childs Face having the Forehead, Ears and horns of a Bull proper; coupé below the shoulders, clothed G. is the Crest of Roggen.

XVIII. He beareth Argent, a Satyrs head, coupé at the shoulders, proper. This is also termed Midas head coupé; who is fained by the Poets to be the Son of Gordius the Cow-herd, and King of Phrygia, who entertained Bacchus in his house, obtained of him that favour, that whatsoever he touched should be turned into Gold; inasmuch that by his touch the house, tables, beds, yea his meat and drink were converted into Gold; but being ready to starve desired Bacchus to take his gift again: who counselled him to wash his Body in the River Pactolus, which he did, and returned again to his former condition; and ever since that River hath had Golden sands. Afterwards being desired to be Umpeer between Apollo and Pan (or as other say Marsias) contending for superiority in Musick, Midas passed his verdict against Apollo, at which Apollo being incensed gave him Als ears, like Pan or the Satyre; which he hid so cunningly that none knew of them but his Barbar, who would not conceal it, but proclaimed it in a Ditch which he covered with earth, but the Canes or Reeds which grew out thereof, divulged Midas his Als ears to all the Country.

These are also born full faced; I have seen also a Childs face after this form; which only one long ear on the right side. Born by the name of Grian-thall in Holland.

O. a Childs face coupé at the shoulders S. with an Als ear on the right side A. is the Coat and Crest of Van Brechendorf of Barvaria.

A Satyrs head A. clothed, is the Crest of Waldeck. Out of a Crownet, the like head A. clothed S. is the Crest of Greifen of Greifenstein.

G. a Childs head to the finister proper, with Als ears A. clothes ending in three parts S. is the Coat and Crest of Van Horden. Some term the clothes triparted abelane-ways.

A Satyrs head (sans beard) Sable, on a Torse of his colours Or. and Sable, was the Crest of Caprain de la Bouch, made a Knight of the Order of the Garter; 5. E. 3.

The like Satyrs head proper: the Garments Gules, is the Crest of Van Hesenburgh in Francia.

Argent a Satyrs head (of some called, a young Satyre because it hath no beard) coupé at the shoulders proper: Garment Azure, collared Or. Is the Coat of Van Lanorinskie a Silician: and the the like out of a Crown between two Elephant Snouts A. is the Crest of the Earl of Traumansdorf in Germany.

XIX

XIX. He beareth Azure, Moses face coupé at proper, the Garment purple. In some ancient Bibles, and many pictures of our modern times, Moses is described with horns (or Rays of Glory like the Sun beams) the ground of which absurdity was a mistake of the Hebrew text on Moses descending from the Mount, upon the nearness of the words Keren coran a horn; and Keren Lucis, to shine. The vulgar translation of Exodus 34. 29. 30. 35. agrees with the former viz. Ignorabat cornuta esset facies ejus; He was ignorant (or wist not) that his Face was horned: but Junius and Tremelius have it thus, ut ignoraret Moyses splendorem esse factam talem faciei sue. Now Moses knew not that the skin of his Face shone right. And generally Moses was depicted by the ancients with bright hair, a very beautiful visage, with Radiant Scintillations, or Sparklings up like fire in form of two Rays or horns: which in painting is called Glory.

After the like manner both our ancient Father, and our modern Artists, do delineate the Heads of all Saints, and Holy Men: some with the Glorie of the Sun, others with bright shining and Splendant circles: but of these I shall have more occasion to speak in the Chapter of Saints: lib 3. chap 4. to which I refer you.

He beareth B. the like Face proper. Born by the name of Fitz-Moses.

XX. He beareth Argent, a Jews head coupé at the shoulders, the Cover of the Head Or, Garment Gules. Born by the name of Jewen. The Jews cover for the head, I have seen termed a Cop, and Scarfed; or a Cop Scarfed: and so both Upton and Legh have it pag. 61.

A Jews head coupé below the shoulders Cop and Scarfe O. Garment G. is the Crest of Zengen of Brunswick.

B. a Jews head, Beard pointed, Cop Wreathen, Scarfe or Towell pendant A. cloaths coupé at the shoulders O. is quartered by Hotz Schuber of Brunswick.

G. 3 Jews Heads coupé A. born by Thickers.

G. an old Head in the Jews fashion coupé at the shoulders O. is born by Otten.

XXI. He beareth Gules, a Turks head, coupé at the shoulders proper, Cloathed Azure. The Turks head is always known by his Turbot, or Turkish Cap, which is nothing else but a length of fine white Linen, rowled up in form of a round Cap like a ball, those of the better sort have them adorned with Feathers, and Jewells of Gold, and precious stones.

So you may term the heads of other Men according to their Countreys and Kingdoms, and according to the several forms and fashions of things wherewith they usually cover, or wear upon their heads: as you may see further in lib. 3. chap 5. in the habits of Men of most places. Such an head out of a Crown between two Wings per Fesse counter-coloured O. and B. is the Crest of Van Sunthusen.

B. 3 Turks faces, Wreathing of the Turbots O. and G. by Van Belo.

XXII. He beareth Argent, an Old Mans face, proper; Caped Azure, turned up Or: coupé at the shoulders with his Garment pally of six, Gules and Sable, on each two Plates. This is the Crest of Briggs Lord of Chandos: Knight of the Garter in the Reign of Queen Mary. Mens heads are thus covered with variety of things: as Caps, Cowles, Cankes, Nozious, Infulas, Hats and Hoods, &c.

A. an old Mans face coupé below the shoulders, proper: Cloaths and Cap per pale B. and G. turned up O. is the Coat and Crest of Croft of Flagstaff.

S. a Mans head with Picked-devant beard proper Cloaths and Infula Cap O. turnings G. is the Coat and Crest of Dischinger.

O. the like head to the sinister, Cloathed and Caped S. turning up V. by the name of Van Murthzburg.

O. the like with the turning up of the Cap Imbatelled is the Coat and Crest of Lochinger.

XXIII. He beareth Sable, a Mans head without any hair proper, with two Bats (or Dragons) Wings each side his Head erpended, Or. Some term it a bald head coupé at the shoulders, with the Ears coverted into Bats Wings erpaned: which is the most comendious blazon.

G. 3 such A. Wings O. is born by Baddeleghe.

B. the like O. is born by Bawterley.

The like head proper, Wings G. is the Crest of Van Chorleton.

XXIV. He beareth Sable, a Sarazens head coupé at the shoulders, proper: adorned about the temples with a Wreath Argent and Gules, the ends turned over his head cloathed of the third, Garnished (or faced or lined) Or. This is the Crest of Whittington of Whittington, in Cheshire.

XXV. He beareth Vert, a Womans face proper, with a Slop on her head, and Garment coupé at the shoulders, Argent. This is of some termed a Muns head, vailed and vested: but the attire being round at the bottom makes me judge it to be rather some kind of Slop or Maunch for the head, because they used anciently such a kind of Pouch at the sleeve. Some term this a French Hood pendant, or hanging backwards, or fallen back: because the usual way of wearing them, is on the head; see numb. 34. Three such heads, as here is blazoned is the Coat of Checkley.

XXVI. He beareth Argent, a Boys face proper, crined Or: coupé below the shoulders, Cloathed Gules; Garnished, Or.

When the coupling is below the shoulders, then some parts of the Arms, and Breast appears; but if the coupling be at the shoulders then only the very top of the shoulders appears, and no more: therefore care must be taken in the term, at, or below the shoulders. This is born by the name of Boyman, alias Bowman.

B. 3 such is born by the name of Wrinchill.

XXVII. He beareth Argent, Janus his head coupé at the shoulders, proper: crowned Or. This Janus is said to be the first King of Italy, who for his Wisdom and knowledge of things past, and to come: was pictured with two Faces, one looking forward and the other backward: The first old, signifying ancient days past, the other young: shew the time to come. This Coat is born by a German Family called, Luxenweise.

XXVIII. He beareth Or, an Indian head coupéd below the shoulders, the Head and Body adorned with various coloured Feathers. Some term it an Indian head only, taking no notice of the Feathers, because it is their usual way, and custom to adorn, and cover themselves with diverse coloured Feathers. This is the Crest of Captain Smith an Indian Merchant.

XXIX. He beareth Azure, a Maidens face, coupéd at the shoulders, Argent: Her hair attired (or platted up) and locks Curled, Or.

This is more often termed by our modern Heraldists a Maidens head, then a Maidens face: and all the reason as I can give for their so doing, is because Maids heads are generally born full Faced, and not half Faced, or three quarter Faced, and whole Faced as men usually are; as the example of Mens heads and faces doth demonstrate. If so, then let the Reader please to term them which he will either heads, or faces.

This is by some termed a Damself, or Damselfs head: that is a Wench or Girdle or Countrey Lassies head; because the hair is tyed up. The Maids hair being ever born loose, as in the next example. 3 Such is the Coat of Rigmadin.

XXX. He beareth Sable, a Maid head coupéd at the shoulders, proper; crined, Or. Born by the name of Rigmadin.

G. 3 such heads A. is born by Faut-le-Roy.

Some term this, a Maidens head, hair dischevelled, others, the hair pendant, and others take no notice of the hair at all, because the Maids heads are always thus drawn with the hair loose and hanging down, if it be otherwise, then to express it.

S. a Chevron O. between 3 such A. crined, and on a chief O. 3 Roses by the name of Ellis.

XXXI. He beareth Sable, a Maid head, proper; Crined and Crowned Or: Clothed Azure, issuing out of a Cloud.

Such a head, in a Field Gules, bordured vary, is the Coat of the company Mercers of the Famous and Loyal City of Cheshir.

The like head, with Beams of Gold issuing out of a Chaplet or Garland of Roses about her Forehead in a Field Gules, bordured Nebule Argent, is the Arms of the Company of Mercers of the honourable City of London: which is by Mr. Morgan thus blazoned, lib 3. fol. 10. Gules, our Ladies head proper, with her hair discheveled and crowned with a Crown Or, with a Chaplet of red and white Roses about the Forehead; and in a Robe of crimson, Adorned with Gold, all within a border of Nebule, Argent. A great company ought to have a large train, and he hath fitted them with a long blazoning accordingly; else a more compendious blazon makes it more honorable.

G. the like, Crowned, Robe, B. between 3 Mullets of six points A. born by the name of Gollenhofer.

XXXII. He beareth Sable, a Womans head coupéd, Attired with a three cornered hood, Argent. This kind of hood, or head cover, was used by Women in the time of King Edward the third; as may be seen by many Monuments made in those days, see lib. 3. chap. 1. numb. 81.

3 Such heads in a Field S. is the Arms of Ladyvale, now commonly termed, Ladvale.

3 Like Heads and Hoods, with a pointed Cail (or Net-work) Head-tire A. in a Field S. is the Coat of Langton. See chap. 19. numb. 122.

XXXIII. He beareth Vert, a Womans head coupéd below the shoulders proper, the hair dischevelled (or crined pendant) Or: Hat Sable, and Cloathes Gules, collared of the second. This is the Crest (upon a Wreath of his colours) of Sir Van Waffer, of the order of the Virgin Mary.

XXXIV. He beareth Or, a French Womans head in a Buff, all proper. This was formerly the attire for Womens heads, which were called French hoods: they hung down behind the head, and then were turned up to the top of the Head even to the Forehead, and there ended in a round point, or Peak: and were generally black. A chevron Gules between 3 such heads belongs to the name of Frenchome.

The like Head and Hood, the Garment coupéd below shoulders G. is the Crest of Osterreich.

XXXV. He beareth Gules, a Boys face crowned, a little under the shoulders, Converted into folding Leaves, Or. Born by Trailer.

Such kind of Antique foldings is much used, by Carvers, and Stone-cutters, which is termed severally: as, Fruitage, when such folding leaves have pendant from them, several sorts of fruit, as it were all in a cluster.

Flowerage, when Flowers and Leaves hang from them, as it were a Posy of several Flowers.

Foldage, when these kind of Leaves have several foldings and turnings, one from another: as in mantles. Some call them Festune heads.

S. the like Head, and foldage O. is born by Van Sala.

G. the like head with two Afs ears proper, Garment ending in such foldage S. is born by Van Horden.

XXXVI. He beareth Sable, Medusas head coupéd at the shoulders, proper. It is by the Poets fained, that this Medusa was a beautiful daughter of Phorcus; who comparing her fine Golden hair to Minerva's, and also for committing adultery with Neptune god of the Sea, in Minervas Temple, had her her hair turned into Snakes, and her body into an ugly monstrous Creatures: at length she was slain by Perseus being Armed with Minervas Shield, Mercurys Helmet and Wings, and Vulcans Sword. Her head being cut off and carried into Africa hath filled that part of the World full of Serpents ever since.

XXXVII.

XXXVII. He beareth Argent, a Main sinister (or a left hand) Gules. This is the token, or badge of a Knight Baronet; being placed in the Honor point of the bearers Coat: or in the chief, in an Escuchion of pretence, or on a Canton dexter. This is the Arms of Waller in Ireland.

B. a Right and Left hand couped in the middle of the Arm Or born for the Coat and Crest of Lauffen. Some blazon it (because there is a part of the Arms to them) two hands erected.

A. chevron B. between 3 such G. is born by May.

XXXVIII. He beareth Argent a Right hand; Sable, of some only termed a Hand, if it be the right; if otherwise then to be named. It is also blazoned, a Main dexter, from the Latin word Manus a hand, or from the French word Main, a hand. This is the Coat of Francis Manley Esq; one of the Justices for the Principality of North-Wales. And since the writing hereof Knighted by his Sacred Majesty King Charles the Second: in the Year 1679. And born also by Manley of Lich.

Per Fesse G. and A. a Right hand couped, with the Back outwards proper, is born by Van Donish. This is termed a Right hand dosed, or aversant, or turned backward.

S. a Bend between two Right hands A born by Brassy.

B. a Chevron between 3 such A. born by Hardware of Pele and Mondsworth.

A. a Right hand and Bordure engrailed S. by Mandley or Manley of Manley and Poit'n.

G. a Right hand aversant (or dosed) couped in the middle of the Arm, in bend sinister A. Sleeve S. born by Kundiger.

A. Fesse S. between 4 such G. born by Quatermaine.

XXXIX. He beareth Gules, a Dexter hand Barbed, Argent.

Here you need not to mention coupling at the Wrist, for the Hand ever hath some small part of the Wrist to it, a Sinister hand barwise hath the Fingers pointing to the sinister side of the Escuchion; but if it point to the dexter side, the thumb is then downwards. This Coat is born by the name of Bavemaine.

B. 3 such hand in pale is born by Trailman.

The Hand thus born on a chief, or fesse; is by Guill termed, a Hand extended, or born transverse the Chief; or Fesse. Or on a chief Gules, a dexter hand extended, Argent. By the name of Mainstone.

XL. He beareth Azure, a Dexter hand pendant, Or. This is born by the name of Pendelow.

Note this, that the hand open is ever born in Arms with the Palm in sight; if otherwise, then to be mentioned, as in numb. 38. when the Back is outward, which is rare.

[]

B. 3 such A. born by Clarke.
G. a Fesse between two erected, and one pendant A. by Urgate.

XLI. He beareth Sable, a Sinister Arm issuing out of the Dexter chief bendways, Or: between two Ears the higher foreshortned, Argent. Mr. Clarke blazons it a sinister Arm and Hand, issuing out of the dexter point, extending towards the sinister in form of a bend, all which totologies he might have stood to have the hand fixed to it; except it be dismembered, of its hand, which must be to the

A. such a Arm proper is born by the name of bill.

G. the like between two Roses A. born by Dodd.
V. 3 Mans ears A. born by Coolpilot.

The Actions of the Hand.

The Hand with its Actions and Gestures, of all the Members of the Body, is best to be understood; for,

By the motion of the Right hand we crave silence: Acts 12. 18. and 13. 16.

By clapping the hands, we express a Joy and Gladness, and that we are well pleased at the thing done: 2. Kin. 11. 12.

By laying the hand on the Breast, in making of a Speech, or Protestation: we shew a Truth and Earnestness to be in us.

By striking our hand upon the Thigh, we are moved with admiration: Jer. 31. 19. Eze. 21. 12.

By extending the hand, we speak intentionally to such a person: Deut. 32. 40.

By striking of the Breast with the Fist, is a token of Sorrow and Repentance: Luke 18. 13.

By exalting and shaking of the right hand aloft, is usual with Military Persons, when they will notify any prosperous success: Rev. 10. 5.

By the beck of the hand we Call a person to us: Acts 24. 8.

By pointing out of the Finger, we give directions: Isa. 58. 9.

By stretching out of the hand gripped, is a token of Revenge, and of Wrath and Fury: Ezek. 16. 27.

By the apposition of the Finger to the Mouth, is a note of silence craved: Prov. 30. 32.

By lifting up of the hand, we Bless, or Curse; according to the Merit, or Cause of Action: Acts 4. 30. Num. 5. 21.

By kissing of the hand, we own Obedience and Service: Ecclesiasticus 29. 4. Of this Read more in Selden's Titles of Honor, pag. 40.

By putting the hand under the Thigh, was an ancient custom of taking an Oath of the Servant, to perform matter of Importance for the Masters; as we may see in the case of Abraham and his Servant: Gen. 24. 2, 3.

By laying the right hand on the Book, we oblige our selves by a Solemn oath, to declare the Truth of a matter, wherein a controversy lieth: Heb. 6. 16.

By

By laying the hand on the Head, is a token of a Blessing and the Gift of the Holy Ghost: Mark 10. 16. Act. 8. 17. 2. Tim. 1. 6.

The Hand as it is comely, so it is of most singular use, and the Instrument of all Arts, for by their help there is no invention of Mans wit left unattempted, and brought to perfection; and therefore it is of all other Members, the nimblest, and most universal. Yet it is no longer a part of Man, then it can perform its functions; as Aristotle Writers.

Terms of Art used by Anatomists, for the Parts of the Arms and Hands.

Shoulder.

The Scapula, or of some called the Omo-plata: is the shoulders, or shoulder blade. Termed also Omerus, and Homoplata.

The Brachium, or Arm is from the shoulder to the fingers, which is divided into three parts, the Scapula, the Cubitus, and the Manus: that is the shoulder, cubit and hand. Now, though generally Brachium signifies the whole Arm, yet in this division it is meant only for that part of the Arm, as is from the shoulder to the elbow.

The Arilla, the Arm-pit, or Arm-hole; also Ala.

The Glandebala — is the hair growing in the Arm-hole.

The Arillary Kernells, are the Kernells, or Knots, which are under the Arm-pits.

The — is the middle of the Arm, the place in which issues are usually made.

The Sibber, is the bending, or bowt of the Arm.

The — brawny part of the Arm, the higher part next the shoulder.

Elbow.

The Cubitus, is that part of the Arm from Elbow, to the Wrist of the hand,

The Galliargones, is the crookedness of the Arm, when the Cubit-bone is bent.

The Ulna Interior, the inner side of the lower part of the Arm.

The Cubitus Exterior, the out side of the lower part of the Arm.

Hand.

The Manus, or hand, which is divided into three parts; the Brachiale, the Postbrachiale, and the Digitis: that is, the Wrist, the After-wrist, and the Fingers.

The Brachiale, or the Wrist: called also Carpus.

The Postbrachiale, the after-wrist.

The Radix Manus, the root of the hand, the side of the wrist.

The Dexter, or right hand.

The Sinister, or left hand.

The Hand that is termed, Pugnis the Fist.

The Hand half bent, is called Condylus.

The Stethos, the fore part of the wrist, that part under the Thumb joynt.

The Dorsum Manus, the back part of the hand; also Manus averia.

The Chenar, is the space between the thumb and the four-finger.

The Hypothenar, is the brawn at the wrist, under the thumb, and little finger.

The Palma, the Palm or inside of the hand.

The Cala manus, is the hollow of the hand, when it is crooked: the Cup of the hand.

The Interstitium, the middle part or partition of the hand.

The Tubercle of the Thumb, is the swelling part of the root, or bottom of the Thumb: the fleshy part under the thumb.

The Digitus, the finger taken generally for any of the Fingers.

The Pollex, or the Thumb.

The Index, the Fore-finger, or pointing finger, that next the thumb. called, Index Digitus.

The Medius or Faniosus, the middle finger; the long finger of the hand, the fool finger.

The Annularis, the Annulary, or ring finger; the the third finger. Called also Medicus Digitus.

The Auricularis, or minus Digitus, the ear, or little finger; because with it we cleanse our Ears.

The Internodia, the joynts of the fingers & thumbs, or knots.

The Angues, Nails of the fingers.

The Uvula, or the Grapes; are the round ends of the fingers.

The Nodi, is the outward parts of knubby, or knotty joynts of the fingers; we call them Knuckles.

The Phallex, is the order and ranks of the fingers.

The Radix, or Ortus; is the root of the Nails.

The Extremitas, the Extremity, or the top of the Nails; which is cut off.

The Mendacia, or the lies of the Nails; that is the white spots.

The Percussio, the Ridge, or side of the hand under the little finger; the Percussion of the hand, or striking or beating place of the hand.

XLII. He beareth Argent, a Hand gripped, erazed, Gules. This is also or some Authors termed a Fist erazed; signifying thereby, that it is gathered together: which kind of gripping, the hand is generally termed with us a Fist. Mr. Guillims terms this a Fist clenched. This is born by the name of Fistock.

B. an Hand gripped A. born by Fausten.

G. 3 Hands gripped A. born by Coolmaine.

B. a Fesse O. between 3 such A. born by Dodcote.

S. a Right hand pointing with the fore finger, the rest gripped proper, couped at the Elbow, fleece A. is born by Glencersheim.

XLIII.

XLIII. He beareth Sable, a Hand proper, holding of an Escroule (or Roll of Paper) Argent: Sleeved Gules, turning up Or. Some again term it an Hand and Arm coupé (or couped near the Elbow) but to mention either Arm or couping is superfluous; for by the Sleeve, an Arm is understood; and that it is couped is well known, otherwile it must be either issuing, or erased. This is born by the name of Clark.
The like is the Crest of Smeaton.

XLIV. He beareth Vert, a Hand proper, holding of a Pen, (or a Writing Pen) Or, feather Argent. Born by the name of Scriveners.
B. 3 such, is born by Sandwich.

XLV. He beareth Vert, a Hand proper, holding of a Trefoile Or: sleeved Gules, turned up Argent. Some blazon this an Hand and Arm coupé. This is the Coat of Try le Main.

The like hand holding 3 Trefoiles proper, Sleeve O. turning up A. is the Crest of Edgeley of Marley.

After this Example there are extant thousands of Coats especially Crest, of hands after this manner holding all manner of things, as Leaves, Flowers, Fruit, Serpents, parts of other Animals, Working Instruments &c. which were endless to describe.

XLVI. He beareth Gules, a Hand bareways, Argent: holding of a Flower de lis, Or. This is the Coat of Mainleaze of Mainleaze. Now corruptly and for brevity called Menla.

B. 3 such A. Flowers de lis O. born by Wade, also by Loimore.

In the base of this square is a naked Arm bareways bowed a little in the Elbow, which in a Field Gules is born by Arme.

Per fesse G. and A. the like Arm in chief, born by Van Weiting.

B. 3 such in pale A. born by Hodgeson, or Hodgkinson.

XLVII. He beareth Sable, a Tawny Hooves Arm, issuing out of base, the hand holding of a Serpent, or adder, entwrapped about it, Vert. So blazoned by most, but I hold it better explained to say, a Tawny Hooves hand out of base holding a Serpent, the tail entwrapped about the Arm, or a Hand holding of a Serpent entwrapped about the Arm, fixed in base. This is the Crest of Leach of Carden in Cheshire.

Such an Arm A. holding of a Rope, with a running Noose (at the higher end) the other part reflected O. is the Crest of Fadley.

XLVIII. He beareth Sable, three Dexter Arms, conjoined at the shoulders, and flected in triangle, Or. the turnings up Argent, with the Fists (or Hands clenched, or gripped) proper: see numb. 42. Born by the name of Armstrong.

G. the like A. is born by Tremain of Colacomb in Devonshire.

G. 3 Hands in Triangle close A. born by Hanchet.

[]

S. 3 Arms in triangle reflect, (else reflected) proper; holding Mallets O. by the name of Rightmale.

In the base of this square, is three Heart in triangle, in point (or point to point) Gules, which in a field Argent. Is born by Van Lejeborn.

B. a cross between 4 such triangled hearts A. &c. Is born by Holmshel. See numb. 54. It is otherwise blazoned.

XLIX. He beareth Sable, a Naked Arm imbowed issuant from the sinister side proper: out of a Sleeve, Or. The hand holding of a Sword, the point in chief Argent; Hilt and Pommel of the second, by the name of Armstrong. Sir John Fern in his Glory of Generosity blazons it Gules, a Naked Arm issuant, out of a Sleeve of a Robe, Or: holding of a Sword point in chief Argent, and is quartered by the Count de Feria of Spain.

G. a Lyon Rampant O. holding a Sword point in chief, was the banner of Pompeii the Great.

G. out of a Cloud issuant from the dexter side an Arm imbowed sleeve B. holding of a fish with the Tail erect proper with an Annulet in its mouth, O. is born by Proy Van Findelstein.

O. the Arm from the sinister side sleeve B. holding of a Sword with the point reversed. Born by Degenhart.

G. the like sleeve A. holding of a Ladle O. born by Koch.

B. a Naked Arm imbowed, the Sleeve Or, turn up A. holding of the Jaw-bone of an Horse or Ass, O. born for the Coat and Crest of Crato. This may be termed Samlsons Arm holding the Jaw-bone of an Ass, wherewith he slew a Thousand Philistins, Judg. 15. 15.

G. an Arm imbowed issuant from the sinister side, Sleeve A. the Hand holding of a Sone or Diamond Ring. Born by Kotfnatz.

A. the like Arm imbowed, holding of a Coopers Hatchet, the edge to the sinister (or to the Arm) sleeve G. Born by the name of Sigriflin. The same holding a Key O. born by Schleicher.

L. He beareth Or, two Hands conjoined (or hand in hand) proper: Sleeves fixed to the sides of the Escuchion Gules, turnings up, Argent. Born by Couple. Others blazon it two Arms issuant in Fesse, with the hands joyned in hand proper: Sleeves Gules, turnings Argent.

Two such hands issuant, and conjoined on a chief O. in an Azure field. Is the Coat Armour of Truelove.

S. 3 pair of hands joyned Hand in hand A. is born by the name of Purefoy.

In the base of this square I have (for want of Room) placed two head: the first termed a bald Head, or a Mans head bald of hair. 3 Such in a Sable field is born by Balder.

The second is a Mans head with a Picaed De-vant beard (or sharp pointed Beard) proper, with an Infula Cap imbowed G. bottom and tasselled O. turned up A. This is the Crest of Hagenbach, and Hoffsteten.

The

The like with Cap and Garment G. turned up O. is the Crest of Lutoldorfe, and with the Cap and Clothes O. turns up B. by Gagell; with Cap and other Clothes S. turning up A. is the Crest of Van Romerhall.

The like to the sinister; Cap, Tassels, and Clothes, O. turns up A. is the Crest of Van Vohenstean.

LI. He beareth Azure, two hands holding of a Rose, proper: the Sleeves Navy Barry, Or and Sable, turnings up, Argent; issuing out of Clouds fixed to the dexter and sinister parts of the Escutcheon Fessewise, proper. More briefly thus, out of two Clouds, in Fesse two Arms, the hands holding of a Rose. Born by the name of Royal.

The like Coat is thus blazoned by Mr Morgan: He beareth Ermine, on a bend Sable, out of two Petit Clouds radiant, as many Arms and Hands proper; rearing of an Horseshoe Argent. The Arms of Doctor Edmund Burlace of Chester, Brother to Sir John Burlace Barroner.

In the base of this quarter, having no other Room: I have caused the figures of Argus, and a Friers head endorced, to be Graven; of which two persons take this short description.

The Poets say that Io or Isis, was beloved of Jupiter, who that his Wife might not suspect, turned her into the shape of a lowly Cow: which Juno begged of Jupiter, and delivered her to be kept by the hundred-eyed Argus; whose Eyes did half sleep by turns, when the other waked, and watched; Mercury by Jupiter's command, through the Melody of his Pipe, lulled all his Eyes asleep and so killed him, and took away the Cow: but Juno in revenge, sent a Gad-bee to sting her, which made Io run mad up and down the World, till she came to Egypt, where she recovered her own shape. Juno turned Argus afterwards into a Peacock, in whose Tail are Argus Eyes still to be seen. He is a Man whom the ancients did Paint his Body, and Face full of Eyes. Argus Head is the Crest of Sewell alias Sawall.

The Frier, is not properly either a Priest, or Lay-Man, in the Romish Religion: he is ever drawn in loose Garments, with a girdle about his middle, being shaven or shorn bare of his hair, both on his head, and face; only a circle or ring of hair compassing about his head like a Garland: which custom of so wearing their hair was first taken from the Idolatrous Priest of the Heathens, see the whole form of a Frier, lib. 3. chap. 4. numb. 29. 32.

G. a Chevron between 3 Friers head couped A. is born by the name of Frier.

LII. He beareth Gules, an Eye Argent; in base a Mouth open proper. Both these are set forth as parts of Coats Armour, or Badges, and signes for habitations.

Barry Nebully of six Azure, and Argent, on a chief of the second 3 Eyes Gules. Is born by De la Hay.

There is an Inn in London whose cognizens is the Mouth. It is a great wide gaping mouth and teeth; some call it a Gyant, or Sarazens mouth. Sometime and in some places in England, the Sarazens head is drawn with a gaping and wide Mouth; which goeth also under the denomination of the sign of the Mouth, or the Mouth Inn: these are signs of houses of entertainment for strangers, and travellers.

[]

LIII. He beareth Sable, a Woman Dugg (or a Breast with the Pap) distilling drops of Milk, proper. They are also called the Teats of a Woman. Barry of six Or, and Sable, on a pale Gules, such a Dugg is born by the name of Dodge of Stapton, in Chestershire.

LIV. He beareth Argent, a Mans Hart Wounded (of vulnus a wound) or wounded, distilling on the sinister side, drops of Blood, proper. Some call it a Heart wounded only: yet there is another Hart which is a Beall.

A. a heart proper, a chief S. born by the name of Scambler.

A. a Fesse and three such Wounded Heart, G. by the name of Tote.

G. on a chief A. 3 hearts born by the name of Hart.

G. 3 Hearts reversed A. is born by Erlebecken of Barvaria.

B. 5 such reversed 3 2 A. a chief Nebulce A. by Siebling.

G. 3 hearts A. chief O. born by Vachendorf.

A. 3 such G. chief O. born by Zweisseln of the Rhine Palatine.

B. a cross between 12 hearts 3 and 3 in triangle A. in the chief of each quarter a Crown O. born by Holzapf of Alsatia.

LV. He beareth Gules, a Mans Heart between two Wings displayed, Or: Pinions Argent. Some say the Heart Volant; or between two Wings conjoyned, and displayed, or Points elevated. Born by Hartley.

Gules such a Heart between two Wings, Or. Born by the name of Wingham. Yet Guillims fol. 325. makes the Wings (of this Coat) come out from the sides of the heart, as if it were a flying Heart: and no other term can be given it in such a posture, but either a flying Heart, or two Wings conjoyned to the sides of a heart, for a heart between wings cannot properly be understood to joine up it as you may see in the bearing of Crests.

In the base is a Demy Eye, or the half Eye, not so termed because it is cut off in the middle as in other kind of Demy bearing, but termed only a demy Eye because the one half of it is but seen.

Sable a Chevron between two demy Eyes, rampant, Argent: and a Flame of Fire, Or. Born by the name of Watchman.

G. 3 such Eyes A. is born by Eye.

LVI. He beareth Sable, a Mans Heart enflamed, proper; pierced with two Darts Salterwise, Or. Heads and Feathers (or pheoned and feathered) Argent: distilling drops of Blood. Born by the name of Hollove.

B. a Heart pierced with two Darts Salterwise A. crowned O. by the name of Patience.

A. 3 Mens Parts, reversed, with the Urein therefrom couped, G. & for the Crest, the Heart G. with of Glas issuing out of it V. is born by Van Maxen. Some term them, Harts reversed with a part of the Vein issuing therefrom; see chap. 19. numb. 114.

LVII. He beareth Azure, a Mans Leg couped in the Thigh, (or middle of the Thigh) Argent. All coupling above the Knee, have the Thigh part thus bending, or bowed backwards; as this is couped, so you shall have it often born erazed: as in these Coats. Yet Gullians fol. 257. draws the Legs thus couped, and erazed, upright: without any bending in the Knee, and holds it needless to mention the bearing thereof to be in pale, because it is natural for a Mans Leg to stand upright, but if it be born in any other sort, then to mention it.

O. such a Leg Azure; born by Haddon.
A. the like erazed S. born by the name of Prime.
And here give me leave as in other places (if Heads and Arms) to give the courteous Reader those terms of Art, which Anatomists have ascribed to the several outward parts of this Member of the Body.

Terms of Art used to the Thigh, Leg, and Foot outwardly.

Thigh.

The Isthia or Isthium, the Hipps, or place where the Huckle-bone is.

The Bubo, the Groin, the Grainings, or bending between the Thigh and the Body: the bending to the privy parts.

The Cora, or Corendix; is the whole Thigh without any distinction of parts.

The Femen, the back part of the Thigh: of some taken for the inner part of the Thigh, next the other.

The Femur, the outside, or forepart of the Thigh.

The ——— is the fleshy part of the Thigh.

The ——— is the fore part of the Thigh.

Leg.

The Genus, or the Knee.

The Genu ——— joynt or bent of the Kne.

The Poples, or the Pain; or hollow of the Knee.

The Cibia, or Crus; is the Leg, or shanke.

The Crea, is the skin of the Leg behind, which is the calf skin.

The Antetibia; the shin, or forepart of the Leg.

The Sura, or Calf of the Leg: the fleshy part behind the Leg.

The Leripes, Utry Leged; that goeth with the Toes outward.

The Ualgus, bow Leged; going with stradling Legs.

Foot.

The Calus, Ankle, or bending between the Leg and Foot. Called also Sura, the Pattern or Hough.

[]

The Pes, the Foot withall its parts.

The Carlus, or the Instep; the joynt or bending of the Foot at the bottom of the Leg.

The Malleolus externus; is the outward Ankle, or outside Ankle.

The Malleolus internus, the Ankle on the inner side the Leg.

The Dorsum Pedis, is the top of the Foot, or back of the Foot. Pectus pedis, the Breast of the Foot.

The Subtalaris, is the place under the Ankle.

The Carlus exterior, the outmost joynt of the Foot; the place where the Toes joyn to it. The After-wrist.

The Digitus Pedis, the Toe, the Finger of the Foot.

The Allus, or Hallux; is the great Toe.

The Pedium, or the Wrist of the Foot: the forepart is called the Instep.

The Calc, or Calcaneus; is the Heel, or hinder part of the Pedium.

The Planta pedis, is the Sole of the Foot: or Ball of the Foot.

The Uola Pedis, the hollow of the Foot; the middle of the Sole.

LVIII. He beareth Gules, a Leg couped below the knee, Argent. Born by the name of Leg. There are Legs of diverse forms, and shapes: as,

The long Legs, or Shaks; Legs of an extraordinary length.

The short Legs, bunting thick and short.

The slender Legs, such as have no Calf: Spindle Legs.

The crooked Legs, that are wide between the Feet and Knees outward.

The bow Legs: that is wide between the Feet and Knees inward, being set together. Shakle hammed.

The Lame Legs, that cannot go stidfast and upright.

S. a Leg A. Born by Shrigley of Cheshire.

A. 3 such S. born by Harelemyn.

O. one in pale B. born by Haddon.

There are some Coats, which have the Foot only couped above the Ankle: as,

S. a Cheveron between three Mens Feet couped, A. Born by the name of Shrigley of Boristall.

G. on a Fesse V. 3 such to the sinister A. born by Barfuse alias Barefoot.

Feet Deformed.

The Splay footed, or broad Feet; or Panslated, whose Toes are outward.

The Crump Footed, whose Feet wants Toes: club Footed, having short Feet and Toes.

The ——— Footed, whose Toes turn inward.

The ——— Feet whose Toes turn backwards.

LIX. He beareth Gules, a Leg couped in the Thigh, erazed in the Ankle, Argent: thrust through the Calf with a Culter, proper. Born by the name of Ball, of Tuslingham, and Boughton, in Cheshire. Some say that the term thrust through the calf, should be through the Leg, because it partly enters in the forepart of the Leg: and the place entered to be the place named. But this entering is through the calf, thereof is truly mentioned. Of old it was born thrust through the Knee, and the Thigh part more upright.
Ecc the

G. the like thrust through with a Turkish Semiter proper. Born by Ball of Erby.

G. the like, thrust through with the shavered blade of a Fauchion A. by the name of Ball of London,

LX. He beareth Azure, three Legs conjoined at the Thighs, and flected in triangle, Argent. Some will have them to be termed, three naked Mens Legs, or three Legs of Man: but that needs, not, for were they either cloathed, booted, or Armed, then they ought to be so termed, and their colour or mettle: others say they ought to be blazoned Mans Legs, which also needs not, for Man being the Sovereign Creature, his part need no mention of whom; but the Members of all other creatures, are to be mentioned of what Genus they are. Others term them three Legs with Feet, Thigh to Thigh in triangle. By the name of Tre feet: derived as I suppose from the ancient name Treesfeet; or three Feet.

G. the like A. born by Owen ap Edmyn: a noble Man in Wales.

LXI. He beareth Vert, a Satyr's Prick, Argent. It is termed also, the Testicles, or Stones of a Dog or Lyon; and Penis Hominis, a Mans Part, and Testicles. But the most proper term, in relation to the name as bears it, is to call it only a Prick. For Azure, a Chevron between three such Argent. Is born by the name of Prick.

LXII. He beareth Argent, a Man couped at the Knees, his left hand on his side, and with his right supporting or holding of a Hollyn Tree couped at the root, and Raguled on the Stock, all proper. Some do term this a demy Man Naked, but he is more than a demy Man, being couped below, or the bottom of the Thighs, when as the demy Man is cut off in the middle at the lower Belly; but to term it naked or not, it is left to the Blazoners discretion, for either is good Blazoning.

The Graver hath mistaken this Figure, in setting it to the Sinister side, whereas it should look to the dexter, as the forefaid Blazon is. This is born by the name of Woodville.

G. 3 demy Men A. or proper. Born by Midman, or Madman.

LXIII. He beareth Argent, a demy Man, proper, holding a Club in both hands, in Bend dexter, or bendwise, Sable; covered all behind (or on his back and head) with Oak leaves, Vert. Some Blazon it a demy Man, holding a Club (or with a Club) in both hands over the right shoulder, with a Wood at his back. By the name of Woodman.

G. 3 such Men with Clubs (sans leaves) A. is born by the name of Wood.

LXIV. He beareth Or, a demy Man, in a Wreath, or amongst Oak leaves, holding a Club over his Breast in Bend, all proper. You may take which of these Blazons you please.

LXV. He beareth Gules, a demy Maid, proper, crined and holding in each hand (with Arms extended, or stretched out) three Ears of Wheat, Or. Some say three Ears of Corn on their Stalks; but here it cannot be Judged they should want Stalks, because otherwise they cannot be held thus.

Such another demy Maid, in a Scarlet Coat, fretty Or, is the Crest of the Worshipful Company of Brewers.

O. on a craggy Hill, out of Base V. a demy Maid proper, in her right hand a pair of Stags horns S. the left on her side, born by Perger zu Clamb.

A demy Maid in Scarlet, in the right hand 3 slips of Caterfoil flowers, Gules and Azure, leaved Vert; and the other hand on her Breast, is the Crest of the Lord Darcy of Chyche.

Per Fesse S. and Chequie A and B. on the first a demy Maid issuant, holding of an Anchor O. is quartered by Gortschacher, of Corinthia.

Out of a Crown a Naked Woman Crowned, Arms extended, holding two Fishes by the tails, B. is the Crest of Senus. Also of Van Freidenberg.

O. a demy Woman to the Sinister, Hair tied under a Fillet, the ends Flotant (or flying out behind her) holding a Staff over her head with the left hand, the right on her side, is the Coat, and the same out of a Crown, is the Crest of Mordeysen.

LXVI. He beareth Azure, a demy Maid, proper, crined, and issuing out of the Sun, Or. Others give it a more large Blazon, thus; a demy Maid holding up the right hand, with the left set on her side proper, with side or long Hair, and proceeding out of the top of the Sun, Or.

LXVII. He beareth Azure, a demy Virgin Mary, with her Babe in Swadling Cloths, proper; under a Canopy (or enthroned,) Or. This is of some termed the Lady Mary, and the Blessed Lady Virgin Mary, and our Lady with her Babe in her right Arm. This on a Chief is a part of the Coat which belongs to Lincoln Colledge in the University of Oxford, and to Brazen Nose Colledge in the same place.

LXVIII. He beareth Sable, on a Biere, Or, a dead Body. (or Corps) in a Shroud or Winding sheet, Argent. This is born by the name of Van Leichman, in Lower Germany.

Sleep, the Emblem of Death.

To Stretch and Patune, or Cape; is a Sign of Sleep.

To Twinkle with the Eyes, and Nod with the Head, is to desire a Nap.

To Slumber, is a weak and short Sleep.

To Snore and Dream, is sound Sleeping.

To Sleep, is a short Death.

To

To Dye, is a long Sleep.

LXIX. He beareth Gules, a Deaths head, Or, adorned with a Laurel Garland, Vert; between two Wings displayed, (or conjoined and displayed,) Argent. Some term it a Triumphant Deaths head, this is the Emblem of Mortality, and is generally fixed on some part of the Tombs or Monuments erected for the Dead. Sometimes the Skull is fixed between two Bats Wings, and in some invironed with Laurel Branches, &c.

In the Sinister Base issuant, is the Head and Shoulders of a dead Woman wound up in her Shroud or winding sheet, with a knot on the top of the head, and the corners floatant or opened. S. 3 such couped at the Shoulders, Argent, is the Coat of Shroud, of Shroud.

LXX. He beareth Sable, a Dead Mans Skull, (or Deaths head,) Or. By the name of Deaman. Of the Bones of Man, and the several terms given to each particular, I shall treat in the end of this Chapter, therefore here shall say no more concerning it.

A. on a Chevron G. 3 Skulls of the first, by the name of Bolter.

S. 3 dead Mens Skulls O. born by Dedman.

B. 3 such with a Chevron between, A. born by Quitman.

LXXI. He beareth Gules, two Shin-Bones in Cross, that in Pale surmounting, Argent. There are diverse ways in Blazoning this Coat, and all superfluous, as a Shin-Bone in Fesse, surmounted of another in Pale, both in form of a Cross; and another says, a Shin-bone in Fesse, debused or surmounted of another in Cross (or in form of a Cross) And a third comes and Blazons it two Shin-bones in Cross, that in Fesse surmounted by the other in Pale; and these forms of Blazon are given herunto; because one lieth nearer to the Field than the other doth; which makes it that they cannot be called a Cross of Bones, because they be not Jucoposited, but are dividedly severed one from the other. This is born by the name of Holman.

S. a like Cross, that in Fesse surmounting; by the name of Baines.

S. two Bones in Salter, the dexter surmounting, by the name of Newton, in Derbyshire.

B. 2 such in Salter, between 4 Mulletts of 6 points O. by Van Parson.

LXXII. He beareth Argent, an Infant, or Child in Swaddling Cloths, proper; Mantle, Gules, swaddled Band, Or. Some say the Mantle Scarlet, fretted, Or. By the name of Innocent.

Such an Infant, with an Eagle standing upon it, with its Wings expanded, Sable, in a Field Argent; is born by Culbeth of Culbeth.

The like Infant, with such an Eagle, Or, is the Crest of the Right Honorable Earl of Derby, Lord of Man, and the Isles.

A. 3 such in Pale, the middlemost counterpoised, is born by Innocent.

S. 3 such, the Swaddling Clothes A. is born by Infant.

In the Base of this quarter is the figure of a demy Woman sans Arms, Blindfolded with a Scarf or Fillet, ends floatant A. in a Field B. and is the Coat of Van Assall. This kind of Bearing both of Men and Women to the middle, both naked and clothed, sans Arms; is much used both for Coats and Crests among the German and Dutch Families, which ought to be termed demy Men or Women though they want Arms, because their coupling or cutting off is below the Navel, or thereabouts. And also because the want of Arms in many Crests of theirs is supplied by Wings, Fish, Stags Horns, Elephant Snouts, Bulls horns, Branches of Flowers, which they could not, if it were not a demy Body; see chap. 16. 3. and 18. 143.

A demy Moor so blinded with a Scarf, the end floatant A. is the Crest of Houghton.

The like Moor so Blindfolded, out of a Coronett and Crowned, is the Crest of Budren.

LXXIII. He beareth Vert, two Naked Boys respecting (or aspecting each other) holding up of an heart, proper. By the name of Childe. These are by Mr. Boswell termed Twins, and two Naked Geminis, and so ought to be termed (saith he) if there be more then one in an Escuchion. A. two Twins with an heart between their hands. This is born by the name of Childerley.

Names according to a Mans Age.

An Embryo, or a shapeless Lump, when first Conceived in the Womb.

An Abortive, if Born before its full time.

A Posthumus, one Born after his Fathers Death.

Agrippa, is one that is Born with his Feet forward.

An Infant, a Child new Born, and so for two years.

Infancy, Anniculus.

A Babe, or Baby, a young Child, and so to 7 years old. Infantulous.

A Boy or Lad at 7 years of Age. Puerility, Inneptula.

A Strepling, or young Boy from 7 to 14 years old. Minority.

A Pouth, from 14 to 21 years of Age. Adolescens, Jubenal.

A Young Man, at his full growth and Stature, to 30 years, Virility.

A Man, at 30 years old to 40. Vir, homo.

A Middle Aged Man, at 40 years.

An Elderly Man at 50 Agerezia one growing Old.

An Old Man, at 60. Senex, Senectus.

A Dying Old Man, in his Old Age, at 70 to 80 years. Decrepit Age, Grandaevis, Longaeuitas.

A Dotard, or Dote-age, or twice a Child, from

Ecc 2

80

So to 100, and so to the end of his Life. Bis Puer.
Senecio.

Names according to the Ages of Women.

- Of the Female from a Babe.
 A Girl, or Wench, or Virgin. Virginitas, Virginitas.
 A Damsel, or Lass. Puella, Adolescentula.
 A Maid, or Young Maid. Virgo,
 A Young Woman. Ancilla.
 A Woman at her full Age and growth. Nubilis,
 vel Nuptialis Etas,
 A Middle Aged Woman.
 An Old Woman, or an Aged Woman. Annus.
 A Decrepit Aged Woman; Gr. Decripita, Etas.

Several sorts of Maids.

- A Virgin, one that is free from Carnality in Thought, Word and Deed.
 A Damsel, one that is from Carnality in Word and Act.
 A Maid, one that is free from the carnal act.
 A Maiden-Child-Widow, one that gave her self up to a Man that could never enjoy her Maidenhead.
 A Man like Maiden, a Strago, one that fears not what Man can do unto her.
 A Chamber Maid, one that hath been in Venus School, yet is known for no other than a Maid.
 A Handmaid, an Harlot, or common Woman, 1 King. 3. 16. 20. but in the best sense it is taken for a Wife discreet Woman, Matron, or Mother of Children, as 1 Sam. 25. 24. Psal. 86. 16. Luke 1. 38.
 Lastly, the chief of Maids, is a Good Wife, who (as the Proverb saith) is a good Maid.

LXXIV. He beareth Vert, a Naked Boy holding up his right hand, and with his left supporting a War Caper, Or, flaming (or fired) proper, having a Scarf or Ribbon cross his right shoulder, Gules, with a Mantle or Cloak hanging at his back, Azure. This is the Supporter of the Right Worshipful Company of Painters.

B. a Naked Boy holding an Apple in his right hand; and his left upon his side proper, is the Coat of Kiesewater, a German.

A. a Black Boy in his right hand a Stone Ring O. born by Winckler.

G. a Mount out of Base V. a demý Boy issuant, holding in his Right Hand a round Mirror or Looking Glas, and the left upon his side, A. is the Coat and Crest of Haugen.

Per Fesse B. and G. on the first a Boy holding an Apple on the right, and his left on his side: On the second an Adder or Serpent torqued O. born by the name of Kiesewater.

Per Fesse B. and Chequie A. and G. a demý Boy issuant, wreathed about the Temples, the ends floatant A. and G. is the Coat, and the like Boy, hands on his sides, out of a Coronet, is the Crest of Van Loben.

The like demý Boy to the Sinister S. Wreath floatant backwards A. and G. is the Crest of Saecke.

S. issuant from a Mount in Base V. a demý Boy to the Sinister, holding up his left, and his right hand on his side, born by Jungen. The Crest is five Peacocks Feathers out of a Coronet, with the like Boy issuant.

A demý Boy with his Arms (open or) extended, parted per Cheveron A. and S. holding two flowers de lis, and one on his Belly counterchanged. This is the Crest of Schlewicker of Brunswick. This answereth his Coat, which is, per Cheveron A. and S. three flowers de lis counterchanged.

LXXV. He beareth Argent, a Negro, (Indian, Blackmoor, or Mozocco) demý faced, proper, environed about the Temples with a Scarf or Ribbon, Argent, holding an Arrow or Dart in his right hand, and an Escorpion before his Belly with his left hand, Azure, charged with an Estoile or Star, Or. By the name of Hunsterjon.

G. on a Hill out of Base, a Mozocco crowned, holding of a Sword upright, and his other hand behind his Back, is the Coat of Kueffleiner.

O. a demý Moor to the Sinister, crowned, poring of an Halbert between his two hands, is born by Rine van Vrendorf.

LXXVII. He beareth Argent, a Wild Man, (or a Hairy Man, or a Wild Wood Man, or a Hairy Wood Man) proper, with Oak leaves about his Temples and middle, with a Dead Tree (or a Creeper Leaves, or a Starved Tree) plucked up by the root, on his Shoulder, Sable. This is of some termed a Wood Man environed about the Temple and middle, with Laurel Garlands; but a Wood man is generally made with a smooth and naked skin; but being hairy must of necessity be thus distinguished, and be termed either a Wild Man, a Hairy Man, or a Wild Wood Man; though others, to make all sure, Blazon it a Wild Hairy Wood Man; the proper colour of these are generally of a tawny or swarthy flesh colour, whether they be smooth skinned, as Wood men, or hairy, as Wild men. This is the Crest of Termite, of Shropshire, now called Terrick.

A demý Wood man, proper, holding a Launce on his right Shoulder, Or, is the Crest of the Worshipful Company of Joyners, within the City of London and Cheshire.

Chozomande, or Chozamnai, are a people that have no Voice; but make a horrible noise; their Bodies are hairy, their eyes like Cats Eyes, and their teeth like Dogs teeth.

O. on a Mount in Base, a Woodman proper, holding an Oak tree mooted up by the root, and with his left hand holding up his left leg by the Ankle. Born by the name of Hopfer. The same is also his Crest.

B. a Wild Man to the Sinister, supporting an Oak Tree Irradicated, all proper. By the name of Van Drach dorf.

Q. a Wild and Hairy Man proper, supporting a ragged Staff S. is the Coat of Dochroden.
 A demy Woodman fans Arms, is the Crest of Ougers of the Province of Switzerland.
 Out of a Coronet a Wildman porting a Staff Bendways in his hands S. between two Elephants Snouts bowed endorsed O. is the Crest of Stangell of Austria.
 Out of a Coronet a demy Wild Man in full Aspect with both hands holding (or pulling) his long forked Beard, proper; on his head an Infula Cap Imbowed G. Tasseled and turned up with an open before (or in the front or frontall) O. is the Crest of Reibing, an Austrian.
 Here note, that both Wood Men, and Wild Men have always Laurels about their Temples; and also about their Middles, if born whole, which need not be expressed, but some are so curious as to do it.

LXXVII. He beareth Vert, Hercules clothed in a Lions skin, proper, holding up both his hands, and in his left a Club, Or. Born by the name of Hercules. Thus the Ancients ever depicted Hercules, clothed (after some) in a Horse Skin, others a Lions skin, Armed with a Club, Bow and Arrows in his Quiver. He was a Man of an Heroick and undaunted Spirit, and did many noble acts, the chief were these, 1. He killed two Snakes that were sent by Juno to Kill him in his Castle. 2. Slew the Lion in the Wood. 3. Killed the Dragon Hydra. 4. He overtook and killed the Golden Horned Stag on the Hill Menalus. 5. And the Wild Boar in Erymanthus. 6. He slew the untameable Bull in Cret. 7. And also the Dragon that kept the Golden Apples in the Gardens of the Hesperides. 8. And the great Giant Anteus. 9. He tamed the Centaur. 10. He delivered Hesione, Laomedons Daughter from the Sea Monster. 11. He fetched the Dog Cerberus from Hell Gates. 12. He Travelled through the Torrid Zone, and Sands of Libia. 14. He cleansed Auegus Stable. And at last he was burnt to Death by an Enchanted Shirt sent him by his Wife, who he had forsaken.

Party per Fesse G. and Losengy A. and G. a demy Hercules issuant, proper, with a Club on his Shoulder, and his left hand on his side O. is the Coat and Crest of Heltz-balben.

A demy Hercules with a long forked Beard and Hair pendant to the Breast, clothed per pale G. and O. holding a Club in both hands before his Breast Bendways O. is the Crest of Woodhouse. The same so clothed holding his Club Bend sinister ways, is born also by Woodhouse.

LXXVIII. He beareth Azure, a Man dismembred, proper. This is otherwise Blazoned, as a Man dismembred of his Arms below the Shoulders, and of his Legs below the Knees. By the name of Membré.

A demy Woman so dismembred per pale O. and B. in Hat tyed under her Chin, of the same. By the name of Van Wedell.

The Body of Man is divided into the Trunk and the Limbs.

The Trunk contains the Head, Breast and Belly.

The Members or Limbs, are the four Branches sticking out from the body, as two Arms and two Legs.

Terms given to the outward parts of the Trunk of the Body.

The Scapula, the Scapular, or Shoulder part, that where the Trunk joins to the Arm, the Shoulder-Blade.

The Arilla, the top of the Shoulder backwards.

The Pectus, or Chest, or middle of the Breast, where the Ribs join.

The Pectus dextrum, or right Breast.

The Papilla, or Nipples of the Breast, the Pap.

The Pectus sinistrum, or left Breast.

The Scrobiculus cordis, or trench of the Heart, that part between the lower Ribs, and the top of the Belly.

The Umbilicus, or Navel, or root of the Belly.

The Umbilicatus, or Region of the Navel. The Calley, or rise of the Belly round the Navel.

The Epigastrium, or upper part of the lower Belly, the Belly above the Navel.

The Praecordia, or place just before, and a little under the Heart.

The Hypochondria, the same place on the right side against the Heart, to which place the outward Liver Remedies are applied.

The Latera, or sides equal to the Navel; called also Lumbi, and Lumbaris region, the Loin or Region of the Body or Kidneys.

The Hypogastrium, the lower part of the Belly; called also the Aqualculus, or the Watercourse.

The Ilim, or the Flanks, the places each side, at the Buckle or Hip Bone.

The Pubes, or the Peeten, is the place above the setting on of the Yard, the Goin.

The Inguen, or Leek, or Grainings, or Bending of the Thighs.

The Penis, the Mans Yard or Prick, his Privy or Secrets.

The Balanis, the Nut or Head, or end of a Mans Yard.

The Præputium, the foreskin that covers the Head or Nut of the Yard.

The Testes, is the Stones or Testicles.

The Scrotum, or outward Skin as covers the Stones.

The Cod or Cale of the Testicles.

The Pubes, is the Hair growing about the Privy parts.

The Fraenum, the Band or Bridle which ties the foreskin to the bottom of the Nut of the Yard.

The Cervix, the Back part of the Neck; the nape or Nape of the Neck.

The Dorsum, is the whole Back from the Neck to the Buttocks.

The Spina Dorsi, is the ridg of the Back; the middle of the Back where one may feel the Back-bone.

The

The Corendir, or Corendices, are the Hips.

The place of the Os Sacrum, or Holy Bone, is just over the clitt of the Buttocks or Breech.

The Coccyx, is the place of the Rump, or clitt of the Breech.

The Mates, is the Buttocks or Breech whereon we sit; the Arse.

The Anus, the Fundament, or Arse-hole; the Poder.

The Cuticula, or the Epidermis, is the outward or scarf skin, which is no way porous, but sticks close to the true skin, to shut its pores, and make it smooth, and beautiful, and even; the Cuticle.

The Cutis, is the true skin which covers the body, and is very full of Pores. Spungy skin.

The Vulva, or Cunus, the Cunny or passage by which a Woman engendreth. The Orifice of the Matrix.

The Labres, or Labia Cunni, the Lips or Doors of the Water course.

The Cunus, or Hair of the Matrix; this word is conceived to be derived from the Greek, Connus, a Beard, and therefore doth properly stand for the hair about a Females Privy, and not the Orifice it self; the share, or hairy part of the Cunny.

The Nymphae, are pretty firm Membranous Excrescences lying within the Lips or mouth of the Sheath or Orifice of the Cunny.

The Clitoris, is a little fleshy knob covered with a thin skin, lying at the top of the Nymphae.

The Carunculae Myrtiformes, are small portions of Flesh, like Myrtle Berries, at the entrance of the Sheath or passage to the Matrix; on each side, above and below, one.

The Solum Uteri, the Sheath, or Scabbard, or pass to the Umb; the neck of the Matrix.

The Urethra, or Piss Pipe, by which Water issues forth.

The Hymen, is a Membrane or thin skin after the Nymphae, and is drawn before the Orifice; it is the token of Virginity; and as long as it is to be seen, the Caruncula Myrtiformis appear not; but alter it is vanished, they appear, and are swelled so big, that they fill the whole Orifice of the Womb.

The Centiga, or the Womans Pard or Prick, because the same imitates a Mans Yard, as the Breasts of a Man resemble a Womans Dugs.

LXXIX. He beareth Argent, Eva in her Innocency, holding an Apple in her right Hand, all proper. Or else alter others, a Naked Woman with her Hair down to her Knees, in her right hand an Apple, and her left on her side. This Coat is born by the name of Freewill. The Fruiterers, alias Fructers, vulgarly Fructers, or Fruit-sellers of the City of London, have Adam and Eva on each side the Forbidden Tree, with the subtil Serpent entorapped about it, in a Landskip of Air and Earth, all proper, for their Coat of Arms; else I have very rarely found a Naked Woman in her Innocency, born for either Coat or Crest; but demy Naked Women very often are found in both and for both.

LXXX. He beareth Gules, a Woman with two

*

Heads, Argent, crined, Or. Such a Monstrous Woman as this was in Bavaria, in Italy, having two Heads and a perfect Body, which lived for 20 years, till it was Banished the Countrey, left Wives great with Child, by often looking on her, by strength of Imagination strongly moved; should make the like Impression on the Infants they should bear.

St. Austin saith in his time, in the East an Infant was born, having all the parts from the Navel upwards double, but from thence downwards single.

LXXXI. He beareth Gules, a Cherub crined to the Knees, Or. This is Blazoned by the Dutch, a Woman Naked, crined, Or, her Arms converted or metamorphized into two Wings, and display, Argent; see chap. 1. numb. 27. This Blazon is born by the name of Ryos, or Ryalls.

B. 3 such demy Chernbims, O. born by Grindese.

Out of a Crown, a demy one Crowned A. is the Crest of Salisbury.

The like demy Cherub, with a Wreath about her head, the ends floatant A. and G. is the Crest of Sackere.

As this Woman hath Wings in place of Arms, so in many Coats, especially amongst the Dutch; the said Arms shall be Fish Tails, Elephants Snouts, and Bulls Horns, with such like; which Coats by these examples, the ingenious may easily know how to express such kind of Metamorphised Creatures with due and fitting terms.

LXXXII. He beareth Argent, the Sister of Phaeton metamorphised into a Tree, the Body, Or, Branches, Vert. The Sisters of Phaeton, because of their immoderate Mourning for the misfortune of their Brother (who was Slain with a Thunderbolt) were by the gods all turned into Trees: And as these came to such untimely Ends, so out of the Stories of the Poets, we find divers others were Metamorphosed and changed by the Gods, for some misdemeanour or other, from their own into other Created Shapes, as for example.

Women Metamorphosed.

Daphne, the Daughter of the River Peneus, which Apollo dearly loved; but because he could not obtain his desire of her, turned her into a Laurel Tree, from whence Daphne is termed a Laurel.

Io, or Ilis, was the Daughter of Inachus, whom Jupiter loved; and that Juno might not suspect it, he turned Io into a Cow, which Juno begged of Jupiter, and delivered her to be kept by Argus. See numb. first.

Syrinx, a Nymph of the Water, whom Pan the god of Shepherds fell in Love with; who running from him, was turned into a Cane or Reed, of which he made a Pipe.

Acton, Wife of King Zethus, who envying the Wife of Amphion, because she had six Sons, she thought in the Night to slay one of them, and by chance slew her own Son, who finding the Mis-chance, died for grief, and was was turned into a Linnet, or Chistle Finch.

Atene, the Daughter of Neptune, who going to the Oracle was drowned by Shipwrack, and was by the Gods turned into a Bird, called the Kings-fisher.

Antigone, the Daughter of King Lacedemon, who contending for beauty with Juno, was turned into a Stork.

Arachne, the Daughter of Idmon, was a skillful spinner, who contending with Pallas, for the excellency of her Art: who having her work broken, hanged her self, and was by Pallas turned into a Spider.

Arethusa, a Nymph of Diana, who was loved of Alpheus; whose violence when she could not escape: Diana turned her into a Fountain.

Asteria, the Daughter of Cous; on her Jupiter begat Phereus, with whom Jupiter afterwards being angry, the Gods turned her into a Quaile.

Atalanta, she was so swift, that she made an offer, that whosoever could over run her in a race, should marry her: Hippomenes ventured to run with her, having received from Venus three golden Apples, which he threw in the way, which while she was staying to take up, he won the race; but because he lay with her in the Temple of Cybele, they were afterwards turned into Lyons.

Calisto, Daughter of Lycaon King of Arcadia, and the companion of Diana: being fallen asleep was gotten with Child by Jupiter, at which Diana being offended, turned her into a Beast.

Eumenides, these are the three furies, the Daughters of Pluto, and Proserpina; or of Hell, Darknes, Night and Earth: In Heaven they were called Dirae, Fairies; in Earth Harpiæ, Ravenous-birds; in Hell Furiæ, fiends. They had Snakes instead of hair, brazen Feet, Torches in one hand, and Whips in the other, and Wings to fly with.

Hecuba, Wife of Priamus King of Troy; dreamed she had a Firebrand in her Belly, being with Child of Paris; which caused Paris after he was born, to be exposed to wild Beasts, and Hecuba cast her self off a rock into the Sea, and was turned into a Dog.

Leucothoe, she was the Daughter of Orchamus King of Babylon, with whom Apollo was in love, and at length obtained his desire of her, which when her Father knew, he buried her alive: which Apollo took heavily, and because he could not restore her to life, transformed her into a Frankincense Tree.

Lotis, was a fair Nymph the Daughter of Neptune, who being like to be surprized by Priapus; called upon the Gods for their assistance, who taking pity on her, turned her into a Tree of her own name, Lotis.

Dirce, the Wife of Lycus, and step-mother of Antiope and Zethus; who for her cruelty to Antiope, their Mother, whom Lycus had put away, they killed him, and tied Dirce to the Tail of a wild Horse, which being dashed, dragged, and torn on the Ground, was by the Gods turned into a Fountain of her name.

Pyrrah, the Daughter of Cynarus King of Cyprus, who being in love with her Father; when he was drunk did lie with him, and was got with Child: when her Father knew what a wicked Act she had made him commit, ran at her with his naked Sword, she running away, was by the Gods pitied, and turned into the Pyrrah-tree.

Riope the Daughter of Tantalus, and Wife to Amphion King of Thebes, who because of the multitude, and beauty of her Children preferred her self to Latona: therefore Apollo and Diana, being angry at her insolency, with their Arrows killed all her Children, and she with grief was turned into a Stone.

Nyctimene, the Daughter of Nycteus, by the help of her Nurse lay with her Father; which wicked incest being made known, she went and hid herself in the Woods, and was by Minerva who took pity on her, turned into an Owie.

Deceate, was the Daughter of Night and Hell; she was of a huge stature, and deformed face: having Snakes instead of Hairs, and Serpents for Feet, she had three Heads, to wit of a Horse, of a Dog, and of a Han: some think she had the Head of a Wild Boar.

Syca, and Staphilis, two Nymphs on whom Bacchus was enamoured, were by the Gods turned into Vines.

Philemon an old Man, and his Wife Baucis, were for entertaining Jupiter and Mercury, made Priests: and after instead of Death, were turned into Trees.

Cacis, a Thessalian Virgin, being deflowered by Neptune, obtained of him to be turned into a Han, and that no weapons might have power to hurt her.

Castalia, a virgin who flying from the Lecherous God Apollo, fell down headlong, and was turned into a Fountain.

Clytia, a Nymph of the Ocean, whom Apollo lusted after; who telling it to her Father, caused Apollo in anger to make her burn in love with the Sun, still looking after it, till she died, and was turned into a Harygold, or Heliotropium.

Calanthis, the waiting Maid of Alcmen, for telling of Juno a lye, that her Mistress was brought to bed, when Juno for hatred would not suffer her to be delivered, was turned into a Ferret, or Weesfel.

Halcyon hearing of the Death of Crix her Husband, cast her self into the Sea, and was turned into a Sea-bird, which layeth Eggs in the middle of Winter, in fourteen days when the Sea is calm, from whence came the Proverb: Dies Halcyonij, Halcyon days, days of quietness.

Heliades, the sisters of Phaeton, bewailing the Death of their Brother, were turned into Poplar Trees, of whose tears gum issued out, which made Amber.

Verunione, the Daughter of Mars, and Venus; and Wife of Cadmus, who with him was turned into a Serpent.

Hippe the Daughter Chiron, being got with Child, did so displease her Father, that he turned her into a Hare.

Erigo the Daughter of Icarus; she died for grief of her Father, and was made a signe in the Zodiac, called Virgo.

Iphis the Daughter of Ligeus, and his Wife Telethusa; who commanded his Wife, if she brought forth a Daughter to kill it, she pitying to destroy the Child, told him it was a Boy, and so brought it up in Boys-habit, till she was marriagable, upon her prayers to the Gods on her wedding day, she was turned into a Han.

Melagrides, the Sisters of Melager; who are fained all to be turned into Gimmie, or Turkie Pens.

Vera Daughter of Lucea Prætus, Jove fell in love with her, and got her with Child: Diana turned her into a Dog, or Bitch.

Beta the Daughter of Erisichthon, Neptune deflower'd her & gave her a reward that she should turn her self into any shape; and so when her Father would have Money, he would sell her for an Horse or an Ox, or the like; and she would come home in another shape.

Pætymene, the Daughter of Nycteus, who would have slain her, because she did continually come to his bed: whereupon Ninerva turned her into an Owle; (which Bird as conscious of such a wicked fact) cannot endure the light.

Phæthusa with her Sisters Lampetia, and Lampe-tia; the Daughters of Sol, and Neara: they for over much weeping and bewailing the Death of their Brother I haeton, were all turned into Trees: see numb. 82.

Phyllis, Lycurgus Daughter, who was contracted to Demophoon, as he came from Troy War. He went home to set things in order, staying long, and she being impatient of delays, hanged her self, and was turned into an Almond tree; but bear no leaves: Demophoon returning, and seeing the mishape Imbraced the Body of the tree, and it presently shot forth leaves.

Pigmalion a cunning Painter, thinking all Women were nought, making a resolution to live solitary: but chancing to draw a beautiful picture of a Woman, fell in love with it, and praying to Venus, she made it a Woman, so that he had Children by it.

Præitides the Daughter of Prætus King of Greece, who compared their beauty to Jus's were thereupon driven to such a frantie, that they thought themselves to be Kine.

Proponitides the Daughters of Amathunta; they at first dispised venery: but after a while they became impudent strumpet, that the goddess Venus turned them into hard Stones.

LXXXIII. He beareth Sable, a Woman erected, laped in her Shroud, or Winding sheet; tied with a Knot, or bunch at the Head, and Feet Argent. Born by the name of Deadman. A fit emblem to shew that if the Woman be dead, the Mans succeeding is not only half, but wholly dead; except recruited.

LXXXIV. He beareth Argent, the Image of Death leaning upon the Head of a Spade: or else blazon it, the Skeleton, or Anatomy of a Man, Gules; resting upon the top of a Spade with the left Arm, the Right pendant, Or, Shoed Sable. This is born by the name of Skelliton.

LXXXV. He beareth Or, Death, or the Skeleton of a Man Sable, Winged displayd, Argent; in the right hand holding a Dart, & in the left an hour glass, Or. This is the emblem of Mortality, and may fitly be the Coat of Mort, who as his name is, so it may ever warn and teach him, and us, to be in expectation of this King of Terrours, who no sooner sees our glass run out, but presently strikes his deadly Dart; against which stroak, no flesh can Arm himself.

In a Field Sable such a Skeleton Or, Winged Argent. Is the Coat of Mortmain.

[]

LXXXVI. He beareth Vert, Time moving with his Sythe, proper. Some term it the Image or Emblem of Time moving for Eternity: for when Time hath cut down all things, then Tyme will be no more. Others not taking notice of the Emblem, blazon it a Baked Man proper, Winged displayd Argent: with a Sythe in a moving posture Sable, being bald behind, and a long forelock of hair on his Forehead (or a lock of hair before) Sable. Thus is Time generally painted. In like manner hath our Fore-fathers depicted several other things, being part of Time, or dependents upon Time: as Moment, movement the only Time, Now.

Minutes, whose Emblem, or Image was depicted by a Woman holding of a Sun Dial, with a minute ballance fixed in the middle of it.

Hours, is emblem by a Woman holding of a Clock between her hands, on which is drawn the 12 hours of the day,

Day, is emblem'd, by a Woman holding the Sun between her hands, shews that the Sun courses the World about in a day.

Night, is emblem'd with the Moon in her hands with black Garments spotted with Silver or Gold Stars: or a Woman in dark clothes holding her hand before a burning Candle.

Months, emblem'd, as January is depicted in the shape either of a Man or Woman, all in white Robes, Vests and Mantle; like snow or hore-frost blowing his fingers, and the sign Aquarius or the Water-man standing by his side.

February month, is drawn in a dark sky colour cloathes, with the sign Pisces, or Fishes in his right hand.

March month, is drawn tawny, with a fierce look, a Helmet upon his head, leaning upon a Spade; in his Right hand the sign Aries, or the Ram (standing by him some have it) in his left hand Almond blossoms, and Scions, and upon his Arm, a Basket of Garden seeds.

April month, is drawn like a young Man, or Woman in green, with a Garland of Mirtle, or Haw-thorn-buds; in one hand Primroses, and Violets; in the other hand or standing or lying down by him, the sign Taurus or a Bull in his proper colours.

May month, is drawn with a sweet and lovely aspect, in a Robe of white and green, Embrauthered with Daffodils, Haw-thorn, and blew Bottle flowers; on his Head a Garland of white, red, and Damask Roses; in one hand a Lute, and upon the Fore-finger of the other a Night-gal, with the sign Gemini, or two naked Boyes playing, or sitting embracing one the other at his Feet.

June month, is drawn in a Mantle of dark grass green, upon his Head a Coronet of Bents, King-cobs, and Mad-den hair, (which are the seeds, or tops of several sorts of grass) in his left hand an Angle, in his right hand the sign Cancer, or a Crab or a Cravice fish: and upon his Arm a Basket of Summer Fruit.

July

July month, is depicted in a Jacked, or short Coat of a light yellow; eating Cherries, with his Face and Bosom burnt; on his head a Garland of Century and Time, on his shoulder a Sythe; with a bottle at his girdle, and the sign Leo, or a Lyon carried by him, or else lying down at his Feet.

August month, is drawn like a young Man, of a fierce look, in a flame coloured Robe; upon his Head a Garland of Wheat; upon his Arm a Basket of Summer Fruits, at his belt a Sickle, bearing the sign Virgo, or a Virgin at his side.

September month, is drawn in a purple Robe, with a cheerful look, and on his Head a Coronet of white and purple Grapes; in his left hand a handful of Oates, with a Cornucopia of Pomegranates, and other Summer Fruits; and his right hand a Ballance, which is the sign Libra.

October month, is emblemized by a Man, or Woman in a Garment of the colour of decaying Flowers, and Leaves viz. brownish red, reddish yellow, dark green, &c. With a Garland of Oak leaves adorned, in his right hand a Scorpion, (which is the sign Scorpio) and in his left, a Basket of Services, Medlars, and Chestnuts.

November month, is painted in a Robe of changeable green and black; upon his Head a Garland of Olive leaves, with the Fruit; in his right hand, or by his side the sign Sagittarius, or the Centaur Archer couched by him; and in his left bunches of Parsneps and Turneps.

December month, is drawn like an old Creature, with a grim, or horrid aspect; clad in an Irish rug, or coarse Freeze girt about him: upon his Head three or four night Caps, and over them a Turkish Turbant: his Noised, the beard hung with Iceicles, or dew frosts; at his back a bundle of Holly and Ivy; holding in Mittens, the sign of Capricornus, or standing by him a Goat.

The four Quarters of the Year Described.

At or the Spring, is emblemized, by a young Man, or a Virgin in green Robes, with a Scarf over his shoulders, the Head adorned with variety of Flowers, with a Cornucopia under his left Arm, and a Shepherds crook in his right hand.

Summer, Estas; is emblemized in light and loose Garments, naked Breasts, crowned with variety of Corn, and Graines: with a dish of Fruit in one hand, and a Sickle, or sheering hook in the other.

Autume, or the Fall, is presented by a fat well groan person representing Bacchus, with a Crown of Vine leaves, and Grapes; with a cup of Claret in his hand, and a bunch of Grapes in the other, and a Mantle cast about him carelessly.

Hyems, or Winter, emblemized by an old Man with grey long beard: with a Garland of Parsneps, Carrets, and Turneps, about his Head; standing or sitting before a Fire, with a Cat on his watch, and a Dog in his sleeping posture.

[]

The Year, is emblemized by one of a middle age, either Male or Female in Robes of various colours, and the Mantle or Vail changable, having in one hand upon his Palm, a large Ring or Hoope, or the circle Zodiack adorned with the Celestial signes.

It is also embled by a Serpent turned round with her Tail in her Mouth, to shew that the Year goes round for no sooner is December ended, but January begins. The Year is in no stay: time carrieth for no Man.

Time, is sometime emblemized in a running posture with an hour glass in one hand, his Sythe over his shoulder and his fore lock of hair straight before him, which those that are wise take hold off, those that are otherwise will find post est occasio calva: when they would have time he is fled away.

Note here by the way that all the Emblems of time and part of time, as Days, Months, and Years, &c. are generally drawn with Wings, either displaid, or expanded; to signifie that they stay not but fly away.

Eternity, is emblemized and expressed in the form of a fair Lady, with three Heads, signifying, time past, time present, and time to come; in her left hand a circle, pointing with the Fore finger of the right hand to Heaven: the circle signifies she hath neither beginning or ending. In the Medalls of Trajan the Emperour she was figured red, sitting upon a Sphear, with the Sun in one hand, and the Moon in the other: and in the Medalls of Faustina, she is drawn with a vail, and in the right hand the Globe of the World.

Sleep, is emblemized by a slothful, and sluggish person sitting on a stool leaning on its hand and arm; which is seated on a table, or on its knee. Philostatus makes her a sluggish old Woman, sleeping on her hand, cloathed with a white under Garment, and a black upper Garment, or Vest: holding in one of her hands, a horn pouring forth seed, signifying by the seeds, rest, ease, and quietness.

Silence, emblemized by a Boy, Man, or Woman, which holds one of his Fingers close to his Lips, as a sign of secrecy. Some portraict him without any Face, but covered all over with the skin of a Wolf painted full of Eyes, and Eares: shewing it to be good to see, and hear much, but to speak little.

Fate, is drawn by a Man in a fair long white Robe, looking upwards where are two bright stars encompassed with thick Clouds, from whence hangs a Golden chain.

Fortune, is emblemized by a naked Woman having an ensign, or sail overshadowing her, standing upon a Globe, or Ball. Bupalus of Greece, made her in shape of a Woman, with a round Ball on her Head, and a Cornucopia in one of her Hands, she is called the Partial Lady, or blind Goddess, by reason of her bestowing of her unconstant, and mutable Favours. Macrobius sets her forth with Wings, and a Rudder of a Ship by her side; standing upon a wheele, holding in her right hand a Golden Ball, and in her left a Whip.

Honor, is depicted like a Woman with two Wings, cloathed in purple, or Scarlet, with a Coronet or Wreath of Laurel about her Head, holding Cupid by the Hand, who leads the Woman to the Gods Venus; which is depicted over against them.

F f

Fame, a Lady clad in a thin light Garment, open to the middle of the Thigh, that she might run the faster: with two exceeding large Wings. The Garments are Embrauthered with Eyes, and Ears; and the blowing of a Trumpet.

Destiny, is emblemed by a veiled naked Woman, who with great fury, with an Iron Bow ready bent, and an Arrow in it, aims to stick Fortune even at the very heart. Fortune and Destiny can never agree, and therefore as Fortune flies from Destiny, so Destiny pursues Fortune: and where Destiny sets her Foot, there Fortune is as it were enchanted, as having no power.

Providence, is depicted like a Lady lifting up both her Hands to Heaven: with these words in an Escrowle, Providentia Deorum, or thus a Lady in a Robe; in her right hand a Scepter, in her left a Cornucopia, with a Globe at her Feet.

Victory, is expressed by a Lady clad in Gold, in one hand a Helmet, in the other a Pomgranate, in the Medals of Augustus Caesar; she was drawn with Wings ready to fly, standing upon a Globe or Ball; with a Garland of Bays in one hand; in the other a Coronet of the Emperours, and in the Medals of Octavius Caesar, she is drawn in a loose Coat with Wings, standing on a base, in one hand a Palm-branch, in the other a Crown of Gold.

LXXXVII. He beareth Sable, out of a Cloud in the Dexter point, a Hand holding a flame of Fire, from whence issues a Thunderbolt, by which Death is cast into the Lake of burning Fire and Brimston, all proper. This is also blazoned Joves hand, out of a Cloud in the Dexter corner, by which he destroyed Death, and cast him into the burning Lake of fire. This may be termed Jupiters Victory over the Prince of Terrors: and Christ the Saviour of the World, his Conquest of Sin, Death, Hell, and the Grave. All which may be understood by his saying, Hosea 13. 14. O Death I will be thy Death: Reve. 21. 10. 14. And He cast the Devil, and Death, and Hell, into the Lake of Fire. So that now all the Faithful may triumph over them, and say with the Apostle. O Death where is thy Sting, O Grave where is thy Victory: Thanks be to God who hath given us the Victory, through our Lord Jesus Christ. 1. Cor. 15. 55. 57.

Men Punished in Hell.

Cantalus, the Son of Jupiter, and the Nymph Plota, for his revealing the secrets of the Gods, and for the inhumane Act of Massacreing his Son Pelops, was judged to Hell to be punished with want, by seeing Meats, and to have none; and with fear of a falling Rock, which was placed over his head.

Ixion, the Son of Plegias, who for murthering his Father in law, turned a vagabond on Earth: Jupiter at length pitied him, and took him to Heaven, where he fell in love with Juno; which Jupiter perceiving preferred him a Cloud in shape of Juno, of whom he begot the Centaures. Therefore Ixion was sent down to the Earth, where bragging that he had lyen with Juno, was by Jupiters Thunder cast down to Hell; where being tied to a Wheel he is continually whirled about.

Orestes, the Son of Agememnon and Clytemnestra, who killed his Mother and Aegestus her Adulterer, which wickedness the Gods punished him for, by sending Furies to haunt him from place to place, that he could not be expiated, at last he was stung by a Serpent and dyed.

Cytus, a Great Giant, the Son of Jupiter; he is said to reach over three Acres of Ground, who attempting to ravish Latona, was struck dead by Jupiters Thunderbolt; and so sent him to Hell, where he was adjudged to have a Vulture to feed upon his Liver, that grew as it was eaten. He was said to reach over nine Acres of Ground.

Onus his punishment was to make Cords continually, and an Ass standing by him, bit the ends, as fast as he made it. This Labour and Punishment is fained from one that takes great pains to little purpose; or of one that would gladly grow rich, but he hath a shrewd Wife at home, that spends as fast as he gets.

Phlegyas, Father of the Nymph Ixion, whom Apollo deflowred in revenge he fired *Apollo*s Temple in Delfos: Apollo in anger slew him, and sent him to Hell; where he was set upon a great rolling stone, ever in danger of a great fall.

Salomoneus, the Son of Aeolus, who to shew his Subjects that he was a God, made a Bridge of brasse over a great part of the City, and hurried his Waggon over it, to imitate Thunder; but Jupiter being angry for his insolent attempt, slew him with a Thunderbolt, and sent him to Hell.

Sisyphus, he was slain by Theseus, and for his robbing sent to Hell, and there set to rowl a great Stone to the top of the hill, which when it was on the top, would suddenly slide down again, and so he continually renewed his labour.

LXXXVIII. He beareth Azure, Acteon, Metamorphosied into the shape of a Hart. Some do blazon it a naked Man, with his quiver at his side, hung in a Scarf or Ribbon Sable, with a Bow in his right Hand Or, his Head turned into the shape or form of a Stag, proper. And some again more briefly; a Naked Man with a Stags head, proper: with a Bow in his right Hand Or, and a quiver and scarf Sable. But in the term, or name of Acteon, all these expressions are understood. For this Man was a great hunter, who by mistaking Diana washing her self, was by her (for fear of his discovering it) turned into a Stag, who was forthwith set upon, and torn in peeces by his own Hounds.

Here note that all Persons Metamorphosied (let the shape be what it will, whether Dog, Cat, Lion, Wolfe, Bear, or Bull &c.) in these draughts, and depictings in History or Armory, they still retain their name and Bodily shape, to shew that they were either Men or Women: and the Head only Metamorphosied, or changed into that shape, that they were by the Poets fained to be in the whole Body turned to.

LXXXIX. He beareth, Gules Lycaeon Metamorphosied into the shape of a Wolf, proper: or a Man with a Wolves head with a Scarf over his shoulder. Or. This Lycaon was King of Arcadia, whom Jupiter turned into a Wolf, because he had slain a Boy upon his Altar. But Ovid saith that Jupiter hearing an ill report of wickedness reigning amongst Men, came down to see, and travelling the Countrey to see the truth; one Night he came to Lycaons Pallace, and told him he was a God, the People Sacrificed to him; but Lycaon denied them. In the Night he went to Jupiter his Chamber to have slain him, but being prevented; he smote him another way, by slaying one of the pledges he had from Molossus, and dressed him and set him before Jupiter: which he seeing overthrew his Pallace with Thunder, and turned him into a Wolf.

A Canticpate, or Cynocephali; are certain People in India that have Heads like Dogs, and howle like Dogs.

XC. He beareth Sable, Cygnus Metamorphosied into a Swan, Wings expanded, proper: with a Scarf over his shoulder, Gules. Or thus, a naked Man with Swans Neck and Wings expanded, with a Scarf over his right shoulder. This Cygnus was King of Lyguria a near kinsman of Phaeton, who weeping at the Tomb of Phaeton, was turned into a Swan, which hath been the name of Swan ever since.

Men Metamorphosied.

Arctanthus, a Boy transformed into a flower of his name.

Adonis the darling of Venus, a very beautiful Boy, who was after his Death turned into the flower Adonis, or Anemone.

Aelacus the Son of Priamus, who fell in love with Heperie, and followed her into the Woods, who running from him, was slain of a Serpent; whereupon he went mad, and cast himself into the Sea; whom Thefis turned a Drapper, or Boozhen.

Ajar, a valiant Warriour, because he had not Achillis Armour grew mad, and slew himself, and was turned into a flower of his name.

Aeteyron, a friend and one beloved of Mars, who was his watchman whilest he lay with Venus; but being heavy asleep, Sol came & espied him, & told Vulcan Husband of Venus: who made a net of Chains, and cast it about them that they could not get out. The matter was known to the Gods, Mars was angry with his friend Aeteyron, and turned him into a Cock: who now remembering his old fault, by crowing he gives warning of Sat approach.

Amaracus, an Appothecaries Boy of Cynara, King of Cyprus, who by chance broake a Box of Oymntment, by which means it smelt more sweetly. After his Death he was turned into the Herb Majorana, Sweet Marjoram.

Atys, a beautiful Boy beloved of Cybele the Mother of the Gods, she made him one of her Priests, and enjoined him chastity, but he lay with a Nymph; she in anger made him Wood, or Mad, and then turned him into a Pine-tree.

Cadmus King of Thebes he killed a Dragon which kept a Well, the Teeth he sowed of whom came Armed Men; who by means of a stone flung amongst them, fell to quarreling and killed each other; after this he was turned into a Dragon and by Jupiter was sent into the Elysian fields.

Circe, the Daughter of Sol, turned all Ulysses fellows into Swine, but over him she had no power: she could not procure the good will of Glaucus, who loved Scylla better then her; she infected the water in which Scylla was wont to wash, that touching it, she was turned into a Sea monster.

Diomedes forsaking his own Countrey, by reason his Wife had committed Adultery: went to Apulia, and helped Darius against his Enemies, and settled him in his Kingdom: but Darius understanding that he was not beloved of the Gods slew him; whose companions did so much lament his Death, that they were turned into singing Swans, or rather Herons.

Hyacinthus, a beautiful youth, beloved both of Apollo and Zephyrus; but loving Apollo better, and being one day playing with him at an exercise called, Discus; Zephyrus grew angry, and with a sudden blast of Wind, turned the Discus or Quoit, upon the youths Head, and killed him. The Earth drunk up his blood, from whence sprung the flower Jacinth.

Lincus, or Lyne; the cruel King of Scythia, to whom Ceres sent a messenger to instruct him in Husbandrie, and the use of Corn: who out of an ambitious desire to be thought the Author of such an excellent invention, intended to murder the instructor in the Night; but Ceres being angry at his treachery, turned him into the Beast Lyne, a spotted Beast like a Panther.

Darcillus a beautiful youth, who at the age of fifteen or sixteen years; was doted upon by diverse of the Nymphs, but he slighted them all: at last being very dry and hot, he came to a Fountain of clear Water to drink, where seeing his own Face, was so much inamored with himself; that with grief, because he could not obtain his love pined away and dyed: and was turned into a flower of his own name, Daffidill.

Tithonus who for his beauty was beloved of Aurora; and by her carried into Aethiopia: by her means he made immortal: but living so long till he was turned into a Grasshopper, he grew weary of his life, and desired to dye.

Erychthonius was a Man begotten of Vulcans seed shed on the ground, whilest he was offering violence to Minerva, his Feet were the Feet of a Dragon.

Minotaure, a Man with a Bulls head; the Son of Phajphae, Wife of Minus King of Creta, gotten by a Bull.

Alicalaphus for discovering that Proserpina had eaten a grain or two of Pomgranate in Hell, was by Cere turned into an Owle for telling of Tails. The Owle since hath been accounted the messenger of ill news.

Celivus one that Jupiter nourished, and loved; who because he said the Gods were Mortal, was turned into a Diamond.

Demarchus, a noble Champion who for tasting of a childs entralls offered in sacrifice, was turned into a Wolf.

Elpenor, the companion of Ulysses, who was by the enchantress Circe, turned into a Hog.

Epimetheus, Son of Japetus; Jupiter being grieved at him, turned him into an Ape.

Pacanon for marrying his own Daughter, the Gods turned them into Mountains.

Hermaphroditus Son of Venus and Mercury, was beloved of a Nymph to whom he would not hearken; she embracing him (being both naked in a Fountain washing) desired the Gods that both their Bodies might be turned into one: and so such persons as were both Man, and Woman, are called Hermaphrodites.

Hesperus the Son of Japetus being expelled his Kingdom, went to the top of the Hill Atlas to observe the course of the Stars, and was turned into a Star; which in the Morning goeth before the Sun, and is called Lucifer, and in the Evening follows the Sun, and is called Hesperus.

Hippomenes, for his unthankfulness to Venus for the three Golden Apples, whereby he won Atalanta his Wife, and because he lay with her in the Temple of Mars-Cybele, transformed him into a Lyon, and her into a Lyoness.

Icarus the Father of Penelope, had a Dog called Mera; who dying was by Jupiter turned into the sign Canicula: and Icarus was made the Star, Bootes.

Nisus a King of the Magarenses, who had golden Hair, to whom it was told that as long as he did wear that Hair, he would be victorious. His Daughter Scylla fell in love with Minos his Enemy with whom he had War, she to procure love again, cut off her Fathers Hair and gave it to Minos, who got his Kingdom. Nisus for grief dyed, and was turned into a Hawk, and Scylla into a Lark: from hence the Poets do ground the antipathy between the Hawk, and the Lark.

Onophris, a Man that lived a solitary life for sixty Years, in which space he saw no Man: he was the Man most Metamorphosied of any I have read off.

Periclimenus, Neptune granted him that he should transform himself into any shape he would; when Hercules Warred against his Father, he transformed himself into a Fly; but Pallas told Hercules of it, who killed him with his Club; he was afterwards turned into an Eagle.

Atlas King of Mauritania, he was a famous Astrologer, or Astronomer, he is said to bear Heaven upon his shoulders; to wit, by maintaining of the Science; from hence he is fained to be turned into a Stone, or Mountain of that name, upon the sight of Medusa's Head, for denying Perseus Son of Jupiter by Danae's entertainment.

Phalaus or Phalacrus, the Son of Aeolus, who for deflowring his Sister Arachne, was turned into a Serpent.

Philomela King Pandion's Daughter, was ravished by Terens King of Thrace, whose Sister he had married, called Progne; which in revenge slew his Son Itys: Terens in a rage would have slain the Sisters, but Progne was turned into a Swallow, Terens into a Lapwing: Philomela for condoling the hainous fact, into a Nightingale, Itys into a Pheasant.

Polydectes the Son of Magnetes, he kept Perseus and sent him to overcome the Gorgons, which done Perseus at his return with Medusa's Head, turned him into a Fly stone.

Proteus the Son of Oceanus, and Thetis; he was skilful in foretelling things to come, he could change his shape into the form of any Creature, sometimes to a Bull or Serpent, or to a Flame of Fire, &c.

Sciron a notable Robber, whom Thetis slew, and cast his Bones into the Sea, which became a Rock, which from thence Rocks in the Sea are called Scironia, which we English from the sound of the word Scaries: that is the vevy Rocks.

Tiresias seeing two Serpents engendred, killed the Female, and was himself turned into a Woman; seven Years after he came to the like gendering, and slew the Male, and was presently restored to his former shape: Jupiter and Juno, arguing whether the Male or Female had the greater pleasure in Coitu, made him Judge, because he had the experience of both, who gave his award to the Woman.

Vertumnus a God among the Romans, who loving a Nymph, changed himself into all shapes to get her, but nothing at all prevailing, changed himself into a most beautiful young Man, and then offered her violence, to which she easily yeilded.

XCI. He beareth Vert, an Homo-Cane, or Man-Dog; and this is of some termed a Boy holding up his hands, naked to the Navil, from thence downwards the shape of a Spaniel Dog, Argent. Such a Monster as this was brought forth of a Woman, in the Year 1493. And was sent to the Pope that then reigned.

The Homo-Sus, or Man-Sow; is such another kind of Monster, whose foreparts is like a Man, and all the rest of the Body, and hinder parts like a Sow.

The Corboracis, or Dog with a Crow's head: such a Monster as this was brought forth at Antwerp in the Year 1571, but the Head had no Feathers on it. It is also by Physicians termed, a Corboracane, a Crow-dog.

XCII. He beareth Or, a Man holding up his Hands with a Gloy about his Head, Umbated: or Shadowed out. This is of some termed the Image of Man, or the Soul, or Animal part of Man, being the Soul without the Body, or shadowed without the substance. The invisible part, which ever lives, and hath a being though it hath a separation from the Body. The Soul of a Man can be no otherwise depicted, then by a shadow, being far more perfect then the Body, and nobler then the rest of that earthly mixture, and temper of the Elements; having a more divine offspring, even from the breath of God, which is life it self; from whose life the Soul lives, and puts life into the Body by which it acts by its faculties.

A Faculty, is a certain power, and efficient cause, proceeding from the temper of parts, and performance of some action of the Body. There are three principal Faculty which govern Mans body, as long as it enjoys its integrity The Animal, Vital, and Natural.

Of the Animal Faculties.

Animal Faculty; is seated in the proper temperament of the Brain, from whence by Nerves it distributes and motion into all parts of the Body: enduing it with that principal, which comprehends reason.

Sensitive Faculty; is seated or rather consists in five Senses: as seeing, hearing, tasting, smelling, and feeling.

Moving Faculty; remains principally in the Muscles, Nerves, and Arteries; and is the chief instrument of voluntary motion: as going running, bending, or turning. The motion of the Heart, &c.

Principal Faculty; comprehends Reason, Understanding, Will Memory, Fancy, &c.

Emblems of the Animal Faculties: or Faculties of the Soul, depicted.

Senses.

Hearing, is depicted as a Man, or Woman, playing on the Virginal, or Lute, Violin, and any sort of musical Instrument; with a Hart, or Stag standing, by which is taken to be a Creature of a quick Ear.

Seeing is drawn like a Lady in a beautiful dress, having a looking Glass in one hand, and a prospecting Glass in the other; with an Eagle standing by her: as being the quickest sighted of any Creature on Earth.

Tasting, is emblemized by a person taking Tobacco, and in the other hand a Glass of Claret; with an Ape sitting by eating of an Apple.

Smelling, is drawn with her Cloathes embrauthered with Flowers, and smelling at flowers in her hand, and a Basket of flowers on her Arm, and a Garland of flowers about her temples; with a Blood-Hound, or Calbot standing by.

Feeling, is depicted with a sad mourning aspect, having a Parrot on her hand, biting it till the Blood trickles down.

Motion, is emblemized by a Man running, and a Oxy-Hound after a Hare; and a Hawk after a Fowl.

Imitation, or Imitation; by a Child doing what his Father doth: a Cockerell crowing after the Cock; or a Man drawing one picture by another, with an Ape standing by with a Pencill, or Pallet in his hand.

Salutation, is emblemized by two persons bowing to one another, or embracing one another; or the Angel Gabriel bringing the glad tidings to Mary, that of her should be born the Saviour of the World: which is the sign of the Salutation Tavern in London.

Combustion, or Combustion; depicted by two Men wrestling, or strive one with another.

[]

Faculties of the Mind.

1. Understanding, is represented, by a Woman sitting on the basis of a Pillar, with the Sun in her left hand; with her right hand pointing to the Heavens:

Wisdom, is drawn in a white Robe, blew Mantle, set with Stars.

Prudence, is drawn with her Finger on her Mouth, and a Serpent wrapped about her Arm.

Law, is depicted with an old grave countenance, in a purple Robe, seeded or set with golden Stars; with a Mantle of Carnation fringed with Gold; the buskins purple, and yellow: holding a Scrowl, or Roul in his hand.

Government, is clad all in Armour.

Watchfulness, a person in a yellow Robe; with a sad Mantle fringed with Silver, powdered with Eyes: a Chaplet on its Head of turn-sole; in the right hand a Lamp, in the left a Bell: with a Cat, or Dog at her Feet.

2. Will, Desire, or Affection: is emblemized by a Woman holding the Moon between both her hands, in a Robe and Mantle of varions, or party colours: signifying as much unconstancy in the will, as light in the Moon: So our will and affection is now to this, and anon to that, never at one stay,

3. Fancy, is emblemized by a Painter working at his easell, with Pallet and Pencills in the left hand, and a drawing Pestle, or Pen in the right hand; framing some devise on his Cloath. But in my judgment it is not better set out, then by a Taylor, or Semster, with a peece of Cloath on his left, Arm, a Yard in his hand, and a pair of Shears in his right hand, with a Camelion at his Feet.

4. Memory, is drawn like a middle aged Man, writing in a Book, upon a Table.

Animals Faculties, or the Passions of the Mind described.

Love, is depicted in the shape of a beautiful Woman, with a Laurel Garland about her Temples, her Breasts and Arms naked, with a loose Mantle flying over her shoulders, on her left hand a pair of Turtle Doves, and in her right hand, an Olive branch fruited; at her Feet a Lamp.

Envy, is depicted with Medusa's head, the hair turned into Snakes: naked to the middle, with side hanging Breasts and Paps; in the right hand a Serpent wreathen in it self, and the left a Heart held to her Mouth: at her Feet a fiery smoking Furnace, or Founders melting Kill, or after some, an old lean Woman with a withered wrinkled Face.

Joy,

Joy, is depicted with a lixsome merry aspect, with a green Robe, and Mantle of diverse colour, embrauthered with Flowers; a Garland of Mirtle on her head, in her right hand a Cristal Cruise, or Crofs; in her left a Cup of Gold.

Sorrow, is represented by a Woman sitting on the Ground, wringing of her hands, weeping, and her hair hanging down about her Shoulders, in a black Garment.

Audacity or Boldness, is depicted with a Man fighting with a Dragon or any other terrible fiend or devilish Monster: the Lyon is the emblem of courage and boldness.

Fear, is depicted by Cupid, with a visard in his Face, a bow in his left hand, his quiver by his side, & a Thunderbolt in his right. Or as Pansanius saith, it is best set forth by the deformity of a Womans Faces and Body. The Hare is the emblem of Fear.

Mirth and Pleasantness, is emblemed by a Woman with a cheerful aspect, yet pale and lean Faced, in purple Robes trimmed with Silver.

Melancholly, is a Man foulding of his Arms together, holding down his head, with his Hat covering a part of his Face: with an Hare at his Feet, or a Man with his back parts to fight, with the skirt of his Cloak cast over his left shoulder, his Face looking downwards. A Cat is the emblem of Melancholly.

Anger, Wrath, or Fury: is described by two Women chiding, or by a Man Armed, with a grim and furrin visage, his Mantle flying about his Shoulders, with a shield on his left Arm stretched out, and with his right hand drawing his Sword. Or by a Man in Garments, with one hand drawing, and the other hand on the Scabbard: with an Ireful Bear at his side. A Cock is also the emblem of Collick and Angry persons.

Now by these and such like emblems, may diverse other Faculties be set forth, which are all but Fancies, and are drawn several other ways according to the Will and Pleasures of the devisers.

Of the Vital Faculties.

Vital Faculties, are seated in the Heart from whence heat and life is distributed, by the Arteries to the whole Body. The prime action of the Vital Faculty, is the pulsation; and that is threefold, in the continued agitation of the Heart, the Arteries, and Belly; all which the Vital Spirit doth cheerrish by the Dilatation or benefit of the Air which is drawn in, and put out.

Dilatation of the Heart, is the motion and beating, or panting of the Heart.

Pulsation, of the Arteries, is the beating of the Pulse; at the Wrists, and Temples.

Agitation of the Belly, is the working, rising, and falling of the Belly, by reason of the air drawn in, and blowne out again, by the lungs, or lights, as with bellows.

Action, is the motion used in the performance of any thing: but an act, or work, is a thing done.

[]

Motion, is the moving of any part or member by bending, or contracting, and extention, or stretching out: or else motion is said to be upwards, downwards, to the right, to the left, forwards, and backwards.

Respiration or breathing, is the motion of the Lungs; which we can at pleasure make more quick or slow.

Voice, or Speech; is the forcing of the Air as it comes through the rift of the Wind - Pipe, which makes a sound.

Words, is the various dashing of the sound, at the Tongue, Pallate, and the shapning of the Mouth.

Of the Natural Faculties.

Natural Faculty, is seated in the Liver, which doth spread and carry nourishment over the whole Body; which is distinguished into three other Faculties, which are Generation, the Growing, and the Nourishing; which are again attended by four servant Faculties, as the Attractive, the Retentive, the Digestive, and the Expulsive.

Generative Faculty, is the Generation, or forming of the Child in the Womb.

Growing, or the Increasing Faculty, is the flourishing and thriving of the Child, from its forming, to its perfection, and perfect growth in the Womb; and after to its full growth.

Nutritive, or Nourishing Faculty; is the nourishing, replenishing, and repairing, whatsoeuer is wasted or emptied: which nourishing Faculty continues from the Infants forming in the Womb, to the end of its life.

Attractive Faculty, draws that juce from the Meat eaten, which is fit to nourish the Body.

Retentive Faculty, is that which retains the nourishment, untill it be fully concocted.

Digestive Faculty, assimilates the nourishment, into the substance of that part where it is.

Expulsive Faculty, is the purging or putting away of the Excrements, that filth and dross which remains after digestion.

Terms arising from the Faculties of the Animal, Vital, and Natural parts.

Good and Bad.

Fides, Faith, is to belive with understanding.

Intelligentia, Understanding, is the doing of a thing with reason.

Scientia, Science, Knowledge, is to do a thing by Sense, or experience.

Ratio, Reason, is the seeking out of things.

Oppugnitio, Oppugnation, or resolving against a thing.

Prascentia, a fore-knowledg, or the knowing of a thing before.

Skillful, is the knowledge of things.

Experience, is the trial of things.

Practice,

Practice, is the settling of knowledg, and retaining of Discretion, discretet, is the knowledg how to use things

Right, wise, to do a thing rightly.

Crafty, is to misapply, or abuse a thing, do a thing to a contrary end, or for another purpose.

Careless, is to minde, or look after nothing that is Blockish, is to perceive, or understanding nothing.

Persuasion, to credit a report heard, being likely of Assent, to credit a thing proved to be true.

Credulity, that believe any thing they hear; believe

Wonder, is not to understand the reason of things.

Error, to apprehend or hold a thing false, mistake of Opinion, is to apprehend a thing weakly.

Surmise, to hold a thing upon guess.

Suspition, to suspect or mistrust a matter or thing.

A Doubt, or Wavering, not to be settled in a

A Mistake, is the doing of a thing ignorantly: doing

Ignorance, that knowes not how to do it: knoweth

Conscience, is the recorder of our actions, in evil

Zeal, Jealousy, an over hot love; or the fearing of a

Will, Voluntas, Voluntary Affection, is an ear-

Affectio, Affection, or good Will; is the consent of Minde, or Purpose; is the pursuing of those things

Power, Force, Ability; is the freeness of the Will

Dischance, is the doing of an act contrary to pur-

Deceit of the Will, is when outward apperance is Disimulation, is a shew of doing one thing, when

Fancy, Phantasia, is an inward Sense, and proceeds

Putation, a thinking, as though, or fore-cast.

Imagination, that is to conceive a thing in the Fiction, or faining of a thing, is to counterfeit, or

Fision, an idle toy, the representation of a thing that Phantasme, a Vision, or imagined apperance.

Contrivance, or Inventiō; is by and through

Inquisition, is an inquiry, or searching into a matter.

Industry, is pains taking: that is diligent, and studious in a business. Labour, and Travel carefully.

[]

Craft, Art, Workmanship.

Common Sense, is to apprehend things taken from Dream, is the Fancy of sleep.

Ingenious, Witty, is to apprehend a thing readily,

Cunning, Shrewd, that devises or finds out a

Dullard, or a Duncie, that hath no Spirit, Activity,

Inconsiderate, Un wary, or without fore-cast:

Fancy, or Reason depraved, is Dotage, Extralies,

Memoria, Memory, lyeth under the hinde part of Study, is an earnest bending of the mind to a thing,

Observance, is to note, take heed, or mark how a

Remembrance, is the practice, or experience of a

Reminiscion, is the remembering a thing out of mind

Recrute, is to refresh, strengthen, or enliven, weake

Memory Abolished, is forgetfullness, foolishness, do-

Sleep, is the rest of the Senses, and Animal fa-

Passion, is a disturbance, or disquieting of all the fa-

Love, is a delight in the thing seen, or enjoyed.

Envy, is to disdain and have no affection or delight

Joy, Jocund, applaus, is an embracing, and glading

Dolor, Sorrow, Grief, Mourning, is when we Desire, Wishes, is to have, or retain a thing sought

Fear, is the disapointment of a thing desired, or look-

Panick Fear, is a sudden fear wherewith one is di-

Dead, Abhor, is the forethought or expecting of Astonishment, Agast, shivers, sore afraid, is when

Lamenting, Bewailing, is out of a Sense or feeling

Mirth, Jollity, Frantick; is a lightness and gladness of the Heart, with the outward gesture of the Body, as Dancing, Leaping, Skiping, Talking, Jestling, Laughing, &c.

De.

Melancholy, is a drooping of the Spirit, retiredness of Life, absenting from Company, and silence in Speech, an heaviness or sadness of the Mind.

Loathing, is to cast a thing off, when glutted and laded with it.

Wrath, Anger, Fury, is a perturbation of the Mind, and an unsettling of the Animal Faculties.

Weariness of Mind, is the dulling of the Senses and Faculties by over much Labour, Watchfulness, or expectation of a thing, when it is perceived a delay.

Despair, is the desire of a thing, and yet never to be in hopes of attaining it; or to be afflicted with Repentance, and yet out of hope of the thing.

Sympathy, is a mutual agreement between things either living and dead, Love and Concord.

Antipathy, is a disagreement or hatred amongst the Creatures, one to or with another.

Shame, Shamefastness, is a certain affection, mixt of Anger and Fear; therefore if in that Conflict Fear prevail over Anger, the Face waxeth pale; if Anger prevail, the Face is red.

Symptoms, are Signs and Tokens by which we may discern the passions of the mind; it is the discovery of every Change or Accident that happens to Man besides his own nature.

XCIII. In this Figure I present to your view, the Anatomy or Skeleton of a Man, that is (to say) the Bones contained in the same, whose several names and terms given to each particular Bone are as followeth.

Osteologia, is the description of Bones.

Bones in the Head.

The Skull is all the Bones of the Head, as they are united and knit together, the whole head termed so, as Cranium. Its upper part is double.

Calva, or Calvaria, the Skull or upper part of the Head, which by Old Age grows bald first.

Diploe, is the thin Plate or Shell of the Skull next the Brain.

The Brain Pan, is the top of the head, where there are several Bones set together by Sutures nicked one into another, like the joining together of Cockle Shells.

The Coronalis Suture of the Skull, which passeth transversely from one temple to another.

The Lambdoides, is the hinder part of the head, called also Os Occipitale, knit to the Bone of the top of the Head by the Lambdois Suture.

The Os Frontis, or Frontal Bone of the Forehead called Bregma, or Pregma, which reacheth as far as the Coronal Suture: This Bone in Women is divided in the middle by the Sagittal Suture, and makes a cross on the head, by crossing of the two Sutures.

The Sagittalis Suture, is the Scheme which comes from behind the head, and goes to the top of the head to the Coronal Suture, and in Women crosseth it, and goes down the forehead even to the top of the Nose.

The Suturæ, are the Schemes of the Skull, those intervals or connections, which knit and unite the Bones together.

The Lambdois Suture, is a Suture or Scheme in the hinder part of the head.

*

The Os Sincipitis, is the Bone on the top or fore part of the head, which is divided into two by the Sagittal Suture, the one called the right side, the other the left side of the Os Sincipitis.

The Os tempo. a., the Temple Bones, each side the Head, which is divided from the Bones of the fore part of the head, by a false or Bastard Suture.

The Os Petrosum, is the inside of the Bones of the Temples, so called from the hardness thereof.

The Squamosa Suture, the false or Bastard Suture, so called because it is not like any of the other Sutures: it joins the Bones of the Temple to the Bones on the top of the head.

The Os Sphenoides, called also Os Cuneatus and Basillare, the Cuneal Bone or Wedg Bone, which lies between the head and the upper Jaw.

The Colander Bone, is the Spongy Bone of the Nose.

The Os Ethmoides, or Spongoides, is the Bone of the Nose.

The Os Hyoides, is the Bone that supports the Larynx, Epiglottis and Tongue.

The Apophyses, are the several cavities or little holes in the Bones of the Skull, all which according to their situation, have several terms or names.

The Osbita, or Osbitary Bone, is the Bone which the Eye-hole is made of.

The Maxilla Superior, or the higher Jaw which consists of several smaller Bones all joined together by Sutures, or Harmonia.

The Melon Bone, or Os Zygomaticus, is the Bones of the Jaw just under the holes of the Eyes.

The Os Unguis, or Osciculum lacrimale, is the hole made in the Bone of the Nose, by which the matter that makes Tears passeth to the Nostrils.

The Os Maxilla Superior, the upper Jaw Bone, the Bone in the fore part of the Jaw, that contains the middle part of the Teeth. It hath 11 Bones belonging to it, 5 on each side, and one without a fellow; others say 12, six on each side.

The Alomer, is a Bone at the Pallat, which holds up the Bridg of the Nose.

The Maxilla Inferior, or Mandibula, the Mandible or under Jaw Bone, which is one entire Bone; yet hath several names for its parts, as

The Aliformis, a Bone made like a Wing, which is fixed in the Basis of the Skull. Belonoides, is the process or shooting forth of the said Bone.

The Basis of the Jaw, is the middle or fore part of it, which makes the Chin.

The extremities of the Jaw, are the Angles or ends of the Jaw where they are fixt to the Skull.

The Corone, is the sharp Angle of the end of the Jaw.

The Condylus, is the rounder end, and is called Articulatio, because it serves for the Articulation of the Jaw, that is, for the joining or growing together of the Bones.

The Gingiva, is the Gum part where the Teeth be set, called the Sockets or Teeth holes in the Jaw.

The Dentes or Teeth, which have names according to their being or situation in the Jaws; the outmost are Cutters; next each side them Dog Teeth; and those in the Mouth Ganders; and the furthestmost Eye Teeth, being in number about 30 or 32.

The Hamillary Production, is that part of the Nose where Smelling is exercised.

The

Bones in the Trunk,

The Trunk, called Truncus; contains such Bones as are in the Back, Breast and Loins.

The Spondils or Vertebrae, are the Rack Bones, or the Chine Bones, which extend from the Head to the Breech, or Os Coccyx; in all there are generally 34 Rack Bones; of which sixteen are in the Neck, 12 in the Back, 5 in the Loins, four in the Holly Bone, and six in the Rump Bone.

The Rachis or Back Bone, as they are all joined together.

The Os Sacrum, is the Bone just under the Loins, called the Cropper Bone, the rump or seat, or Os Coccyx, is a Bone at the end of the Holly Bone.

The Chest or Breast, called Os Pectoris, or Sternum, the Breast Bone to which the Ribs are joined.

The Clavicula, or Collar Bone, is the top part of the Sternum, whose figure represents an S; these two on each side one, retain the Scapula, or shoulder bones in the proper seat; the Chanel Bones.

The Humeronata, called also Epiphoides; it is a cartilage or gristly Bone at the lower end of the Sternum or Breast bone, called also the Sword like Cartilage.

The Cartilaginous part of the Ribs, are the ends of all the Ribs that join to the Sternum.

The Crag or Neck Bone, the Vertebrae.

The Ribs, called Costa, are in number 23 or 24, twelve on one side, and eleven or twelve on the other; all of them join to the Rack Bones of the Chin; of which the seven highest join to the Breast Bone or Sternum; the other five on a side are open, and are called Bastard Ribs.

The Costae Nothae, the Bastard Ribs, or short Ribs.

The Spine Bone, is the Bone over against the Seat or Rump Bone, the Bony Vault or Arch; which Bone Women have only, and is for a guard for their Womb, called also Os Pubis.

The Hip Bone, called Os Ilium, or Ichi- um, is the Bones each side the Flank Bone.

The Acetabulum, is the hollow Concave in the Hip Bone, which receiveth the head of the Thigh Bone. The socket of the Hip Bone.

The Scapula or Omo-plata, or shoulder Blade, which hath terms for the several parts of it, as

The Coracois, or Ancyroides; is the process in the Shoulder blade over the Glenois, where the Arm Bone is set, and the process over the hole. Called the Anchors, or Anchoralis.

The Spina Scapulae, is a process of the Bone shooting out from the other part like a round Bone.

The Superiour and inferiour Angles of the Scapula are the higher and lower points of the Shield or shoulder blade.

The Basis of the Scapula, is the edges or extremities of the Bone.

The Inter-scapulum, is the pits, or hollowness of the Shoulder blade on each side the Spina, or spinal part, one pit is above the prominence of the Spina, the other pit below it.

The Pterygium, or crest of the Spina, is the middle part or prominence of the Spina.

The Acromium, is the broad extremity of the Shoulder bone, the broad end.

The Glenoidis, is the cavity of the neck of the Bone at the Coracois process, where the head of the Arm-bone turns in.

The Spina Vertebrae, or Spondilis, is the spine or point, or the bunch of the Spondile Bone of the back; and is used for any point or bunch, or process of any Bone, with the name of the Bone, as Spina Scapulae, &c.

Bones in the Arm and Hand,

The Omo-plata or Scapula, is the Shoulder Bone, which most Anatomists join to the Arm, as being a part of it; but I have joined it to the Trunk, as is before said.

The Brachium, or the Arm, which contains all from the Shoulder to the Wrist.

The Humerus, is the highermost Bone in the Arm, that between the Elbow and Shoulder; the Arm Bone, the Bone in the Brawn of the Arm, which hath several terms for its diverse parts.

The Head is the round top of the Bone, which goeth into the hole Glenois, in the Shoulder Bone.

The Neck, is the orbicular narrow place, a little below the head.

The Trochlea is the other extremity or bottom of the Arm bone which hath two cavities, of which the external is wider than the internal, and are termed

The Condili inferior or interior, the inner or least cavity, for receiving of the Coronal Apophyses of the Radius, one of the Cubit Bones. Condili exterior, or superior for the other.

The Cubitus is the second part of the Arm, and is from the Elbow to the Wrist, and doth consist of two Bones; the Shuttle Bones.

The Radius is the exterior and lesser Bone in the outside of the Arm, called the Wand Bone, and Focile minus.

The Ulna, and of some called Cubitus, having the name of the whole, and is the greater and inner Bone of the lower part of the Arm; the Ell or Cubit Bone, or Focile major.

The Sygmoids, or Sygmoides, are the cavities at the extremity of the Ulna, which embraceth the end of the Trochlea of the Arm.

The Olecranon, is the Coronal Bunch or end of the Bone, which joins to the Wrist, called Radius.

The Stylois, or Styloides, are the ends or bunches at the end of the Bones Ulna.

The Singlymus, is the String or Sinew which holds the Bones together at the Elbow.

The Carpus is the Wrist, and it consists of eight Bones set in two Orders.

The Arthrodia Diarthrodia, is the first Order of the Wrist Bones.

Melancholy, is a drooping of the Spirit, retiredness of Life, absenting from Company, and silence in Speech, an heaviness or sadness of the Mind.

Loathing, is to cast a thing off, when glutted and laded with it.

Wrath, Anger, Fury, is a perturbation of the Mind, and an unsettling of the Animal Faculties.

Weariness of Mind, is the dulling of the Senses and Faculties by over much Labour, Watchfulness, or expectation of a thing, when it is perceived a delay.

Despair, is the desire of a thing, and yet never to be in hopes of attaining it; or to be afflicted with Repentance, and yet out of hope of the thing.

Sympathy, is a mutual agreement between things either living and dead, Love and Concord.

Antipathy, is a disagreement or hatred amongst the Creatures, one to or with another.

Shame, Shamefastness, is a certain affection, mixt of Anger and Fear; therefore if in that Conflict Fear prevail over Anger, the Face waxeth pale; if Anger prevail, the Face is red.

Symptoms, are Signs and Tokens by which we may discern the passions of the mind; it is the discovery of every Change or Accident that happens to Man besides his own nature.

XCIII. In this Figure I present to your view, the Anatomy or Skeleton of a Man, that is (to say) the Bones contained in the same, whose several names and terms given to each particular Bone are as followeth.

Osteologia, is the description of Bones.

Bones in the Head.

The Skull is all the Bones of the Head, as they are united and knit together, the whole head termed so, as Cranium. Its upper part is double.

Calva, or Calvaria, the Skull or upper part of the Head, which by Old Age grows bald first.

Diploe, is the thin Plate or Shell of the Skull next the Brain.

The Brain Pan, is the top of the head, where there are several Bones set together by Sutures nicked one into another, like the joining together of Cockle Shells.

The Coronalis Suture of the Skull, which passeth transversely from one temple to another.

The Lambdoides, is the hinder part of the head, called also Os Occipitale, knit to the Bone of the top of the Head by the Lambdoid Suture.

The Os Frontis, or Frontal Bone of the Forehead called Bregma, or Pregma, which reacheth as far as the Coronal Suture: This Bone in Women is divided in the middle by the Sagittal Suture, and makes a cross on the head, by crossing of the two Sutures.

The Sagittalis Suture, is the Scheme which comes from behind the head, and goes to the top of the head to the Coronal Suture, and in Women crosseth it, and goes down the forehead even to the top of the Nose.

The Suturæ, are the Schemes of the Skull, those intervals or connections, which knit and unite the Bones together.

The Lambdoid Suture, is a Suture or Scheme in the hinder part of the head.

The Os Sincipitis, is the Bone on the top or forepart of the head, which is divided into two by the Sagittal Suture, the one called the right side, the other the left side of the Os Sincipitis.

The Os tempo. a., the Temple Bones, each side the Head, which is divided from the Bones of the forepart of the head, by a false or Bastard Suture.

The Os Petrosum, is the inside of the Bones of the Temples, so called from the hardness thereof.

The Squamosa Suture, the false or Bastard Suture, so called because it is not like any of the other Sutures: it joins the Bones of the Temple to the Bones on the top of the head.

The Os Sphenoides, called also Os Cuneale, and Basillare, the Cuneal Bone or Wedg Bone, which lies between the head and the upper Jaw.

The Colander Bone, is the Spongy Bone of the Nose.

The Os Ethmoides, or Spongoides, is the Bone of the Nose.

The Os Hyoides, is the Bone that supports the Larynx, Epiglottis and Tongue.

The Apophyses, are the several cavities or little holes in the Bones of the Skull, all which according to their situation, have several terms or names.

The Osbita, or Osbitary Bone, is the Bone which the Eye-hole is made of.

The Maxilla Superior, or the higher Jaw which consists of several smaller Bones all joined together by Sutures, or Harmonia.

The Melon Bone, or Os Zygomaticus, is the Bones of the Jaw just under the holes of the Eyes.

The Os Unguis, or Osiculum lacrimale, is the hole made in the Bone of the Nose, by which the matter that makes Tears passes to the Nostrils.

The Os Maxilla superior, the upper Jaw Bone, the Bone in the fore part of the Jaw, that contains the middle part of the Teeth. It hath 11 Bones belonging to it, 5 on each side, and one without a fellow; others say 12, six on each side.

The Alomer, is a Bone at the Pallat, which holds up the Bridg of the Nose.

The Maxilla Inferior, or Mandibula, the Mandible or under Jaw Bone, which is one entire Bone; yet hath several names for its parts, as

The Aliformis, a Bone made like a Wing, which is fixed in the Basis of the Skull. Belenoides, is the process or shooting forth of the said Bone.

The Basis of the Jaw, is the middle or fore part of it, which makes the Chin.

The extremities of the Jaw, are the Angles or ends of the Jaw where they are fixt to the Skull.

The Corone, is the sharp Angle of the end of the Jaw.

The Condylus, is the rounder end, and is called Articulatoxia, because it serves for the Articulation of the Jaw; that is, for the joining or growing together of the Bones.

The Gingiva, is the Gum part where the Teeth be set, called the Sockets or Teeth holes in the Jaw.

The Dentes or Teeth, which have names according to their being or situation in the Jaws; the outmost are Cutters; next each side them Dog Teeth; and those in the Mouth Grinders; and the furthestmost Eye Teeth, being in number about 30 or 32.

The Hamillary Production, is that part of the Nose where Smelling is exercised.

The

Bones in the Trunk,

The Trunk, called Truncus; contains such Bones as are in the Back, Breast and Loins.

The Spondils or Vertebrae, are the Rack Bones, or Back Bones, or the Chine Bones, which extend from the Head to the Breech, or Os Coccy; in which there are generally 34 Rack Bones; of which seven are in the Neck, 12 in the Back, 5 in the Loins, four in the Holy Bone, and six in the Rump Bone.

The Rachis or Back Bone, as they are all joined together.

The Os Sacrum, is the Bone just under the Loins, the Holly Bone.

The Os Coccy, is a Bone at the end of the Holy Bone, called the Cripper Bone, the rump or seat, or Rump Bone.

The Chest or Breast, called Os Pectoris, or Sternum, the Breast Bone to which the Ribs are joined.

The Clavicula, or Collar Bone, is the top part of the Sternum, whose figure represents an S; these two bones each side one, retain the Scapula, or shoulder bones in the ir proper seat; the Chanel Bones.

The Os Hyoides, called also Epiphoides; it is a Cartilage or gristly Bone at the lower end of the Sternum or Breast bone, called also the Sword like Cartilage.

The Cartilaginous part of the Ribs, are the ends of all the Ribs that join to the Sternum.

The Crag or Neck Bone, the Vertebrae.

The Ribs, called Costa, are in number 23 or 24, twelve on one side, and eleven or twelve on the other; all of them join to the Back Bones of the Chin; of which the seven highest join to the Breast Bone or Sternum; the other five on a side are open, and are called Barbar Ribs.

The Costae Nothae, the Barbar Ribs, or short Ribs.

The Spine Bone, is the Bone over against the Seat or Rump Bone, the Bony Vault or Arch; which Bone Women have only, and is for a guard for their Womb, called also Os Pubis.

The Hip Bone, called Os Ilium, or Ichi, is the Bones each side the Flank Bone.

The Acetabulum, is the hollow Concave in the Hip Bone, which receiveth the head of the Thigh Bone. The Socket of the Hip Bone.

The Scapula or Omo-plata, or shoulder Blade, which hath terms for the several parts of it, as

The Coracois, or Ancyroides; is the process in the Shoulder blade over the Glenois, where the Arm Bone is set, and the process over the hole. Called the Anurois, or Anchoralis.

The Spina Scapulae, is a process of the Bone shooting out from the other part like a round Bone.

The Superiour and inferiour Angles of the Scapula are the higher and lower points of the Shield or shoulder blade.

The Basis of the Scapula, is the edges or extremities of the Bone.

The Inter-scapulum, is the pits, or hollowness of the Shoulder blade on each side the Spina, or spinal part, one pit is above the prominence of the Spina, the other pit below it.

The Pterygium, or crest of the Spina, is the middle part or prominence of the Spina.

The Acromium, is the broad extremity of the Shoulder bone, the broad end.

The Glenoids, is the cavity of the neck of the Bone at the Coracois process, where the head of the Arm bone turns in.

The Spina Vertebrae, or Spondilis, is the spine or point, or the bunch of the Spondile Bone of the back; and is used for any point or bunch, or process of any Bone, with the name of the Bone, as Spina Scapulae, &c.

Bones in the Arm and Hand,

The Omo-plata or Scapula, is the Shoulder Bone, which most Anatomists join to the Arm, as being a part of it; but I have joined it to the Trunk, as is before said.

The Brachium, or the Arm, which contains all from the Shoulder to the Wrist.

The Humerus, is the highermost Bone in the Arm, that between the Elbow and Shoulder; the Arm Bone, the Bone in the Brawn of the Arm, which hath several terms for its diverse parts.

The Head is the round top of the Bone, which goeth into the hole Glenois, in the Shoulder Bone.

The Neck, is the orbicular narrow place, a little below the head.

The Cochlea is the other extremity or bottom of the Arm bone which hath two cavities, of which the external is wider than the internal, and are termed

The Condili inferior or interior, the inner or least cavity, for receiving of the Coronal Apophyses of the Radius, one of the Cubic Bones. Condili exterior, or superior for the other.

The Cubitus is the second part of the Arm, and is from the Elbow to the Wrist, and doth consist of two Bones; the Shuttle Bones.

The Radius is the exterior and lesser Bone in the outside of the Arm, called the Wand Bone, and Forcile minus.

The Ulna, and of some called Cubitus, having the name of the whole, and is the greater and inner Bone of the lower part of the Arm; the Ell or Cubit Bone, or Forcile major.

The Sygmoids, or Sygmoides, are the cavities at the extremity of the Ulna, which embraceth the end of the Croclea of the Arm.

The Olecranon, is the Coronal Bunch or end of the Bone, which joins to the Wrist, called Radius.

The Stylois, or Styloides, are the ends or bunches at the end of the Bones Ulna.

The Singlymus, is the String or Sinew which holds the Bones together at the Elbow.

The Carpus is the Wrist, and it consists of eight Bones set in two Orders.

The Arthrodia Diarthrodia, is the first Order of the Wrist Bones.

The Anthrodia Synarthrosis, is the second Order of the Wrist Bones.

The Metacarpus, is the After Wrist, and is four bones, of which the back of the Hand is composed.

The Pollex, or the Thumb, which is composed of 3 Bones.

The Deltoides, the Joints in the Thumb or Fingers.

The Aggion or Ancon, is the Elbow or Bending of the Arm.

The Os Digiti, the Finger Bones, each Finger consisting of three Bones.

The Articulus, the Knuckles, the joints at the back of the Hand, called also condili manus, the knots or Knuckles of the hand.

Bones in the Thighs and Feet:

The Os Coxa, or the Thigh Bone, called also Os Corendix, it is from the Hips to the Knee.

The Rotator, is the greater outward process of the top of the Thigh Bone, called also Trochanter.

The - - - - - head, is the round Coronal that goes into the Os Ilium, or Hip-bone, the superior Appendix.

The - - - - - neck of the said Appendix.

The - - - - - Head of the inferior Appendix, that as joins to the Leg Bone, and makes the Knee.

The Pola, or Petella, or Knee-Pan; the Uthiri Bone of the Knee; the Joint Bone. Called also the Epigonatis, or Ratuli.

The Tibia, is the great Bone of the Leg; the Shin-Bone. Radius.

The Os Parastrata, or Parastracia, the Spindle Bone in the Shank.

The - - - - - cavity of the Tibia, that receives the Thigh Bone into it.

The Fibia, the small Bone that lieth along the outside of the Shin Bone, the Brace Bone, Fibula.

The Halleolus, or the Ankle Bone; the outer termed the exterior Ankle, and the inner the interior Ankle.

The Carlus, the Wrist, or the seven Bones joined in three Rows or Orders; the first termed Os Astragali, Os calcanei, and Os Cuneiformia, or Cymbiforme, or Os Cubiforme, the Heel Bones; in Beasts the Pastern.

The Metatarsus, is the five Bones, of which the top and sole of the Foot is composed; the Instep Bones.

The great Toe Bones, Os Hallus, or Hallux.

The Phalanx, or row of Toe Bones.

The Toes, consisting of three Bones apiece. Pollex Pedis.

The Crus, the Leg, the Shank, that as is between the Knee and the Ankle, consisting of two Bones, Carlus and Metatarsus.

The Sesamois, or Sesamoides, the great and little Bones about the roots of the Toes; the Seed Bones of the Foot, called also Osticula Sesamina.

The Calc or Heel, called also Calcaneus. Calchoidea, those Bones as succeed the Ankle.

The Calus, or Os Ballistae, the Cockall Bone, the Bone, just under the Ankle Bone.

*

The Os Naviculare, the second row of Bones, order of the Carlus, or Wrist Bones under the Ankle.

The Pedium, or After-Wrist, the same as Metatarsus.

The Metapedium, the outermost Bones in the Foot.

A Bone, termed Os, or Osean part, is the larger of the Body; they are strong and hard; some solid, others hollow, some firm Bone, others porous spongy.

A Cartilage or Gistle, is not so hard as a Bone, yet in Old Men sometimes degenerates into a Bone.

The Number of Mans Bones,

The number amongst Anatomists is very uncertain, some say there is 300, others 307, others 242; but in the Skeleton of a Man there are 256 necessary Bones in the Structure of it, which are thus numbered.

Of the Skull, 8	In the Omoplate, 2
In the upper Jaw, 11	In the Arms, 2
In the neather Jaw, 1	In the Cubits, 4
In the Os Hyois, 3	In the Wrists, 16
Teeth, 32	In both the Metacarpus, 8
In the Back Bone, 24	In the Fingers, 30
In the Os Sacrum, 3	In each Foot, 24
In the Coccyx, 3	In the Ilium, 2
In the Clavicula, 2	In the Thighs, 2
Ribs, 24	In the Legs, 4
In the Sternum, 3	In the Knees, 2
In each Hand, 24	In the Toes, 28

The Muscles of the Body.

Face.

The Muscles are certain Ropes, or Links, or Straws that run all over the Body from Head to Foot, to tie all the parts and Limbs together; of which Anatomists reckon 405 to be in every Man; they are also termed Nerves and Tendons.

The Musculus Frontalis, is the Frontal or forehead Muscle.

The Musculus Latus, the broad Muscle that covers the neck, face, and the fore and side parts of the head.

The Musculus Ciliaris, is that as compasseth the Eye-lids.

The Ocular Muscle, is that as draws up the Eye-lid.

Eyes,

The Musculus Ocularis, is the Muscle of the Eye, about which parts there are reckoned six, as

The Supernus and Attollens Oculum, is the upper, and the Eye up-lifter Muscle.

The Infernus and Deprimens Oculum, is the lower, and eye depresser, which causes the Eye to look downwards.

The

The Musculus Lectorius, is the reader, or students Muscle, it draws the Eye sideways.

The Indignatorius Musculus; is the disdaigners Muscle, and is at the small corner of the Eye, and draws the Eye outward.

The Musculus obliquus, or Trochleator; is a Muscle that holds the Eye stiddy.

The Musculus obliquus minor; is a Muscle for the same purpose.

Ear

The Musculus Auricularius; the Ear Muscle, which lodgeth at the root of the Ear.

The Musculus ----- is that as is fastned to the auditory passage, or hole of the Ear.

The Musculus ----- is that Muscle as is in the Concha, and is fastned to the Mallet.

Nose

The Musculus Nasi, or Nose Muscles; in which part there are six, whose actions are these, to dilate draw up and let down &c.

Lips

The Musculus Labii, is the Muscles of the Lip, which as they are two, so each hath its proper Muscles, as well as the common Muscles belonging to both.

Mouth

The Musculus Communis, or the common Muscles of the Lips, are such as serve the Mouth, which are

The Zygomaticus Musculus, is that as terminates in the meeting of the Lips.

The Musculus Buccinator, or the Trumpet Muscle; or the Cheek driver, it serves to open the Mouth.

The Sphincter, or Musculus Pylorus; is a Muscle as draws the Mouth together.

Jaw

The Temporal Muscle, is that as lifts up the Jaw.

The Pterygoideus internus, or Massester internus; is an other Muscle which helpeth the temporal.

The Musculus Digastricus, or the Two-bellied Muscle; is that as draws the Jaw down.

The Musculus latus, or the broad Muscle, is also a helper to draw the Jaw down.

The Pterygoideus externus, or the external wing fashioned Muscle; is that as forceth the Jaw forward, when the higher teeth stands further out then the lower.

The Massester, or Chaw Muscles; is that as draws the Jaw this way, and that way in Chawing.

[]

Os Hyoides

The Genio-hyoideus; is a Muscle which is in the Chin, and is fixed in the Os Hyoides, to move and lift it up.

The Mylo-hyoideus, is a Muscle that assisteth the foresaid, and comes from the grinding teeth of the under Jaw.

The Sterno-hyoideus, is a Muscle from the Breast-bone, and draws the Os Hyoides downwards.

The Stylocera-hyoideus, is a Muscle fixed to the horns of the Os Hyoides.

Tongue

The Glossoglossus Muscle, it forceth the tongue outwards.

The Basilglossus Muscle, is that as draws the tongue backwards.

The Styloglossus Muscle, is it as moves the tongue to both sides.

Larynx

The Hyothyroideus Muscle, is it as moves the Larynx upwards.

The Musculus Bronchius, it moves the Larynx downwards.

The Crico-thyroideus Anticus Muscle, serves to dilate and widden, the Thyroides; which is a movable gristle in the Larynx.

The Crico-thyroideus lateralis Muscle, is that as contracts, and narrows the said Thyroides.

The Thyro-Arytaenoideus Muscle, is that as opens the gristle Arytaenoides, in the Wind-pipe, or Weazen.

The Arytaenoideus Muscle, is that as shuts the same gristle, and compasses about the Glottis, to make the voice sound the better.

Gullet

The Muscles of the Pharynx, or Gullet; are seven, of which three have fellows, and four are without companions.

The Spheno-Pharyngeus, it draws the Gullet upwards.

The Cephalo-Pharyngeus Muscle, covers the Gullet, and is as if it were the coat thereof.

The Stylo-Pharyngeus Muscle, it widens the Gullet.

The Muscle Oesophageus, it draws up the Gullet, or closeth it.

Pallat

The Muscle Ptery-staphylinus externus; it lies, or is inserted into the side of the Uvula.

The Ptery-staphylinus internus; is a Muscle hath its original at the Pterygoide, and ends at the Uvula.

G g g 2

Head

Head

The Muscles of the Head are proper, or common : and those are many, but these are only named.

The Muscle Mastoideus ; it serves to bow the head, and arises from the top of the Breast bone.

The Extenders, are six Muscles which extend the Head.

The Splenius Muscle, is in the hinder part of the Neck.

The Complexus Muscle, it ends in the after part of the Head.

The Rectus Major, and Rectus Minor ; are Muscles that arise from the Back-bone, and run to the hinder part of the Head.

The Muscles obliquus major and minor, are those that arise from the Spine, or point of the second Vertebra, and end in the after part of the Head.

Neck

The Neck Muscles are eight, on each side four.

The Musculus Longus, or Rotundus Major : comes out of the third Vertebra, or Knuckle bone of the Back, and ends in the first, which serves to bend the Neck.

The Scalenus Muscle, or the uneven-sided Muscle ; it helpeth to bend the Neck.

The Extenders, are Muscles to stretch out the Neck.

The Spinatus Muscle, arises from the seven uppermost Spondils or Vertebra's, and ends in the second of the Neck.

The Transversarius Muscle, riseth from the Back, and is planted in all the transverse eminencies in the Neck.

Shoulders

The Scapular Muscles, are four in number.

The Muscle Levator propius, doth lift up the Shoulder blade.

The Muscle Trapezius, it causeth diverse motions, according to the direction of the Fibres.

The Muscle Serratus minor, is it that draws the Shoulder blade forwards.

The Rhomboides Muscle, draws it backwards.

The Musculus Latissimus, is said to draw the Shoulder blade downwards, although its own weight doth return it to its natural situation.

Arms

The Muscles of the Arms are nine in Number.

The Muscle Deltoides, and Supra Spinatus ; is that as moves it upwards, called the Arm lifter's Muscle.

The Musculus latissimus, and Rotundus major ; also called the Arm Depressers ; is that as sets the Arm fall.

The Pectoralis, and Coracobrachialis ; this Muscle draw the Arm forward to the left Shoulder.

[]

The Muscles Infra-spinatus, Rotundus minor, and Inertus ; are three that move the Arm backwards.

Elbow

The Cubite, and Radius, have diverse motions, and are knit together by diverse Articulations. The Cubit guides the motion of bending, and extending ; the Radius directs the motion of Pronation and Supination.

The Muscles Biceps, and Brachialis internus ; are two Muscles seated in the internal part of the Arm, and bends the Arm : termed also the Cubit Benders.

The Muscles Longus ; and Brevis Brachialis externus ; and Agoneus, or Cubitalis : serve to extend, or stretch out the Cubit. Called also the Cubit Extenders.

The Longus Spinator, and the Brevis Spinator ; are two external Muscles, which draw the Radius downwards.

Wrist

The Wrist is stretched forth, bended, and laterally moved, by two Muscles.

The Muscles Cubitus, and Radius ; bend down the Wrist, and are termed, the Wrist Benders.

The Radius externus, or Vicinis ; and the Cubitus externus ; are the extenders of the Radius.

Palm

The Palmer Muscles are two.

The long Palmar Muscle, and the short Palmar Muscle ; serve to make the hand hollow, or make Digenes dish, to drink out of.

Fingers

The Musculus sublimis, and the Musculus profundus ; are two Muscles, which bend the four Fingers.

The Lumbricales, or the four Worm Muscles ; are those that are carried to the first articulation of every Finger, where they unite themselves to the Inter-ossians.

The Extensor magnus, the great extender of the Fingers, which also cause other motion.

The Interossean Muscle, serves to move the Fingers sideways : which motion is commonly termed, adduction, or a drawing to the Thumb : and abduction, a drawing from the Thumb.

The Extensor Indicis, the Muscle that stretcheth out the Fore-finger.

The Extensor magnus Digitorum ; the extender of the great or long Finger.

The Extensor Auricularis, the stretcher out of the little, or ring Finger.

The Hypothenar, is a Muscle peculiar to the little Finger.

The Extensive Muscle, which is proper to the Fore-finger, to point withal.

Thumb

Thumb

The Thumb hath peculiar Muscles, by which it bends, extends, and moveth sideways: which are termed the Extenders, Benders, and Lateral movers.

The Thenar Muscle, draws the Thumb from the Fingers.

The Antithenar Muscle, is that as draws the Thumb to the Fingers.

The Hypothenar Pollicis, this Muscle draws the Thumb, to the four other Fingers.

Breast

The Chest, or Breast hath in it five Muscles, as:

The Muscles Subclavius, and Serrator Major, and the Triangularis, or the Pectoralis Internus Muscles: which three lie before, and help the Breast to widen, and lift up.

The Pollicus Serratus superior: is a Muscle seated behind.

The External Intercostal Muscle: which are eleven Muscles which holds the place of one.

The Sacro Lumbus: the Intercostalis internus; and Serratus Pollicus inferior: are three Muscles that contract and narrow the Breast.

The eleven internal Intercostals: are reckoned to be but one Muscle. It has Fibres contrary to those of the External, cross-wise intersected.

Midriff

The Diaphragme, or Midriff, is an admirable kind of Muscle, which is in continual action, and serveth as a Wall of partition to sever the things of the Breast, from the others of the Belly.

Back, and Loins.

The Back-bone, and Loins are bowed, extended, and drawn aside, by these Muscles.

The Musculus quadratus, is that as boweth the Back.

The Semi-spinatus Muscle, extends the Loins, and therefore called the extenders of the Loins: or moves them forward.

The Musculus Sacer, moves the Loins backward, as the aforesaid moves forward, in the Genial embraces, tending to Procreation.

The Muscle Sphincter, is that as shuts up the Fundament, and contracts the Bladder.

Testicles

The Cremaster Muscle, it draws the Testicles upwards, and there retains them in that posture.

The Dartus Muscle, is the Membrane of the Scrotum, or Cod.

The ----- is the round fleshy Muscle, which being'rouled back over the Prostata, doth shut the Neck of the Bladder; which being made broad it expels the Urine. []

The Internal Sphincter Muscle, is the fleshy Neck of the Bladder which very exactly covers, or closes the Bladder.

Yard

The Yard hath four Muscles, which are these:

The Musculus Erector, is the Yards erecter.

The Accelerator Muscle, it is that as quickens out the seed, and brings out the drops of Urine, upon conclusion of prime.

The Elevator, elevates the external Fundament, by which the Fundament is raised, and the Excrements are forced out. There are four of these Muscles, each doing his office, yet all have but one name.

Thigh

The Thigh Muscles, are these following.

The Musculus Glutei, or Glutij: that is the Buttock Muscle, by which we stand, or extend the Thigh.

The Glutius Maximus, & Ertimus: the greatest, and outmost Buttock Muscle.

The secundus, and medius Glutius: the second, and middle Buttock Muscle.

The tertius, and intimus Glutius: the third, and innermost Buttock Muscle, by all which the Loins stand, and are extenuated.

The Primus Lumbaris, or Loin Muscle, called Psoas, or Psoa, and the parvus Psoas: by which and the two following Muscles, the Thigh is bended.

The Iliacus Musculus, the Iliac Muscle: is seated in the inner side of the Thigh.

The Pectineus Muscle, is seated on the out side, called the Comb Muscle.

The Muscle Triceps, or the three headed Muscle: hath three originals, and as many insertions: they are seated in the hinder part of the Thigh, and serve to move it to the inside; a drawer to, or inward.

The Quadrigemi, or Quadrigeminal Muscles: are four little Muscles interchangably placed upon the articulation of the Thigh, in the hinder part thereof: and serves to withdraw, or draw the Thigh to the outside, and to strengthen the Leg being stretched out.

The Obturator External Muscle, is that as helps the Thigh in an oblique way, to wheel about.

The Obturator Internus, or the internal wheeler; is a Muscle on the inner side the Thigh, whose act is to direct and govern the external wheeler; in the wheeling of the Thigh.

Leg

The Sutorius Muscle, draws the Leg inwards, or toward the other Leg.

The Membranous, or broad Swath Muscle: draws it outward.

The Leg benders, are Muscles to bend, or bow the Leg, which are four in number, viz.

The Semi-Nervosus, or half sinnewed Muscle.

The

The Semi-Membranosus, or half Membranary Muscle, both these are seated in the inside of the Leg.

The Biceps Muscle, is seated on the outside of the Leg: having two Heads, or tendons, on the top where it proceeds from the thigh.

The Gracilis, or Pollicus Gracilis, is a Muscle that arises from the Hip-bone, and goes the inside of the thigh: and is inserted or seated in the inner part of the Leg.

The Muscle Popliteus, is a bender of the Leg, and lies under the Ham; and is oblique inserted, in the hinder part of the Leg.

The Membranous, or Membranary Muscle; is in the forepart of the Leg, and girds in the Muscles of the Leg, like a Membranous Swath: it serves to extend, and stretch out the Leg.

The Musculus Sutorius, the crossing Muscle; taken from the Taylor's sowing cross legged: the Sowers Muscle.

The Rectus Gracilis, is inserted in the fore-part of the Leg.

The Vastus externus, and the Vastus internus; are two Muscles that are inserted in the inner, and out-sides of the Leg; a little below the Patella.

The Musculus Crureus, or Crural Muscle; is in the forepart of the Leg: these are united altogether about the Knee, and produce, but one only tendon, which is very broad and strong.

Feet

The Tibius, or Tibius Anticus; is one of the Foot benders Muscle, whose end is slit into two tendons.

The Peroneus, or Peroneus Anticus; is a Muscle that helps to bend the Foot.

The Gemini, or Twins Muscle, or else called Gastrocnemius: which make the belly, or swelling in the call of the Leg.

The Plantaris Musculus, is a Muscle under the Heel, by the inner Ankle-bone.

The Soleus Muscle, is a broad and thick one, and is inserted by a tendon mixt with the Gemini, into the hinder part of the Heel.

The Chora magna, is an exceeding thick, and strong Tendon, and is made of the Gemini, and Soleus Muscles mixt together in their inferior parts.

The Tibius Posticus Muscle, and the Peroneus Posticus; are two hinder Muscles; by which the Foot is extended.

The Peroneus Anticus, and the Peroneus Flexor; are two Peronean Muscles, whose office is to extend the part, being situated behind.

Toes

The Musculus longus, and brevis; are two Muscles, a long and short: by which the toes are stretched out. Called the Toe-stretchers.

The Pedican Muscle, or Brevis Digitum Tensor; or the short toe stretcher, is that Muscle whose tendons are inserted into all the joynts, or Articulations of the toes. []

The Peto-Dactyleus, is a Muscle in the bottom of the Foot, whose tendons are inserted in the third joynt, of the four toes.

The Pedius internus, or Brevis Digitum Flexor; or the short toe benders, whose office is to bend the toes.

The Inter-ossean Muscles, are eight in number, four external, and four internal; by them the toes move oblique, and sideways.

The Lumbical, or Worm fashioned Muscle; has its original from the Heel.

The Extensor Pollicis, or the great Toe stretcher Muscle.

The Abductor Pollicis, is a Muscle which draws aside the great toe.

The Tendon, is used for a Muscle or Nerve; but the genuin and proper signification, is those Muscles which branch out into two, three, or four ends; those ends are the Tendons, of such and such a Muscle.

The Arteries of the Body.

An Arterie, is a Membranous Channel of the same Nature of a Vein, but harder and thicker.

The Coronariae, or Crown Arteries; are two springing out of the Ventricle of the Heart; and compass the Heart like a Crown.

The Trunk of the Aorta, or Arterie; is the main Body of the Arteries: from whence others branch forth.

The Ascendant Arterie, and Descendant Arterie; are the two branches which come from the Trunk, or the Trunk is divided into, a little without the Paricardium.

The Subclavia Dextra, is the Arterie on the right side, proceeding from the ascendant Arterie.

The Carotis Sinistra, is that as issues from the ascendent, and ascends to the left side: called the Sleepy Arterie, or Carotick Arterie.

The Subclavia Sinistra, is another of the three Arteries, which proceeds from the ascendent Arterie, and goes upward in the left side.

The Arillaris Arterie, is near the Arm-pits.

The Arteria Crevicalis, is an Arterie near the Shoulder point.

The Inter-costal Arteries, are such as be in the Chest, or Breast.

The Lumbal, or Loyn Arteries, are such as be in the Belly.

The Temporal Arteries, are them in the Fore-head, and Temples.

The Choracica Arterie, is from the Arm-pit, to the bending of the Arm, in which progress it bestows certain twigs, upon the bordering parts.

The Ramus minoris, the Arteries on the inside of the Arm, by the Radius bone, is felt to beat at the Wrist. Called the Pulse, or Arterie of motion, which sends forth its twigs to the Thumb, and Fingers.

The Arteria Cruralis, or Crural Arterie; descends the Thigh without any division to the Ham, then brancheth into two parts, one runs the outside, the the other the inside down the Heel.

The Arteria Ctenosa, is an Arterie in the Breast.

The Celiac Artery, is seated in the higher Region of the Belly.

The Nerves of the Body.

A Nerve, or Sinew, is a Channel made to carry animal Spirits; and because this Spirit is most subtle, therefore the Cavity is so small, that it is not discernable. It is of a substance much harder, & more fibrous than an Arterie.

A Nerve, a Tendon, and a Ligament; are imperceptibly taken for one, and the same thing by some Chirurgeons.

Ten pair of Nerves proceeds from the obliterated Marrow within the Skull; though the Ancients only acknowledge seven therein. Below the Skull they reckon thirty pair; seven from the spinal Marrow in the Neck; twelve from the same in the Back; five from the Loins; and six from the Os Sacrum.

Belly

The Diaphragmaticus, or Diaphragmatick Nerve; are two Midriff Nerves, which goes through the Neck, into the Arms.

The Recurrentes, or Recurrent Nerve, is of two branches, one bending back, where the Aorta is bowed in; and the bending of the right Nerve, at the right Subclavian Arterie.

The Stomachicus, or Stomachick Nerve; are also two, and lie beneath the Heart: and from them are ten, or twelve Sprigs or twigs, drawn into the Lungs. The Stomachical Nerve.

The Nervorum mirabilis Plexus, are the Nerves or small branches of the two Stomachick Nerves, which being folded, and fettered together, makes that contexture of Nerves, out of which, all the Nerves are derived, which are distributed into the lower Belly.

Head

The Olfactory Nerve, is that as preserveth the smell. The Ophthalmick or Optick Nerve, or Visorius Nervus; is that which moves the Eyes.

The Pathetick or Gustatory Nerve, is that which perceiveth tastes, being inserted into the Tongue and Palate, for that purpose.

The Timidus, or fearful Nerve; is that as serves the Organ of hearing.

The Parvagum Nerve, is that which moves the Tongue and Muscles of the Neck.

The Costales, or Costal Nerves; are two Nerves proceeding from the Brain, to the Back: where it is made stronger by adding of three small Nerves: and after that by two more.

Arms

The primus Nervus, is beneath the shoulder, and runs below the bending of the Arm.

[]

The secundus Nervus, or second Nerve; is undivided, and thicker, descending below the bent of the Arm.

The tertius Nervus, or third Nerve; is carried all along the Arm to the Wrist, and so to the little Finger; at the hand it is divided into four branches, and so spread into the outside, or back of the Hand, and to the Finger ends.

The quartus Nervus, or fourth Nerve; is the thickest of any of the other, and is carried all the Back of the Arm, and so is lost at the Wrist.

Thighs

The ----- are Nerves of the fore-side of the thigh distinguished in the originals but soon grow together, & become one Cord, which runs unto the Groin; where it is distributed into five branches.

The Lumbal Nerves, are from the Loins.

The ----- is a very great and thick Nerve, which glides along the hinder part of the thigh: which in its original, or beginning is made up of sometimes three, sometimes four small strings: it proceeds to the Ham.

The ----- are the branches of the thigh Nerve, and they run down the calf of the Leg to the Heel, dealing out little Nerves in its passage: and at the sole of the Foot runs into as many branches, as there are toes.

The ----- is a Nerve which is carried into the fore-part of the foot, and there brancheth to all the toes.

The Contexture of Nerves, or Intertexture of Nerves; which are Nerves woven together of the Stomachick, and Costal Nerves: concurring on both sides the lower Belly, from whence are derived all the Nerves, which are distributed into the several parts of the lower belly.

The Veins of the Body.

Breast

A Vein, is a Membranous Vessel, round and hollow; allotted to contain Blood, and to distribute it, for the nourishment of the Body and Vital parts.

The Vena Cava, the trunk Vein, or hollow Vein, is the great Vein in the Breast, which hath many little Veins branching from it into all the parts of the Body.

The Hepatica, or Hepatick Vein; is a branch that riseth from the top of the Liver, and carries the Blood to the Cava.

The Coronaria, or Crown Vein; runs from the Trunk to the heart.

The Vena Porta, the Liver Vein; some say it hath no circulation: but extendeth its roots to the Liver, Spleen, Ventricle, Mesentery, Pancreas, Cawl, &c.

The Azygos, or Solitary Vein; a Vein without a fellow which nourisheth the Ribs.

The Valves, or Shutters of the solitary Vein; which resists the blood flowing in abundantly.

The

The Intercoſtales Venae, or intercoſtal Veins, are two, each ſide one, proceeding from the Vena Cava.

The Mammaria, or Dug Veins; which are two, run through the Breſt to the Dugs.

The Gastro Epiploica Vein, is a branch from the Vena Porta, or Gate Vein, and runs into the Stomach.

The Inteſtinal Vein, is another branch which runs to the Duodenum; and from thence ſends it to the Gall Bladder.

The Splenic Ven, and the Meſenterical Vein; are the two famous branches, which Vena Porta is divided into.

The Hemorrhoida Vein, is a branch of the Meſenterical, and paſſes to the right Gut.

The Cecalis Vein, paſſes to the Gut Cecum.

The Gastro Major Vein, is a branch of the Splenic Vein, and paſſes to the left ſide of the Stomach.

The Epiploica Vein, and the left Epiploica Venae; is diſtributed into the Omentum.

The Coronaria, or Crown Vein; runs into the Stomach.

The Vena Thoracica, is a Vein that compaſſeth the Breſt.

The Capillary Vein, is in the Head, and runs from the Eyes to the Adnata.

The Aorta Vein, ſpring out of the Heart, and divides it ſelf within the lower belly.

The Umbilical Vein, paſſes to the Liver.

The Vena Lactea, or the Milky Vein; it is a white Vein and carrieth Chyle in it.

The Vena Arterioſa, an Artery Vein; which carries Blood from the Heart to the Lungs.

The Vena Cystica, or the Gall Bladder Vein.

The Pulmonary Veins, is a branch from the Vena Cava running into the Lungs.

The Emulgent Veins, are ſuch as run in the Reins from the Vena Cava.

The Lymphaticae or Lymphatick Veins; thoſe that diſcharge themſelves either into the Sanguinary Veins or into the receptacle of the Chyle.

Arms

The Cervicalis, or Cervical Vein; is the Neck and Chin Vein.

The Internal Jugular Vein, it aſcends the Neck, and Head; and enters the Brain where it ends.

The External Jugular Vein; called externa Jugularis; which at the Head ſends forth two twigs, one paſſeth under the Shoulder point, & is united to the Vena Cephalica. The other runs to the Jaws, where it is divided into two.

The Vena Axillaris, a Vein by the Arm-pits.

The Cephalica, or Cephalick Vein, or Head Vein; it hath its courſe through the whole Radius.

The Thoracica, runs from the Cephalick Vein, to the external parts of the Cheſt. The Breſt Vein.

The Basilica, or Basilick Vein; is the Vein which in the bending of the Arm, branches into two parts, the one on the inſide the Cubitus, the other externally deſcends to the Hand.

The Ramus Internus, or Inner Branch Vein, called alſo Mediana Ven, or middle Vein; runs external to the Palm of the Hand.

[]

The Salvatella, or Salvatell Vein; is a Vein between the Ring Finger, and the little Finger.

The Vena Pollicis, or the Thumb Vein; is between the Thumb; and the Fore-finger.

Thighs

The Crural Vein, it doth in the Groin produce a remarkable branch, which deſcends to the Ham.

The Saphena Vein, is the branch of the Crural Vein, which runs from the Ham to the Ancles; and branches to the Feet.

The Vena Poplitea, is the Vein that goes to the Ancles; before which it is divided into two parts, and ſlips to the two Ancles.

The Ramus tertius, called alſo Iſchiadicus, is in the outward parts of the Ankle. Called the Sciatica, or Sciatick Vein.

The Muscularis Vein, runs to the Knee, all theſe Veins have twigs, and branches growing from them; which they contribute to their neighbouring parts, which in the whole amounts to three.

The Urin Tunells, the Veins of the Bladder, the white Veins. Called alſo Ureters.

The Emulgent Veins, ſuch as convey nourishment from the Liver to the Kidneys.

The Suralis, or Sural Vein, runs to the calf, and inſide of the Leg.

The Iſchias major, or great Iſchiadic Vein; hath two parts, one runs through the Muſcles of the calf, ſpending it ſelf into ten ſhoots, two to each Toe.

Veins for Bleeding.

There are 41 Veins chiefly for bleeding, viz. 17 in the Head, 3 in each Arm, 3 in each Hand, 4 in the Fundament, and 4 in each Leg

Head

1. Vena Frontis, or Preparata, or Recta; it lies in the middle of the Fore-head.
2. Vena Puppis, or after ſhip Vein; it lies in the hinder part of the Head.
3. Vena Temp-moralis, or Sterilis; is the temporal, or the Temple Vein.
4. Vena Auricularis, or Auricular Vein; it lies behind the Ears.
5. Vena Ocularis, or Ocular Vein; it lies between the Eyes, and Noſe.
6. Vena Naſalis, or Naſall Vein; the Noſe Vein which is in the middle of the Noſe.
7. Vena Ranalis or Ranal, or Ranular Vein; it lies juſt under the Tongue.
8. Vena Labialis, the Labial, or Lip Vein; it lies on the inſide of the Lip.
9. Vena Jugularis, or Jugular Vein; it lies in the Neck, and takes its original from the Aſcendent Vein, of Vena cava.

Arm

Arms

1. Vena Cephalica, or Cephalick, or Head Vein; lyeth in the bent of the Arm, on the outer side.
2. Vena Mediana, or Vena Matricis, the middle Vein; it lyeth in the same place between the Cephalick, and Basilick.
3. Vena Basilica, or Basilick Vein; it lies in the bent of the Arm on the inner side. It is called Vena hepatica, the Hepatick Vein, and Vena interna, the inward Vein.

Hands

1. Cephalica Vena, or Ocularis; is the Vein situated between the Ring Finger, and the little Finger.
2. Vena Salvatella, or Citularis, or Asiellaris; Veins between the Thumb and the Fore-finger
3. Vena funus Bachii, the Vein between the middle fingers.

Back

Vena Vertebra, a Vein elevated above the top of the Back-bone, running down to the Os Sacrum.

Venae Hemorroidales, or the Hemorrhoidal Veins of the Fundament, which ly on each side the Anus, or Arse-hole.

Venae Arterices, the Varick or black swollen Veins of the Thigh; but these are now rarely Blooded.

Legs.

1. Vena Poplatica, or Poplatick Vein, it lies in the ply or bent of the Ham, and comes from the Vena femoralis, or Femoral Vein.
2. Vena Saphena, or Saphenack Vein, it lies above the Ankle, on the inside.
3. Vena Sciatica, or Sciatick Vein, it lies above the Ankle on the out-side.
4. Vena Renallis, or Medium, the Renall, or Middle Vein, it lies in the Sole of the Foot under the bending.

*That Mans Life may vain appear,
He hath a Vein for each day in the Year.*

The Conjunction of the Bones.

A Juncture, or Junction, or Joint, is the setting of the Bones, and joining of them together by Ligaments and Ties.

Articulus, or Articulation, is the joining of Bones together, which are divided amongst themselves; and that is defined three ways.

Synchondrosis, or Synarthrosis, is when the joints are set together by obscure and no motion, which are all immovable, as in the Sutures of the Skull, Harmonia, and Emphosis; or else the joyning of bones by a Gistle.

Diarthrosis, is when the Joints have manifest motion.

Amphiarthrosis, is a neutral Articulation, and it is so hidden that one cannot discern the motion; as is manifest in the joint of the Ilium, and the Ankle with the Scaphoids.

Enarthrosis, is a kind of Joint when a large long head goes into a deep cavity.

Arthrodia, is when a depressed plain Head, is put into a shallow and superficial cavity; as the Jaw Bone, with the Bone of the Temples.

Enarthrosis Diarthrosis, is when a Joint is large and deep, yet the motion is manifest, as in the joint of the Ilium or Shoulder.

Arthron, Arthron, is a joint or connection of Bones proper for the performance of motion.

Enarthrosis Synarthrosis, is when the joint hath a large head and deep Socket, yet the motion obscure, as in the Articulation of the Ankle with the Scaphoids.

Arthrodia Diarthrosis, is a term shewing that the Joint is ebb, depressed and shallow, yet hath a quick and known motion, as in the conjunction of the Shoulder with the Omo-plata.

Arthrodia Synarthrosis, is a shallow Joint, with an obscure motion; as in the Wrist with the Metacarpus.

Ginglymus, is a mutual ingress of the Bones, that as circles, and that as enters in, have a like reception; and this is seen in several joints, termed either simple or compound, as Simple Ginglymus, is when it is made but of one only Articulation in the same part, as in the joint of the Elbow and Arm.

Compound Ginglymus, is when the Joint consists of a double Articulation in the same extremities, or in places distant of two or three Bones; the first is seen in the Vertebrae of the Neck; and the latter in the Cubitus and Radius, and of three in the Vertebrae of the Back and Loins.

Ginglymus Diarthrosis, is an even junction of even parts, with a motion, as in the Elbow.

Ginglymus Synarthrosis, is a joint of even parts, with an obscure or no motion; as in the Ankle to the Heel.

Trochois, or Ginglymus Trochois, is when the joints are even, yet the motion of conversion, or turning aside is apparent, as in joining of the first Vertebra of the Neck to the second; but this is referred to Arthrodia.

Harmonia, is a conjunction of Bones by simple touching, without mutual ingress, as the Cubitus and Radius.

Sutura, is the joining of Bones, as if the teeth of two Saws or two Combs were thrust one within another, and is altogether of one bigness and the same form, as in the seams of the Skull.

Emphosis, is when one Bone sticks fast and immovable in another, like a Nail in a Post.

Symphysis, is an Immovable conjunction of Bones, as though they were united, which nature brings forth at first divided, yet afterwards they grow together; some are united without any discernable Medium, others with a Medium interposed.

Synsarcosis, or Synsarcosis, is an immovable conjunction of the Bones, with a Nerve-medium, having a Nerve between the Bones.

Synsarcosis, is a Symphysis, or immovable conjunction of Bones, with a fleshy medium, or flesh between them.

Anchyle, is a contraction of a Joint.

Synchondrosis, this is when the Cartilage gristle is the medium of the union, or immovable conjunction in the Symphysis aforesaid.

Neurochondrosis, is a mixt or compound Symphysis, and it is only one, of the conjunction of a Nerve, and Cartilage to the Bones.

Anatripsis, is the bruising or comminution of a Bone, or the Stone.

Eracthema, is a Laxation or disjoining of the Bones, as when the head of the Bone is slipt out of its Socket.

Pararthema, is an incomplete disjoining, when the Bone is in some measure only removed, an imperfect disjoining.

Anchylolus, is a fault in the Articulation of Bones, the cavity of the Bone which should receive the head of another Bone being filled up, thrusts out the Bone by little and little; this causeth a lameness either by bowing the joint, or holding it streight out.

Ligament, is a Bond or tye, fastned to the head of the Bone, and middle of the socket, to hold them fast together, it is of a middle substance, between a Cartilage and a Membrane, softer than a Cartilage, and harder than a Membrane.

Membrane, a rough skin or Coat, yet soft and subject to dilatation, it is the covering of joints to keep them close in their place.

Fibra, is a thread or string stretched over a Membrane, or else interwoven therewith, to strengthen it, and help the motion of the Joints.

The four Humours of the Body.

A Humour, is the moisture of the Body.

Phlegm or Spittle, is a white moisture proceeding from the Stomach and Brain, which is without taste.

Choller, or hot humour, is yellow and bitter.

Melancholy, or black Choler, is a black and fower humour.

Sanguis, or Sanguine, or Blood, is a red and sweet moisture, running through all the parts of the Body.

The four Complexions of the Body.

The Sanguine Complexion, is cheerful, being hot and moist.

The Cholerick Complexion, is fierce and testy, being hot and dry.

The Phlegmatick Complexion, is sluggish and dull, being hot and moist.

The Melancholy Complexion, is sad and heavy, being cold and dry.

Outward shapes of the Body.

Complexion, is the outward shew or appearance of the Face, whether fair or not.

Ill, or Evilly Complexioned, is foul, ill favoured.

Good, or Well Complexioned, is Fair and Beautiful Faced.

Gross, or Purisy, or Plump Bodied, is to be fat and full Bodied.

Slender, Slank, or Lank, Meager, Starbelling, is a lean and slender Body, only Skin and Bones.

Features, is the shape and proportion of the Face and Body, as Well Featured, a handsome made Face, and proportioned Body.

Ill Featured, ill favoured, ill formed, or shaped.

Pale or Bleak, is when the Face is white, whitely coloured.

Ruddy, Well coloured, when the Face is White and red.

Meager, or thin faced, when it is thin, poor, and hollow.

Head

Wry Necked, when the Head stands crooked either to the right or left side.

Tout Headed, is to have a great head, of some termed a Toller, Mould, a Logger head, or Block head.

Coppe headed, or copped Crowned, is to have a high head.

Forehead

Peak Forehead, is when the Hair groweth down in a point.

High Foreheaded, when void of Hair.

Low Foreheaded, when the Hair groweth low down almost to the Eyes.

Beckle, or Bettle Browed, when Hair grows between the Eye-brows.

Nose.

Roman Nosed, to have the middle of the Nose Bunched, swelling up.

Hook Nosed, to be crooked, bending down at the end.

Bottle Nosed, to have it round at the end.

Flat Nosed, to have the Nose fallen down, or sunk in.

Sharp Nosed, to have a thin slender Nose, pointed at the end.

Saddle Nosed, to have the Nose crooked or bowed inwards.

Checks

Cheeks

Chuffe, or puff Cheeks, blob Cheeks; great and swelling out.
Hollow Cheeked, they have them sunk in, are slender and thin.
Pimple Cheeks, to have a certain kind of hole in the Cheeks.

Eyes

Blind, is not to have Eyes, or not see.
Single Eyed, to have one Eye, or to see but with one Eye.
Goggle Eyed, is to have the Eyes rouling, or turning, and always to be moving.
Squint Eyed, to sken or look awry, to see askew, or askent.
Pink Eyed, is little small Eyes.
Sand blind, or purblind; that cannot see, or discern things, but near at hand.
Blinkard, or Blinking; is to have the Eye-lids ever moving: so that there is no perfect sight.
Bierre Eyed, whose Eye-lids are always red, and Eyes running water.
Down looked, is to have the brows hang over the Eyes.
Out Eyed, when they stand out of the sockets: staring Eyes.

Lips

Blopper Lips, is to have Lips standing out, and hanging down.
Thin Lips, to have little or no Lips.
Wry Mouth, whose Mouth is turned to one side of the Face, or the other; not to be streight, is Wry and crooked.

Teeth

Butter Tushed, is when teeth stands out, and not in order.
Snaggle, or Rake toothed; is when the teeth stands at a distance, one from the other.
Butter Toothed, is to have broad and great teeth before.

Chin

Crooked Chinned, is to have the Chin stand to the right or left side.
Long Chinned, to have a long & sharp pointed Chin.
Flat, or broad Chinned.
Short Chinned, when the Mouth and Chin is near together.
Dimple Chinned, is to have a kind of hollow in the middle of the Chin, in the lower part.

[]

Ears

Loll Eared, that hath great slouch Ears, of some Lob Eared.
Prick Eared, whose Ears stand up, or are high above, and little below.
Flance, or Lap Eared; contrary to what is above-said.
Prin Eared, or Prinified; is to have no Ears, to have them cut off.

Back

Crook, or Camel backed; is to have the Back bunch, or stand out.

Arm

Dismembred, is to have any Member or part of the Body cut away.
Haimed, is to want the use of any Limb.
Withered, dried up, having no moisture in that part.
Shortned, when they are not proportionable to the rest of the Body.

Hand

Withered Hand, whose Hand, and Fingers, are so bowed as the same cannot be stretched out.
Bunch fingered, when the joynts stand out in knots: knotted Fingers.
Crook fingered, that cannot bend the joynts of the Fingers; or any one of them.

Legs

Lame, is to want the use of the Legs or Feet.
Halt, or Limp; is not to go upright.
Long Shanked, is to have Legs longer then naturally, and what the proportion of the Body requires: of an extraordinary length.
Bow Legged, or Shackle hammed; crooked Legs, bending outward.
Bow Legged, bending inward.

Feet

Crump Footed, that wants Feet, or Toes, or that they are not long stretched forth, as naturally they ought to be.
Splay Footed, to have great broad Feet.
Shammoe, to cast the toes outward in going.

Outward Diseases, and Distempers of the Body.

Kings Evil, is a running Ulcer, or Boil.
Ulcer, is a gathering of corruption, under the skin.
H h h 2 Scab,

Scab, is a dry sore, proceeding from a Pouk, or waterish Blister.

Blister, is the parting of the skin from the flesh, through some Water, or corrupt Humor gotten between the skin and flesh; or Strain; is the removing of a joint bone either in the hollow socket, or out of it; more then nature will suffer it.

Bruise, is the receipt of a wound in the flesh, when the skin is broken, which happens by crushing, or a blow.

Wound, when the skin and flesh is cut, or slashed, stabbed, or bitten.

Wheale, is the mark of a strip in the flesh, made by the lash of a rod, skuch, or whip.

Scar, a mark in the skin, and flesh, remaining after the wound is healed.

Impostume, a large gathering together of corruption out of the Body, or in the Body.

Ringworm, a Catter, or a Wolfe; are little, and great Wormes in the flesh, that eats from place to place.

Canker, and French-Pore; a kind of sore that eats the flesh all round about it.

Gangreen, is the deadness of the flesh, which makes it past feeling.

Blisters, Swine-Pore, and Small-Pore; sores like Blisters rising in any (or throughout) all the parts of the Body.

Rupture, is a gathering, or swelling of the Belly, or Cods; It is taken for the falling down of the Guis.

Scald, or Scurf; is a kind of dry scab in the Head.

Leprosie, a dry Scab, or Scurf, dispersing it self all over the Body; if not prevented, yet not easily cured.

Mumps, a swelling in the Jaw, and Cheeks.

Itch, Hange, Scurf; a breaking out which causeth scratching.

Gout, a pain in the joints, with a lameness of the Hands, and Feet: if the pain take there.

Sciatica, the Hip Gout, a pain in the Hips, causing lameness.

Cramp, a drawing together of the Nerves, and Sinews; a stiffness of the part grieved, with great pain.

Immoderate Fatness, which makes unwieldy, and unapt to go, or stand.

Leanness, Meager; proceeding from bad digestion: a leanness of Body.

Dropsie, a waterish Humor between the flesh and skin.

Defect in sweating, which is a kind of faintness; by reason of the openness, or closeness of the Pores.

Morphew, is a disease that dyeth the skin yellow, especially about the Mouth, and under the Eyes.

Water Bladders, and yellow Blisters; are Powks, or Tumors: the first containing Water, the other a kind of yellow Matter.

Carbuncle, or Blain; is the Boil, or breaking out of the Plague sore, or the Pestilence.

Elephantiasis, a swelling and cancerous tumor, over the whole Body.

Cillick, is a Haughing, and Choughing much together, a Cough without ceasing.

Suffocation, is a stoppage of the breath, difficulty of breathing.

Stich, or Plurisie; is a pricking of the sides.

[]

Inward Diseases, and Distempers in the Body.

Breast

The Eumpeima, a disease in the Cavity of a Woman's Breast, by the collection of quiter.

The Scirrhus, is the knobbedness of a Woman's Breast, as it were with the Kings-evil, by reason of the Kernels.

The Cancer in the Breast, which proceeds from the infection of the said Kernels.

The Inflammation, Ulcers, and Tumors of the Breast, proceeds from the crudling of the milk in the Breast.

The Peripneumonia, and inflammation of the Lungs, or pain on both sides.

The Mediastinum, and Pericardium; are subject to inflammations which causeth swotning, quickning the Pulse, strong Feavors, and vehement thirsts. They are often filled with abundance of Humors, which causes Suffocations, and overwhelms the Heart.

The Diaphragma, or Midriff inflammation; causeth Franzies, and a slow Consumption.

The Fluxions of the Lungs; infect them, which causeth the Consumption.

The Atonica, is an Impostume of the Lungs: a Puch.

The Asthma, is difficulty of breathing, by obstructions of the Lungs.

The Dyspnea, the lesser disease of difficult breathing.

The Orthopnea, the greater disease of difficult breathing.

The Cough, either moderate, vehement, or weering, by reason of the sudden shaking of the Lungs; and a Defluxion.

The Catarrh, is a sudden Defluxion, fierce, and cruel; which causeth a vehement Cough.

The Ulcers of the Lungs; happen through a fierce Cough.

The Fevor, is through the inflaming of the Heart; it is a hot, and burning disease: of which there is three kinds.

The Spirituosa, or Spiritual Fever; is the inflammations of the Vital Spirits. It is termed Ephemera, a days Fever.

The Humoralis, or Humoral Fever; is from the four humors.

The Pectica, or Pectick Fever; is an hot disease proceeding from the fixed Humors. But when they are all exhausted it is called Pectica Parasimodes.

The Putrid Fever, is when the humors are putrefied.

The Malignant Fever, is through extreme putrefaction.

The Invasio, the invasion, or beginning of the fit of a Fever.

The Eracerbatio, is the more then ordinary violence of continual Fevers.

The

The Periodus, or Circutus; the Period, or Circuit of the Fever: it is the intermission, and accession, or space between fits, which are various: as,

The Tertian Fever, or Ague; is when the fit comes every third day, that is every other day.

The Quartan Fever, or Ague; is every fourth day, or every third day from the fit day.

The Quotidian Ague, is a fit every day.

The Erratick Fever; is when one fit is gone, and then immediately follows, yet keep no certain course there: so called, the wandering giddy Agues.

The Epipla Ague, is both heat and cold.

The Leptotia Ague, its inward parts are hot, and outward cold.

The Cyphodes, or Eleadis; is a sweating Ague.

The Pestilential Fever, or Spotted Fever; is a burning disease, through extreme putrefaction: and called spots.

The Epostosis, is a swelling knot upon a bone, which rises from the General Pox.

The Caries, are the rottenness, and putrefaction of the bones, which is from the same extraordinary cause.

The Redmata, is a Defluction in the joynts, but especially infesting the Hip-bone.

The Hydarthrosis, and Synovia; is a continual Flux of a wheyish or bloody watry humor, out of exulcerated joynts. It is of some termed Meliceria.

Belly

The Ventrosus, or fat Guts; or Collatibus Enter, an Aldermans Belly: is a grosse, full standing out of the Belly.

The Apothemes, are swellings in the Abdomen, through the Liver, by the Ambilicat Vein.

The Cæsarian dissection, is to cut out the left side towards the Hypogastrium, to draw out a Child in difficult labour.

The Lithotomia, a Cutting for the Stone; out of the Bladder.

The Almage of Urine, is the cutting, or pricking near the Os Pubis; by which it is drawn out, when a Catheter cannot be put in.

The Utrix, is the water of a Dropsie.

The Paracentesis, is the operation of peircing the bottom of the Hypogastrium near the Navel, to draw out the Dropical water.

The Cutaneous diseases, are such as belong to the skin, which if they continue long; they will have their foundation in the Bell, and fatty Membrane, which causeth shivering, shaking, and trembling.

The Inflamations, and Impostumes of the Pustles; are pains arising by Winds.

The Bastard Collick, is the Serosus, & sharp Collick humors, which get amongst the doubling of the Petitionum, but have no foundation at all within the Guts.

The Collick, is a Wind in the Belly and small Guts; which disease is bitter, and of long continuance. Called the Black Passion.

The Enterocele, is the swelling in the Groin; also called Epiplocele.

The Entero-Epiplocele, is a kind of swelling, or Rupture in which both the Gut, and the Call do fall down.

The Omphalocoele, is the Rupture, by which the Petitionum being loose and broken towards the Navel, causeth the Jejunum to slip down.

The Colon Collick, is through sharp humors, or wind; in it Worms are bred, which creep into the Stomach, and are vomited out.

The Tenasmus, or right Gut; is subject to Ulcers, Inflamations, Impostumes, and Fistulas.

The Peristaltick motion of the Guts; is the perverting of the Guts that glisters, and Dung flows upward and are cast out of the Mouth.

The Laxation of the Belly, is to be Laxative, loose in the Belly, easily parting with the Excrements.

The Costiveness of the Belly, is the hard binding of the Belly, not to part with the Excrements, but with difficulty and pain.

The Diarrhea, or the Flux; is an extraordinary looseness, the Excrements are thin.

The Ulceratious Flux, is the Bloody-Flux; which comes with pain, and much Blood with the Excrements.

The Hepetica, or Hepetick Flux; is a kind of red, or Bloody-water, and comes from the Liver without pain.

The Uenteria Flux, is when it comes through the smoothness of the Guts.

The Mesenterical Flux, is when the Excrements come with quitter.

The Tania, or Gut-worm; is supposed to be the internal tunicle of the Guts, which is sometimes severed and lost, and is thought to be turned into a long Worm, two or three Cubits long.

The Morbus Rustuosus, is the belching disease, it proceeds from an obstruction in the Stomach. It is called Cholera sicca.

The Morbus Siccatorius, a disease which dries up, or consumes all the humors and moisture of the Body. A Consumption.

The Chylous Flux, is a disease rising from the obstruction of the passage in the Milky Vein.

Stomach

The Crudity and weakness of the Stomach; is the over burthening it with meats and drinks, so as it cannot contract, or imbrace meat to turn it into a good Chyle.

The Morbus Hateriae, is a great Laxity or looseness of the Stomach.

The Lienteria, is a looseness in the Belly, that the meat comes away unchanged, just as it was eaten: which through the extension of the Stomach, making it thereby smooth, which is naturally wrinkled.

The Malacia, or Citta; is the depraved Stomach, which cannot be satisfied, or desires evil things.

The Apepsia, is Corruptio Chyli; the corruption of the Chyle in concoction, or chylification abolished.

The Bradypepsia, is when meat is long in digesting.

The Depepsia, is ill digestion, when the meat is corrupted.

The Cardiogmos, or Cardialgia; is the Heart burning.

The

The Syncope Stomachica; the Stomach swooning.

The Anxiety of the Stomach, is the unquiet tumbling, and tossing, though pain of the Stomach; which is also called,

The Riptasmus, or Als, and Assodes; the name of a Fever which hath much unquietness to the sick person.

The Piccup, is a distemper rising through the foulness of the Stomach: called Picchor.

The Vomiting disease, is the obstruction of the upper, or lower office of the Stomach.

The Cholera Sicca, is the frequent breaking up of Wind, and Belching.

The Cholera Humida, this is a plentiful, and violent voiding of choller upwards, or downwards, which kills in four days.

The Morbis Cardiacus, is an extreme faintness of the Stomach, joyned with much sweating.

The Ruminatio Stomachi, the Ruminatio of the Stomach, is an inversion, or turning of it, as it were inside out.

The Stomach distempers, are also Inflammations, Impostumes, Ulcérations.

The Hepatic, is a similiary disease of the Liver, and is a Laxity thereof, by voiding Excrementious Blood.

Liver

The Diarrhea Hepatica, is the Liver looseness, in which the Chyle is avoided.

The Atrophia, or the Droplie; is the swelling of the Legs, and other parts of the Body, by the frustration of sanguination in the Liver, when instead of Blood, it produceth nothing but Water and Wind.

The Ascites and Cympanites, the Timpany or Bottle bellied, or the Dum bellied Droplie; is the swelling of the Belly, which is by having the foresaid Water, and Wind emptied out of the Liver, into the Belly.

The Anasarta, or Empneumatosis; a swelling in the Face, the Bloat-faced, Puff-cheeked Droplie; which is by conveying the said Water, and Wind out of the Liver into the habit of the Body.

The Atrophia, is the falling away of the flesh; the Atrophy is the hinderance of the Bodies nourishment, through badness of Blood, of some termed Tubes.

The Cachexia, or Cachery; is the evil colour through the habit of the Body, by reason of the badness of the Blood: as the skin to be blew, or white, or yellow.

The Jaundice, or Yellow-Jaundice; is a disease causeth weakness in the Limbs: the Head and Body skin to be dyed yellow, is from the sympathizing of those part with the Gall and Liver.

The Black-Jaundice, is the colouring of the skin in the habit of the Body, with a black swarfy colour, which is by reason of the obstructions of the Spleen.

The Spleen fallen, is the Ligament of the Spleen being slacked, its weight bears it downward; or else being broke it falls into the Belly: where it is taken by unskillful Physicians for a Mole, or a Scurbus tumor in the Womb of a Woman: or for a sort of Glandulous tumor, in a Man.

[]

The Hypochondriacal Melancholly, a windy melancholly, which is bread of ach and soreness about the short Ribs; from whence a black Flegm arising doth hurt and trouble the Mind: a Dorage joyned with sadness.

The Scurbus, or Scurvy, or Corbutick Distempers; is the ill colour of Virgins, or others occasioned by the Malignant wheyish Humor that flows out of the Spleen; which hath other terms, as it spreads into divers parts of the Body.

The Stomatice, or Orredo; is the flowing of the said wheyish humor into the Gums, and Mouth: which causeth sadness with looseness of the Teeth. The Mouth Scurvy.

The Scelotyrbe, is the Scurvy in the thigh, which is painful, sore, and spotted; or rising like blisters, red and itching.

The Rheumatismes, is the Scurvy, as it is either fixed, or wandering through the Body; which is by the spreading of the said wheyish humor, into the said parts.

The Cacochymia, is the distemper of Body raised through the ill quality of Blood.

The Pletyria, is a distemper of the Body, through the great quantity of Blood.

The Varices, are the swellings of the Veins, which happen most in the Thighs and Legs.

The Atonia, is the want of the wonted Vigor of the Kidneys: it is an impotency so that it cannot contract itself, from whence comes a Laxity or looseness in the substance of the Kidneys.

The Diabetes, is the Pissing sickness, a kind of disease, that one cannot hold his Water.

The Ischuria, or the Stone in the Kidney; it is a distemper that a Man or Woman cannot piss; a total suppression of Urine.

The Strangullion, or Strangury; a pissing of Blood.

The Stone in the Bladder, it is the evacuation of the Urin stoppt, by the lying hid of some Stone in the Bladder, difficulty of pissing.

The Hypercarcoses, or the Inflammations, or Distractions of the Bladder; is by a fungous Body, or spongy carnosities, that do arise either in the Bladder, or at the Neck thereof.

Yard

The Priapismus, is the disease of having the Yard continually to stand.

The - - - - - is the weakness, or defect of erection of the Yard, the Imbecility of the whole Yard, it arises from the weakness, or Paralytick disposition of the Muscles, or Nerves of the Yard.

The Conterision, or Crookedness of the Yard; is the bowing of the Yard, either upwards or downwards, on this side or the other, which is from a Convulsion of one of its Muscles.

The Yard is also subject to Inflammations, Tumors, Ulcers, and to be eaten with the Moli me tangere, or French-pox.

The Phymosis, is to have the fore-skin so streight, and close, that it cannot be drawn from the Nut of the Yard, backwards.

The Paraphymosis, is when the fore-skin is de- pressed to the root of the Nut, that it cannot be drawn upwards.

The Gonorrhæa Chordata, the corded, or robe- stretched running of the Reins.

Fundament

The Tenesmus, is a hot distemper in the Fundament, with a great Itching, which causeth a continual desire of going to the Stool.

The Falling of the Tuell, is the coming out, of the Tuell at the Fundaments, in the expulsion of the Duob.

The Palsie of the Fundament, is when the Excre- ments come out, whether the patient will or not: and sometime so strait that he cannot void them.

The Hæmorrhoides, is the swelling of the Veins, and their being knobbed, both within and without the Fundaments. This disease is more generally known by the name of the Piles, and Emerades.

The Fistula Ani, is an inflammation with an Ulcer, or Impostumation in the Fundament.

The Condylomata, or Mariscæ; is when the Fundament is made rough with Warts.

The Rhagades, is when the Fundament is exul- cerated with small clifts.

The Scirrhus Tumor of the Fundament, which shuts up the passage of the Excrements, so that nothing is evacuated but at the Mouth. This proceeds from the twist- ing of the small Guts, or the closing up of the Funda- ment; which disease is termed Hælerere mei Deus: furtherin, there is no way but Death.

Cods and Womb

The Hydrocele, or the Pneumatocele; are Rup- tures, or swellings in the Cods, by reason of Water and Wind flowing from the Cavity of the Belly.

The Scirhoecele, it is a Rupture in the Cods, through falling of the Guts thereunto: Swelling of the Cods.

The Circocele, is a tumor of thick Blood, that is intercepted in the Spermatick vessels; both deferent, and ejaculatory.

The Sarcocoele, is a spongy flesh breed, and grown to the Membrane, called Dartos; and if the Testicle hang to the same spongy flesh, it is also so termed. Sar- cocoele.

The Rhagosis, is the Laxity, or looseness, or hanging down of the Cods.

The Triorches, is such a one which hath three Stones.

The Eunuches, are gelded Men, such as have their Stones cut away.

The Perimaphrodites, are Men that have the secrets of Women: it is to be both a Man, and a Woman.

The Gonorrhæa, is a venemous running of the Reins, occasioned by an unseasonable stopping of the seed Blad- der. The Virulency or venom thereof is communicated to the whole Body, or flows back into the Stones, and causeth a tumor there; it is termed Gonorrhæa Vi- rulenta; the Venemous, poysonous, deadly, infectious running of the Reins.

The Gonorrhæa Laxite, or Simpler; is the sim- ple, or single, or Laxitive Gonorrhæa, is the voluntary shedding of the seed, through the Laxity, or looseness of the seed Bladder.

The Orynos Rigmos, or Nocturnal pollution; is the Flux of seed which comes away in time of sleep: and is from the abundance of hot, and spirituous seed.

The Callosities, or Ulcers, in the Lips of the Matrix, of Whores and Bands; proceeding from an extraordinary heat: and sore la- bour.

The Thymi, are Warts or Pushes, growing in the in- ner parts of the Labra Matricis, resembling the flowers of time.

The Condylomata, are certain tumors therein, re- sembling the joyn of a Mans finger.

The Distemper called the Wother, is a kind of choak- ing, strangling, and raiseth terrible and violent motions, and Convulsions in the Body: which is caused through the drawing a side of the Womb out of its place, which is carried this and that way, as far, as the Ligaments, and connexions of the Womb will give leave.

The Uterine Flux, generally called Cermes, or flowers, or Courles: it is the avoiding of the men- strual Blood, which is over and above what is necessary to nourish a Woman for a Months time.

The Barrenness of the Uterus; is not concep- tion, or misconception, and that by reason of its abolishing, or its distempers: as ill shape, hardness, distortion of the Office, &c.

The Conception Depraved, is a false conception; as Wind, a Mole, or an efflux of seed, or an abortion, which is an untimely birth.

The Dysbæstia, or Lumbago; is the pain of the Loins.

The Clumbis, or Clumbatus; is he that is made weak through the pain of the Loins.

The Rheumatism, or Flux of the Loins; is an internal pain, and lieth between the skin, being a humor which flows from the Head.

Head

The Ophiasis, is a disease that causeth the hair to fall off.

The Calvus, or Calbosity, or baloness; is the want of hair, through an Heetical dry distemper, or the defect of Nutriment, or from a dry skin.

The Dandruff, is those little scales, or scurf in the Head, which is from a dry and invisible Ulcer in the skin. Some call it Dandrie.

The Achoz, is a disease on the skin, between an Ulcer, and a Tumor.

The Hydro-Cephalus, or the Water head Drop- sic.

The Pthiriasis, or Lousie Evil; a distemper that breed Lice, through a hot, and moist disease.

Brain

Brain

The Obstructions of the Cavities; is the stopping of the passages of the Brain so as the Blood cannot take its course, which is very oft the cause of an Apoplexie; and many deadly diseases.

The Meagron, is a giddiness, or dizziness in the Head, and Brain, it obstructs, and hinders the sight.

The Apoplexy, is the striking lame of all the Body: a Dead Pallie.

The Siriasis, or Phrensy, or Dog day Madness, is a distemper from the inflaming of the Brain, with the Meninges, and Coats.

The Eplexis, is the stupidity of the Head, after a blow.

The Sphacelism, is the Putrefaction of the Brain, after a blow.

The Distempers of the Brain, is the cause of depraving the faculties, which brings Dotage, Melancholly, Ecstasies, Madness; or else on the other side, it causes Forgetfulness, Foolishness, Doltiness, and Blockishness; as for example,

The Cephalalgia, is the Head ach; it is when the whole head is pained, and grieved.

The Lyncanthropy, a kind of madness, with a shouting, and raving.

The Hemicrania, if only half the Head is pained.

The Clavus, or Point; is the Head ach in one part, as if a Nail were driven there.

The Cephalaea, is the Head ach of a long continuance.

The Deprivation, of the senses, and reason, is Raving.

The Imminution, of reason, is foolishness.

The Doltion, or decay of Memory; is from the distemper of the Brain.

The Dotage, or Raving; is known by absurd thoughts, words and actions: the thoughts ridiculous, and Chimerical: the words of such as rave are estranged from truth and reason, and not to the point in hand: and their actions are either unusual or unbecoming.

The Melancholly, or the Delirium; is a raving with deprivation of the fancy; which is a false opinion of things past, present, or to come. The Alienation of the Mind.

The Hypochondriaca Melancolia, is that as proceeds out of the Hypochondriacal parts; which is either humoral, or flatulent: the former brings madness, and outrageousness.

The Melancholly Ecstasie, is an excess of Melancholly which is three fold.

The Ecstasie, so simply called, an Ecstasie with silence; and an Ecstasie with a frenzy.

The Coma or Carus; is a profounded, deep, dead sleep.

The Coma Vigilans, is a drawzy watch.

The Cyphomania, is a sleepy disease, which hath a raving and idle talk, when he awakens.

The Incubus, or Night Mare; is an oppression of the Blood, it is a stiff lying on the back with the Eyes open, which when he comes to himself, remembers what was done to him.

The Cataleptis, is the abolishing of all the senses, save respiration, or breathing: called also Catoche, a frozen sleepy disease.

The Lethargy, is an immutation of sense, and motion: and also of memory, concerning necessary things: those that are in a Lethargick sleep, at last become Apoplectick.

The Pallie, is an oblation of sense, and motion.

The Hemiplegia, is the striking of half the Body with a dead Pallie.

The Paraplegia, is when only a part of the Body hath the Pallie.

The Stupor, or Nothrotis; is an imperfect Pallie, when sense and motion are only dulled.

The Vertigo, is a depravation of sense and motion, and makes the patient think as things go round.

The Vertigo Tenebrosa, or Scotodromos; puts a darkness before the patients Eyes.

The Convulsion, is a violent pulling back of the Muscles toward the Head; which causeth loss of sense, and a drawing crooked a part of the Body, as Eyes, Mouth, Cheeks, &c.

The Epirothotonos, is when the Convulsion makes the Body to bend forward.

The Opirothotonos, is when the Body is draw backward.

The Cetanos, when both sides by the Convulsion, remains stiff.

The Falling Sickness, called an Epilepsie; is a Convulsion of the Body by fits, hurting the Mind, and Senses.

The Spasmi tremoris, is a trembling, and a depravation of the motion through weakness.

The Auriety, uneasiness, or tumbling, and rolling this and that way; it is a disease, that make a sick person that he cannot sit in any place.

The Sleep Walkers, it is a disease of motion, and sense depraved, because it is not performed by judgment, and reason, called Podambulism.

The Catarth, is a distillation of humors, from the Head to other parts, from which it receives diverse appellations.

The Corryza, or Gravedo; if the humors fall into the Nostrils.

The Branchos, or Hoarseness, if it fall in the Throat.

The Pyelismos, or the Spatole; if the humor fall into the Mouth, or Pallat, which sorts of Catarths are vulgarly comprehended under the name of Rheum.

The Rheumatismus, or Rheumaticus; is a Catarth, or Rume fallen upon any outward part, called the Rheumatick pain. If it fall upon the joynt, it resembles the Gout.

Eyes

The Ecripsimus, is the disease as makes the Eye fall, or swell without the hole, or socket.

The Monoculus, is a disease in the number, such a person having but one Eye.

The Rhineptis, is the turning of the Eye, to one side or other; as in Squint-eyed People.

The Hypopyon, is the inflammation of the whole Eye, which turns to a suppuration, or an Impostume, or gathering to a matter.

Eye-lids.

The Emphysema, is a moist distemper of the Eye-lid, with wind.

The Hydatis, is a wheyish humor, in the Eye-lid, which doth so depress it, that it cannot be lifted up.

The Sclerophthalmia, is hard Eyedness, and hot distemper in the lid.

The Xerophthalmia, is a dry distemper without humor in the Eye-lid.

The Dryophthalmia, is a dry Itching of the Eye-lid.

The Ophthalmia, or Louie evil of the Eye-lid.

The Prilosis, is a hot distemper with a sharp humor, which causeth a redness, and pain, and falling of the hair: it is termed also Milphosis, or Madarrholis.

The Trachoma, is the roughness of the inside of the Eye-lid.

The Syrosis, is when the roughness resembles small seeds.

The Culosis, is if this disease be of long continuance.

The Crithe, or Barly Corn; is a little tumor, or fleshy pimple on the Eye-lid, springing from a thick humor.

The Chalasion, or Hail-stone; is if the same pimple be great, and moveable.

The Anchiloblepharo, is a disease causing the Eye-lid to stick to the Coat of the Eye, by a hot distemper, and dry sharp humor.

The Lagophthalmia, is the Convulsion of the Eye-lid, or the drawing of it back by reason of a Cicatrice, or some Seam.

The Typos, is the trembling of the Eye-lid.

The Ectropion, is the inversion of the lower Eye-lid, caused by a scar without, or some excrecence of flesh within.

The Chalasis, is the looseness of the Eye-lids, caused by a Palsie.

The Trichiasis, is the depravation of the hair of the Eye-lids.

The Dysichthiasis, is when there is more hair on the Eye-lids, then is ordinary: as two rows.

The Phalangosis, is when the hair is long, and inverted, which pricks the Eyes.

Kernels in the Eye.

The Eucanthis, a Caruncle, or little bit of flesh in the great corner of the Eye.

The Rhyas, is the diminution of the said Caruncle, which causeth a drooping of moisture from the Eye.

The Anchilops, is an Impostume, though inflammation in the said corner.

The Aegylops, is when the said Impostume is broken, and it is turned into a Fistula.

Coat of the Eye.

The Cararis, is a hot distemper of the conjunctive Coat, with a humor of Blood, and Choler.

[]

The Epiphora, is the beginning of an Inflammation.

The Ophththalmia, or Ophththalmia; is the continuance of the same inflammation, being from an internal cause.

The Chemosis, is when the Inflammation is so great, that it hinders the coming together of the Eye-lids: termed also Diastus Oculi.

The Hypophagma, is a collection of Blood, proceeding from a blow, or bruise.

The Pterygium, is a membraneous eminence, reaching from the greater corner of the Eye to the Pupil, or sight of the Eye.

The Phlyctena, is a small tumor, or Pustle in the Adnata, or Cornea, which ends in the Ulcer.

The Betrion, is when the said Pustle is hollow, called also Fistula.

The Epicauma, is when the said Pustle, or tumor becomes crusty.

The Cheloma, is a broad Ulcer of the Cornea; about the circle, or Iris of the Eye.

The Argemon, is when the said Ulcer is whitish.

The Leucoma, or Albugo; are the large Scars in the black of the Eye: and are so called, because of its whiteness.

The Nephelion, or Nebula; the Cloud in the Eye; is when the Scar is but small.

The Achlys, or Caligo; is a mist, or darkness; that is when the Scar is thin.

The Proptosis, is the Rupture, or exulceration of the Cornea.

The Providentia, is when the Coat of the Eye Alvea; strikes above the other, called Cornea.

The Hyocephalon, or fly head; is when the exturbance of the Alvea is small, it resembles a Fly's head.

The Staphyloma, so called when the said Fly head is great; because it resembles a grape stone: it is termed also Melon, as being like an Apple.

The Elos, Clavus, or Nail; is when there is any inveterate Ulcer on the Cornea, through which the Alvea falls out.

The Cacinomata, is the term for all malignant Ulcers in the Cornea, or Adnata.

Ball of the Eye.

The Simicis, is a dry distemper which consumes the watry humor, and dissipates the spirits of the Eye sight.

The Hypopyum, is an obstruction from a corrupted Flegmatick, or purulent Humor.

The Hypochoyma lussusio, is an obstruction from Flegm: or concretion of a thick humor.

The Phthisis, or Corrugatio; is when the Pupil, or circle of the Eye, is very narrow, from a dry distemper.

The Hydrasis, or Platu-Corne; is the dilatation of the Pupil, being stretched out, or made broad by a moist Humor, or from a Rupture.

The Glaucosis, or Glaucoma; is the thickness, or hardness of the cristallin Humor; which causeth dimness of sight, and proceeds from a cold and dry distemper: it is familiar to aged persons.

The Alube, or seeing spirit, becoming thick, surrounds the cristallin humor; with darkness and obscurity.

I i i

The

The Cutta Sarena, or Amaurosis, is the Obstruction of the Optick Nerve, which causeth sudden blindness.

Sight

The Caecitas, is sight extinct, blindness, or sight abolished.

The Amblyopia, is sight diminished only.

The Strabismus is the Purblind sight, that must look close to the object, and half shut his eyes.

The Nyctalops, is to see only by day, and little or nothing by Night.

The Paropsis, or Hallucination, is Sight depraved, having a false reception before the Eyes; termed also Amalops; for so all things appear yellow to them as have the jaundice.

The Quittor, is a watery humour over the eye, hindring the Sight.

Ear

The Parotis, is the swelling and inflammation of the Kernels beside the Ears, which happens in an Acute Fever; of some it is termed Dioscurosis, and of others Castor and Pollar.

The Diseases of the Ears are chiefly these, Obstructions by a tumor; by a Caruncle or bit of Flesh growing up in the Ear; Quittor issuing out, or by filth; it is Indamed and Impostumated, and exulcerated or hurt by some eating Medicine poured into the Ear, or by a Chollerick humor.

The Sturditas, is Hearing Abolished, Deafness.

The Barucioa, or thickness of Hearing, is Hearing diminished.

The Paracousis, is Hearing depraved, and consists in a noise, and ringing, or buzzing in the Ear.

The Chilai, are Ear Worms, which are voided from the Ears.

Face.

The Freckles of the Face, are Spots caused through Choller stuck in the Pores of the skin.

The Ephelis, is to have the Face burnt in the Sun.

The Cutta Rosacea, is the settled redness in the Face.

The Antirohes, is to have the Face spotted or fleck with red.

The Palenes, or Green-sickness, is to look pale and wan.

The Liphaemioi, or Bloodless, is such as look wheyish and sickly.

The Caco-chroia, is any bad colour in the Face, either of Sick persons, or of such as are well.

The Tonthos, is a hard push in the Face.

The Carus, is an harder knob, yet not so red as the Tonthos.

The Ficus, is a certain Wart, resembling a Fig; a Mole.

The Lichen, or Impetigo, or the Darta, are rough or scaly eminences, Warts, or Pimples in the Face, if they be dry, but if they be moist, they are Crustations, and run.

*

The Naevi, are Warts or smooth knots, white or blewish.

The Pyropium, is the black and blew colour of the skin of the Face proceeding from a blow or bruise.

The Spilloi, are sooty Excrements of the skin, intruded into the pores thereof.

The Pam, are scars in the Face.

The Pentagra, or Impetigo, or dry Scab of the Chin, a Disease that troubled the Romans in Plague time.

The Cynicus Spasmus, the action of the skin of the mouth, when it was drawn aside by the Palsy or Convulsion fits.

The Commotice, is the Painting or Plastering of the Face with Fucus's and such like; used by Panders, Bawds and Whores.

The Cosmetice, is the natural Beautifying and adorning of the Face, without laying any thing on.

Lips.

The Rhagades, are the chops of the Lips, or tumors, or little Bladders, which break out upon the lips, especially in Feavers.

The trembling of the lips, called Seissmos, is from the badness of the Stomach, and when one is about to Vomit.

The bad colour of the Lips, it argues a fault in the Lungs or Blood.

The Labeones, is to have great Lips stretched.

The Hare Lip, is such as have, or are born with an imperfect cloven Lip.

The Brochus, is to have the inside of the Lip turned outwards.

The Cheila, is to have great swelling Lips.

The Deutones, is to have a Chin sticking out.

The Lip Distempers are Inflammations, Swelling, Ulcers, the loss of them, which makes a Man look like a snarling Dog.

Nose

The Dzaena, is a filthy stinking Ulcer in the Nose.

The Polypus, is a Caruncle in the Nose, swelled, which falls into the Nostrils or Pallar of the Mouth.

The Cancerous Polypus, is a Caruncle, which when it is cut or cauterized, eats and devours the whole Face.

The Obstruction of the inward passages of the Colander Bone, is the cause of Smelling abolished and diminished.

The Putrifying of the Humor in the cavities of the Colander Bone and mammillary productions, is the depraving of the Smell, which smell is not discerned by the Patient, but by such as converse with him.

The Cozyza, or Gravedo, is the Irregularity of excretions, and a Flux of Serosities; which is the Bleeding at the Nose, or a continual Nose Dropping.

The

The Sneezing of the Nose is done by vexing the Nostrils, and is a momentary concussion or convulsion of the Brain.

The Distempers of the Nose are Inflammations, Quisies, Ulcerated and troubled with other Sores, proceeding from Organick Diseases, springing from bad conformations.

Teeth.

The Parisismos, is the first sprouts of the teeth in Children, which causes the Gums to swell and be inflamed.

The Odontophua, is the breaking out of the teeth of Children.

The Paemodia, is the setting of the teeth on edge, so as they cannot chew any thing.

The Odontagria, or Odontalgia, is the Tooth-ach, the shunting and pain of the teeth.

The Diseases of the teeth besides are scaly, rotten, or moulder away, broken, blackness, rustiness, sticking teeth by excrecence of Worms, Flux of Blood, Rheums, also dryness, looseness, when troubled with Organick Diseases; also by being too long, too short, more than ought to be, having two or three rows, in magnitude being too great, as when long gag teeth go out of their rank; else too little and worn away, or do not stand close; and that the upper and lower do not just meet; or to have but one Bone in place of so many teeth, &c.

The Proud Flesh of the Gums, is when the flesh of the Gums do cover the teeth.

The Parulis, is the inflammation of the Gums.

The Epulis, is if the swelling and inflammation grows to an Ulcer.

The Cancerated Gums, is when infected or eaten by the Cancer.

The Aphthae, is the eating of the Gums with Ulcers.

The Stomachache, or Discedo, the Scurvy in the teeth, which is cause of looseness, and immoderate bleeding.

Palate

The Morbus Gallicus, or Noli me tangere, is a rotteness of the Palate Bone by the Whores Pox.

The Staphyle, is when the Uvula is inflamed, it represents a Grape.

The Columella or Chion, when the Uvula resembles a Pillar.

The Chalasis Gargareonis, is when the Uvula grows loose and flap by reason of Rheum.

The Imantia, is when the Uvula hangs down too much.

The Gargareon, or Squeentzie, is the swelling of it, and the throat.

The Antiades, and the Paristhymia, are the swellings; and also the names of the Kernels by the Itthimus.

The Tonfills, are swelling of the Throat Kernels, which swell so much that they descend into the Throat, and hinder the Patient from swallowing.

Tongue

The Batrachium, is a tumour under the Tongue, which causeth its inflammation.

The Ulcer of the Tongue, doth infect the Tongue, and is often malignantly putrified, eaten and consumed by those like distempers.

The Anauidia, is the abolition of Speech, Speechless, Dumb.

The Craulotis, is when some one Letter cannot be truly pronounced.

The Psallotis, or Psellismos, is when divers letters and words cannot be pronounced.

The Ichnophonia, or Stammering, is a stoppage of the tongue; so as the Discourse cannot be proceeded in.

The Anchylo-glossis, and Hogilalia, is when the tongue is tyed either too strait or too loose.

The Attiated taste, is when there is no taste, being filled with some evil humor.

The Palsy of the Tongue, which takes away all motion; and diminished, when half the tongue is Palsied.

The Trembling of the Tongue, is a fore-runner of a Phrensie.

The Squinsie, is the swelling of the Larynx, which hinders Speech and Breathing, and strangles the Patient.

The Aphonia, is privation or abolishing of Speech.

The Raucedo, or Hoarseness, is the depravation of Speech.

The Ichno-phonia, is the Imminution or diminishing of Speech.

The Apnoia, is the interception or respiration, or hindrance of Breathing.

The Dispnoia, is a diminishing of Breathing, so that Breath comes and goes, not freely but with pain.

The Obstruction of the Gullet, is the hard descent of solid meat into the Stomach.

Neck

The Bronchocele, is a swelling in the Neck near the Larynx.

The Kings Evil, is a swelling which proceeds from a flegmatick clammy matter, which drenches the Kernels, and make them swell; and therefore where the Kernels are the swellings arise.

The Scirrhus Tumor, is something of the nature of the Kings-evil; they happen in the Jaws, in the Groins, behind the Ears, and in all parts of the Body where there are Glandules or Kernels.

The Songroni, it is a tumor among the external swellings of the Neck.

The Angina or Squinsie, is a tumor of the Neck, either external or internal.

The Synanche, is the external Squinsie, which is an inflammation of the Neck.

The Cynanche, is the internal swelling, in which the Patient can hardly fetch his Breath.

The Neck Distemper are many, as Dislocation of the the Vertebra's, and similar Diseases, arising from Tumors and Humors Organical, consisting in bad conformations.

Arms

The Dislocation or Fraction of the Scapula, is the putting out of Joint, or the breaking of the Shoulder Bone.

The Galliaggoness, is the crookedness of the Cubit, after a disjoining of it by the retraction of the Muscles.

The Rheumatisme, the Gout, and the tumor ganglium, with flegmatick knobs, are often afflicters of the Arm, from the Elbow to the Wrist.

The Arm-pits have the Kernel there to smell strong, or they cause the Arms to smell: It is often vexed in the Joint by the Gout, Rheumatism, and other fluxions.

Hands

The Hand is much subject to the distemper aforesaid.

The finger Blaine, swelling of the Fingers between the joints in col seasons.

The Nails have a distemper called the White louse or Felon.

The Reduvia is a sore in the Nails.

The Sappy ends of the Fingers are often corrupted and putrified, and sometime loose a joint by reason of a Sphacelation.

The Paronychia, is the opening of the skin at the corners of the Nails.

The Whitley, or Bustion, are swelling in the joints of the Fingers, which often cause the loss of the Finger.

Thighs.

The Euboes, are Diseases in the Kernels about the Loins, which are Pestilential and Venerial.

The Sciatica, or Hip Gout, is a pain in the joint of the Thigh, about the cavity of the Huckle Bone.

The Phthisis Coxaria, or the Hip Consumption, is by a sharp putrid humor, which corrodes and brings corruption into the Hip joint.

The Notha Ichias, or Bastard Sciatica, is the flowing in of a Humor into that part of the Thigh where the great Nerves arise.

Legs

The Swelling of the Knees, are from flegmatick humor, or from inflammations, which are dangerous, and of long continuance, and at last Kill the Patient.

The Dolor Genus, or the pain of the Knees, whether by Cold, Rheum, or Gout, are extream bitter, and make stout Men cry out.

The Elephantiasis, or Elephants Leg; it is the swelling of the whole Leg from the bending of the Groin unto the Toes, because it makes the Leg resemble an Elephant.

The defluxions of the Shank and Foot, is caused through Humors falling down, which are either Wind, Water, or a clammy flegmatick Rheum, and produceth the swelling called Oedema.

*

Feet

The fluxions of the Ankle, are Rheums there, and are dangerous and hard to be cured.

The Pernio or Uibe, is a swelling in the Heel, proceeding from cold or fluxion.

The Corns of the Toes are hard Kernels seated in the several places of the Toes, sides of the Feet, and Soles.

The Bones are subject to Fractures, Dynesis, Disjointing and Rottenness.

In the dexter corner of this long square numb. 34. I have caused (for want of other room) a demy Man to be placed, having an upper part of the Body, but no Arms: a kind of Bearing it is which the Germans and Netherland Gentry much use in their Coats and Crests (and is generally whether clothed or naked, if the cutting off end in three parts, and those again turned or wrought into leaves folding this way and that way) It is termed a demy Man, (or Woman, or Boy) sans Arms, Tripated or Folded Abellane (as much as to say) the three parting are cut or carved into leaves turned after the manner of the Shull or cover of an Hasel Nut when growing on the Tree, which turns and bends several ways, and is called in Heraldry Abellana, that is a Philbert Nut, from whence the term is borrowed, because of its resemblance to it. Some term it more shorter, a demy Man parted Abellane, others only a demy Man Abellane: others a demy Man ending in foldages, as numb. 35.

G. the like A. is born by Marlay.

B. 3 such O. is born by Horfall.

G. one such to the Sinister S. face proper, born by Horden, alias Morden.

In the dexter base corner, is likewise set the figure of a Naked Man, kneeling upon a hill with his left Knee, holding an Apple in his right, and his left on his side; and such a Bearing is the Crest of Don Montralow.

An Ape in the like posture, looking his Face in a round Glass O. is the Crest of Thann in Rhine Palatinate.

XCIV. I have caused this Hand to be set here, thereby to give the Reader some Account of the Order and Rules of Chiromancy, as much as consists in the rational demonstration of the Lines in the Hand, with their Names both appropriated to them, as also all the other parts thereof.

The Names of the several parts of the Hand according to the Rules of Chiromancy or Palmestry.

♀ Mons Veneris, is the root or Mount of the Thumb, at the first Joint next the hand, which the Antients ciens

gents have dedicated to Venus, and call it the Root, or Mount of Venus, the Tubercle or Mount of the Thumb.

1. Mons Iovis, the Mount of Jupiter, it is the root of the Fore-finger.

2. Mons Saturni, the Mount of Saturn, is the root of the middle or long Finger.

3. Mons Solis, the Mount of the Sun, the root of the Ring Finger.

4. Mons Mercurii, the Mount of Mercury, is the root of the little Finger.

5. Mons Lunae, the Mount of the Moon, is the brawn of the Hand, near the Wrist, opposite to the Hill of the Thumb.

6. Locus Martis, the place assigned to Mars, is the hollow of the Hand, called also Cavea Martis, the Cave of Mars.

Yet some have written, that these places are otherwise assigned, as the Thumb to Mars, the Forefinger to Jupiter, the middle Finger to Saturn, the Ring Finger to Sol, the little Finger to Venus, the Thumb, that is the space between the Thumb and fore finger, to Mercury; and the Brawn of the Hand, near the Wrist, to the Moon.

The Lines of the Hand.

They are said to be fourteen, but three are principal, which are these; the other follow.

A. Linea Vitae, or Vitalis, or Linea Vitafera, the Line of Life, it is that Line as compasses the Hill, Mount, or Ball of the Thumb; it begins in the place between the Fore-Finger and Thumb, and ends at the Wrist; it is of some termed Linea Temporalis, the Line of Time, and others Linea Iovis, the Line of Jupiter, the Cordiacae.

C. Linea Mensalis, the Mensall or Table Line, is that Line as takes its beginning under the Hill of Mercury, or little Finger, and runs overthwart the hand, through the middle of the Uola, or Cup, and ends at the Mount of Jupiter, and sometimes shorter, at the Mount of Saturn. Others call it Linea Lunaris, the Moon Line; and Linea Stellata, the Line of Fortune.

b. Linea Media Naturalis, the Natural Line, or Line of the Head, the Cephalick Line or Clein Line, which Line takes its beginning at the middle space between the Thumb and fore Finger, sometimes joining to the top of the Line of Life (and sometimes disjoint, and at a distance from it) and so running overthwart the hand, to the Hill of the Moon, its higher part; it is called Linea Aeneris, the Table, or Bed Line of Venus.

* Mensa, the Table, is the space of the Hand between the Table Line, and the Natural Line.

8. Linea Saturnalis, the Line of Saturn, is the upright Line, that riseth from the Wrist, and crosseth the Lines of the Liver and the Table, and is determined or ended at the root, mount, or hill of Saturn.

Linea Solaris, the Line of the Sun, is the foresaid Line rising from the Wrist, which is called the Line of the Sun if it end under the hill or root of the Ring Finger.

Linea Mercurialis, the Line of Mercury, if the said line end or point to the root of the little Finger, then it is so called.

Via Combusta, is the term of the Saturnal Line, when it is cut and parted, and not an intire line.

x. Linea Epatica, or the Liver Line, is that line as ariseth from the Hill of the Moon at the Wrist, and compassing it, ends at the Mount of Mercury.

9. Via Lactea, the Milky Way, or Milky Line, is a Line arising from the Wrist, at the foot of the Line of Life, and goes over to the Mount of the Moon.

B. Soror Martis, or the Sister of Mars, is a circular Line, running Parallel with the Line of Life, on the inside to the higher part of the Mount of Venus, called the Sister of the Line of Life.

10. Cingulum Aeneris, or the Circle of Venus, is a piece or segment of a Circle, drawn from the interval or space between the first and middle Finger, and runs to the same place between the little and Ring Finger.

H. Restrieta, or Cauda Draconis, the restraint Line, or Dragons Tail Line, or of some called the discriminical Line, is that Line which divides the Hand from the Arm, either by a single, double, or triple transcurfion.

The several ways by which Fortunes are foretold.

Chiromantickes, are such as take upon them to tell Fortunes by the Lines of the hand. Chiromancer.

Chiromancy, is the Art of telling Fortune by such Lines.

Palmetry, is the Art of telling Fortunes by the Lines in the Hand.

Prognosticator, a Fortune Teller, one that declares things to come.

Prognosticate, or Prognostication, is a foretelling of what shall be and happen, or things before they come to pass.

Divination, a telling of things past, or to come, to predict, foretel, conjecture, or have the fore-knowledge of future things by a Divine Spirit or Revelation.

Physiognomy, the Art of Judging or conjecturing the Fortune of a Man, by the Lineaments of his Face and Body.

Diagnosticate. Diagnostick, a foreflew of Fortune, and things to come to pass, by the situation of Moles on the Face, or other parts of the Body.

Phygnomists, is the telling of Fortune by the Line in the Forehead. A contraction from Physiognomy.

Hieroglyphica, a pretence or vain curiosity of predicting things by the foldings or wrinkles in the hand, or Engraving or Drawing in Pictures before hand, Emblems of things that shall come afterwards to pass.

Dreamer,

Dreamer, or Dreams, is a foretelling of things by Dreams, an Interpreter of the signification of Dreams, and what events will follow.

Astronomy, and Astronomer, is the Art of, and the foreteller of things done and past, and what shall happen to any person; a Prediction from Birth and Nativities, by the ruling of the Planets, when such and such things happened.

Cabalistical, or Pythagorean, or Apollonian Invention of numbers, by which the future event of things are and may be predicted.

Astrology, the Science of telling of things through the motion of the Stars and Planets; an Astrologician, Astrologier.

Constellator, and Constellation, is the teller, and the Art of telling of Fortune by Nativities; as whether the party born under such and such Constellations, shall have Health or Diseases, live long or die shortly; also what fortune or misfortune doth attend him, &c.

Auspicium, or Soothsaying, is the telling of good and bad Fortune by the flying of Birds.

Augury, is divination or Fortune telling by their Singing or Chirping or Crowing.

Auspicana, is a kind of Southsaying, from the things that happen at Sacrifices, and by the things on the Altar.

Crispicium, a foretelling of the event of things, by the inspection of the intrails of Beasts Sacrificed.

Sortilegium or Lottery, is a telling of Fortune by casting of Lots or Dice, a Lottery or Fortune by Lots.

Oracles, are the telling of things to come, out of the mouth of dumb Images and Idols, by help of the Devil and Idolatrous Priests.

Magick, Witchcraft, Inchanting, Conjuration, is the doing or telling of the Fortune, and transforming the Body by the help of the Devil and Evil Spirits.

Prophecy, is the telling of things to come through the Gift of God, and Inspiration of his Spirit.

Cripudium, is a kind of conjecturing of things by Crums cast to Chicken in a Coop or Pen, which by their eating or not, they make their observation of good or bad luck: These are called also Auspicium coactum, or Pullarius, or Cripudum Solistivum.

Capnomantis, or Smoak Augurers, such as conjectured from the Flame and Smoak of the Altar, whether it rolled or tumbled in the Air, or continued long, which were unfortunate tokens, as the contrary were good. These kind of Augurers were called Capnomentes.

Hydromantia, is a Divination by Water, which is by calling of Spirits to appear in the Water.

Urim and Thummim, it was a Jewish kind of Revelation, by which God oft shewed the event of things; some write that they were two Ornaments in the High Priests Breast plate, but of what manner, or how they gave Answer is hard to resolve, Exod. 28. 30. 1 Sam. 28. 6.

Ephod, and Ceraphim, were things also, by which the Jews and other Idolatrous People, as from an Oracle, sometimes received Answers to what was proposed

Of these you may read Judg. 17. 5. and 18. 5. 6. 1 Sam. 30. 7. 8. Zech. 10. 2.

Observer of Times, one that distinguisheth Times and Seasons, saying such a day is good, such a day is nought, such an hour, such a week, such a month, such a year is lucky, such is unlucky for such and such businesses.

Inchanter, Sozcery, is a bewitching the senses and minds of Men, by changing the form of things, making them appear otherwise than indeed they are; these were such as resisted Moses, Exod. 7. 11.

Charmers, is a muttering, soft speaking, or writing of some Spell or Charm, that shall either suffer such and such a thing to be done, or not be done; as one by speaking some Words in a strange Language or otherwise, shall cure the Ague.

Witchcraft, or consulter with Devils, or familiar Spirits, as Witches and Wizards do, or being possessed by such Evil Spirits, have them speak out of their Bellies, as out of a Bottle; such a Diviner was the Damsel, Act. 16. 16. as is thought by St. Augustin, and most Expositors.

Necromancy, is such Divination, as to consult with the Devil and Satan in the shape of a dead Man or Woman, as the Witch of Endor, who raised the Devil in the likeness of Samuel, to tell Saul the event of the ensuing Battel. 1 Sam. 28. 7. 8. &c.

Consulters by Staves, Rods, or Arrows, this is a doing of a thing by Lots; or else by measuring a Staff by the Thumb breadth, saying I will do so, and I will not do so, and as the last Thumb breadth falls out, so he determineth.

Visions or Apparitions, this is an extraordinary way by which things have been revealed, and made known to us, as by good Angels from God, and evil Angels also as Tempters, of which see the Scripture, Exod. 3. 2. Josh. 5. 13. 14. Mat. 4. 1. 3. and 2 Maccab. 3. 25. 33.

Voices or Ecchoes, by it is meant a Voice from Heaven, declaring the Will of God, this took place in the giving of the Law, Exod. 20. 4. and took place in the second Temple, 2 Macab. 2. 21. Mat. 3. 17. when Visions and Inspirations were not.

Inspirations of the Holy Ghost, whereby the persons were enabled to Prophecy, and to speak with unknown Tongues, and Interpreter, Act. 2. 3. 4.

Aeromantia, is a Divination, or telling of Fortune by the Air.

Aleuromantia, is a Divination by Corn, as Barley and Wheat mixed together.

Gastromantia, is a Divination sounding out of the Belly; the Devil speaking in a person possessed.

Discinum, a South-saying by Singing, or Singing Birds.

Alectryomantia, Divination-by the Crowing of a Cock, or from a Cock Stone, or a Stone found in the Maw or Gizzard of a Cock, of the bigness of a Bean, and in colour like Christal.

Geomantia, is a kind of Fortune telling, by making of circles or pricks on Paper, or on the Earth, and so by their numbers conjecture the event of things, which is Englished Geomancy, viz. a Sorcerer, Enchanter, a Conjurer or Diviner by Pricks.

Pyromantia, is a Divination by Fire.

Aromantis

Arcomantis, is one that can divine something from the sight of Urines, a Urine Gazer, a Caster of Waters.

Prognosis, or Signa Prognostica; are signs and tokens in a patient whereby it is known what will become of him, whether for life or death. Prophecia is also a fore knowledge of Diseases, and in Diseases by antecedent and succeeding causes, to fore-tell the Event of things and what will undoubtedly happen to the sick party.

Terms of Art used by Anatomists, concerning the several Parts of the Body.

Alphebetically.

Anatomist, is one that dissects, and cut up dead Bodies, to make observations upon the several parts thereof.

Anatomy, is the Sceleton or Bones of a dead Body: the Carcas.

Anastomosis of the Veins, and Arteries; is the communicative, and fellowship between the Veins, and Arteries.

Anastentia, and Anstamenta; see Epiphisis.

Aneurisma, is the Delation, or Section of an Artery in the external parts. The opening of the Arterie.

Anxiety, unquietness, trouble, and painful tumblings, and tossing.

Appetite, a desire of Meat.

Asson of the Stomach, is the Collision of the Meat therein, by melting and dissolving it into Chyle.

Astithedon, is a fraction, or breaking of a Bone all to Shivers.

Apophysis, is a bone standing out, or Processes, and Knobs in bones.

Apophyses, are certain things hanging to the interiors, or other parts, as Warts, Lobs &c.

Appendix, is an addition to a thing: a Dependence.

Appositione, a definition, a determination, the general rules of Physick, or Physicians.

Attract, or drawn unto.

Arterial Blood, the blood of the Arteries.

Auris, is a Nutrition, whereby more soundness is restored then was lost by any disease or distemper.

Analysis, is the reduction of a Body into its first principle; also it is an Anatomical demonstration of the parts of Mans body, insisting upon the parts severally.

Anagimus, is one that hath both Man and Womans Members: also one that hath had his Members cut out.

Antagonista, is the opposite situation of Muscles, as between the Adductor, and the Abductor; that which contracts and expands any Member.

Apigma, is the thrusting of a bone, or other part out of its proper place.

Amputatus, is the obliteration of a part of the body, that it cannot afterwards be found.

Apocope, is the cutting off of a part of the Body.

Apuluma, is the shaving away of the Skin, or Bone.

Artus, are Members growing to Cavities in the Body, and distinguished by joynts.

Atlas, is the first Vertebre under the head; so called because it seems to hold up the head.

Atomus, an Atome; is a Body so small, that it is not capable of being divided into lesser parts.

Atta bilis, is a Sulphureous, and Saline, earthly and black Blood which is bread in the Body, and gathered in the Spleen.

Blood, a red liquor, running in the Veins, and Arteries: see Sanguis.

Blood Congealed, is when the Blood is thick, and caked.

Buboes, or swelling, or other Tumors: which are not malignant.

Bosomes, or Cavities; are hollow places in bones.

Belenoides, is the process or shooting forth of a Bone, called Aliformis, made like a wing, which is fixed in the basis of the Schull.

Biclychnion, is natural heat which is communicated from the parent to the Fetus, or Child in the Womb: but when it is brought forth the heat gradually decays, after the Blood and Spirit of the Child is altered by nourishment and nitrous Air.

Bienna, is a thick Snot, or corrupt humor which distills through the little hole of the Pallat, and Nostrills.

Bothoz, are little Pimples in the Face which do not spread, but are easily suppurated and vanish. It is a general appalation for Pimples in any part of the Body.

Bregma, or Pregma; is the bone of the Fore-head.

Bucca, is the inferiour Lax part of the Face, which may be put up: as in Trumpeters Cheeks.

Buccula, is the fleshy part under the Chin.

Concavions, made hollow, a hollow place.

Corrugated, wrinkled, made, unequal, or uneven.

Conder, or Gibbous, Hollownells, bending down on each side.

Concur, Concurrence; an agreement, a running together.

Condensed Humor, is a thick, or clammy, and dried Humor.

Concretion, a congealing, waxing hard: growing together.

Congestion, is a heaping, or gathering together.

Compression, a pressing, or weighing down.

Contraction, a drawing or shutting up of a part. Drawn together.

Coardation, is the shutting up of the Stomach after Meat.

Cocao, or Concoctio, is the Disgestion of the Meat in the Stomach.

Chyle, is the melted, and dissolved Meat, being turned into a substance like Cream, through the heat of the Stomach.

Cavittie, is any hollow place in the Bones, or Holes in the Body, or void, and empty place in the parts of the Body.

Cronical Diseases, are such as proceed from Dejections.

Constitution, is the complexion, or temperament of the Body.

Conner, knit or joyned together.

Con.

Connection, sticking, or joyning fast together.

Capacious, large, big, great, both for height, and breadth.

Contusio Ossis, a Contusio, a beating, or bruising.

Costive, hard bound, not apt, or often to go to the Close-stool.

Convolution, wrapped together, wound about, compassed.

Callus, is a kind of swelling without pain, like skin contracted by too much labour.

Calva, is the Scull, or the upper hairy part of the Head, which either by disease or old age grows bald first.

Called also Calvaria, or Calvitium.

Canales, are passages by which the Juices of the Body flow: as those that serve for the spittle, the Bile &c.

Canaliculus Arteriosus, is a vessel between the Arterious Veins of the Lungs and the great Artery in Fetus's or new born Children: which is obliterated in Adult persons.

Canities, is an Hairyness in the Head before the time.

Caries, is the corruption of a bone, through vicious humor, or bruise, or from some other cause.

Caro, Flesh, is a Fibrous, bloody, soft, thick similar part, which besides the bones, and that which covers the Spermaticks it is fivefold. 1. Musculous, Fistulosis, or Fibrous, as in the Muscles. 2. Parenchymous, as in Intraills, as Heart, Lungs, Liver, Spleen, &c. 3. Viscerous, as in the Guts and Puddings. 4. Glandulous, as in the Pancreas, Sweet-breeds and car-nels of the Breast. 5. Spurious, as those for, spitting and evacuations, as the Gums, Lips, Nurf, of the Yard, &c.

Catamenia, Womens courses or Monthly terms.

Catagma, is a breaking of Bones, or separation of the Continuum in the hard parts of the Body.

Cauldron, is the breaking of Bones a cross, when they are so separated that they will not be laid direct.

Cartilago, is a white part, dryer and harder then a Ligament, and softer then a Bone. It is taken of some to be Similar, and Spermatick.

Caruncula Hyrtiformes, are the wrinklins of the Orifice of a Womans Vagina, or Membranous inequalities; which in Women with Child, and after Childbirth are obliterated and imperceivable.

Catachesis, is a good state of Body, opposite to an Hetick.

Catastasis, is an extention of the Body towards the lower parts.

Cavitates majores, are the greatest Cavities in the Body, wherein some principal part is contained, as the Brains in the Head; in the Chest or Breast, the Lungs, Heart, &c. In the Abdomen, the Live, Spleen, Reins, Stomach, &c. so that the three great Cavities are the Head, the Breast, and the Belly.

Cavitates minores, are the Ventricles of the Heart, and Brain.

Cellula Intestini Coli; the little Cavities of the Gut Colon; where the Excrements lodge some while, and then are Ejected.

Ceneangia, is an evacuation of the Blood vessels, by opening a Vein.

Centrum, is the middle of the Body, not Mathematically, but Physically; and that they say is the Heart, from which as from a Center, the blood continually circulates round the most distant parts of the Body.

Cerumina, Ear wax, or the sweat and filth of the Ears, it is good to hinder Dust, Motes or little Animals from getting into the Ears.

Chirurgia, Chyrurgery; it is an Art wherein by the help of our hands and instruments, is endeavoured the cure of hurts and diseases of the Body. It is a part of the Art Therapeuticus, wherein diseases are cured by incision, burning, and letting of joynts; it is a fivefold Art. 1. Stethis, a letting together of things separate. 2. Diatresis, a separation of things that were continued before. 3. Dioctosis, a correcting of things contorted and squered together. 4. Exeresis, a taking away of superfluities. 5. Anaplerosis, a restoring of that which was deficient.

Chyrurgus, a Chyrutgeon, one skilful in Anatomy, and Chyrurgery.

Choana, is a sort of Cavitate or Tunnel in the Basis of the Brain.

Choledochus, or Ductus Biliaris, or passage of the Bile or Gall; it is called Common: It is that wherein the Gall from its Bladder and the Liver is carried to the Gut Duodenum.

Chromatismus, is the natural colour or tincture, as of Urine, Spittle, Blood, and Excrements.

Chylificatio, is a natural action which makes Chyle.

Cicatrix, is a scar or mark left after great wounds or Ulcers: some are Simple, others accompanied with a Cavitate, Diminutions, or Exerescence in the part affected.

Circulatio Sanguinis, is a continued Circulation of the Blood through the Body, like the ebbing and flowing of the Sea.

Clitoris, is a part in a Woman resembling the Yard of a Man; its use is for Titillation it hath a Nut, and a Prepuce, and is capable of Increase, and relaxation, but is not Perforated, as in Men.

Colon, is the second of the great Guts.

Coarticulation, is a growing of bones together, so as to form a joynt, yet have no motion in them.

Condyloma, is the knitting or joyning of bones.

Condyle, are the joynts or knuckles, of the fingers, when thicker there, then in other place.

Copps, the Body, is the whole frame of Man, with all its Limbs, and Members, whether alive or dead.

Crisima, are signs by which one may discern or judge of a matter.

Cruor, is the Blood in the Veins, Sanguis being the Blood in the Arteries, as some distinguish them.

Cutis, is the skin in a living Man; but Pellis is the skin being flead off.

Cyllum, a Leg put out of joynt outwardly.

Dissipation, a scattering a wasting of the Spiritus.

Digestion, is the dissolving of the Meat in the Stomach.

Dilatation, is the stretching, or widening of any part.

Dislocatio, or Dislocation, is any bones out of joynt, or removed out of its place.

Dissection,

Articulation, is the collecting, and ordering the Bones,

Dimensions of the Body, its magnitude, or big-

Division, a pulling in peeces, or asunder, a divid-

Dilatation, is the Dilatation, or widening of the moti-

Depravation, a hinderance, a keeping back, with

Detentions, is the falling down of Humors into any

Detrahit, made weak, Disabled to perform an Distortion, or Wrenching a Member.

Dissection, is a part of Chyrurgery, that concerns the Dissemio, is an evacuation of the Excrements by the Discretio, is an evaporation of superfluous moistures

Diapedesis, is an eruption of blood.

Diaphanum, is that which is transparent, as the Diathrosis, is a good constitution of the Bones,

Dicrotus, is a Pulse that beats twice.

Digestio, is digestion of meat in the Stomach.

Diplosis, is an habit whereby we are well or ill

Disimulares partes, dissimular parts, are such as

Dilatio, is when parts are puffed up, Dilated or Re-

Dispositio, is when parts are ill placed, or ill figur-

Ditricheallus, is a double row of hair on the Eye-

Ductus, are little passages or Channels, which arise in

Ductus Pancrea-

Ductus Rosiferus or Chyliferus, which

Ductus Biliaris, or Porus Biliaris,

Ductus Salivares, passage

Ductus Umbelicalis, or Intestinum,

Ductus Laqueus, the Navel string, by which passage a Fetus

Dodecadactylum, is the first of the small Guts, be-

Dyscrasia, is an unequal mixture of Elements in the Dysodores, is any thing that smells ill, as Excrements.

Dystocia, is a difficulty of bringing forth, or a preter-

Dysuria, is a difficulty of bringing forth, or a preter-

Dysuria, is a difficulty of bringing forth, or a preter-

Excretion, or Excrements of the Body, is any

Epiphora, the dropping of the Eyes, by reason of Epiphys, and Appendance, or addition to a Bone.

Epiphyllis, an appendance, or addition to a bone, or

Enata, the end, or Extremitie of a bone, the round

External parts, the outward, and visible part of the Evolution, a slackness or looseness of a part, or Mem-

Evacuation, Evacuated; cast out, purged from.

Eruption, expel, or drive away.

Eradication, a destroying, or pulling up.

Expiration, is the putting out of the air, or breath.

Extension, stretching, or drawing out, pulling a

Excavated, hollowed, made like a cave.

Extraction, or boyling of any part.

Ephysis, is a process that coheres to a Bone.

Ephysis, is a breathing thick and short.

Erithmus, is a Pulse which observes no method, or

Embryotomia, is an Anatomical dissection of a Fetus

Empneumatosis, is an alternate dilatation or moti-

Emunctoria, are cavities into which something is Encheiresis Anatomica, is a readiness in dissection;

Entope, is an incision of any part, as in a Gan-

Engonios, is the bending of the Arm or Leg.

Entera, are long Membraceous winding Pipes or

Duodenum, Jejunum, Ileum, Cæcum, Colon, and Rectum;

Enterocoele, or Hernia Intestinalis; is the fall of Ephelis, are dewy spots, or freckles in the Face, which Epididymus or Parastata, or Supergeminalis;

Epision, or Aqualiculus, is the place of the secret

Evacuatio, Evacuation, is either in blood when it

Euchroa,

Eucroa, is a good colour, and temper of the skin.

Euchymia, is an excellent temper of the blood.

Eutrasia, is an excellent temper and constitution of the Body.

Eudes, is a sweet smell in Excrements.

Eupnea, is a right natural respiration or breathing.

Eurhythmus, is an excellent natural Pulse.

Eutactus, is one that is well fleshed.

Excrementa, Excrements; are whatsoever is cast out of the Body after digestion and concoction, as Spitte, Spot, Milk, Bile, Sweat, Ear-wax, Dung, and Urine.

Exercitium, is motion or exercise whereby the Body is agitated in order to health.

Exomphalos, is a protuberance of the Navel common to Infants.

Exophthalmia, is a protuberance of the Eye, out of its natural place.

Expiratio, is an expiration or breathing in and out.

Exterpatio, is the cutting off of a part, by reason of a Canker, or blasting.

Excrissinus, is a bringing of the Bones from the surface downwards.

Exstosis, is a protuberance of the Bones out of their natural place.

Erubia, a dead Body, a stinking Carcase, a thing cast away or forsaken.

Fracture of a bone, is a division of a bone, made by some External cause, as Cutting, Breaking, Bruising of the same.

Flagginess, a loose hanging down.

Fluving, is anointing the Body with Quick-Silver.

Faculty, the nature disposition, power, promptness to do a thing.

Ferment, is the retaining the seed in the Womb thereby to proceed to conception, a borrowed word from the use of Leavened Meal.

Fuliginous Vapours, sootie smoakie, black Vapours.

Flux, and reflux; is a flowing, and returning again.

Fungous, or Fungus, or spungy substance.

Flurions, the runnings of a fore: loofings of the Belly.

Flegmatism, Flegmatick, fleshy, full of Flegm.

Fissura Ossis, is a Fracture of a Bone longways.

Facies Hippocrattia, is a Face that hath Nostrils sharp, Eyes hollow, Temples low, the Lips of the Ears contracted, and the Lobs inverted, the Skin hard and dry, the complexion pale, livid, Lead colour or black.

Falx, is a doubling of the Dura Mater like a Sickle, by which the Brain is divided into the right and left Hemisphere.

Fasciation, is the binding of swaths about a Limb that is to be cured.

Fodina, is the less Labyrinth in the bone of the Ears.

Glutinous Humour, is a thick, tough, clammy humor.

Gillous, round, bunched or bossed.

Gustus, Gustation, a tasting.

Gyrations, turnings about, Gyre a turne about.

Gena Mala, is part of the Face from the Nose to the Ears.

Generatio, is a natural action, whereby an Animal begets another like it of the same species, in Generatio the first thing we see, is a Red speck, which is clothed with a little Bladder; next a little Heart, whence flow Veins and Arteries, at the extremitie whereof you see a Viscera, the Bowels &c. afterwards the whole Fetus is formed and clothed with Membranes and Skin.

Gynaecomystax, is a tuft of hair at the upper part of a Womans secrets.

Glene, the Cavities of a bone which receives another into it, it is the same to Pupilla.

Hermaphrodites, Monsters in nature such as have the Privities both of Man, and Women: called also Will Gills.

Humidities, moistures, waterishness.

Habitus, or Heteris; is a habitude or habit of the Body, is ment all the internal parts thereof, into which either Veins, Arteries, or Nerves run.

Halo, is a red spot in the flesh that surrounds each Nipple in the Breast.

Hemeralopia, or Acies Nocturana; is when one sees better in the Night than in the Day.

Hidra, are Pimples or excrescences about the Privy parts.

Humidum Primogenium, may be properly called the Blood, which is seen in Generation before anything else.

Humores, Humours, of which there are four in the Blood, the Bilious, or Gallick humor; the Pituitus, or Phlegmatick humor; the Melancholicus, or Melancholick humor; and the Sanguinous, or Bloudy humor.

Hymen is a Membrane, it is taken for the Privy Membrane of a Virgin, in the lower part of the Vagina.

Hystero-tomotocia, or Sectio Cesaria; is a cutting of a Child out of the Womb.

Hysterotomia, is an Anatomical dissection of the Womb.

Indigestion, Indigestion, or slow digestion, is when the Meat eaten, is long before it be cast out of the Stomach into the Belly.

Infantes or Infants, are the issue (or offspring of Parents) Husband, and Wife.

Interner, knit, or tyed between.

Insertion, a putting of things together: adding one thing to another.

Internal part, the inward part of the Body, such as are not seen.

Intertexture, a weaving together.

Incisio, Incision, a cutting into the flesh, a Lancing the Skin, or Veins, or the like.

Impossumatio, Impossumation, the gathering together of matter, corruption, or naughty humor.

Influx, Influence, a running, or flowing into.

Irradiation, a casting out of light, an enlightning.

Intermediate, having something between, or in the middle between; a coming between two.

Inarticulated, joyned, or set together.

Inspection, the looking into a part, or thing.

Ile, is the Cavity from the Thorax to the bones of the Thighs: some hold that the Intestines in all Animals, except Man and a Sheep are called Ile.

Illa, are the lower parts between the Abdomen or left Rib, and the secret parts.

Infundibulum Renum, is the Pelvis or basin through which the Urine passes to the Ureters, and the Bladder.

Inspiratio, is a breathing, or an Alternate dilatation of the Chest.

Isthmus, is that part as lies between the Mouth, and Gullet: also the Ridge that separates the Nostrils.

Lacatio, or a Luration, or disjoining; removed out of its place: a displacing of a bone, so as to hinder Vo- luntary motion.

Laceration, a tearing, or pulling asunder; renting.

Laxative, loose in the Belly, purging; apt to go to the close stool: Laxity a looseness, in a Vacuating condi-

Lac, Milk, the seed of nourishment, which after the Child is born, drops out of the Dugs, in the form of Milk, or a wheyish matter.

Loches, are Child-bed purgations; which is the squeezing out of that blood, which was shut up in the spongy sides of the Womb.

Labia Leporina, or Rostrea Leporina; are such Lips as by reason of their ill make, will not come together.
Leprolia, Cloven Lips, or Hare Lips.

Labyrinthus, Labyrinth; a part of the Body which is full of windings and turnings, as may be seen in the inner part of the Ear, and the outer surface of the Brain.

Lachrymale punctum, is the hole in the bone of the Nose, by which the matter as makes tears passes to the Nostrils.

Lachrymae, are tears, or a moisture which moistens
 the Eyes.

Lapuna, are little pores in the Pores or passages in the Vagina of the Womb, through which flows a certain serous Pituitous matter, which flows out in the act of Coition.

Leutigines, Freckles or little spots in the Faces of Women, or any other parts exposed to the Sun or Air.

Leno, or Lenon, or Corcular Perophtili; that part of the Brain where the third cavity is joyned to the Meninge.

Leptoides, or Mendosa Sarura, or Squam- men; scaly Sutures of the Skull, as may be seen in the bones of the Temple, and forepart of the Head.

Ligamentum, a Ligament is a solid and Fibrous part, proceeding for matter almost like a Cartilage, and designed by nature for the connecting part, especially bones to perform their motion.

Linea Alba, is a concourse of the Tendons of the Muscles of the Abdomen, excepting the Tendons of the straight ones.

Lithotomus, is a Chyrurgion that is skillful in cutting out the Stone.

Lorbia, are those things that are evacuated by Women in Child-bed, after the birth of the Fetus, and the Secundinae Membranes.

Longanon, or Intestinum Rectum, the last Gut.

Lordosis, is the bending of the Back-bone forward.

Lopsick Water, a matter, or humor that causeth sores, or diseases.

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

Meanders, turning, and winding in any parts.

Mastication, a chewing.

Macula Epatica, is a spot of brown or of a sad red or yellow on any part, sometimes over the whole Body, which sometimes disappear, and then break out again.

Macula Matricalis, is a red or purple spot in the skin from the Birth.

Madarosis, is a baldness of the Head.

Mamma, or Mamilla; the Breast Dugs, the inner part of the Breast, the Lactis call Ubers, and Ubers, and the outward part Mamma.

Mammiformes processus, are two Apophyses or rings of the bone on the back part of the Skull.

Marmorygae, are the glistening and Corruscations of the Eyes.

Marmozata Aurium, Ear-wax, or a certain excrements of the Ears.

Meatus auditorius, the auditory passage of the Ear, which begins at the Cavity or inner part, and is cloathed with a thick skin to the brim of the Tympanum.

Meatus Urinarius, or Urethra, or Fistula; is the Urinary passage whereby both Urine and the Seed is discharged at the Yard in Man, and in the like manner in Women.

Mediastium, is a doubling of the Membrane, of the sides, which divides the Lungs and other Visera of the Breast into two parts.

Medulla Cerebi, is a soft substance, covered over on the outside with a baky substance: some assert that it consists of Innumerable threads or Filaments.

Medulla oblongata, is the beginning of the Spinal Marrow, whence arise the Nerves of the Skull. It is called also the common Sensory, because it is the original of the Nerves.

Medulla Ossium, the Marrow in the Bones, it is kept in a thin Membrane, and is Red in the greater Cavities of the bones; White in the less, and soft and Succulent in spongy bones.

Medulla Spinalis, the spinal Marrow, or the tail of the Brain, is that part as goes down the middle of the Back by the Vertebres, and is terminated at the Os Sacrum.

Membrana, a Membrane, is a Nervous, Fibrous, broad, plain, white, and delatable Substance which covers the Bowels and great Cavities of the Body, &c.

Membrana Carnosa, or Paniculus Carnosus; is a fat sort of Membrane, in some part thick, in some thin, it covers the whole Body.

Membrana Urinaria, or Allantois vel Allantoi- des, is the Urinary Membrane, or Tunic that received the Urine that comes out of the Bladder, it is round and like a thin soft skin which wrappeth the Child in the Womb.

Membrum, a Member, or part of the Body, designed for Voluntary Actions.

Meningophylax, is that which preserves the Meninge or Membrane of the Head, as thin Gold or Silver Plates, which are applyed when the Skull is opened.

Mensa, is the broader part of the Teeth, called Grin- dery, which chew and mince the Meat.

Menses, the courses of Women, are excretions of Blood every month from the Womb: and not from its Neck or passage called Vagina.

Mesenteraeum, or Mesenterium, and Mesaraica
Cala; is the Membrane of the Peritoneum doubled, enriched,

[] K k k 2

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

[]

riched with Glandulae, Nerves, Arteries, Veins, Chyliferae and Lymphatick vessels: from whence they are called Mesenterick and Mesenterick vessels.

Mesocolon, is that part of the Mesentery that continues to the great Gut.

Mesopleurici, are the Intercostal Muscles, twenty two on each side, eleven external, as many internal.

Metalepticus, is a Mitaliptick or contrary motion of the Muscles.

Metapleurum, is that part of the back which comes after the Diaphragma.

Metopium, is the Fore-head.

Microcosmus, Man is called the little World, as a compendium of the greater.

Microphthalmus, is one who hath little Eyes from his birth.

Mola Carneae, is a fleshy, or spongy substance, without Bones or Bowels, prematurely brought into the World instead of a Fetus.

Mola Patella, or Rotula, or Mola Geni, is a round and broad Bone at the joyning of the Knee, which of all other Bones is not begirt with a Membranous Ligament.

Monocolum, is the Gut Cecum.

Mons Veneris, is the upper part of a Woman's secrets, sometimes higher then the rest.

Mortariola, are the Caverns wherein the Teeth are lodged.

Mucus, or Mucus, we call it snout, or a thick, liquid, Viscous excrement, which flows from the Processus Popillares to the Nostrils and Palate.

Muro Cordis, or Aper, is the lower pointed end of the Heart.

Mulieria, or Tunus, is a Woman's Privy parts, consisting of a Clytoris, Nymphae, &c.

Mulcae Capiti, or Hyocephalum, is the falling of the Tunica Vreae.

Myodes Plapsina, is a broad Muscous Expansion in the Neck, proceeding from a fat Membrane.

Myologia, is a description of the Muscles.

Mycteres, are the Nostrils, or Receptacles of Pituitous humor that distills from the Brain.

Mydriasis, is a too great dilatation of the Pupil of the Eyes, which makes the sight dim.

Myelos, is the Marrow of the bones, or of the Spinal Marrow.

Myloglossum, a pair of Muscles that goe about the grinding Teeth, and fixed to the Ligament of the Tongue, and turns the Tongue upwards.

Myops, is one that is purblind; from Myopia or Myopiasis, a certain dimness of sight in distant objects, and yet a perspicacity in things near at Hand.

Myrmecia, is a sort of Wart, they are harder, lower, and take deeper root, and occasion greater pain, than those fleshy tumors called Chymus; they breed in the Palms of the Hands or Soles of the Feet, some call them Corns.

Myrtum, is a little peece of flesh in a Woman's secrets about the cleft, proceeding from a Corrugation of the Vagina.

Myrtar, is the upper lip and the hair upon it, called Muschatoc.

Myrtus, is a Mutilated Pulse, increasing and decreasing gradually.

Myra, see Mucus.

Nervosus, or Nervous, like a Nerve, Senary: that may be drawn into strings.

Nauseant, loathing, disposed to vomit, inclined to spew.

Nabi, or Notae Paternae, Moles or certain Native spots, some are plain, others Protuberant, and differ much in shape and colours.

Nates Cerebri, are two round Proeminences behind the beds of the Optick Nerves.

Nephelae, are white spots or clouds upon the Eyes, and on the surface of the Nails.

Neurologia, is an elegant description of the Nerve.

Nervus, or Neuron, a Nerve, it is a fibrous, round, long, white, porous substance, like an Indian Case, they make the Animal spirits moveable and sensible.

Neurotomia, is an Anatomical Section of the Nerve, and a pricking of them.

Neurotomus, is a dissector of the Nerve Anatomically.

Noctambulus, or Noctambulo; is one who walks in his sleep, opens doors and windows and goes over the highest and most dangerous places without perceiving it.

Nucha or Cervix, is the hinder part or nape of the Neck.

Nuciositas, see Myopia.

Nutritimentum, Alimentum, Nutrient or Nourishment, Meat and Drink well digested, which begins blood, and at last is assimilated into the nature of the Body. Nutrition, a natural increase and repair of corporal substance, by convenient nourishment.

Nyctalopia, a dimness of sight which is two-fold; the first is a dimness in the Night, or dark place, and no impediment in the light: the other is a dimness in the light, and a clear sight in the Night, or in shades.

Nymphae, are little peeces of flesh in a Woman's secrets; so called because the stand near the Water that comes out of the Bladder.

Nymphotomia, is the cutting off the Nymphae, the too great Protuberance whereof hinders Marriage enjoyments, or renders it difficult.

Osteologia, or Osteology; it is the History, or way of dissecting, or Anatomizing of Bones: or description of Bones.

Organicus, or Organical parts of the Body; is the uniting, and concurring of parts together, that they may perform those various offices in which they act: and so all may be taken for the instrumental parts of the Body, because one helps and assists another, and every movable action belongs truly, and properly to an Organ part.

Obstructio, Obstruction; is a hindering in the way or passage: Stoppage.

Organum, the Organs of the Body, are the Animal Spirits, and the Nerves by which all actions and motions are performed.

Ocular inspection, is the seeing of a thing with one Eye.

Orifice, the outward hole of a wound; the Mouth, or Lips of a cut, or wound. The Mouth of any thing.

Ostelea, is the Sagittalis Suture in the Skull.

Oethodes, are Ulcers whose sides are Callons, or of the nature of Warts but not malignant.

Oculares Dentes, the Eye teeth.

Oculus

Oculus, the Eye, it is the external Organ of sight.

Oporismus, is an Itching of the Gums, when Children breeds Teeth.

Ophontides, that which is like a Tooth, as the Tooth of the second Vertebre, and of other Bones.

Oesophagus, or Spizuter; is a Muscle that covers the Gullet.

Oesophagus, the Gullet, it is a Membranaceous pipe reaching from the Pallar to the Stomach. It hath three Tunicks, the outmost is Membranous, the innermost is Muscular, and the third is Nervous.

Ostracum, is the great process of the first bone of the Collar called Ulna, also of the upper part of the Shoulder: It is also named Ancan.

Omentum, or Reticulum; the Cawl, it is a double Membrane spread upon the Intestines, Interwoven with fat and vessels like fishers Net.

Omoiplata, or Homoplata or Scapula, the Shoulder blade, it is a broad triangular Bone, of some termed Spatula, and Scoptula Aperta.

Opticus Nervus, or Alfopus; is the optick Nerve, which carries the visible Species, from the Eye to the Sensitive.

Ovis, is a Testicle, whose substance in Men is a mixture of very little vessels, which makes the Seed: but the Testicles in Women are Membranes, and little fibres which breed Eggs, or little white bodies: therefore they are rightly called Ovaria, and Testes.

Oxytonus, a Gelder, one who takes away Testicles of Animals, that they cannot copulate.

Oyismus, is an Impetus and quick motion of blood and fibres.

Oxydones, are the subsiding or sedements in Urine, like to a kind of Pulse called Vetches.

Oxycolon, is the preternatural rectitude of a joint.

Os, or Osteon, a Bone; is a hard dry and cold substance consisting of Earthy and Saline Particles, designed for the upholding of the Body, and to render its motions facile.

Oculum Uteri, is the Cavity where the conception is made, and the Mans Yard enters.

Oiducrus; see Cuba Fallopfana.

Prostoties, holelines, full of holes.

Particles, small things of the same substance: several parts.

Preternatural, above, or besides nature, more then nature.

Porey, holely, or full of holes: Porous.

Periphetick Body, a Body sick, (or full) with fulness: a Body full of superfluous humors.

Pathological discourse, is a treating, or speaking of that part of Physick, which concerns causes, and Symptoms of diseases.

Pathology, a discourse of passion.

Perforated, pierced, bored through, an Hole made in a part of the Body.

Prolifick, is to afford Seed, or have sufficient matter to breed Children.

Palpitation, or panting of the Heart, or Pulse.

Perpiration, is an Evacuation of spirit, or air, by the Arteries: which are dispersed into the habit of the Body: by receiving in of air, and expelling fuliginous Vapours.

[]

Pulsation, is the action and motion of the Heart, and Pulse, and Nerves.

Peri-sistole, is the Pause, or resting time of the Hearts motion, between its contraction & dilatation of the Blood.

Parulent humor, a corrupt filthy humor, a sore full of corrupt matter.

Pione, or bending.

Palatum, the Pallar, or upper part of the Mouth; the roof of the Mouth.

Palpebrae, are the coverings of the Eyes: they are the upper, or under Eye-lids.

Palpitatio Cordis Naturalis, the natural Palpitation or beating of the Heart.

Pancreas, Callicreas, Pancreon, and Lactes; are all Synonymous terms for the Sweet-breads; it is a Conglomerated Glandule in the Abdomen.

Panniculus Carnosus, is a fat sort of Membrane, in some parts thick and Muscular, in other parts thin.

Papillae Intestinozum, are little Glandules where-with the innermost Tunick of Intrails are full.

Paphia, is a red Excrecency in the roiddle of the Breast.

Papillarum processus, are the extremities of the Olfactory Nerves.

Paristymia, or Amygdalae, or Tonsillae; are two Glandules tied together by a broad and slender production, they have a large Cavity opening to the Mouth.

Parotides, are Glandules or Kernals behind the Ear.

Part, a part, is the peece of a whole.

Partus, is the bringing forth, of a Mature Fetus, or young Child, in natural births.

Partus Celsus, is when Children are forced for want of passage to be cut out: called also, Partus difficilis, see Distotia.

Patella, see Mola Genii.

Pathema, is all preternatural Proturbations, where-with our Bodies are disturbed: Pathos the same.

Patheticus, is a Nerve of the fourth pair (some say the eight) within the Scull.

Pectus, is the fore-most part of the Thorax reaching from the Neck-bone to the Midriff.

Pelidnus, is a black and blew colour in the Face, frequent in Melancholly Men.

Pelvis, is the place of the bottom of the Belly, where-in the Bladder and Womb are contained.

Pelvis Aurium, or Cochlea, is the Cavity of the inner part of the Ear.

Pelvis Cerebri, or Choana; is the Cavity or Tunnel in the Basis of the Brain: by which its Excrements are Evacuated.

Penis Muliebris, see Clytoris.

Pepsis, is the Concoction and Fermentation of Humors and Meat, in a Mans natural constitution.

Pericardium, is a Membrane that surrounds the Heart, and contains a liquor in it to Refrigerate the Heart.

Periodus Sanguinis, see Circulatio.

Periosteum, is a Membrane that incloses all the bones, except some few.

Peripheria, is the Circumference of the Body, or any Entrail thereof.

Peritoneum, is a Membrane that covers the inside of the Abdomen, and the out side of all its Intrails: it consists of two Tunicks.

Perona

Perona, or Fibula, is the outer, less or slender Bone in the Leg; whence the first & second Muscles of the Leg are called Peroneus.

Pilli, the hair, are round, oblong, slender, hollow Bodies, and of a different colours according to the difference of the Constitutions. They grow out of the Pores of the skin, and have several terms or names according to the places of the Body they grow in.

Pneumatodes, is a short breathing.

Pneumatosis, is the Generation of Animal Spirits, which is performed by the Brain.

Pollutor, or Pollutor, an Embalmer for an Anapintor of dead Bodies.

Pollutio Nocturna, is an Involuntary Pollution in the Night, caused by Lecherous Dreams.

Politea Aena, a double Crural Vein, down the Back of the Leg to the Heel.

Pori, Pores, are little imperceivable holes in the skin, through which heat comes and hair grows.

Praecordia, are all the Intrails in the Chest, and Thrac.

Proparantia Uassa, preparing vessels, that go to the Testicles and Epididymes to prepare the seed.

Presbytia, a dimness of sight in things near, and tolerably well things at a distance: usual with old Men.

Triapismus, is a continual erection of the Yard without lust. And the Yard itself.

Primores Dentes, the Fore-teeth, by which we bite, and which we shew in laughing.

Procidencia Ani, is the falling of the Gut Rectum, by reason of its looseness.

Procidencia Uteri, is a Relaxing of the inner Tunick of the Vagina of the Womb, which falls through the privities.

Prolabia, the outward prominent parts of the Lips.

Prophylis, is a Coalition, as growing together, as when two Fingers are Connected to each other.

Phacia, or Phacos, a spot in the Face like a Nite, called also Lenticula and Lentigo.

Phenomina, are preternatural appearances in the Body, any thing above nature.

Phlaccrosis, is a falling off of the hair.

Phalangosis, is a fault in the Eye-lids when they are double Haired.

Phalanx, is the order and rank observed in the Finger bones.

Pharingetrum, is sometimes used for Pharinx, sometimes for Os Hyoides.

Pharinx, the upper part of the Gullet, consisting of three pair of Muscles.

Philtrum, is the hollow dividing the upper Lip.

Phlegma, is a slimy Excrements of the Blood.

Physiognomia, is the Art of knowing Natures by the Face.

Pinguedo, or Adeps, Fat, is a similar part to flesh and blood, yet white, soft, insensible, apt to preserve natural heat, and nourish the Body in time of need. The round Adeps flows from the blood, & is thicker, harder, and more firm substance. The fat Pinguedo be the quite contrary.

Placenta Aeterna, is a red substance like the Liver, full of Glandulous Kernals, and outwardly stick to the Womb.

Pleura, is a Membrane that incloses the Breast and its Intrails.

Plerus Choroides, is a texture of small Arteries in the Brain like a Net. Reticularis.

Polytarcia, is corpulency or Fatness of Body.

Pomum Adami, is a protuberance in the fore-side of the Throat, so called, being thought a peece of the Apple stuck in his Throat as part of his punishment, and hence derived to his posterity.

Pomomphalus, is a brawny peece of flesh or a Stone protuberant in the Navel.

Porus, Biletiuss, or Hepaticus, is a Channel that transmits the Chyle from the Liver, by the common passage to the Gut Duodenum.

Praesepia, the holes in either Jaw, wherein are contained the Teeth.

Proctethis, is the fore-side of the Breast, also the fleshy part in the Feet and Hands, and between the Fingers.

Proctetis, a part of Surgery which fills up what is wanting in the Flesh made by Wounds and Ulcers.

Proetuberantia, see Apophyssis: is any thing in the Body or on Bones, and continues there, making the place (or stretching it self) beyond a plain surface. It is also called Probole, Processus, Productio, Projectura, Echophysis.

Psoas, are Muscles of the Loyns which proceed from the Vertebres of the Thorax.

Ptyaces, are little Pimples in the flesh by reason of cold Wings.

Pterygium, the Wing or round rising of the Nose or Eye: the Process of the Bone Sphenoides, also a Membranous excrescence above the Tunick of the Eye, called Anguis, or Angula; also the Nymphag of a Womans secret parts.

Pterygoideus, are the Process and Muscles of the Wing-like bone.

Stylosis, when the lids grow thick, the hair of the Eye-brow falls off.

Ptyalon, or Ptyama, is Spit, or thar matter which is brought up from the Lungs by coughing.

Pulmones, the Lungs, or Organs of Respiration.

Pulsus, the Pulse, or the immediate Index of the Heart, and tells the state and condition thereof, whether natural or preternatural, by it beating either Strong, Weak, Swift, Slow, Equal, Unequal Intermittent, &c.

Punctum Saliens, the growth of an Egg, first from a little Speck, called Amnios, grows a slimy matter, wherein is a speck that seems to leap (called Punctum Saliens) which after comes to an Embryo, just like a Bagot, which tends every day to perfection.

Pupilla, or Pupula, is the opening of the Tunick of the Eye, called, Uvea.

Pustula, Pimples, they are the recrements of ill blood that shoot forth in the skin: of some termed Pus, and Pyon.

Pylorus, or Tanitoz, is the right Orifice of the Ventricule that sends the meat out of the Stomach.

Pyramideles Musculus, Muscles placed in the Abdomen, and lies upon the lower Tendon of the right Muscle.

Præputia, Vessels which prepare the seed for Pyris, or Acetabulum, is the Cavity of the Quittor, a Whitish Whey like Humor, bred in the Qualitas, Quality is a Disposition, or Contexture of little Particles, from whence our Bodies may be any way dominated of such a Quality.
Retentio, or Retentive, is to hold and keep fast. as the Retentive facultie of the Veine, is to hold the Blood; or the Stomach, Meate.
Recurvatus, Doubled againe, Foulded many tymes
Rubrynes, is the Redness of the Cheeks, or Face.
Rhumatisme, Rhumes, or like Waterish rhumes, as causeth diseases and Infirmities.
Retractio, or a Retraction of Rhumes, is a drawing back of Rhumes.
Repletio, a filling, or fullness of any hollow Cavity.
Recurvatus, Recurvatus: bowed, made Crooked.
Rabboides, see Sagittalis Suture.
Rachitæ, or Rachitæi, are Muscles belonging to the Back.
Rachitæ, a light Cleft or Chap in the skin at the Row of the Nail.
Relaxatio, a dilatation of parts or vessels, or a looseness or want of shutting the Stomach after eating of Meat, which hinders digestion.
Respiratio, is a breathing, which is an alternate dila- tation and contraction of the Chest.
Reines the Reins, or Kidneys.
Res Naturales, natural things are three, Health, the Cause of it, and the Effects. Others reckon seven, as the Elements, Temperaments, Humors, Spirits, Parts, Faculties, Actions.
Res non Naturales, things that are not Natural, are six: Air, Meat, and Drink, Motion, and Rest, Sleep, and Waking, the Affections of the mind, things let out off and things retained in the Body; they are so called, because that if they exceed their due bound, they often occasion diseases.
Res præter Naturam, things besides Nature, are Di- seases, their Causes, their Symptoms and Effects.
Ret mirabile, the wonderful net in the Brain, is so called by reason of its admirable Structure.
Retiformis Tunica, is a certain Expansion of the inner substance of the optick Nerve in the Eye. Called also Retina Tunica, and Amphiblestroides.
Rhachitis or Medula Spinalis; Spinal Marrow.
Rhagades, or Scissura, or Fissura, and Rima; is a chink, cleft, or chone, which often happen in the Hands, Feet, Lips and other parts of the Body.
Rhegma, is the breaking or bursting of any part, as of a Bone, the Rine of the Belly, or the Eye. Called also Rhexis.
Rhomboides, a pair of Muscles proceeding from the three lowermost Vertebres of the Neck.
Rhytidosis, is a wrinkling of any part in the Body.
Rima pudendi, or Fissura magna, what it is you may know from its use, which is Generatio, Excretion of Urine and bearing of Children, which by frequent Cotition grows larger. []

Ros, is the moisture of Bodies, whereby the parts are nourished, being contained in all places like a dew sprinkled on them.
Rotator major, and minor, are two Protuberances in the upper part of the Thigh bone called also Crichan- teres, in which the Tendons of many Muscles are terminated, or ended.
Ructus, Ructatio, or Bombus, a Belching, which is a deprived motion of the Stomach.
Rugitus, is an Efferescence of Chyle and Excrements in the Blood.
Ryas, is a too plentiful and preternatural falling of Tears.
Sapour, the tast of things, Savour, the Sense of tasting.
Stimulated, moved, or stirred up.
Suffusio, a Suffusion, a spreading abroad, or powering upon; also a Pin or Web, covering the sight of the Eye.
Sudation of Blood, is bloody Sweats, a Sweating of Blood.
Spitting, and Spawling, or Salivation; is a superfluous humor, proceeding from the Brain, and falling into the Stomach causeth Spawling and Spitting.
Sterilis, or Sterility, Barrenness, unfruitfulness.
Structur, the manner, or form; frame or order, the building.
Symptoms, are sign, and tokens of a thing.
Superfluities of humors, an overflow, or abundance thereof.
Speculation, a seeing into a thing.
Sympathy, and Sympathise, an agreement in passion, whose nature agrees with another.
Sterosity, a wheyness, or Whey like Choler, which being shed into the habit of the Body, makes the Face look pale.
Sanguification, a making, or renewing, or purging the Blood.
Suppuration, a gathering of matter, or an Impostume.
Separation, a severing, parting, putting asunder.
Subluration, is an unperfect disjoyning of a joynt, as when the bone is removed, or lengthned; yet out of the Socket.
Sacculus, Chyliferus, or Rotiferus, is the lower part of the passage of the Chyle.
Sacculus Cordis, see Pericardium.
Sacrum Os, the holy Bone, consisting of the six lower Vertebres.
Saliva or Salivum, spittle, an insipid liquor that moistens the Mouth and Gullet.
Salvatella, a Vein that terminates in the little Finger.
Sanguis, Blood, is a Red Florid Liquor contained in the Veins and Arteries; it is that which gives nourishment, life and strength to all the parts of the Body.
Satyrasis, or Priapismus, is an immoderate desire of venery, which upon Cotition vanishes.
Scalenum, those Muscles which extend the Neck.
Scarificatio, a Scarification or an Incision made into the skin with a Lancet or Penknife.

Sceletum, or Skeleton, is when the Bones are dried and put together according to Art in their natural order and position.

Scheus, is the disposition of the Body in its natural Sphoma, is a cut in any part of the Body, either hard or soft.

Scoliasis, is a Distortion of the Back-bone to one or the other side.

Scrobiculus Cordis, or Anticardium, is a Cavity of the Breast above the Region or place of the Heart.

Scrotum, the God or Bag which contains the Testicles of the Male kind: in the middle is a line extended in the length which divides the right part from the left.

Scutum, Scutiforme, see Polia.

Scroptula, are preternatural Glandules, or swelling of the Neck, or Ears.

Secundina, the Secundine, or after birth are the three Membranes, Chorion, Alantois, and Amnion, which with the Placenta are excluded after birth.

Semen, seed, is a White, Hot, Spirituous, Thick, Glummy, Saltish Humor, which is made out of the purest blood; and by proper passages is directed into the Womb of the Female. There is also in the Female a matter is called Seed, which frequently in their Act of yentry is emitted forth: the use of this, is to raise Tumescence, and render the Coitum more pleasant.

Sensus, Sense; that by which we See, Hear, Feel, Taste, or Smell any thing: Cognition, and Rest.

Septum Lucidum, is a partition upon the account of thinness of the Diaphanous, which distinguishes the Ventricles of the Brain: Speculum Lucidum the same.

Serum, is a watery, thin, yellowish and Salt Humor, which Vehicle or bears up the Blood.

Sesamoides Ossia, are a quantity of loose small bones found in the joints of the Hands and Toes.

Similares partes, Similar parts are such as are throughout of the same nature and texture.

Sinus Venings, are those Cavities which are called the Ventricles of the thick Membrane: they supply the place of Veins, for they convey the blood from the Brain and Cerebellum, to the Jugular Veins, &c.

Sinus Ossium, are those cavities of the bones which receive the heads of other bones.

Sitis, thirst, or a desire of Drink.

Somnus, Sleep, it is a straightning of the Pores of the Brain, which causeth the rest of the Animal Spirits, from their Operations.

Somnolentia continua, is a constant Drowsiness and inclination to sleep.

Sarganosis, is a distention of the Breast occasioned by too much Milk.

Spermaticae partes, are those Arteries and Veins which bring to, and convey it from the Testicles: also those Vessels through which the Seed passes.

Sphagtriges, are the Jugular Veins in the Neck.

Sphincter, is a Muscle that contracts the Gullet, Anus, Bladder, &c.

Spina Dorsi, are the hinder prominences of the Vertebres.

Spiritus, the Spirit or Life, which are reckoned of three sorts: the Animal Spirits in the Brain, the Vital in the Heart, the Natural in the Liver: but late Authors make only two, the Animal in the Brain, the Vital and Natural in the Mass of Blood.

Splen, or Lien, the Spleen, a receptacle for the Excrements of the Blood.

Splenii Musculi, Muscles that arise partly from the lower Vertebres of the Neck.

Sputum, a Liquor thicker then ordinary Spume, Phlegma.

Stegnosis, is a constriction and stopping up of the Pores.

Stercus, is that excrement which is voided by Stool.

Sternum Os, the Breast-bone, that is joyned to the Ribs, in the foremost part of the Breast, it consists of three or four Bones: but at ripen Years they grow into one.

The lower part of it, is called Cartilago Eniformis.

Sternophoides, is that pair of Muscles, which goes from the Breast-bone, to Os Hyoides.

Sterilitas, or Agonia, is fear and sadness of Mind: also Barrenness.

Sternothutoides, is a pair of Muscle of the Cartilago Scutiformis and draws it downwards.

Sternutatio, Sneezing.

Stigma, a Scar.

Stomachus, is properly the left orifice of the Ventricle, or Stomach, by which meats are received into it.

Strabismus, a squinting, is through the relaxation, Contraction, Distension, or too great length, or shortness of the Muscles which move the Eye.

Stylocera thoides, are the Muscles of the Os Hyoides which draw upwards.

Styloglossum, Muscles that lift up the Tongue.

Styloides, are processes of bone fashioned backwards into the Basis of the Skull.

Stylopharyngeus, Muscles that dilate the Gullet.

Sublaxation, a dislocation, or putting out of joint.

Sudamina, are little Pimples in the skin, Sudationes.

Sudor, Sweat, a watry Humor driven through Pores of the skin by heat, or Weakness.

Superfœtatio, is when after one Conception, another Successes so that both are in the Womb together.

Sutura Ossium, a Suture in the Juncture of bones, as in the Skull.

Satura, is a Connexion of the sides or lips of a Wound, which is by stitching or sewing it up with Needle and waxed Silk.

Symptoma, is a preternatural disposition of Body occasioned by some disease.

Synthesis, is either the frame and structure of the whole Body; or more strictly the compofure of the Bones.

Systema, is the same.

Sylarcolis, is the Connexion of Bones by flesh.

Sistole, is the Contraction of the Ventricles of the Heart, whereby the Blood is driven into the Arteries, a drawing together the Heart's motion.

Temper, or Constitution; it is taken for a Healthy being, or for a Sickly, and Weak inclination.

Tuberosit, or Bunchiness; the bunching out of any part of a Bone.

Tactus, a Touch, is a sense whereby the Tactile qualities of the Body are offered to the common Senses.

it is the Sense of a thing touching.

Cartus, is a Cartilaginous extremity of the Eye-lids, whence the hair springs, called also Cilium.

Temperamentum, Temperament, is a quality that arises from the Union and mixture of the Elements in Mans body. So Cralis is the same.

Tempus, the Temple, the place between the Eyes and Ears.

Tendon, a Tendon, is a similar Nervous part annexed to Muscles and Bones, by which motion of the Members is performed.

Testes Mulliebres, see Ductus.

Testes Viriles, Mans Testicles, consists of several small Vessels, wherein the Seed is generated.

Testes Cerebri, are two backward Prominences of the Brain, called so from their likeness to Testicles.

Tessudo Cerebri, or Fornix, is the Callous substance of the Brain.

Tetanus, is a constant contraction, whereby a Limb grows Rigid and Inflexible. It is usually distinguished into Particular, which respects a certain Member, or particular joint; or Universal of which there are three sorts, as Empiphotonos, which is a contraction of the Muscles of the Neck towards the fore-parts; Opisthotonos, which is a kind of Cramp or stretching of the Muscles backwards: and Tetanos a kind of seizing on the whole Body, either by Cramp, Gout, or Palsie, &c. Called also Tonicus.

Thermomethron, is a natural Heat, which is perceived by the Pulses.

Thlipsis, is a compression of Vessels.

Thorax, or Medijs Venter, the Chest or Breast, is all the Cavity, which is circumscribed or compassed about, above by the Neck, below by the Diaphragme, before by the Breast-bone, behind by the Back-bone, on the sides by the Ribs. The Membrane with which it is covered within, is called Pleura.

Thrombus, is the coagulation of Blood or Milk, into clots or clusters. Thrombolis the same.

Thymus, is a Glandule in the Throat, that separates the clear watry Humor called Lympha from the Blood. It is also taken for any fleshy tumor that hangs upon the Body like a Wart.

Thyroary-taenoides, are a pair of Muscles, which serves to contract and close the Larynx.

Thyroideae Glandulae, are two Kernels of a viscous solid substance, almost as big as an Egg, situate about the lower seat of the Larynx.

Thyroides, is the Cartilage called Scutiformis; also the hole of the Os Pubis.

Tinnitus Aurum, is a certain Buzzing, tingling or noise in the Ears.

Tophus, is a stony or hard concretion in any part.

Torcular Herophilii, is that place where the four Cavities of the thick skin of the Brain is joyned.

Tragus, is the extream trim of the Ear.

Traulus, or Traulotes, is a stammering or fault in pronouncing the Letters L and R.

Trismus, is the grinding of the Teeth, or the Teeth gnashing, whether one will or no.

Trochlearis, is the upper and greater oblique Muscle of the Eye.

Tromos, is a trembling, or a Depravation of the voluntary motion of Members

Tubae Fallopianae, are two slender passages proceeding from the Womb, which from it grow gradually wider.

Tumor, Tumour, or swelling, is when the parts of Humane bodies are enlarged and extended beyond their due proportion, through any disease or distemper.

Tunica, see Membrana.

Timpanum, the Drum of the Ear, is a small thin, Orbicular, Transparent Membrane, stretched over the Cavity of the inner part of the Ear.

Tyrosis, is when Milk that is eated Curdles into a substance like Cheese.

Uitiated, hurt, made nought, spoiled.

Uirulent, poysonous, full of poyson, and deadly matter.

Vitalitas, Vitality, a lively force of all the parts: of Vital living.

Viscous, tough, or clammy, like Bird-lyme.

Vagina Uteri, called also Matrix, Uteri Ostium, and Uteri Cervix: is that passage in which a Mans yard is sheathed as it were in Coition: It is of an oblong figure, and of different magnitudes, according to the age of the Woman, and her use of Men.

Valetudo, is either a good or ill disposition of the parts of the Body.

Valvulae, Valves, are little thin Membranes in Vessels or Fibres, like folding doores as it were; they are found also in Veins, Arteries, Lymphatick and Lacreal Vessels. They are also in the Intestines, and in the small and great Guts.

Vaticolum Corpus, is the Contextures, or joyning together of the Spermatick vessels which enters the Testicles.

Vasa, the vessels, are Cavities through which the liquors of the Body passes, as a Vein, an Artery, Lymphatick vessels, the Ductus that conveys the Chyle, and those of the Spittle.

Vasa Lactea, the Milky vessels.

Vasa Lymphae, or Lymphatica; are the vessels that receive the Lympha, or clear Lymphoid humor, consisting of Nervous Juice and Blood, from the Conglobated Glandules, which discharge themselves into the Sanguinary Vains, or the Receptacle of the Chyle.

Vena, a Vein, the species of them in brief: are thus termed, the Vena Cava, the Vena Porta, the Lymphatick and Milkie Veins. Arteries, are sometimes taken for Veins. The branches of the Vena Cava above the Heart are called Jugular Veins, which go towards the Head: those to the Arms, are called Axillary Veins; that about the Heart, the Coronary Veins; those in the Lungs, Pulmonary Veins; in the Liver, the Hepatick or Liver Veins; in the Diaphragme, the Phrenica Veins; in the Thighs, the Cru-ral Veins; in the Reins, the Emulgent Veins; and so from its various Ramifications or spreading branches the others are variously denominated, as I have shewed before in the Veins of Mans Body, fol. 423. The Vena Portae, is only in the Abdomen and extends its roots or branches to the Liver, Spleen, Ventracles, Mesentary, Intestines, Pancreas, Caml, &c.

Vena Sectio, is the opening of a Vein.

Ventriculus, the Stomach, it is a Membranous Bowel in the Abdomen. It is called Stomachus and Aqualiculus: It hath two Orifices on the right Hand, called Pylorus or Tanitor, whereat the Meat is sent into the Guts: and another on the left Hand, at which the Meat enters.

Ventriculus Cerebri, the Ventricles of the Brain.

Ventriculus Cordis, the Ventricles of the Heart, are two, one receives the Blood, and sends it to the Lungs; the other receives it from the Lungs and sends it through the whole Body. In the Systole, or contraction of the Ventricles, the Blood is sent out: In the Dyastole or Dilatation it is let into the Heart.

Verrucae, or Tubercula, or Porri, Warts, they are an hard high Callous swelling, which break out of the skin in any part of the Body, and remains there.

Vesica, the Bladder, it is an hollow Membranous part, and holds any liquor, as Urine, Gall, and the Seed.

Verruculata, the same as Sagittalis Sutura.

Vesperilionum Alae, Bats Wings, are two broad Membranous Ligaments, wherewith the bottom of the Womb is tied to the Flank-bones.

Vigilia, Waking or Watchfulness.

Virginale Claustrum, see Hymen.

Viscera, are Organs contained in the three great Cavities of the Body: they are called also Extra and Interranea.

Visus, sight, is a sense whereby light and colours are perceived.

Vitalis Facultas, the Vical faculty, is an action whereby a Man lives, such are the motions of the Heart, Respiration, &c. It is the same with Natural Faculty.

Homelia, is the soundness of the Body.

Vitalis Judicatio, is a way whereby strength and vigor are continually renewed and preserved.

Umbilicus, the Navel, is a boss in the middle of the Abdomen or Belly, to which the Navel-string is joyned, by it the Child is nourished in the Womb.

Unguis, the Nail, it is a similar, Flexible, White and Hard part, which defends the Fingers from external injuries. The several parts are thus distinguished, Apices or tops of the Nail, are they which grow beyond the flesh; Sigmina the parings of the Nails, - - - - - the part under the Nails, the hidden parts; the Rise of the Nail, the white semilunar part next the Root; the Root of the Nail, is the first beginning that grows into the skin; the Clefs, the sides of the Nails; Pubecula, the little clouds or white spots in the Nails.

Urachus, is the Urinary passage of a Child in the Womb.

Ureter, is a Fistulous Membranaceous vessel, by which the Urine passes from the Reins to the Bladder.

Urethra, or Fistula, is the Urinary passage, whereby Urine is discharged at the Yard in Men, and in Women: It serves also for the ejection of seed. It is called Urinaria.

Uron, Urina, Lotium, is a Serous Excrement conveyed from the Blood.

Uterus, the Womb, it is an Organical part placed in a Womans Abdomen, which is divided into the Bottom, the Neck, and the Sheath: at the bottom there is a Corvix whence the Courses flow, and Generation and Conception are made.

Xerophthalmia, is a dry Bleardnes or Blood-shot of the Eyes.

Xerotes, is a dry disposition of Body.

Xiphoides, is the pointed Cartilage of the Breast.

Zone, is that part of the Body where we are Begirt.

Zoogonia, is a Generation of perfect Animals born alive.

Zootomia, is an Artificial Dissection of Animals.

Zygoma, is the Jugal-bone about the Temples.

Synoma, is a Ferment, as the Nitrous or moist Air, a Watery Juice in the Mouth, the Acide Liquor in the Stomach, the Blood in the Spleen, &c.

Whosoever desires further instruction in the Art of Anatomy, may peruse these Authors.

Johannes Riolanus Junior, his Anatomical description of the whole Body of Man, with their Diseases.

Helkiah Crook D. P. Professor in Anatomy and Chirurgery.

Ambrosius Pareus, and the same Author translated by Tho: Johnson, Printed 1634.

Stephen Blansard M. D. Professor of Physick, his Physical Dictionary, Printed 1684.

T O

The Right Worshipful

Sir Roger Mostyn, of Mostyn, Knight and Baronett.

Thomas Mostyn, of Gloddale, Esq; his Son and Heir Apparent.

AND TO

Sir Edward Mostyn, of Talacre, Baronett,

A Venerable Ross, in his Mythagogus Poeticus, or, The Muses Interpreter hath unfolded many Historical Mysteries of the Greek and Latine Poets, which in themselves were hard to be understood; so it hath been my chief care and study in this English Academy, to bring to light and explain those various Bearings and terms used by German, French, Spanish, Dutch, Italian, English and British Herald's, and profound Masters of Sciences; from whence I hope many useful, delightful, and rare Observations and Instructions may be gathered, which may content the most curious, as well as they have pleased him in the collecting, who is

Your most Humble Servant

Randle Holme.

CHAP. XVIII.

Since the accomplishment of the Plates belonging to this second Book, there hath come several other things to my Knowledge, which as they pertain to Arms, should have been set amongst them. But those being full, I have set these as additions to the former; desiring the kind Reader to accept of them in this Plate together, as well as if they had been in their right and proper Classes, or in those Chapters to which they do belong, as

He beareth Gules, a demy Arch-Angel issuing out of a Cloud proper, double winged, Or; from the lower part (of the Cloud) the Sun Beams. This is one way of Blazoning this Coat, others have it thus, a Cloud in fesse, with the Suns resplendent Rays or Beams thereout issuing, proper, a demy Arch-Angel Naissant, holding up its Hands on each side its head Argent, crined, and double winged, Or. But more briefly thus; out of a Cloud, a demy Angel extending of its wings, and the Sun Beams issuing out below, all proper. Such an Angel or Arch-angel as this I have seen richly Embroidered upon a Cope, the Vestment of the Popish Priests, and is by them termed a demy Cherub, or Seraphim, flying in the Clouds, because the Cherub if it be double winged, hath two of them set on each side the head.

He beareth Sable, a Locust of Hell, Argent, Crowned and winged, Or. If this were of one colour or Mettle, then it were sufficient to term it either a Locust of Hell, or the hideous Monster Apollyon, who is said to be Crowned, and have the Wings of a Dragon, as St. John doth describe them in Revelations, 9. 2. 3, &c. And there arose Smoak out of the Pit, as the Smoak of a great Furnace, and there came out of the Smoak Locusts upon the Earth, and to them was given power, as the Scorpions of the Earth have power to hurt. Now the form and shape of these Locusts he farther sets out in the 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 Verses, that they were like unto Horses prepared unto Battel, and on their Heads were as it were Crowns like unto Gold, and their faces were like the Faces of Men, and they had hair as the hair of Women, teeth were as the teeth of Lions, and they had Hornes like to Habergions of Iron; and the sound of their Wings was like the sound of Chariots, when many Hosts run unto Battell, and they had tails like to Scorpions, and there were Stings in their tails, and the King over them, which is the Angel of the Bottomless Pit, was named Apollyon, and in the Hebrew called Abaddon.

II. He beareth Argent, a Cressant Ingrailed on the inner side Gules. It is not only born Ingrailed, but Indented, and Inveck &c: on the inner side: But for the our part, I never found it otherwise than Plaine.

A such a Cressant G. born by Van Emoltzheim of Bavaria, his crest the same held by 2 hands.

III. A such A. born by Johnson.

IV. He beareth Azure, a Coft Nebulated Or; between two Cressants Argent: at the Points of that in Chief the Heads of a Flower de lis; and that in Base with Escoilles, or Stars. some in stid of a Coft; term it a Ribbin, or a Wyver Nebulated; Because it runs in and out in forme of the bending line, Called Nebulae, or Cloudy like.

And for the Cressants thus charged, those with the Heads of Flowers de lis at the points or Poins, are usually termed Cressants, the Poins flory, or Cres- cents at each point an Escoille. And thus it is usuall amongst the Duch to have there Cressants at each point, to be adorned, Some with 3. 5. or more Piles of Grassie; or with Flowers of severall sorts, or Leaves; or Elle with 1. 2. or 3. Feathers, and such like things, which are to be termed in Blazon as aforesaid.

A. A Coft nebulated S. by the name of Zerkinden in Switzerland.

B. A Cressant, the points adorned with feathers A. by Van Wamsdore.

B. A Cressant, the Horns flory A. is the crest of Van Wintertur.

A Cressant S. on each horn a coronet with a Plume of Feathers in it A. is the crest of Van Hautzenberg. The Cressant G. and Peacocks feathers out of the Crown, by Van Puelberg.

A. a coft nebulated, in the dexter chief a Mullett of in points S. born by the name of Zerkinden.

On the Horns of a Cressant O. tufts of Grass, is the Coft of Commerer, of Brunswick.

IV. He beareth Gules, a Cloud, with the Sun Beams Ascendant. This is contrary to the course or nature of the Bearing of the Sun Beams; for generally they are made issuing or descending from the Clouds, but in this it shineth upwards. This was the Badg or Cognizance of King Edward the Third of England.

V. He beareth Argent, a Chief Nebula, Sable (or a Cloud in Chief, Sable) with three Piles waved, and Samant, Gules. Some term these Piles raisie, or Rayed, others Blazon them three flames or straines, or streams of Fire, issuing out of the Cloud, or descending from it. This is born by the name of Doner- spieg, in Switzerland.

S the chief B. the Flames proper, in Base a Chapour- net, or Shapournet O. born by Donersperg.

VI. He beareth Azure, a Chief, Argent, on the lower part thereof, the Sun issuant. Others will have it to be the Sun in his Glory debused, (or half covered) with a Chief, Argent, as if it were half gone under a white, bright, shining, Cloud. By the name of Halfight.

Party per Fesse A. and O. a demy Griffin issuant G.
and the Sun Rays Eclipsed. Born by Bockpit.

a VI. He beareth Vert, a Rundlet, (or round shield,) Argent, Fretted, Sable, in the Rays of the Sun, Or. Some term it a Shield Rayed, or Raisie.
This is the Crest of Buern, of Brunswick, in Holland.

Others V. in the Glory of the Sun, a Plate Fretted S.

VII. He beareth Argent, three Incessants in chief;
Gules, in base a demy Spur rowel issuant, the five points adorned each with 5 piles or Blades of Grass, Vert. Some Blazon the 3 incessants Bar- ways, this is born by Newcote of Berham.

A. such a demy Spur rowel issuant in Base G. points adorned with Ostrich Feathers O. born by Nemendeck.
S. 3 Incessants in Fesse O. born by Van Gleysbach.

VIII. He beareth Argent, the Sun Eclipsed, issuing out of the Dexter corner, the Beams, Or. Here though the Sun be hindred of its glorious light; yet we may suppose that the Body of the Moon, which is far less in quantity to the Sun (the same being in interposition) and coming betwixt us and the Body of the Sun, yet it doth not wholly divert the Beams thereof, and debar us of its Light, but something of the Glory will appear from the Beams, as in this example. The most miraculous Eclipse of the Sun that ever was, happened then when the Son of God was on the Crosse; when all the Earth was benighted at Noon-day, Matt. 28. 45. so that Dionisius Areopagita, then a Heathen in the City of Athens, cried out either the World was at an end, or the maker of it was suffering some great Agony. This is born by Welday, of Wheelhurst.

A. such a Sun Beams G. born by Van Rainshwine, in Alsatia.

B. such a Sun in its Glory, born by Aldernam.

IX. He beareth Azure, a Cressant, Argent, on the Poins thereof, the Sun in its Glory, invironed with a Cloud, Argent. Born by Wilkinjor.

Others Blazon it, the Sun invironed with a Cloud fixed on the Poins of a Cressant.

X. He beareth Sable, the Sun, the Moon, and the Seven Stars. Gwillims hath it thus, the Sun, the Full Moon, (or Moon in her Complement) in Chief, and Seven Stars in Obticular form in Base Others term them the Sun in his Glory, the Moon in her full Splendor, and the Seven Stars in their Brightness. This Coat pertained to Johannes de Fon-
s. bus

ibus (or Fountains;) sixth Bishop of Ely, who bore that after a fort, as Joseph had in his Dream, Gen. 37. 9.

Mr. Morgan Blazons it, the Sun, Moon and Seven Stars, the two first in Chief, and the last circularly in Base.

XI. He beareth Argent, three Rain Bows, proper. It is termed also a treble Rain Bow, or three Rain Bows one within another, or under one another. This is Born by Rainsbourgh, in Alvania.

A. 2 Rainbows, born by Weylheim, in the Dukedom of Brabant.

G. 3 Rainbows, born by Sariat, of Wetpoole.

XII. He beareth Sable, three Cressants endorced in triangle, one above, two below, Argent. Here I say one above, &c. because these stand contrary to all triangular Bearings, they generally standing two above, and one below, answering the three corners of the Escuchion. This is born by Joffel, in Switzerland.

G. two such above, and one below, A. born by Monim.

A. the like S. born by Van Hanstein.

A. the like O. born by Van Puchberg.

XIII. He beareth Gules, a Cressant, (or an increfant, with its horns in chief) points adorned with a Cross patee, and the bottom sides set with Feathers, all Argent. Besides the several sorts of things wherewith the points are beset (as I said before, numb. 3. so on the other side, the bottom in many Dutch Coats is set thus, with Bundlets, Crescents, Leaves, &c. also the hollow, or middle, or inward part made like a Face, or raised into small Hills, or Invecked, as in this example.

A. such a Cressant adorned with Crosses Patee and Feathers, G. born by Van Ernberg, a Dutch Family.

S. such a Cressant (sans Crosses), born by Van Despar.

XIV. He beareth Sable, a Cressant, Argent, with an Arrow shot through it, Or, Feathered and Barbed of the second. Else thus, a Cressant pierced with an Arrow (or Dart, or Shaft) Debaused in the top. Born by Thomlight of Wigland.

G. the like Cressant pierced with a Sword, debaused in the bottom, all proper. Born by Monword. If the Sword had its point down, then it should have been termed pierced with a Sword (the point in base, or reversed), debaused, &c.

For it is to be noted, that the Sword, as it is an Emblem of Majesty, Government and Justice, is ever born with the point upright, which needs no mentioning, if otherwise it be placed in the Shield, then to mention it.

XV. He beareth Argent, between two Bars, Gules, nine semicircular Clouds issuant, viz. 3. 3. and 3 Azure. By the name of Leuthorst, of Brunswick in Germany.

*

XVI. He beareth Gules, a Wild Ass, Or, collared, Sable. Some call it an Horned Wild Ass; See it farther described in numb. 31. here I only give the true shape, with this further advice, that in all parts it doth resemble the Ass, save in the short Horn fixed upon his forehead between the two eyes, and another hooked Horn on his Nose, bending backward, both being smooth and sharp pointed: Besides, he hath a bunch or swelling on the middle of his back, rising into a point like a Cop, Pyramid-wise; some affirm, that it is whole hooded, and others say it hath no hoods at all, but hath feet with Toes like a Dog. This is born by the name of Wildman.

A. such a Beast G. born by the name of Littlegood.

In the Sinister Chief, is set a Cressant reversed; others a Decressant turned downwards. Some Blazon it a Cressant with a demy face in it, dejected or cast down, as if it were out of its proper being.

Party per pale, A. and G. three Cressants subverted in pale O. by the name of Schraatenberg, of Tyrol.

B. a Cressant reversed O. born by Van Massenbergh.

XVIII. He beareth Water in Base, and a raggy Rock extending to all parts, with the Figure of an Old Man crushed among the Clefts, pouring Water from a Fontall or Water-pot, all proper. Others He beareth in Base a River, at the Brink (or shore thereof) a raggy Rock extended throughout the field, depressing of a Naked Man leiant, his Knees open and making Water (or Pissing) having his left hand upon a Fontall (or Water-pot), all proper. Others Blazon it, per base Water and a Rock enclosing a Naked Man with his left hand on a Scratch. This is born by the name of Rockwater.

XIX. He beareth Argent, a Grotto (or Garden Fountain), proper. But because Grotto's have certain devices in them, it is the most certain way to term the particulars, as thus a Grotto compassing of a raggy Rock or Hill, spouting up Water, which falleth in three places into a Fountain made Hexagon ways, or six square. This is Born by the name of Fountaindale, of Fountaindale.

XX. He beareth Argent, out of the top of a Pillar, Water spouting on each side into a Cistern, made Hexagon ways, fixed on a Ground plot, issuing out of the Base, born by the name of Sinkis. Some say out of an Hexagon Cistern, a Pillar spouting Water.

G. the like A. about the Pillar a Garland O. is born by Newpruner.

XXI. He beareth Sable, a Greyhound forestretching himself, with his head to the Sinister side, Argent, see numb. 67. Born by the name of Stretch.

In the Sinister Chief is the true shape of a Buprestis, which the French call a fobillemerde, it is a small insect, and is a Beast or Creature that lieth in Grass, which kills Cows, Oxen, or Horses, if they eat it.

XXIII. He beareth Gules, a Flame out of the top of a socket.

Socket of a Candlestick, Argent. This Flame of the latter end of a Candle, is the resemblance of Old Age, for the Candle being consumed, the Socket is removed, and the glimmering Light extinguished, that a new and fresh Candle may be put in, and the Socket set again in its place; so one Generation passeth, and another cometh in its room. This is born by the name of Lightfoote.

B. three such A. on a Chief G. an Eagle displaid O. by the name of Sayler, of Switzerland.

B. three such A. born also by the said name of Sayler.

XXIV. He beareth Sable, a Lamp, Or, with a flaming Light therein, having a semicircle or reflection about it, proper: This is by some termed a Lamp of the Sanctuary, and well it may be so called, both because it is of that fashion, and also to distinguish it from other kind of Lamps. This is born by the name of Holywood.

S. 3 such O. born by Proudman.

XXV. He beareth Sable, a Cresset, Argent, Flame, proper. This is another kind of Lamp light, made with combustible Stuff fit for Burning, in a hollow Stone, or Brick, or Iron Dish, and is transported from place to place according as there is occasion to use its light. This Coat belongs to the name of Heywood, and is quartered by the Family of Bombyer of Knipersley: And in this I cannot but admire the Ignorance of some Painters, who pretend much skill in Heraldry, who in place of a Dish or round Cresset Stone, with a Concave; have made it a Cressant with a Flame in the hollow part of it; so taking a Cresset for a Cressant; which Error the principal of the Officers in the Heralds Office, would scarcely be convinced of.

XXVI. He beareth Azure, a Goldsmiths Lamp, Argent, Flamed, proper. This kind of Lamp goeth under several denominations; some call it a Tin Lamp, others a standing Lamp, or a Lamp with a Foot, a Cup Lamp; any of which may suffice. This is the Coat of Ileave.

An Oil Mans Lamp, or a hanging Lamp, hath no foot, but is generally round, or six square, with a Pipe out of the side, as this hath; or with two pipes, each side one, which is called a Lamp with two lights, which they hang in their Shops in the Night time.

A. a Lamp of two Lights, S. Flames proper. Born by the name of Oyleman.

Party per Fesse S. and A. 3 standing Lamps counter-charged, by Van Weisenberg. Also by the name of Braken.

XXVII. He beareth Sable, the top of a Beacon couped (or cut off from its main Pole or Standard) fixed, proper. These are a kind of Lights set upon high Hills, which are usually Fired upon the incursion and invasion of Enemies to put the Country in Arms. See the whole form of the Beacon amongst Military Fire Arms, lib. 3 chap. 18. numb. 47, 48. This is the Coat of Care.

A. 3 such S. Fired proper, is born by Chetwardly.

XXVIII. He beareth Vert, an Armadillo, Or. This is a Creature much like a Sheep for bodily shape, but in the head and feet it differeth; for it hath a sharp Nose, round set ears, resembling a Cup, or round dish; the feet are cloven into Toes like a Dog. It is from the Nose to the Feet covered with scales, only the tail is hairy, and shaped like a Fox tail, reaching to the ground. Other Authors say it is a long and slender bodied Creature with short legs, having only sharp claws for toes and feet; the back, sides and belly scaled with a Losenge like scales; all the rest of the Body, Legs and Tail, set (as it were) with round Stones like scalinels. This is born by the name of Armouell.

A. the head couped G. born by Stelletto.

XXIX. He beareth Azure, an Indian scaled Hedgehog, Argent; for shape and bigness it much resembles our common Hedgehog, only the Nose is more sharp, and the body covered with half round scales instead of prickles, and long sharp claws. This is born by Gyram, of Gyram. See chap. 10. numb. 56.

XXX. He beareth Argent, the head of a Lion Goat issuing out of the Sinister side, proper. This Beast hath the Face of a Lion with two short horns on the top of its head, bending backwards and smooth; the under chap, throat, and forepart of the neck, rough and hairy like a Goat; all the rest of the body, tail, legs, feet and hoofs like a Goat, but smoother haired. It is of a dark or dirty colour, the horns and hoofs more blacker. This is born by the name of Nonfuch.

Argent, the whole Beast, Sable, is born by Lingate, or Liongate, alias Liongote.

O. 3 heads of Lion Goats, proper, born by Bloore.

These are of some termed the heads of Mantigers.

XXXIII. He beareth Azure, a Pyramid craggy Rock issuing out of Base, Argent, on the top a Castle with two Watch Towers, Or. By the name of Tirrell, alias Towerhill.

O. such a Hill and Castle G. in chief a Stags horn S. is the Town Coat of Alpensteg, under the States of Holland.

S. such a Hill, with two Candlesticks, O. with Candles in them flammant, is the Town Arms of Lichtenfels. Some term it on each side the middle of a Craggy Mountain two Candlesticks, &c.

XXXIV. He beareth triparted per Fesse, Air, Water and Earth, the two Rocks called the Streights (or the Streights Mouth) on each a Fort or Tower, Gules. This is termed the Streights, being the resemblance of those two great Promontories or Rocky Necks of Land, between which Ships must sail before they can enter the Mediterranean Sea; the one lieth on the Coast of Spain, the other on Barbary. Some term this, two Rocks in the middle of the Water, fixt to each each side of the Escocian, &c. but term them how you will, they seem to me to answer those two dangerous places, situated between Italy and Sicily, the one called Scylla, opposite to it is Charybdis: the which as the Marriner endeavoured to escape one, he fell into the other. It is a happy thing to take a straight course between the two Rocks presumption, and dispair: for by sailing too near to either of them, millions of mankind have perished. This is born by the name Carvile.

The like is also born (with a Man on Horseback Armed Cape-a-pee: carrying a Banner and shield proper) by the name of Volckensdorf in Holland.

Air and Water 2 such Rocks with a Ship between, in base on Horse-fish all proper, a chiefe ingrailed is the Turky Marchant companies Arms.

XXXV. He beareth Argent, a Mountain in base, Vert: with a cross potence fixed on the top Gules. This is termed by St. Luke the Prince, or Patron of Heralds, and Painter; the Mountain of Prayer, Luke 9. 28. 29. which St. Peter calls the Holy Mount, 1. Pet. 1. 18. It is a signification of that Rock Christ Jesus, against which the Gates of Hell shall not prevail, Mat. 16. 18. This is the Coat Armour of Hill.

G. the Hill A. and cross O. is the Arms of the Town of Aldendorf in Germany.

XXXVI. He beareth Argent, three Shapournets Mounted, and removed, Gules; see lib. 1. chap. 9. numb. 115, 116. These are called also three French hoods, because they are (by reason of a back turn) Copped on the top, but I should rather term them three Mole-hills double cast up, as if the Mole had cast up a new work on the old: or according to our own Country Speech a Cop copped: for we call every little Hill, a Cop. This is born by the name of Copland.

A. on a bend, G. three such A. is born by van H.velt in Saxony.

XXXVII. He beareth Argent, a French Escarbuncle, Gules. This is made after the French fashion without any staves, but engrailed about, and at every other point, a Flower de lis, which to distinguish it from other sorts of Escarbuncles mentioned chap. 2. numb. 44, 45. I have blazoned it, a French Escarbuncle, else term it according to the French, an Escarbuncle flourished, or set wit Flowers de lis. This is born by the name of Champagne.

XXXVIII. an Escarbuncle, the Staves, or Rays, Pomettie; adorned with Lillies, or Dulipars: this is the Dutch way of making them, and may very well be termed the Dutch, or German Escarbuncle: and is born by Bucken.

XXXIX. He beareth Argent, an Escarbuncle, Gules; the Staves, or Rays, florette; Azure. Born by Carbuncle. There are by this, made known to you five sorts of Escarbuncles.

Paly Bendy sinister, B. and A. such an Escarbuncle O. is born by Hohenpogen.

A. such an other S. is born by Bothor.

[]

Sorts of Escarbuncles.

First, an Escarbuncle (of the old fashion) avoided, as chap. 2. numb. 44.

Second, an Escarbuncle, without any other addition, as chap. 2. numb. 45.

Third, an Escarbuncle flory, or set with Flowers de lis, as numb. 37.

Fourth, an Escarbuncle with Staves, or Rays Florery, as numb. 39.

Fifth, an Escarbuncle with Staves Flory and Pometty or Floritee and Pomettee, as numb. 38.

XL. He beareth Argent, a Bear-moufe, proper. This is the true shape of the Creature, which you may see further described, chap. 8. numb. 45. And is born by the name of Barefoot.

The Sloth, is a Beast of this form, having a Face like an Ape or Marmoset, long, rough, shadged hair over the Body, the foremost Legs much longer then the hinder: the Feet like an Ape, - - - - - the Tail - - - - - it is termed a Digritia.

XLI. He beareth Vert, the Head of a Wild Goat with straight Horns, issuing out of the Sinister side, proper. This Wild Creature, is haired and bodied in all parts answerable to our Common Goat, only it is different in the horns, this having smooth straight sharp pointed Horns placed in the Fore-head, and little above the Eyes: it is of a more dusky dark or blacker colour, then the tame, or Country Goat. This is born by the name of Wilablood.

A. such a Head couped, S. born by Gotherd.

XLII. He beareth Argent, a Grass Garb, Vert. Some say a sheaf of Grass, or a bundle of Grass bound up in form of a Sheaf, or Garb: others a Grass Cock banded, but the most fit term is a Falce, or Falcicle of Grass, see chap. 3. numb. 112. This is born by the name of Grazer, or Grassier. The same is his Crest.

A. 3 such is born by the name of Greenal.

XLIII. He beareth Argent, two Horns of a Bull conjoined at the bottom (or roots) in one: adjoined on the sides with three Roses set on short Footstalks all proper. Some term this a Hornhoo the ends reverted: others a twig (or spring) embowed in form of an Hornshoo reverted Sable: each side adorned with three Roses, Gules; on short footstalks Vert. Some also I find to blazon this Coat by the name of a Cresiant, the Horns (or sharp points) revertant, or turning outward: adorned as aforesaid, by the name of van Hogen in Holland. The like is born by van Dalwick a Dutch Family the Horns Sable, each side beset with four Roses Argent and Gules, every other counterchanged.

The like among the Germans and Netherlands, is born having the Horns beset with several other sorts of Flowers and Leaves; Feather, and the like: some having one number, and some another; all which are to be precisely mentioned.

Per

Per pale 2 Elephants Snouts so conjoynd each side with 3 Roses counterchanged. Born by van Gass.

2 Horns so conjoynd S. each side adorned with 4 Roses G. Born by van Dalwick.

XLIV. He beareth Argent, a Sprig of an Apple tree with three burs, each fruited, proper. Such a like being to this, belongs to one part of the Coat of the Family of Putzen in Karndtische alias Carinthia in Holland, viz. Party per Fesse Gules, and Argent, in chief three Roses, in base such a Sprig of an Apple tree.

Some term it a Sprig of three ends, each having an Apple. Others Tree Apples, with their footstalks conjoynd: (and others add to it) in form of a Branch.

XLV. He beareth Argent, a Wreath (or a Withen, winding, wreathen round, in form of an Antler) Or: the out sides set with six Leaves treble pointed, (else six trefoile Leaves) Vert, by the name of Lattorf. This kind of Wreath, or Torce, or Winding, is born by other Names, being beset thus with Roses, Leaves, Feathers, Stars, and variety of other things, which are needless to exprefs by examples; seeing by this the ingenious reader upon sight, may easily know how to blazon such Coats.

A. the like set with 4 Heart leaves in cross, V. born by Gripwalt.

O. the like set with Oak leaves, V. born by Scho.

Per Fesse O. and G. in chief the like Wreath set with 4 Acorns and 4 Leaves contrariposed proper in base a Lyon Rampant to the Sinister, O. born by Schpneych.

XVI. He beareth Gules, a Trefoile Leaf, the Stalk imbowed at the end, and fixed to a Twig slipt, lying Fesse ways Or. Born by the name of Brommell, three such Trefoils A. is born also by Brommen.

A. such a slip with 3 Heart leaves so imbowed Vert, and fixed to a stock Fesse ways, coupéd at both ends, proper. Is the Coat of van Holdam of Misnian in Germany.

S. on a Bend O. an Heart leave S. slipped and stalked V. is born by van Puechhausen of Bavaria.

Per Fesse G. and A. the like with the slip to the Sinister side V. is born by Schutzen: and also by van Eyngenthal.

In the dexter side of this square is placed a Craggy Rock: which besides it height doth occupy a considerable part of the base: and may be thus termed: in base a Craggy Rock ascending & joynd to the Dexter side of the Field.

B. from the middle of such a rock, a Munky Saliant to the Sinister chained to the Dexter point A. is born by Dekatten.

B. the like Rock, G. a Stag tripping to the Sinister O. born by Dehem van Dehem.

S. such a Rock to the Sinister side A. with a Goat ascendant bendways A. born by van Franckenstein.

[]

XLVII. He beareth Or, three Leaves in triangle conjoynd in the footstalks, Vert. Born by the name Trifole. If the Leaves be smooth, they be called Leaves, or Laurel Leaves: if otherwise nicked, dented, or vecked, to mention what kind of Leaves they are.

A. 3 Heart leayes so conjoynd, V. born by Me.

XLVIII. He beareth Argent, a dented Leaf slipt, bowed in the top (or point) Vert. Three such Leaves as this is born by Etherfoit. Leaves are usually born thus with the points bending downward, but this my Leaver hath made it rather to resemble a Feather, then a Leaf, by reason of the deap denting.

XLIX. He beareth Argent, two Twigs Irradicated in Salter, the tops imbowed inward, with each a Leaf pendant, proper. Born by the name Trige. Thus among the Dutch and German Coates, it is usual to bear Twigs in Salter with Leaves, Fruit and such like: with the tops imbowed, both inward, and outward.

O. the like with Oak Leaves at at the ends, V. is born by Ravag.

L. He beareth Or, a Vine Branch in bend sinister, with a bunch of Grapes pendant, to the dexter, the Leaves with their footstalks fretting, the Main branch, proper. This is blazoned also more briefly, a clusters of Grapes pendant, the Leaves fretting the branch. This is born by the name Heysen, or van Heysen.

A. the like in bend bowed or pendant to the sinister proper between two Pruning hooks endorsed, G. born by Heysen, also by the name of Trise.

LI. He beareth Argent, a Cluster of Grapes pendant with a Leaf fretting the slip, with its footstalk, proper. By the name of Zulen, in Switzersland: such a charge is born in a Field Or.

G. the like O. is born by Lant.

B. 3 such Slips pendant O. is born by Timmys.

LII. He beareth Argent, a Flower de lis slipt, Gules. Some term it a Flower de lis the stalk or bottom part waived: but the first is best. A. three such V. is the Coat of van Hessel a German Family.

LIII. He beareth Argent, a Flower de lis timbied, Gules. Because the bottom part seem to be of a woody substance, and nature. The Dutch term it a Flower de lis the bottom departed, and coupéd. Some of our English pretenders to blazoning call it a Greek Lambda, the top Pommetee, and Florete. Such is born by the name of Zurfonnen, in Switzersland.

G. 3 such A. is born by Fennings.

LIV. He beareth Argent, five Reed Spare heads coupéd in point, proper. See chap. 3. numb. 119. 120. van Guttenberg hath for his Crest five of these, thus set within the Ermine turn - up, of a Cap of State.

A. on a Hill three heights or three headed Hill out of base G. 3 staves with Trefoile heads, (or Bot-tony heads) S. born by van Lygertz.
M m m tonp

On a Wreath or Torse two Reed Spere heads set between, or amongst nine Star Flowers on Stalks G. is the Crest of van Schellenberg.

LV. He beareth Argent, on a Hill issuing out of base, two Piles of Grass contrary imbowed between eight more gradually bent, Vert. Others term them, ten Piles of Grass; the half gradually growing, and bowed contrary to the other. There upon a Chequy Gules, turned up Argent, is the Crest of van Volsedt. Some Coats, and Crests, have them thus bowed, and fixed, all upon one Footstalk, as in numb. 7 59. and chap. 3. numb. 113. 120.

LVI. He beareth Or, three Star Flowers Gules, on three Stalks: interposed with four Pile, or Blades of Grass, contrary, and gradually imbowed. This on a like Cap as aforesaid is the Crest of Stangen. This interposing and setting of Flowers between Leaves, is much in use among the German Gentry in their Coat.

LVII. He beareth Argent, a Pole (or Vine Pole) Or: sustaining the Branch, and fruited, proper. Born by Wixted. Some say a Pole in base supporting a Vine branch fruited. Others call it an Endorle (because it is fixed in the chief and base) with a Vine fruited, flected and reflected about it. This is quartered by the Marquis de Vignolls de la Hyre in France, viz. Sable, the Pole Argent, the Vine Or.

Per pale A. and B. in the first an Eagle displaid S. in the second on a mount in base a Vine pole supporting of a Vine branch fruited, O. is the Town of Winsperg Coat of Arms.

LVIII. He beareth Argent, a round Tub hooped, proper: filled with Earth, from whence springeth, or proceeds seven Dulipa's, Gules; Leaves Vert. Some more shorter say seven Dulips growing in an Earth-tub. This belongs to van Tluck, of Silesia in Germany.

A. out of a Morter (sans Ears) O. three Rose slips, G. Leaves V. is the Coat, and the same to the Crest, by the name of van Rada.

A round Basket O. with 7 Piles of Grass imbowed and gradually lessening to the Sinister. Is the Crest of van Kobitz.

LIX. He beareth Argent, an Oval Bazant (or a Plate) charged with a Rose Gules; from the middle or center of it, a Stock of a Tree Raissant, with three Arms coupéd Or: at each five Piles of Grass upon one Footstalk, Vert. Born by the name of van Zechau. The like is born for the Crest of van Kreutzen.

LX. He beareth Or, a Horned Beetle, proper. This is the largest sort of Beetles, it is covered on the Head with a pure shining black hard Husk, or Case: on which groweth two horns, a little above the Eye place; and another crooked horny Husk from the Mouth: the Wings are also covered with two cases; but it seldom flyeth by reason of its bulky body. The Feet are long knotty and hard, being three on a side and all joyned together in the top part of the Belly: all to be seen else of this blind Creature, is of a reddish colour. Pliny I suppose call them Blatta Fies, they fly or creep abroad only in the Night

LXI. He beareth Argent, an Oak Tree Vert, Bled, or Staked about; the lower part Nethered, (or entwaped with Twigs) Tenne. Born by the name of Armstrong.

LXII. He beareth Argent, four Poles, or Stakes; issuing out of the base: Nethered, or fretted with Officers, Vert. Such a Nethering in base, with a demy Bear issuant, is born by Zaumriedt of Barvaria, and in the Palatinate of Rhyme.

LXIII. He beareth Or, six Poles, or Stakes, issuing out of base: Nethered, or wrapped half way with Windings, Officers, or Briers: the top fixed to a cross Barr, all extending to the sides of the Escudo on proper. Some term these kind of bearing, thus extending to the sides of the Shield; a fencing with stakes, and windings; in other places, a Payment of Sticks, or Cliffs, filled with Briers, or Thorns. Some more brief, say a Payment staked, and Nethered in base, and raised in the top or chief part. Born by the name of Parkeeper.

LXIV. He beareth Argent, five Palets coupéd at the top; wrapped, or nethered with Officers in fess, Gules; fretted in base, with a Serpent Vert. This is born with three Roses in chief by the name of Anguis. In stirpe latet Anguis.

B the Palets coupéd at both end and entwapped with Officers Fessways, with a Lyon to the Sinister statant thereon, O. is born by Panngartner.

LXV. He beareth Gules, five Palets coupéd at the top; nethered in base, Or: and fretted in the top with two winding, or Officer Twigs, Argent. Such a Pale nethered, in a Field Argent, with a Tree Vert, is the Coat of Gartner of Nurnbrough in Germany: which name we in England call Gardner.

B. the like Nethering in base O. compassing an Hillon which is a branch of Heart Leaves G. born also by Gartner.

LXVI. He beareth Sable, a fesse of Palets, nethered, or entwapped at the bottom with Officers, or Twigs Or: the middle part lower, to which is joyned a plank, or footstep set upon two staves, or supports, Argent. This is of some termed, a nethering in fess, with a foot passage (or foot bridge) in the middle of it. Thus I have given you the several ways of Palets, Poles, or Stakes; wound about or fretted with Officers, Twigs, or windings: and how they are diversly termed. See lib. 1. chap. 9. numb. 20 and lib. 2. chap. 2. numb. 39.

LXVII. He beareth Sable, a Spaniel stretching out himself behind, Argent. This is the usual action of Dogs, that are rising or rousing themselves from sleep.

they in which they make three postures, as

First, the Fore-stretch, which is by standing upright in the stretch with the hinder Legs, and the Head, Neck, and Fore-feet extended out along upon the ground, which makes a hollowneſs between his Shoulders and Back, which is termed a cringing, or bowing of the Back, as numb. 21.

Secondly, the Hidle Stretch; which is by standing on all his Feet, drawing them together, and so lifting up his Back: this is termed in a Dog, to Rouse or - - - a Cat in this posture is said to be in his Ire, or is Eraſped, or made angry, as chap. 8. numb. 56.

Thirdly, the Hinder stretch, which is by standing upright with the Fore-feet, and stretching out the hinder part of the Body and Feet, backwards along the ground, at which time he alſo liſteth up, or stretcheth out his Neck, and Head: as in this figure, numb. 67.

In the chief of this quarter, is the Head or Seed Pod of a Poppy: which Artiſts term a Poppy bole. A. on a bend S. 3 ſuch is born by the name of Penky, and Penkylan.

B. 3 ſuch O. is born by Noden, or Nodell.

LXVIII. He beareth Argent, a Cat ſtanding upon a Houſe, or Rat, proper. Born by the name of Herifon. The Cat is born ſometime with i's foremoſt Feet upon the Rat, and by ſome with the Mouſe in its right Foot.

A. a Cat holding up his right Foot with a Mouſe in its Paw, S. is born by Windſon.

LXIX. He beareth Argent, a Lyons head and tail, Gules. So moſt termes it, but the French ſay, a Lyon Naissant, as if it were coming out of the Womb into the Field; but this doth not agree with our term Naissant, which we uſe only to any kind of Beaſt or Bird, when it cometh out of the middle of an ordinary, and extendeth it ſelf into part of the Field. Some again termes this a Lyons Head ſhagged, or maned; becauſe it is neither couped, or erazed. This is born by Carus, a French Family: termed by them, De la Cars.

LXX. He beareth Azure, a Lions head iſſuing out of baſe, and looking upward, Or. Born by the name of Lingaſe, of Low-town.

LXXI. He beareth Or, a demy Lyon iſſuant in baſe Sable; the Neck engraſſed Argent, at each point a hawk's bell. Such a Lyon out of a Crown is the Crest of Winderthur, in Barvaria: as the points of the ingrails are here adorned with Bells, ſo you will find them in many German Coats beſet with Roundlets, Flowers de lis, five Grass piles, Feathers, nay the Quills of them hung with Bells, Roses, Leaves, and ſeveral ſorts of Flowers, &c.

LXXII. He beareth Gules, a Lyons head caboled, Or. This is termed ſo, becauſe it hath ſome part of it hairy Mane remaining, which if it had not, it were a Leopards head, or face; and to call it a Lyons head gardant, it cannot be, except ſome part of the Breaſt were ſeen, as it is in all thoſe kinds of bearings. So then the beſt term is to blazon it either a Lyons face, or Lyons head caboled, or trunked. Born by the name of Lionhead, or Lionhard: the ſame (I believe) which we now pronounce Lein-rod, or Lenard. Such an Head as this out of a Coronet O. is the Crest of Manbode.

LXXIII. He beareth Sable, a demy Lyon Or: iſſuant out of a flame of Fire, clothed in a Monks Coole (or Coat) of a Monks hood, Argent. There are ſome who term this the Evil Spirit Marbas, iſſuing out of Hell flames, clothed in the habit of a Frper, or Jelust. Such a demy Lyon as this clothed in a Monks Coole, with two ſtones in his Paws, is the Crest of Scoppen, a Dutch Family.

LXXIV. He beareth Vert, a Lyon Sejant in full view or aſpect, Argent. Some term it a Lyon Gardant Sejant, in full aſpect: ſee chap. 7. numb. 83. 94. Such a Lyon as this between two Wings is the Crest of Eiſſenberg of Holland. On a Torce O. and B. ſuch a Lyon B. is the crest of Ward.

Such a Lion double queved and crowned O. between two Elephants Snouts chequy, A. and B. is the Crest of the Duke of Pſahlitz, viz: the Paſſgrave, or Count Palatinate.

LXXV. He beareth Argent, a Lyons head, iſſuant in baſe, Gules; with a China Hat tied under his Chin, Sable: buttoned and taſſed, Or. Some term this an India, or Indians Hat, or cover for their Head. The Lyons head Sable, and Hat Argent is the Crest of Marschall van Oſtheim, of Francovia, in Germany.

LXXVI. He beareth Argent, a Lyciſke, or Wolf-Dog, rampant, with two Heads endorſed (or ſet back one to the other) Gules; Collered Or. Born by Ire. A Dog with two Heads after this form to the finiſter, Azure. Is the Coat of van Strumpſenſperg, in Barvaria.

LXXVII. He beareth Argent, a Giffin headed Aſker, conchant, Gules; caſting fire out of his mouth. Some call it an Opinicus, ſans Wings, but that kind of Beaſt hath no Ears. This is born by the name of van Salegaſt. And a demy Giffin Aſker rampant, ſwallowing, or devouring a Hans Arm, by the Family of Rentzen, in Germany. Some term this an Aſker, or Lizard with Ears, and an Hawks or Giffins Beak.

LXXVIII. He beareth Or, a Giffin, ſans Wings, holding up his right Foot, Gules. Born by the name of Mynner, or Vetter. The like Argent, and Rampant with Fire proceeding out of the Mouth and Ears, in a Sable Field, is born by Steyr.

Per Fefſe G. and O. ſuch an head with Fire: proceeding out of his Mouth and Ears, counterchanged. Is born by Teuſel van Pirckenſee. A Devils head.

The like head G. out off a Coronet. Is the Crest of van Holtorf.

M m m 2

Barry

Barry of 6 O. and B. the like Rampant G. is born by Lechegmunt.

V. a Griffin sans Wings Rampant to the Sinister A. vomiting Fire. Is the Arms of the Dukedom of Stey, which is under the Roman Empire.

Bendy of 6 G. and A. the same to the sinister O. born by Eberwein. And a demy one is his Crest. And S. the like O. by Sigisberg.

Out of a Coronet, a Demy such O. with fire out of his Mouth and Ears. Is the Crest of Hander.

LXXXIX. He beareth Gules, a Cow's head, issuant from the Sinister side of the Escuchion, Argent; Hornes, Or. This is called also an Irish Cow's head by reason that breed in former times was very small; and their horns grew generally forwards bending after this form: and sometimes the points, or one tip of the horn meeting to the other. This is born by the name of Runling.

LXXX. He beareth Argent, a Bonafus head, Rame horned, issuant from the Sinister side of the Shield proper, see chap. 9. numb. 12. This is born by the name of Scot. It is termed Rame horned because they grow bending like a Rams horn, and contrary to their own kind.

LXXXI. He beareth Gules, a Bonacons horn imbrued at the end, and erazed at the root, Or: Surged with a Chaplet, or Collar of Silver. Three of these with a Fesse between them is born by Boniman.

A. 3 such couped G. and the like out of a Coronet, is the Coat and Crest of Pfaffenlapper.

A. such a kind of bearing smooth and turning to the Dexter, triparted in the bottom or root. S. is the City Arms of Basell in the Empire of Germany, also of the Bishoprick there.

LXXXII. The first Figure is Blazoned, a Proboscide (or trunk) of an Elephant erected, issuant out of base, reflected, Or: at a file proceeding out of the Snowt, a Lambeaur crossed, and the side with two more, the first double, the other treble, Sable. Thus by some approved Heraulds; yet others will say a Trunk of an Elephant erected and reflected, fired in base adjoined in the Snowt, and side, with three Fillets, at the first one, second double, and the other treble Lambeaur's crossed. See chap. 8. numb. 69. and Chap. 9. numb. 43. This is born by Don de Alfanto.

The second is Blazoned, an Elephants Proboscide erected and couped, flected and reflected Argent; with a Ston, or Ball in the Snowt, Sable. The like is born with a Pine Apple, a Pear, &c. in the Snowt.

LXXXIII. He beareth Or, a Daeimon, (or a Diabel, or an Evil Angel) in the shape of a demy Goat, Sable: issuing out of Flames in the Sinister point. This is the Coat of Schronesteine, and is quartered by the Earl of Falkensteine, in the Empire of Germany. The French Blazon it, an Dee-Goat issuant from flames in the Sinister point.

LXXXIV. He beareth Gules, a Colopus head issuant from the Sinister side, Argent; horned Or. This is a Beast of the shape of a Stag in all parts, saving the horns: which are two set together in the middle of the Fore-head, standing outward, having a little bending bending downwards to the Nose, the top side is Serrat, or cut in like a Saw: the rest smooth and sharp pointed. This is born by the name of Colupe, or Cantelope.

A. the whole Beast G. horned O. is the Coat of Vanderben, of Francia.

LXXXV. He beareth Argent, an Eagle degenerate, at gaze aloft, Wings Surgiant, holding up his left Foot, Gules. This is termed a degenerate Eagle, because it is going in a fearful manner out of the Field; not having courage to withstand the assault of its Enemy. Some term it a dastardly Eagle, with its Body in full aspect, &c. This is the Arms of Sir John Coward, or Sir William Brag-much, and Doe Nothing. A Coat fit for such worthy Gentlemen.

LXXXVI. He beareth Azure, a Bustard tergiant, sergiant, Or. This is the most proper term for Bird, or Fowl rising with their Backs to fight. Yet Mr. Gmilling fol. 231. only terms it a Bustard rising. This posture cannot properly be said to be volant, albeit it seemeth to be (according to the opinion of some Blazoners) preparing to make its flight: besides the Feet are standing down, which were it flying, would be drawn up to its Belly. This is a kind of running posture for Birds, in which the Wing are sails, only to hasten them forwards, and mend their speed. 3 Such is born by the name of Nevill.

A. a Fesse between 3 such G. is born by the name of Bustard.

LXXXVII. He beareth Argent, a Kettle (or Cal-dron, by the French Armorsist) Or: having the heads of three Serpents issuing out of it, Vert. 2 Such Caldrons in pale was born by Don Diego Lopez Pacheco, Duke of Escalona, Knight of the Golden Fleece, in time of Charles the fit in France. Some term these Swans Necks out of a Kettle.

XXXVIII. He beareth Gules, two Ostriches feathers in Salter Argent, Shaffed, Or. Some term them with their falls backwards; because the bending of the Feather is contrary to the usual way of bearing them, which is with the fall outwards.

But this is to be noted that when the Ostrich Feathers are set any other way but upright, whether in bend or Fesse ways &c. The fall or doubling of the Feather, is drawn backwards; for therein it hath its own genuin and proper fall viz: Backwards, except there be several Feathers set together in triangles, quadrangles, or rounds, as in chap. 13. numb. 79, 80, 81. or with three falls in one Feather, as chap. 12. numb. 43. Two Feathers in this form, were the Badge of King Henry the eight of England.

XXXIX. He beareth Azure, out of a round bodied, and Bell or wide mouthed Bottle, Or: three Ostrich feathers Argent, Shaffed of the second. Some term in this Bottle the Head of a Limbeck, or the head of a Distillator reversed, because they are of this form; but in this there wants the Receiver, or Pipe, by which the Water distilleth, however to give it that name (with the addition of) Ans the Receiver or Distilling Pipe. This is the Crest of Featherpot, for brevity's sake.

De Fesse G. and A. the like Pot G. 3 Feathers A. is quartered by the Lord Van Kainsbach, in Germany.

XC. He beareth Argent, out of the top of a Bottle an Arrow head, Sable, a Plume of five Ostrich feathers, Gules, shafted, Or; as in this example and the precedent you have, the Bottle and Phaon, or Archer's bow head, adorned with Feathers, so in like manner you will very often find theirs born with Leaves, Flowers, Fruit, and the like. This is born by the name of Featherfish.

G. an Arrow or Dart on each side (where the Feathers should be) three Ostrich Feathers A. the Barbe or Pinion crested O. is born by Birken, or Bocken.

XCI. He beareth Azure, out of a Coronett, Or, an Infula, Gules, triple crowned, of the second, the top adorned with a Plume of Ostrich feathers. Such an Infula adorned with 5 Ostrich Feathers, white and red, alternately, is the Crest of Ursenbecken, in Bohemia.

XCII. He beareth Gules, on an Altar, Or, between two Wings Elevated, Argent, a Cross Pomell flissant, of the second. Some term this a Diamond or Losenge Altar, because the top stands Arras wise, and the Cross to stand on the middle of the Altar, beginning first with it. This is born by the name of Flyday. Some call this a flying Altar, but that is no proper term, as the next example will manifest.

XCIII. He beareth Vert, a Jugg Bottle, (or a Bottle with a foot, and by some termed a flower-pot) Or, with two Wings elevated fixed to its sides, Argent. This Bottle cannot be said to be between the Wings, by reason they are not at the bottom or foot of it, but at the sides, from when some have termed it a flying Jugg or Bottle, especially from the name as beareth it, which is Flybottle.

Azure, such a Bottle Or, winged Argent; by the name of Liebeck, in Switzerland.

XCIV. He beareth Argent, four Peacock Tail feathers, fretted in a Quadrangle (or Quadrant form) proper. Some term them each fretting or crossing another, in the quill or shaft part, in form of a square. By the name of Pentzen.

XCV. He beareth Gules, a Pellican displaid, rampant or tergiant; the Wings crossing one the other. This is also Blazoned an Eagle backwards displaid, the Wings crossed. Some term it a Land Pellican, or a Pellican of the Wilderness. This is born by the name of Panton, or Van Pamton, in low Germany.

XCVI. He beareth Or, an Eagle displaid, wounding or plucking of his Breast, Sable. By the name of Bambell, a Family in the Dukedom of Austria, in Germany.

In the Sinister side of this square, I have caused an old fashioned Wing to be Engraven, only to shew the ancient manner of Drawing the Wing, each Feather standing at a distance from its fellow, having an Haft or Filament running between them, and so fixed to the Pinion; whereas our modern Wings are all drawn close, whether they be pendant or elevated in the points.

XCVII. He beareth Gules, a demy Swan, sans Wings, issuant in Base, Argent, with a fillet or Ribband from its mouth, compassing the Neck (after the manner of a Byole Rein) Sable. Some term it a Swans Neck with the feet, some again call it a demý Asker Swan Necked, such a Creature as this, out of a Golden Coronet, is the Coat of Buckbell, a Dutch Family.

XCVIII. He beareth Sable, a Peacocks tail, proper, on the top of a Skull (or a dead Mans Skull) Argent, thrust through the cavities of the Eye holes (or Osbitary Bones) and out at the Basis of the Jaw, with two Swords Salterwise the points fixed to a Bugle or Hunters Horn in Base Or. This is the crest of Mandelstow of Brumwick in Holland.

XCIX. He beareth Vert, a Winged Scorpion, the Tail Imbowed, Or. Three such Scorpions is born by the name of Stingers, or Stingwall; as I find in an old Roll of Arms. Of the Scorpion you may read more, in chap. 9. numb. 87.

C. He beareth Argent, a Man-Lion, or Monleon, Gules. This is a Beast that hath the Face of a Man, the Mane and Body of a Lion, and the tail of a Serpent, forked at the end; or by some, the tail of a Scorpion divided by insect lines; what colour it is I cannot be yet informed, but that it is a cruel Beast, and delights much in Mans flesh.

CI. He beareth Gules, a Dung fly reversed, Or. This Fly in its proper colour, is a kind of Lion tawny, being between a red and a yellow; six of these in point in fesse, with a Bezant between them is the coat of Dungale. Yet some Blazon the Bezant to be in the Fesse, compassed with six Dung flies, the heads in point, (or respecting each other) that is, the heads all set towards the round, in what part of the Field soever they are placed.

CII. He beareth Argent, a Vipser in a circle, Vert, this is the Emblem of Time here, and Eternity hereafter, ut Annulus, sic Annus, sic etiam eternitas, The Ring is round, it hath no end, So time for Eternity spend.

The French Blazon it a Vipser biting of his Tail, and set in a Circle in a Field Or, three such Vipers, Sable, is the Coat of Monsieur de la Ane.

CIII. He

CIII. He beareth Argent, a Peacock head Serpent (or a cristed Serpent) the Body torqued (or Torquant, close Imbowed, or wrapped together in the middle; Vert, Born by Cambach. Such a Serpent as this B. devouring a Child, is the Arms of Maylandt. Others do Blazon it a Serpent Imbowed, the middle enwrapped round, or knotted debused torqued, else a Serpent erected, and imbowed at the head, Tuberous (or Gibbous, knotted and swelled out) in the middle, and Torqued in Tail.

O. the like Serpent Torqued S. is born by Paradey.

CIV. He beareth Azure, a Serpent Torqued, Fretted with a long Cross, Or. Others Blazon it Christs Cross supporting the Brazen Serpent, because it was an Anti-type of the Passion and Death of our Saviour, for as Moses lifted up the Serpent in the Wilderness, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, Numb. 21. 8. 9. John 3. 14. that all that behold him by a lively Faith, may not perish, but have Everlasting Life. This is the Cognizance or Crest of every true Believer.

Out of a Coronet a Staff Flory on the top, enwrapped with a Serpent B. between two Elephant Snouts G. is the Crest of Siebenburger, of Carinthia.

CV. He beareth Vert, a Serpent Bowed, Imbowed, Debused, the head erected, the Tail Torqued, Or. This is contrary to those mentioned chap. 9. numb. 4. 77. 78. those having their heads extended, this elevated or lifted up. This is born by Bloore.

CVI. He beareth Argent, a Serpent double Rowed, Vert, born by Twize. This is termed double Rowed, to signify its double fretting or winding it self over and under, more often than is used, as may be seen in the simple term Rowed or Rowed, chap. 9. numb. 73. 74. and chap. 12. numb. 81. This is born by the name of Van Kobitz or Cobits, turned to the Dexter side in a Field G.

CVII. He beareth Argent, a demj Cherub, with Wings displaid, fixed upon the Leg of an Eagle Or. This I term a demj Cherub, because some part of the Body is visible, and that the Wings are in the place of the Arms. This is a common practice of the Dutch and German Herald, to fix one thing upon another, or the half of a thing upon another species, being both of different natures. This is the Coat of Kotzar, of Meych-fniske, in the Netherlands.

CVIII. He beareth Argent, a Grashopper, Vert. I have spoken of the Grashopper formerly, but there I did not give the true form; in this place I shall say no more, but refer you to chap. 9. numb. 70. This upon a Torce or Wreath of his colours, is the Crest of that Worthy Gentleman, Sir Thomas Gresham, Knight, the Builder of that famous Fabrick, called the Royal Exchange, in Cornhill, in London.

In the sinister side of this quarter, I have set that little Vermine like Worm, called (as I suppose) a Weevile erected, see chap. 10. numb. 59. though others say it is like a Hagott, and all black; see numb. 148.

CIX. He beareth Vert, a Frog, Or. By the name of Frogley, of Frogley. This is the true shape of it, concerning which I have formerly written, chap. 10. numb. 15. 16. This is by some termed a Frog Sciant, A Fesse between three of them Vert, is the coat of Paddock, a breviation from Ap Addock, a Welsh name Englished, as is very usual with them when they come to inhabit amongst the English, as John ap Richard to be called John Pritchard, William ap Hugh, to be called William Pugh, and the like.

CX. He beareth Sable, a Dolphin Naïant, Bowed, Imbowed, Argent. This is termed also a Dolphin Naïant, Torqued, and Naïant flected and reflected. Three of them thus set in Pale, is the Coat Armour of Dolphinus, or Dolphin, an Italian.

CXI. He beareth Azure, a flyng Fish, in Bend, Argent, the Wings expanded crosswise, Or. Some say a Salmon Winged expanded, crossing each other. The Dutch (from the Bearer thereof) terms it a Trouting in Bend, winged Argent, in a Field Gules. By the name of Truchling.

G. the like A. Wings O. is born by Knutesford. B. 3 such O. is the coat of Lant.

CXII. He beareth Argent, a Wolf Fish Naïant, Imbowed, Azure.

Note, That the Bowing or Imbowing of all Fish tails is ever bent inwards, which needs no other expression, but if the Bent be backwards, then to be mentioned, see chap. 16. numb. 12. 13. and chap. 15. numb. 51. except in the Maremaid, &c.

CXIII. He beareth Argent, a Giffin Fish (sans Wings) Naïant, Gules, finned, Or. Some term these kind of Bearings Erected and Rampant, because that part belonging to the land Creature is in that posture. As thus, Gules, a Wolf Fish erected, Or, Imbowed, Azure, by the name of Gundriphe in Saxony. The like with the Tail Imbowed erected, is his Crest.

Argent, a Giffin Fish erected sans Wings, Sable, the Tail Imbowed, Azure. These two last examples are misplaced by the Graver, which should have made them erected to the Dexter side. This is born by the name of Mestich, or Van Mestich in Silesia, a Province in Higher Germany.

Per Fesse A. and G. a Unicorn Fish erected Imbowed counterchanged, is born by Niempscher.

CXIV. He beareth Gules, a Bugle or Hunters Horn, Argent, Fretted. Sable, out of the mouth a Salmons or Fish Tail, and the open end a Stags head, Or. By the name of Pogorsker in Germany. Some Blazon this a Fish imbowed with a Stags head; fretted, or netted all over the Body; but I rather take it to be a Horn, mentioning that part first, which lieth next the dexter side, viz. the mouth of the Horn which hath the the Fish Tail out of it, &c. But were it taken for a Fish, then it receives another kind of Blazoning, seeing its situation is contrary to all Raiant fish, having its head to the sinister side, as thus, a Fish with a Stags head, the tail imbowed and erected to the dexter side, the Field Argent, is the Coat and Crest of Ruditzkie.

CXVI. He beareth Azure, a flying fish, Or. I have numb. 116. and before chap. 16. numb. 16. numb. 44. given the figure of the flying Fish, according as Comradus Giffert, and Amb. Parreys hath it; but since seeing the true Fish is self, I must relinquish that, and take to this; whose description is as followeth, some call it a Sea Bat. The cover of the head is an entire Bone curiously wrought, as if it were pricked with the point of a Graver; it is depressed or flat on the top of the head, swelling out about the eyes, which are very large, and then compassing the eyes over the mouth and nose, ends in two sharp points under the roots of the Wings, on either side the Gills in the hinder part of the head, the said Bone ends in two such like sharp points, with a round or hollow between them, like a Swallow tail; down the back and sides runs many sharp ridges, which being cut by Diamond or Losenge incision lines, make every ridge line to be divided or cut into sharp pricks, so that it cannot be stroked up the back for its sharpness, but down it may. It hath two thorny Fins on its back, one on the Belly near the tail; the tail is long, and ends in thorny shafts, the Fin between each being like a thin, clear transparent skin; at the lower part of the Throat is two crooked Bones, which ends in three long and sharp points; the Wings are like the Wings of a Bat or Rermouse, the shafts are long and slender, the membrane thin and transparent, and coloured (if held between and the Light) like a Turkey Feather divided into Bars, of a narrow, white, and a broader Bar, of a reddish grey, to look upon them otherwise, they are black above, and bluish under, with white shafts; they center all at the gills, and opening, are semicircular, with thorny points. From the setting on of the Wings comes forth two long and slender legs of a gristly (or Whalebone like) substance, as if four or five Sinews were all knit together, and at the end opening into so many toes or thorny points; with these feet, and the help of the two crooked Bones under the Throat, it makes shift, and are as feet to creep to the Sea again, if at any time it chance to fly on the Land; all the lower part of the Belly from the mouth to the tail is white, with soft scales, made by Losenge like incision lines; the top of the head and back is of a dark earthy colour; the whole Fish is about the bigness of a large Hackarel.

CXVII. He beareth Argent, a Peruque, or Perawick, (or a long Perawick, with a Pole Lock, Sable. This is the Sign or cognizance of the Perawick maker. This is by Artists called a long Curled Wig, with a Suffloplin, or with a Dildo, or Pole-lock. S. 3 such A. is born by Capper.

CXVIII. He beareth Sable, on a Perawick Block, fixed on a Stand, Or, a Peruque (or a Campaign Wig) with a Curled Foretop, and Bobs, Argent. This is a kind of Travelling Wig, having the side or bottom locks turned up into Bobs or knots, tied up with Ribbons.

Sorts of Perawicks.

A Border of Hair, is only Locks to cover the Ears and Neck, and is fixed to a Cap, having no head of hair, chap. 17. numb. 2.

A Short Bobb, a Head of Hair, is a Wig that hath short Locks, and a hairy Crown, see chap. 17. numb. 1.

A Long Perawick with Side Hair, and a Pole Lock behind, which some term a Wig with a Suffloplin or with a Dildo, numb. 117.

A Campaign Wig, hath Knots or Bobs (or a Dildo on each side) with a Curled Forehead, as numb. 118. a Travelling Wig.

A Grafted Wig, is a Perawick with a turn on the top of the head, in imitation of a Mans hairy Crown.

Terms for several ways of Curling Hair.

A Curled Hair, is when a Lock of hair turns round and round in it self.

A Crisped Hair, is when it lyeth in a kind of Wave.

A Frise or Frisled Hair, is when the hair is full of small Crispings, and when one hair will not fort, or fall into order with another, but stand bunching out; yet some are more flying, others more close.

A Curle and Frise, is when the hair is neither Curle nor Frise, but both, or between both.

A Snake Curle, is when the Locks turn round many times, and hang down, as the Dildo or Pole lock doth.

A Drake, or Drake Tail Curl, when the ends of the hair only turn up, and all the rest hangs smooth.

An Open Curle, is when it turns round and wide in all the ends.

An High Curle is between both, and so keeps Curl.

Parts of a Perawick.

The Bottom Locks, are the side locks that hang down on the shoulders and back.

The side Locks, are those as cover and keep warm the ears and neck, being a degree shorter than the former.

The Crown, is that hair as compasseth about, to make the turn of the crown of the head.

The Foretop, is that as makes the forefront of the head.

The Full Front, is the frised and curled hair of the topping or forehead, the Brow hair.

Terms

Terms of Art used by Perawick-Makers.

A Thought of Hair, called also a Latch, a Catch, a Draft of Hair, is a few hairs drawn out of the knot, or bunch, or lock of hair tyed up, which is woven in the Silk.

A Wlast of hair, is one of the foresaid Drafts Woven.

A Round of hair, is a length of Woven hair.

A Thread Wlast, is when the hair is Woven with a single Silk Thread.

A two Thread Wlast, when Woven with two Silk Threads.

A three Thread Wlast, when Woven with three Silks.

A four Thread Wlast, when Woven with four Silk Threads, which kind of Rounds are usually Woven to make up the crown.

A six Thread Wlast, is when six Threads are used, which Weaving is beaten close with a Perawick makers Thimble.

Grafting of hair, is to make a Wigg with a Crown.

String the Frame, is to order the Silk threads in the Frame, to Weave withal.

Instruments used by Perawick Makers.

A Frame, or a Perawick Makers Frame.

A Grafting Frame, is a Frame where is used both Warp and Wool.

A Finishing Block, is a Wooden head set on a Stand, on which the rounds of hair are sowed on the Cawl.

A Silk Catol, is a Nett Cap on which the hair is sewed, it is so ordered that it may be drawn open or closer, to fit any head.

A Perawick Thimble for Weaving.

Measures, are lengths of Paper or Parchment, with Figures on, by which the hair is Woven in the rounds, according as it is to fall in the Wig, whether long or short.

Needles, Ribbon, Silk Thread, things necessary to the making up of a Perawick.

A Curling Stick, to turn and curl the hair in its opening after the Wig is made.

A Comb for Perawicks, being wide toothed.

A Drawing Comb, a Wooden Board set full of Weyer Pins, like a Flax, to draw hair through, to make it lie even and smooth.

The several ways Women wear Hair about their Faces.

In Locks, when the hair lyeth on each side the Checks.

In Curles, when the hair swells or puffeth out from the Checks.

In falls or flats, when the hair hangs loose down about the shoulders, having nothing to tie it up.

In shades, when it lieth plain and streight on each side the forehead.

In cross shades, when it lieth cross the Forehead, with a Silk Thread in the middle of it.

In a short fillet or Curl, when it lieth so all the breadth of the forehead from one side to the other.

In a Copping or fore-lock, when a Lock is laid from the foretop to the Crown of the head, as little Children that have long hair are usually dressed.

In Taures, when the hair on the forehead is curled and standeth out.

In Bull heads, when the said curled forehead is much larger than the Taure.

CXIX. He beareth Argent, a Womans face issuant to the Shoulders, proper, Crestment, Gules, collared or lined, Or, with a Taure or Curled forehead, flaxen colour, hooded, with the ends pendant, Sable. Some term this Curled Forehead; from the French word Taure, a Bull-head, because Taure is a Bull. This was the fashion of Women to wear Bull-heads, or Bull like foreheads, Anno 1674, and about that time. This is the Coat of Taurell, a French Monseignior or Seigneur.

CXX. He beareth Or, a Womans face and shoulders issuant proper, her Neck-lace Sable: Quoiffed Argent, adorned with a pair of Locks and Curles, hair colour. This was a great fashion about the Year, 1670. they ate falle Locks set on Wyers, to make them stand at a distance from the head: as the Fardingales made their cloathes stand out about their Breeches, in Queen Elizabeths Reign.

CXXI. He beareth Or, a Womans face proper, Quoiffed Argent; covered with an open set hood, tyed under the Chin, and the end floatant (or flying a broad) Sable. This is born by the name of Warris.

3 Such heads, in a Field Argent, is born by the name of Modesty.

CXXII. He beareth Argent, a Womans face issuant from the bale proper: hooded (or tailed) down to the Shoulders, Sable: after this manner the ancient Nuns, and Abbasles vailed themselves, this might be termed a tailed Nuns head issuant in bale, proper. Three of them couped, is the Coat of Nunly.

CXXIII. The first Figure is termed a Womans face to the shoulders, issuant in bale, proper; cloathed Azure, with a fore-head cloath, and hood Argent, her hate both sides the Neck floatant, Sable: in a Field Gules. This is born by the name of Rieolrer, a German Family.

CXXIII. The second Figure is blazoned a Womans face to the shoulders issuant, proper: (or as some term it, issuant to the shoulders) with a Boongrate and and a Quoif, Argent: in a Field Azure. This was a great wearing in the age, about 1594. as I have observed in Pictures, and Monuments of that time; which is by some old People, called an Head Attire, or Head-tie: which by the greater sort of Gentry, was adorned with Jewels, and Imbrauthered with Silver, and Gold. Some term it, a Frontlet.

CXXIV. He beareth Vert, a Womans face issuant in base, proper: Quoified, Argent.

Here I make mention of no more, then what is properly seen to arise out of the base, viz: the Face with a small part of the Neck. Some blazon it, a three quarter face, with a close Quoife, looking to the sinister side.

CXXV. He beareth Sable, a Face issuant in base proper, Quoified with a Laced turn up (or dressed, or adorned with a Laced turn up Quoife) Argent. Born by the name of Maidenhead, of Madejan.

Some term this sort of long Eared Quoif by the name of a Pinner, or Laced Pinner.

CXXVI. He beareth Sable, a Head to the Shoulders issuant in base, proper: with a gathered, or drawn Quoife, Or; turned up, Argent. This is a kind of Quoife which runneth upon strings, which may be made wider, or else closer, at the wearer pleasure; a Quoife made to fit all heads. A running Quoife: or a Cap-quoife as pertaking of both kinds. This is the Crest of Waldthurne of Haylow.

CXXVII. He beareth Argent, a Womans face, proper: crined, Or: with a flat crowned hat, and a narrow brim, Sable. And by ancient Heralds, called a Womans head, adorned with an old fashioned hat. This kind of Taffaty Hat, and thick hatband was the only wear of the Gentry, about the Year, 1548.

CXXVIII. He beareth Or, a Womans face proper, crined Fox colour: with a Ruff about her Neck, Argent: and a hat on her head, Sable. This is born by the name of Midwife, now corrupted Midrif.

CXXIX. He beareth Or, a Dutch Womans head, to the shoulders, issuant in base, proper; Garments Gules, turning down, and the Head cloathes, Argent: with a hat Sable, tassels and strings flotant, of the second. This I have termed, a Dutch Womans; because of the Dutch hat, and head cloathes, used by them, and because much born in their Count. This belongs to the name of Vetter, of Nurnberge in Holland.

CXXX. He beareth Sable, a Jewish Womans face, issuant in base to her shoulders, proper; the Cover of her head, Argent.

Gules, a Fesse Argent: a demy Jewish Woman Jessant, (or over all) holding her right Hand on her Fore-head, and the left upon her side proper: Garments Azure, girded about the middle (or waist) Or: her head cover or Veil, Argent. Born by the name of Schnebell: which we pronounce, Skenbell.

[]

CXXXI. He beareth Argent, a Womans face to her shoulders, issuant in base, proper: habited, or covered with a Monks Caule, of the Carthusian order, Sable. Some term her, a Nun, or Monks head of the Carthusians; or a Carthusian Monks head. This is born by the name of Muncham, in Bavaria.

Such an Head below the Shoulders G. is the Crest of Schalar.

Such a Demy Monk fans Arms cloathed O. hood and shoulder cover S. is the Crest of Helgenstein.

The like Demy Monk to the Sinister clothed per Cheveron A. and G. Hood A. and Scapular (or shoulder part) G. is the Crest of Brunighofen.

CXXXII. He beareth Argent, a Monks head to the shoulders, issuant out of the base, proper: habited, or the Head covered with a Benedictan Monks hood, Gules. Also termed a Benedictan Monks head; or a Monks head of the order of St. Benett; or Benedict. Others blazon it a head habited, or adorned with a French hood, the Peak pendant, or hanging down backwards.

Such a Demy Monk to the Sinister A. is the Crest of Marschalk. The like Nuns head, barry, A. and G. is the Crest of Monchen van Wildspere.

CXXXIII. He beareth Azure, a Roman Womans face issuant in base to the shoulder, proper; cloathes, Gules; turned Or: the Head attired with a Scarf or Veil flotant backwards, and revertant to the Shoulder, Or. This is the Coat of Romesburgh.

A. a Fesse Gules, in chief two such Face couped at the Shoulders, Attire and Vails Azure. Is the Coat of Regeldorf, of the Province of Bavaria.

CXXXIV. He beareth Argent, a Mans face to the shoulders, issuant in base, proper; cloathed Gules; collared Argent: crined (or the foretop) curled, and the Ears Metamorphosied into Bulls, or Wisons horns, Sable. Such a head as this out of a Coronet is the Crest of van Wimerssteten: in lower Germany. Else you may blazon it, a Mans head or face, with a Bulls Scalp, horned.

The like Face and Cloaths S. collared A. horns O. is the Crest of Scheneck.

CXXXV. He beareth Argent, a Mans head (or a Mans head demy faced) with a Woodcocks Bill, or Beak, issuing out of base, to the shoulders, proper: crined Sable. Rosheim beareth such a Creatures head as this, in a Golden habit, imbrauthered with a Cheveron Gules; charged with three Roses. A Mans head Metamorphosied in the Nose and Mouth into a Woodcocks bill, as it is termed by some.

CXXXVI. He beareth Gules, a Dexter and Sinister Hand couped, pointing to the chief corners of the Escuchion, and another of the first, in base bendways, Argent.

N n n

Argent. This is born by the name of De la Manie.

CXXXVII. He beareth Argent, two Arms flected, or bowed; issuant from the sides of the Escuchion, the Hands supporting, or held up together, proper. The first the Sleeve Gules, turned up, Or; set with buttons all along the lower side, Sable: the other Armed Azure, Garbed of the fourth. Party per pale Gules & Argent, two such Arms counterchanged, is born by Spigelsfeld.

Per pale G. and A. such an Armed Arm, and the other with a sleeve counterchanged, is the Arms of the Lord Weltzer of Spigelsfeld in Germany. The same is born by Weltzer van Eberstein.

Some term them two Arms issuant in form of a Chevron, the Hands held together.

CXXXVIII. He beareth Or, an Arm issuant from the Dexter side, sleeved Gules, turned up, & the Hand holding, (or gripping) of an Handkerchief, Argent. Some will say, the Arm with an Hand holding of an Handkerchief, issuant from the Dexter side, Argent: sleeved Gules, turning up, Or. This is born by the name of Hazkey.

CXXXIX. He beareth Sable, two Hands coupéd above the Wrist, conjoined in form of a Chevron, proper: sleeved Or, turned up Argent. Born by the name of Altne, alias Altrem. Some term it, two Hands in Hand, coupéd in the middle of the Arm, set in form of a Chevron, or Chevron - ways, &c.

Per Fesse G. and A. two such counterchange: Born also by Altrem.

CXL. He beareth Azure, an Arm imbowed, issuant from the Dexter side, sleeved Gules, turned up Or; round cuffed, and Laced, Argent: from the Elbow naked, with a grippen hand, the fore-finger pointing to the Sinister chief, proper. Born by the name of van Wolfseil: a Family in the Palatinate of Rhine.

This is also blazoned, an Hand bent to the Elbow, pointing to the sinister chief, the Arm bowed (or reflected) issuant from the sinister side, the sleeve Gules, &c. as aforesaid.

G. an Arm from the dexter side imbowed holding of a Hammer proper: sleeved A. is born by Karls-manner.

B. the like Arm imbowed and coupéd holding of a stone Ring proper Sleeve and Cuff A. Born by van Wolfseil zu Wolkeburg.

CXLI. He beareth Sable, a Mans Leg coupéd in the thigh, flected, and biparted, Argent. Others make an addition, and say; flected (or bowed in the knee, and crazed into two parts (or crazed, and biparted) but this cannot be, an crazing, because there is no sign of any renting, or tearing of the flesh, but (as it were) cut or nicked in, whereby two points, or ends are made in the coupling. This is born by the name of Flesheim, in Alsacia.

B. 3 such to the dexter side A. is born by Legge.

CXLII. He beareth Argent, a demy Man naked holding up his hands, with his Arms imbowed; and crazed at the hips, or below the Navel, Gules. Born by Gandey. Such a demy Man holding two Swords Salterwise over his head, belongs to the name of Krell, a German, or High Dutch-man. Some say a Demy naked Man, Arms bowed, and crazed under the Navel; or triparted under the Navel Avellane, see chap. 17. 35.

Per pale B. and O. such a demy Man crowned, tassels and strings floutant each side: holding in his right hand a staffe flory on the top, O. resting the end on his side, the other hand at his girdle, clothes counterchanged, is the Coat and Crest of Mayern.

CXLIII. He beareth Gules, a demy Man, sans Arms, coupéd below the Navel, Argent. Such a bearing with a Garland of Roses about his Temples, Or; is the Coat Armour and Crest of Schachner, or Stachner, in the Arch - Dukedom of Austria.

A. a like demy old Man with a broad beard clothed S. is the Crest of van Dachspere.
O. a like demy Woman coupéd, hair floutant G. is both Coat and Crest of van Polling.

CXLIV. He beareth Vert, a naked Man, Argent, holding of a Club in both hands over his left Shoulder bendwise, Or. Some say a naked Man with a Club in both hands, sinister bendways. Born by the name of Wildman, or Woodman.

G. 3 such demy naked Men so holding their Clubs, Or. Is born by the name of Wood.

A demy Man long beard, side hair with a Club on his Shoulder O. is the Crest of Holtshallen.

CXLV. He beareth Argent, a Negro, or Black Boy, wrapped about his Temples, with a Scarf, or Ribbon ficed there at, flected and reflected over his Belly, and about his Arm, holding the end in the right hand, & a Rose Garland in the left, Gules. Born by the name of Mornberganborn, a Family among the Silesians. Some term the Scarf flected on the Back and reflected over the Belly, and the like about his Arm, &c.

O. on a Hill issuant V. the like Moor: the wreath about his Temples, the Scarf, and the Rose Garland A. is the Coat of van Mornberg. The like demy Moor out of a Coronet is his Crest.

CXLVI. He beareth party per Fesse, Art and Water, a demy Man issuant, lifting up both his hands proper. Born by the name of Reinger. Some term this a demy Man in the Water, preparing to swim.

Per Fesse O. and B. the like demy Man S. is born by Reblinger.

Per Fesse O. and Wavey B. and A. a demy Man issuant G. born by the Earl of Marger-Balen: as one to his quarterings.

Per Fesse O. and Water a demy Lion to the sinister issuant S. and Crowned G. with a Scarf in chief (or Barune) A. is the States Coat of Friesland.

CXLVII.

CXLVII. He beareth party per Fesse, Air and Earth, out of a Cloud in chief; two Trumpets, Or: and a Dragon rising up both his hands towards the chief, argent out of a Grave, proper. Born by the name Riseinghome. This and the foregoing are emblem of the resurrection at the last day: For the Trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall arise, and the Sea, the Grave, Death and Hell, gave up the dead, which were in them, &c. 1. Cor. 15. 52. Rev. 20. 13.

CXLVIII. The first Figure is, a Hagot, or Gentle with a Tail: and that is through their age; for living in moist, watery places, they live so long that they will have thready Tails, as long as the whole Body and hind Swamp Feet.

The second is the Figure of a Hagot, or Gentle which is generally white, inclining to yellow. The head, or fore-part is sharp pointed, the Tail part is round and blunt, as if it were cut off. The Back is divided into several Incisures, by means whereof, it gathereth up its Body, and so forceth it self forwards. This kind of Hagot, in the Winter drieth up into a brown husk, or shell, and in the Summer following, turns into a black Fly, which bloweth Meat in the stables, from whence proceeds little long Eggs, called Fly blowes: which turns to Hagot again.

The Ullwell is a kind of black Hagot, which eateth and devoureth Corn in the Garners. They are of some People called Bowds, and are less then a Hagot or Gentle, &c. much of the same shape, see numb. 108

CXLIX. The first is the Figure of the Blatta, or thorn Bud, or painted Beetle: this is another kind of those creeping Fly bodied Creatures, of which I have spoken formerly, chap. 10. numb. 56. and chap. 11. numb. 46. Some call this for distinction sake, the crossed or cross-bearing thorn Bud, because its Tail part hath a kind of cross upon it, of a contrary colour from the rest of the Body. Some term them earth Beetles; because they have no Wings to fly, but creep upon the Earth, and are generally found in old, decayed, and rotten Foundations of Houses, and Walls.

The second, is a fruit Worm such as do breed in Apples, Pears, Nuts, and such like: which are all white generally, with either white, red, or black heads. They are full of Incisures, wrinkles, or divisions in the Body; with short stump Feet, in their crawling, they often lift their heads. They are of several kinds according to the largeness of the Fruit they breed in.

CL. He beareth Vert, a Butterfly volant, Or; argent with variety of colours: in base a Wood-louse, proper. These are the true shapes both of the Summer Butterfly, and the Wood-louse of which I have formerly spoken, in chap. 9. numb. 63, 66, 67, 68. and sect. 7.

The Figure of the Wood-louse, this is the true shape: it is of a dark Earthy colour, the Back and Belly is full of Incisures, or insect lines, with a kind of fring, or hairy-ness round about the edges of its sides. It hath ten Feet down to the middle of the Belly, which are scarce visible, but when it is going: It hath a round head, and two crooked horns. If it be touched it draweth it self into a round Ball, so that nothing of it can be seen but the Back, which by drawing round, hath little of the lines, or wrinkles, discernable.

A. 3 such erected S. is born by Woodlouse, or by Woodhouse.

CLI. He beareth Argent, a rough Legged, spotted thorn Beetle erected, proper. This is a third kind of these Creatures formerly mentioned, numb. 149. and chap. 11. numb. 48. It hath rough hairy horns, and legs; the body is of a darkish yellow, the tail is diversly spotted, running in a straight line-like order.

CLII. He beareth Argent, a hemp fly erected, proper. This is a kind of insect, that is cut in the middle of a Bee; whose Wings are covered with red Husks, or Cods: all the rest of the Body and Tail, is of a bright shining green; it hath four short feet, and two small hairy horns. This is born by the name Hamsley.

O. the same in bend B. is the Coat of the Bishoprick of Schleswig.

A. 3 such erected, G. is born by Walsall.

CLIII. He beareth Gules, a Scorpion fly, Argent: three of these are born by the name of Flyat. The Scorpion fly is an insect, bodied like a Butterfly, and winged like a Gad-bee, or Breeze, having four long Wings: and two slender, and long horns, like a Butterfly, and four long Feet. The Tail hath three or four incision lines, at the end is a round button, with a Mouth, or Claws like a Scorpion, or Lobster; with which he will both bite, & hold any thing. They are also generally of a whitish colour: some more dusky. It is termed a Dragon fly, see more of it in chap. 9. numb. 87.

CLIV. He beareth Argent, a hoyse Breeze, (or the great hoyse fly) in fesse, Azure: Wings Sable. Born by the name of Horsley. This is a fly much larger, and of a contrary make in the Tail, than the common hoyse fly, in chap. 12. numb. 60. for though they be both cut waisted flies, yet the Tails are contrary: this having a tail of four parts, one joynt less then another, as if they were put in each to the other. The bodies of these are usually black with a gloss of green, the Wings and Feet blackish, as in other Bees: the Tail blackish.

CLV. He beareth Vert, a hoynet erected, proper. This is of the form of a Wasp, but twice as large, and of a more terrible, yet shrill Noise. The head and body is of a brown, or umber colour, inclining to a reddish yellow, and hairy: the Tail from the cutting in of the body, consists of six joynts, which he can draw in, and lengthen out, at pleasure: the husk of each joynt, at the top is black, and the bottom yellow; with an Umbre spot on each side the joynts, under, and joyning to the black. The Feet are yellowish, and hairy, the Legs are of three joynts, or bendings: the Wings are transparent, made of a Membrane or fine skin of an hair colour, with running, and side Veins in them, like a leaf of a Tree. This is born by the name of Hornet. And a Fesse Argent, between three erected, Or: in a Field Gules. Is born by the name of Formly alias Formby.

T O

The Worshipful and ever Honored

ROBERT DAVIS of Gosanna, Esq;

High Sherrieff of the County of Denbigh, Anno Domini 1687.

Worthy Sir,

Your Zeal and forwardness in the Promoting the speedy Printing of this Academy, hath not a little Encouraged me, but hath enflamed the like desires in others to put to their helping Hands, which Favor I cannot but most thankfully Acknowledge from You ever Subscribing my self,

Your Dutyful and Obedient Servant Usque ad Aras,

Randle Holme.

CHAP. XIX.

Courteous Reader, I had thought to have concluded this second Book of the Academy of Arms with the end of the foregoing Chapter, but before it came to be Printed, some other varieties of bearings were presented me by perusing some Books and Authors, which I perceived I had omitted in the former Chapters, and not being willing they should escape my Hands, I have in this plate, set them in orderly in classes by themselves, which you may please to add to those of the like nature in the former Chapters, as an addenda to them, and so I shall proceed.

I. He beareth Vert, Mercury's Caduceus, Or: Winged, Argent. Of the Caduceus or Mercury's Mace, I shall speak more of it hereafter in lib. 3. chap. 2. numb. 79. only here I set it as a snaky rod with Wings, as being in part belonging to Fowl and creeping things, and thus I find it born upon the Crown of the Ancient Romans in the time of Domitian the Emperour, held in the right hand by one of the Pontifex or Priest, cloathed in a long vest gird about the middle, Mithras Cap on his head, and an Oval Shield in the left; Vespasian the Emperour had the like ROD, held by the Goddess Victoria over a scrawling Adder, see Jac. Guther page. 337. and Jo. Hemdary Table of Roman Coyns, 1. 6. 11.

[3]

II. He beareth Argent, two Serpents in Fesse to the sinister; wreathed, respecting, each other, the Tails extended, Vert. Born by the name of Stammy. Sometime these are born wreathed in pale as, numb. 4.

III. He beareth Argent, three crested Serpents, or cockatrice Serpents imbowled biting their Tails and fretted Azure. By the name of Stonhewer. This kind of bearing goeth under several ways of blazon, some lay three Serpents in form of Annulats fretted in triangle or fretting each other. Chassanaeus in his Gloria Mundi fol. 43. calls them three Snakes in form of three Annulets, or Rings, or Circles, intangled or knit together and turned over and over between themselves, having their Tails in their Mouths.

G. the like A. on a chief B. 2 Lyons heads respectant O. was the City of Heduls Coat, anciently the chief City of the Celts in France.

IV. He beareth Azure, two Snakes wreathed in pale, the heads endowed, and tails extended, O. by the name of Pereley. If more be in the Field then two, thus twisted you shall say then 4 or 6 Snakes 2, 2, and 2 Wreathed, &c.

S. a Fesse between 3 such A. is born by Cardinal. V. He

Pobh Daur de Gofanna Armd H Dedicatus

[]

V. He beareth Sable, a Nest of Serpents Eggs, Argent; with their heads and tails variously appearing from amongst them, Or. Born by the name of Dolte. The aforesaid Chassaneus, fol. 44. blazons it thus, one heap of little Snakes (as if they were) new born, &c the French terms them, Couchee de Serpens, a Couch of Serpents.

B. in chief an Oak-tree couped below the Arms or Branches, and in base such a Nest of Vipers A. is the ancient Arms of the Druides, habiting the Mountain Druid, so called from them.

VI. He beareth Gules, a Crested or Cockatrice Serpent Torqued with the Tail Annodated or Entwisted, Or: holding a Trefoil leaf split in his Mouth Vert. By the name of Redridge. By these foregoing examples you may perceive the difference between wreathing, and twisting, or fretting: the one being close turned together as numb. 2. 4. and this where the winding or turning is more open so that they be seen between, as numb. 12. 17. chap. 9. numb. 88. 74.

The Serpent in this posture, crowned, devouring of a Child, is the Arms of the City Mediolan. But the colours my Author informs me not.

VII. He beareth Argent, two Adders in Salter respecting each other, their Tails fretted in form of a True-loves knot, Azure. Born by the name of Hickham. The French say two Serpents bowed at the heads to the joining in the middle, from thence to the ends of the Tails Retorted, or turned or Wreathed one in another.

B. the like A. between two Lyons head respectant close couped O. is the Arms of the City Bibractis.

VIII. He beareth Or, a Serpent Cared, crawling in Fesse, with the head elevated, Gules. Born by Hurstell. This is termed Crawling, Creeping, or Sliding, being Fesse or Barwise, but Torqued or Cargant, if in Bend, or Pale wise.

O. 3 such in Pale S. Semi de Torteaux, or else 16 Torteaux interposed, is the Arms of the King of Egypt.

IX. He beareth Gules, an Adder nowed, with the head and tail extended, Argent. Others say, nowed or intricately knotted with diverse infoldings in manner of a Fret: others say only the Tail fretted: some with this addition, fretted in form of a True-love knot. This is born by the name of Rodger.

X. He beareth Vert, an Adder nowed, head and tail extended, Or. By the name of Ducken. This is Nowed or fretted after the same manner as the aforesaid, only this hath in the crossing or fretting no more than two turns over its part, whereas that before in the fretting, makes four manifest crossings.

Therefore for distinction sake this may well be Blazoned an Adder single Nowed, or turned into a single knot. After the same manner is the treble fretting or crossing made, by drawing the Tail at a wider distance from the Neck part of the Adder, and then you will perceive there will be crossing in three places.

[]

And after the same manner the double Nowed will be, with the same turns cast into a Fret called a True-loves knot, by observing the first turn, so to be made after the manner of a figure of 8, and so crossing it through and through, as the examples themselves being perused will better instruct.

XI. He beareth Argent, two Snakes in Salter respectant, their Tails contrary imbowed, (or as some say, contrary bowed to the Heads) Azure. Born by the name of Fumentory.

XII. He beareth Argent, two Snakes in pale, Torqued, respectant: their Tails Twisted or Annodated, Azure. Born by the name of Health.

XIII. He beareth Azure, an Adder or Serpent, the Head reverted regardant, the Tail imbowed and cast over its body (making the form of a figure of 8 Fellowship) this is the Coat of Foulder, see chap. 9. numb. 72. another way of blazoning it.

This Serpents O. is the Crest of the Right Honorable William Cavendish Duke of Newcastle.

XIV. He beareth Argent, three Cuts of Grass 2 and 1 having one Adder or Serpent crawled or crept through the middle of them all, proper. Born by the name of Tildesley of Garret in Lancashire. This is better Blazoned thus, three Grass Cuts in Triangle, with a Serpent crept through them, the head and tail extended.

XV. He beareth Argent, a Pearled Incisioned green Worm, three such in pale is the Coat of Worm. There is such kind of Worm as this Figure, which was shewed me by a Friend; it was of a pure shining grass Green, having a depressed head, round and flat lying close to the Body, which consisted of eleven Incisions, each having six yellow spots rising up like Beads, with a border of black at the bottom of them, and growing out of them three or four black short hairs; under the Throat are six small Feet, all the rest are short round stumps of Feet, two on each Incision. The Worm doth turn it self into a round, as in the next Example.

XVI. He beareth Argent, a Green Worm pearled inverted or turned round, when it is thus turned in a Ring it looketh much more beautiful then when it is going all at length.

XVII. He beareth Or, two Serpents, the Heads endorled, the Bodies Annodated or Entwisted, and the Tails bowed Azure. By the name of Snaking.

The Lord Levynton of the Isles in Scotland, hath 2 Serpents after this form, the one O. the other V. belonging to his Supporters.

O. 2 like S. is the Arms of the King of Barbery.

XVIII. In the dexter side of this square is the shape and figure Echidna the Mother of Chimera which I have formerly in brief described, chap. 9. numb. 75. But here with the shape take this blazon. He beareth Gules, the Head of Echidna, Erpina, or Virgin Asper, having her Tail imbowed, elevated above the head, reverted and endraped open (or Annodated) Or Some term this not minding the Poetical Fiction, a Demy Woman proper, having all her lower parts Serpentine, or in form of a Serpent, the Tail erected as high as her head, the end wreathed downwards. Such a bearing as this I have seen as a Seal fixed to an old Deed, made between Richard Bullough, and two Jo. Peeke, both in Lancashire, but there was no writing about to shew which of them it belonged unto.

XVIII. In the Sinister side of this square is this Blazon. He beareth Gules, Mercuries Caduceus Or, Winged Argent. This is another way of making Mercuries Mace, which the ancient Romans Coined upon their Moneys; it is of another form and more rarely used then that formerly shewed in numb. 1. those being about the Rod, these Corqued above the Rod; yet in all kinds of drawing them, the Serpents are ever respecting each other. Thus made and held by two right Hand conjoynd was on the Money of Antonius Pius the Roman Emperour, and was an Emblem of Faith, Concord, and Peace. The same was on the Coin of Claudius Caesar, in which the Serpents crossed on the other respectant: which Pliny lib. 29. chap. 3. terms, Complexus Anguim, an embracing of the Serpents, see Jo. Hemelary Table of Roman Coins, 25. 34. 46.

XIX. He beareth Or, an half sheathed Beetle, or Scarab Sable, the Tail Vert. 3 such is the Coat Armour of Skarabo of Italy. This I take to be a young Scarab having not as yet come to that Age or Maturity as to have the cases of its Wings grown to that length as to cover his Tail; like a young Fly that hath the Wings just springing forth.

XX. He beareth Sable, a Silk-worm Moth, Or. This is the standing posture of the Moth, having the Wings lying down to the Back, which is contrary to the Peplian or Butter-fly kind, which always have their Wings elevated: It is named as aforesaid, because it proceeds from the Silk-worm.

XXI. He beareth Argent, a Stag Beetle Azure, the Cases or Covers of his Wings raised, or elevated and expanded Sable; Horns and Feet of the second. Born by the name of Stagbeet. It is so named from its horns which are like the Stags.

XXII. He beareth Argent, an Earwig erected proper. 3 such is born by the name of Earwigge. It is naturally the feet and Body yellowish, the Head and Tail reddish brown, with two black horns at the end of the Tail.

XXIII. He beareth Gules, a Moth erected Argent. Born by the name of Moath. This is the form thereof when the whole Back part is seen. Some term it, the great white Moth, others the Drone Moth; because it flyeth very little or not at all, but goeth quavering in Wings.

XXIV. He beareth Argent, a Sweet Scented

Beetle erected, proper. Born by the name of St. Bee.

XXV. He beareth Argent a Sweet Scented Beetle volant, proper. This and the foregoing example sheweth the exact postures of this excellent sweet Creature both going and flying, which I have formerly described in chap 10. numb. 56. to which I shall refer you.

XXVI. He beareth Argent, a Sheathed Cloth Worm, (of some called a Cruel Worm) proper. This is also termed the small Moath Worm which breed in Wollen cloath, or any kind of thing wrought of Wofid or Cruel, fretting and eating the same, and in the Summer time leaves the husk and flyeth out in a little small Moath, whitish with the edges of the Wings blackish. The sheath in which the Worm lieth, is like a slender hooped Barrel, clouded with green, yellow and blew; out of one end proceeds two small hairs, and the other end a round black head, and a Neck which is white, and these he can like a Snail draw in or put out at his pleasure.

XXVII. He beareth Argent, a Horned Beetle, Sable. Some term it a rough or jagged horn Beetle (or Devils Cow) Such a Creature I find born by the name of Hornbee.

O. the like crawling in bend Sinister S. is quartered by Te-fel a German Family in Tyrole.

XXVIII. He beareth Argent, two demy Bucks current conjoynd Gules, on a chief Or, a Watch or Crab-Mouth Scarab, or a Fly Sable. Though I set these together as one Coat, yet they are two distinct bearing, the first by the name of Buckrist. Some blazon this two half Buck current endorled connected or joynd together in their Bodies. Others two foreparts of a Buck joynd behind; such another kind of figure I find Coined upon the old Roman Money of Augustus Vespasian and Titus his Son which are termed by Hemelary in his description of the Coins, Symbolus duplicati sive Gemini Capricorni. Double or Twin Goats, signifying a twofold Cesar or the Empire governed by two viz. the Father and the Son.

The second is a Crab-Mouth Scarab, of some termed a Watch, because about Country and other houses it is often heard to clack like the noise of a Watch, which some looketh upon to be Ominous and a foreteller of the Death of some relation. It hath a Mouth or Pincers like a Crab or Lobster, with which it will bite and hold any thing very fast. It is black and slender, having six joynted Feet and a Cut-waisted Body like a long Fly, from whence groweth two short Wings; I suppose its Wings are not to fly with, being but short, but it will run very fast. Some term it a Crab-fish.

XXIX. He beareth Or, a Tree Irradicated, or Moulted up by the Root, the Stock Gules, the Branches growing Piramed like Vert; adorned with several Clusters of Grapes of the second. Such a Tree as this, is both the Coat and Crest belonging to the Family of Die Tschudi in Switzerland, in Germany. This Tree cannot be properly termed irradicated, but rather adorned; because it groweth not as a Vine which beareth Grapes, but but like the Cypress Tree, all in a Spire, and therefore may be a fit Emblem of one that maketh a shew, or brag-eth of that which is not his own.

XXX. He beareth Argent, a Box-tree, containing three heights of Branched Leaves growing Piramed-wise Vert, the Body Couped or Serrated above the Root, Imbricated with a Serpent, the head and tail extended, Azure. Born by the name of Boxtinell.

The like Tree (sans Serpent) is the Crest of Helbichen of Silitiars a Province in Germany.

XXXI. He beareth Argent, a Palm Tree of five Branches, couped, Vert: Some by reason the Palm-tree beareth its Branches thick together, having long narrow Leaves, as may be seen chap. 3. numb. 70. and this being a Tree thin of Branches and open: do therefore term it a Palm of five or six, &c. Branches each imbowed contrary to other, or counterimbowed. This is born by the name of Palmtree.

Upon the Ball of an Imperial Crown, such a Palm-tree is the Crest of Van Althann of Frankford in Germany.

The like with a Bird in it is the Crest of Van Tannwitz.

The like issuing out of Base, is the States Arms of Weiden in Germany.

XXXII. He beareth Argent, a Starved Tree couped, Sable. Born by the name of Starveling. This is by some Authors termed a Starved, a Withered, or a dead Branch: But in my Judgment it hath two many Boughs on the Body, as to make it a Branch, but rather to be termed a Tree; see chap. 3. numb. 71. 82. 87.

G. on a Mount in Base V. such a Tree A. Born by Pirker van Pirk.

Out of a Coronet the like S. is the Crest of van Heyne.

XXXIII. He beareth Argent, on a Mount in base, a Branched Tree, or a Tree shot forth into five Branches, Vert. Born by the name of Baretrey. Others when a Tree is thus made into Branches, and not close together as most Trees are; term it a Tree Folio'd as having nothing on it but Boughs and Leaves, see chap. 3. numb. 5.

O. such a Tree with 3 Main Boughs shot forth into other smaller Branches, Leaved and Irradicated V. is the Coat Armour of the State of Lindaw in Germany.

A grafted stock of a Tree with many single sprigs Leaved, is the Crest of van Weidenbach.

A. on a Mount issuing out of Base, a Branched Tree V. is born by van Birckicht of Holland.

XXXIV. He beareth Argent, a Tree couped, proper. This is the general way of making Trees by all Herauld Painters, both in England, France, Spain, Italy, and Germany, whether Folio'd only, or fructed, except they be upon some other remarks, as the few examples aforesaid. And Trees thus made, may be only termed Trees, but if they be Fructed, then they are termed Trees according to the Fruit they bear, as an Apple-tree, Pear-tree, Cherry-tree, Plum-tree, Dak-tree, Hawthorn-tree Blossomed, Holly-tree, Berry-tree, &c.

Such a Tree with a Lamb standing under it, colored and Bell at it, is the Crest of Schaf-Gotschen of Switzerland in Germany.

G. on a Mount out of Base, such a Tree is born by Oppler.

A. on a Mount out of Base, such a Tree with two Bodies V. By Biberbach.

S. a Tree on a Hill in Base V. with a Greyhound standing under it A. collered O. is the Coat and Crest of van Nadelwitz.

Party per Fesse S. and O. such a Tree Irradicated counterchange. Born by Buber.

Such a Tree out of a Rain-bow reversed, is the Crest of van Lanter.

G. on a Hill in Base, two such Trees V. is the States of Wildbad's Coat of Arms.

XXXV. He beareth Argent, on a Mount out of base, a round Branched (or headed) Tree, Vert, with the Sun Rays proceeding out of it, Or. Born by the name of Bushborn. This is of some termed on a Mount, Moses Burning Bush, or a Bush on Fire, as it is mentioned in Holy Writ, Exod. 3. 2.

Per Fesse B. and O. on a Hill in Base, such a Tree proper. Is born by Meyenschein.

XXXVI. He beareth Argent, a Mount in the Dexter base, set with a Grove of Trees, Vert. Born by the name of Grove, and Groveby. This is also termed a Wood, or Shade of Trees: a Sylvan Grove, see chap. 3. numb. 62.

B. the like Wood and Mount on the sinister side, with a Lyon passant issuant O. is born by van Bischof.

XXXVII. He beareth Argent, three Piles or blades of Grass each out toping the other, and imbowed in the heads towards the Sinister, Vert. Others term them three Piles of Jagged, or feathers Grass. Others call them Quill shafts, or feathers with thin staves, or filaments on the inner side; and such I chiefly take them to be by their bearing, and from their bearers. For Schepfen of Silisia hath for his Crest seven such, each surmounting and imbowed to the sinister Sable.

Out of a Coronet 3 such Feathers, imbowed to the Dexter, 1 G. 2 A. and last S. is the Crest of van Bischof and Bischof-beim.

A Cocks Tail erected and imbowed to the sinister S. born by van Kelsch.

3 Such Feathers O. A. B. to the sinister, is the Crest of van Hagen.

XXXVIII. He beareth Argent, a Bunch of Sages growing together imbowed to the Sinister, Vert. Born born by the name of Sagbach. Sometimes you shall not only see Sages, but Grass Piles, and Feathers, born for Coats and Crest after this form, also Flowers on Stems or Sprigs, bending so either to the Dexter or Sinister side, and sometimes to both, as in the next example.

But this is to be noted, that when many such things are thus set together at the bottom, if they either bend all one way, or bend both ways, one contrary to other, the outermost of them from those bent, must of necessity cut-top the rest, and the others must fall shorter and shorter by succession, for they can be drawn no otherwise: therefore it is both vain and needless to use the repetition (of cut-topping one the other &c.) as I have following my Master too much in the precedent example, numb. 37.

XXXIX. He beareth Or, an Hand in Fesse, couped in the Wrist, gripping of a Handful of Grass, Vert. By the name of Handfull.

XI. He beareth Argent, eight Leaves, the Stalks conjoined and contrary bowed (or imbowed doyle, or endorced imbowed) Vert. By the name of Leafall. But the most compendious, is to blazon them conjoined doyle endorced: though good Artists will say, conjoined and vertant to the Dexter and Sinister. And after this manner you may oft find Coats thus born, whose bearings may be with Flowers, Fruit, Piles of Grass, Sages, Feathers &c. or several other things that may or naturally are apt to bend.

14 Piles of Grass conjoined in the bottom, counter-bowed V. between 2 Darts, the Points or Barbs erected A. is the Crest of Lessell.

8 Cocktail Feathers the like S. born by van Scheterwange: & a bunch of Bass leaves the like, O. is the Crest of Befs.

9 Feathers 5 to the Dexter, 4 to the Sinister imbowed, S. out of a Coroner, is the Crest of van Schonfeld.

13 Piles of Grass the like V. is the Crest of van Billeck. And Tanbadel.

On the Crown of a Cap G. turned up O. a Tuft of 7 Feathers the like S. is the Crest of van Hornaw, and van Rudickheim.

XII. He beareth Or, a Fascicul, or Fascicle, or Bundle of Grass Vert, Banded Gules. By the name of Grasier. But this may be better termed a Grass-cock banded, or bound up, saith one: or a Garb of Grass, the top bowed to the Dexter, saith another.

A. 3 such V. born by Grasley.

XIII. He beareth Argent, a Race of long Pepper erected, Sable. Three such as these thus erected is born by the name of Peper, or Peppers. This is the true shape of the long Pepper, as it groweth together in the Race, or Seed Pod, which I have spoken of before, chap. 3. numb. 57. and 5. 48.

XIII. He beareth Argent, a Round bodied Bottle Sable, out of the Mouth thereof a Grass Spire, of 12 Piles contrary Bowed, Vert. Born by the name of Grassbottle. Some term this a Wine Bottle with a long Neck, having Piles of Grass issuing out of it. It is a very usual thing to bear a Grass Spire, after this manner containing some 4, 6, 8, or 10, Piles imbowed one contrary from the other on Rings, Wheels, Flowers, or any other thing quick or dead, amongst the Gentry and Nobilities Coat and Crest in Germany. But if there be an odd Pile of Grass in the Spire or Shoot, that ever stands in the top or middle upright not declining either to the Dexter or Sinister side.

The like Bottle crowned A. with a Shoot or Spire of six Piles counter-imbowed V. is the Crest of Florianer a Noble Family in Barvaria.

The like Spire of 6 Piles set on a Ball B. belongs to the Crest of Brandenburger: and Zu Riet: also of Magenbuch the Ball being A.

The like on a Wheel G. is the Crest of Klingenberg.

The like on an Annulet O. is the Crest of Guttingen.

The like on the Points, or Horns of a Miter A. is the Crest of Bochingen.

The like on the Horns of a Crestant A. is the Crest of Glanzer.

The like of 8 Piles out of a Bell, the Mouth erected G. by van Nenningen.

Some term this a Stalk, Shoot, or Shaft with (fomany) Grass Leaves.

XLIV. He beareth Or, a Coze or Wreath, A. and G. Flower de lis B on the Top 3 Grass Spires, each containing seven Piles Sable. By the name of Vamga. Some term this Wreath, Flozy counter Floxyed with one de Lis, others a Flower de Lis Wreathed, or in the middle Wreathed.

A. a Flower de lis so adorned G. is the Coat and Crest of Bernheim of Frankford.

XLV. He beareth Gules, the Stock or Trunk of a Tree couped at both ends; the sides counter Raguled by four Or, from between each, proceeds a Stalk, with a Rose Argent. Born by the name of Rosetock. Some term this a Pale couped and Raguled, counter Raguled of four. Some a Ragged Staff of four knots

A. the like in Bend S. the Roses G. born by van Schachten.

A. the like in Bend Sinister couped, counter Raguled of six and as many Elm Leaves interposing G. is born by Stangen. and van Ober-Ledel.

A. the like in Bend with 3 knots counterposed and as many Heart Leaves interposed is born by van Pflugen.

A. the like with 3 knots and 2 Elm Leaves G. born by Veltheim.

A. the like in Fesse 3 Ragules above, with Roses interposed, and one knot under G. born by van Bredelom.

O. the like couped in the top, and Moulded below, with 4 knots, and from each side an Heart leaf pendant S. by Sambleben.

A. the like rent in the top, and couped in base, with 4 knots or Ragules set opposite, and 2 Leaves with Stalks pendant V. born by Vanstock and Stockharsen of Alsatina.

A. a Stock of a Tree couped at both end, from each side proceeds 3 Heart-Leaves S. belongs to Stoufacher.

XLVI. He beareth Argent, two Ragged Staves couped in the ends, imbowed one to the other; Sable. Born by the name of Fitz Bomstock.

A. 2 such conjoynd in Base S. and flamant proper. Born by Weickardt.

A. one imbowed to the Dexter S. is born by Stockbrim. The like to the Sinister, is born by van Alten.

Per Fesse G. and B. one to the Dexter O. is born by Hemodi.

A. the like rent in the top and knots B. is born by van Leme.

XLVII. He beareth Azure, a Stock in fesse, slipped at both ends, and Crenell on the higher side, with two Leaves on Footstalks proceeding therefrom, Or. Born by the name of Cropley.

The like to this V. with an Eagle standing thereon A. is the Crest of the Lord Lovelace Baron of Hurley in the county of Barks.

XLVIII. He beareth Argent, two Heart Leaves Pendant, their Stalks contrary bedded & reflected erased, Vert. Born by the name of Leaveby. Some againe blazon them two Stalks Bowed imbowed erased, the Leaves Pendant respectant. Others 2. leaves reversed their Stalks contrary bowed and rebowed erased in Pale.

G. the like A. is the coat & crest of the noble family of Stos of Ramitz in Germany.

XLIX. He beareth Argent, two Sprigs, or Water Sprouts leafed and slipped, the one contrary bowing and debruseing the other, in forme of a Laurel or Garland Vert, Tyed above and below with a Ribbon Gules. Born by the name of Laurell. Some more briefly Blazon it, a Laurel of two slips of a Tree tied together.

Such a Laurel V. in a Field A. an Inescuchion O. charged with 3 Stags Horns in pale Bar. S. is the States Armes of Weyblingen in Germany.

L. He beareth Argent, a Water Sprig, or Sprout, or Shoot of a Tree folioid imbowed to the Dexter, Vert. Is born by the name of Waispring, or Waisprig.

Such a Sprig of the Flowers of Cullumbines B. and Leaves V. out of a Glove A. with a Falcon standing thereon Belled and Jessed, O. is the Crest of the Honorable Lord Gray of Wilton. Some blazon it a Falcon on a Glove, over shaded with the Sprig of a Cullumbine.

LI. He beareth Gules, a Cornucopia Scalloped Or, filled with diversity of Leaves, Vert. This is born by the name of Plenty. This Cup or Cornucopia is made or wrought diversly from that mentioned chap. 4 numb. 112. that being Wreathen after the manner, of a Unicorns horn; but this is as if there were several horns joyned together, each being a degree in the foul-ding less then the formed, like Chamfered or Chailed work, raised by the hand of a cunning Workman; such like Cornucopias as these, you shall often find Coined in the ancient Romans Money, from whence I took this figure, see Gutherius de Veteri Jure Pontificio Urbis Romae, pag. 51. and Hemclarius on the Roman Coin, Tabula 4. 13.

LII. He beareth Argent, a Laurel, or Chaplet of Leaves, adorned with Wreaths and Roses, Gules. When a Laurel of Leaves is only set with Flowers, then the Flowers seldom exceed four viz. one above and below, and one on each side, as this example doth manifest: but if they exceed, then they are rather Garlands then Laurels or Chaplets, as you may see chap. 4. numb. 43, 44. and lib. 3. chap. 1. numb. 23, 24.

G. a such a Laurel V. Wreaths and Roses A. environing a Frog erect O. is the Coat of van Loß.

3 Garlands composed of the ends of the Eye Feathers in a Peacocks tail, and set upon 2. is the Crest of van Gaffron of Switzerland in Germany.

LIII. He beareth Argent, a Pink with two Leaves slipped, Gules. This is born by the name of Pink: also three such Gules, Leaves and slips Vert, is born by the same name. This I have purposely set down here to shew the courteous Reader the old way of drawing Pinks, viz. with the Flower Leaves pendant or hanging down the side of the Vase, or Socket it groweth in contrary to what we now use, which I have set down chap. 4. numb. 49.

The second Flower comprehended under the foresaid figure, is called a Blewbottle pendant, and is the very form as it was drawn by our Ancestors and is thus blazoned; Argent, a Cheveron Sable, between three Blewbottles hanging down, proper. Born by the name of Corcentry.

The third Flower mentioned in this quarter figure, is a Dulap drawn after the old manner and writing, for in an old Manuscript I find three such Or, on a Fesse Sable, in a Field Argent. Born by the name of Le.

LIV. He beareth Argent, a Camphire Rose, Sanguine, Leaved and Slipped, Vert. This is of some termed, a Cinqueseile Flower inbecked (or each Leave having an Inbeck) and Slipped. This is born by the name of Camphire.

A bunch of these Flower containing seven O. in Holt Husks and Leaves V. is the Crest of Lestwich of Lestwich, as anciently that Family did bear it: although now of latter times they have turned them into Oak Leaves of that number.

LV. He beareth Gules, a Saffron Flower Or, of the shape and form of this Flower, is the Crocus, Saffron, Son before Father, Lilly &c. But of these I have spoken before, chap. 4. numb. 57. only set this here to shew how it was anciently made by Legh, pag. 80. and others,

LVI. He beareth Argent, a Sprig of the everlasting Pea. This is a kind of Peale that is ever blossoming ing for the most part of the Year except in the deep Frosty Winter season. The Flower in make and shape is like unto the common Pease, only they grow in Spires, many on a stalk above one the other, so that the lower Flower will be ready to perish before the top come to bloom; the Flower is very beautifull being between a light purple and a Carnation.

LVII. He beareth Argent, five Stalks conjoynd at the bottom, each again seperate into a Tuberous or knotty Root, with a fibrous stringie Root proceeding therefrom; the Leaves indented, each having a knot at the bottom at the setting on of the Leaf to the Stalks. This is a strange kind of bearing and hath not often been found in Arms, it belongs as above blazoned to the name of Tollymond.

S. a Cheveron between 3 such Tufted Roots with knotty Leaves and Roots. A. is born by Tremyn.

LVIII. He beareth Azure, two Trefosses in pale, the Stalks or Slips bendwise counterpos'd, the higher to the Sinister, Or. Some (of whom I took this example of bearing, not in this kind only; but in other sorts of Flowers and Fruit, whose stalks have been thus counterpos'd) have given a large blazoning thereunto as two Trefosses in Bend pale, the upper reversed with its Stalk bendwise to the Sinister chief, and the other contrary to the Dexter base. This is the Coat of van Folbach a Netherlander.

G. 2 Apples stalks so counterpos'd O. is born by Appleheim.

A. 2 Roses the stalk so, is by Ruseley or Roseberg.

LIX. In this quarter is the form of two Trefosses (as I may call them) which are contrary to those formerly treated off in chap. 4. numb. 3. to 8. none being like that on the Dexter side; which in blazon may be termed a Trefoil fitched (or the Stalk fitched) some call it a Nail with a Trefoile head, or a Bottony head. Such a bearing I find by the name of Fisholme of Holmes in Lancashire, viz. A. a Fesse S. between 3 such G. where they were anciently called Trefosses Playne fery.

The other may be termed a Trefoile, the Stalk couped and Raguled, see chap. 4. numb. 7. Others term it, the Stalk crossed; others term it a Cross couped, the top, or higher Stem Bottony. Such a bearing hath Clopton, or Clapton, viz. A. a Cheveron S. surmounted of another Losengy, O. between 3 such V. after the same manner may the Stalks or Slips of other Leaves, Flowers, or Fruit, be born in Arms which may be a sufficient difference to distinguish Coats of Families.

LX. He beareth Gules, a Spaniel Dog in his Tre, or Intended, passant to the sinister, and regardant, Argent. Some term it a Dog, Looking back and snarling. This is a fit Badg to bestow upon such who are of a Dogged and curish-churlish disposition that nothing pleaseth, of which there is too many of that nature in the World.

B. such a Dog A. is born by Doggire.

[]

LXI. He beareth Or, a Lyon Rampant with his Body in full aspect, to the sinister his four Feet extended (or in an Assaulting, or Preying posture with a full and open Body) Such a Lyon as this is born by the name of van Saltenheim. These two Creatures in these said postures viz. the Dog and Lyon, if they were in one Field might fitly be blazoned a Dog passing fearfully from a Lyon, yet so that by his looking back and Snarling, he indeavours to defend, and secure his posteriors: and on the other side the courageous Lyon at all opportunities is ready to seize upon his Adversarie. These are fit Emblems of gallant Spirits, which though they have power or not to assault, yet have pollicy to defend and make a safe retreat.

LXII. He beareth Argent, a Man-Lyon Rampant to the sinister, Honored or Crowed, Or. Born by the name of Manlion. This is called a Man-Lyon, because of having a Manly Face, and Beard; of which kind of double or fixitious Creatures I have formerly spoken and shewed the cause of their so naming, chap. 9. numb. 18.

A. such a Manlion Rampant S. Face proper, Honored O. is the Coat and Crest of Funcken of Ausperg.

O. such another Rampant to the sinister S. with Beard and Face proper, Wreathed about the Temples A. and G. Is born by the name of Wenger of Bavaria.

LXIII. He beareth Argent, a Man-Leopard rampant passant to the sinister, Gules, Face proper, born by Manpard. This is also by some termed a Man-Lion, and such a Creature drawing up his right Paw Sable, Gorged with a Crown, Or, is the Crest, ab Antiquis, of the Lord Pagett, Baron of Beaufort, in Staffordshire.

G. the like O. is born by Dereux.

LXIV. He beareth Sable, a Lion sarcelled (or divided through out) and set in Salter, the Dexter surmounting. This is born by the name Sarcellon. Thus the Dutch often bear Coats of Creatures sawed or cut through the middle from head to tail.

G. such a Lion divided in Salter A. crowned O. is born by Annon of Brunswick.

A. a Goat so divided, and set in Salter, respectant, S. is born by Halbachs in the said Province of Brunswick.

LXV. He beareth Azure, a Lion Rampant to the sinister, having his tail between his feet, and elevated over his Shoulder, Argent. Born by the name of Hartless. This is also termed a Lion Rampant coward, carrying his Tail upon his Shoulder, see chap. 7. numb. 12. 13.

A. such a Lion G. is born by Cordale.

Per pale G. and O. such a Lion rampant, with his tail elevated as high as his head, and crowned counter-changed, is born by Schetz of Alsacia, Also by Zur Merxhausen.

O 902

LXVI.

LXVI. He beareth Vert, a Wolf to the sinister passant, Argent, with a Naked Man in his mouth, proper. Or after others (and that more Artist like) holding a Naked Man by the middle, in his mouth: Or else, in his mouth a Naked Boy. This is born by the name Wolfsmaine.

S. the like with a Naked Child A. is born by Van Wolfsa:hs:n.

The like all proper, is the Crest of Strange.

A Tiger, with a Mans Leg couped above the Knee, A. is the Crest of Chicheley of Wimpey.

A Cat Saltant to the sinister, A. with a Mouse in his mouth S. is born by Katzen.

LXVII. He beareth Gules, an Hare Seiant to the sinister, Or, playing on a pair of Bag-pipes, Argent, by the name of Harbell or Harebell.

LXVIII. He beareth Argent, an Ape seiant in his Pride, or in full Aspect, proper. Born by the name of Sedape, or Setape. Of the several ways of Blazoning of Creatures in this manner, with the full Breast and Body towards one, I have declared formerly cha. 7. n. 8. and cha. 9. n. 3. to which I shall referre you.

LXIX. He beareth Sable, an Amphisiben = Scorpion reversed, Or. born by the name of Dubed. which in Wales is called Di-Pen. that is in English Two-Heads.

This Scorpion is of a different nature and making to that mentioned cha. 9. n. 87. & cha. 18. n. 99. This being double headed, a Head before and an other behind; Of these kinde of Double Headed Creatures, and why termed Amphisiben creatures, I have shewed it formerly, cha. 12. n. 76. Some in the blazoning hereof terme the Taile, Imbowed & Debrused, the Head to the Sinister.

The like Scorpion A. betw. 2 Horns Chequie A. & B. is the Crest of Sherington.

Also the like Reversed with the headed Taile Imbowed, or Circled A. is the crest of Sherrington.

LXX. He beareth Argent, a Wibern Couchant, to the Sinister, holding up his left foot, the Tail reversed (or defected, Imbowed, Gules. By the name of Weerverton.

A. The like Wivern rampant to the sinister, his tail Torqued Imbowed V. casting Fire out of his mouth, is born by Burghausen of Bavaria. Also by the name of Schall.

LXXI. He beareth Argent, a Hole, proper, by the name of Twissleton, of Craven. This I have caused to be set here, being more exact and liker the Hole than that which is in chap. 10. numb. 7.

Also A. 3 such S. is born by the name of Twissleton.

A. a Cheveron between three such S. with the difference of a Third House, is the Coat of my very worthy Friend, which I am bound to honour for his many favours, George Twissleton, of Llier and Clunock in the County of Caernarvan, Brothers Son to Sir Thomas Twissleton of Barlow, in the East Riding of Yorkshire, Knight.

LXXII. He beareth Argent, a Fox currant to the Sinister, with a Goose on his Back, and the Heck in his Mouth, proper. This for brevity is Blazoned a Fox and Goose, and generally is thus drawn with the head in his mouth, and the body of the Goose cast over his back, that thereby he may be the more apt and abler to go or run away with his stolen Prey. This is born by the name of Foxwist.

B. the Fox thus Currant in Bend with a Goose A. is the Arms of Foxfield.

O. the like in Bend, with a Duck in his mouth, proper, is born by Van Brantstein.

LXXIII. He beareth Gules, two Lions Paws couped under the Knees, the Claws endorsed. Or. Of others Blazoned, two Paws of a Lion couped below the Bendings or Joints, and counterposed, (else turned one from the other) this is born by the name of Barejan.

A. the like S. is born by Raffens'erg, of Bavaria.

O. 3 such couped in triangle, S. else couped, the Paws triangular, is born by Murnhart, of Switze-land.

A. 2 such erected, the paws or claws endorsed, or contrary flected S. by Zur-Hoy of Bavaria. And also by Hortenberg.

Out of a Crown two such erected and griped, one S. the other A. is the crest of Ottenberger.

Per pale A. and B. (on the first) a Lions Paw griped, erected and couped below the joint, of the second, is born by Van Lutticz.

A. 2 such erected in Saker, the dexter surmounting G. is born by Zwingenstein.

LXXIV. He beareth G. a demy Wolf to the sinister issuant, his feet erected each side his head, Argent, by the name of Betwill. Some term this Wolf issuant displaid, or extending, or stretching out himself. See numb. 61.

Out of a Coronett O. such a Wolf S. gripping in each foot a Ball of Gold, is the Crest of Van Asjwein, of the Palatinate of Rhine.

LXXV. He beareth Azure, a demy Greyhound currant reversed, issuant from the dexter side, meeting the Nose of another (or the like) proceeding from the Sinister, Argent. Born by the name of Stretch. Some Blazon them, two demy Greyhounds issuant counter currant, their heads or noses meeting in Fesse; but this doth not manifest a reversion, or a turning of the dexter on top-side down; but rather have said, two Greyhounds issuant endorsed, their noses meeting, for if they had passed by one the other in this posture of station, then they had been absolutely Doggen Dogs, or Endorsed, having back to back.

G. 2 Greyhounds thus meeting Palewise, A. col-lared lared S. is the Coat Armour of Murhalmer of Barvaria, which you may Blazon thus, 2 Hounds issuant from the Chief and Base, their Noses contrary posed, meeting in Fesse. Or 2 Hounds issuant, meeting in Fesse, one currant to the dexter, the other to the sinister; or the Back of one to the dexter, the other to the sinister, noses meeting; naming the station of that in chief, or dexter side first.

After this manner you will often find Coats of many Low Country Families and Foreign Arms thus composed of other sorts of Beasts, and set also Bendways, as well as in Fesse or Pale.

LXXVI. He beareth Vert, a Wolfs head to the sinister, couped, Or, holding of a Lamb (in his mouth) Argent. Born by the name of Werrylame.

The like S. collared O. Lamb A. is the crest of Wolffheim.

A Fox sedant, or Wolf sestant, A. with a Cock in his mouth S. Comb and Wattles, G. is the Crest of Van Delisch, of Silicars. And with a Lamb by Van Berlichingen of Frankford.

G. a Wolf passant to the sinister, his tail debased, Or, couvelled, (or girt about the body with a Towel) with a Duck in his mouth, A. in chief a Rose, is born by Nobelen.

Some term Beasts thus wrapped about the Body charged with a pale or palet.

B. a Fox saliant (or currant in Bend sinister) with a Goose in his mouth A. born by Van Dresker.

B. on a Mount out of the Base, a Wolf rampant with a Lamb in his mouth A. by Van Gelsdorfe.

LXXVII. He beareth Sable, two Or Horns couped (or cut off) the tops, or ends contrary Bowed, Argent. Born by the name of Hornby. Some term them horns erected, endowed, counterpointed, which Blazon cannot be rejected or gain said; see chap. 8. numb. 46. Some call them horns flected and reflected; this is a great Bearing, and very honourably esteemed both in England, and France, and in most European great Families, either singly themselves, on the scalp, as I have formerly shewn, or on the Beasts; but as they are themselves take these few examples.

Out of a Coronet Or, 2 such Horns Or, with three Peacocks feathers issuant on both sides proper, is the crest of the Kingdom of Denmark.

On a Torce A. and S. 2 Horns A. on a Skalp, O. is the crest of the Lord Chenie of Toddington.

2 Horns per Fesse S. and A. contrary changed, is the Crest of Van Hornberg, of Alsacia. And the like contrary changed, O. and B. is the crest of Dettingen. Also V. and A. by Hobensels.

2 Horns triparted S. A. and G. is the crest of Walz. And O. V. and A. by Wistat of Hagenbach.

2 Horns quadruparted S. O. G. A. is the crest of Opfengen.

2 Horns G. is the crest of Reinhardtswell. And S. by Wasserpach. And A. by Poppen.

A. 2 such G. is the Coat of Dortzer, of Barvaria.

2 Horns, one G. the other A. is the crest of Im-Thorn. And one B. the other Barry G. and A. by Hol- beim. And one V. the other A. by Waller.

LXXVIII. He beareth Gules, an Hounds head with a Falcons Beak issuant in Base, Argent, by the name of Houndeck.

O. the like S. Beak and Ear A. is quartered by Aerlwig, a German Family.

LXXIX. He beareth Vert, a Giffons head issuant, Argent, the Ears converted into Ho ns erected, and Cips Imbowed, Or. Born by the name Grifforne. Some call this an Oppinicus head Horned; or a Falcons head Horned; but its proper name is a Tragoponads head, which is an Ethiopian Bird with horns; see chap. 12. numb. 84.

G. the like couped, A. is the coat of Rambseider, of Barvaria.

LXXX. He beareth Azure, a Giffons head crated Argent, having flames of Fire out of his mouth and Ears. Born by the name of Divell.

Per Fesse G. and O. the like to the Sinister counterchanged, is the Coat Armour of Tewsell Van Pircken see in Barvaria.

LXXXI. He beareth Gules, an Unicorn head couped, Or. Three such is born by the name of Parris of Chester, quartered by Hope, of Queen-Hope, in Flint-shire, of whom is descended George Hope, of the said place, Esquire; this present Year High Sheriff of the said County, 1687. I have set this Unicorn down here only to shew the different ways between the Foreign Countreys and ours; they generally Draw the Horn down the Brow and Face of the Beast, and we lifted up from the forehead, as you may see chap. 9. numb. 30. 31. Of their Coats thus Drawn, I could give examples innumerable, only let these few suffice.

G. such a Unicorn saliant, A. is born by Thengen, a Dutch Family.

O. the like S. born by Ruseck, a Noble Family in Germany. And S. and O. by Strolyn.

Out of a Coronet, a demy one A. is the Crest of Linggenthall, of Tyrole.

B. a demy one saliant, O. is the Coat and Crest of Van Groavia; also by Van Mont.

LXXXII. He beareth Vert, a Goats head couped, Argent, Horned, Or. Born by the name of Goater. This is also the Netherlanders way of Drawing their Goats horns, not backward as we do, as you may see chap. 9. numb. 20. 22. 24. 25. but hanging down the neck to the back, as the example sheweth.

Per pale S. and A. such a head counterchanged, is the Coat and Crest of Pucher, of Brunswick.

Per Bend sinister B. and O. a demy one saltant, counterchanged, is born by Van Stoten.

Out of a Coronet, a demy such S. is the crest of Van Castelmur.

G. the like Goat saltant to the sinister A. is born by Adelsfreidt, a noble German.

LXXXIII. He

LXXXIII. He beareth Argent, a Mantyggers head Bearded, to the sinister, and couped, Or, the Face proper, Horns of the first, tipped, Sable. By the name of Elubree. This is another kind of Mantyger, contrary to that mentioned chap. 9. numb. 17. 18. The like Creatures to this, are the Supporters (of old) to the Earl of Hastings; after that he bore them with Mens Ears; but now of late they are set forth (in the Treatise of Honour and Nobility, published by Richard Blome) only with Mens Faces, Bearded, and Crined, or Curled Locks, Lion-like Bodies, sans Mains; or Leopards Bodies, as numb. 63.

LXXXIV. He beareth Argent, a Baboons head to the sinister, with a curled or hairy scalp, couped by the name of Babine. These kind of Creatures are seldom born in Arms but with full Faces, yet some there are thus born, from whence I took this and the next Figures, and the rather because of their curled or hairy heads, which is contrary to the way we now draw them, as you may see chap. 10. numb. 1. 2. 3.

B. 3 such O. Faces proper, is born by Blerzo.

LXXXV. He beareth Sable, a Curled Baboons head, to the sinister, erazed, Or, Face proper. By the name of Bilston.

The like proper, is the crest of York.

LXXXVI. He beareth Argent, a Seales fore-foot, issuant out of dexter chief, Sable. Born by Sealsotheim.

Or, 3 such couped Sable, is born by the name of Dorsett.

LXXXVII. He beareth Argent, the Hinder foot of a Seale, or Sea Calf, erected out of Base, Sable. Born by the name of Salefoot. Of these Feet see more chap. 10. numb. 19.

LXXXVIII. He beareth Vert, the Horn of a Bonicon Bowed Imbowed, the root end Bottony. Born by the name of Morphaze or Moreface. Some term it in pale flected and reflected; others in the form of a Roman S, and in many of the Dutch and German Coats who bear it much after this form, it is termed a Goats horn curved recurved, that is, a turning again contrary to another turn, or Bowing which it had before.

Per Fesse G. and A. such a Horn counterchanged, is born by Siemein, the crest the same.

A. two such endowed, or contrary Imbowed, S. is born by Van Fravenfelt.

A. such a Horn bowed to the sinister S. tipt O. is born by Van Adoltzheim: And bowed to the dexter, is born by Van Aulenbach. And the Horn S. by Van Fechenbach.

Out of a Coronet O. two such Horns Bowed, the points turned inwards into a semicircle; the imbowing or swelling Alternately V. and A. is the crest of Hellin, or Hellin of Francford.

LXXXIX. He beareth Argent, out of Base, two Lions Legs erected, endowed, the Paws counterbow ed, Gules. Born by the name of Berlin. See more of this kind of Bearing, numb. 73.

2 such erected endowed, O. is the crest of Zwingenstein.

In the chief of this square, is the English manner of conjoined Wings, contrary to those drawn by the German and Spanish Herald, as may be seen by comparing them chap. 13. numb. 76. and these together, and are by us Blazoned two Cherubs Wings extended and conjoined, on the dexter Ponion a Cross Patee, and the sinister an Eagles head. Born by the name of Favourite. Some Blazon this only a Cherubs Wings adorned with a Cross Patee and Eagles head on the point of the Ponion; and so it may without any other terms, if it be compared to the Cherubs Wings in chap. 1. numb. 24. which is the right and antient way of drawing the Cherub.

XC. He beareth Azure, a Fork Fish, (or a Puffin fish) erected, the Tail imbowed debruised, Argent. Born by the name of Fork-fish. This Fish I have described formerly, chap. 14. numb. 28. only here in this Place give you the form and shape of it.

XCI. He beareth Or, a Sea Testicle, or Sea Mans Pard, proper. This is so termed by Randellius in his description of Fish, which Gesner, fol. 197. terms it a fourth kind of Urtica, or kind of Sea Nettie, or Muskle Fish representing a Mans Pard, which Pricks and Stings being touched. It is in Latine Holothuria, which we may English a Prickly, or Prick-like Sea Fish, the *German*s call it a Schnecke, or Meerschnecke schalen, or Sunderlich der Purper schnecken. It is called the Great Purple Shell fish, whose outward parts is hard, full of ridges, rough and stiff, being more gross, massive and closer together than in any of the other Articars, having tufts or locks of hair round about the head of it, like the hairy substance that cleaveth to Oysters and Muskles; from the interior or inward parts cometh forth long Threads of a purple colour. From this Purple Fish comes the best and most precious Dying stuff for dying of Silks; see chap. 14. numb. 12.

XCII. He beareth Azure, an Antaceus, Argent. Born by the name of Mintlam. This Fish is of the Dolphin species, which I described chap. 14. numb. 1. only here shew you the exact shape of the Fish.

XCIII. He beareth Vert, a Stork surgiant, Argent, by the name of Storkley. This is by some termed a Stork rising, as having its Wings disclosed from each side the Body, and preparing for flight. See chap. 18. numb. 86. The difference between the two ways of rising of Fowl, some being drawn with the back to light, others (as this) with the Belly to light; some again are drawn with the Wings complicated; let so that the Ponion or outside of the Wing, shall be seen on the farther side of the body, standing (as it were,) that three parts of the Body or Breast may be seen, which is termed a Triam Ermin Aspect, as chap. 11. numb. 19. And B. such a Stock is born by Dob.

G. the like in trian aspect to the Sinister A. on a mount out of Base V. born by Arnalt.

B. the like to the Sinister A. Beak and Legs G. by Van Daelingen.

B. the like to the Sinister, with two necks Bowed Endorced A. born by Weiler.

V. the like surmount, with a Stone Ring in his Beak proper, born by Crenchell.

A Falcon rowlant to the Sinister, is the Crest of Falkenstein of Bavaria; and Heger of Brunfwick; and in these forelaid postures you shall often find Swans, Ducks, and several other sorts of Fowl born in Coats.

XCIV. He beareth Argent, a Dutch pair of Wings conjoined, pendant, Gules. Born by the name of Grafen or Graffen. I have formerly treated of the several forms of conjoined Wings made after the Dutch and German mode, amongst all which mentioned chap. 13. numb. 75, 76, 77, 78. I find not any of this kind, it being absolutely like the English way of pendant Wings conjoined, as chap. 11. numb. 3. save this hath a Baton or Pommel in the middle of the top of the Wings, which ours have not; therefore if it may not be termed a Dutch pair, yet we may well call them a pair of Wings pendant, pometted, conjoined; or Bottony conjoined, if it have three rounds together, as oft it is so drawn.

XC. He beareth Gules, a Lion Eagle displaid, with an hairy Tail, Or. Born by the name of Rucker. Of the like to these (save in the jagged or hairy tail) I have given examples of several kinds, in chap. 13. numb. 62. this I find Blazoned of old thus,

Dor un Eagle de d'argent, Test de Cane, viz. O. an Eagle A. with the head of a Dog. Born by the name of John de Banlaco.

XCVI. He beareth Azure, three Pigeons, Argent, their Beaks or Bills in point, (or meeting in point) at the Fesse, Gules. Of others it is Blazoned two Doves respecting, and the third descending from Chief. Or thus, three Birds respectant in Triangle. Or else a Trien of Birds meeting in triangle in Fesse, one in Chief, two in Base. This is born by the name of Crober.

A. 3 Cornish Choughs encountering with their Bills, is born by Trelamere.

XCVII. He beareth Gules, thre Swans Necks issuant out of Base to the Sinister, surmounting (or de-limbing) each other, Argent. Some term them joined side to side, others corrected, erected, or set together, one by the side of the other; so as to sight one stands before the other: which others term collaterally disposed. This is born by the name of Trefwaine, a French Family.

Out of a Coronett 3 such Necks A. is the crest of Rouffwag.

2 such Necks, one A. the other G. is the crest of Van Schonaw.

2 such to the Sinister, A. is the crest of Homborg.

XCVIII. He beareth Vert, out of the Base, two Swans Necks Endorced and Fretted, Argent. By the name of Swanick or Swansneck. Alter this manner you shall find both Coats and Crests of Beasts and Fowls, which have long Necks thus fretted, or turning about one the other. See chap. 10. numb. 46.

Out of a Coronett O. two such Necks (or two demy Adders or Serpents) Fretted open, or at a distance A. is the Crest of Liechtenfels.

In the dexter Base of this square is a Cross disjoint, or divided asunder in the middle. Of which I have given examples in Crosses, lib. 1. chap. 5. numb. 36. which kind of Bearing is incident to most sorts of Crosses, either to be disjoint, or fixed to some round or square things as this example, which is thus Blazoned, Argept, a Tor-teaux between, a Cross Patee double fitched of all four, and disjointed, Sable. Else a disjoint Cross, &c. fixed to a Roundlet. This is born by the name of Harlingen, see numb. 117. others term it parted in four in the middle.

XCIX. He beareth Azure, a Galeus of Venice, or a Venetian Galeus, (as Gesner calls it) it is of the Dogfish Species, of whom I have spoken before, chap. 14. numb. 55. and therefore only give you the form, which in this posture is Blazoned either a Galeus or Gale-rus, or a Sea Dog Fish of Venice, Naifant, the tail Imbowed dejected.

C. He beareth Gules, a Mallet Dog Fish, Argent. Born by the name of Malvish, a Venetian Family. This Fish I have described among the Dog-fish, chap. 15. numb. 42. and therefore shall say no more of it, only give you its shape.

CI. He beareth Azure, a Trien of Fish lying cross, the heads and tails interchangably posed, Argent, or according to Mr. Morgans term, three Trouts crossing-wise. Teste a la queue, that is lying so one upon the other, that the head of each Fish is between the tails of the other. Notwithstanding all these may pass for good Blazoning, yet give me leave to cast in my Mite of Judgment, which is to say, two Trouts in Salter, debussed or surmounted of another in Pale, the Tail erected. This is born by the name of Trout. These were also anciently Blazoned thus, Port d'Argent, tres Troutes paly-bendy-Barony de Sable. By the name of Troutbeck. See chap. 14. numb. 18.

CII. He beareth Azure, the Head of a Sea Pike, (or more properly the head of an Horn Pike, or Sea Needle) Couped, Argent. The whole fish I have caused to be Engraven cha: 14. numb. 59. according as it was then described to me, but since I have seen the fish it selfe, whose under chop is much larger and longer then the higher, with sharpe small teeth set on both sides, below and above: The under chop is guttered having a thin thin skinny membrane, that covers the hollownes between the side bones of the chop. The skin is smooth & coloured like a Salmon, with an Incision line on both sides the body; It hath a Fin at each side the Gills, two fins sharp pointed set together in the middle of the belly, and one large fin sharp pointed below the Navel, and another on the back opposite to it; From which two fins runs two low small fins almost to the taile: The taile fin hath a part of the fish running into the middle of it, & from thence the fin is forked.

CIII. He beareth Vert, two Horts in Salter, the tailes erected the Sinister Surmounting, Argent. by the name of Mortmaine. The like coat to this the field being Gules, is upon a Monument in St. Mary's Church in Nottingham.

CIV. He beareth Gules, a Fish hauriant, with Three Boddies, Argent. Born by the name of Horden. Some terme this a Fish Tricorporated. Others three Fishes hauriant Heads consoyned. Or conioyned in the heads: or under one head.

B. 3 fish thus hanging by a String to the chief with their heads together O. is born by Van Lotzky.

CV. He beareth Azure, a Blow fish, or a Blow er, So called because of his continual Blowing, or rising and falling of a windy Blader under his Throat and Gills. This was shewed me by a Fishmonger of Chester, who gave it that name, But I rather take it to be a Fish of the Chabott kind, mentioned before chap. 14. numb. 22. all the head is of a rough bony substance, having two sharp pointed hooks on the Nose, and the like on the hinder part of the head; two skinny strings hanging down from the gills and throat; two Fins at the Gills, two round fins from the head almost to the tail, a fleshy fin below the Navel, and a streight finned tail. It is of a whitish colour, more dusky on the back, spotted with darker spots, having an incision line on both sides. This is born by the name of Flator, and may be a fit badg for such a person as is always venting out words, and brags of himself and the parts he is endued withal.

CVI. He beareth Gules, an Adder Pike, (of some called a Sharpling or Netter.) proper. It is a Fish of a soft smooth skin, with an Incision line on both sides; the belly is round, swelling out much more than the proportion of the tail requireth: It hath two smooth fins under the throat sharp ended, being rather fleshy than gristly, two triangular like fins, with sharp spines or thorns standing out at the gills; the like on the neck, from which to the end of the tail, and from the bottom of the Belly to the tail, runs a soft, short and close Fin; the tail fin round at the parting of the Fishines, and streight at the extent of it, if it end in two or three points they are very small; it hath a short thick head and blunt nose, the under jaw being longer than the top; the mouth is not streight forwards into the head, but tendeth downwards.

CVII. He beareth Argent, a Sea Pen Fish, proper. This is born by the name of Lumby. This Fish is so called by our Cheeshire Fishers, but for the scape and make of it, I take it to be of the Dye, or Lump fish species, and doth exactly answer that called the British Dye Fish, described chap. 14. numb. 29.

CVIII. He beareth Azure, a Swine fish of the Sea (or a Hare Swine) Argent. This is such a kind of Fish, and of such a Nature, that divers Authors have given it several and distinct names. By the Greeks it is called Capiscus, by the Latines Capet, Aper, Porcus, Sus, Mus, that is, either a Goat, Boar, Pork, Sow or Mouse; by Rondeletius it is called Porcus Piscis, but Gesner doubts of it, thinking it rather to be a River Fish than of the Sea, or of the River Nile, which the Germans term the Round Beach, Belonius saith the Aper hath no scales, Rondeletius that it is full of scales, yet saith the Aper and the Capiscus almost come together as the same, or of a near relation as to Fishes; for the skin is hard and rough, which Workmen in Wood, use to polish and make smooth their work; it hath two fins on the back, the former fortified with pricks, the other more pliable; the gills not to be seen, having no appearance of such; the eyes rising out of the head, the Mouth small, in which are most strong and sharp teeth; the body is round almost, having some little flatness, the skin is lined Latise or crosswise.

There is another kind of this Swine Fish or Goat Fish, which hath also a hard and rough skin, or scaly, but not by incision lines; it hath a Nose long and obtuse, after the manner of a Sow, but wanteth Teeth; it hath many firm prickles or thorns in the fins of his belly, near the tail are three short and sharp ones. It hath its name from his snout, bristly fins, and grunting voice, of a Sow Fish of the Sea, or of the River Acheoosamine.

CIX. He beareth Argent, a Cephalus or Pollard, proper. This Fish I have briefly described before chap. 15. numb. 68. to which add this Figure and farther relation. It is of the Mugil species for shape of Body and number of Fins, having a great head, and full of round scales from the nose end to the tail fin, with several incision lines down the sides of it. The Germans call it a Heerakt. This is a Fish, that being frighted hideth its head, then thinketh all the rest of the body is safe.

CX. He beareth Sable, the head of an Attilus Argent. This is a Fish living in the River Padus, it is of the Sturghion kind, and grows to that bigness, that some of them weigh a Thousand Pounds; it with the Starry Antaceus, mentioned chap. 14. numb. 6. wants its under chop, three or four strings hanging down from the inside of the higher, the back is hooked, the Fin at the gills gristly, and so are the other on the lower part of the Back, Belly and Tail. The Italians call it Adena and Attina, the Germans call it the grosser sort of Pollen or Stozen.

CXI. He beareth Azure, a Sea Flea, Or. It is so called, not from its form and likeness to a Land Flea, but from its likeness in nature, in troubling and infecting the Fish in the Sea, as Fleas molest Animals on the Earth. It hath a human ridiculous Face like that of an Ape, the other parts are like to Locusts in a shell or crust, having many incisions; the Germans call this a Heerflohe.

CXII. He beareth Argent, a Lock or Tuft of brown hair. Born by the name of Harvile.

CXIII. He beareth Sable, a Combe Argent, on a Lock of Golden Hair. This Coat of old pertained to Sir Le Bloud Kr. one of the order of King Arthur's round Table.

G. 3 Combs O. the Locks A. belongs to Combare.

CXIV. He beareth Argent, an Heart (or Hans heart) couped in the Alein, or having a part of the Alein; but the most skillful Artist term this, an Heart, couped in the Coronary or Crown Alein, or cut through the Master, or Heart Alein.

Painted per Cheveron A. and S. two such Hearts counterchanged. Is born by Creby.

CXV. He beareth Azure, a Hans face, Hair pendant, Beard forked, having three Sun Beames issuing from each side his head, proper. Born by the name of Zur Sunberg.

On a Torce or Wreath of his colours A. and B. such a head is the Crest of the Lord Hilton.

CXVI. He beareth Azure, a Hans head couped below the shoulders, with a Fillet about his Temple, Clothed and Garnished Or, Winged on the shoulders, Argent. Born by the name of Messenger. This is by some termed Mercurys head couped at the shoulders, his Temples filleted, and thus it is coynd on the old Roman Money, where my Author in his note upon the Coyns, call him Mercury the Minister of the Gods, and young Priest of the People. See Jacobus Gutherius de Veteri Jure Pontifico Romæ, pag. 222.

CXVII. He beareth Gules, two Arms issuant out of Base bowed, the Sleeves Azure, Turned up Argent, Hands holding of a Roman Priests Lamp or Torch, Or: Flamant proper. Born by the name of Stall. This kind of burning light, the Romans called a facula, or Facul, with which the grave Matrons and relig. Virgins, were wont to stand about the Alter to sacrifice to the honor of Augustus. These were stamped upon the Roman Coyn, as Symbols of the Priests Function, and the Divinity of Augustus: see the Roman Coyns in forth by Jo. Hemelarius, pag. 17. tgh. 4. 5.

In the Dexter chief of this square, is a certain form of Cross, (or Flower if I may so call it) which I have very often found in Seals fixed to old Deeds, some made of plain Leaves, others with Leaves and pointles, others again with Branches only, in cross, some with a Ball between them, and others again having pointles or other Flower on stalks set between the branches as in this Example, which blazon thus. He beareth Gules, a Roundlet between four Palm Branches in cross, (or 4 branches in cross fixed to a Ball) Argent, between each a Pointle, Or. This was the Seal of Ric. le Waleys to a Deed of Sd. and of Agnes the Relict of Jo. de Derby of Chester, in Ed. 1. time with diverse more, both Men and Women.

[]

In the Sinister chief of this square is set down the ancient form and fashion of a Lilly, or flower de lis, as it was drawn in those days and engraven on Seals, as I have seen many; and according to our way of blazoning may be termed thus, a Lilly, or flower de lis, bloomed or open in the top, and couped in the bottom with Grass threeds proceeding from between the Leaves of the Flower: And was the Seal of Andrew the Son of Ralph a Priest, who lived in the time of King Jo. and H. 2. Phillip de Orreby being then Justice of Chester.

CXVIII. He beareth Argent, two Arms issuant out of Base bowed, and crossing at the Wrist, Sleeves Gules, turnings up Or: the Hands holding each a Laurell Leaf, Vert. Born by the name of Lenfengere.

Out of a Coronet O. 2 such Arms crossed, Sleeves quarterly O. and S. turn up's A. hands holding each a Peacocks tail. Is the Crest of the Earl of Anhalt in Germany.

CXIX. He beareth Sable, a Flame of Fire out of Base, with an Hand issuant therefrom, proper. This is one manner of blazon; but the best is thus, an Hand erected out of a Flame, issuant out of base; or a Hand in a Flame of Fire issuant from the base. Born by the name of Flamain.

CXX. He beareth Gules, a Hans Leg couped, in the Thigh reversed, the Knee bowed, and the Foot in the Ankle cut off, or removed, Argent. Born by the name of Slomman. Some again gave it a more larger blazon, saying a Leg couped reversed, the Knee imbowed, and foot dislocated, or removed. Others a Leg in fesse, the Thigh couped and reverted, and the foot serrated & removed: this term (remove) is used to any thing that being whole, is either cut off, slipped down, or removed a little lower then it should be, as in lib. 1. chap. 6. numb. 28 where the thing is not parted from; but set together at the extremity, or last partings.

CXXI. He beareth Sable, a Womans head, three quarters faced, couped, in the Neck (or a Womans head decollated, or cut off) dressed, adorned, or attired with a plain turn-up Quois, Argent. This is born by the name of Doll.

S. 3 such proper, born by the name of Shae or Shae. The like I find quartered by Holland of Clifton in the County of Lancaster, and Sutton in the said county: which Heads I find drawn of old several ways, sometime only with curled hair, others with a quoise as this is, and others as chap. 17. numb. 32. and this next example following.

CXXII. He beareth Azure, a Womans head three quarters faced, couped in the shoulders proper, attired with a Mail hood, the ninder part Infula ways Argent, fretted Sable. Is born by the name of Orkell. This hath anciently been blazoned a three cornered hood, with a Net work Caul, or Head tire.

PPP

The

The like was the old Crest of Sir Richard Langton Baron of Newton, and Lord of Walton in la Dale in the county of Lancaster; viz. The Face proper, the Hood O. Fretted S.

CXXIII. He beareth Vert, three Hand conjoynd hand in hand, proper. This is the Impression of the Coyn set forth in the time of Valerianus, Gallienus and Salomonus, three Cæsars at once; who in Memory of their co-partnership in the Empire, caused three naked Hands thus to be joynd with this inscription, CONCORDIA TRIUM AUGUSTORUM: which Johannes Heme-larius in his note upon the ancient Roman Coyn, terms three Right hands in one knot, fitted together.

3 such like A. in a Field G. is born by Mainane.

CXXIV. He beareth Azure, a Womans head issuant out of Base proper, attired with a knot of Ribbons on her Fore-head, and a Coronet Settee: the top of the Head, and hinder part set with the like Ribbons; a Neck-lace of Ruby, cloathed Gules Garnished Or. Born by the name of Folly. This kind of Hood or Head attire called a Coronet or Coronet, is that part of it as covers the Head, and by doubling it makes it stand at a great height both above and besides the Face; but the Settee is another dress entire from the Coronet, which hangs down from the top of the head below the breasts, and is generally laced on both sides and ends, or else all wrought with Needle-work, and edged with the same: This is a great fashion amongk English Gallants now, 1686. Some draw the Settees so as that part which compasses the Head to the Ears, shall stand up in Ruffs, as numb. 126. Sometimes with a corner Peak upon the top of the head, as this figure in numb. 124. Sometime standing out in the sides, and falling in the middle, as the example numb. 127. and sometimes standing round the head, and to the ears plain, or a little crisped, for 8 10 or 12 inches high, the higher the more Gallant.

CXXV. He beareth an Heart between the small of a *Man*s two Legs, with the Hands erect & conjoynd to them in the knee place, proper: in a Field Gules. Such a bearing as this is in the Parish Church of Okeham in the County of Rutland, in the Nave of the said Church, but whose Coat it is I find not. The Legs and Hands to be thus connected or joynd together is preternatural, yet in Arms it is no strange thing; seeing I have in former examples, cap. 11. 7. and 13. 1. and 18. 107. given Coats of such like bearings, as Legs and Wings in Fowl, which is one and the same as Legs and Hands in Men. Some blazon it a *Man*s heart between his Legs, with hand erect connected.

CXXVI. He beareth Gules, the Model of a Roman Woman, seated in the Base, Pendants in her Ears, Pearls or Neck-lace about her Neck, with a Ruffie, or Ruff-like Duoif on her head, and a Ribbon behind Argent. This I call a Roman Model, because after this manner they were used, & our stone Cutters do at this day cut the form of Men & Womens face, with a part of the Breast; either with a Mantle, Scarf, or Roman dress, without Arms, & so set it on a Basis, or Monumental Pillar, for sight or shew; as may be seen in many Models of the Romans, & Monument of the dead erected in our Churches.

[]

CXXVII. He beareth Argent, a Womans face, her Fore-head adorne with a knot of diverse coloured Ribbons, the Head with a Ruffie Duoif, set in Corners, and the like Ribbons behind the Head. This is a Fashion-mongers head, tricked and trimmed up according to the Mode of these times, wherein I am writing of it: And in my judgment were a fit Coat for such Semblers, as are skil'd in inventions; but what do I talk of Arms to such, by reason they will be shortly old, and therefore not to be endured by them, whose brains are always upon new devises and inventions! but all are brought again from the old, for there is no new thing under the Sun, for what is now hath been formerly.

CXXVIII. In this quarter I shall present you with two pair of hands, conjoynd they are not, but in a Salter form, and in as civil and modest, comely & devout a posture, as possibly can be born: those pair in chief you may blazon thus. He beareth Sable, two Hands reversed Salter ways, the Dexter surmounting Argent. These Hand supposing them joynd to the Arms, and thus crossed before the whole Body, will fall to be about the top of the belly under the breast, which is the place where both Maids, and modest Women, and Wives, usually bear their hands, and generally (nay universally) in this same posture; and therefore is a fit Coat, or Cognizance, for the name of Gravity or Modesty.

Them in Base you may blazon thus: He beareth Azure, two Hands in Salter, the Dexter surmounting Argent. These Hands (also as I said before) supposing them to be joynd to the Arms, and thus crossed their place of rest would be then just before the breast, in which place & posture, they are the emblem of Meekness, & Piety. And when gentle poverty the mother of Humility hath raised somewhat Money, and gotten to the honor of being that, which the World calls a Gentleman, this will be a noble Coat well befitting the name.

CXXIX. He beareth Vert, a Bustiee proper. This is a very strange kind of Creature much after the form of an Ape, and of a brown dusky colour, with a whitish Belly, and the inside of his Legs, and Jaws: with a white circle round the Eyes, which is over the Eyes black, as if a peak came down the top of the Nose; the Nostrils & all about the higher Chap is whitish. It hath a short Nose, round Ears, a thin Body, Feet like hands of a Man, with such Nails, and Table lines in the Palms, a very long tail, much too long for the bigness of the Body, and is like a Cat, which he draweth on the ground: This was shewed as a Raritie (with the next following) in our City of Chester at Midsummer, 1687. and was said to be brought from the Country of the Great MOGUL: it was so gentle that it might be managed by a young child.

CXXX. He beareth Gules, an Anti-beast proper. This Creature was bred in the West-Indies, and by his shape and proportion to be of the like quality to our Pe-rets here in England; for it is of a long slender thin Body, no long Legs, but of a middle Station, the Feet are divided into short Toes, with long sharp Claws before, & on a Paw, which stands out from the Foot a great length; the Claws behind behind are not so long: the Head is long, especially from the Eyes to the Nose, which turns up at the end like a Swins: the whole form of the Head resembles a Fox, save in the Ears which are round and peld like a Rats; the Tail is about thrice the length of the Body and is like a Cats, roade with a light grey and a black grey; the Head and Body is grey or Badger colour, the Belly Throat, and inner part of the Thighs is white. It is scarce so tall as a Cat, but longer bodied, and very Gentle and Tame.

There is a Creature called an Ant-Bear, described before in chap 10. numb. 51. but whether it be this there ment, I cannot rightly Judg.

Terms of Herauldry and Blazon, in these three last Chapters of this Book; with the Places Cited where Explained.

A

Alternately, 18. 19.
Avesant, 17. 37. Attired, 17. 32.
Anatomy, 17. 84. Assaulting, 19. 61.
Adorned, 17. 16. 69. 13. 12.
Ascendant, 18. 4.
Annotated, 19. 6. 12. 17. 18.
Aspect, 19. 61. 67. 68. 93.
Arras-wise, 18. 92.

B

Beard, 17. 4. Biparted, 18. 141.
Bitting the Tail, 19. 3. & 18. 102.
Bowed, 19. 88. 117. 118. 120.
Butory, 19. 88. 94.
Bowed Imbowed, 19. 88.
Burning bush, 19. 35.

C

Crowned, 17. 14. & 19. 62.
Couped at the Shoulder, 17. 26. 9. 10.
Couped under the Shoulder, 17. 26. 33.
Couped, 19. 30. 32. 45.
Crimed, 17. 30. 31. 10.
Clothed, 17. 31. 72. Corps, 17. 68.
Contrary Imbowed, 18. 55. 56. & 19. 11.
Conjoyned, 18. 43. 44. & 19. 18. 28.
40. 94. 89. 104.
Contrary posed, 18. 45. (14.
Clofe Couped, 19. 7. Crawling, 19. 8.
Cripping, 19. 8. 14. Complexed, 19. 18.
Contrary bowed, 19. 11. 49. 31.
Current, 19. 28. 72. 75. 76.
Counter-Imbowed, 19. 31. 40. 43.
Counter Raguled, 19. 45.
Counter Flory, 19. 44.
Contrary Fleeted, 19. 48. 73.
Counterposed, 19. 58. 73.
Contrary, 19. 58. 59.
Counter-Current, 19. 75.
Counter-Pointed, 19. 77.
Counter-Changed, 10. 80. 82.

Couchant, 19. 70. Converted, 19. 79.
Counter-Charged, 19. 77.
Curved Recurved, 19. 88.
Complicated, 19. 93.
Corrected, 19. 97. Connected, 19. 125.
Collaterally Disposed, 19. 97.
Contrary Imbowed, 18. 51.

D

Dismembred, 17. 78. Dorsed, 17. 37.
Dischevelled, 17. 31. 30.
Declar'd, 17. 8. 3.
Dislocated, 19. 120. 121.
Double Queved, 18. 74.
Distilling, 17. 53.
Double Named, 19. 10. & 18. 106.
Dorse en dorse, 19. 40.
Debrused, 19. 49. 101.
Dejected Imbowed, 19. 70.
Demy, 19. 74. 75. Debased, 19. 76.
Displaid, 19. 95. Descending, 19. 96.
Dexter side, 19. 37. 38. 41. 50.
Disposed, 19. 97.

E

Environed, 17. 10. 11. 12.
Entended, 17. 39. & 19. 4. 10. 13. 74.
Entangled, see Intangled.
Embowed, 19. 18. 70. Erazed, 19. 48.
Entwisted, 19. 6. 17.
Elevated, 19. 8. 18. 21.
Embracing, 19. 18. Expanded, 19. 21.
Embowed contrary, 19. 31.
Endorsed, 19. 73. 77. 98. 28.
Erected, 19. 73. 77. 98. 90. 103.
Erected endorsed, 19. 89.
Embowed debrused, 19. 90. 69.
Embowed dejected, 19. 99.
Encountering, 19. 96.
Enwrapped, 18. 62. 63. 64.

F

Front, Frontall, 17. 76. 12.

[]

Fleeted, 18. 137. 141. & 19. 48.
Flotant, 18. 33. 121. 123.
Fouldage, 17. 35. Fillet, 17. 9.
Faced or Lyned, 17. 24.
Face, 17. 3. 7. 10. 11.
Fretted, 19. 3. 6. 7. Folio'd, 19. 33.
Fruited, 19. 29. 34. Flory, 19. 44.
Flory counter Flory, ibid.
Fleeted reflected, 19. 48.
Full aspect, 19. 61. 67. 68.
Fretted open, 19. 98.
Flamant, Flaming, 19. 117. 119.
Facula, Facul, 19. 117.
Flying, 18. 92. 93.

G

Garnished, 17. 14. Garment, 17. 19.
Gradually, 18. 55. 56. Glory, 17. 19.
Gliding, 19. 8. Grove, 19. 36.
Gorged, 19. 63. Gripping, 19. 74.

H

Head, 17. 3. 7. 10. 11.
Hand in Hand, 17. 50.
Holding, 17. 76. 63. 65.
Honored, 19. 62. Horned, 17. 17.
Horns tipt, or tipt, 19. 79. 83.

I

Imbrauthered, 17. 13. Image, 17. 48.
Indians head, 17. 75.
Imbowed, 18. 55. 56. see Embowed.
Interposing, 18. 56. & 19. 8.
Intangled, 19. 3. Incisioned, 19. 15.
Intricately knotted, 19. 9.
Inverted, 19. 16. Irradicated, 19. 29.
Invironed, 19. 30.
Imbowed to the sinister, 19. 37. 38.
Issuant, Issuing, 19. 43. 74. 97. 117.
In his Pride, 19. 68.
Incerfed, 19. 60. Ire, 19. 60.
In point, 19. 96. & 18. 101.
Interchangeably posed, 19. 101.

K Knit together , 19. 3.		Quadrant , Quadrangle , 18. 94. Queve , Queved , 18. 74.	Semicircle , 19. 88. Sans , 18. 97. Surgeant , 19. 92. & 18. 86. Sinister , 18. 78. 97. Statant , Standing , 18. 64.
L Lined , 17. 13. 24.		R Reverant , Reverted , 18. 33. & 19. Radiant , 17. 9. (18. 120.) Radiant Scintillations , 17. 19. Reversed , 18. 17. 101. & 19. 13. 69. 70. Reversed Regardant , 19. 13. (75. 120.) Recurvant , 18. 95. Retorted , 19. 7. Reflected , 19. 48. 77. 88. Respectant , Respecting , 19. 2. 7. 10. Reguled , 19. 45. (11. & 18. 101.) Reguled , Counter-Reguled , 19. 45. Ragged faves , 19. 46. Rampant , 19. 62. Rising , 19. 93. & 18. 86. Rosant , 19. 93. Recurved , 19. 88. Respecting in Triangle , 19. 96. Removed , 19. 120.	T Torse , 17. 10. 11. 12. & 19. 44. Turning down , 18. 129. 133. Triparted , 17. 18. & 19. 77. Transverse , 17. 39. Triangle , 17. 48. Turned up , 17. 22. Trunked , 17. 3. Tergiant , 18. 86. 95. Tyed , 19. 40. Twisted , 19. 4. 6. 12. Torqued , 19. 6. 12. True Love knot , 19. 7. 9. 10. Torqued imbowed , 19. 70. Triant aspect , 19. 93. Trien , 19. 96. Teste a la queue , 19. 101. Tricorporated , 19. 104. Tip. or Tips of Horns , 19. 79. 83.
M Maine Dexter , 17. 38. Mantle , 17. 72. Maine Sinister , 17. 37. Maidens Head , 17. 29. 30. 31. Metamorphosed , 17. 88. 89. 90. Moors head , 17. 9. Moulted up , 19. 29. Mises Burning lusb , 19. 35.
N Negro's head , 17. 9. Najant , 19. 99. Nored , 19. 9. 10. Nored Single, or Double , 19. 10. Nothered , 18. 61. 62. 63.		S Soul , 17. 92. Skeleton , 17. 84. Shrouded , 17. 68. 83. Sarazens head , 17. 10. Shining , Splendant circles , 17. 19. Swadling or Swadle band , 17. 72. Subverted , 18. 17. Supporting , 17. 62. Starved Tree , 19. 32. (76) Single Nored , 19. 10. Shade , 19. 36. Serrated , 19. 30. 120. & 18. 84. Surmounting , 19. 37. 38. 64. 97. 101. Slipped , 19. 47. 48. (103.) Sejant , 19. 67. 68. Sedant , ibid : Snarling , 19. 61. Saliant , 19. 76.	V Vested , 17. 25. Vailed , ibid . Vulned , 17. 54. 56. Variouly appearing , 19. 5. Volant , 19. 25. Vertant , 19. 40.
P Pendant , 18. 50. 51. & 17. 25. 30. Point in Point , 17. 48. Perawick , 18. 117. 118. Piramed-wise , 19. 29. 30. Pomitted , 19. 94. Pride , ib : 68. Passant , 19. 60. Posed , ib : 101. Pendant , 19. 94.			W Wildman , 17. 10. & 17. 76. Woodman , 17. 16. 76. Wreath , 19. 44. Wreathed , 19. 24. Wreathed inter se, or one in another , 19. Wreath , 17. 10. Wood , 19. 36. (7.) Wrapped , 19. 76.
Q Quadratarted , 19. 77.

Some Terms formerly omitted in their Blazonings, are here further Explained.

Alternately, Alternatively, time for time, or one after another, or one thing between another.

Counterposed, set together, or one to the other, or against one another.

Contrary posed, set contrary to its own standing or right position, or contrary to one another.

Counter or Contrary pointed, as on point of a thing set contrary to another, or past one another in their points: one point of a Sword set contrary to the other.

Counter-opposite, things set contrary one to another.

Counterchanged, or contrary changed, one colour set contrary to another, as in things that joyn not.

Counter-coloured, colours set interchangably one after another.

Collaterally disposed, when things are set side to side, so as to fight one stands before another.

Coerected, set up together, or by the side of one another.

Coambulant, walking together, or one by the side of another.

Conspicuous, Conspitiant, that is seen, or so set that it may be seen.

Coequal, things set equally together, so as they may be supposed to be, or are visibly seen.

Compligate, fouled together, or let down.

Circumflerant, bent, or bowed round, or about.

Curvant, bowed or bended.

Curved Recurved, bending of a thing one way, then another, like a Roman S.

Colefant, sitting together.

Connected,

Connected, Conjoyned, things set together, joyned, made as one, see Incorporated.

Dejected, cast down, laid side-ways, turned downwards.

Dilibered, put or set asunder.

Dolled, things turned one from another, see Endorsed.

Desperant, Despiciant, a thing looing downwards.

Dressed, one thing laid upon, or over another.

Dual, two, a pair or couple of things.

Dexter, to the Dexter, is a going or turning to the Dexter side.

Erected, set upright, or upwards.

Ejected, cast out.

Enter, between, as a thing to be between three or four other things.

Endorsed, things set back to back, or one from another.

Entertaced, Fretted, Braced, Interwoven by several collings of one another: Imbraced.

Fretted, things crossing and lying under and over with one another.

Fretted open, or at a distance, when they lye not close together, but so far off as may be seen between.

Flotant, flying abroad, as a thing blown with the Wind.

Fleatant, Bowed or Bended.

Fleat reflected, Bended and bended again another way.

Inberted, a thing turned inward, rowled in, see Involvent.

Introversion, a turning inwards.

Inversion, a turning inside out, or upside down, see Subverted.

Involvent, a wrapping or folding in of a thing. Involved, folded in.

Incurvant, a bending down of a thing.

Incopozated, made one, joyned to the same Body, see Connected.

Interposed, set between, or coming between one another.

Iradicated, rooted up, or pulled up by the root.

Gain a Gain Ambulant, Hand in Hand walking together.

Opposite side, on the contrary side, or one contrary to the side of another.

Oblique, Obliquely, side long or Eschew.

Parted, divided in the middle, or according to the number of divisions.

Plated in true Love, tyed in a Fretted knot where they go over and under one another.

Revertant, Reverted, a thing turned back to what it was turned before, see Uertant.

Retrogated, a thing going or turned backwards, or to have the back to fight only.

Respectant, things looking one another in the face, or looking back again.

Respicient, a looking back, looking to the sinister side, see Regardant.

[]

Reclinant, to bow or bend backwards.

Recurved, turned contrary to another turn before, turned again, see Curved.

Sinister, to the sinister, is a going or turning to the sinister side.

Subverted, turned downwards, or over turned.

Succedant, succeeding, following one another.

Swallowing, or Devouring, eating up of a thing.

Transposed, a thing set contrary to its right way, whether upwards or downwards.

Transluent, flowing from or behind a thing.

Transverse the Fesse, over cross the Eschochion.

Trien of &c. three such or such things.

Urbant, Urted, turned or bowed upwards.

Uertant, turned.

Uertant revertant, turned and returned, like a Roman S, see Fleatet.

The Signification of the parts of Mans Body, used in Armory.

A R M, is signified Labour & Industry; in as much as that part of the Body is ordained for working having for that purpose fortified it with strong Arteries, Nerves, Muscles, and Sinews: Yet that no Man should rely on his own, or any other Mans power or industry too much, God hath forbidden us to trust to the Arm of Flesh.

Hand Grippd, signifies an offer for Revenge for some notable injury done to the person or fame of the first bearer: three Hands grippd signifies a treble revenge, but see more of the Hand, after numb. 41.

Hand open, signifies bounty liberality, and free heartedness ready and willing to assist in what lyeth in him, according to that of David, Psal. 104. 28. Thou openest thy Hand and fillest with thy Blessings: where freeness of Hand is, there is a Blessing.

Hand, signifies power, might, and assistance: For God said to Moses is my Hand shortned? as much as to say, am not I as able to save, deliver, and protect from danger now, as ever I did, Numb. 11. 23. The Hand is the pledg of Friendship and Fidelity, which was in ancient times confirmed by shaking of Hands, 2. Kings 10. 15.

Sometime the Hand signifies Vengeance and the destruction and overthrow of the enemy, as Exod. 14. 30. 31. And Israel saw the Egyptians dead on the Sea bank, and the great Hand which the Lord had shewed upon them: signifying thereby the great punishment he laid on them for their sins.

Right Hand, signifies the right of succession, the Son of the Father, the Glory of the House and Family: also is the Emblem of Merrit and Strength, according to the saying of the great King. He will send me help and deliverance by the saving strength of his right Hand, Psal. 20. 6. & 89. 21.

Left

Left Hand, signifies a wicked noughty and rebellious Creature, a Reprobate; a Cast away, a Companion of Devils, Matt. 25. 33.

Finger, signifieth power, as Exod. 8. 19. being a part of the Hand by which it is strengthened, and enabled to work, Luke 11. 20.

Face, is the Emblem of Audacity and Boldness, Manhood and Courage, Isa. 50. 7. one that dare shew himself before the Face of his Enemy, without fear and terrour: whereas the hiding of the Face denotes fear and cowardize, horror and confusion, Rev. 6. 16. Sometimes it denoteth displeasure, Anger, and a forsaking of Friendship, as Psal. 30. 7. Thou hid thy Face, (was displeased, took no notice of me, kept from me as an Enemy) and I was troubled.

Eye, is an Emblem of vigilency, care and watchfulness; also of Providence and protection, Psal. 33. 18. Matt. 6. 22. Direction and Instruction, Psal. 32. 8. as being the instrument of sight, and light of the Body, Matt. 6. 22.

Head, signifieth Rule, and Authority: a Supremacy over People Nations and Tongues, Deut. 28. 13. 44. I will make thee the Head (chief in Power, the Governour and Ruler) and not the Tail: (the last, or least of People) for as the Head is the highest of the Members, so it denotes a Government in the person, be it either in Church, State, or Family. Psal. 18. 43. Ephe. 5. 23.

Bald Head, or uncovered; is now in our days a sign of Servile-Reverence, Servitude and Subjection: but in ancient time was a token of freedom, and redemption from slavery; and to have the Head covered, to be in subjection, 1. Cor. 11. 4. 7. 15. The Romans made a publicke edict that the hair of Bondmen should be shaven in token of Bondage.

Covered Head, is a token of Worship and Honor in our modern times: though in former days was of slavery and subjection.

Body, is the receptacle and dwelling of the Holy Ghost, and therefore denotes purity of Life, & Holyness in conversation: and Righteousness to all, 1. Cor. 6. 19. So as it is not one Member but many, it signifieth a Union and Harmony in the visible Church, which in all ages and all parts of the World, make but one Body of which Jesus Christ is the Head.

Disembled Body, signifies Rents, Divisions, Sects and Schismes in either Church or State; and denotes such a one, who delight to sow the seed of dissension amongst Brethren: thereby to deprive them of that power and strength which in Unity they enjoyed.

Blood, are drops of Humor wherein Life consisteth: and is originally from Adam as well in the poor as rich, and therefore those who boast most of their generous Blood, are not to price it so high a rate, but rather excell others in Virtue, since they cannot surpass them in that humour which is a like in all. Blood is the Emblem of Life, Gene. 9. 4. Lev. 17. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. and therefore may signifie a person of Good disposition, whose virtues flourish most quick and lively, where iniquity inhabiteth.

[]

Tears, are the Emblem of sorrow and heaviness, Lamen. 1. 2. Est. 8. 3. as the wiping away of all tears, denotes a deliverance and freedom from misery and afflictions, to comfort joy and felicity, as Isai. 25. 8. Psal. 116. 8. Rev. 7. 17.

Hair long, is a token of Liberty and freedom; for Clodius (surnamed Commatius because of his long Hair) when he came to the Government of France, did institute a Law that the French-men should in common wear long Hair in token of liberty. So contrary to it, shaving (as you have heard before) off the Hair was a sign of Servile Bondage.

Skull, is the Emblem of Mortality, and therefore this kind of bearing may serve to put both the bearer and the serious spectators in mind of the frailty of their flesh, and of their last end.

Bones, as they are solid substances to sustain the Body: so they signifie a persons help and support, underproping and sustaining others, which without such help could not move from place to place.

Heart, is the Emblem of Manhood and courage, it being the Seat, Fountain, and Treasury of Life, from whence the whole Body receiveth the vital Spirits, which giveth thereto Vigor and Strength, enabling the same to perform every action: and as the Heart is long and not round; is to denote that all our thoughts and consultations ought to be seriously deliberated; and not hastily and unconsiderate, put in practice.

Heart Wounded, the Emblem of true Love: especially in that of our Saviour, who for love to his People, willingly gave his Heart to be pierced to the Death for our Demerits.

Dugs or Womens breasts, denoteth fruitfulness and fertility, seeing from them Men are nourished and brought up: sometime they signifie plentiful fields, vineyards, as Isa. 32. 12. They shall lament for the Tears, even the pleasant Fields, and for the fruitful Vines.

Leg, and Thigh, is a Member that denoteth strength, stability, expedition and obedience. It was a custom in ancient days that Servants and Children should put their hands under the thigh of him to whom they should be obliged by Oath. So did Abraham cause his Servant to do; and Jacob his Son Joseph. Gene. 23. 2. 3. and 47. 29.

Foot couped, or Leg couped; as it looseth all its former strength being cut off from the Body: so Man cut off from God, looseth all his Grace Power and Felicity, which are only preserved by Union with him, but United to the Body denotes celerity and quickness, is the Messenger of News.

Things

Things of most Note in these three last Chapters concerning the Bodies of Men and Women, with the Animal Parts, as also of some Omissions set down in the two last especially: as,

1. Terms of Art for the several things in the Internal parts of Mans Body, mentioned in the Folio's before the Figures set down in the Copper-Plate, S. 1.

Head, 17. fol. 379. 380.
Eyes, 17. fol. 380. 381.
Nose, 17. fol. 381.
Mouth, ibid.
Tongue, 17. fol. 382.
Throat, ibid.
Ears, 17. fol. 382. 383.
Breast, 17. fol. 383.
Lungs, ibid.
Heart, ibid.
Belly, 17. fol. 384.
Bowels, ibid.

Stomach, ibid.
Liver, ibid.
Gall, 17. fol. 385.
Spleen, ibid.
Kidneys, ibid.
Bladder, ibid.
Yard, ibid.
Cods, 17. fol. 386.
Stones, ibid.
Matrix, ibid.
Arje, ibid.
Arms, ibid.

Thighs, 17. fol. 387.

Senses as,

Feeling, 17. fol. 387.
Tasting, ibid.
Smelling, ibid.
Hearing, 17. fol. 388.
Seeing, ibid.
Generation, ibid.
Ease, or Rest, ibid.
Various Voices of Men, 17. fol. 389.

2. Terms of Art for the External parts of Mans Body: set down in the Numbers mentioned in the Copper-Plates or Section immediately following: as,

Heads, and Faces of Men, 17. 7.
Eyes, Nose, Mouth, Ears, ibid.
Hair and its colours, 17. 2.
False Hair how worn, 17. 1. 2.
Sorts of Perawicks, 18. 118.
Terms of Perawick-makers, ibid.
Beards fashions, 17. 4.

Arms and Hands, 17. 41.
Actions of the Hand, 17. 41.
Thighs, Legs, Feet, 17. 57.
Deformity of Legs, Feet, 17. 58.
Body, as Breast, Belly, 17. 78.
Bones in the Body, 17. 93. with the
Head, 17. 93.

Trunk, 17. 93.
Arms, 17. 93.
Thighs, 17. 93.
Legs, 17. 93.
Feet, 17. 93.
Number of Bones, 17. 93.
Conjunction of Bones, 17. 93.

Terms for all the Veins, Muscles, Arteries in the Body: as,

Muscles, 17. 93.
Veins, ibid.

Veins for Bleeding, ibid.
Arteries, ibid.

Nerves or Sinews, ibid.

Terms for the Ages of Men and Women, 17. 73.

Men and Womens Heads how termed according to the Attire, 17. 14. to 22. 30. 31.

Sorts of Maids, 17. 73.

Sorts of Wittals and Cocolds, 17. 17.

The outward Diseases of the Body, 17. 93.

The inward Diseases of the Body, ibid.

The Emblems of the Animal Faculties, 17. 92. as,

Mind, 17. 92.
Will, ibid.
Fancy, ibid.
Memory, ibid.

Senses, ibid.
Passion of the Mind, ibid.
Vital Faculties, ibid.
Natural Faculties, ibid.

Humors, 17. 93.
Complexions, ibid.
Outward Shapes of the Body, ibid.
Of Sleep, 17. 68. 86.

Men Metamorphosed, 17. 88. 89. 90.

Women Metamorphosed, 17. 82.

Men punished in Hell, 17. 87.

Strange and Unnatural conjunctions, 17. 91. & 18. 134. 135.

Palmerstry or Chyrurgancy and the Lines of the Hand, 17. 94.

Several ways by which Fortunes are told, ibid.

Emblems of Time and part of Time, 17. 186. as,

Minutes, 17. 86.
Hours, ibid.
Days, ibid.

Night, ibid.
Months, ibid.
Year, ibid.

Time, ibid.
Eternity, ibid.

The

The description of the four Quarters of the Year 17. 87.

The Emblems of the Destinies of Man in his Life, as Sleep, 17. 16.

Silence, ibid.

Fate, ibid.

Fortune, ibid.

Honor, ibid.

Fame, ibid.

Destiny, ibid.

Providence, ibid.

Victory, ibid.

The Anatomy or Scalliton of a Man, 17. 84. 85. 93.

Several sorts of Escarbuncles, 18. 37. 38. 39.

An Alphabet or Explanation of the Terms of Art used by Anatomists at the end of the 17. Chapter.

The Emblem of the Soul, 17. 92.

Difference of Fruitage, Flowerage, Fouldage, 17. 35.

Things mentioned in Chap. 19. under the following Numbers.

Serpents and Flyes.

Adders, numb. 2. 3.

Crested Cocatrice Serpent, numb. 6.

Beetle, numb. 19.

Green-Worm, 15. 16. 26.

Echidna, numb. 18.

Caduceus, numb. 1. 18.

Serpents, numb. 2. 3. 5. 7. 13.

Snakes, 4. 11. 13. 14.

Scarab, 19. 28.

Moth, 20.

Butterfly, 20.

Stag-Beetle, 21. 24. 25. 27.

Virgin Viper, 18.

Crab-Mouth Scarab, or Fly, 28.

Watch, 28.

Horned Beetle, or Devils Cow, 19. 22.

Trees and Plants, as Tree, 33. 34.

Box, 30.

Moses Bulb, 35.

Stocks, 45. 10. 47.

Grass, 37. 39.

Fascicul or Fascicle of Grass, 41.

Spires of Grass, 43. 44.

Leaves, 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 57. 58.

Sage, 38.

Spring, 49. 5.

Water Sprouts, 28.

Flowers, 52. to 58.

Callumbines, 50.

Garland, 52.

Blew bottle, 53.

Rose Camphir, 54.

Saffron Flower, 55.

Cypress, 29.

Palm, 31.

Woods, 36.

Starved Tree, 32.

Trefoile, 58. 59.

Pink, 53.

Dulap, 53.

Chiquet, 54.

Manleopard, 63.

Flower de lis, 44.

Everlasting Pea Flower, 56.

Pease, 56.

Fish, as

Seal, 83.

Fork or Puffin-fish, 90.

Sea Testicle, 91.

Urtica. Sea Nettle, ibid.

Prick-like Sea fish, ibid.

Purple Sea fish, ibid.

Antacaenus, 92.

Galeus or Dog-fish, 99.

Mallet Dog-fish, 100.

Sea-Pike. Horn-Pike, 102. (Needle ib.)

Trouts or Morts, 101. 103. 104.

Blow fish or Blower, 105.

Chalbot, 105. Adder Pike, 105.

Netter. Sharpling, 106.

Sea Hen fish, 107.

Brittish Orbe-fish, 108.

Swine-fish, ibid.

Bar-fish, ibid.

Som-fish, ibid.

Cephalus. Pollard, 109.

Muzil, ibid.

Attilus, Sturgeon, 110.

Starry Antacaenus, ibid.

Adena, Attina, Grosser Hausen, ibid.

Steven, ibid.

Sea-Fly. Meerestlohe, 111.

Beasts in several postures.

Spaniel, 16.

Lion, 61.

Manlion, 62.

Manleopard, 63.

(Paws, 73. 89.

Sarcelled, 64.

Mantiger off several (Shapes, 83.

Wolfe, 66.

Amphisben Scorpion, 69.

Wivern, 70.

Wolfe, 74. 76.

Grey-Hounds, 75.

Tragoponades, 79.

Oppinicus horned, 79.

Griffin, 80.

Goat, 82.

Banicon, 88.

Bufliee, 129.

Stork, 93.

Cherubs Wings, 94. 98.

Pigeons, 96.

Goose, 72.

Lion-Eagle, 95.

Swans, 97. 98.

Anti-Bear, 130.

Fowl.

Men and Women.

Hair, 19. 112. 113. & 18. 117. 118.

& 17. 1. 2.

Mans Face, & Heads, 115. 116. & 18.

134. 135. & 17. 3. to 8.

Arms & Hands, 117. 118. 119. 123.

125. 128. & 18. 137. to 140. &

17. 37. to 51.

Legs and Feet, 120. 125. & 18. 141.

& 17. 57. to 60.

Heart, 114. 125. & 17. 54. 55. 56.

Womens Faces & Heads of divers sabi-ons, 121. 122. 124. 126. 127. & 18.

119. to 133.

Naked Men, 66. & 18. 144. 145. &

17. 73. to 82.

Demy Men, Women, chap. 18. 142. 143.

146. 147. & 17. 62. to 67.

GLORIA DEO PATRI DATUR.

THE THIRD BOOK
OF THE ACADEMY
OF
ARMORY and BLAZON.

THE THIRD BOOK
OF THE ACADEMIA
OF ARISTOTELIS

T O
The Right Honorable
T H O M A S S A V A G E,

Earl Rivers, Viscount Colchester, and Rock Savage; and Baron Darcy of Chich.

A N D

To the Right Worshipful Richard Savage, his Son and Heir apparent.

THough I cannot say I have exceeded others in what I have herein done, yet I may boldly affirm, that as yet none hath wrought to me; what after times may produce, I cannot tell, neither what measures they will then take, for Fancy and Invention rest in the Breasts of Ages; yet let me in the mean while be accepted into your Honours Family and Favour, and then I shall ever remain

Your most Humble, Dutiful and Observant Servant

Randle Holme.

C H A P. I.

THIS Third Book treateth of Coat Armours, which are formed of Artificial things, such as are Wrought or Invented by the Wit, Art, or Endeavours of Man, for the use and behoof of both Men and all living Animals.

But because in this part of my Labour I shall take occasion to Blazon several Coats by Precious Stones, and Planets, as in the former part I have done it by Metals and Colours, and for brevity sake often by Letters, which stand for such and such colours: I hold it not amiss in this place to give the Reader a Table of the said Stones and Planets together, with the Marks or Characters by which they are severally expressed, and also what Metals or Colours they signify.

Yet herewithal it is to be noted, That in the Blazoning of Coat-Armours with Precious Stones, it is to be used to none of Inferiour rank, but to the Nobility only; and the Planets to belong only to the Achievements of Emperours, Kings, and great Princes, such as exercise Sovereign Jurisdiction.

◉ Topaz	◉ Sol	Yellow
◐ Pearl	☾ Luna	White
◑ Ruby	♂ Mars	Red
♁ Saphyre	♃ Jupiter, Jove	Blew
◌ Diamond	♄ Saturn	Black

*

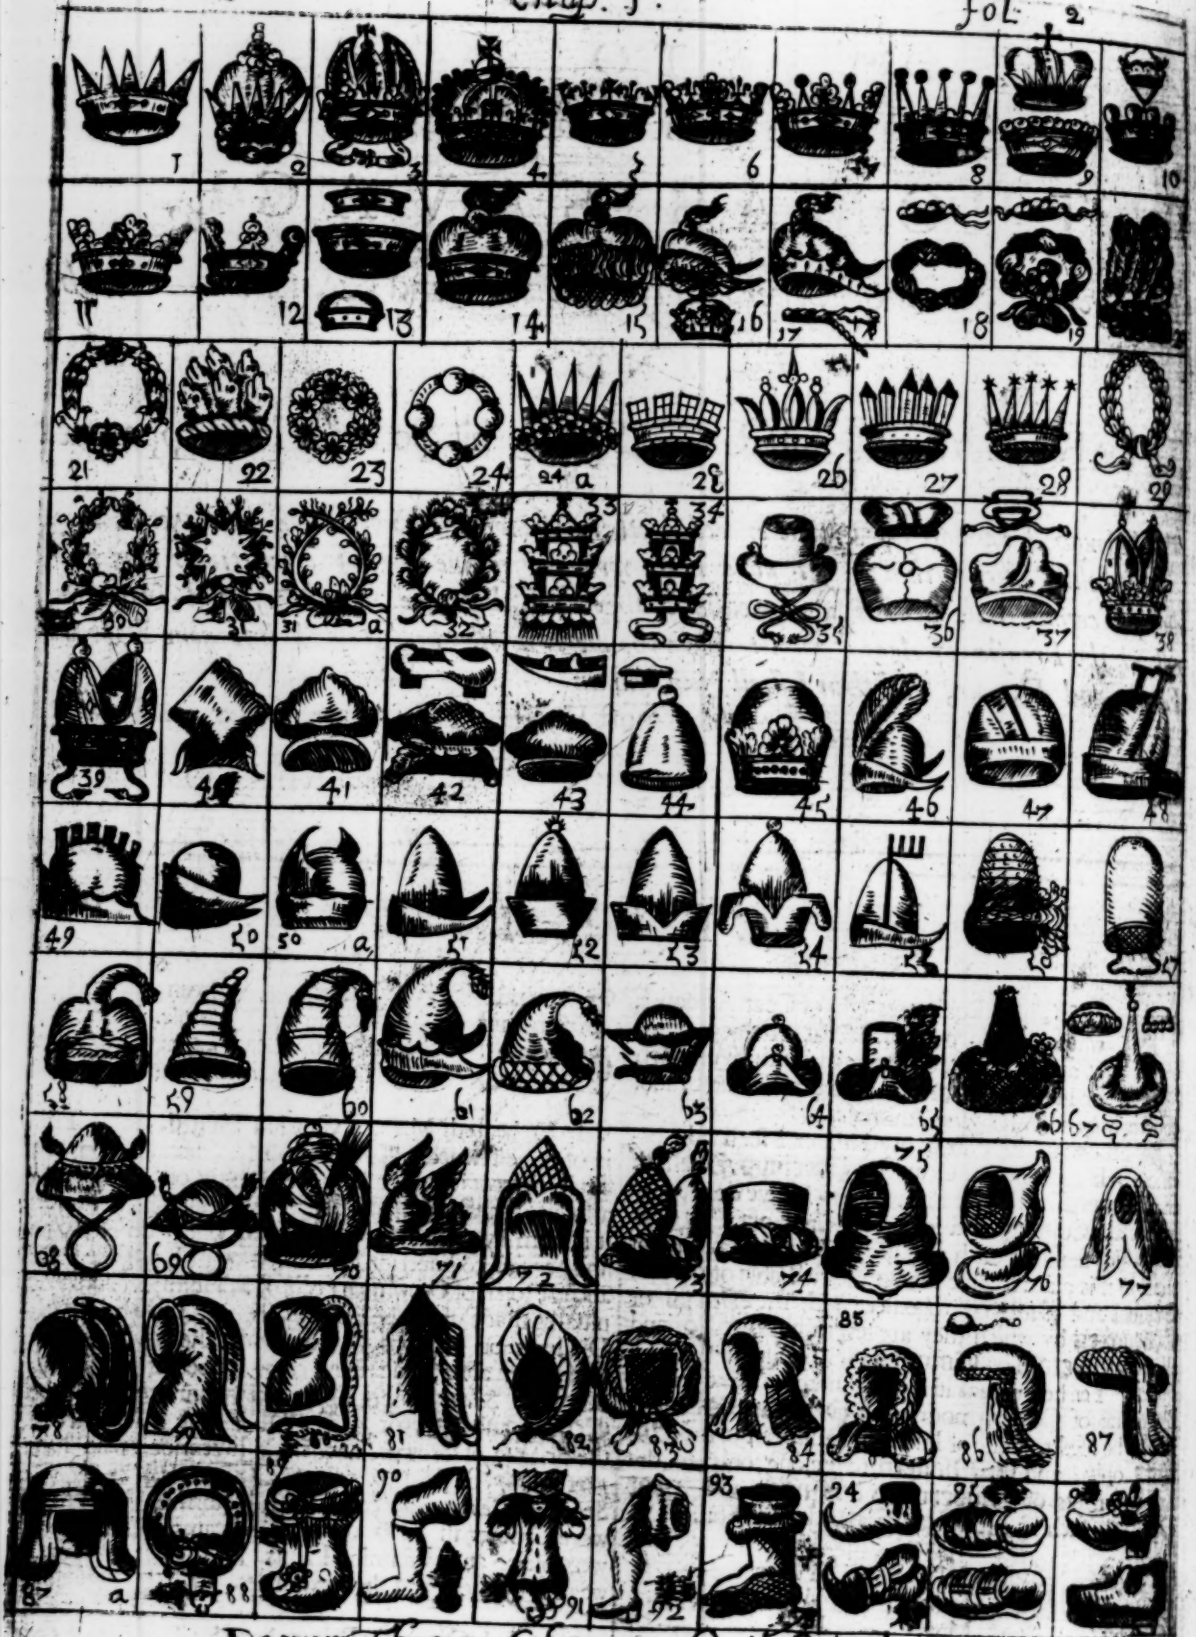

◉ Emerald	♀ Venus	Green
◐ Amethyst	☿ Mercury	Purple. Murrey
◑ Jacinth	♈ Dragons head	Tauney. Orange
◌ Sardonix	♏ Dragons tail	Sanguine. Blood

I. He beareth Mars, a Crown Regal, Sol. This is of some termed a Crown Spirall, because from the circles thereof it runs up into sharp points or Spires. It is also called a Crown Homager, because of latter times it is worn by petty Kings or Princes, which do Homage and Service to Superior Powers; though it was the most ancient form of Crown we read of in Histories, and was usually made of the best of Metals, ~~or~~ Gold beset with Diadems or precious Stones about the circle; from whence in after time they came to be termed Diademes. Selden in his Titles of Honour, terms this a Crown radiant, or a Royal Fillet Radiant, of the first use of Crowns, and their Invention, read him part 1. cap. 8. fol. 156. to 173. ~~Lace of Nobility~~, fol. 25. Sphere of Genry, lib. 3. fol. 41. In former times they wore Crowns in form of the Sun Beams, because they were Suns, and as flaming Lights, for the whole World was led by them and their examples.

2. 3 such Crowns in Pale ◉ born by Bely Maure, the last King of Britain.

A

B. a

Domini Thome Chapman Cuius Certe Amisabri

A Cross raguled and trunked between 3 such O. was worn by Caio, a Noble Man in Wales.

The great Duke of Florence in Italy, hath such a Crown Radiant, or pointed, with a Flower de lis in the front of it, set as an adornment to his Coat of Arms.

III. He beareth Saturn, a Crown Regal of Persia, with a Torse or Wreath about it, Luna and Venus. This is also termed for brevity a Crown of Persia, or Persian Crown, being such a kind of Crown as it is said Darius King of Persia wore on his head when he marched against Alexander the Great, and is in the Persian Language called a Cidaris; and is no other than the forelaid Crown Spiral set upon an Helmet Chased or wrought with Imbossed work, having a rowl of Silk about the bottom of it, as the manner of Diadems and Crowns were in those ancient days.

Such a Crown O. with a Cap G. a Banner on a Staff set upon it of the same, charged with a Cressant O. supported by an Armed Arm and Hand proper, is the Crest of Oppenheim.

B. 3 such Crowns is born by Van Rodenham.

III. He beareth Jupiter, a Crown Mitral Imperial, Sol, garnished and enriched with sundry precious Stones, proper. This is called an Emperors Crown, being composed both from the Sacerdotal and Regal covers of the head, the high rising Diadem of Kings, and the Priests Miter, and so partakes of both.

Such a Crown with two Penons out of it, double pointed B. charged with a Cross O. endorsed, is the crest of Van Pelsbach.

Parts of a Crown.

The Diadem, or Royal Fillet, is that part which compasseth the head, and is set with precious Stones.

The Fillets, are the two swellings on each side it.

The Rising, is the Flowers and Crosses, or what other work is raised up above the higher Fillet.

The Arches, are the Gold Bars turning Arch-wise from one side of the Crown, to the Flowers of the other, which Bars are set with precious Stones.

The Globe, is the round Ball or Globe, set on the top of the Arch.

The Cross Patee, which is fixed on the Globe, as an Emblem of Christianity.

The Precious Stones of all sorts, wherewith all the Gold Work is adorned and beautified for the Wearers Splendor and Glory.

IV. He beareth Saturn, a Royal Crown, Sol, Cap, Mar, Lined, Ermine. This is also called a Crown Imperial, and a Kings Crown, being a circle of Gold enriched with variety of precious Gems; from whence it is raised into eight Crosses Patee, and flower delices interposing or intervening each other; the Cap being arched over with as many Bars of Gold, richly adorned with Pearls and Precious Stones, on the top is placed a Globe and Cross. This is the English Royal Crown, other Nations having their Crowns in form much different, as

The French Royal Crown hath the Circle only raised into Flowers de lis, and arches, and hath a Flower de lis on the top.

The Spanish Royal Crown, hath the Circle raised into blown or open spreading Roses; the Cap being arched crossways and no more, having a Globe and Cross on the top.

The Denmark, Sweblant, and generally all other arch or close Crowns, which belong to our Neighbouring European Kings, are raised from the Circle with Roses blown, and open spreading, and have Globes and Crosses on the top.

G. an Imperial Crown O. is quartered by Fynenberg of the Rhine.

O. an Oak issuing out of the base proper, debased with a Fesse G. charged with three Imperial Crowns, born by Charles, or Carlos.

And here it may not be untimely noted that Arch and close Crowns, (commonly as they are in use at this day) call them whether you will, either Royal or Imperial Crowns, are not to be used to adorn any Coat Armour, but Supream Kings, such as exercise Sovereign Commands.

V. He beareth Venus, a Princes Crown, Sol. Some call it a Princes Coronett, or Crownett. It hath the Circle or Chapeau raised into Crosses and Flowers de lis, as the Kings Crown, but worn by the Prince, it hath a Cap in it lined with Ermine, and a Button and Tassel of Gold on the top, but not Arched.

A Dukes Crown of the Blood Royal (as Morgan lib. 3. fol. 33. sets it out) is in all respects answerable to the Princes, both in the Chapeaux and raising, into Crosses and flowers de lis; yet others set it forth according to the Dukes Crown in the next example.

VI. He beareth Mercury, a Ducal Crown, Sol. This is a Dukes Coronet of the Blood Royal, as Gwillim, fol. 423. sets it forth, whose Circle or Chapeau, is raised into Flowers de lis, with blown Roses interposing, and both set on an equal height.

The Dukes Crown, not of the Blood Royal (as Mr. Morgan lib. 3. fol. 22. and others describe it) hath the raising from the circle composed of four open or blown Roses, and as many small ones, or Pearls set between, but not exceeding the middle of the Roses in height; see numb. 11. yet Carter in his Analysis makes this Crownett all of an equal height, terming it a Crownett floreal, as being composed all of Flowers.

The Dukes Crowns of Naples, which they put over their Coat Armour, is in form like to the Earls Crown in England, but the points or spires are not pearled.

VII. He beareth Saphyre, a Marquess Crown, Sol. The Marquess is a middle degree between a Duke and an Earl, and therefore the Crown partakes of the Flower from the one, and the Pearl from the other, and both raised to an equal height. This is by some called a Daffadille Coronett.

The Marqueses Crown of France is made with three Pearls between each Rose; and they not much exceed the middle of the Roses.

VIII. He beareth Ruby, an Earls Crown, Coronett, or Coronett, Sol. The circle of this is raised into Spires like Sun-Beams, with Buttons between; each spire having a Pearl fixed on the point thereof; some describe the Crown to have small Roses between the Spires, but that is only the fancy of the Work-man, as a farther flourish or garnishing to the Crown, when the largeness of it will admit such curiosities, but the old way was Pearls, for the Earl being a degree higher than a Viscount, and lower than a Marquess, hath the Crown composed of both theirs.

IX. He beareth Diamond, a Viscounts Coronett, Topaz, Peared. This kind of Crown when set on an Escocion, is only a Circle or Chapeaux of Gold, garnished with variety of Gems; the top of the circle set close together with Pearls or Buttons of Silver. If worn by the Noble man, it hath a Cap within it of Purple Velvet, or Scarlet, with a Gold Button and Tassel on the top, as all other Crowns have which are worn, which some term a Circulet Coronett adorned with Pearls, fans number.

In the chief of this quarter is the form of the Arch-Duke of Austria his Crown; which is a Circle of Gold raised into Sun-Beams, or Indented Points, with a Cap; having only one Arch over the middle of it, whereon is set a Mound, ensigned with a Cross Pattee. And such a Crown I find quartered by Schurfi of Tyrol in Germany; and out of a Coronett, is the like Crown cross Arched, lined with Ermine, his crest.

The like Arch-Dukes Crown O. Cap G. turning up Ermins, with a flower de lis on the top A. is the crest of Mager van Fuchstat.

X. He beareth Emerald, a Barons Coronett, Topaz and Peared. This kind of Crown consists of a Circle or Chapeaux of Gold set with Gems, and raised into six Pearls. Some Blazon it, the Crowniet of a Baron adorn'd with six Pearls. The Barons Coronet anciently was only a Circle of Gold, with a Cap, Button and Tassel, or a Cap of Maintenance. But at the Coronation of our Sovereigne, Charles the Second, it was permitted, nay Ordered, that their Chaplet or circle should be set with only four, others say six Pearls, since which time all Barons have their Crowns and Coat Armour adorned with a Coronett thus made, and set with six Pearls.

In the chief of this square, is placed a Cap of Maintenance or Dignity, with the Furr turned up into certain inverts, being Tasseled on both sides, with the String pendant, and turned into a round or circle in the middle: And such a Cap Argent, with a white Fur, Tassels and String, Or, in a Field Gules, is the Coat of Meyer van Knonom, and a demy Man fans Arms, grey broad Beard, clothed Gules, with such a Cap on his head Tasseled and Stringed, is his Crest. See c. 5. a. 18. G. the like B. Turned A. fans Tassels and String, the Coat of Hudstocker, of Austria.

XI. He beareth Sapphire, a Crown, Pearl. This is also by Boswell, pag. 103. called a Crownett, a Coronett, a Crownall, and a Crown Homager; and is born either in Coat Armour or Crest, by any that are in Homage or Subjection to a Sovereign Prince or Potentate. This is the true form of the Marqueses Coronett, that is not of the Blood Royal, and consists of large flowers, with as many intervening of a lower degree, set about the top of the Chaplet.

4 a Cross Pattee ficht between 4 such O. Born by Radrick surnamed Molmynock, a Nobleman in Wales.

4 3 such O born by Sigebert, King of the Engl Angles.

G. 3 such O. born by Kybelyn ap Tnyr of Wales.

B. one such O. is born by Schastenberg.

Per Fesse G. and A. in chief 3 such O. is the Arms of the City of Coln.

XII. He beareth Pearl, a Crown Homager, or a Coronett, Ruby. This I find to be the ancient form of the Coronett, or Crown Homager.

Now that I may make the Crowns compleat to wear, let me say something of their Lining also: All the Crowns of England are lined, or have Caps within them of Crimson Velvet turned up Ermine; the Nobility having their turns up according to the lining of their Mantles.

Scotlands Crown for the King, hath the Cap of Purple Velvet, imbraudered with Pearl.

The French have their Caps Purple, semy de flower de lis's imbraudered with Gold.

The Duke having his head covered with a Chapeau.

The Baron weareth a round Cap lined, answerable to his Ro'e; but to wear either Cap or Bonnet in the Kings Presence, is an Honour afforded only to Companions of the Order of the Garter.

XIII. He beareth Saphyre, a Chaplett, or Chapeau, or Circle of Gold, enriched with various coloured Gems. This was of old, the Crown or Diadem that did adorn the heads of Kings, and great personages, thereby to distinguish them from the rest of the people: In the time of the Haptarchy they called it in their Language Cyneband, the Kings Head Band, or Royal Fillet. But when Crowns and Diadems in after times began to be Archt, then this Circle was ascribed to the Barons of the Land, being a Circle of Gold wrought with Chased Work, without any Flowers or Pearls; if worn, then they had a Cap of Scarlet, with a Button and Tassel on the top, as in the next examples, numb. 14. 15.

In the chief is another form of making the Chaplett or Golden Circle, without the sight of any part of the round or hollowness contained: And 3 such in Pale O. in a Field G. is born by Wasser.

Also in the Base of this same square is the fashion of Circle or Chaplet of Gold, having only one Fillet on the top side, and a round Cap in it, sans Button, Tassel, or any adornment with Stones. And 3 such O. Caps G. with a Fesse between B. in a Field A. is born by Sietz.

B. 3 such O. Caps A. is born by Capell, or Caperell.

XIV. He beareth Pearl, a Chaplet garnished, Topaz, Cap, Ruby, Button and Tassel of the second. This is the Barons Cap of Dignity, as it was formerly worn by them of that degree.

XV. He beareth Topaz, a Cap of Maintenance, Ruby, lined and turned up, Ermine, Button and Tassel, Pearl. This is termed also a Cap of State, a Cap of Dignity, and a Cap of Honour. This in former days was a Barons Cap, however it is diversly born in Arms, sometimes the turning up yellow, in others white, others the Fur is Indented, and others Engrailed, as you will see in the following examples.

A. a Chevron B. between 3 such caps, by the name of Capper, alias Tipper.

The Arch Duke of Austria, in Germany, hath the like Cap of Dignity set upon his Coat; having the Fur or into Dents or Spires, with one Arch over the Cap, with a Round and Cross on it. The like for the adorning the Coat Armour belonging to the Count Palatine of Rhine, and the Duke of Bavaria in the said Empire of Germany; see numb. 9.

Such a Cap as this, and the next following in numb. 16. are usually born in Coats, but especially for Crests, both for Quick or Dead things to stand upon; as multitudes of such Bearings might be produced; only take these for many.

A. 3 such G. Lined and Turned up, or Furred Er. is born by Caps.

On the like Cap, a Lion rampant O. is the crest of Capton.

XVI. He beareth Or, a Chapeau, or Cap of Estate, Gules, lined and turned up, Argent, Button and Tassel, Or. This is by others (and that more properly, to distinguish it from the other round Caps) termed a Cap of Estate, or Dignity open behind, or loose behind; but if it be only Blazoned a Chapeau, and no other term given it; it is sufficiently expressed to be a Cap of Estate, that is thus open behind.

On a Chapeau, two Oxe-horns, from the turn-up, O. was an ancient crest born by Peshall or Persall, of Churley in Staffordshire.

XVII. He beareth Sable, a Chapeau, Or, turning up Engrailed, Ermine, Button and Tassel, Argent. This is another manner of turning up; and after the same fashion you shall have Caps born either in Coats or Crests, which have their Lining turned up with an Inchecked, or an Indented form; but this one example shall suffice for such.

On such a Chapeau G. turned up Ermine, a Stag proper, is the crest of Palestons, or Pulston, of Emrall.

On the like, a Weverne S. gorged with a Crown O. is the crest of Trevor, of Allyngton, in Denbighshire.

A Peacocks tail from the turn up of such a Chapeau, is the crest of the Lord Molineux.

In the Base of this quarter, is another kind of Wreath, which is termed a Wreath or Corce, with the ends floatant, A. and G. and a Wreath or Twist pendant, G. Tasselled, O. and such a Torce doth adorn the head of a naked demy Woman to the Sinister, sans Arms, for the crest of Schmidmer, of Brunswick.

XVIII. He beareth Vert, a round Torce or Wreath, Argent and Gules, born by Wreath. This is an ancient Ornament of the head, and much in use with Turks and Sarazens; but much more frequently used as an interposition between the Mantle and the Crest on the top of the Helmet. Sometimes it is Blazoned a Wreath, because it is made of two coloured Silks, or more wound together: sometimes termed a Corce, from Torques, to wind; or twist, wrest or wreath a thing together; the mixture of the colours in a Wreath, is most usually taken from the Metal and colour chiefly contained in the Paternal Coat of the Bearer.

And for the orderly making of this Wreath, you are to observe this Rule, that the Twists be of an even number, as 4, 6, or 8, &c. that in placing the colours, you must evermore begin with the metal, and end with the colour. B. 3 such A. and G. is born by Wreathall.

The Wreath is thus made round, when born in Arms, but being set under crests, it is made like to the Torce or Wreath set in the chief of this square; but adorning the Heads or Temples of Men or Women, Moores or Saracens, they generally have the ends tyed up in Bow knots, or flying loose one way or both sides the head, as those in numb. 19. doth manifest.

B. three such, the ends floatant A. and S. is born by Wreathburgh.

B. the same in Pale, is born by Torquell.

XIX. He beareth Or, a round Torce or Wreath tyed up, the ends pendant, Argent and Sable. This is of most Blazoned a Sarazens Towel, by which term the Knot and loose ends that hang down are to be understood, for their Towels are ever so tyed; see lib. 2. cap. 17. numb. 10. 75. 3 such is born by the name of Sarazane.

In the chief is a close Wreath, making a little shew at the bottom of his roundness, with the two ends floatant on each side, and so 3 such in Pale A. and B. in a Field V. is the coat of Van Roden.

The like about a Moors Face, is the crest of Van Dachroden of Thurland.

XX. He beareth Argent, on a round Wreath, Or and Vert, a Crown of Feathers, Or, Azure, Argent, and Purple; with this kind of Crown, the Savage People of America do adorn the heads of their Leaders. Some term term it an American Crown or Diadem; others a Crown of Feathers of diverse colours; and is born by Maccos.

B. 3 such, with a Fesse between A. is born by Fetherton.

XXI. He beareth Argent, a Chaplet or Garland of diverse Flowers, proper. It is reported of some, that after this manner the Old World first instituted Crowns or Garlands for their Governours, which afterwards the Egyptians made of Ivy, Bays, Lawrel, and several other Flowers, Herbs and Leaves. But Cæsius the Rich, in his Pompous Plays and Sports made them of Gold, from whence they began to be in esteem, so that every Kingdom, Nation and People following that example, devised Garlands, Crowns and Diadems for themselves, of sundry sorts and fashions.

A. such a Garland, properly is born by Lasse.

A. 3 such proper, is born by Garland.

XXII. He beareth Sapphire, an Egyptian ancient Crown or Diadem, Topaz. The ancient People of this Country adorned the head of him that was their King and Ruler, with a Crown that was framed or wrought with the Images of Adders heads: And indeed from the beginning (as Josephus in his Antiquities affirmeth lib. 3. and 8.) Moses for the Israelites, and generally all Nations did by instinct of Nature adorn that person with a difference of Attire upon his head, whom they suffered to rule over them, which was as a sign or token of the preeminence of his Person and Office.

XXIII. He beareth Argent, a Chaplet, or Garland, or Chapeaur of Roses. This is born by the name of Rosemore.

B. the like A. is born by the name of Crantz, or Krantz. Out of the like Garland (Twice ways) a demy Boy fans Arms, clothed B. with the like about his Temples, is his Crest. Another of that name beareth the same, in a Field G.

There is another form of Chapeaur, or Garland, which is composed all of Laurel Leaves, having only four Roses set upon it at an equal distance, which is termed a Laurel Chaplet, or Laurel Chapeaur; and such a Garland, with a Rose within it, is the crest of Van Alane.

And another, wherein the Laurel hath four wreaths upon it at equal distances, some having the ends of the Scarfe loose or floatant, termed a Laurel Garland wreathed.

Per Fesse G. and A. in chief 2 such Garlands conjoined (or fretted one in the other) O. and in Base a Moors head to the Sinister, couped at the Shoulders, is born by Van Mensbach.

XXIV. He beareth Gules, a Chaplett, or a Chapernon, Or. As is the Blazon, so is his name that beareth it, viz. Chaplett. This is the true form of that which we term a Garland or Chaplet, without any more additions to it, and is made in fashion of an Annulett, beset with four Roundlets, or four Roses set at an equal distance; others describe it to be a round Circle or Royal Fillet, or head Lace, with four Buttons or Knobs of Gold (wrought or imbossed into the form of flowers) set on the sides of it.

A. 3 such V. born by the name of Richardson.

O. on a chief G. 3 such O. born by Morison.

A. 3 such G. born by Lassels of Esrick in York-shire.

G. 3 such O. born by Shappell.

Er. 2 such, and a Rose, is born by Peche.

Per Fesse A. and B. 3 Chaplets counterchanged by the name of Duke.

XXIV. a. He beareth Jupiter, a Chapeaur or Chaplett of Roses, Mars, Radiant, or Spired, Sol. This kind of Crown I find hath various terms of Blazon; for of some I find it called a Rose Chaplet Crown, and a Rose Chaplet with Beams of Gold. Others out of a Chaplett of Roses, a Crown Regal, or Honager. Mr. Morgan, lib. 3. fol. 10. terms it a Crown with a Chaplett of red and white Roses.

After this manner you shall often find in Coats Armour, especially in Crests, Chaplets or Garlands, composed of diverse sorts of flowers or leaves, and radiant or spired, as in this; crowning both the heads of Men and Women, which adornment may fitly be termed a Chaplet or Garland of Roses or Laurel, &c. Radiant; or after others, and that more briefly a Chaplet crowned, because in the Chaplet of flowers or leaves, generally no other Crown is used but this; yet if any other kind of Crown be set in the foresaid Chaplets, then you are to mention what sort of Crown it is.

XXV. He beareth Pearl, a Crown mural, Ruby. The circle of this Crown is raised with Breastings, or Parapears, or Battlements, or tops of a Wall or Tower; and his head anciently was adorned with such a Crown who first mounted on the Walls of a Besieged City or Town, and there fixed the Standard belonging to the General of the Army.

XXVI. He beareth Pearl, a Crown Naval, Sapphire: This kind of Crown was made with a Circle of Gold, relevated, or raised like Prows or Poupes, or the forepart of a Ship, and his Head was adorned with it, who in a Sea Fight first grappled, and boarded the Ship that was their Enemies. Crowns of Gold were equally mixt with Shields, of old to adorn the Temples of the Victors, as we read in the Story of the Maccabees, 1. Mac. 4. 57.

XXVII. He beareth Diamond, a Crown Pallizal, Topaz. This is also termed a Crown Castral, or Crown Pallizadoed: which is a Crown of Gold raised into Pales, Pikes, or Stakes; and was given by the General of an Army to him that first entred into the Trenches of his Enemies Camp, and forced the Pallizadoes. The French call it a Crown Calloir, or Pallee.

Such a Kind of Crow (saith Mr. Morgan) doth encompass the Lion of Holland, which is Armed like Apoll, with with his Arrows in his left, and his Sword in his right Paw.

XXVIII. He beareth Jupiter, a Crown Caelestial, Sol. This kind of Crown hath the Circle, or Chaplet thereof raised into Spires or Sun-Beams, with a Star fixed upon the point of each Beam. Some term it a Crown composed of eight Stars, or Constellations of Heaven. Such a Crown is said to be made by Vulcan, who gave it to Theseus, and it was of such admirable refulgency, that it gave him light through the dark mazes of the Labyrinth that he was to pass. A Crown of Stars we read also was worn by the Woman in Heaven, Rev. 12. 1.

XXIX. He beareth Sol, a Crown, or Garland Triumphant, Venus. This Triumphal Chaplet as some call it, was first made of Laurel, or Bays, platted together: and tied in the back part of the Head with Ribbons; being the signe and token of Victory: and soon after made of the purest Gold; whereupon it was named Aurum Coronarium. In was by the Romans given to the General that returned home with Victory from a dreadfull Enemy. And it was after worn by the Roman Emperors themselves, as their Images, and Figures in the Coins, put out in their several Reigns doth abundantly testifie.

XXX. He beareth Pearl, a Crown (Garland or Chaplet) Cibical, Emerald: This hath several denominations, as Corona civica, the Civil Crown, or Citizens Crown: this was made of the flourishing branches of the Oak fructed, or Acorned, and tied behind the Head (as all the Roman Garlands usually were) and was given by the City of Rome, to their fellow Citizens, who had saved a Citizens life, either in a Siege or Battel; counting it more Honor to save the Life of a Friend, than to destroy an hundred Enemies. But more especially it was given to them, who had well deserved of the publick Estate, and managed Matters well for the conservations of their civil Affairs. It is the Emblem of Valour and safety, as the Royal-Oake of England doth abundantly testifie; and therefore may not unfitly be termed the Garland of Honor, and Protection.

XXXI. He beareth Topaz, a Crown Gramineal, or Obdional, Emerald. Others term it a Garland of Fame and Honor: this was made of Grass, or Herbs, or what else was found in the place besieged, and given to the Captain or General, that did by his Valour, and Wisdom, deliver that place from the besiegers, or save a whole inclosed Army, sharply beset on all sides by the Enemy.

XXXI. a. He beareth Sol, a Garland Pacifical, or Crown Minerval, Venus: This kind of Crown was made of the branches of the Olive-tree, which is the Symbol of Peace, therefore called the Crown of Peace and Concord: It was given to him that had managed a Peace and Union between two Mortal Enemies, and by his discretion brought it to a successful conclusion, and so be dissolved. Some term it Corona Minerva, or Crown of Arts and Sciences, by reason Peace, and Plenty; Unity and Concord is the Nurse of Arts.

A. such an one V. environing an Escochion, O. charged with 3 Stagshorns in pale, Sable. Is the Arms of the States of Winnenden.

XXXII. He beareth Ruby, a Crown or Garland of Ceres, Topaz. This is also termed, Ceres Coronet, the Honor of Agriculture, or Husbandry; the Crown of Plenty and Abundance: being made of the Ears of Corn. This was given as a reward to him, who is a good Provider for the People, such as Joseph was in Egypt: It was, and is the Husbandmans Honor to be adorned therewith, by whose care and industry the Land flourisheth with Plenty. This is called Corona Alma the Virgins Crown, which as Pliny writeth lib. 17. cap. 2. was the first Crown or Garland among the Romans.

The Crown Poplar, or Poputeal Garland; is made of the Leaves of Poplar: and is given to such young Men, in whom was perceived the greatest towardness of Virtues.

There are several other sorts of Crowns or Garlands, made of diverse kinds of Leaves, and Branches; which to put in the Copper Plate, would have been charginable and not very material, seeing they may (by these) be as well understood by their description: which are as followeth.

The Garland of Bacchus, the Crown Bacchical, or of Friendship: It is composed of the Branches and Fruit of the Vine, which is the Emblem of Amity, &c true Friendship. Yet the Joyce thereof being immoderately used, hath and doth daily manifest the contrary effect; being the only cause, and that too often, of the disunion of Brethren.

The Garland of Olympick games, called also the Olympical Crown, or Crown of Victory: This was made of the Branches of the depressed Palm, and was a reward given to those that obtained the Victory at the Roman Games, which were for the Exercise of Manhood, and activity of Body. They were called the Olympian games, from whence this Crown was called by them, Corona Olympica.

The Crown of Obvation, of some termed Corona Orationalis, the Crown of Joy and rejoycing being Garlands used at the Death of Deceased Friends, therefore also called the Garland of Death. It was made of Firr branches, and with these kind of Crowns the Greeks & Romans, having mantled their dead Friends in their winding-sheets, they adorned their Heads with such Crowns; signifying thereby, that the party deceased had run out his race, and won the price, having ended the troubles of a wicked Life, and vain World by Death. Hence it is that the custom of Garlands is used at the Funeral of young Persons, but to manifest that they have run a great race, and gained the goal in a little time.

The Crown Spineal, or Crown of Thorns: This was made of sharp thorns, platted or wound together, and was worn by our Saviour Jesus Christ, at the time of his Crucifixion: It is the Emblem of a Generous Soul, that lieth not in wait to deceive, yet it fights against fighters.

The Crown Amaranthcal, or the Garland of Amaranthus, which are made of the Stem Leaf and Flower:

Flower of an Herb that will never wither. This is the Emblem of an everlasting flourishing fame; such a Garland was offered up at the Sepulcher of Achilles, thereby to eternize the fame of that Noble Hero.

The Crown Mirtal, is a Crown composed of the Leaves and Berrys of the Mirtle Tree, which are of a sweet Odour; and was given to him, which overthrew such an Enemy, as was a Vassal or Homager, to that Estate against whom he took up Arms.

The Crown Federal, or Garland of Ivy, which is appropriated to Poets and excellent Musicians: whose Brains are not too much moistned with the Joyce of Bacchus.

He that desireth to read more of these several sorts of Crowns and Garlands let them peruse these Authors.

Seldens Titles of Honor, part 1. chap. 8. and part 2. chap. 1. 2.

Morgans Sphere of the Gentry, lib. 3. chap. 3. & 4.

Fernes Lacies Nobility, pag. 26. 27.

Gwillims Display of Heraldry, sect. 4. chap. 16.

XXXIII. He beareth Saphir, a Papal Infula, Ruby: insignen with a Treble Crown, and a Crois, Topaz: having a Cloud and the Sun-Beams issuing out of the same, proper. This is of some blazoned only a Treble Crown with the Cloud and Sun-Beams issuant all proper.

* 3 such O is the Coat Armour of the Worshipful Company of Woollen-Drapers.

XXXIV. He beareth Saturn, a Papal Crown (or a Treble Crown, or a Popes Crown) Sol: with two Labells pendant Luna. This is born by the name of Crownall.

XXXV. He beareth Pearl, a Cardinals Hat, with the Strings pendant and platted, or fretted in form of a True-Loves knot, Ruby: Bobs and Cassells, Sol.

Per Fesse G. and A. a pointed Skreen with an handle issuant A. and such an Hat G. born by Reindorfer. The like Skreen set on the top of the Hat is the Crest.

Such an Hat parted per Pale A. and G. is the Crest of Van Groben.

2 Hats suppotting each other in form of a Chevron G. is the Crest of Hoppingen.

XXXVI. He beareth Topaz, a Cardinals Cap Diamond. This is their usual wearing Cap.

In the chief of this square is another sort of Cap made much after the form of a Scotch-Bonnet, or round Cap. A. 3 such S. banded O. is the Cappers Arms in Chester. See numb. 42. 43.

XXXVII. He beareth Pearl, a Cardinals Cap of the order of St. Austin, Diamond. Others term it a Monk, or Friers Cap, of St Austins order.

In the Chief of this square is another form of drawing the Cardinals Hat, having the under side of the Brim and inner part of the Crown seen, with the Strings Casselled, and only crossed. A. 3 such G. is born by Bayrn zu Freidenfels. []

Such an Hat, with a Wing erected on it A. is the Crest of Lantzen, as also of Van Liebensfels.

The like Hat with the strings Fretted Wreathed, & treble Tasselled in a Field A. is born by Van Dobeneck. A. 3 such B. is born by Kayb of Switzerland.

XXXVIII. He beareth Jupiter, a Crown Mittered, Sol: Garnished with variety of Gems, proper. Such a Crown Mittered is to be set upon the shield of Arms of such a Bishop, as doth exercise Sovereign Jurisdiction: doth manage both the Temporal Sword, and Spiritual staff, & keep all Courts within his Diocess in his own name. Such of old I have seen in a Manuscript over the Bishop of Durham's Arms, see chap. 5. numb. 104.

The like having the Coronet O. and the Miter G. charged with a Fesse Nebuletee A. and B. is the Crest of Van Blumenek.

XXXIX. He beareth Mars, a Miter (or a Bishops Miter Sol: Garnished, or set with several stones proper; the Cap or Lining Venus, with two Labells pendant Luna, Cassells of the Second. If the Miter be all of one Mettle or Colour, you need say no more but a Miter.

3 Miters O by the Bishoprick of Chester.

a Miter A. charged with a Salter G. is the Crest of Bochingen.

a Miter B. Filletted or Garnished A. lined G. at each point a Peacocks tail. Is the Crest of Tauskirchen.

a Miter B. Fillet and Points buttoned A. is the Crest of Dune.

a Miter G. Fillet or Head band adorned with a Saphire Stone and Buttoned B. is the Crest of Burglen.

XL. He beareth Argent, a four cornered Cap, Sable. This is a chief Justice or Judges Cap, which he ever puts on his Head before he passeth Sentence on any Malefactor. This is also a Master of Arts his Cap, or a Doctors Cap, see the same born sideways numb. 44.

XLI. He beareth Or, a three Cornered Cap, Sable.

XLII. He beareth Argent, a Bonet Cap, Sable; Lined Or: in chief an Egyptian Shooe, Gules. This Cap is termed in the Schools, a Students Cap, or an under Graduats Cap.

XLIII. He beareth Or, a Bonet (or Scotch Bonnet, or Scotch Cap) Azure: in chief a Laplanders Shooe, Sable. Before that the Invention of Hats were found out, this was the covering for the Head of all the Grandees, and Persons of note and quality in former Ages, and this many ancient Pictures remaining amongst us to this day, doth inform us.

XLIV. He beareth Argent, a Cap and Button Gules: turned up, Or. This is used now, and also was in our Forefathers days, by all Labourers and Handicrafts Men, who cannot conveniently work (especially in the Summer time) with their Hats on their Heads: and there-wherefore are fully termed Labourers Caps, and with Buttons, Caps or Night - Caps, as numb. 47.

G. a Fesse between 3 Labourers Caps A. born by Laker.

B. a Night - Cap A. born by Sleeper.

O. Cap G. turned up and on the Button A. 5 piles of Grails V. is the Crest of Van Schaben.

In the Chief of this square is the figure of a Doctors four cornered Cap set sideways, and in Heraldry thus drawn is term'd the Master of Arts (or Doctors) Cap; being the true form, the other mentioned numb. 47. not being so much to be understood for a Cap, as this; and three such S. in a Field O. I find born by the name of Doctors.

XLV. He beareth Vert, out of a Coronet Or, a Steel Cap, Argent. Some term it a Coronet Cap; and a Cap set in a Coronet.

¶ All round headed Caps are generally termed Steel Caps, or Boxions.

B. 3 such O. Capped G. is the Coat of Cromwell.
G. one such O. Capped A. is born by Devent.

XLVI. He beareth Topaz, a Cap Gules, turned up and open behind, (in form of a Chapeau) Pearl: Deckt with a Feather in the Frontlet or Forepart, Azure. Born by the name Stonrigge.

A. the like B. Feather G. born by Kingslon.

The like S. turn up O. the Feather A. is the Crest of Newkirk.

XLVII. He beareth Topaz, a Boxion, or Steel Cap, Sapphire, charged with a bend, Pearl; lined and turned up, of the same.

G. a Cap O. turned up A. is both Coat, and Crest of Stadelhof.

XLVIII. He beareth Argent, a Boxion, or Steel Cap, Azure, turned up in point, Or: set on each side with a Crutch, Sable. Some term them a Crutch Staff, or a Lame Mans Staff, or a Potonce: But I hold this to be best blazoned (for the better understanding of the Stations of the Crutches) to say, each side adorne, or set with a Crutch expenced bendwise Sinitter, or a Boxion between two Crutches in bend, Sinitter expenced. By which terms it is made manifest that they are set in the middle of the Cap, and one appears by the side of the other, both bending one and the same way: which by the first and old way of blazon, the Cap might be taken to be between the Potences; and not the Potences to lie upon, or proceed from the cap.

Such a Cap S. Lined with 2 Als Ears set in the turn up A. is the crest of Kaerdell.

Such a Cap V. turn up A. set with 2 Bonicans horns O. is the crest of Schluderer Van Lachen.

Such a Cap G. turn up A. set with 2 Feathers, one B. the other G. and a Feather on the Crown A. is the crest of Pissh.

Several ways of Bearing things on Caps.

So that Caps of this fashion are generally beset with things of all conditions, as Horns, Fearhers, Wings Flowers, Leaves, Branches, Staves, and such like: of which notice must be taken how, and after what manner they are set with the Cap: as,

First, a Cap turned up, with a thing set on each side, expenced: or such a thing set on each side from or under the turn up, expenced. Shewth the things to proceed from the turn up, and bend one way, or stand one behind the other, as this figure 48. manifests, and numb. 71. lib. 4. chap. 4. numb. 31.

Second, a Cap with turn up, hath a thing set in the forepart of it, which is term'd, such a thing placed, or proceeding from the turn up in the Front, or Frontal, or Forehead: as numb. 46.

Third, a Cap turned up, may have a thing set upon one side of it, which may be termed, the side adorne with such a thing from the turn up: as numb. 55.

Fourth, a Cap, turned up, with such a thing on each side Endorsed, that is when one of the things bend one way, and the other the contrary: if they be Wings they are termed Displayd: as lib. 4. chap. 4. numb. 30.

Fifth, a Cap, turned up, with any thing set or standing upon the top or Crown of it: then say, such a thing standing on a Cap, turned up: or on the cap, such a thing. lib. 4. chap. 4. numb. 19. 28.

Sixth, a Cap, turned up, between such and such things; is when the Cap is put between any things, and doth (as it were) not touch, or but touch the same, having nothing set on it, or in it, but near to it; and these sometimes are set Expenced, Displayd, or Endorsed: that is bending one way, or bending too, or from the Cap, or any thing else, thus set between things: lib. 4. numb. 30. 31. 32.

Last of all, a Cap, turned up, may have a thing on it, and yet be between other things; and then say thus, such a thing, on a Cap, turned up, between two such, or such things.

¶ Yet note here a further and nice distinction, which is to say thus: such a thing between two such things, on a Cap turned up. This shews that all before mentioning the Cap, to be set on the Cap: as lib. 4. chap. 4. numb. 28. 32.

XLIX. He beareth Gules, a Boxion, Azure; turning up in point (like a Chapeau) engrailed, Argent. Billeterd, or set with 6 Billeterd on the top, Sable.

L. He beareth Gules, a Boxion, (of some called a Copped Hat, or Cap) Azure: turned up, in form of a Chapeau, Argent.

L. a. He beareth Vert, a Boxion or Steel Cap, Sable; turned up, Argent: each side beset, or adorne, or issuant there from, two Palms or Tops of Bucks horns, Or. Born by the name of Garvile.

LI. He beareth Argent, an Infula, Gules: turned up Chapeau like, Or. Some term them an Infula Cap, or a Pyramide Cap, or a high copped Cap, turned up. This is born by the name of Van Skickin.

LII. He beareth Or, an Infula, Gules; turned up, Argent: on the top a Button of the same. Born by the name of Rusenbach.

A. 3 such G. turned up and Buttoned O. born by Hardyll.

The like S. turn-up and on the Button A. 5 gras blades V. is the Crest of Van Carben.

A. 3 Boys Faces, with Infula's on their Heads, fans turnings up G. is Coat of Grasenstein of Alsatia.

The like Infula G. turned up A. on the top a Crown O. out of which is a rose slip, proper. This is born by Dier Von Schelen of Westphalia. After this manner you will often find both Dutch and German Coats, and Crests; adorned on the top with Balls, and several sorts of devices fixed thereon, as Flowers, Leaves, Feathers, Stars, Crescents, &c. See chap. 5. numb. 69. these Infula's are also born out of Coronets, as numb. 45.

LIII. He beareth Argent, an Infula Gules, turned up and opened on the side, Or. Born by the name of Benperg in Francia.

An Infula Or. with the like turning up, Sable; adorned on the top with a tuft of Grass, consisting of 5 piles flected, Vert: is the Crest of Lamprechen in Francia. After this manner you shall have Infula's born with other sorts of Leaves, Flowers, Feathers, and the like: which you are to mention in your blazon.

The Infula S. such a turn-up, with a Plum of 5 Feathers A. hanging bendways over the middle of the height of it, a Rose Garland. This is the Crest of Curtzbach.

LIV. He beareth Topaz, and Infula, Ruby: turned up, and open on the side, with a Button on the top Argent; reverted of the Second. There are some who term this an Infula turned up, and turned down; or turned up, and reflected; or lined and reverted; naming one only colour, and that of the turning up, by reason the turning down is ever taken to be of the same colour, as the Infula it self is off.

LV. He beareth Argent, an Infula, Tenne; turned up in point, Gules: issuant therefrom erect the side, a Ropers Stake, Sable.

Several ways of Turn ups.

Here take notice in these few foregoing examples, of the several ways and manners of turnings up, as to say turned up; and no more signifieth the turning not much to exceed the compass of the bottom of the Cap: as numb. 44. 47. 50. 52.

Second, turned up like the Chapeau; which is open behind, and ends in two point: as numb. 46. 50. 51.

[]

Third, turning up and open, or opened on the side, is when a slit is made in the side: as numb. 53. 54.

Fourth, turning up, opened, and reverted; when the lined part is turned up, and then turned down again as numb. 54.

Fifth, turning up in point, is when it is not open behind, but hang downward, and to sight ends as it were in a point, as to the turning up of the lining: as numb. 48. 49. 50. 55.

LVI. He beareth Or, a Sarazens Hat, or an Infula, Garnished, Azure: enwrapped with a Towel, tied in a knot with Nooses, and ends pendant, Argent. This is born by Artzet.

O. 3 such G. Towels A. is born by Lidlow.

Out of a Wreath or Torce A. and S. an Infula of the first, with a Tuft of Grass on the top: is the Crest of Nordtwein. Some term it an Infula environed with a Torce: because here the Wreath is in the place of the turn-up, see numb. 67. 74.

LVII. He beareth Argent, a Capped Canke, Stringed, Gules. This is a certain cover for the Head, which ancient Servile Romans used: It is in Coats of Arms (I find) born several ways, as fretted all over, or circled about, either in the whole, or in part, as the precedent, and subsequent examples shews you. The strings are to tie it under the Chin that it be not apt to fall off the Head, as otherwise it would be. Out of a Coronet O. a Tank pally A. and G. is born by the name of Van Still.

The difference between an Infula and a Canke is this: The first useth to a kind of a point in the top; the latter is directly round there. The one wide at the bottom and narrow upward, but the other is of one wideness all along from the bottom to the top.

LVIII. He beareth Argent, a Fools Cap with a Bell at the end of the Flap, Or: turned up of the same. Three such is born by Fool.

LIX. He beareth Or, an Infula gradually circled, Sable. Born by the name of Bubbell.

A. a Cheveron between 3 such G. is born by the name of Balvaire.

LX. He beareth Or, an Infula imbowed in the top, Azure; Garnished and Casselled, Argent. Born by name of Melwaine.

LXI. He beareth Argent, an Infula imbowed at the end, Gules: turned up in form of a Chapeau, and engrailed, with a Button and Cassel on the top, Or.

Here note that when these Infula's are imbowed at the top, then they are made much smaller at the end then usually they are to be, when streight. This is born by the name of Brunt.

B. the like imbowed to the dexter side G. and turned up open in the side, A. Casselled O. is the Coat and Crest of Van Bornstedt.

A. 3 such to Sinister and bowed to the Dexter G. turned turned up and Tassells O. with Wreaths about the middle of the foldings A. set in the Field 1. and 2. Born by the name of Van Ronstet.

LXII. He beareth Argent, an Insula imbowed, Vert; Button and Cassell, Or: turned up of the first, fretted, Sable. This is born by the name of War-

3 Such with a Cheveron between S. is born by Colner.

LXIII. He beareth Argent, a Munmouth Cap, (or a Ship Cap, or Boat Cap, Sable; turning up Or. These Caps are often laced on the Crown, and Edges of the turn up: which you may either blazon Edged or Imbrauthered, so and so. This is also termed a Mountaro Cap, and a Munmouth Cap, as from the place where it was first made.

LXIV. He beareth Azure, a Knit Cap, or a Mild Cap, Argent; banded and buttoned, Or: turned up on one side, Gules. This is also termed a Falconers, or foxfesters Hat, being in former times much in use with such, because they would bear out wet: but now are wholly left off. By the Gallants of those times, the under sides of the brim were richly adorned with Silver and Gold, and bands of the same.

LXV. He beareth Argent, an Hat, Sable; band Or. turning up, Purple; Decked with a Plum of Feathers, Or, Gules, Argent, and Vert. It was a great fashion in King Charles the first time, to have the under side of the brim to be lined with Taffaty of variable colours. A Cheveron G. between 3 such Hats, is the Coat of the Worshipful Company of Felmakers.

LXVI. He beareth Argent, a Womans Hat banded, Sable. This is called a Womans Hat, because generally they wear their Hats higher in the Crown (Sugar Loafe like) and broad in the brims, then Men do. This is generally the Felmakers Sign.

A. 3 such S. is born by the name of Hatter.

LXVII. He beareth Sable, an Indian Hat, (or a China Hat, and String pendant, Argent; Button and Cassell, Or. Three such is born by the name of Chinence.

A. 3 such Sable, is born by Rysencross.

The like A. tied on a Lions head S. is the Crest of Van Offheim.

In the Chief of this square, is placed the fashion of two sorts of Caps, which I find used, and born in Coat Armour. The first is a kind of Turks Turbot, and the other a Wreathed Cap, or a Cap with a Wreathed turn-up, being another sort of Turks Caps.

Out of a Crown, a Demy Turk, fans Arms, between 2 Wings, having such a Wreathen Turbut, or Cap, is the Crest of Suntharsen.

B. 3 Turks Faces, so attired G. and O. is both Coat and Crest of Van Belo.

LXVIII. He beareth Gules, a Dutch Hat, Argent;

[]

Band, String, Crossed, and Cassells, Or. They use (as I suppose) these strings to tie their Hats to their Heads. This is born by the name of Schneeberg.

O. 3 such parted per pale B. and A. Strings and Tassells and Bands G. is both Coat and Crest of Van Der Wendt. Also by Van Wendt.

LXIX. This is another manner of way, which the Dutch use in drawing their Hats in Coats Armour; with the side, or next part of the Brim to you, turned up: which is blazoned as before in the Hat, n. m. 65. This S. in a Field A. is born by Windischmark. The same with the turn-up O. is born by Nemkirch.

There is another sort of Dutch Cap, as chap. 5. num. 38. which is termed a Dutch Cap Sable, turned Argent, the Cassells and Strings crossed, Or.

LXX. He beareth Vert, a Turbot (or a Turks Cap) Argent: having a Spring Feather set in the side of it, Or. This is born by the name of Turk, or Tucks.

B. 3 such A. Feather O. is born by Holtzern. These may be termed Turks Imperial Turbots: being such as the Emperial Sultan himself doth wear, and none else but himself: all others wearing such as I have set down in the chief of numl. 67.

LXXI. He beareth Azure, Mercurys Cap, or Hat, Gules: Winged Argent. For to nominate the colours of the Wings, which be contrary to the Hat, or Cap: they must be named, else if they be made all of one colour, or mettle: then to say Mercurys Cap is sufficient to shew it to be Winged. This as before blazoned, is born by Swift.

G. 3 such O. Wings A. is born by Speedwell.

LXXII. He beareth Saphir, an Insula Amethyst, fretted Topaz; the turning up, opened before (or on the side) and reverted, or turned down again below the Neck and Sides of the Face, Pearl. This may be termed an old Mans hood which covers him all about the Neck and Face to preserve him from cold. This is born by Winter.

The like upon an old Sarazens head is the Crest of Mascho. This kind of wear may be termed an Insula Cap-hood, or a Cap-hood open before with an Insula top or head.

LXXIII. He beareth Gules, two Insulas, the one, Or, the other Argent; fretted Sable: Buttons and Cassells of the second, both set in a Wreath, of the third, and fourth. Some blazon it an Insula Jessant of another, both Indivironed within a Torce. This is born by Barfe.

LXXIV. He beareth Or, a flat Crowned Cap, Sable: Wreathed, Argent, and Gules. Others blazon it, out of a Torce, or Wreath, Argent and Gules; a flat Cap, Sable. 3 Such born by Copley.

Such a Cap with a turn-up, and open on the sides is a Poland Cap, and is so termed in blazon: and is born by a Poland Family named Boyezan.

LXXV. He beareth Sable, a Monks-hood or a Monks Cauce, or else the Hood of a Dominican Frier, Argent. This is also the form of the Caulis, or Hoods, belonging to the Cluniacens Friers but of a different colour. Three of these are born by the name of Porral.

A Demy Monk fans Arms, cloathed G. thus hooded A. with a Wreath about the Head, ends floatant A. and G. is the Crest of Pomer of Brunswick.

LXXVI. He beareth Gules, a Monks-hood, or Cauce of the Carthusian Oyer, Argent: this Coat belongs to Die Krantzen Van Gesspoltzheim, in Alsatia in the Empire of Germany.

Such a Demy Monk fans Arms cloathes per Cheveron A. and G. the Hood A. and Scapuler or Shoulder part G. is the Crest of Brunigbosen.

LXXVII. He beareth Argent, the Hood, or Cauce of a Benedictine Monk, or Frier, Sable. This is contrary to the other Hoods, having a loose and hollow piece of cloth hanging backward, as it were a long bag, and fastened under the Chin, hanging loose down before.

LXXVIII. He beareth Sol, a French Hood, Saturn. This sort of Hood was much in request about 1568. and because it came first out of France to us, it was called a French Hood; it hung down with a long hood flap: the end thereof being turned up to the top of the Head (for so it was usually worn) and there made fast, it did not exceed the shoulders in depth. This having the flap or Cippet hanging down the wearers Back, may be termed a Mourning hood, or a close Mourning hood; for such great persons usually wear over their Heads and Shoulders in Funeral Obsequies and Solemnities.

LXXIX. He beareth Argent, a Dutch hood, Sable. This may also be termed a Mourning hood, being such as they of inferiour rank wear at the Solemnity of great Funerals; which are called close Mourners, and have only their Tippets extending from the Crown of the Head to the middle of the Back. This is born by the name of Mourner.

G. the like Hood A. is the Arms of the Town of Guglineen in Germany.

A Demy Man to the Sinister, fans Arms, Cloathed and Hooded A. is the Crest of Marschalek.

LXXX. He beareth Argent, a close Mourning-hood, for a Person of Honor, having the Cippet reflected, and laid under the Cloake or Shoulder part of the Hood, Sable.

There is in these kind of Hoods three parts; the first is the Hood which covers the head all about the Face; the second is the Cloake part, which covers the Neck and Shoulders: the third is the Cippet, which hangs from the hinder part of the Crown, and reacheth backwards to the ground, and in some a yard on the ground, according to the quality and greatness of the Person which weareth it.

A. the like hood G. is born by the name of Retzer.

[]

LXXXI. He beareth Or, a Cornered Hood, or a Ladies Gail, Vert. Being only Silk Imbrauthered according to the Persons quality, and edged with Gold and Silver, and so cast over the head, it was a rich kind of Attire for the head in former days, see lib. 2. chap. 17. numb. 32.

LXXXII. He beareth Gules, a Quoiff with a Boon-grace, Argent. Some call it an Head Attire, or Frontlet. Three such is born by the name of From.

LXXXIII. He beareth Argent, a Womans hood, having the tyes or flaps tyed, and ends floatant or pendant, cable. And is born by the name of Hood.

LXXXIV. He beareth Azure, a Muns Uaste or Muns Hood, Argent: It is so termed, because their Hoods are all so deep, that the compass all about the Shoulders.

LXXXV. He beareth Sable, a Set-hood, laced, conjoynd to a Night-raile, Argent. This is a kind of dress which Women in Child bed usually wear, when they are for Christnings, and up-sittings. Some term this a Hooded Night-raile.

LXXXVI. He beareth Sapphire, a Ueiled Quoiff, or a Quoiff with a Ueil, or loose Scarfs hanging each side of it, Pearl, imbrauthered in the frontlet, Topaz. This was a great fashion for Head Attires in the elder times; see numb. 87.

In the chief of this square, is the form of a Quoiff, or rather a Cap, compassed about the bottom with a String of Pearls or Beads, the end extended; and such is born by Dorlock, as you may see chap. 5. numb. 142. c. after the same manner; a String of Beads are often made to proceed from Crowns either extendant or pendant, and also from head Tires.

LXXXVII. He beareth Ruby, a Womans Circle or Head Tire, Pearl, Fretted, Diamond, with a Towel or Scarf cast over the back part of it, and pendant, Topaz: Of the adorning of the head with circles of Gold, and Imbrauthered work after this manner about E. 1. time, by Men and Women of high account, is manifest by many Pictures and Monuments of those times. See Mr. Dugdale on Warwickshire, fol. 121.

LXXXVII. a. He beareth Argent, an Old Mans Cap, Sable, turned up, Tenne, having covers for the Ears and Neck of the second. It may be termed also a Jews head cover, and such I find worn by a demy Man full faced, fork Bearded fans Arms, clothed and capped G. and is the coat and crest of Welfer.

After covers for the head, of which I have given you divers examples and fashions both ancient and modern: I shall now proceed to give you some covers for the face, and through an omission here, I have caused them to be Engraven, chap. 5. numb. 63. 64. where you may see the form and manner of such things, but I shall treat of them here.

He

He beareth Argent, a Mask, Sable. This is a thing that in former times Gentlewomen used to put over their Faces when they Travel to keep them from Sun burning; it covered only the Brow, Eyes and Nose, through the holes they saw their way; the rest of the Face was covered with a Chin-cloth.

Of these Masks they used them either square with a flat and even top, or else the top cut with an half round; they were generally made of Black Velter.

The second form of Mask, is the Vizard Mask, which covers the whole face, having holes for the eyes, a case for the Nose, and a slit for the mouth, and to speak through; this kind of Mask is taken off and put on in a moment of time, being only held in the Teeth by means of a round bead fastened on the inside over against the mouth, see chap. 5. numb. 64.

A Vizard is another kind of cover for the Face, and it is made after the form of ugly ill shapen Faces; these are used in Interludes and Plays to make Mens Faces appear to what they act, as deformed Creatures, Apes or Devils.

B. a cheveron between 3 Vizards A. born by the name of Vissard.

LXXXVIII. He beareth Argent, a Garter Bowled Azure, Buckled, Edged and Studded, Or, by the name of Garter.

G. 3 such A. born by the name of Sydemers.

LXXXIX. He beareth Argent, a Roman Hose, or Stockin, Sable, turned down and garnished, Or. They are by the Romans termed Startops, because they cover but half the Leg and Foot; of us they are called Buskins and Gamashes, and are either Laced, Buttoned or Buckled down the out-sides of the Legs, and reach only to the Instep of the foot, seldom past the middle.

XC. He beareth Vert, an Hose, Argent, Gartered, Or. born by Hofeck.

The Hose or Stocken, is a cover for the foot, leg, and thigh, to shield them from Summers heat and Winters cold.

A. an Hose S. is born by Glyn of Glyn, in an Escalation of Pretence.

A. a Midlegg Hose, the Toe to the Sinister B. charged with 3 Bends Sinister, O. is the coat of Eckhart. The crest is the same with the foot erected; this may be termed an half Hose, or an Hose coupéd below the Knee, for generally they are made to draw above it to the middle of the Thigh or thereabouts.

In the Sinister Base of this square, is placed a Shoe sole, or the Bottom of the Shoe, which is born in Arms; for I find that Sole/lat beareth Argent, 3 Soles of Shoes, Sable.

S. 3 Shoe Soles, the Toes erected A. born by Solemain.

XCI. He beareth Argent, a Leg in full Aspect coupéd under the Knee, proper, adorned with a Roman Hose, or Startop, Sable, turned down and garnished, Or.

This is also more briefly Blazon, a Romans Leg in full Aspect, coupéd under the Knee. It is termed in full Aspect, because it is full to sight, and not standing sideways, as those before and after it do.

And called a Roman Leg, by reason it is in the Roman Dress, and so all other Legs and Feet are to be termed according to the country fashion they are in, see numb. 90, 92, 93. Leg terms this Hose that is worn but to the middle of the Leg, and turned down again, a Startoppes, pag. 40.

XCII. He beareth Argent, a Boot, Sable, the Top turned down, Or, Soled Gules. By the name of Boot. In a Boot there is these several parts.

The Top, and it may be either large or narrow, it is of two pieces.

The Boot Leg is one entire piece, sowed up the Calf or Shin, or out-side of the Leg.

The Spur Leathers, and they are two, the over and under Leather.

A Sashune or Shashune, is stuffed or quilted Leather, to be bound about the small of the Leg, of such as have long heels, to thicken the Leg that the Boot may sit streight, and be without wrinkles.

The Foot of the Boot with its parts, see in the shoe; numb. 95.

The Straps are those Leathers sowed within the Boot on each side to draw them on.

A. 3 such S. turned down G. is born by the name of Boote.

XCIII. He beareth Or, a Moors Leg coupéd below the Knee, proper, the Gamash, Buskin, or Startop, Gules, turned down, Argent. In this Leg I do confess my Engraver was much mistaken, having made it I cannot tell what; but I did design it for this Blazon (which I hope the candid Reader will either understand what I mean, or pass it by as a Slip of the Tool (for as the Tongue and Pen hath its Errours, sc Sculptor habet Sculpturum, yet pardonable.) He beareth Or, a Roman Leg coupéd beneath the Knee, proper, Sandall Gules, Startop, Sable, turned down and garnished, Argent. This is born by the name of Garnish.

A. a Moors Leg, the Startop G. turned down O. by the name of Mooby.

XCIV. He beareth Argent, an Irish Broge, Sable, and an Inland Shoe, Gules. They are of some termed Dutch Shoes, for such turnup Hoses their shoes have, which they use to slide and sler with on their Skades.

G. a Cheveron between 3 Irish Broges, O. born by Arthur of Ireland.

A. 3 Inland Shoes G. born by Gresly.

XCV. He beareth Or, two Sandals, Sable, Buckled or Cyes, Argent. This was the ancient way of securing the feet of Travellers from the hardness of the Country passage; and consisted of nothing else; but a Sole (either of Leather or Wood) to which was made fast 2 or 3 Cyes or Latches, which was Buckled led on the top of the foot; the better sort adorned these Latches with Imbrauthered work, and set them with Stones.

A. 3 Sandalls S. Buckled and Adorned O. born by Palmer.

XCVI. He beareth Argent, a Shoe, Sable; Sole, Gules; the Roses, Knots, or Tyes, Azure; in base a Clog or Countrymans shoe, of the second, Sale, Or.

Parts of a Shooe.

The Heel Quarters.

The Languides or Straps, the one is tied with Shootyes, the latter with Buckles.

The Vamp, is all the piece that covers the top of the foot.

The Instep, is the top of the shooe at the tying place.

The Toe, and Toe Lining, is the lower part of the Vamp.

The Rann, the Leather as holds the Heel quarters and Vamp to the Soles.

The In-sole,

The Middle Sole } all the bottom Leathers of the Shooe that is trod upon.

The Out-Sole,

The Channel of the Sole, is the Nick in the out-Sole, in which the Thread lieth, it being rubbed down, covers the thread.

The Heel, which is made either of Wood or Leather.

The Lifts of the Heel, are those whole pieces of Leather, of which the Heel is made.

The Pumps for Heels, are only shavings of Leather beaten together, of which a heel is raised.

The Top piece of the Heel,

The Pegs that fasten the Leather of the heel together.

Shoes according to the fashion of the Toes, or Noses, are sometime round, others square, then forked, and others turned up like a hook.

Shoes in the fashion of the Heels, are some flat and low heeled, or with wooden high heels, broad and narrow; others Leather heels, which some term Polony heels.

Shoe soles, are either single sole shooes, or double Soles, or strong soled, that is with 3 soles.

The size of Shoes, is the length of them by such and such a number, as 1, 2, 3, &c. each size being the fourth part of an Inch.

A Childs Shoe, of one or two sizes, is five inches and a half long, and encreaseth to numb. 13. after that it begins to come into the sizes of a Man.

A Man or Womans Shoe, is eight inches and a quarter long, when it begins with the first or second sizes of a Man, what it exceeds that length every fourth part of an Inch is taken for a size larger, and so forwards to numb. 15.

Several sorts of Shooes.

Slap shoes, or Ladies shoes, are shooes with a loose Sole.

Galloshies, are false shooes, or covers for shooes, see chap. 5. numb. 70.

Pattanes, are Irons to be tied under shooes, to keep out of the Dirt.

Slippers, are shooes without Heel quarters.

Cloggs are shooes with thick Wooden Soles.

Pumps, are shooes with single Soles and no heels; some term them Lacky-Boys, Foot-men, or running shoes.

Pinked or raised Shoes, have the over leathers grain part cut into Roses, or other devices.

Laced shoes, have the over Leathers and edges of the Shooe laced in orderly courses, with narrow galloon Lace of any colour.

Imbrauthered shoes, are such as have the top of the shooe covered with Silk, Satin, or Velvet richly Imbrauthered.

Close Shoes, are such as have no open in the sides of the Latches or Languides, but are made close up like an Irish Brogue. These are to Travel with in foul and snowy weather.

A. 3 Shooes S. the Tyes G. is born by Fack.

S. a Cheveron between 3 Shooes A. Laced G. is born by Shoeman.

A. 3 Cloggs (or shooes with thick Wooden Soles) S. Soles, O. is born by the name of Clog.

He beareth Or, a Galotia, Sable. This is a kind of false shooe, or a case for a shooe, to keep them clean in foul Weather, and is a very good Bearing; for 3 Galotia's Sable, Soles Gules, in a Field Argent, is the coat Armour of Wargenberg; see the form of the Galotia, cap. 5. numb. 70.

He beareth Azure, a Slipper (or a Pantable), Argent, what a Slipper is, I need not much to describe, being a thing of so common a use amongst us; it is the coat of a worthy Family in Italy, called Sandaliger. See its form cap. 5. numb. 71.

B. 3 Slippers O. is born by Slipper. The same with the Toes erected, is born by Sleeper.

He beareth Argent, two (or a pair of) Patens, and a Padle Iron, Sable, is born by Padmore; what the Paten is, your Gentlewomen will tell you; it is a thing of Wood like a Shooe sole, with Straps over it, to tye over the shooe, having an Iron at the bottom, to raise the wearer thereof from the Dirt; by means whereof clean shooes may be preserved though they go in foul Streets; see its form and fashion, chap. 5. numb. 71.

T O

His Worthy Friend

Mr. RICHARD BRERETON, of Chester;

Son and Heir of George, Son of Richard Brereton, of Broughton, Gent.
 Lineally Descended of a younger Branch of a Second House, from the Ancient and Honorable Family of Brereton of Brereton, in the County Palatine of Chester.

WHEN I had finished the First and Second Books of the Academy of Armory,
 I then stood at a stay, to consider whether I was able to encounter with so great a Goliath as the remaining part was; for the vast Expence past, and the far greater to succeed; and having so few Allies, and never a Champion to appear for my present Assistance, caused me to Despair of Victory, or ever overcoming so Potent an Enemy; till you like a little DAVID stood up for my Cause, and put life into my fainting Spirits, taking the Quarrel into your hands, and not as an Assistant, Co-helper, or Subscriber, but as an Undertaker, with a purpose (that if none others would) you would Tread the Wine-press alone, for the Benefit of Friends and Ages to come; which worthy Proffers and real Performances, deserves you to be Crowned with the Honor of this my next Dedication, before others who say and do not, acknowledging my self your real and obliged Servant in the highest degree

Randle Holme.

C H A P. II.

HAVING in the former Chapter treated of things for the Head and Feet, both as they are used in places of Honor and Majesty, and also for Domestick use and service; so in this I shall set down what Garment or other things are used for the Body and Hands, both for them of the higher powers in the Court, to the Peasant in the Fields.

I. He beareth Sable, a plaine Band, with Band-strings pendant, Argent. born by the name of Band.

B. 3. Such A. born by the Seamsters as their coat.

This is an Ornament for the neck, which is of the finest white Linnen cloth, as Flaxen, Holland, Lawn, &c. & is made by the art of the Seamster, and Washed and Starched, Slickened and Smoothed by the care of the Landreys.

In the beginning of the raigne of King Charles the first,
 Yellow Bands were much used, which were Dyed with Safron, and Supported round the neck by a Pica-dill, of which see more numb. 7.

II. He beareth Gules, a Band Laced, (or a Lace Band) the Band strings Pendant, Argent. Seamsters in a Band making, have severall termes.

The severall parts of a Band.

The hollowing of the band, the rounding it for the neck. And the Rounding it about.

The Stock, that as goes round about the Neck.

The Hem or Seam, the sowing about the edge.

The Clocks, the laying in of the cloth to make it round; the Plaites.

The Strings and Buttons.

The Selvage, the out-side of the Cloth before it be cut.

The

*

Donum Guthberti Parker Auct. Costr. Gen.

W. B.

The Breadth of the Band.

The Depth or Stideneſs of the Band.

A Collar Band, is for the Collar of the Doublet only.

A Winkin Band, is of a middle ſize, not big nor little.

A Cloak Band, is ſo large, that it covered all the ſhoulders.

III. He beareth Gules, a Spaniſh Ruſſe, Argent. This is born by Don Rod-ern of Spain, or a Ruſſe in Red Sinifter, B. 3 ſuch A. is born by Ruſſe.

IV. He beareth Vert, a falling Ruſſe, with Strings pendant, Argent. This is born by the name of Van Ruffe.

V. He beareth Sable, a round Ruſſ, with Strings pendant, Argent. Three ſuch is born by the name of Ruſſe. Ruſſes are generally Cloth folded by Art into ſets, or turning, for two or three heights or doublings of Cloth.

A Cravat is another kind of adornment for the Neck, being nothing elſe but a long Towel put about the Collar, and ſo tyed before with a Bow Knott; this is the Original of all ſuch Wearings; but now by the Art and Inventions of the Seamſters, there is ſo many new ways of making them, that it would be a Task to name them, much more to deſcribe them; ſee in the Reſes of numb. 6, 10, 55.

VI. He beareth Gules, a Womans Neck Whiſk, Argent. This is uſed both Plain and Laced, and is called of moſt a Gorgett or a falling Whiſk, becauſe it falleth about the Shoulders.

A Right Rail, is a Ladies undreſs, being made after the faſhion of a Whiſk, but with a larger compaſs, reaching from the Neck, round about the perſon down to the middle or waſt; it is made Plain or Laced, or wrought with Needle Work, according to the Wearers Nobility.

A Binner or Tucker, is a narrow piece of Cloth Plain or Laced, which compaſſeth the top of a Womans Gown about the Neck part.

In this ſquare in the Baſe, is the ſhape of a Cravat tyed up in a Bow Knott, of which I have ſpoken before in numb. 5.

VII. He beareth Azure, a Neck Whiſk rounded and laced, Argent; or a Neck Whiſk, which ſtandeth round the Neck touching no part of the ſhoulders, but is ſupported by a Pickadil, which was a ſtiff Collar made in faſhion of a Band; which kind of wear was much in uſe and faſhion in the laſt Age by our Engliſh Gallants both Men and Women, as the Monuments of that time doth further manifeſt; for it is credibly reported that that famous place near St. James called the Pick, took denomination from this, that one Higgins, a Taylor, who built it, got moſt of his Eſtate by Pickadils.

VIII. He beareth Argent, a Dexter Arm habited with a Maunch, Gules; the Hand proper. This is born by the name of Maune. The hand in the Maunch I have ſeen in other Coat Armours, to hold a Croſs croſſett, a Flower de lis, or a Rose Slip, &c. with ſeveral other things, which in Blazon you may term a hand proper, holding ſuch or ſuch a deviſe.

G. a hand holding a flower de lis, O. in a Maunch, Er. is born by the name of Mohune, alias Sapell.

The like having the Maunch Varry, is born by Manley.

IX. He beareth Argent, a Dexter Arm out of an Old faſhion Wing of a Doublet, Azure, Ruſſe, Or, band Cuped, proper. Born by the name of Armſtrong.

G. out of the Sinifter ſide, an Arm Bowed, Sleeve, A. with a deep and broad Turn-up, O. the hand griped, the fore-finger extended proper, is the Coat of the Biſhoprick of Seckam, in Germany.

G. the like Arm from the Dexter ſide, Sleeve and large round Wing thereat A. Turn-up, O. holding of a Fiſh, born by Pray.

X. He beareth Pearl, a Maunch, Diamond. This was the faſhion of a Womans Sleeve in the time of King Edward the Firſt and Second, or thereabouts; and is the Maunch now in uſe by our modern Heraulds, though in the days of our fore-Fathers, it was made according to the examples following, 11, 12, 13.

O. the like G. born by Hallings, Earl of Pembrook.

A. the like S. born by Hallings, Earl of Huntington.

B. the like A. born by Delamare.

B. the like O. born by Conyers.

G. the ſame A. born by Marſhall.

Some draw the Elbow of this kind of Maunch, with a kind of flap hanging down, as is at the elbow of the Maunch, numb. 8. and the like to the bottom of the Bag, at the fore part of the Sleeve, but it is much more done without them.

In the baſe of this ſquare is the form of another Cravat, worn by Men about their Neck, of which ſee more in numb. 5.

XI. XII. XIII. Maunches were anciently made after theſe three faſhions; they were then called by theſe name of Maunchmale, a Maunchmale-tale, and a Moncher.

XIV. He beareth Or, a Maunch fixed to the ſinifter ſide, Gules. Others Blazon it a Maunch ſiſtant from the ſinifter ſide of the Eſcocheon; others leave out (the Sinifter ſide, &c. becauſe it is proper to come that way into the Field, and only ſay a Maunch ſiſtant. This is born by the name of De la Monch.

XV. He beareth Vert, a Dutch Maunch, (others call it a French Sleeve) Argent. Thus the French and Dutch do draw their Maunch or Sleeve, which name name I take to proceed from Manica the Latin word for the Sleeve of a Garment. This is born by Richden.

In the Base of this Quarter, is an Arm Imbowed, and couped B. the Hand extended, and such an one is born by Bondorf.

O. such an Arm issuant, Sleeve G. holding of a Key bendways, born by Skeleicher.

O. such an Arm couped, Sleeve G. holding of a Boars head by the under Jawle, or Jaw S. is the Coat of Van Michelsdorf.

XVI. He beareth Gules, a French, or Dutch Sleeve, Or: turned up, Argent. This is another kind of their drawing Sleeves with a long Flap, and sharp pointed at the Wrists of the Arm. Born by Elkin. B. 3 such A. turning up O. is born by Sleever.

In the Base of this Quarter, is an Arm extended, and couped; the Sleeves G. Buttoned the whole length S. in a Field A. which is born by the name of Arnstreich.

XVII. He beareth Argent, a Globe pendant, Sable; Imbrauthered, and fringed at the top, Or. Some hold that being set Fessewise, needs no other term, but a Globe; but if the Fingers be upward, then a Globe erected. The Glover hath these several terms for the right making up of a Glove.

The Thumb part.

The Opening of the Thumb, the compass of it.

The Under tong. The Space.

The Fingers.

the Forges, the peeces between the Fingers.

The Querties, the little square peeces at the bottom of the Fingers.

The Points, the peeces down the back of the Glove.

The Inside of the Glove, the Palm.

The Out side, the Back of the Hand.

The Gauntlet, all that reacheth behind the Hand to the Wrist.

Side Seam, the Sewing from the little Finger the whole length of the Glove.

XIX. He beareth Argent, a Witten Gules. This is of some termed, an Hedged Witten, or Globe to Hedg with; a Cethering Glove. This is born by Mitten. 2 Such crested A. is the Crest of Wachendorf.

XIX. He beareth Azure, a Hand in Fesse couped, proper; gripping of a Glove, Argent: Imbrauthered and fringed, Or. This is born by Handglove.

Such an Hand with a Cock standing on it G. is the Crest of Handcock.

XX. He beareth Argent, a Jack, or Loose Coat, Gules: Lined, Azure. This Coat I have observed to be in a London Sign, which was only to show, and give notice that a Man-taylor lived in that same House.

XXI. He beareth Sable, a Roman Garment, Argent: Some call it a Cordy Robe Garment, because it was the ancient fashion of the old Romans to have such Labels hanging at the Shoulder Wings, and from under the skirts of their Body Garment, which they call Cordylans, and Cordy Robes. This is born by the name of Roman. This with an Head and Face is by the French termed an Harpey as you may see, chap. 5. n. 59. G. 3 such Roman Coats O. is born by Reguli.

XXII. He beareth Azure, a Boys Coat, Or: Lined, Gules. This is the last of Coats used for Boys; after which they are put into Breeches. If it had hanging Sleeves, then we term it a Childs Coat. This is born by Boy.

G. 3 such A. Lined O. born by the name of Fitch.

The Several Parts of a Boys and Girls, Coat.

The Body part, in which is the Fore Body, and the Back part.

The Buttons, and Button holes.

The Laps, of which there are the Fore Laps, the Side Laps and hinder Laps.

The Sleeves, in which there is the inside and the outside of the Sleeve: and the Wings.

The Turn up or the Roll up, at the Sleeve-hands.

The Neck part, or rounding of the Neck. The Collar.

The Skirt, and the Under Coat.

The Girls Coat differeth in these things: hanging Sleeves, Laced up behind.

The Skirt long behind, and open before, having a Peticoat or under Coat.

The Neck Square before and behind.

XXIII. He beareth Argent, a Crest, Azure; Lined, Sable. This was the form of the Russian Emperors loose Coat when he came first to Enolan; shortly after King Charles the Seconds return from Exile, which Garb was so taken too, that it became a great fashion and wear, both in Court, City, and Country. The Several parts of this Fashion are these:

The Crest, a side deep loose Coat almost to the Feet with short sleeves.

The Tunick, a close bodied Coat, the skirts of it being down to the Knees.

The Sash, the Girdle by which the Tunick was tied to the Body, so called because it hath a round Button and Tassel hanging at the ends of it.

The Joan, is a girdle of Silk, without Buttons and Tassels, which is tied in a bow knot before.

XXIV. He beareth Or, a Handilion Azure; this was a kind of loose Coat worn upon a Dublet either Buttoned, or open: and much in use in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth: It had no Sleeves, but two broad Wings on the Shoulders, and hanging Sleeves at the Back; with side Skirts, or Laps.

XXV. He beareth Gules, the Body of a Thomas Golon to open before, Or. Some term it a Coat Body with close Sleeves, a Peak down before, and cordy Robe Skirts.

XXVI. He beareth Vert, a Childs, or Boys Coat with round or ruffed Sleeves, Argent: This is the last of Coats that Boys about five or six Years of age use to wear, after which they are put into Breeches and Doubles. There is another fashion Coat as numb. 22. used for Children. Such Coats as these are often painted on signs, and on cloths, to shew where *Tailors, Salesmen, and Bro-*kers live, or keep their Shops.

XXVII. He beareth Argent, a Semeare, Gules; Sleeves faced or turned up, Or, Petty-Coat Azure: the skirt or bottom Laced, or Imbrauthered of the third. This is a kind of loose Garment without and stiffe Bodies under them, and was a great fashion for Women about the Year 1676. Some call them Mantuas, they have very short Sleeves, nay some of the Gallants of the times, have the Sleeves gathered up to the top of the Shoulders and there stayed, or fastned with a Button and Loope, or set with a rich Jewel.

XXVIII. He beareth Sable, an High Winged Doublet and short Skirts with Trunk, or Sailers Breeches, Argent. This was the fashion of the Gentry in the beginning of King James his Reigh: the sleeves being either flashed or pinked as they then called it; and the Breeches so full in the wast, that they fell into Pleats and Folds, and being gathered at the Knees, they swelled round out: as in many Munuments to be seen, where they are tied above the Knees, and the hose also gathered under the Knees.

XXIX. He beareth Gules, a pair of Trunk Breeches, Argent. These were much in use with the Gentry and Nobility in the time of King Henry the Eight, as pictures of those time manifest, and also the latter end of Queen Elizabeth, and beginning of King James. But now they are cast out of Door by them, and only worn by Pages of Honor, and Pages of great Estates.

XXX. He beareth Argent, a Kings Parliament Robe, Gules: lined, and turned up Ermine. This is more briefly blazoned, a Kings Robe, a Robe of Estate, or a Parliament Robe; the colour and furring being ever as aforesaid, if it be otherwise then to be mentioned, as in the next example.

Two such Robes, and a Royal Tent; pertaineth to the Coat of the Worshipful Company of Merchant-Tailors as a part thereof.

XXXI. He beareth Or, a Robe Purpure; lined, turned up, or faced, Argent. These are also termed Robes of Estate, only are a degree short of the other, being without Ermine.

XXXII. He beareth Luna, a Mantle of Estate Mars; doubled or lined, and turned up Ermine: Duched and Garnished or Imbrauthered Sol: with strings fastned or fixed thereunto pendant fretways and tasselled of the same. These Arms do pertain to the Town of Brecknock in Southmales.

This kind of Mantle belongs to Emperours and Kings and free Estates when they appear to the People in their Royalty, Glory, and Splendor: anciently it was thus made, but the Mantle of Estate now in use hath a round

Cape of Ermine, see chap. 3. numb. 1. 2. 3. 4.

XXXIII. He beareth Gules, a Cassel, Or: Fretted and Purled Azure. The Mantle of Estate shewed you before, is garnished with strings tasselled, which kind of tasselling is also used to diverse other strings or Cordons of Creation, Robes, or Mantles, as to the habits of the Prince of Wales, Knights of the Garter &c. when they have their whole abiliment upon them.

G. 3 such Tassels O. born by the name of Wooler.

XXXIV. He beareth Argent, a Cloak Gules, Faced and Caped, Or. Else as others term it, turned out, and down; because the facing turns outwards, and the Cape down. The Cloak is round in compass, and by having a Cape is distinguished from another sort of covering without a Cape, called a Rocket, or a Mantle.

XXXV. He beareth Argent, a Cloak hanging by its Button in chief, Sable. Some term it a Cloak hanging per side, or sideways, by a string issuing out of chief. This if it be one colour, it needs no other term then a Cloak, of such a colour, &c.

XXXVI. He beareth Luna, an Heralds Coat, Adorned with the Sovereigns Coat of Arms; and fringed about, all in the proper Mettles, and Colours. Three such Coats make an accomplished Herald, viz. the Pursuivant, the Heraught, and the King of Arms, after whom there is no Superior in that Colledge of Officers.

XXXVII. He beareth Pearl, a Pall Amethyst; edged, fringed, and imbrauthered with Estroiles, Topaz. The Pall is the habite of Ecclesiastical Functions, and in the Romish Church is only worn by Archbishops, Bishops and Mitred Abbots; and not by them, but when they are in the Church about Divine Worship.

XXXVIII. He beareth Azure, a Cope (or a Priests Cope) Purple, Lined Argent: fringed, edged, and imbrauthered with a long Cross (or Christs Cross) and four Estroiles, Or. This is the Romish Priests Vestment, which was cast over the Serpice, when he served at the Alter.

XXXIX. He beareth Argent, a Livery Mans hood, or Tippet, Gules and Purple: counterchanged in Pall. Some say, counterchanged, the one of the other, this was a kind of hood, which the Masters and Stewards of Incorporated Societies, and Companies (about the beginning of Henry the Eight his Reign, and in former times) did wear upon their heads in publick meeting, and assemblies; to shew that they were the chief in office in those Societies. But about the beginning of Queen Elizabeths Reign, they then cast them off their heads, and hung them on their shoulders; in which order, the Masters, Livery Men, or Stewards of all Companys with us, wear them at all publick meetings to this day.

They are called a Stewards Tippet, or Livery Hood: a hood from its being worn on the head, and a Tippet from the long tail or train which banded behind almost to the Ground. These kind of hoods (but all black) black) are to this day worn by close Mourners at the Solemnities of great Funerals, every person according to his degree, having the Tippet or Trail thereof, longer or shorter: some to the middle of the back, others to the thighs, others to the ground, and the chief Mourners, and assistance trailing on the ground.

XL. He beareth in Chief, a Girdle Sable, Imbrathered, or Garnish, and Hook and Wasp, Or: in base a Turks, or Russian Girdle, or Towel tied in a Bow knot, the ends pendant, Argent: in a Field Gules. The first of these were a great fashion in the beginning of my days, but now clearly laid aside: the other in use in those Countrys to this day.

A. 3 such Girdles in pale G. hasped or hooked, O. born by the name of Girdale.

XLI. He beareth Argent, a Scarfe Gules, tied up and fringed about, Or. Others do say, a Scarfe, tied up with a Ribbon of Gold, fringed on the sides, or edges, and a broad or deep one at the ends pendant, Sol. But all this needs not, seeing both shoulder or middle waist Scarfs worn by Commanders, and Field Officers, have their Scarfs generally so fringed with Silver or Gold, or both.

But such Scarves as are worn at Funerals, have none at all, but tied up with Ribbon: the Scarves being black at the Death of a married person, and white at an unmarried.

XLII. He beareth Argent, a Garter or Ribbon, Azure: with the Wadge of St. George on hortic back, slaying of a Dragon, thereat all proper: having Drops, or Jewels pendant. This is the sign or taken by which a Knight of the Garter is manifest, by having about his Neck a blew Ribbon, with the foresaid Jewel hanging thereat: but of this, and the order, I shall have occasion to speak hereafter; and therefore say no more of it in this place.

XLIII. He beareth Argent, a Belt in pale Gules, fringed about the edges, studded, and buckled, having a Sword hanging therein fessewise, Or: Scabard, Sable. See the terms of the several parts of a Sword Scabard and Belt in chap. 18. numb. 21.

XLIV. He beareth Vert, an Annulet, or Ring, Or; and in Base two Annulets Imbraced (or double Annulets, or two Annulets coupled) Argent: of some two Annulets linked. The Annulet is the difference of a fifth Brother, therefore (as I conceive) very rarely born singly in a Coat of Arms.

G. an Annulet A. born by Coler or Koler.

G. an Annulet O. born by the name of Crampe.

B. 3 such O. born by Byset.

A. 3 such V. born by Argevile. And 3 S. born by Vasterheim.

A. 6 Annulets S. born by Luzer.

O. 6 such S. born by Lomther.

O. on a Bend G. 3 such A. born by Humprecht.

G. 6 Annulet Imbraced 2 2 and 2 O. by the name of Bracer. []

B. 3 double Annulets A. born by Treybrug.

XLV. He beareth Sable, three Annulets fretted, Argent. This is born by the name of Anley. I have seen a Coat with three of these thus fretted, which may be thus blazoned: Argent, on a Bend Sable three times, three Annulets fretted, (or Braced or Imbraced) Or; else nine Annulets imbraced, 3 3 and 3, else three Annulets in three Imbraced. Morgan in Sphere of the Centrv. lib. 3. fol. 21. terms them, three Tripple Simbal Rings: born by the name of Haberke.

In the Base of this quarter, is three Annulets conjoynd fesseways: such a Bearing, I find in pale between 2 Ostrich Feathers A. to be the Crest of Freydag of Westphalia.

XLVI. He beareth Argent, an Annulet between three such, each joyned to it by a Fillet, Sable. Born by the name of Berlinger. This is blazoned several ways: some say a Ring Filleted to three others in triangle: and others three Rings conjoynd to another in the Center, see lib. 2. chap. 1. numb. 7.

The Ring of Gold was expressly prohibited by the Romans to all Mecannick persons, except they were ranked with Souldiers: for as Pliny observeth the Roman Knights and those of the Military orders, were distinguished from the vulgar by the Rings they wore: and these were but Rings of Iron, those of Gold were given by way of prerogative to Ambassadors which they sent to Kings.

In the Sinister base is an Annulet beset round with Stones, and such a Ring O. set with Diamonds in a Field V. was born by Danpert.

G. 3 such O. debruised with an Escochion quarterly B. and A. is the Town Arms of Neversstat.

XLVII. He beareth Or, four Annulets one within the other, Sable. There belongs to a Ring, especially if it be made of Gold, first the Posie, being an inscription or Love - fancie engraven within.

The Piercing, is cutting it into Leaves and Flowers. The Enamelling, is the putting of them into their proper colours.

The Engraving, is the hatching it in several places.

XLVIII. He beareth Argent, an Annulet, or Ring Gobony, Or, and Gules. Born by the name of Shelding.

XLIX. He beareth Vert, a fret Argent, within an Annulet, Or. Is born by the name of Romdllove.

L. He beareth Jupiter, two Rings Or, enriched with Ruby Stones. Here I have caused two Rings to be set that the reader may understand the difference in the terms between a plain Stone Ring and on that hath the Collet and Shanke wrought. The first is a plain Shanked and Collet Ring with a Stone set in it: the later all over Enamelled, and cut or Engraven into Flowers, &c. Now the Terms to the several parts of the Ring are these.

The Shanke, is the Ring part.

Pierced Ring, is such as are hollow and engraven.

Wanted

Branches Ring, is those that are engraven with Flowers, Leaves, and such like.

Enamelled Ring, is wrought on the Gold with diverse colours and annailed, or burnt in.

The Collet is the Socket in which the Stone is set.

The Scallops, or Muscles of the Collet, are the works on the side of it, like those shells.

The Gaining of the Collet, are little heads of Gold or enamel set at the Foot of the Scallops.

The Foil, is a certain coloured Tin foil set under the Stone in the Collet, to give it a colour answerable to it self.

The Bessel, is the top of the Collet, which being beaten to the Stone, holds it in.

The Cressants, are the half rounds which the Bessel is cut into.

The Traps, are the square cuts at the bottom of the Stone, from whence the contrary lusters and sparks do proceed.

The Threads of the Stone, or Traps, are the edges between each square of the Stone.

The Foster Stone or Rose Stone, is cut into many squares ending in the Center, as lib. 2. chap 2 numb. 47.

The Table Stone, is flat on the top, whether square or lozenge, ibid. numb. 46.

The Pointed Stone, is such as rise out of the Collet, either round on the top, or sharp pointed, as these do.

B. a plain wrought Ring with a Ruby, is the Coat and Crest of Van Entzberg: and also of Van Entzenberg.

B. 2 Swans Necks respectant holding a Stone Ring between their Beaks, is both Coat and Crest of Van Moldorf.

V. on a Fesse A. a Spurrowell S. between 3 Stone Rings. Born by the name of Wipperman.

G. a plain Stone Ring is the Coat and Crest of Van Dornen.

O. a plain Ring the Collet or Socket, fans a stone S. is the Coat of Edelbecken of Bavaria: whose Crest is the like Ring the socket set with a Peacocks Tail.

G. a Stone Ring the Collet to the sinister chief, is the Coat of Rusenach of Frankford.

B. 3 Collets set with Stones, or Rubys: is born by Collet.

In the Dexter and Sinister sides I have caused a Collet, and a plain Ring with a Collet to be set, that the Reader may see and understand them what they are.

LI. He beareth a Hound Jupiter, Invironed with a Circle, and Insigned with a Cross Avellane, Sol. Some term it, a Globe with a Cross insired: all Bowds, or Globes upon the Crowns of all Christian Princes, have but one single Cross fixed upon them: except the Papal Treble Crown, which hath on the Globe a Treble Cross, like to his Cross Staff, numb. 69. It is termed Pomum Imperiale, an Imperial Ball. This is born by the name of Chamlus.

Per Bend B. and O. the like O. in base 2 Bendlers V. is born by the name of Fletchensteiner.

O. on a Ball parted per Pale B. and A. 2 Spurrowells counterchanged, ensigned with a Cross Botrony. Is born by Van Beroldingen. []

LII. He beareth Jupiter, a Royal Scepter in bend Sol. The Scepter is a thing born by the Hand of a King, which needs not be termed, to be in Pale, as Mr. Grillins fol. 274. hath it, being always born upright, as the Sword of State is: therefore let that term (in Pale) be omitted; but if it be in any other posture, as in this example then to mention how it is.

E. a Scepter in Pale insigned with an Eye O. born by Ojrys Surnamed Jupiter the Just: Son of Cham the cursed Son of Noah, as saith my Author.

B 2 Scepters in Salter O. born by Schurf.

G. 2 Scepters in Salter A. quartered by Urjenbecken.

In this Quarter is the Ancient form of another Scepter which was in use then: the Monument from whence I drew it could be no younger then 300 Years, see another also in numb. 65. 62.

LIII. He beareth Ruby, a Gentlewoman's foulding Fan half opened Argent, Garnished or Adorned with variety of Fancies, Stozes, or Landships, proper. Some term it a Circle Fan, because being opened to its full extent, it is just the half of a Semicircle. This is born by the name of Fane.

B. 3 such A. is born by Phirden.

LIV. He beareth Argent, a Feathered Fan, Sable, Handled, Or. This is also termed a Matrons Fan, being more comely and civil for old Persons then the former, which is stult with nothing but vanity. This is born by the name of Featherfoile.

A. 3 such with a Fesse between S. is born by Windall.

On the division score between this 54. and numb. 55. is set another form or making of a Cravat, contrary to those spoken off, numb. 6. 10.

LV. He beareth Vert, a Papish set of Beads with a Cross Patee fixed at the Bottom, or ends there of, Argent. This is the mark or cognizance of a Papish Saint, whether Male or Female, being always drawn with such Beads, with a Cross at them; either in their hands, on their Arms, by their Girdles, or near to them after some way or fashion or other, as it pleaseth the Painter.

LVI. He beareth Argent, a Braslet twice about of Curral, of some termed a Neck-lace of Curral. Now see the difference, if it be about the Neck, it is a Neck-lace; if about the Arm a Braslet. These Braslets are named generally according to their colour. If red, termed Curral: if yellow, Amber: if white, Pearl: if black, Pomander: &c. I find this born by the name of Brassaler.

LVII. He beareth Gules, a Chain of Gold, thrice turned about, crossing each other above, and below. Some blazon it a three fold Chain, or a Chain three time about, or of three rounds.

LVIII. He beareth Saphir, three Chains, the one within the other, all issuant out of the chief, Topaz. Born

Born by the name of Chaines or Chainee.

LIX. He beareth Argent, the Perclose of a Demy Garter Nowed, Gules: Buckled, Edged, & Studied, Or. This is by some Heralds blazoned, a Demy Garter, (or a Garter dimidiated, or Severed into the half) Nowed, and Garnished. This is also said to be Buckled and Interlaced with the end or Tab pendant. This Coat thus blazoned, belongs to the Family of Littlegood.

O. 3 such B. Garnished of the first, belongs to Narboon.

LX. He beareth Azure, a Locket, Or: with a Diamond set therein. Others term it, a Jewel consisting of a Lozenge table Diamond, set round about with small Rubys, all proper. Three such is born by Je. meller.

LXI. He beareth Jupiter, a Mace of Majesty in pale, Sol. This is called a Mace of Majesty, to distinguish it from the Mace born by a common Sergeant: this having upon it a Royal Crown Arched with Round and Cross; that only a plain Chaplet, or Circle raised into Flowers. Such a Mace as this is born before the King in all Solemn assemblies: as also before his Majesties Vice-Roys: and also before the Lord Chancellor, Keeper, and Treasurer of England, and the Lord President of Wales, and the North parts; and the Speaker of the Parliament, in the time of Parliament. Mayors of Corporations, &c.

The Bearer hereof is called a Sergeant at Arms; whose office it is to attend the persons aforesaid, for the execution of their commands, for the arrest of Traitors, and the apprehension of Malefactors. A Man that is under the arrest of a Sergeant at Arms is protected all that time from all other arrests.

LXII. He beareth Sable, a Virge (or a Bishops Mace) Argent. Some term it, a Cathedral Virge, or Mace; and the Bearer thereof a Virger: In former times it was but a small Silver Rod, in Latin Virga, having a round head, but now it is crowned about like the common Serjeants Mace, yet neither arched, or crossed, only in this they differ, this is twice or thrice longer in the rod, then the Serjeants is. This is made of Silver, and is carried before the Bishop, and the Dean, within the precincts of his Cathedral.

In the Dexter side of this square is the form of an other Scepter formerly used, being only a plain Rod with a flory top, and in Heraldry is termed a Virge or Rod Flory at the top: This kind or Scepter is much born by the Germans: as,

A. 2 such in Salter G. born by Van Venningen.

Per pale G. and O. two such in Salter, born by Wernsdorf.

B. 2 such in Salter A. born by Utenheim of the Rhine.

On a Cushion G. 3 such A. is the Crest of Stromer, and Nuczel.

G. such a Rod Flory in bend sinister, surmounted of another with a Pommel top, A. issuing out of the Base, an hill O. born by Erckell of Brunswick.

[]

G. two Rods flory in Salter A. a hill in Base O. born by Schuler of the same place.

In the Sinister side of this square is another form of a Pilgrims Staff, termed in Armory a Pilgrims Staff with a rest: or a Pilgrims Staff of St. James, or a Palmer's Staff of St. Jacob: and 3 such Sable, the heads, rests and ends, Or: in a Silver Field is born by the name of Palmer of Wimthrop in Lincolnshire.

LXIII. He beareth Pearl, a Sword of Estate in pale, the point erected Ruby; Cheap, Hilt and Pommel, Topaz: the Scabbard enriched with Stones of diverse kinds, set in Goldsmiths work proper. This is Gmillon way of blazoning it, fol. 280. but in my judgment there is a many superfluous words used about the same: as to say, in Pale, and then the point erected; when either would have served, or both might have been omitted, because Swords are ever born with the points upright, whether in the Scabbard, or without: if otherwise then to be mentioned. And therefore to say no more thereof, let all these forefaid Emblems, and tokens of Honor (as Sword, Mace, Virge, Purse) be ever blazoned in short; for it is well known, that by the addition of the word (Estate or Majesty) to them, they are to be of those colours, and metters, which usually they are off: as for example.

The Virge, is Silver, and so is the Serjeants Mace.

The Mace of Majesty, or Estate is Gold.

The Sword of Estate, or Majesty Gold, the Scabbard Imbrauthered.

The Purse of Estate, Imbrauthered with the Kings Arms, &c.

He that carrieth such Sword of Estate, is termed the Kings, or Citys Sword-Bearer; which it is here to be observed, that the manner of bearing it varieth according to the several Estate, and Dignities of the Persons, before whom they are born (as saith Liech) pag. 94. Yet now there is no such observation, but all Officers of Corporate Cities, and Towns; which have the Honor of a Sword, have the point of it born up right, as the Charter of those places have, and still do allow of it.

LXIV. He beareth Saturn, a Royal Sword, the Scabbard enriched with Imbrauthery, having a Belt nowed about the middle thereof, Mars, Edged, Buckle, and Tab, Sol. This is the Crest of that ancient Honourable and Loyal City of Chester, on a Torce of Sol, Mars, and Jupiter. In the Patent for the confirmation thereof, it is under William Flower Norray King of Arms his Hand and Seal, thus blazoned: the Symbol, or Badge of Regalitie, and Justice, a Sword erected sheathed, and wholly circled, or compassed with a Girdle, or Belt of Gold: and as it is termed a Royal Sword, or a Sword of Estate, so it may be called a Sword of Justice.

LXV. He beareth Argent, two Swords of Regality and Justice in Salter, through an Earls Coronet; the Hilts, Handles, Pommels and Cheaps, Or; Scabbard, Gules. This on a Torce, or Wreath of Argent, and Gules; is the Crest of that worthy person Sir Robert Brewood of Chester Knight, Serjeant at Law, Justice of North-Wales, and Recorder of Chester: But blazon it, two Majestie Swords in Salter, Doryed in the middle with an Earls Crown.

In Base is a Trident, or Neptune Hare, Sable; It is also called a three Toothed Fork. It is fained by the Poets, that when Neptune the God of the Sea is drawn, he hath one of these in his Hand, by which he is said to still, or make quiet, the raging of the Sea, when the Waves roar, by striking or thrusting it into the bellows thereof.

A the Head of a Trident S. is born by the name of Van Ebn: and the Crest is the same with a Fish upon the points of it A.

G. a Flag spear head in pale and two in Salter A. Gorged with a Coronet O. a Bordure Nebulce O. and B. born by Breuning.

LXVI He beareth Gules, a Crozier Staff, and a Rod of Authority. These are the two Emblems and Marks of Power and Authority, the first of the Church, and the other for the Estate; which as long as they go together the Kingdom will be happy, it divided both will be miserable.

For the Crozier, I have found it stiled, a Staff Crozier, a Pastoral Staff; a Bishops Staff, or Crozier; which the Bishop carrieth in his hand when he is in his Pontificke habit. This is much used in Coats of Arms especially in such, as concern Abbies, Priories, and Bishopricks. I shall give you some of them.

A 2 in Salter O and 3 on a chief * 3 Mitres of the second: which is the Arms of the Sea of Lusace.

U one with a Scarf turned about it 3 is the Coat of the Bishoprick of Eyslat in Germany, numb. 69.

G a Lion Rampant A. one in Bend Sinister O. born by Otto Bishop of Bayon, half Brother to William the Conqueror.

S. a Crozier with a Scarf or Gafanon, pendant A. is the Town Arms of Murhart.

Per pale O. and G. an Eagle Displaid S. a Crozier A. is the Arms of the Bishoprick of Chrimsee.

For the Rod of Authority, it is also called a White Rod, or Staff; a Magistrates Staff of Authority. I have rarely found it used in Coats of Arms, though its bearing is very Honourable: For it is carried as a Badge of their Authority under the King, by the Princes of Wales, and Dukes by Creation, Majors of great Corporations, Sheriffs of Counties, and the like.

O. a Lion Rampant S. Crowned: supporting such a Staff with both Paw, extending out of Base into the chief G. is born by Van Millere.

On the Dexter side of this square, is another old fashioned Hare, with a round Head and Handle; and such a Mace I find born in bend S. in a Field A. by the name of Winchelhausen.

LXVII He beareth Vert, a Cross Staff, Or: with a Papal Saufannon (or Banner or Flag) of two ends or points, Azure; charged with the English Cross. If the Banner be square, then there needs no such addition (as two ends, or points; or of one end) but only say a Cross Staff, Or: to which is fixed a Saufannon Argent charged with the Cross of England. This kind of Banner is not on the Staff as other Banners; Penons and Wyndons are, with a Socket: but by a string, as the long Streamer of Ships, hang at the Mast yards. See the addition to this, chap. 5. numb. 68.

LXVIII. He beareth Gules, a Crucifer, Or. It is also blazoned a Cross floy, or a long Cross flurt, and Bottony ficht in the foot of the fourth, Or: with a Man hanging, or nailed thereon, having a Linnen Towel wrapped about his middle, proper. Others more briefly term it Christ on the Cross: but by the Romans, it is generally termed a Portable Crucifer: and such a Cross as this is usually born before the Pop; and his Cardinals, and Archbishops, and Bishops in their respective Diocels, when they go their Processions, the Carrier of such a Cross is called a Crucifer, and Cruciger, a Cross Bearer.

In this Quarter is another form of a Pilgrims or Rectors Staff, of which see more in numb. 62. 70. These are much used in Arms among the Dutch and Germans: as

S. 2 such in Salter A. born by Die Haynlt.

G. a Rectors Staff O. between 2 Escallops A. by Thormayer.

G. 2 such in Salter A. born by Romer of Misian.

LXIX. He beareth Sapphire, a Treble Cross Staff, Topaz. This is also termed a Staff, on the top a Treble Cross Patee, each Pearled, or Buttoned; others term it, the Papal, or Popes Cross Staff: and the Universal Bishops Treble Cross. Now in the true way of blazoning, it may be termed a Staff Pomette and fitched, the Top Treble Crossed, Patee, Bottony. Others, a Treble Cross, the second and third Crossed Patee Bottony.

Here take notice there is diverse kinds of these Cross Staves, the Popes Staff is thus made with three Crosses: and so is the Cross on the Mound, on his Crown.

The Cardinals, and Patriarchal Staves are with a Double Cross Patee, the first Single, the other Crossed.

The Bishop hath but a single Cross on his Staff, as the next Example will make manifest, numb. 70.

In the Sinister side of this Quarter I have set a Shepards Crook: which as it is the Badge and Emblem of a Shepard, so it is the Coat Armour of Pastor, viz: Argent, three such Crooks, Sable.

In the Dexter side of this Quarter is set the fashion and form of another kind of Crozier Staff, which is somewhat different from that mentioned numb. 66. according to which the Germans draw theirs: though we do generally make them after the former. This is termed a Crozier Staff in Pale, bound about with a Towel; by Mr. Morgans lib. 3. fol. 66. Though others call it a Scarf or Gafanon turned about it.

LXX. He beareth Diamond, a Bishops Cross Staff, Topaz, between a Crutch and a Pilgrims Staff, Argent. Of the several names attributed to these I shall in their places give you notice, as

First, for the Cross Staff, some term it not a Bishops Staff, but a Staff, on the head thereof a Cross Pattee fixed upon a Globe, and the foot Botony fitch; though Gwillim, fol. 278. only terms it a Staff in Pale, with a Cross Pattee thereon: and Meyan, lib. 3. fol. 67. a Staff in Pale, ensigned with a Cross Pattee.

The Crutch is of some termed (and that vulgarly) a Crich, but more usually a Crutch Staff, which by Old Sir Geffrey Chaucer, was called a Potence. It is a Staff with a Cross piece on the head of it, which Lame Persons put under their Arm holes, thereby to support and stay them in their going, without which they were not able to stir. Such are born by the name of Crutch, viz. Gules, three such, Or.

The Pilgrims Staff hath also been by old Heralds termed a Rectors or Parsons Staff, or a Walking Staff, or a Burthen Staff, and the last so called, by reason such as Travel with Burthens make use of such a Staff to lay on their Carriage, and so put it on their Shoulders. It is a plain long Staff with a round head on it, which Head I have seen several times to be of a contrary colour from the Staff, the first being Argent, the latter Sable.

The Pilgrims Staff, is made with another round below the head and the hand, at which is usually placed a hook to hang any thing on, and so carry it on the shoulder, as numb. 62.

LXXI. He beareth Gules, an Italian Penny or Coin, with the Stamp of Mount Calvary, with a Cross upon it, with this Inscription about it, Iesus Rex noster, & Deus noster.

The like Stamp is on the Portugal Crown piece, having this Inscription, In hoc signo Vinces.

LXXII. He beareth Vert, a Shekel of Israel. This was a Coin of Silver used by the Kings of Judah and Israel; it contained in value of our Money 2 s. 3 d. on one side is the Impression of the Pot of Manna; on the other side Aarons Rod Budded; as you may see further hereafter in the Jews Coins.

LXXIII. An Old English Penny, having the stamp of an Escobion, with France and England Quarterly Quartered or Debrused, with a Cross Molyne.

Between these two squares on the division line, is placed another kind of Palmer's Scrip, it is in shew something different from that mentioned, numb. 81.

A. 3 such S. is born by Freunt.

LXXIV. On a Silver piece of Bullen, is coined two Incessants Fretting each other: This piece of Money is passable here in England for Two Pence; and is the Coin set forth by King Charles the Second; his Three Pence hath the like Figure of Three Crestants raised on his Coin; but of the several sorts of Coins, I shall speak more hereafter.

LXXV. He beareth Argent, a Purse closed, Gules, gorged with a Crown, Or. It cannot properly be called a Purse Crowned, because the ears or draughts of the Purse come through the Crown, in which respect the Crown is said to be about the Neck, not upon it.

G. Such a Purse A. Gorged O. born by Obermer.
B. 3 such O. is born by Burserheim.

LXXVI. He beareth Gules, a Purse Oberte, Argent. This is also Blazoned a Purse opened, and the Strings pendant, Buttons and Cassels, Or. This is born by the name of Purser.

A. the like G. born by the Family of Comradus Wittenbergensis, an Earl in Germany.

LXXVII. He beareth Pearl, a Purse of State, proper; but more largely, if you will have it (though this is sufficient) take Gwillims Blazon, fol. 281. he beareth a Purse open, the long Strings thereof, Fretted, Howed, Buttoned and Casselled, Mars, all Hatched, Topaz; Embrauthered all over with the Sovereign Ensigns of his Majesty, ensigned with a Crown Triumphant, and supported of a Lion Gardant, and a Unicorn, underneath the same an Escroll; but if the first Blazon be too brief, as the latter hath too many Tautologies, (see how a third person terms it; a Purse Embrauthered with the Sovereigns Coat of Arms in a Garter, Crowned and supported, with an Escroll under, according to his Bearing them; the Strings Fretted and Casselled, and Interwoven answerable to the colours of his Achievement; others have it thus, a Purse of State, the Strings, Mars, Hatched, Sol, Embrauthered with the Kings Ensigns or Tokens of Majesty, in their proper colours.

Such a Purse as this is born before the Lord Chancellor, and Lord Keeper of England, and also before the Lord Chamberlain of the County Palatine of Chester, as a peculiar Ensign of their high Magistracy, whose Office it is to mitigate the rigour of the common Laws of the Realm, according to the Rule of Equity.

LXXVIII. He beareth Sable, a Staff Coronetter, fitt on the top a Losenge, imbossed with a Butter, the corners Botony, Or. The like Staff to this, I have seen cut upon Grave-Stones in several Churches, which makes me judge it to be a Staff of some Ecclesiastical Order, but whether for or belonging to a Dean or Dean Rural, Abbot, or Prior, or Canon Regular, I have not as yet found out; but sure I am, it doth belong to some degree below a Bishop.

LXXIX. He beareth Argent, a Caduceus, or Mercurys Mace, proper. This is called also a Snake Staff, and Mercurys Soporiferous Rod, by which he made Peace, and united Serpents at variance. It is no other than a slender Staff or Wand, having two Serpents Annodated, or entwisted about it, whose heads meet together at the higher end, and the tails at the lower end or handle.

Beside this form of Caduceus, I have another stamped on the Ancient Roman Coin, made in form and fashion of that Engraven on the partition score of this quarter, viz. two Serpents respectant Torqued, joined together at the tails, fixed to the end of a Wand or Rod. Also this form, with Wings set to the Rod, is on some other Roman Coins; see lib. 2. chap. 19. numb. 1. 18. and sometimes the Snakes are made crossing one the other, as in the sinister side of this Square.

LXXX. He beareth Argent, two Muffs, or Hand Muffs; the first is Sable, turned up at each end with a Furr of the same; the second is of the Furr Sable, which latter is the most usual way of making the Muff, be the Furrs of Dogs, Cats, Fichets, and such like, and are lined within, with a Cony skin, or Furr, or Wool of the Rabbit. By this Sign or Cognizance hung out to publick view, you may easily know where a Furrier or Muff-maker dwelleth, and therefore is a fit Badg for one of such an Employ.

LXXXI. He beareth Argent, a Palmer's Scrip, or Pilgrims Bag, with its Girdle, Sable, Buckles and Cable, Or. This is a kind of Bag or Purse, which Travellers carry at their sides by the Girdle, in which they put things necessary for their Journey; and is born by the name of Scrip. But 3 such G. with Golden Girdles, in a Silver Field, is born by the name of Scrip-shale.

LXXXII. He beareth Gules, an Irish Penny, Argent. This hath the Stamp of the Harp and Crown upon it; or coined with the Badg of Ireland. Three such is born by the name of Iste.

LXXXII. He beareth Sable, a Scotch Penny, Argent, stamped with the Thistle and Crown upon it. These two Bearings may also be termed Plates charged or stamped, or coined, with a Thistle and Crown, or with the Badg of Scotland. Born by the name of Scotshman.

LXXXIV. He beareth Azure, a Penny Yard Penny, proper; it is stamped with a Cross Moline between 12 round Buttons, and are called Penny-Yard Pence, of the place where they were first Coined, which was (as is supposed) in the Castle of Penny-Yard, near the Market Town of Rosse, in Herefordshire.

B. 3 such A. born by Spence.

G. a Cheyeron between 3 such A. born by Penny.

LXXXV. He beareth Sable, an Penny the Se, stamped with a Cross throughout the Bullen between 12 Buttons, with an Inscription about.

On the other side this Coin was the Kings Face crowned with a Ducal Crown; this is by most called a Butter Penny, and also a Cross Penny, from its stamp.

In respect we are now come to speak of Stamps and Coins; I hold it not impertinent (by the way) to give some little touch of the names of several pieces of Coins, now and in former time, together with their value, that the Reader upon the sight, or hearing thereof, may be able to judge of them.

Jews Silver Coin.

A Shehab, or an Agorah, or in some places a Chitah, it was the twentieth part of a Sicle, or Shekel, and had upon it the Image of a Lamb, it is worth in our English money, a penny half penny.

A Fuz, or Fuzim Shekel, quadrans sicti, or the fourth part of a Sicle, it was worth a Roman penny, and in our money seven pence half penny; yet some say 1 s. 3 d.

A Shelishih Shekel; triens sicti, the third part of a shekel, it is in our value worth ten pence.

Jews Gold Coin.

A Bekangh Shekel, dimidius sicti, an half shekel, it was worth in our money one shilling three pence: It was for distinction of the Shekel, called the common Shekel, and weighed a quarter of an Ounce, in Gold 15 s.

A Shekel, or sicle of the Sanctuary, it contained precisely half an Ounce of Silver or Gold. This was called Isseph, or Silgha; which to distinguish it from the Kings Shekel, upon the one side was to be seen the Measure or Pot wherein they kept Manna in the Sanctuary, with this superscription, The Sicle of Israel; and on the other side the Rod of Aaron flourishing, with this Inscription, Holy Jerusalem; it is worth in our Money two shillings six pence, and in Gold 30 shillings: But after the coming of our Saviour, the Converted Jews changed their shekel, and on the first side stamped the Image of Christ, with the Hebren Letters Jed and Schin at the mouth of the Image, and the Letter Vau in the Pole, which three Letters made his name Jesu. On the reverse side there was no Picture, but the whole rundle was filled with this Inscription in Hebren Characters, which in English was thus, Messias the King cometh with Peace, and the Light of Man is made Life; but in some Coins for the latter clause of that Inscription is Read God is made Man.

The Kings Shekel, was less than the Shekel of the Sanctuary, it was worth in English money, one shilling ten pence halfpenny; in Gold 22 shillings six pence; yet Holyoake in his Dictionary values it to no more than the half of the sicle of the Sanctuary, viz. one shilling three pence, this must be the common sicle.

A Mina, answereth to our pound weight, of which there is three sorts; as the common Mina, which is 15 of our half Ounces, and is worth in our English money 37 shillings sixpence; and in Gold 22 pounds 10 shillings.

A Kings Mina, or pound, weighed 20 half ounces, which amounted in our English Money to Fifty shillings, and in Gold to 30 pound.

A Mina, or pound of the Temple, weighed 25 half ounces, which in our money is three pounds two shillings six pence, and in Gold 37 pounds ten shillings.

D

A

A Talent or Citar, was a certain Summ of Money with the Hebrews or Jews, as our Pounds, Nobles, or Marks is with us; it did amount to 3000 shekels, or half ounces; yet of these Talents there was three sorts, as

A Common Talent weighed 1500 half ounces, or Common Sicles, which is in our money 187 pounds 10 shillings, and in Gold 2250 l.

A Kings Talent weighed 3000 of the Kings Sicles and was in value with us worth 281 pounds 5 shillings, and in Gold 3375 pounds.

A Talent of the Temple or Sanctuary, weighed 3000 sicles of the Temple, which amounteth to 375 pounds; in Gold was worth 4500 pound English.

The Heshita, was a certain Coin amongst the Hebrews, on the one side whereof the Image of a Lamb was stamped. In the Judgment of the Rabbins, it was the same to Obolus; twenty of them went to a shekel; so that the value thereof was one penny half penny.

The Ceseph, which we render Argentens, a piece of Silver; and often time is put absolutely for Namius, Money; but if mentioned among the Hebrew Coins, it stands for a shekel, and valued at 2 s. 6 d. if it stand for a shekel of the Sanctuary or the common Shekel, then it is valued at 1 s. 3 d. But if it be mentioned in the Greek Coins, then it signifieth the Attick Dracma; which is in our Money a penny half penny.

A Zuz, it was a weight of Gold, which was also called Darkemonim; and of the Caldeans Edarconim; it was worth in our money seven shillings six pence; the Persians called it an Adarchon, and Drachmon.

A Zahab, is a certain piece of Gold of theirs, it was in value to our money 15 shillings; it was also called the common shekel of Gold.

Greek Silver Coin.

The Drachma, or Attick Drachma, it is coined with a Burning Light, and is worth in English 7 pence half penny; four of these makes a shekel.

The Drachma of Aeginea, worth one shilling and a half penny.

The Stater, which was also called the Tetradrachma, on the one side was the head of Minerva, upon the other an Owl; it is worth in English two shillings six pence. This was the Attick Stater.

The Corinthian Stater was worth 1 s. 8 d. 3 q.

The Macedonian Stater was worth 2 s. 9 d. q. two thirds of a q.

The Didrachma, it had the impression of a Bull or Oxe, it was worth one shilling three pence.

The Tridrachma, which is 3 drachmas, worth 1 s. 10 d. ob.

The Obolus or Attick Obolus; so called, because it was oblong, and ended in a sharp point; it was worth 1 d. q.

The Aeginea Obolus, was worth two pence half farthing, and the third part of a farthing.

The Semiobolus is worth a half penny farthing. This was the least of the Greek Silver Coins.

*

The Diebolus, it had on one side Jupiters Face, on the other an Owl, it was worth 2 d. ob.

The Triobolus of Attick, was worth 3 d. ob. q.

The Aeginea Triobolus, was worth six pence farthing.

The Tetrobolus, had on one side Jupiters Face, on the other two Owls coined; it was worth 5 d.

The Siglus, or the Asiatick Siglus, was worth 10 d.

The Asiatick Cistophorus, it was so called, because of the Image of one bearing of a Basket, or Chest upon it; it was worth in English 4 d. ob.

The Asiatick Danaces, it was a piece of Money, which the Greeks usually put into the mouth of their Dead, to pay Charon for their passage to Elizium, it was worth in English Money an half penny farthing, and two third parts of a Farthing.

Greek Brass Coin.

The Astarius, it was a Brass piece of Coin, and was worth the quarter of a Farthing in English account.

The Quadrans, it was another Brass Stamp, worth a quarter of an half Farthing.

The Quadrans Alsus, it was worth a Farthing and a half.

The Ereolum, it was a Brass Coin, worth a farthing and an half, and one third part of an half Farthing, or Mite.

The Minute or Minutum, it is the seventh part of an Ereolum, which is worth little more than half a Mite, or half a quarter of a Farthing and half.

Greek Gold Coin.

The Attick Stater, was in Gold the weight of two Drachmas, and was worth 15 shillings.

The Stater Darius, it was Persian Gold, it had the Impression of a Sagitarus upon it, and valued to 15 s. it was also called an Adarchon.

The Stater of Macedonia, it was worth of our Money 18 s. 4 d.

The Stater of Cizycus, so called (as is thought) of Cizycus, a Grecian City, valued with them at 17 s. 6 d. but is worth in our English Money 1 l. 1 s.

The Semistater was worth the same price 17 s. 6 d.

The Tetrestater, was worth three pounds.

The Cizycenus was worth seven shillings six pence.

The Attick Minas, weighed 100 Drachmas, and was worth with us three pounds two shillings six pence.

The Talent was of diverse kinds, according to the Countrey where it was used; and for the most part 6000 Drachmas made the same, as

The Attick Talent contained 6000 Drachmas of Attica, and was worth in our money 187 pounds 10 shillings; but the greater Attick Talent was worth 250 pounds.

The Syrian Talent, was worth 46 l. 17 s. 6 d.

The Egyptian Talent was worth 250 l.

The

The Euboian Talent, worth 125 l.
 The Rodian Talent, was worth 140 l. 12 s. 6 d.
 The Babylonian Talent, worth 218 l. 15 s.
 The Eginea Talent, worth 312 l. 10 s.
 The Alexandrian Talent, was worth 375 l.
 The old Talentus siculus, or Shekel Talent of the minor or lesser sort, was worth but 3 s. 9 d.
 The Neapolitan Talent, was worth so much, viz. 3 s. 9 d.
 The New Talentum siculum, and the Sicilian Talent, are all one, and is worth 1 s. 10 d. ob.
 The Regian Talent, was worth but 3 d. ob. q.

Romans Brass Coin.

The Minutum, or Mite, it was the 8 part of a Farthing, it weighed half a Barley Corn, and was worth in our money three parts of one Farthing.
 The As, or Es; for Ereus, was a Coin worth the tenth part of a Roman Penny, which with us is worth an half penny farthing. Some call it an Astarius, or Astarium, it weighed 4 grains of Barley, and contained eight Mites.
 The Semis, is as much as half an As, it is worth a farthing and a half.
 The Triens, is the third part of an As, which is half a farthing.
 The Quadrans or Quadrant, a Farthing, it weighed a grain of Barley, it consisted of 2 Mites, and was the fourth part of an As; it is by some Authors called Triuncis and Triuntius, because it was a diminution of the pound, containing three ounces, and is with us worth 3 Mites, or 3 quarters of a farthing.
 The Sextans, or sixth part of an Asis, worth half a Farthing, or 2 Mites.
 The Uncia, was the tenth part of an Asis, worth 1 Mite.
 The semuncia, worth half a Mite, or half of the fourth part of a Farthing.
 The Sextula, the sixth part of an Uncia, or ounce, it is worth the sixth part of a Mite; these are the ancient Brass Money used among the Romans; but there were greater used in latter times, as
 The Decussis, or Decem Asis, a Roman Penny, it is in our value 7 pence half penny.
 The Uicesis, 2 Roman Pennies, worth with us 1 s. 3 d.
 The Tricesis, 3 Roman Pennies, worth 1 s. 10 d. ob. and so they ascended higher and higher to 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 Roman Pennies, the last of which they called a Centussis, behind which they went not with any Brass Coin.
 The Centussis, or 10 Roman Pennies, was worth 6 s. 3 d.
 The Follis, was a Brass Coin (or Iron as some say) and so called because thereon was stamped the similitude of a Leaf, and was worth a Farthing, half Farthing, and one third of a Farthing.

Romans Silver Coin.

The Denarius Aetius, or the old Roman Penny, was a Silver Coin, it weighed the seventh part of an Ounce, it was worth 10 Asses, and worth with us eight pence half penny, Mite, and one seventh part of a Mite.
 The Denarius Novus, or new, or common Roman Penny, was worth in our money 7 pence half penny; but the Penny of the Sanctuary was worth 1 s. 3 d.
 The Bigatus, and Quadrigatus, they are both all one with the Roman Penny; and were so called, because these words were stamped upon one side of them; they were worth 7 pence half penny a piece.
 The Victoriatius, a Coin having the Image of Victory upon it, it was worth 3 pence half penny.
 The Auristimum, weighed two Drachmas, and was worth 15 d.
 The Sestertius, so called of Sesquitercius, it was 2 Asses and a half, and worth in our money 3 d. ob. q. Some say worth but 1 d. ob. q.
 The Obolus, is the sixth part of a Denarius, and is worth in our money a penny farthing; though in these days the Latins and Romans use the word Obolus, but for an half penny.
 The Libella, is the tenth part of a Roman Penny, and worth an half penny Farthing.
 The Sembello, is so called, because its half the Libella, and was worth a farthing and a half.
 The Teruntius, was the fourth part of a Denarius, and was worth 2 Mites and a half.
 The Ceratium, and the Siliqua Cornuta, because there was stamped upon it the Moon increasing, by which it was known to be more than the common Ceratium, or Siliqua, and was worth 7 d. ob. the common but 5 d.

Romans Gold Coin.

The Denarius Aureus, the Gold Penny, so called, because such had the same Stamp, or was of the same bigness as the Silver Pennies, it was worth 17 s. 1 d. ob. such were called Aureus Pileus, and Aureus Consularis, being Coined in the time of the Consuls.
 The Aureus recentior, or Aureus Imperatoris, these were pieces of Gold Coined about the beginning of the Emperours, and weighed 2 Drachmas, and was worth 15 s.
 The Semis Aurei, worth 7 s. 6 d.
 The Tremis Aurei, was worth 5 s.
 The Aureus Constantini, of the weight of a Drachma, and was worth 8 s. 6 d. ob.
 The Aureus Valentiniani, Gold Coined by the Emperour Valentinian, it was also called Sertulala, because it was the sixth part of an Ounce, and worth 10 s.
 The Semis Aurei, of the said Valentinian, was worth five shillings.
 The Triens, or Tremis Aurei, worth 3 s. 4 d.
 D 2 The

The Scrupulum Aurei, which was the fourth part of a Golden Sertula, and worth 2 s. 6 d.

The Ancient Romans numbered the sums of Money by these four ways;

By the Sestertium, which as it is put in the Neuter Gender, from Sestertius of the Masculine; then it contains a thousand Sestertios, and is as much as in our sum of Moneys 7 l. 16 s. 3 d.

By the Libra, or Pound Weight, containing 12 Ounces of Silver, which is worth 3 pounds.

By the Talentum, or Talent, which contained 24 Sestertios, or 6000 Denarios, and is worth 187 l. 10 s.

By the Sportula, which was a certain small Summ of 400 Quadrans, which maketh 10 Sestertios, and was as much as our 1 s. 6 d. ob. q.

See further of these Ancient Coins in these Authors. Francis Holyake, at the end of his English Dictionary. The Travels of the Patriarchs, by Hen. Bunting, p. 375, &c. Observations Natural and Moral, by Jo. Weems, pag. 141. &c.

Goodwyn on the Jews Antiquities, pag. 260.

English Brass Coin.

A Farthing, it is of Copper at this time, which in weight is the --- part of an Ounce, having on one side the Kings head, with a Laurel about his Temples, and this Inscription Carolus a Carolus; on the other side the Emblem of Britannia, being a Woman with a Shield and Spear, holding a Star in her right hand, and written about Britannia, 1673.

An Halfpenny, it containeth 2 Farthings, having the same Images and Supercriptions; these are all the Brass Moneys used in England.

English Silver Coin.

A Half penny Silver hath the Rose on one side, and the Thistle, or a Portcullis on the other.

A Penny in Silver Car. 1. Coin, was the same to his Royal Father, Jac. 1. viz. their heads on one side, with an I. and the Arms of England, Scotland, France and Ireland on the other, it containeth half an Inch, half a quarter in diameter. Car. 2. Coin hath his head on one side, and a Cressant on the other for a Penny.

A Two Pence of Queen Elizabeth, King Jam. s. King Charles the first, have their Pictures on one side, and the English Arms on the other, with this II. in diameter half an Inch, and two thirds of a quarter; Charles the 2. hath two Cressants Braced, as numb. 74.

A Threepence in all respects answereth the Twopence having this Token III. and in Charles the Seconds Coin three Cressants Braced or Fretted triangular; the diameter directly 3 quarters of an Inch.

A Four pence, or Groat, or an Old Groat, hath the English and French Arms quartered on one side, and but the Four Pences of the foresaid Kings have their heads on one side, with the mark IIII, with the English

Coats in a Compartment; but Charles the Seconds Mill'd Groat hath his head after the Roman manner on one side; and four Cressants Fretted in form of a Cross crowned between a Flower de lis, a Rose, a Thistle and Harp, with this Inscription, Carolus D. G. Mag. Br. Fr. & Hib. Rex. 1672.

A Sixpence, or Tester, answereth the Kings Four pence in all respects, having this mark VI or a Rose; if it have neither, it is a half Faced Groat, and goeth for no more. It is an Inch in Diameter.

A Shilling or Twelve Pence, it containeth in weight, the fifth part of an Ounce Troy; stamped on one side with the Kings head Crowned, with this mark XII. Inscription Carolus D. G. Mag. Br. Fr. & Hib. Rex. with the English Quarterings in a Compartment, with this about it, Christo Auspice Regno; in diameter it is an Inch and a quarter.

A Mill'd Shilling of Charles the Second, is in all respects like the Mill'd Half Crown, only less.

A Philip and Mary Shilling, hath a Man and Woman head respecting each other, with a Royal Crown over them; on the other side the Arms of Spain and England Impaled.

Queen Elizabeths Shilling, had her Effigies and Title on one side, and the Arms of England in a plain Escuchion, viz. France and England quarterly, with a Cross throughout the Diameter of the Coin, ragged or railed at the end, with this Inscription, Posui Deum Adjutorem meum; the like Cross was in her Six Pence and Groats.

An Half Crown, or a George, so called, because it hath on the one side a George on Horse back, or a Man Armed Cap-a-Pee, Brandishing his Sword, and his Scaff flourishing behind him, with this writing about Carolus D. G. Mag. Brit. Fr. & Hib. Rex. on the other side the English Quartered Coats in a Compartment, with the foresaid Inscription, Christo Auspice Regno; it weigheth about half an Ounce, and passeth for 2 s. 6 d.

The Mill'd Half Crown of Charles the Second, hath his Head in the Roman Garb, with this Inscription Carolus II. Dei Gratia; and on the other side four Escuchions Crowned in Cross, between so many times two Cbraled; on the Escuchions is 1. the Arm of England. 2. of Scotland. 3. of France. 4. of Ireland. The Inscription Mag. Br. Fr. & Hib. Rex. 1676.

A Crown piece, or Five Shilling piece, is the largest Coin we have in Silver, it is an Ounce Troy, having the like Stamps as the Half Crown, some call them a Double George or Boze-Han.

The Mill'd Crown pieces, or Five Shilling pieces, in all respects do answer the Mill'd Half Crowns; they are called Mill'd Pieces, because Coined round and Mill'd, with Letters on the Rim or edges of them, on the out side, by which they cannot be Clipped; the Inscription is * * Decus & Tutamen Anno Regni Victoris nostri Octavo.

English Gold Coin.

A Crown or five Shillings Gold, is the least piece we have in England: It hath the Kings head on one side with with the Royal Crown, and this mark V. the Inscription, D. G. Mag. BR. Fr. Et Hib. REX. on the other side the English Arms in a compartinent Crowned with a C. and an R. Crowned, with this Inscription, Cultores Sui Rotem: It weigheth about two penny Weight.

Henry the Eighth, his first Croton was two Penny weight, and nine Grains: was worth seven Shillings.

E. Elizabeth, and R. James Crowns; was two Penny weight: and worth five shillings, six pence.

The Double Brittain Crown, is four penny weight, and is in value eleven shillings, three pence.

The Ten Shilling Peece of Charles the first in all respects answered the five shillings peece for the Coinage, it had this X set on the Head side.

The Angel, or the Noble Angel: so called because St. Michael the Archangel slaying the Dragon, is on one side with the Inscription, Henricus VIII. D. G. Ang. Et Fr. and on the other side, a Ship with one Mast and Tackles, and an Elcochion with France and England quartered, and this writing about, Per Cruce Tua Salva Nos: It is three penny weight, seven Grains, and a quarter: and worth eleven shillings.

The Half Angel, hath the same Impresses, and is worth five shillings, six pence.

The Old Angel Noble of England, hath the same impression, but on the Ship side, it hath this writing A. Dno: Factum Est Istud Et Est Mirabili: it was four penny weight ten Grains: and passed for fourteen shillings, six pence.

The Half of that Angel, was so stamped, it contained two penny weight, four Grains, and is worth seven shillings six pence.

The George Noble, was three penny weight, and one Grain: it was worth nine shillings.

The Rose Noble, or Rose Royal of England: was four penny weight, thirteen Grains; worth fourteen shillings six pence: It hath a Rose with the Arms of France in the middle of it, with this writing about, IHE: Autem Transiens Per Medium Illorum Ibat: and on the other side, out of the Hul of a Ship, a Demy King holding a Sword in his right hand, and a Shield with the Arms of France and England quarterly: Crowned with a Ducal Crown, in the left hand; and written about Henricus D. G. Rex Ang. Fr. Dns. Hib. This peece is also termed, the Rose Royal, or the Royal of England.

The Double Rose Noble, Coined by King Henry hath a King Enthroned, in his right hand a Scepter, and left a Mound; with this writing, Henricus D. G. Rex Ang. Et Fr. Dns. Hib. on the other side the Arms of France and England quarterly in the middle of a double Rose, with this Inscription about: Ihesus Autem Transiens Per Medium Illorum Ibat. This is ——— penny weight, and passes for thirty nine or Forty shillings.

The Spare Royal, or Spare Royal of England, it is four penny weight, twenty three Grains, and is worth sixteen shillings six pence.

The Half Spare Royal, is worth sixteen shillings three pence.

The Salute of England, worth six shillings ten pence.

The Sovereign, Coined by Henry the Eighth, Edward the Sixth, Queen Elizabeth, King James, they all weighed between three and four penny weight, and passed for eleven shillings, they had their Images and Supercriptions, on one side: and their Arms Crowned on the other.

[]

The Great Double Sovereign of King James, weighed six penny, six Grains: and passed for two and twenty shillings, had the figure of the King to the middle in Armour Crowned holding a Sword and Mound: on the other side the English, Scotch, French, and Irish Arms: with Faciam Eos in Gentem Unam. The Great Triple Sovereign, was ten penny weight, and passed for three and thirty shillings.

The Half Sovereign of King Henry the Eighth, had a double Rose Crowned, with an H. R. Crowned on one side and his Arms Crowned, all with Ducal Crowns, and this Inscription; Henricus VIII. Rutilans Rossin: Spp: Di. G. Ang. Fr. Et Hib: Rex.

Note that what Coin soever was stamped in Wales, it ever had on one side, or in some part of the side, the three Feathers in the Crown impressed.

We Sum up our Money seven ways: as
By Pounds which is twenty shillings.
By Marks which is thirteen shillings, four pence.
By Angels which is ten shillings.
By Nobles which is six shillings, eight pence.
By Crowns which is five shillings.
By Shillings which is twelve pence.
By Guats which is four pence.

Scotch Brass Coin.

A Penny Scotch, twelve of these is worth one penny English.

An Atchison, is a Mettle peece, neither Silver, Copper, Brass, Lead or Tin, it is like Masline and is valued to be four Bodels, six of them is a Penny English.

A Bodel, three of them makes an half penny English.

A Placke, three of them makes a penny English.

A Babee, is an half penny English.

A Shilling of Scotland, is a penny English.

Scotch Silver Coin.

A Scotch twenty pence, it hath a Rose on one side, and Thistle on the other; it is marked with XX. and is worth in English, two pence. Some call it a two shilling peece.

A Babee of Scotland, is an half penny English. These peeces are Coined both in Copper, and Silver.

A Forty pence peece Scotch, — which is worth three pence half penny farthing English: It is called a quarter peece because it is the fourth part of a thirteen pence half penny peece, which the Scotch call a Mark peece.

A Four Shilling and a Babee peece, which in our Money is four pence half penny. It hath the Harp and Crown on one side, and this writing, Tueatur Un t Deus, on the other side a Kings head looking to the sinister side; and Inscription, Jacobus D. G. Ang. Sco. Fran. Et Hib. Rex.

A

A 6 Shilling peece and a Babee, or a half Mark Scotch, or half a thirteen pence half penny: It is called an half peece, it passeth with us for six pence, half penny farthing. It is Coined in all respects answerable to the Mark peece of Scotland, or thirteen pence half penny.

A Nine Shillings peece Scotch, --- in our Money nine pence: it hath the Harp crowned on one side with this Inscription, Exurgat Deus Dissipentur Inimici: on the other side the Kings head with a Royal Crown, Inscribed Jacobus D. G. Ang. Sco. Fra. Et Hib. Rex.

A Ten Shilling peece, and a Babee --- of some called a Baldpate, it is in English Money ten pence half penny.

A Mark or Scotch Mark, in our Money worth thirteen pence half penny, on one side it hath a Thistle flit with two Leaves, and Crowned: with this writing, Revera Fortia Protegit, on the other side the Scotch Arms with a Royal Crown on it, and this Inscription, Jacobus Vi. D. G. R. Scotorum.

A 12 Shilling Scotch, or shilling English, that is twelve pence: It is in all things like to our English Coin, but that on the Arms side, the Scotch Coat is set in the first and fourth Quarters: and so they do in all their other Coins, whether six pence, half Crowns or Crowns, &c. that are Coined amongst them in Scotland.

A Pound Scotch, is 1 s. 8 d. or 5 Groats English.

A three Pound peece in Scotland, is in English sterling just five shillings.

Scotch Gold Coin.

The Scotch Crown, is worth five shilling six pence English. They call it five Mark peece.

A Scotch Rider, or Horseman: is worth eleven shillings, on one side a Man and Horse Cap a Pee, on the other the Scotch Arms Crowned viz. a Lion Rampant in a double Tressure flurt: with this Inscription, Spero Meliora. They call it also a Ten Mark peece.

The half Thistle Crown, worth two shillings nine pence.

A Scotch Angel, it is worth ten shillings ten pence, having on one side the Scotch Arms Crowned, with Jacobus Vi. D. G. R. Scotorum, on the other side a Sword and Scepter in Salter between two Thistles, and a Crown in chief; in base 1601. Inscribed Salus Populi Suprema Lex.

The Twenty Mark peece of Scotland, it is worth two shillings English.

The Five Mark peece, is worth with us five shillings six pence.

The Ten Mark peece, is worth eleven shillings.

The Twelve pound Scottish peece, is our twenty shillings.

The Six Pound peece, is ten shillings English.

The Unite, a Coin peece of Gold, is worth six shillings eight pence.

Irish Coin.

An Half penny hath the Kings Effigies in the Roman Garb half Faced to the Sinister side with a Laurel about his Head and this Inscription Carolus II. Dei Gratia, and on the other side an Harp Crowned with this, Mag. Br. Fra. Et Hib. Rex, 1680.

[]

A Patrick of Ireland, was worth an half penny. It was Coined in the time of King Charles the Second Exile, and is yet in use with us for small change and passeth but for a farthing, it hath King David Crowned supporting his Harp with this Inscription, --- Rex, and on the other side, St. Patrick in a Bishops Pontifical habit, a Church behind him and written about Quiescat Plbs.

An Half Crown peece, hath on one side II s. VI. d.

A Crown peece hath on one side, V. and a small s. in the middle of the V.

The Names of Severall Coins used in the Neighbouring Kingdoms, about us: Alphabetical.

Brafs.

An Augster of Switzerland, worth a Farthing.

A Doute, worth a farthing.

A Dyneller, worth a farthing.

A Dynner of Genoa, worth half a farthing.

A Dynner of Turkie, worth a farthing.

A Doller, worth a farthing.

A Harvedes, worth a farthing.

An Oaks, worth a farthing, and half.

A Penning, worth a farthing, and half.

A Pochanel, worth a farthing.

A Plack peece, three makes a penny English.

A Quatrener, worth a farthing.

A Turnour, six makes a Penny.

Silver.

An Aten of Muscovia, is four pence English.

An Alpers, is ob. q. or three farthings.

An Attin of Poland, is worth four pence half penny with us.

A Batz, is three pence English.

A Bemish of Switzer, is two pence half penny English.

A Bianco of Italy, it is worth our eight pence.

A Blanckes, is worth a half penny farthing, English.

A Boligneo, is three farthings English.

A Cabeletto of Italy, is worth three pence farthing.

A Carlini of Italy, is six pence English.

A Crown of Turkie, is six shillings English.

A Crown of Italy, is five shillings with us.

A Cupstoke, is one shilling.

A Creitzers of Poland, is an half penny farthing.

A Cob of Ireland, or a Peece of Eight, is worth four shilling eight pence. It is a Spanish Coin, not round but cornered or nuke shotten, and passeth according to its weight, for more or less.

An Half Cob, it is of the foresaid Coin, and is worth two shilling four pence, or more according to its weight.

A Quarter Cop, of Peru.

A Rix Dollar, or Rich Dollar; so called because it was Coined by Imperial command: It is worth five shillings English. Others say six shillings, three pence, of these there are several Impressions according to the places in which they were Coined: as,

A Rix Dollar of Luneburgh, and Brunswick; which have the Roman Eagle on one side, and an hairy Man holding a burning Candle a Ragged Staff; with the Emperors name, and place of Coinage about the Rings of it, 1570.

A Rix Dollar of Campan, the Imperial City of Germany: hath the Eagle with a Mound on its Breast, cross Patee between its heads, and Crown over: on the other side, a Castle Port open, treble Towered 1614. Supercription, Mathias I. D. G. Elect Ro. Imp. Sem. Aug. Mau. No. Croatia Imper Campanis: another Impression Coined 1549. hath St. John Baptist with a Lamb on a Bible.

A Rix Dollar of Luneburgh, Coined 1568: the same as the afore said in the Port is an Escuchion with a Lion Rampant.

A Doller of Wismarie, hath St Laurence on one side holding a Palm branch and supporting a Grid-Iron: with this supercription, Moneta Nova Wismariensis, on the other side, a Cross Patee extended to the out sides, with an Escuchion, per Pale with a Demy Leopards Face Crowned, fixed to the Sinister side; and the other Barry of four. The first and third fretted, with Spes Nostra in Dn, 1547.

A Doller of the Netherlands, or Low Countreys, called a Rick Dollar or Rich Dollar, is worth five shillings English, some say five shillings three pence. It hath a Demy Man in Armour holding a Sword and an Escuchion, with this writing: Mo. Arg. Pro Confoe. Belg. and on the other side the Dutch Arms with a Ducal Crown upon it, viz. a Lion Rampant holding a Sword in his right Paw, and a Shaft of Arrows in his left: supercription, Concordia Res parvæ Crescunt.

A Rix Dollar of Selderland, hath on the Escuchion held by the Armed Man, with a Laurel about his Temples: two Lions combatant, and the Letters added after Belg. Gel.

A Rix Dollar of Holland, and West Friesland, hath on the Escuchion, a Lion Rampant, and after Belg. C. Hol. and on the later two Lions Passant Gardant, and after Belg. West. F.

A Rix Dollar of Zeeland, hath in the Escuchion, a Demy Lion, issuant out of Wavee, and after Belg. Zel.

A Rix Dollar of Utrecht, hath on the Escuchion, a Lion Rampant: and after Belg. Tra.

A Rix Dollar of Friesland, hath two Lions Passant, and after Belg. Fris.

A Rix Dollar of Ober - Fisel, hath a Lion Rampant debrused with a Fesse Wavy Waved, and after Belg. Tran.

A Rix Dollar, of the Netherlands, or Germany of another Coinage, yet called the Rix Dollar, or Rick Daelder: It is worth four shillings, eight pence. It hath the like Image of an Armed Man to the middle, Head Laurellled, holding a Sword in the right Hand, to his Shoulder (as all the other do) and a Shaft of Arrows in his left Hand, looking to the Sinister side, with this writing; Concordia Res Parvæ Crescunt Hol. on the other side, all the Coats mentioned in the Fore said Dollers are quartered; with 1586, on the top of the Escuchion: with this Inscription, Mo. Ordin. Provin. Forder. Belgicæ. Ad Legem Imp.

A Doller of Bimengaine, is worth four shillings eight pence: It hath the figure of a Demy Man in Armour, with Crown Royal and Scepter, on the other side the Roman Eagle, and Crown; with a Lion Rampant in an Escuchion on its Breast: with this writing, Insignia Urbis Imperialis Novi Mag.

A Doller of Groninger, worth four shillings, eight pence: It hath the Image of St. John Baptist, holding a Book and a Lamb on it, with this writing, Sanctus Johannes Baptista An. 1561. on the other side the Roman Eagle; with a Fesse in an Escuchion on her Breast: and this Inscription, Moneta Nova Argentea Groningenfis.

A Half Doller of Selderland, is worth three shillings, nine pence: It hath a Demy Man Armed all to the Head holding a Scepter in his left Hand; Inscribed Phs. D. G. Hisp. Et Rex Dux Gel. C. Z. 1579. The other side a compartment Escuchion, with Crown Royal on it, viz. 1. 2. Lions combatant, 2 a Lion Rampant (3 as 2) and 4 as 1 Inscribed Concordia Res Parvæ Crescunt.

A Half Doller of Utrecht, hath a Lion Rampant holding a Sword and Shaft of Arrows, and on the other side an Escuchion Crowned of four Quarters, 1. a Lion Rampant, 2. party per Bend &c. on an Inescuchion, a Cross and Bordure: Inscribed, Phs. D. G. Hisp. Rex Dis. Traiet.

A Doller of the Hollanders, called the Lion Doller, it is worth four shillings English: It hath the Impression of a Man Armed Cap-a-pee, with a compartment Shield before his Feet with a Lion Rampant with this writing, Mo. No. Arg. Grdin. Hol. 1576. and on the other side a Lion Rampant with this Inscription, Confidens Dns. Non Movebitur. The like was Coined 1606.

A Lion Doller of West - Friesland, hath the same impresses with two Lions Passant Gardant, and the Field Billetee; and after Ordin. Follows West. Fri. Valor Hol. and about the Lion side, Deus Fortitudo Et Spes Nostra.

A Lion Doller of Zeeland, with a Demy Lion issuant out of Waves and after the word Ord. Zel. and the other side the like Lion issuant out of Water with this writing, Domine Serva Nos Perimus.

A Lion Doller of Utrecht, hath the Shield quarterly, a Cross and a Lion Rampant: and after, Ord. Trai. 1585.

A Lion Doller of Ober - Fisel, hath a Lion Rampant on the Shield, and after Arg. Pro Confoe. Belg. Tran. the other side, as that of Holland.

A Half Doller of all these fore said Lion Dollers, are worth two shillings: and do in all respect answers the whole Doller.

An Old Doller of Bohemia, worth five shillings, three pence: having a Demy King in Armour holding of a Scepter, with Ferdinai. D. G. Boemie Hungarie & C. Rex. on the other side an Escuchion crowned with a Ducal Crown of four Coats quarterly, 1. a Lion Rampant Tail forked and Wreathed 2. Barry of six &c. an Inescuchion per Pale a Fesse, a Castle: Inscribed, Infans Hispaniarum Arch. Dux Austria. There is another Coinage of them with a Royal such an Escochion, and a Fesse on the middle of it: Inscribed, Sit Nomen Domini Benedictum.

A flabes, in the Low Countrys, is worth one shilling four pence English.

A flanks of Turkey, worth two shillings.

A finerline, worth half a penny.

A francken of Poland, worth two shillings one penny, half penny: It hath a Roman Head; with Henricus III. D. G. France Et Pol. Rex, on the other side is a Roman H in the middle of four double Flowers de lis, inscribed, Sit Nomen Domini Benedictum, 1576.

A half Francken, hath the same Image, and Super-scription.

A francken of Frankford, is of the same value; It hath a Roman Head, with this Inscription, Ants. Ppi. D. G. Ale. Et Port Rex: the other side as the above said, only PR. is in place of the H.

A flouence of France, hath an H Crowned interlaced with two Scepters in Salter, a Sword in pale over all, with this writing about the edge, Duo Protegit Unus.

A Gulden or a Silber Gulden of Freiland; called also a Flemish Silver Gulden, it is worth two shillings, some two shillings eight pence. It hath a Man in Furr with such a Cap, a little below the Shoulders vwith a Hand and Sword, with the Nisi Dominus Nobiscum, 1621. On the other side an Escochion Crowned, having two Lions Passant: the Inscription, Florenus Arg. Ordinum Frisie.

The Half Gulden of Freiland, is worth one shilling English.

A Quarter of a Gulden, is worth three pence: they have both of them the like Image and Super-scription, as the whole Gulden hath.

A Gilder or Gulden, called Charles his Gilder, is Silver is worth three shillings ten pence. It hath an Imperial Head Crowned, with Carolus D. G. Rom. Imp. Hsp. Rex, on an other of the same is Carolus D. G. Rom. Imp. Hsp. Rex. D. Burg. Com. Flan. on the one side; and on the other an Escochion set on a Crofs flourished having 1. a Fesse, 2. Semy de Flowers de lis, a Bordure Gobony: 3. Bendy, 4. Lion Rampant, on an Escochion, a Lion Rampant: Inscribed, Da Mihi Virtute Con Hostes Tuis. Another of the same, hath on Archducal Crown on the Escochion.

A Gilder, or States Gilder; is worth four shillings three pence. It hath the Arms above said with a Royal Crown, and order of the Fleece, with Pace & Justitia, on the other side a Demy King in Armour holding of a Scepter, Inscribed Phs. D. G. Hsp. Z. Rex. Dux Bra. 1578.

An half States Gilder, is worth two shillings one penny half penny.

A Quarter of the States Gilder, is worth one shilling three farthings.

An Eight part of a States Gilder, is worth six pence farthing and half, all these have one and the same Impression and Super-scription, viz. on one side a King to the Knees Armed holding a Scepter & an Escochion before him with the Arms afore said: and Phs. D. G. Hsp. Rex Dux Bra. on the other side, a Roman S. then four H. set in Crofs, upon each of them a P Crowned: with Pace & Justitia 1577. in the ring about.

A sixteenth part of the States Gilder, is vworth three pence half farthing, on one side it hath the Arms

Crown'd, vwith Z. and S. on, on the other an H and P. on it, Crown'd; vwith four Branches about, and the Inscription as the rest before.

A Gulden, or Silver Gulden; vworth three shillings ten pence.

A Groschen, or Silver Groschen: vworth two pence.

A Groschen, or a Silver Nissen Groschen: It is vworth three pence English.

A Groschen Polished, or Polish Groschen; vworth one penny, half penny.

A Groschen called Mary Groschen vworth a penny farthing.

A Groschen called a Helmish Silver Groschen, vworth two pence half penny farthing.

A Gagatta of Italy, vworth a penny.

A Gubij, or the Popes Gubij; is as much as six pence English.

A Grot, or Grots of Germany; valued at one penny farthing.

A Iustino of Italy, vworth one shilling six pence.

A Lyre of Venice, vworth nine pence.

A Lyra of Gerua, is vworth one shilling, four pence.

A Hark of Denmark, is two shilling two pence.

A Hursenigo, vworth eleven pence.

A Hedine of Cairo, it is valued to two pence, farthing.

A Psound, or Psound; vworth four pence, half penny farthing.

An Orkey of the Netherlands, it is the fourth part of a Stiver, or two Doits: vworth two farthings, English, or a farthing half farthing, as others say.

A Plappot, vworth two pence half penny.

A Psoli of Italy, in English Money vworth six pence.

A Quartidilescue, is vworth one shilling six pence.

A Rider, or Horseman of Silberland; It is vworth four shillings, three pence. It hath two Escochions under an Helmet and Mantle, Crest a Lion Rampant on a Peacocks Tail; the other side a Man on Horse-back Cap-a-Pee, under his Feet in an Escochion two Lions Cambatant: vwith Deus Constituit Regna: the Super-scription on the other side is Mon. No. Gelr. Com. Zut.

A Rider, or Horseman of Silver in Freiland; is vworth the same rate, four shillings, three pence: It hath an Escochion Crown'd, vwith two Lions passant, the Field Billetee. Subscribed, Moneta Nova Ordini Frisie: The other side, an Horseman Cap-a-pee, bearing a Pennon slit in the end, under the Horse Feet an Escochion vwith a Lion Rampant: the Inscription Nisi Dns. Nobiscum, 1582.

A Royal, or Real of Albertus: hath the Coats of Austria with a Ducal Crown, and Collar of the Golden Fleece, viz. 1. Quarter, Barry, and Lion Rampant; 2. quarter, Pally and per Salter; 3. quarter, three bends, on a chief, a Fesse: 4. quarter, per Fesse Semy de Flovvers de lis, and a Lion Rampant in Base; Inscription, Albertus & Elizab. D. G. on the other side, a Salter avalen vwith a Crown above, A. and E. on the sides, and the Golden Fleece at the bottom; Subscribed, Archid. Aust. Duces Burg. & Brab. this peece is vworth six pence, half penny.

A half of the Royal Albertus, is vworth three pence, farthing: It hath the same Super-scription, but on one

one side, it hath his and her single coats Impaled, on a Salter ragged, with a Royal Crown over; and on the other side a with a Ducal Crown over it.

A Reale, is 5 d. ob.

A Rousfiche, is 1 d. ob.

A Royal, or a Royal of Eight, of Spain, is valued at 4 s. 5 d. it hath the Arms of Castile and Lions, crowned on one side; and 2 Pillars crowned, vwith a scroule over them vwith S. PLUS. D. and about the sides in Saxon Letters, Carolus & Joana Regis Hispania in Japo.

A Royal of Philip, hath all the Spanish coats on one side, and Castile and Lions arched about on the other.

A Royal of called a piece of four Royals, and is 4 s. 3 d.

A Royal, or piece of eight Royals, is 8 s. 6 d.

A Rappen Huntz of is two pence half penny.

A Seftling, worth three Farthings.

A Stiver of the Low Countreys, worth a Penny Farthing, it hath a Lion rampant, holding a Sword and a Sheaf of Arrows; on the other side in great Roman Letters FRISIA or TRS ISSULA 1614. and so of the rest of the Provinces where the Bullion was coined.

A Stiver, called Emden Stiver, worth 1 d. ob. q.

A Double Stiver is worth 2 d. ob. there is of them in all the Provinces of Holland and the Netherlands, only in this they differ; on one side they have no Impression but great Roman Letters, on which side is set the name of the Province they are of, as Gelria, 1614. Holland. 1614. or W. FRISIA. TRAJECTUM, &c. on the other side, is a Lion rampant Brandishing a Sword, and in his left Paw, a Sheaf of Arrows, towards the hinder feet, is a figure of 2 and an S. signifying 2 Stivers.

A Stiver of Brabant, is worth one Stiver, or eight of the half Stiver of Brabant, is half so much; both Coins have several sorts of conceited Crosses, some arched, others between Flowers de lis, and Lions, with Moneta nova Duc. Brabant; the other side the Arms throughout the Escochion, with Brabant Arms; others have the Spanish Arms, with a Crown Royal; and some with the Arch Duke of Austria, Duke of Brabant his Arms, &c.

A Schaneberger, worth 1 d. ob. q.

A Shilling in Gelderland, it is worth six Stivers, that is in our English Money six pence and six farthings, some say six half pence; it hath on one side a conceited Cross, made after the form of an Escarbuncle of the old fashion, each point set with Pomices and Avelens, with flying out Branches, with this Writing, In nomine Domine Adjutorium nostrum; on the other side a Compartment Escochion, crowned with two Lions Combatant, Inscribed Mo. No. Duc. Belg. & Comit. Zur. 1601.

A Holland Shilling hath the same value and Cross, with this Writing, Vigilla & Deo confidentes, the other side hath the Impress of a Fold or round clofe made of Stakes and Offers, with a Yate in the fore part of it, over which is an Escochion Crowned, with a Lion Rampant thereon. Inscribed Mo. No. Com. Hollandie. 1601.

A Shilling of West Friesland, the same kind of Cross, with Fortiet. Spes. Nostr. Deus, and the West Friesland Coat Crowned, with a Laurell about; inscribed Mo. No. Ordina. West frisia, 1601.

A Shilling of Zealand, worth 9 d. English; it hath the same kind of Cross, inscribed Luctor & emergo; the other side the Arms of the Province in a Compartment, crowned, inscribed Mo. No. Arg. Comit. Zeelandia.

A Shilling of Utrecht, worth 9 d. English, it hath the same Cross with this Motto, Parvæ res Concordia crescit; the other side, a Lion Rampant in a Compartment crowned; with Mo. No. Ordina. Trajecten. 1601.

A Shilling of Rijnighen, with a Roman Eagle, a Mound on its Breast, and a Crown between its heads, with Rudol. II. D. G. Elec. Ro. Imp. Sem. August. the other side the Roman Eagle in a Compartment, with a Crown Imperial; inscription, Mo. Arg. Imperi. Cui. Norwimag. 1601.

A Shilling of Campen, worth 9 d. English, hath the Roman Eagle, and Crown Imperial, with Rudol. Ecc. on the other side a Salter extended to the out sides Pommere Avellane, debrused with his Arms, Crowned and thus Inscribed, Mo. Arg. Imper. Civita. Campen.

The half Shillings of these several places in Holland, and other places, are in all respects coined like to the Shillings, and are valued at 3 Stivers, that is 4 d. ob. English.

A Shilling of Hambrough, worth in England 9 d. ob. q.

A Shilling, called a Flemish Shilling, is worth 7 d. ob.

A Shilling of Germany, is worth 5 d. q.

A Shilling of Denmark, or a Danish Shilling, worth ob. q.

A Lubicke Shilling, worth 1 d. ob. q.

A Shilling of Switzerland, worth 12 d.

A Sicheiling, is valued at 1 d. q.

A Scaby of Turkey, valued at 6 d.

A Scya of Turkey, is 6 d. English.

A Scutz, is 1 d. ob. and called with us a Souz.

A Soldi of Genoa, is a half penny farthing.

A Stouter is a piece of Money in Holland, worth 2 Stivers and a half, that is three pence half farthing; it is the twentieth part of a Netherland Real; on one side is a Roman head, and on the other side a Shaffe or Falce of Arrows banded, the ends extended; with Moneta Belgica, 1586.

Gold

The Angel of Flanders, or Flemish Angel, is 9 s. 10 d.

An Albertus of the Arch Duke of Austria, is 11 s. 3 d. it is also called the Arch Dukes Ducat, it hath on one side 2 ragged Staffs in Salter, tied in the middle, and a Ducal Crown in the Chief 1600; the other side the Arms crowned, and set forth with the order of the Golden Fleece, viz. Quarterly, Barry, and a Lion rampant, then Castile and Lions quarterly, then Cardona and Anjou per Salter, then Barry, then 3 Flowers de lis, and a Bordure Gobony; then Bendy with a Bordure, and lastly, a Lion rampant. with this inscription, Albertus & Elizabeth. D. G. Arch Duces Aust. Duces Burg. & Brab.

A half Albertus, or Ducat of Austria, hath the same same Impression in all respects, and is 5 s. 5 d.

A Double Albertus, or Double Duckat of Austria, hath on one side the figures of a Man and Woman's head crowned, respecting each other, in all other Impressions it is as the foresaid single Albertus; it is worth with us shillings.

An half double Albertus, the value is 8 s. and hath the same impression as the double.

A Castillon, or Golden Castillon, of Castile, is 9 s. 9 d.

A Crusado, or a Crusadas of Portugal, with the long Cross is 6 s. 8 d. see a Crown of Portugal.

A Crusado, with the short Cross 6 s. 10 d. see a crown of Portugal.

A Crusado of Portugal, is 7 s. it hath a Cross couped on one side, and the Portugal Arms on the other the first with In hoc signo Vinces; and the other Philippus D. G. Rex Portugaliæ L. B. on one side, and II on the other of the Escocchion; there is 2 pieces of like Coin, valued at 1 l. 6 s. and 13 s. 3 d.

The great Crusado, or Portuguese, is valued at 3 l. 12 s. and is coined in all respects like the above said, only III on one side of the Escocchion.

A Crown of Spain, is 6 s. 8 d.

A Crown of Flanders, a Flemish Crown, is 6 s. 8 d. on one side a Cross flurt, with a Rose on the middle, between two Towers and two spread Eagles, or two Lions; on the other side an Escocchion crowned, with this inscription, Da mihi Virtut: contra Hostes tuos.

A Crown of France the value is 6 s. 8 d. there are several Coins of them, some have a Cross arched about, another a Cross flurt, and a Cross Avellane; on the other side the French Coat crowned, with the Kings name about, and this XPS VINCIT. XPS REGNANT. XPS IMPER.

The four Crowns of Port, a piece of Gold so called, it is worth 1 l. 6 s. 2 d.

A Crown of Italy, called the Golden Crown, it is worth six shillings.

A Crown of Portugal, is worth 6 s. 10 d. it hath a long Cross on one side, inscribed In hoc Signo Vinces, on the other the Portugal Arms, Crowned, inscribed Jo. 3. Port. & Al. R. D. G. C. N.

A Crown of Portugal, with a Cross couped within the circle; it is worth about 7 s. all its other Impressions are as aforesaid.

A Ducat of Spain, called a single Ducat, is 7 s. 2 d. Some say worth 8 s. 2 d. ob. on one side there is 2 Faces respecting and Crowned, on the other the Arms of Castile and Lions, quartered with Arragon, and the Coats of Cardana and Anjou.

A Double Ducat of Spain, is worth 14 s. 4 d. and some of them 18 s. 5 d. some of them have one head some two on a side, and on the other the Spanish Arms as aforesaid; yet some have the single Coats crowned, as Arragon which is Pally, others the Navarre Knot.

A Great Ducat of Spain, is 1 l. 13 s.

A Ducat of Rome, is 7 s. 2 d. those of the Popes Coin are so various, that it is a matter of great difficulty to set them all down, only this in general, that they have the Popes Head or Arms in Quirpo, with his Name on one side, and on the other St. Peter, or St. Paul, or one Saint or other.

A double Ducat of Rome, is 14 s. 14 d. some have Bishops seated in their Pontificals; with Mediola in Dux; another St. Peter in his Boat casting out his Net; with Sanctus Petrus Alma Roma; another with Christ rising out of his Sepulcher, with Surrexit Christus Rex Glie; and the like; on the other side is the Popes Head or Coat, with Crown and Keys, and his name inscribed.

A Ducat of Florence, is 7 s. 2 d.

A Ducat of Valencia, is 7 s. 2 d.

A Ducat of Arragon, is 7 s. 2 d.

A Ducat of Portugal, is 8 s. 2 d. it hath a Cross set about with Arches on one side, and Portugal Arms on the other, which is 4 Escocchions charged with 5 Plates Salterwise on a Bordure 8 Castles or Towers.

A Ducat of Hungary, is worth 7 s. 10 d. these Ducats have some Saint, or Kingly Saint, in full proportion Armed and Robed, holding a Pole-Axe, on the one side the Hungarian Arms, which is Barry, (some Impaled with Lions, others with Arragon Arms) on the other side.

A Ducat of Suebia, is 8 s. 9 d.

A Ducat of Turkey, is 9 s. 2 d.

A Ducat of Hamborough, is 7 s. 10 d.

A Ducat of the Netherlands, is 8 s. 2 d. ob. it hath a Man in Armour holding a Sword and a Shaffe or Shaft of Arrows on one side, and this Writing on the other Mo. Aur. Prævin. Confœ. Belg. Ad Leg. Imp. The double Ducat hath the same, and is valued at 18 s. 5 d.

A Dublon of Spain, is 14 s. 6 d.

A Denning of Muscovy, is eleven pence.

A Florens, or New Florens, called also a Gilden of St. Andrew, is 5 s. 4 d.

A Gilder or Gilden of Campaine, it is worth 4 s. 3 d. It hath either Christ or an Apostle on one side with Da Pace Do. in Dieb. Nost. r. and a Mound arched about, or a Cross in an Escocchion; or 2 Lions Combatant, inscribed Carolus Romanorum Imperator; Some have an Eagle displayed in the Escocchion.

A Carolus Gilden, or Gilder, is 3 s. 10 d.

A Collen Gilder, or Gilden, is 5 s.

A David Gilden, is 4 s. 4 d. others say 4 s. 10 d. so called from King David, with his Harp and Scepter, which is on one side, with Memento Dom. David, the other a Cross flourished between a D. I. V. I. inscribed David de Burgundia est Trallestem, there is a half and quarter piece of this stamp.

A Horn Gilder, is 5 s. 5 d.

A Saron Gilder, is 5 s. 3 d.

A Philip Gilder, or Gilden, is 4 s. 6 d.

A Half Philip Gilder, is 2 s. 3 d.

A Gilder Fly of Burgundy, it is worth 10 s. 3 d. it hath a Cross flourished at the ends, in each quarter 2 Crescents braced; the inscription Deligam Jussum Qu Judicatis Terra; on the other side the Arms of Austria in a Collar of the Golden Fleece, Crowned and Supported by 2 Lions, viz. a Fesse, then three flowers de lis and Bordure Gobony, then Bendy, the last a Lion rampant on an Escocchion of Pretence; a Lion Rampant; the Inscription PHS. D. G. Archd. Aust. Dux Burg. Co. Flan.

A Gilden of Holland, called a Golden Gilden, it is worth 5 s. 9 d. there is above three score and ten several sorts of Coinage of this piece, the generality having ving on one side the Image of some Apostle, Popish Saint or Martyr; and on the other side either a Coat of Arms a Mound, 3 Escochions in triangle, a Roman Eagle or a Kings head, inscribed Moneta Aurea Nova St. or of such or such a place where coined.

The Double Gilder or Gulden of Netherland, valued at 6 s. 3 d. it is also termed the States Crown; it hath a kind of Cross Moline turned round at the ends and on the Savved parts a Sprig of Grass, the Inscription B. Pace & Justitia, 1577. on one side; and an Escochion crowned and collared vvith the Golden Fleece Order, viz. 1. a Chief. 2. three Flowvers de lis. 3. Bendy. 4. a Lion rampant: on an Intescochion, a Lion rampant, PHS. D. G. Hisp. Rex. Dux. Bra. on the other side.

An Half Gilder of the Netherlands is in all respects so stamped, and is valued at 3 s. 1 d. ob.

A Gulden, or Benish Gulden, or Gold Benish Gulden; is vvorth 7 s. 8 d.

A Key, or a Flemish Real, it is valued to 11 s.

A Golden Lion of Burgundy, worth eight shillings; it hath a Lion sedant, between two Pillars arched over after the manner of Church work, with PHS. D. G. Dux Burg. Comes Flan. on the other side the Arms of Burgundy with Sit nomen Domini Benedictum, Amen.

A double Lion, called the Dublion of Spain, is 14 s. 6 d.

A Third part of the Golden Lion, at 2 s. 7 d. It is the same to the Golden Lion of Burgundy in all respects the Arms are 6 Coats, viz. 3 Flowers de lis, a Bordure Gobony, then Bendy, then a Lion rampant, then Bendy then a Lion rampant, then Bendy, then a Lion rampant, the last as the first.

A Lion of Antwerp, is worth eight shillings, some odd pence, it is termed the beaten Gold Lion of Antwerp, the Arms and Inscription as the Burgundy Lion, on the other side the Lion sedant between the foresaid two Pillars with this Inscription; Mobra. Antiova. Virtute & Fide.

A Lion of Flanders, it is of Beaten Gold, on the Escochion side is only a Lion rampant with this inscription Moneta Aurea Comitatus Flan.

A two third parts of the Golden Lion, worth 5 s. 3 d. It hath also the same Impression and writing as aforesaid.

A Mark of Bohemia, is six shillings.

A piece called the six Marks, or six Mark piece of Suecia, is 4 s. 9 d.

A Mill-Rays of Portugal, is worth 14 s. 6 d. on one side is a Friar in his Robe, holding a Palm Branch, and in the other hand, a Ship, with Usque ad Mortem Zelator Fidei; on the other side the Arms of Portugal.

An Half Mill-Rays, is 7 s. 3 d. it is in all respects answering the whole Mill-rays of Portugal; yet some have a Cross Patee charged with another on one side, with In hoc Signo Vinces.

A Noble, or Flemish, or Flanders Noble, value 13 s. 4 d. hath a Cross Flory between 4 Lions; with Nisi Dom. cust. Civitat. frustra vigilat, 1582. on the other side a Man holding a Sword and Shield, with a Lion rampant on it.

A Rose Noble of the Netherlands and Saxerland, is 16 s. 8 d. on one side a Rose in a Star of many points, with Concordia Res Parvae Crescunt; and a Man in Armour in the Hull of a Ship, in the Waves inscribed M. Ordin. Provinc. Feder. Belgicae, 1586.

A Pistol, or a single, or simple Pistol, is valued to 6 s. 4 d.

A double Pistol of Spain, is at 12 s. 8 d. Some say 14 s. 7 d. ob. on one side is a Cross Potonce arched about; on the other side the Spanish Arms in full, crowned, with the Kings name about.

A Double Pistole of Italy, is worth 14 s. 2 d. ob. hath a Roman head on one side, and an Eagle with an Escochion on its Breast, on which is an Eagle displayed, the Wings debrused with two Pillars; the Inscription; Mon. Aurea. Civit. Bisuntiner.

A Pistole of Italy, set forth by the Popes, is generally worth 3 Guilders and 10 Stivers, which in English is six Shillings and ten pence; they have the Popes Arms on one side, with the Cross Keys and Triple Crown over the Escochion; with the name of the Pope inscribed, as Paulus III. Pontifex Maximus, and such like; but on the other, each Pope hath his sundry devise, which were endless to describe, only take these few; one hath St. Paul holding a Sword and Book, inscribed Electionis. S. Paulus. Vas. Another hath the Resurrection of Christ, and the Soldiers sleeping about the Sepulcher, with Resurrexi & adhuc tecum sum. Another hath Christs Cross and Nails. Another Mary embracing the Cross, with this Motto to the first, In hoc Signo Vinces; and the latter, In te qui sperat. non confund. Another hath Christ supporting the Cross. Another a Pope in his Chair. Another our Saviours head demy faced; the first with cujus cruce Sanati sumus; the latter Via veritas & Vita, &c.

A Pistole of Spain, of 26 Ryals, is 14 s.

A Portuguese, or great Crusado, is 3 l. 12 s. See a Crown of Portugal.

A Rider of Burgundy, hath the same Arms and Writings; as the Lion piece of Burgundy, and a Horseman Cap-a-Pee on the other side.

A Rider of Flanders, called also Horsemen of Flanders, is 8 s.

A Rider of Gelders, and of Friesland, is 1 l. 3 s. on the one side a Man in Armour, on a Horse Galloping, brandishing his Sword over his head, with this Inscription, Mo. Aur. Pro. Conf. Belg. Westf. on the other side, the Dutch Arms with a Dukes Crown, which is a Lion rampant crowned, holding in one Paw a Sword over his head, and in the other a Sheaf of Arrows, with Concordia Res parvae Crescunt.

A New Rider of Gueders, is 7 s. others say 6 s. 9 d. it hath a Man on Horse-back Cap-a-Pee, with Deus constituit Regna on the other side an Escochion crowned, with 2 Bordures per pale, and 2 Lions combatant, with Moneta. Nova. Av. Duc. Gelrif. Com. Ut.

An Old Rider of Saxerland, is 4 s. 4 d. ob. It hath on one side, a Man in Armour Cap a Pee, holding up his Sword, inscribed Carolus Dux Gelriul. c. Zut. on the other side an Escochion vvith 2 Lions combatant, inscribed Mon. Aurea. Ducis Gelrie.

A Ruble of Poland, answers our Mark, viz. 13 s. 4 d.

A Ruble of Muscovia, is ten shillings.

A Royal, or Real of Spain, or the Philip Real, it is 5 s. 6 d.

A Royal, called the Philip Real vvith spread Eagle

86, its value is 5 s. 6 d. It hath an Eagle, vvith the Spanish Arms quarterly on its Breast.

A Half Royal of Spain, hath the head uncrown'd, and on the other side, the Arms crown'd, vvith Dominus mibi adiutor.

A Royal of Flanders, called the Flemish Real, or the Key, it is 11 s.

A great Royal of Germany, is 1 l. 14 s. 3 d. ob. on the one side an Emperour Enthrond, vvith Scepter and Mound; vvith this inscription Maximilius D. G. Romanorum. Rex. Sep. Aug. on the other the Roman Arms crown'd, an Inescuchion per pale, a Fesse on the one, and Bendy and a Bordure on the other; inscribed Em. Maximilian & Respice finem MCCCCLXXXVII.

An Half of the great Royal aforesaid, hath a demy Emperour in a Ship, vvith this M. D. G. Ro. Rex & PHS. Arch Duces Au. Bu. Co. Hol. on the other side, an Escuchion per pale, an Eagle displaid; the whole a Fesse and Bendy in a Bordure, inscribed, Ma. Aves. Ro. Regis & Phi. Arch D. Au. B. Com. Hol.

A Shocke of Bohemia, it is

*

A Sultan of Turkey, its value is 7 s. 6 d.
A Serhines of Venice, is 7 s. 6 d.

That Reader as desires further knowledg in the fore-said Coins, let him peruse these Authors, in vvich most of these said Moneys are set forth in Sculptures to the largeness of the Silver and Gold pieces themselves.

Peeldeneer, or a Book of Impresses of Coins, set forth by Hillebrant Jacobsz, Ordinary and Sworn Printer to the States of Holland. Printed at Graven-Hague, 1619.
John Speeds Chronicle of England, at the beginning of each Kings Reign.

Observations, or a Comment on Cæsars Commentaries. By Clement Edmunds. 1655.

Johannis Hemelarius Canonici Cathedralis Ecclesie Antuerp. his Comment, or the Table of Roman Coins. Printed at Antwerp, 1622.

Jacobus Gutheride Veteri Jure Pontificis Urbis Romæ, Printed at Paris 1616.

TO

TO

The Right Worshipful

Sir FRANCIS LEICESTER, of Tabley, Baronett.

THAT which was intended to have been Dedicated to your Grandfather Sir Peter Leicester, Baronet, through his Decease descended to his Son and Heir Sir Robert, whose untimely Death was much Lamented by all Loyal Hearts, yet encouraged with so Loving, Pious, and Loyal an Off-spring, we are engaged through your forward Contribution to advance the Work, to devote this Chapter of our Labours to your Noble Consideration, hoping the good acceptance thereof, from

Your most Humble and Devoted Servant

Randle Holme.

C H A P. III.

FROM the several sorts of Habits (as they are born in their diversity of parts, we shall now proceed to shew you how they are born in whole, both as they pertain to Regality, Nobility, Gentry, Husbandry, and Artificery; together with the fashions of People both in Court, City and Countrey: We shall begin with the first in Nobility, which is the Emperour.

An Emperour.

The Original of this Title amongst the Romans, denoted only a General of an Army, but Julius Caesar Translated it to an Honorary Title, who being made perpetual Dictator, took also that of Emperor unto his Title, which hath continued in his Successors to this day, and so became Superiour to the Title of King.

This Title supplanted that of a King, which before had been cast out by Brutus for Tyranny and Oppression, which Caesar seeing was fresh in the Memory of the Romans, and odious amongst them, did not of a long time use any Title of Kingly Government, though his Power was as much, and the Ceremonies and Ensigns of Regality the same, and the Emperours Throne at Rome, was called Sedile Regni.

This Empire at length became to be divided, to Constantinople for the East parts, and to Rome for the West parts; and then again Constantinople being lost to the Turks, and Rome gotten into the hands of the Papacy, it was removed into Germany, which is now the Empire; and in the Reign of Otho the Third, the Election was granted to seven Princes of Germany, viz. the Arch-Bishops of Mentz, Treves, and Collen, the Count Palatine of Rhein, the Duke of Saxony, the Marquess of Brandenburgh, and the King of Bohemia, then called Duke of Bohemia.

He hath the Superiority allowed him by all Secular Princes; and whereas other Princes of Regal Authority are Crowned but with one Crown, he is Crowned with three, the first of Iron, which he receiveth of the Bishop of Chalon at Aquisgrave; the second of Silver he receives at Modena, from the Bishop of Millan; the third of Gold, wherewith he is crowned at Rome by the Pope.

The Ensigns of his Imperial Dignity, are a King and Bracelet, a Cross, a Lance, a Sword, a Scepter, a Mound, and a Crown, with Royal Robes, and is stiled Sacrosanctissimus, Clarissimus, Gloriosissimus, Eminentia & Magnificentia, &c.

The Emperour of Russia is not crowned; but is adorned with a Rich Cap of Purple: Neither is the Greek Sultan, or Emperour of Turkie; but invested with a mighty Rich Tulipant; and though the Emperour have no Diadem, yet the Sultaneſs is adorned with a Rich Crown.

As for other matters of State and Regality pertaining to the Emperour, as the Ceremonies of his Coronation, Manual Servants and Officers of State, &c. being such will be treated on in the Office of a King, I shall therefore refer such things to that place.

I. He beareth Topaz, a King in his Royal Robes (or Parliament Robes, or Robes of State,) holding in his right hand a covered Cup, and in his left a Sword, all proper. In the Blazoning of Kings, to name a King, is sufficient; for it is to be supposed, that he is both Crowned, and in his Habilliments of State. Yet Mr. Gwillim to make all sure, Blazons it thus, a Crowned King in his Robes, Ruby, doubled Ermine, sustaining or holding a covered Cup in his right hand, and a Sword in his left, Argent: They are born sometime in Armour under their Mantle; and sometimes the Robes are of contrary colours to what our English Kings have them; then in such cases, the several parts of the Habilliments of State ought to be named.

G. 3 Beasants, each charged with such a King, is the Coat of Tho. Lloyd, alias Lyld, the 18 Bishop of Ely.

A. a Kings head with an Imperial Crown, couped at the Shoulders, is the Coat of Graveneck.

Out of a Coronet, a demy King with an Imperial Crown, Robes Gules, Lined, Ermin, holding a Scepter and Mound, proper, is the crest of Van Herberstein.

II. He beareth Topaz, a King Enthroned, in his Robes, with his Ensigns of Majesty, all proper. This is sufficient, if (as I said before) the Robes be Scarlet and the Linings Ermine, as our King of England hath them; but if they be of any other colour, then follow *Gwillim*s Blazoning, viz. He beareth Topaz, a King Enthroned on his Seat Royal, Crowned, Sceptered, and Mounded of the same, Invested or Robed Saphire, Lined, (or the cape and turnings up of his Robe) Ermine. A third Blazon take thus, a King in his Robes of State, Saphire, Faced or Lined, Ermine; Crowned, holding a Sword in his right hand, and a Mound in his left, of the first; Enthroned or set in his Seat Royal, proper; these are the Arms of the City of Sivil, in Spain.

This Coat may be yet shorter Blazoned, as a King in his Throne of Majesty.

The Robes and Ensigns of Kings.

A Crown, it is an ancient Ensign of Regal Authority, having a Cap of Dignity within it of Purple or Scarlet Velvet, turned up or doubled with Ermine. It is the Emblem of Triumph and Victory.

A Scepter is another Ensign of Sovereign Command, and is every where spoken of both in Scripture and Prophane Stories; and the extending thereof a special note of the Royal favour of the King, as we see in Hester 15. 14. It betokens Peace and Justice mixed with Mercy and compassion.

A Ring, which is put upon his Finger, as a sign of Faithfulness and Integrity.

A Mound, this is a third Ensign of Authority; it is a Globe with a Cross; it hath been in use amongst us since Edward the Confessor, and is placed in the left hand; the Cross denotes his Faith, and the Globe his Empire or Rule both by Sea and Land, as it is said of Julliman, who was the first Emperour that ever had it.

A Bracelet put about his Arm, denoting Charity and richness in good Works.

A Mantle of Estate, which is a long Scarlet Cloak or Mantle, Lined with Ermine Fur, which is for use as to draw some Yards on the ground; if the Train or Tail of it were not born up.

The Cords or String of the Mantle, with its Buttons and Tassels, all made of Purple Silk and Gold Thread interwoven after the manner of a Cord.

A Robe of Estate, which is for Awfulness and Reverence.

A Garter, which is a Rich Jewel made after the form of St. George on Horseback slaying of the Dragon, all beset with Diamonds, and hung in a Blew Silk Ribbon, which is the Badge of his Knighthood of the Garter, or order of St. George.

A Kirtle, or loose Robe, worn under the Mantle of Estate, of Purple colour, overlaid with Borders, or Welts of Gold; and doubled with the Ermine Skins.

A Surcote or Gown, of Purple, lined and welted, or edged with Ermine Skins.

A Belt or Girdle of fine Silk, to tye the under Gown or Surcoat about the middle. This is called the Girdle of Honour.

A Spur, or a Gilt Spur, which was put upon his Heel in token of Knighthood.

A Sword of State, which is a Rich Gilt Sword, with an Imbrauthered Scabbard which is born before the King, and is an Emblem of Majesty and Magistracy, Honour and Rule.

A Naked Sword, carried before him, as a token of Vengeance and the Punishment of Rebellion, 1. In the Laity. 2. In the Clergy.

A Naked pointlesse Sword, betokening Mercy, Pity and compassion.

A Mace, carried before the King is the Emblem of Justice.

A Throne or Seat of Majesty, is a Chair of Gold richly Imbossed, mounted upon Steps, or an Ascent of three three paces, with the Achievements of the Sovereign set over head, and under a Rich Canopy, with Valence Curtains Fringed and Embroidered with Silk, Silver and Gold, and a Cloath of State under Foot to tread upon.

The Sile he speaketh in the plural number. We will and commaund, We by the consent and advice of Our Council, do so and so.

The Title given Him is, Majesty, Sacred Majesty, High and Mighty, Dei Gratia, Grace, or by the Grace of God, Defender of the Faith, Supream Head and Governor, &c. Most Excellent, Illustrious.

Coronation Ceremonies used at the Crowning of the Kings of England.

The Crowning of King Richard the third, Anno 1483.

The Trumpeters.

The Herald Marshalling the way.

A Priest or Fryer bearing the Crofs.

Priests in fine Surplices and gray Amysses upon them.

The Bishops and Abbots in Rich Copes all of them Mixed with their Croffes in their Hands.

The Barons in their Robes.

The Viscount in their Robes.

An Earl Bearing a pair of Gilt Spurs.

An Earl bearing St. Edwards Staff, as a Relique.

An Earl bearing a naked Sword without a point.

A Lord bearing a Mace between two Earls which carried each of them a Naked Sword sharp pointed.

A Duke carrying the Scepter.

A Duke carrying the Mond. or Globe and Crofs.

An Earl bearing the Sword of Estate.

Then Garter King of Arms, between the Usher of the Privy Chamber, on his left hand, and the Lord Mayor with a Mace in his hand.

A Duke bearing the Kings Crown between his hands.

Then the King himself in a Surcoat and Robe of Purple Velvet, bare Footed walking upon Ray Cloath; having over his head a Canopie born by the Barons of the Cinque Ports. The Bishop of Bath on his right Hand, and the Bishop of Durham on his left.

A Duke bearing up the Kings Train.

The Queens Train or Attendants, followed: after whom,

Then one bearing a Scepter.

Then one bearing the Ivory Rod with a Dove.

One bearing the Crown.

Then the Queen Apparellled in Robs like the King. Under a Rich Canopie, at each corner a Gold Bell, on Her Head she had a Circler, set full of Precious Stones.

A Countess bearing up her Train.

Two Dutches's in their Coronets Attendants.

Twenty Ladies following orderly in rich Attire.

In this Order they passed from the Pallace to the Abby and ascending to the High Altar, there shifted their Robs, and having other Robs open in diverse places from the middle upwards, were both Anointed, and Crowned:

[]

He with St. Edwards Crown, having the Scepter delivered into his left Hand, and the Globe with the Crofs into the right. The Queen had a Scepter given into her right Hand, and the Ivory Dove into her left.

Then after the Sermon, and the Sacrament received (having the Host divided between them) they both offered at St. Edwards Altar, or Shrine; where the King left his Crown, and put on his own: and thus done, in the same Order and State as they came, returned to Westminister Hall; and there held a most Princely Feast.

The Earl Marshal (when all persons were set, and the Hall voided and cleared of the multitude) with the High Constable, Lord Steward, Lord Treasurer and Comptroller came in and served the King Solemnly with one Dish of Gold and another of Silver: and the Queen all in Gilt Vessels, and the Bishops all in Silver. At the Second Course of the Feast, a Champion in compleat Armour well mounted, comes into the Hall, on a Riding before him, which carried his Lance: this Champion having his Sword drawn, Proclaims the King with a loud voice, to be the lawful and undoubted King, and Heir of the Crown of England: which if any did deny, he was ready to defend by Combate and Dife of Sword.

The Order of the Feast was thus in short, at the head of the Table the King is Seated by Himself, at the lower end of the same Table, are placed the Embassadors of diverse Princes. Before the King stood the Carver, Sewer, Cup-bearer, with a great number of Gentlemen waiters, Attending his Person, the Ushers making place to strangers that come to behold his Person.

At the side Table on the right hand near adjoining to the King, are placed the Lord Chancellor, Chamberlain, Keeper of the Great Seal, Steward, Treasurer; being the five Great Peers of the Kingdom, with diverse other Honorable Persons.

At the side Table on the left hand, are placed the Lord Mayor and Aldermen, the Treasurer of the Household, Secretaries of State, Serjeant at Law, Master of the Revels, Kings at Arms, and the Dean of the Chappel.

At another Table at the other side are set the new made Knights of the Bath and others, the Master of the Game, chief Ranger, Masters of the Household, Clerks of the Green Cloath, and Exchequer: with strangers to furnish it.

At another Table over against it, are placed the Knights and Gentlemen of the Kings House, Lieutenant of the Tower, with diverse Captains and Commanders, both of Foot and Horse.

At a Table at the lower end of the Hall, are set the Butler, the Panther, Clerks of the Kitchen, and diverse others of the Kings House, furnished throughout with the Kings Guard, and at every course or mess, the Trumpets with other Musick, are to sound.

But to lay aside the formality of the Kings and Queens passage from the Pallace to the Abby (being a part of Marshalling, or Triumphal Progressions) is more proper for another place, the which I shall have occasion hereafter to treat off, in lib. 4. chap. 11.

Officers

Officers and Servants in the Kings Majesties Household with their Fees, Chief Officers, and Attendants.

Lord High Steward, 383. 7. 8.
 Lord High Constable;
 Earl Marshal;
 Lord High Chamberlain, 200.
 Lord High Treasurer, 368 l.
 Lord High Admiral,
 Lord High Almoner,
 Lord President of K. Council,
 Lords of the Privy Council
 Knight Marshal,

The Counting - House.

Treasurer of the House, 124. 14. 8.
 Controller, 107. 17. 4.
 Cofferer, 100 l.
 Clerk of the Coffer, 20 l.
 2 Clerks of the green Cloath, 44. 6. 8.
 2 Clerks Controllers, 44. 6. 8.
 A Serjeant or Yeoman, 6. 13. 4.
 A Groom, 2. 13. 4.
 2 Messengers,
 Mr. of the House, 100. Marks.
 Messenger of the Counting - House,

The Jewel - House.

Master, 50 l.
 Treasurer,
 Yeoman, 6. 13. 4.
 Groom, 5. 6. 8.

The Robes or Ward - Robe.

Yeoman, 5 l.
 Grooms, 2. 13. 4.
 Page, 2 l.

The Beds.

2 Yeomen each 10 l.
 3 Grooms, each 3. 8. 4.
 2 Pages, each 2 l.
 Clerk, 10 l.

The Pantry.

Serjeant, 11. 8. 1. ob.
 3 Yeomen, each 5 l.
 4 Grooms, each 2. 13. 4.
 2 Pages, each 2 l.
 Bread - Bearer, 1. 10. 4.

The Buttery.

A Gentleman Pantler, or Bread - Keeper.

4 Yeoman, 5 l.

4 Grooms or Purveyors, 2. 13. 4.

2 Pages, each 2 l.

Napierer, or Keeper of the Table Linnen.

The Sellar.

Serjeant, 11. 8. 1. ob.

7 Yeoman, each 5 l.

Groom, 2. 13. 4.

2 Pages, 2 l.

8 Wine Porters.

The Ewrye.

A Serjeant,

Gentleman of the Ewry, 7 d. ob. per diem

3 Yeomen, each 5 l.

2 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

2 Pages, each 2 l.

3 Clerks, each 11 l. 8 s. 1 d. ob.

The Kitchen.

2 Mr. Cookes, each 11 l. 8 s. 1 d. ob.

6 Yeomen, each 5 l.

6 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

8 Children, each 2 l.

Gallapines, 50 l.

Surveyor of the Dresser, 22 l. 1 s. 3 d.

Cook Large as Easter, 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

Idem to Scullery, 1 l.

Idem to Pattery, 2 l.

The Bake - House.

Serjeant, 11 l. 8 s. 1 d. ob.

A Garnitor,

7 Yeomen, each 5 l.

2 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

6 Conductors, 3 d. per Diem.

- - - Purveyors,

The Spicery.

A Grocer.

Clerk of the Spicery, 20 l.

Yeoman, 5 l.

Serjeant, 11 l. 8 s. 1 d. ob.

Groom, 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

Page, 2 l.

The Pitcher - House.

2 Yeomen, each 5 l.

3 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

2 Pages, each 2 l.

The Larder.

3 Yeomen, 5 l.

3 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

2 Pages, 2 l.

Clerk, 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

Serjeant,

The Boiling - House.

Yeoman, 5 l.

2 Grooms, 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

Clerk, 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

The Acatrye, or Caterers Office.

A Serjeant,

6 Yeomen, each 7 l. 13 s. 4 d.

2 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

2 Pages, each 2 l.

Purveyors,

The Pattery.

Serjeant, 11 l. 8 s. 1 d. ob.

Clerk, 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

2 Yeomen, 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

4 Grooms, each 5 l.

4 Children, each 2 l.

The Poultry.

Serjeant, 11 l. 8 s. 1 d. ob.

Clerk, 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

4 Yeomen Purveyors, 5 l.

The Scalding - House.

Yeoman, 5 l.

2 Grooms, 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

2 Pages, or Purveyors.

The Squillery, or Scullery.

A Serjeant,

A Clerk,

3 Yeomen, each 5 l.

2 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.

4 Pages, each 2 l.

The Chappel.

Dean, 200 l.

Sub - Dean, 100 l.

12 Priests, each 70 l.

12 Singing Boys,

A Vergero,

A Serjeant,

4 Yeomen,

2 Grooms

2 Groom,
8 Chaplains in Ordinary.

The Almoury, or Eleemosinary.

Lord Almoner
Sub-Almoner, 6l. 16s. 10 d. ob.
4 Yeomen, each 2 l.
2 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.
Gentlemen 7 d. per Diem, 1 l. 8 s. 1 d. ob.

The Chandlery.

A Serjeant,
2 Yeomen,
9 Grooms,
A Page.

The Confectionary.

A Serjeant,
2 Yeomen,
A Groom,
A Page.

The Laundry.

A Woman Laundress, 10 l.
2 Yeomen, 5 l.
2 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.
2 Pages, each 2 l.
A Draper,

The Harbingers Office.

A Knight Harbinger, 20 marks.
3 Gentlemen Harbingers,
7 Women Harbingers,

The Knight Marshalls.

Knight Marshal,
6 Provost Marshal or Virgers.

The Kings - Gard, or Life - Gard. Largets at Mid - Summer, 5 l.

3 Captains, 20 s. per Diem.
4 Lieutenants,
3 Cornets,
3 Guidon,
3 Quarter - Master,
12 Brigadiers of Horse, 4 s. per Diem.

The Band of Gentlemen Pensioners.

Captain, 1000 l.
Lieutenant, 260 l.
Standard Bearer, 200 l.
Clerk, 120 l.
100 Battle - Axes, or Pole - Axes, 100 l.

The Gard Chamber.

200 Ordinary Yeomen, 20 d. per Diem.
A Captain, 1000 l.
Lieutenant, 500 l.
Ensign, 300 l.
Clerk of the Cheque, 150 l.
4 Corporals, each 150.

The Wastrey - House.

Yeoman, 5 l.
Groom, 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.
Serjeant, 11 l. 8 s. 1 d. ob.
Clerk, 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

The Wood - Pard.

A Serjeant,
6 Cart Takers,
4 Yeomen, each 5 l.
4 Grooms, each 2 l. 13 s. 4 d.
2 Pages, each 2 l.
2 Wood - bearers, each 1 l. 10 s. 5 d.

The Hall.

6 Porters and Scooters, each 2 l.
Largets to them all at Easter, 5 l.
A Serjeant Porter,
4 Marshalls of the Hall,
5 Sewers of the Hall,
12 Waiters,
A Bell - Ringer,
Cock of the Court,

The Stable.

Mr. of the Horse, 100 l.
Chief Avenor, 40 l.
14 Quirriers, each 20 l.
2 Riders, each 30 l.
Clerk, 11 d. per Diem.
3 Surveyors, each 11 d.
Serjeants of the carriage, 15 d.
3 Sadlers, 9 d.
Yeoman Coach - maker, 12 d.
Yeoman of the Stirrope, 9 d.
4 Yeomen Purveyors, 9 d.
3 Yeomen Granators, 9 d.
Serjeant Farrier, 13 d.
3 Yeomen Farriers, 6 d.
Yeoman of the Male, 8 d.
Yeoman Bit - maker, 3 d.
Yeoman of the Close - cart, 7 d.
64 Grooms, to all 584 l.
26 Footmen in Liveries.

Per Diem.

So that all the Fees to the Officers of the Kings Household, amounts to 15868 l. 10 s. 1 d.

A List of the Kings Officers in Ordinary that Attend His Person above Staires.

In the Bed - Chamber.

18 Gentlemen of the Bed - Chamber, each 100 l.
Groom of the Stool,
Servant of the Robe or Vestment,
Lord Great Chamberlain,
Vice - Chamberlain,
Keeper of the Privy Purse,
Treasurer of the Chamber,
Master of the Robes,
12 Grooms of the Bed - Chamber, each 50 l.
6 Pages of the Bed - Chamber,
Keeper of the Kings Cabinet Closet,
4 Gentlemen Ushers of the Privy Chamber,

48 Gentlemen of the Privy Chamber.
8 Grooms of the Privy Chamber,
The Presence Chamber, or Great Chamber.
8 Sewers of the Chamber,
Groom Porter,
16 Serjants at Arms,
42 Messengers of the Chamber,

The Ceremonies.

The Master of Ceremonies, 200 l.
An Assistant, 120 l.
A Marshall,

The Removing Wardrobe.

A Yeoman, 200 l.
2 Grooms, each 100.
3 Pages, each 100 marks.

The Officers of the Robes.

A Yeoman,
F 2

2 Grooms,
A Page,
A Purveyor,
A Brusher,
A Dyer,
A Taylor,
A Girdler,
A Clerk,
A Laceman,
A Cutter and Racer,
An Imbrautherer,
2 Silkmen,

A Shoomaker,
A Perfumer,
A Feather maker,
A Milliner,
A Mercer,
A Hosier,
A Draper,
A Surveyor,

Masters of the Game.

Mr. of the Fighting Cocks,

Mr. of the Bears,
A Serjeant,
Mr. of the Bulls,
A Yeoman,
Mr. of the Bowling Green,
Mr. of the Tennis-court,
Mr. of the Pall - Mall,
Keeper of the Theater,
Keeper of the Birds and Fowl,
2 Gentlemen of the Bows,
Chief Ranger, 9l. 2s. 6d.

Other Officers of Court which Pertain to the Kings Household, with their Fees.

The Secretaries of Estate.

Principal Secretaries, 100l.
Secretary of French Tongue, 66. 13. 4.
Secretary of the Latin, 40 mar.
4 Clerks of the Signet,
Clerk of the Council, 26l. 13s. 4d.
Clerk of the Parliament, 40l.
Clerk of the Market, 20l.
Clark of the Privy Council, 40l.

The Armory.

Lieutenant of the Ordinance,
Mr. of the Armory, 130l. 10s. 9d.
20 other Officers, each 15l. 5s.
Lacksmith, 15l. 12s.
Labourer, 10l.
Gilder, 5l.
Brigender 10 l.

The Officers at Arms.

Garter King at Arms, 40l.
Clarencieux K. at Arms, 20l.
Norroy K. at Arms, 20l.
6 Heralds, each 13l. 6s. 8d.
6 Pursivants, have 93l. 6s. 8d.
25 Serjeants at Arms, 1s per Diem.

The Mynt - House.

Treasurer, 100 l.
Controllor, 100 mar.
Assay Master, 100 mar.
Auditor, 44l. 6s. 8d.
Teller of Money, 33l. 6s. 8d.
Surveyor of the Melting - house, 26l. 13s. 4d.
Clerk of the Irons, 20 marks.
Clerk of the Mynt, 10l.
Chief Graver, 30l.
Chief Finer, 20l.
Sinker of the Irons, 10l.
3 Melters, each 20 marks.
Purveyors, 10l.
Pot-makers, 10l.
Porter, 10 l.

The Buttlage of England.

Chief Buttlr, 50 m.
Under Buttlr,

The Barges.

Mr. of the Kings Barge, 10l. 8s. 8d.
Servants amongst them, 20l.

The Great Wardrobe.

Master, 115 l.
Clerk, 18l. 5s.
Under Clerk, 4l. 6s. 8d.
Porter, 6l. 1s. 8d.
Rent gatherer, 5l.
3 Taylors, each 9l. 2s. 6d.
3 Imbrautherers, each 18s. 5d.

The Tents, or Pavillions.

2 Masters, 30l.
Controllor, 12l. 13s. 4d.
Clerk, 13l. 7s. 4.
Keeper of the Tents, 10l.
4 Yeoman, 5l.
Groom, 9l. 2s. 5d.

The Revells.

Master of the Revells, 100l.
Yeoman, 9l. 2s. 10d.
Master of the Request, 100l.

The Works.

Surveyor, 30l.
Controllor, 30l.
Clerk, 18l. 5s.
Purveyor, 24l. 6s. 8d.
Keeper of the Store-house, 9l. 13s. 4d.
Clerk of the Check, 15l. 3s. 4d.
Carpenter, 18l. 5s.
Mason, 18l. 5s.
3 Joyners, each 18l. 5s.
Glasier, 18l. 5s.
Surveyors of the Mines, 36l. 10s.
Deviler of Building, 36l. 10s.

[]

The Hunters Fees.

Master of the Hounds, 18l. 5s.
The Yeoman, 6l.
Mr. of Buck-hounds, 50 marks.
2 Servants, each 20l.
2 Yeomen Prickers, each 9l. 2s. 6d.
Master of Otter Hounds, 13l. 6s.
40 others under them.

The Apothecary & Physician, &c.

6 Surgeons, all 106l. 13s. 4d.
3 Physicians, all 260l.
3 Apothecaries, all 64l. 9s. 2d.
Astronomers, 20l.
4 Physicians to His Majesty,
2 Physicians for the Household and Tower.
2 Barbers,

The Musicians and Players.

Serjeant Trumpeter, 24l. 6s. 8d.
16 Trumpeters, all 389l. 6s. 8d.
6 Sack - Buts, each 24l.
8 Violls, each 30l. 8. 4d.
3 Drumslades, each 18l. 5s.
2 Players on the Flute, 18l. 5s.
3 Players on the Virginals, 5l.
8 Players of Enterludes, each 3l. 6s.
2 Makers of Instruments, 30l.

The Artificers Fees.

Printer, 4l.
Stationer, 10 l.
Cutler, 6l. 1s. 8d.
3 Weavers, each 9l. 2s. 6d.
Bowyer, 9l. 2s. 6d.
Wheel Wright, 18l. 5s.
Crofs - Bow maker, 6l. 1s. 8d.
Clock - maker, 18l. 10s.
Feather Dresser, 13l. 6s.
Lock - Smith 2l. 13s. 4d.
Arrow - Maker, 6l. 1s. 8d.
Buckler - Maker, 3l. 8d.
Hand - Gun - maker, 1l. 6s. 8d.

Scot

Stone Graver, 20 l.
 Serjeant Painter, 25 l. 10 s.
 Gardiner, 25 l. 10 s.
 Stillers of Water, 40 l.
 Clock keeper, 12 l. 13 s. 4 d.
 Silkman,
 Wollen Draper,
 2 Taylors,
 Serjeant Skinner,
 Post-Master,
 Tennis-Ball maker,
 2 Imbrauthers,
 2 Keepers of the Privy Lodgings,
 Prospective maker,
 Master Fencer,
 Haberdasher of Hats,

Comb maker,
 Silver-Smith,
 Gold-Smith,
 Jeweller,
 Peruque-maker,
 Joyner,
 Watch-maker,
 Cabinet-Maker,
 Lock-Smith,
 55 Water-men,
 Upholster,
 Cutler,
 Spurrier,
 Girdler,
 Button-maker, &c.

The Falconry Office.

Master of the Hawks,
 33 Under Falconers, or Officers.

The Kings Officers for Law.

4 Serjeants at Law.
 Attorney General,
 Solicitor General,
 Chief Justice of Chester.
 2 Council at Law.
 2 Advocates for the Civil Law.
 2 Secretaries of Estate,
 2 Clerks of the Council,
 2 Masters of Request,
 4 Clerks of the Signet,

Officers of Estate, and the Kings Household. with their Allowances.

In the Exchequer of London.

Lord High Treasurer, 368 l.
 Chancellor, 113 l.
 Lord chief Baron, 100 l.
 2 Barons, 40 l. 13 s. 4 d. apiece.
 Kings Remembrancer, 55 l. 17 s. 4 d.
 Treasurer, 63 l. 2 s. 1 d.
 Clerk of the Pipe, 65 l. 4 s. 2 d.
 5 Auditors, to each 10 l.
 Clerk of the Extracts, 15 l.
 Clerk of the Plees, 5 l.
 2 Marshals, to each 2 l. 10 s.
 Ushers in all, 140 l.
 8 Porters, each 4 l. and Liveries.
 Clerk of Talis, 41 l. 13 s. 4 d.
 Clerk of the Peal, 61 l. 16 s. 8 d.
 2 Chamberlains, each 52 l. 3 s. 4 d.
 Under Treasurer, 173 l.
 2 Deputy Chamberlains, 6 l.
 6 Messengers, each 4 d. ob per Diem.
 Besides other under Officers.

Custom-Houses.

Customer Fee and reward, 47 13 4
 Controllor, 20 l.
 Collector, 66 l.
 Surveyor, 46 l.
 Searcher,
 16 Waiters, to each 44 l.
 6 Clerks, to each 10 l.

Receivers of Crown Lands.

9 Receivers, each 200 m.
 Clerks allowance, each 37 l. 8 s. 8 d.

Surveyor of Crown Lands.

One in each County, 13 l. 6 s. 4 d.

The Duchy Court of Lancaster.

Chancellor, 142 l. 16 s.
 Attornies, each 45 l.

Receiver General, 38 l. 16 s. 4 d.
 Clerk, 27 l. 10 s.
 Messenger, 10 l.
 Usher, 20 s.
 4 Council at Law, each 7 l. 6 s. 8 d.
 2 Auditors of the Revenue, each 197 l.
 22 Receivers, each 5 l.
 3 Surveyors, each 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

Court of first Fruits.

Chancellor, 242 l. 6 s. 8 d.
 Treasurer, 136 l.
 Attorney, 26 l. 13 s. 4 d.
 Auditor, 140 l. 3 d.
 Clerk, 40 l.
 Keeper of the Records, 20 l.
 Messenger, 16 l. 13 s. 4 d.
 Usher, 6 l. 6 s. 8 d.

Court of Wards.

Master of the Wards, 352 l. 6 s. 8 d.
 Receiver, 70 l. 13 s. 4 d.
 Attorney, 70 l.
 Surveyor, 107 l.
 Auditor, 145 l. 13 s. 4 d.
 2 Clerks, each 24 l. 13 s. 8 d.
 Messenger, 6 l. 2 d.
 Usher, 5 l.
 45 Feodaries, each 9 l.

So that the Fees of the Courts of Revenues to the said Officers and their Substitutes aforesaid, amounts to 13825 l. 8 s. 4 d. ob.

The Court of Chancery.

Lord Chancellor, or
 Lord Keeper of the great Seal, 1047 l.
 Master of the Rolls, 71 l. 13 s. 4 d.
 Clerk of the Hamper, 43 l.
 Clerk of the Crown, 60 l.

[]

Controllor, 10 l.
 Prothonotary, 33 l. 6 s. 8 d.
 Sealer, 6 l. 16 s. 10 d. ob.
 Chaffer of Wax, 3 l. 16 s. 1 d.
 Cryer, 6 l. 6 s. 10 d. ob.
 Enroller of Evidences, 20 l.
 12 Masters of Chancery,

The Privy Seal.

Lord Keeper his Fee 20 s. pre Diem.

The Kings Bench Court.

Lord chief Justice, 228 l. 6 s. 5 d.
 3 Lords Justices, each 148 l.
 Clerk of the Crown, 10 l.
 Prothonotary nil.
 Keeper of the Records, nil.

The Court of Common Pleas.

Lord chief Justice, 182 l.
 3 Lords Justices, each 148 l. 6 s. 8 d.
 Keeper of the Rolls, 4 l.
 4 Sejeants at Law, each 53 l. 6 s. 7 d.
 Attorney General, 81 l.
 Solicitor General, 50.

The Council in the North.

Lord President, 1000 l.
 7 Councillors, each 50 l.
 Secretary, 33 l. 6 s. 8 d.
 Messenger, 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

The Marches of Wales.

Lord President, 1040 l.
 7 Councillors, each 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

The Admiralty Court.

Lord Admiral of England, 200 m.
 Lieutenant, 230 l.
 Treasurer, 220 l.

Mr.

Mr. of the Ordinance, 180 l.

Controllor, 100 l.

Surveyor, 70 l.

Clerk of the Ships, 60 l.

Clerk of the Store-House, 52 13 4

Victualler of the Navye, 128 l.

The Principality of South-Wales.

Chancellor, 20 l.

Secretary, 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

Attorney, 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

Sollicitor, 10 l.

The Principality of North-Wales Messenger, 2 l.

Chancellor, 20 l.

Attorney, 66 s.

Controllor, 12 l. 13 s. 4 d.

2 Justices, each 23 l. 6 s. 8 d.

The Palatine of Lancaster.

Clerk of the Crown, 6 l.

Clerk of the Common Pleas, 4 l.

Clerk of the Estracts, 1 l.

2 Barons of the Exchequer, each 2 l.

2 Attorneys, each 6 l. 31 s. 4 d.

Cryer, 2 l.

Chamberlain, 20 l.

The Palatine of Chester.

2 Baron of the Exchequer, 9 l. 2 s. 4 d.

2 Serjeants at Law, each 3 l. 6 s. 8 d.

2 General Attorneys, each 3 l. 6 s. 8 d.

Escheator, 10 l. 10 s.

Justices of Oyer and Terminer.

From Trent Southward, 100 l.

From Trent Northward, 100 l.

Masters of Request, each 200.

III. He beareth Argent, a Prince in his Parliament Robes Gules, Doubled Ermin; the Surcoat, or Crested, Purpure: with a Girdle about his middle of the first; a Chatter in his right Hand, and a Rod of Estate or Government in his left, and his Sword by his side all proper.

The Kings eldest Son in England, is called Prince, and the first that we read of was Edward eldest Son to King Henry the third, and after him the Eldest Son of the King hath been ever by Parent, and Ceremonies of Enstallment Created Prince of Wales, &c. Earl of Chester, being born Duke of Cornwall: and hath the Title of Illustrious, or Most Illustrious Prince.

The Prince or first Son of the King of France, is called the Dolphin of France. In Spain the Infanta of Spain: and in other Countrys there are Princes by Creation, as the Prince of Piemont, and the Prince of Orange, with several others which now become Hereditary: and in some Countrys all the Royal line are Stiled Princes, as in Bohemia the eldest Son called the Palgrave, and all the other Princes. In Denmark, all the younger Sons are called Princes.

The Creation of a Prince.

When a Prince is to be Created, he is after diverse Solemnities, at length presented before the King in Princely Robes, who puteth about his Neck a Sword bendways, a Cap upon his Head, with a Coronet according to His Degree over it, a Ring on his middle Finger, and a Berge or Wand of Gold in his Hand, and his Letters Patents after they are read.

Henry the fourth bestowed the said Principallitie on his eldest Son Henry, with the Title of Earl of Chester and Flint, by the said Solemn Investures, and a Kiss in full Parliament.

Yet here is to be noted that the Mantle of a Prince, is once more doubled then the Dukes: and his Cap of Estate in its doubling is indented, having (as all Caps of Dignity have) a Button and Cassel of Gold on the Crown or Top of the Cap.

Besides he hath a Surcote and Girdle and the Mantle with Cordons Buttons, and Cassels, as the Kings Mantle of State hath.

The Revenues of the Prince of Wales.

Edward the Third in a Parliament held at Westminster in the 15 Year of His Reign, Created Edward His Son and Heir Surnamed the Black Prince, Prince of Wales: and for his better maintenance in Honourable Support, according to his State and Dignity, by Charter the 18 of E. 1. gave him all His Lordships and Lands in North-Wales, South-Wales, and West-Wales or Powys: which have since appertain to this Principallitie, as

1. The Lordship, Castle, Town and County of Carnarvon, 1134 l. 16 s. 2 d. ob. q.
2. The Lordship, Castle and Town of Conway.
3. The Lordship, Castle, and Town of Crucketh.
4. The Lordship, Castle and Town of Bernmaris.
5. The Lordship, Castle and Town of Harlaeh.
6. The Lordship, Castle, Towns and Counties of Anglesey, and Merioneth, 1581 l. 5 s. 10 d. ob.
7. The Lordship, Castle, Town and County of Carmarthen, 405 l. 1 s. 7 d.
8. The Lordship, Castle and Town of Llanbider-Nau.
9. The Lordship, and Stewardship of Carmarthen.
10. The Lordship, Castle, Town and County of Cardigan, 374 l. 11 s. 3 d. ob.
11. The Lordship, Castle and Town of Emelyn.
12. The Lordship, Castle & Town of Bueli, 113 l. 6 s. 8 d.
13. The Lordship, Castle and Town of Haverford.
14. The Lordship, Castle and Town of Montgomery, 56 l. 13 s. 4 d.

And all the Lands that were Rice ap Meridick which came to the hands of King E. 1. (who Rebelled against the English Crown after the Conquest of Wales) together with all the Lordships, Citties, Castles, Towns, Mannors, Members Hamlets, Lands, Tenements, Knights Fees, Voidances of Bishopricks, Advowsons of Churches and of Abbies, Priors and of Hospitals, with Customs, and Prifages of Wines, the Exercise and Execution of Justice, and a Chancery, Forests, Chafes, Parks, Woods, Warrens, Hundreds, Comots, &c. besides,

15. The Perquisites and Profits of the Sessions of the Justices of North-Wales.
16. The Perquisites and Profits of the Sessions of the Justices of South-Wales, 738 l. 6 s. 9 d. ob.
17. The Perquisites, of the Courts of Haverford, 41 l. 5 s. 3 d. ob.

Deduct

Deduct for the Fees of the Justices of North - Wales 40 l. and of South - Wales 50 l.

Then the Revenue of the Principality is clear
481 l. 12 s. 5 d. & f.

Officers about the Person of the Prince of Wales.

The Governor of the Princes Person.

The Council of the Prince were diverse Honorable and worthy Persons.

The Chamberlain, and chief Chamberlain.

The Attorney General.

The Clerk of the Princes Council, or Secretary and the Keeper of His Books of Records, &c. his Fee 100 l.

The Usher of the Council - Chamber, his Fee 10 l.

The Gentleman Usher to the Princes Privy Chamber.

The Keeper of the Princes Ward-Robe, his Fee

5 l. 10 s.

The Treasurer or Receiver General.

The Princes chief General.

The Master of the Princes Horse, and the Equiryes and such as teach him to Ride, besides many other interior

Officers and Servants not mentioned in any Record.

The Ancient Officers of State and other Places of Judicature, for the Principality of Wales; with their Fees Per Annum.

In every of the said Circuits or Counties, there is a Chamberlain, or Treasurers of the Revenue, and Keepers of the Seal, 20 l.

The Princes Attorney, and Princes Solicitor.

The Prothonotary or chief Register.

The Clerk of the Crown.

The Marshal to attend the Judges.

The chief Justices of North - Wales and South - Wales,
50 l. a piece, the latter 40 l. a piece.

The Cryer.

The Justices of the Peace, which are to preserve the Peace and to punish turbulent persons.

The Custos Rotulorum or chief Justice of Peace, that keeps the Records of their proceedings.

The Justice of Peace and Quorum, without him no
Session can be holden.

The Clerk of the Peace and Sessions 5 l.

The Sheriffs of each county 2 l. 10 s. of some 5 l.

The Coroners.

The Constables in every Hundred in the Shire.

The Goaler.

The Bailiffs or catch - poles.

The Marshal and keeper of the Justice house in Carnarvon, 1 l. 6 s. 8 d.

The chief Forester of Snoden, 1 l. 8 s.

[]

The Steward General of the Comots of the County of Carmarthen, 6 l. 13 s. 4 d. of Cardigan 10 l.

The Clerk of the County Courts and small Sessions, each 2 l.

The Cryers of the same, each 6 s. 8 d.

The Office of Penkeys in the Comots of Widegada and Elva, 4 s.

The Steward of the same, 3 l. 13 s. 4 d.

The Clerk, 6 s. 8 d.

The Bailiff Itinerant, 5 l. and some 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

The Auditors, each 10 l. per Annum, and 10 s. per Diem in executing his Office and making his accounts.

The Controllors of all Pleas &c, 12 l. 3 s. 4 d.

The Attorneys in each County, 2 l. 16 s. 8 d. in South - Wales each 8 l. 13 s. 4 d.

The Surveyor or Supervisors, each 10 l.

The Constable of the several Castles and Towns, 40 l.

viz. Carnarvon, Conway, Harlech, Beaumaris, Carmarthen, Aberystwith, Cardig. n.

The Captains 12 l. 3 s. 4 d. and every Soldier of the Gard, 4 d. per Diem.

The Porters of the Gates, 3 l. 10 s.

The Office of the Steward of Newbrough and Roffaire,
10 l.

An Arch - Duke.

This Title is not used in England but in Germany: and proper only to the House of Austria, though some others have assumed the title, as Mr. Seldon inform us.

He taketh place of all other Dukes, and he is allowed at his creation, a Surcoat, a Mantle, and a Hood of Crimson Velter: He hath also a Chapeaur, or Du-cal Cap doubled Ermin, and indented with a Coronet about the same with one Arch of Gold with a Globe and Cross upon it: and a Cierge, or Wand of Gold.

A Duke

A Duke was at the first a title of Office, afterwards Honorary, and since Feudal and Hereditary: and were at first created without any Ceremony, except the girding of a Sword about them. But John Son of Edward the third. had a Cap of Furr added to the Ceremony when created Duke of Lancaster: and succeeding time have to them added, Surcoat, Mantle, Hood, a Cierge of Gold, a Ducal Crownnet, with a Cap doubled Er-min, but not indented as that of the Princes is.

The Duke, Marquess and Earl at their Creation have a Sword put over their Heads to their shoulders, which the Viscount and Baron have not.

The Creation of a Duke.

The King being Seated in His Chamber of Salutation called the pretence Chamber; the Heralds proceeded by two & two, then came Garter with the Charter in his Hand, after him came an Earl bearing the Rod of Gold, then another Earl carrying the Cap of State with the Du-cal Crown on it, and after him another Earl bearing the Sword

Sword with the Hilt upwards, then came the Person to be created between a Duke and a Marquess vested with an inner Surcoat (Gird about the middle) of a Scarlet colour Fimbriated or Bordered with Ermine skins: coming before the King they made three obeisance, the Person then knelt before the King, the Charter was Audibly read which at the word Inveſtitimus, the King with his own Hands puts upon him the Ducal Robe: and at the word, Gladio Cincturavimus, the King puts the Belt and Sword over his Head: and at the word, Capite & Circulo Aurei Impositionem, the King with his own Hands, puts the Coronet on his Head: and at the word, Virga Aurea Traditionem, the King puts the Rod into his Hands: and when the rest of the Charter is read over, the King declares him to be Duke of such and such a place, so giving him the Letters Patent, and thanks given for the great Favour, &c. They go out orderly as they came in: the rest of the Ceremonies in the Feast, see in the creation of a Baron.

A Duke is Styled, and Esteemed Princely, and Generally Gracious, and Excellent: the High and Mighty Prince, or Most High Potent and Noble Prince.

Dukes of the Blood Royal, as the Kings Son, Brother, Uncle, Nephew, ought to be repated as Arch-Dukes, and to have precedency before all other Dukes not of the Blood Royal.

A Marquess.

It was a word at first used to all Earls and Barons, that were Lords Marchers, or Lords of Frontiers: and came after to a Title of Dignity, and Hereditary: beginning in the time of Richard the Second, who Created Robert de Vere Earl of Oxford, Marquess of Dublin, by the girding on of his Sword, and putting on his Head a Circlet, or Crownlet of Gold. The Ceremony at these times are such, or much at one, with them of the Earls.

The Marquess is Honored with a Crownlet of Gold, Flowered and Pointed, being both of equal height: his Battle also lined with Ermine, the Cape or Doubling the same, having only five rows of Ermine, whereas the Earl hath but four.

The Creation of a Marquess.

The Rites and Ceremonies of a Marquess Creation differeth in nothing from the Dukes only he is conducted into the Kings presence between a Marquess and an Earl, neither hath he any Rod delivered to him.

He is Styled as the Duke, Earl, and Viscount are by the King (Consanguinei Nostri) our cousins: and if he be written unto, he is titled the most Noble, and Potent Lord: or the Right Honorable and Grand (or puissant) Seigneur.

IV. He beareth Luna, an Earl in his Parliament Robes holding a Charter in his right hand with the Seal pendant all proper. If you desire a more exact blazon, say an Earl in his Creation Robes Mars, Lined Ermine; Surcoat Mercury, Girdle Luna: having a Sword and Belt about his Neck, Crowned according to his degree, holding a Charter in his right hand, Seal pendant proper.

A Count, or Earl.

The word Earl is derived from the Saxon Eorl or Eor-el, which the Dutch called Coyle, and by abbreviation we call it Earl. The Title and office, with that of Thun, we find both Honorary, and Feudal, or Hereditary, whole possessions were sometimes the whole Territory they derive their Title from; and sometimes of, but some particular part, or place of it.

At the coming in of the Normans this word was turned into Comes, or Count; since which time it hath remained: in the Empire of Germany there are sundry sorts of Earls, which they title Countes: as Landgraves, Palgraves, Bargraves, Burgrave, and Ringgrave, &c. that is Earls of Regions, or Provinces: Earls Palatine, or Priviledge places: Earls of Parts, Bounds, Limits, Fields or Towns: Earls of Cities, Towers, Forts, Castles, and Earls of Rivers, Waters, &c. Comes Rusticis.

And so this Title since the conquest hath continued with us, either Local, or Personal, from the denomination of some Countrey Town, or City: or from some great Office, as Earl Marshal and the like. But of Local Earls we have in our Kingdom but two kinds, Earls Palatines, and Earls not Palatines: of the first we have title of Chester and Lancaster, the Bishoprick of Durham, and Ely.

Chester Palatine was given to Hugh Lup, to hold of the Conqueror, as freely by the Sword, as he himself held England by the Crown: in which case he scarcely acknowledged a Superior, but was equal to the Prince, for he created eight Barons under him, he had his Chamberlain, Justices, Baron of the Exchequer, High Constable, Sheriff, and other Officers proportionable to those of the Crown at Westminster.

Lancaster was made a Palatine by King Edward the third, and had Barons, a Chancery, and Seal; and so had the Palatine Bishops of Durham and Ely. The Office of those Barons was to sit in Council and Judgment with the Earl.

Of those Earls that are not Palatinate, but have their Creation from places, these are as ancient as the conquest, for William the first by Patent Created Alfred Fergent Earl of Richmond. Where we find many times in their Patents they had annual Rents, and sometimes Land granted them, for the support of their Title and Dignity.

The Creation Robes belonging to an Earl is a Sarcoat, a Battle; with the Cape of three rows, or turnings down of the Ermine Furr: a Hood, a Coronet of Gold with points, not Flowers; (Circulus Aureus) a Sword, and a Cap of Honor, with an Ermine turning up, and a Button, and Tassel of Gold on the top.

Earls that have their Office Personal, is only the Earl Marshal of England, and the first was Thomas Mowbray Earl of Nottingham, made Earl Marshal of England, or Marescallus Anglie for Life, and after to him and his Heirs Males, by King Richard the Second: but since the 14 of Queen Elizabeth, the Office hath been only for Life; and to these Earls (besides what is before said) belongs as an Ensign of Authority, a Rod, or Staff of Gold, Enamelled at each end with Black.

There is another kind of Earl, which is only nominal, viz. Earl Rivers, who takes his Title from the denomination of an Illustrious Family, as the rest do from some noted place.

The Creation of an Earl.

The King seated in State in the Chamber of Presence, the Trumpets sounding before, the Pursuivants at Arms, the Heralds of Arms, and the two Kings of Arms Clarendon and Norroy followed by two and two, after them came Garter the principal King of Arms alone with the Charter of Creation in his hand; after him followed an Earl bearing a Cap of Dignity, with an Earls Coronet on it; after him succeeded another Earl, bearing a Sword and Belt, with the Hilt and Pommel crested; after him came the person to be created, between two Earls, having on him a Coat or underment, called a Surcoat of Scarlet Silk, covered with a long Mantle or Cloak of the same colour, Lined with Ermine, they being all come into the Kings Presence, and having made three Obeisances, the person to be created kneels before the King, the rest standing round about; Garter gives the Charter to the King, and he to the Secretary of State, who reading it, at the word Circumvinctus, the King puts the Belt (with the Sword hanging at it) over his head obliquely towards the left side; and at the reading of the word, Cappa & Circuli Aurei, the King puts upon his head the Cap and Coronet; when the rest of the Charter is read over, he pronounceth the said person, that before was so called, is now Earl of such a place, to him and his Heirs Male, &c. then the Secretary delivers the Charter to the Chamberlain, and he to the King, and the King to the person created, who giving him humble thanks for his great favour, &c. in the same manner and order as they came in, they went out: For the rest of their Ceremonies, at and after Dinner, see in the creation of a Baron.

He is styled the most Noble and Potent Lord, or the thrice honourable and puissant Seigneur, W. Earl of A. Viscount B. Baron F. and G. Knight of the thrice Noble Order of the Garter, &c.

Officers of State and Domestical belonging to the Earl of Chester, with their Fees.

The Baron of Haltom.
The Baron of Montalto.
The Baron of Malbanek.
The Baron of Shipbrooke.
The Baron of Malpass.
The Baron of Dunham-Massey.

The Baron of Kinderton.
The Baron of Stockport.
The Chief Justice of Chester 100 0 0
The General of his Army
The Constable of Chester
The Steward to the Earl
The Abbot of St. Werburg, in Chester, now to the Dean and Chapter 19 10 0
The Chamberlain of Chester 20 0 0
The Sheriiff of Chester 20 0 0
The Sewer, or Dapifer to the Earl
The Ranger of his Forests Keepers 4 11 3
The Constable of the Castle 18 5 0
The Bailiff Itinerant 3 1 6
The Attorney General 3 6 8
4 Serjeants 14 6 8
8 Clerks or Attorneys 9 2 6
Clerk of the Sword; now of the Crown
Cryer of the Exchequer at Chester 3 15 0
Escheator 10 10 0
Feodary
Prothonotary, Keeper of the Rolls
Customers of the Port, as Receiver
Surveyers
Searchers
Controller of the Counties 12 3 4
Household Servants, as Controller
Steward of the House
Chamberlain
Vice Chamberlain, or Sub Chamberlain
Keeper of the Wardrobe
Gentlemen of his Chamber
Master of his Horse
Groom of the Stable
Pages
Captain of his Guard
Almoner, or giver to the Poor
Chaplain 2 0 0
Master of the Hospital 4 11 0
Pensions in Alms of the said Earldom of old 61 6 0
Porter. Janitor. Door Keeper 6 1 8
Cook and Scullions
Caterer. Purveyer
Butler. Brewer
Baker. Milner
Huntsman. Fisher
Falconer. Fowler.
Gardiner 4 11 3
Artificers several Carpenter 9 12 6
Mason 8 12 6
Plummer
Surveyor of the Works 6 1 8

The Ancient and Modern Revenues of the Earldom of Chester.

In the time of the Conquest Hugh Lupes Earl of Chester, held these Towns in Cheshire and Flinthshire.

In Roelau, now Edesbury Hundred.
Weverham. Kenardesley. Dunham. Elton. Trafford. Manley. Helsby. Prodfham.

In Bochelau, now Buckley Hundred.
Ollerton. Alderley. Done. Edesbery. Antrobus.

In Dudeston, now Barton Hundred.
Eaton. Lea. Coddington. Lea by Chester. Rushton. Upton. Budworth parva. Olton. Ouer.

In Willaweston, now Wittrall Hundred.
Eltham. Trafford.

In Hamstan, now Marfield Hundred.
Maxfield. Adlington. Merton. Gawsworth. (Hunger Wenitunc.) Herbury. Capeston. Henshall.
Tingweel. Hollinworth. Wernish. Romiley.
Laiton.

In Mildestwic, now Northwich Hundred.
Alfacher. Sandbach. Cliffe. Sutton by Middlewich.
Wimbaldesley. Weever. Occleston.

In Attiscros, now Flintshire part.
Harden. Radington. Ledbrook. Wepper. Claiton.
Marleston by Chester. Claverton. Dogleston. Aston by Harden. Broughton. Sutton.

The Revenues of the Earl of Chester, taken 50 E. 3.

Fee Farm of Chester, 100 0 0
Other Profits therefrom, 4 0 0
Farm of Medwick, 64 0 0
Farm of Dee Mills, 240 0 0
Mannor of Draklow, 49 1 10
Forest of Mara, 51 7 0
Northwich, 68 6 6
Mannor of Skotwick, 30 14 1
Mannor of Frodsham, 56 13 4
Profits of the Office of Sherriff of County Chester, 124 7 4
Perquisites of Courts held by Justice of Chester, 180 0 0
Profits of the Escheators Office, 100 0 0
Mannor of Hope and Hopedale, 63 0 0
Mannor of Ewlow and Mynes, 6 0 0
Profits of Constable of Rothlan, 8 14 0
Rent of Flint, 56 0 0
Colshull, 4 7 10
Carouse, 22 6 8
Bachagrec, 14 3 4 ob.
Voynal, 13 0 8
Rothland Rent, 72 9 2
Mostyn, 15 6 8
Escheator Office of Englefield, 56 0 0
Perquisites of Flint Sessions, 30 0 0
Escheators Office for Flintshire, 8 0 0
The Bloglot of the County of Flint, which consisted of the profits of the Hundred Courts, 72 11 9 ob.
Borough of Maxfield, 31 0 0

Profits of Maxfield Hundred, 31 14 0
Maxfield Forest, 88 0 0
Profits of the Store of Maxfield, 13 6 8
Herbage and Agistments of Maxfield Park, 6 0 0
Sum total 1694 9 8

The Revenue as it now stands. 1630.

The Farm of Chester, 22 2 4 ob.
Escheated Lands there, 0 7 0
Draklow and Rudheath, 26 2 6
Farm of Medwick, 21 6 0
Profits of Mara and Mondram Forest, 34 9 0
Shorwick Park, 23 19 0
Fulling Mills at Dee, 11 0 0
Frodsham, 48 0 0
Hundred of Maxfield profits, 6 1 8
Profits of the Forest there, 85 12 11 ob. q.
From Escheator of Chester, 24 19 0
Sherriffs Office, 43 12 3
Chamberlains Office, 55 14 0
Eaton Rent, 20 8 0
Farm of Flint, 33 19 4
Farm of Carous, 7 2 4
Castle of Ruthland, 5 12 10
Rent and Profits of Mostyn, 7 0 0
Rent of Colshill, 2 14 10
Town of Ruthland, 44 17 6
Lands of Englefield, 23 0 10
Voynal profits, 5 9 0
Office of Escheator of Flint, 6 11 9
Mines of Coal and Wood in Mostyn, 0 10 0
Office of Sherriff in Rents and Casualties, 120 0 0
Mines and profits of Fairs of Northop, 3 9 2
Summ total 699 7 2 q.

But since this time Places have been sold, Castles ruined, and Offices laid aside, so that the Revenue is much shorter.

A Viscount,

It was a Name first substituted to Earls, but getting themselves in Power, got also to have the Title Honorary, and Hereditary, being between an Earl and a Baron, it is the same word in Latine (Viccomes) which signifies our Sherriff, and begun not with us till about the 18 H. 6. who then created John Lord Beaumont, Viscount Beaumont, by Letters Patent, though Sir John Ferne tells us of it in the time of Henry the First, and King Stephen.

To this degree is allowed a Surcoat and Cape, a Mantle, a Hood, and a Circulet set only with Pearls, having neither flowers or points, as is to be seen in chap. 1. numb. 9. and is created with the same Ceremonies as the Earl and Marquess aforesaid are: Yet note, that the Circulet or Chaplet set with Pearls, hath a Cap of State, turned up with a White Furr, and a Burton and Tassel of Gold, as Earls caps, and they have no Ermine on their Mantles, but three doublings of Miniver, or plain White Furr, the Baron having but two on the cape of his Mantle.

The creation of a Viscount, is answerable to that of a Baron, only the Viscount is conducted into the Kings Presence, between an Earl and a Baron, (if a Viscount be wanting) whereas the Baron is brought in between two Barons. And the Viscount is stiled, The Right Honourable Lord, or The Right Noble and Potent Lord, or grace Seigneur, &c.

¶ He beareth Argent, a Baron in his Parliament Robes, bare headed, holding a Charter in his right hand, all proper.

A Baron.

This word was used by the Danes, and was a Title of great Honour, being such as had not only Castles, and Towns, and a great part of Countreys in their Jurisdiction; but having under them Valvassores majores & minores, Milites & libere tenentes, as Sir Henry Spelman in his Glossary saith, which should signifie an Honour of Command in the Common Wealth.

¶ It hath been a common Opinion, that anciently every Duke had under him Ten Earls or Earldoms, and every Earl had Ten Baronies, and every Baron had Ten Knights Fees, but that is uncertain.

A Baron hath not Potestatem Principis, yet he is numbered among Noble Personages, yet some Barons have such power over their Vassals, that if they conspire against them, that Offence is called Treason; in which respect the Title of Baron is so much the more honorable. But if he have Fura Regalia, then he is reputed equal to an Earl, notwithstanding the Earldom and Barony do differ in Dignity.

The greatest Estates in England, are generally called by the names of Barons, Lords Spiritual and Temporal; But of Baron indeed, which have the Title of Barons, there are several sorts; as Barons by name, yet not Noble, and Barons by name Honorable.

The Barons in Name not Noble, are the Barons of the Cinque Ports, Barons of the Exchequer, and the Barons of London; whom Bracton mentions in these words, Sicut Barones London, coram me testantur: Also the ancient Barons created by the Earls Palatines, though they have the Name and Cignity, yet they are not called Honorable.

The Barons Honorable are of three kinds, by Tenure, by Creation, by Writ. Barons by Tenure, are Bishops chiefly, who are called Lords or Barons Spiritual; and are ever reputed Honourable; not in respect of Nobleness of Blood, but for their Function and Office: They are Peers and Barons of the Realm; and were ever first in nomination (as Lords Spiritual and Temporal) and take place on the Princes Right hand in Parliament; they are stiled Right Honourable Lords, and Reverend Fathers in God; they have been capable of Temporal Dignities; and some of them be accounted Counts, or Earls Palatine in their proper Jurisdiction, as the Bishop of Durham.

There are also another kind of Barons by Tenure. and they are by Tenure Temporal, which are such as hold their Honour, Castle or Mannor as the head of their Barony (per Baroniam) which is grand Serjanty, by which Tenure they are not to appear in Parliament, except they be summoned to it; for he is no Lord of the Parliament, till he be called by Writ to the Parliament, as saith Mr. Bracton, lib. 5. fol. 351. 357. Coke part 2. pag. 5.

These Barons by Temporal Tenure, because of their numerousness in the Conquest, and after, were distinguished into Majores & Minores, and summoned accordingly to Parliament, the Majores, by immediate Writ from the King, and these were termed Barons by Tenure, the Minores were summoned from the High Sherriff at the Kings Command, and these were termed Tenants in Chief, which were after quite excluded the Parliament in the Reign of H. 3. by a Law then made, that none of the Barons should assemble in Parliament, but such as were summoned by special Writ from the King, as saith Mr. Camben, fol. 122. Selden, fol. 712.

Barons by Writ, are such (as is aforesaid) as were by their proper Names and Surnames, as A. B. Chevalier, although he be no Knight; now this Dignity of Barons by Writ, was in the pleasure of the King, in that he did summon the Father, and omitted it in the Son, if he was not answerable to the Parent in Understanding; and that sometime Private Gentlemen, or Knights, and often, many Secular Priests, Priors, Abbots, Deans, and Deacons, were by the King called by Writ to Parliament; by reason whereof it was the Opinion of some, that this Title and Dignity was only Temporary, pro termino Parliamenti, but that cannot be, for the Ceremony of his Admittance signifies more than a Titular or Temporary Honour, which is this; He is first brought by Garter King of Arms in his Sovereigns Coat to the Lord Chancellor, between two of the youngest Barons, who bears the Robe of a Baron; there he shews his Prescript, which the Chancellor readeth, and then congratulates him as a Baron, and invests him with those Robes, and sends him to take his place, then the Writ is delivered to the Clerk of the Parliament, and the King of Arms then shews him to the Barons, and placeth him in the House.

Barons by Creation, or by Patent, hath a Dignity Hereditary established upon a person, which had its first beginning in the time of Richard the second, who created John de Beauchamp Steward of the Household, Baron of Kidderminster, to him and the Heirs Male of his Body for ever, which Hereditary Title and Dignity, is now in our times more used than those by Writ. These Barons are as Lords of the Parliament, reckoned amongst the Peers of the Realm, and priviledged among them in all these things.

First, In all Trials of Criminal Causes, he is not Tryed by a Jury, but by a Bench of Peers.

If he be Indicted for Treason, and stand Mute, he shall be Convicted, but not Prest; but if it be for Felony that he stands Indicted, his Silence shall not Convict him.

Upon any Trial of Peers, the Lords that are to give Verdict, are not like a Jury, put upon their Oaths, but do it upon their Honor.

A Peer of the Realm, is not to be Impannelled in any Jury, but what concerns the Kings Enquiry.

They are not to be Arrested by any Warrant of Justice of Peace, either for the Peace, or Good Behaviour.

They are not to be put upon their Oaths upon any appearance they shall make in any Court; but his Honour to be esteemed as Binding.

And whereas all Burgesses of the House of Commons are to take the Oath of Allegiance and Supremacy; the Barons of the Upper House of Parliament are not.

These, with many other Privileges, the Barons do enjoy; but it is to be noted, that these are only meant to such as are Lords of the Parliament, not to the Sons of Dukes, Marquesses or Earls, during the life of their Father; nor to any Baron of another Kingdom, that liveth in this; nay, though he be under the same Allegiance, who are not tryable out of their own Kingdom, unless they enjoy some Honour or Seignior, Mannor or Castle in this, in which respect they are according to their condition. Of these matters, see Stamfords Pleas del Coronæ, lib. 3. cap. 1. Diar. fol. 205. 300. 315. Fitz Natura breve, fol. 165. Lambert Instit. lib. 2. chap. 1. fol. 17.

Though this Dignity at first was not allowed the Princely distinction of a Coronet, yet in after times it was allowed them to have a Circle of Gold round their Caps of Dignity, to which Circle, (at the Coronation of King Charles the Second) was added the adornment of six Pearl, and no more; so that there is this difference only between a Barons and Viscounts Coronet, the first having only six Pearls, the latter as many Pearls close together, as the circle will contain; their Caps Furred, Buttons and Tassels both alike.

The Creation of a Baron.

The form of the creation of a Baron, is in this manner; The King sitting in State in the Presence Chamber; first the Heralds by two and two proceed; then comes Garter, principal King of Arms, bearing in his hand the Patent of creation, next followeth a Baron bearing the Robes, and then the Person to be created between two other Barons; being entred the Presence Chamber, they make their Obedience to the King three times; Garter then delivers the Patent to the Lord Chamberlain of the Household, and he to the King, and the King to one of his Secretaries of State, who reads it, and at the word Investimus, the King puts on him the Barons Robe, and at the word Coronamus, puts on him the Barons Cap and Crown.

As soon as the Patent is read, it is delivered to the King, who gives it to him that is created, then he returning Thanks for his great Honour, withdraws in the same order and manner as they came in, the Trumpets sounding, and so he goes to Dinner; where after the second Service is gone up, Garter with the rest of the Heralds coming near the Table, first Proclaiming Largess with a loud Voice, he declareth the Kings Stile in Latin, French and English; and then standing somewhat farther off, pronounceth Largess again, then declares the Stile of him that is new created in hæc Verba; The Right Noble Lord A. B. Baron D. &c. And so making Reverence to him, after 2 largess more, they retire and depart to their severall places and abodes.

VI. He beareth Argent, a Knight of the Garter, all in his Creation Robes, proper. This is an Order of Knighthood established here in England, by King Edward the Third, Anno 1350; the Patron of which Order is St. George, unto whom it was first Dedicated, therefore called the Order of St. George.

The Sovereign is the King of England, the number of Knights doth not exceed 26; which when any of them Die, the number is made up; when they are out of their Robes, they are generally known by the Garter about their left Legg, and the George on Horseback hanging on their Breast in a Chain or Blew Riband; and on their outward Garment, as Cloak of whatsoever colour it is, hath a Silver Star Embrauthered on the left shoulder.

Creation of a Knight of the Garter.

First, for the Habit of these Knights, they have an under Garment, or Gown of Crimson Velvet, of some called a Birtle; over which is worn a Mantle of Blew Velvet, Lined with White Sarsnet; on the left Shoulder thereof is Imbrauthered in a Garter, an Escuchion of St. George, viz. Argent a Cross Gules; and over his right Shoulder hangs his Hood of Crimson Velvet Lined with White, the Cordons of the Mantle, Buttons and Tassels, are Purple Silk and Gold.

Above all which, about his Neck on his Shoulders, is a Collar of his Order, being of pure Gold, made of Garters and Knots, and enamelled with Roses, white in red; with the Image of St. George richly garnished with precious Stones pendant thereat.

About his left Legg, he weareth Buckled a Garter enriched with Gold, Pearl and Stones, whereupon these French Words are Imbrauthered HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE, which may be thus Englished, Shame to him that Evil thinketh.

They also wore Caps and Feathers, the Caps being of Black Velvet, made after the fashion of Bonnets, but the Crown part raised high, after the manner of a flat Crowned Hat, but laid in plaits or crisps; and the Feathers of three falls, all pure white.

Here note also, that what Clergy are of this Order, they are to wear their Hoods over their left shoulder, according to old use and custom; but all the Lords of the Honourable Order, do wear their Hoods on the right shoulder, that the Cross being on the left shoulder, may better appear.

Them of this Order are stiled, the Sovereign, and Companions of the Order of St. George; or the Garter; of whom if any be dead, at a time when the Sovereign doth think fit, there is an Assembly called (which is termed a Chapter, at which Chapter they proceed to the Election of a new Knight, in room of him deceased; which generally is the 23 of April, being St. Georges day. The party elected, is thus first made choice

Nine are first nominated by the Sovereign, his Deputy, and six of the said Companions, viz. 3 Dukes, 3 Marquesses, Earls, or great Estates, 3 Barons or Bannermen, 3 Bachelor Knights; from which nomination the King doth choose one whom he thinks most Honourable; the partie thus Elected, is by two of the Companions of the Order led from the door of the Chapter, and the Stall in the Chappel, where being, he taketh an Oath as follows.

You being chosen to be one of the Companions of the most Honourable Order of the Garter, shall Promise, and by these Holy Evangelists by you manifestly touched, Truly and Faithfully to observe and keep all the Statutes of the said Order, and every Article in the same contained, for so much as to you belongeth and appertaineth: And further, That you shall help to defend and maintain, so much as in you lieth, the Right and Liberties of the Colledge of our Blessed Lady, and St. George the Martyr, wherein the Honourable Order of the Garter is founded.

The Oath administred, the Sovereign, or his Chancellor, giveth him the Garter, saying unto him these Words; To the Laud and Honour of Almighty God, his Immaculate Mother, and St. George the Holy Martyr, in or gird your Leg with this Noble Garter, wearing it to the increase of your Honour, and in token and remembrance of this most Noble Order, being admonished and encouraged thereby in all Just Battels and Wars, which you shall have, you both Strongly Fight, Valiantly Stand, and Honourably to have the Victory.

Then delivering to him the Robe, saith, Take this Robe to the increase of your Honour, and in token or Sign of the most Noble Order you have received, wherewith you being defended, may be bold, not only strongly to Fight, but also to offer your self, to shed your Blood for Christs Faith; the Liberties of the Church, and the just and necessary Defence of them that be Oppressed and Needy.

Then giving him the Mantle, saith, Take the Mantle of Heavenly colour, in token of the most Honourable Order you have received, and to the increase of your Honour, furred and marked as you may see, with an Escudocheon of the Lions Cross, to the intent, that you being always defended by the Virtue and Strength thereof, may pass through your Enemies, and them also Overcome and Vanquish; so that at the last, for your worthy and approved Ait, you may after this Temporal Chivalry, come to the Eternal Triumphant Joys in Heaven.

Then putting the Collar about his Shoulders, saith, To the Increase of your Honour, and in token of the most Honourable Order you have received, take this Collar about your Neck, with the Image of the Holy Martyr and Christs Knight, St. George, by whose Ait you being defended, may pass through the Prosperities and Adversities of this World, that having here the Victory as well of your Ghostly as Bodily Enemies, you may not only receive the Glory and Remown of Temporal Chivalry, but also at the last, the endless and everlasting Reward of Victory.

*

Orders and Statutes of the Knights of the Garter; Reformed by H. 8. Anno 1522.

That the King, his Heirs and Successors, Kings of En land, shall be the Sovereign of the said Order of St. George, called the Garter; and that he shall be the Reformer and Interpreter of all Obscurities or Doubts contained in the Statutes of the said Order.

That none shall be Elected or chosen to be a Fellow, or Companion, or Co-Brother, and confrere Knight, except he be a Gentleman of Blood, a Knight, and without reproach, viz. not an Heretick, a Traytor, or a Coward in Fight.

That all the Knights of the Order, in what place soever they be, shall on St. Georges Vigil, or Even, and St. Georges day, wear all the Robes of his Order.

That every Knight that stayeth after the Sovereign, and giveth not his due attendance at the Chapter, and come too late to Mats, or Evening Service, shall for his Penance kneel before his Stall in the place of the Choristers; and if he attend not on St. Georges day having no License to be absent, shall for his Penance not come into his Stall the next Feast before his Sovereign, nor to his Stall in the Colledge of Windsor, but shall pay ten pounds to be bestowed to the use of the Ornaments of the said Colledge.

That the Sovereign may at his pleasure appoint the Feast of St. George to be kept any where in England as well as at Windsor.

That the Sovereign may appoint his Deputy at the Feast at Windsor, if he be not there himself.

That every Knight of the Order shall have his Banner, Sword, Helmet and Crest set over his Stall, there to remain during his life.

That if any Knight be seen to be without his Garter, if any of the Five Officers challenge him, he shall pay a Mark of Money except he be Booted to Ride, then a Blew Riband shall serve to be under the Boot, in signification of the Garter.

That in the going Procession, the Knights of the Order, shall go two and two before the Sovereign, as they are in their Stalls; but at any Offering the Sovereign shall go first, and the Knights follow, and the Officers after.

That at Dinner or Supper, they shall sit after their Stall, or Creations, not according to their States, except Children of Kings, Princes, or Dukes, that be Strangers.

That all Knights of the Order, shall leave their Mantles within the said Colledge, for any sudden chance of a Chapter that may be called.

That upon the Death of any of the Knights of the Order, all the Companions remaining, shall give to Works of Charity the Sums following. The Sovereign 8. 6. 8. A King of another Realm 6. 13. 4. The Prince 6. 1. 8. A Duke 5. 0. 0. A Marquess 3. 15. 0. An

An Earl 2. 10. 0. A Viscount 2. 1. 8. A Baron 1. 13. 4. A Batchelor Knight 0. 16. 8. which the Dean and Register is to give an account how it is disbursed.

That every Knight at his first entrance shall give after their Estate for the maintenance of the Channons, and the Poor Knights, and for Alms Deeds as follows; the Sovereign 40 Mark. A Stranger King 20. 0. 0. The Prince 20 Mark. A Duke 10. 0. 0. A Marquess 8. 6. 8. An Earl 10 Mark. A Viscount 5. 16. 8. A Baron and Banneret 5. 0. 0. A Batchelor Knight 5 Mark; and not to have their Banner, Sword, or Helmet and Crest, set over their Stall till the same be paid, and the Sovereign is bound to pay for every Stranger.

That every Knight of the Order shall have Copies of the Statutes first collected and perused by the Register or King of Arms, which after his Death shall be re-delivered by his Heirs or Executors within 3 Months.

That none of the said Order shall go out of the Realm without the Kings License; and if they be sent any where, they are for the Order sake to be preferred before all others.

That two of this Order shall not Fight one against the other in any Foreign Wars, but he that was last entertained on the contrary party, shall excuse himself, and leave the Quarrel.

That all the Knights of the Order, shall wear on Solemn days, the Collar, with the George hanging at it; (as aforesaid) which shall not exceed 30 Ounces of Troy weight; but on the other days they shall wear a small Chain of Gold, or a Blew Lace, or Riband, with the Image of St. George killing of the Dragon hanging thereat.

That the same Admission and Ceremonies shall be used at the Stallation of the said Noble Order, to every Knight and Subject of the Realm, as are given to Foreign Kings, Princes and Nobles.

That a Chapter, according to the Statutes of the Order cannot be held without the number of six, till 1642, at which time four were ordered to be sufficient to hold a Chapter upon any immergent occasions.

The Five Officers belonging to the Chapter of the Knights of the Garter, and their Signs or Tokens of Honour.

The Prelate of the Garter, which is ever the Bishop of Winchester, he weareth the Order of St. George in a Collar of SS. about his Neck, as the other Knights do; and hath the Garter set about the Arms of his Sea, and his own, as they are Impaled.

The Chancellor of the Order of the Garter, doth wear about his Neck in a Gold Chain, the cognizance of a Rose of Gold, inclosed and compassed with the Garter of the Order. It is his Office to keep the Seal of the Order, with which all Commissions and Letters of License are Sealed, he is not to be 20 Mile from the King; but either deliver it to him, or to one he shall appoint.

The Register, or the Writer of the Achievements of the Chapter of the Knights of the Garter, and who are made the Companions thereof, and when.

The King at Arms, called Garter, King of Arms for the said Order, doth wear in sign of the said Order, the Arms of the Sovereign within a Garter, and an Imperial Crown on the same, hung in a Gold Chain, or a Blew Riband about his neck.

The Usher of Arms, called the Black Rod, or Usher of the Black Rod for the Order of the Garter, as a sign of the said Order, shall wear about his Neck hanging at a Gold Chain or Riband, a Knot within a Garter, such a Knot of True Love, as is joined to the Roses in the great Collar of the most Honorable Order.

Besides the aforesaid, there belongs to this Noble Order for the Service of the Church, and Prayers for them of the Order.

A Dean, or Dean of Windsor.

A Warden of the Colledge.

12 Channons Secular, or Priests, in Orders of the Church.

8 Petty Channons.

13 Vicars, all Priests in Orders.

13 Clerks.

13 Choristers, or Singing Boys.

13 Poor Knights, called the Knights of Windsor, who having not wherewith to Live, have places provided for them in the Castle, and are maintained on the Kings Gilt, having every one of them a Gown and Mantle of Scarlet, with the Arms of St. George without a Garter, whose Office it is to Pray for the Prosperity of the Sovereign, and his Successors, and all the other Knights of the said Noble Order.

See Cambdens Britannia,

Sears Honor Military and Civil, fol. 65.

Selaens Titles of Honour, Part 2. fol. 792.

Of the rest of the Ceremonies, Installments, Right, Ordinances, Statutes, Feasts at the day of St. George, with other things thereunto belonging; if any desire further knowledge, let them peruse the Book intituled The Institutions, Laws and Ceremonies of the most Noble Order of the Garter; set forth by Elias Ashmole, Esq; Printed at London 1672.

VII. He beareth Argent, a Knight of the Bath, in his Creation Robes, all proper. This hath been an Ancient Order of Knighthood in England, and generally made at the Kings Coronation.

The Creation, and Habit of a Knight of the Bath.

First, for the Robes, they have for their Watch, a Russet Gown and Hood, after the manner of an Hermite.

Secondly, For their Creation Robes, a Cap, or Cuff

Coif of - - - a Kirtle of red Tartarine, with a White Leather Girdle, a Mantle of Crimson Silk lined with White Silk, tied with a long Lace of White Silk, with a pair of White Gloves at the end of the Lace. A Sword and Belt, besides Spurs, Shield, and Helmet.

Thirdly, After all is finished, he is to wear a Long Robe of Blew, with streight sleeves after the manner of a Priest, reaching almost to his Feet.

But in these days, a Knight of the Bath is only known by his wearing of a red Riband about his neck, with a Medal hanging at it, and his Horse trapping adorned with a Cross Patee on his Forehead and Breast.

When first he comes to be made a Knight, he is honourably received by the Officers of the Court, who conduct him to his Lodging (if he come before Dinner, he shall carry up one Dish of the first course, to the Kings Table) then be seen no more that day.

In the Evening, the Barber Trimmeth him, and prepareth him for the Bath, which is covered with Blankets to keep him from the cold; after which the Esquires and Governours, who have the charge of him, inform the King, that the person to be Knighted is fitted for the Bath, to whom he sends Minstrels, his Chamberlain, and several grave Knights, to inform him touching the Order and Feats of Chivalry, who Play, Sing and Sport to the Chamber door.

At the hearing of the Musick, he is undrest and put naked into the Bath; the grave Knights entering the Chamber, where saluting each other, to consider who shall instruct him in the order of the Bath, at length one kneeling down before it, saith with a soft voice, Sir, Be this Bath of great Honour to you; then shall he instruct him in the Feats of the Order, putting part of the Water on his Shoulders, and then takes his leave; and so the rest of the Knights shall wash him one after another, till all have done.

Then he is taken out of the Bath, and put in a Bed without Curtains till he be dry; then he is taken out of Bed, and over his inner Garments is put a Robe of Russet, to his feet, with a Hood like an Hermit's, and long Sleeves to his hands; in this habit he shall be conducted to the Chappel by the grave Knights, with Minstrels and Trumpets before them.

The grave Knights and Esquires taking their leaves, he is to Watch and Pray in the Chappel all Night, Day breaking, the Priest and Chandler and Watch, having said and heard Mattins, and Mass or Morning Service; the Governour holding a Candle to the Reading of the Gospel, at which time the person to be Knighted shall hold it, and being ended, it shall be set down to Burn before him, till Prayers be ended.

At the Elevation of the Host, his Hood shall be taken from him, and a Taper put into his hand, which he shall Offer to the Altar with a Penny or more; that is, The Taper to the Honour of God, and the Penny to the Honour of him as shall make him a Knight.

This being performed, he is conducted to his Bed-Chamber, where he takes his rest till it be full day; at which time the Governour goes to the King and says, Sir,

When doth it please you that our Master shall rise whereupon the King shall command the Minstrels and grave Knights to go and dress him, and bring him before him into the Hall.

All things being in a readiness, the Knights shall enter the Chamber and say, Good Morrow Sir, It is time to Rise, and make your self ready; thereupon one gives him a Shirt; another his Breeches, the third his Doublet; another puts on him a Kirtle of red Silk or Tartarine; two others put on his nether Storkings with Soles of Leather sowed to them; another *Lace*th his Sleeves; another girdeth him with a white Leather without any Buckle thereon; another Combs his head and puts on his Coif; another his Mantle of Silk, putting it over his Kirtle tying it with a Lace of White Silk, with a pair of White Gloves at the end of the Lace; all things thus done, the Minstrels going before, the Heralds and grave Knights orderly following; a young Esquire Riding after, Bare headed, carrying his Sword with the Pommel upward, and his Spurs at it, with a White Leather Scabbard, and Girdle without Buckles. Then follows the Esquire that is to be Knighted, on a Horse with Black Bridle, Saddle, Brest Plate, &c. with a Gold Cross on his Forehead and Breast.

Thus Riding to the great Hall, he alighteth, and being conducted before the King; the King gives his Spurs to a Noble person there, and bids him put it on the Esquires Heel; that done he commands another to put the other Spur on the other Heel, who performing the same, makes a Cross on his Knee and Kisseth it, as the other did before: Then the King taketh the Sword and girdeth it about him, the Esquire holding up his Arms with his Gloves together in his hands over his Head; then the King puts his own Arms about the Esquires neck, and Kisseth him, saying, Be Thou a Good Knight.

Then the new Knight is conducted to the Chappel, where laying his Hand on the Altar, promiseth to Maintain the Right of the Church; then ungirding his Sword, Offers it there, with great Devotion, then having taken a draught of Wine, he departeth.

At the Chappel Door, the Kings Cook with his Axe in his hand, meets him, and saith, I the Kings Master Cook am come to receive your Spurs for my Fee, and if you do any thing contrary to the Order of Knight-hood, I shall hack your Spurs from your heels.

Then he is conducted to the Hall, and set at the higher side end of the Table, where he must neither Eat nor Drink, nor look about him, till the King be risen from the Table; then shall the Knight be conducted to his Chamber with Minstrels and Musick, where the Knights shall take their leaves of him.

Then is the new Knight disrobed, and clothed with a Blew Robe after the fashion of a Priest, with a Lace of white Silk hanging on his left shoulder, which he shall wear till he hath gained some Honour and Renown by Feats of Arms, &c.

He that desires a fuller account, let him peruse the History of Warwickshire, fol. 532. &c. Honours Military and Civil, fol. 69, 70. Bills, his Notes upon Upton.

Fees at a Knight of the Baths Creation.

The Barber hath the Bath, with whatsoever pertains thereunto, according to the custom of the Court.

The Chandler, hath for his Fee, all the Garments, with the whole array and necessities wherewith he came Apparell'd and Clothed on the day that he came to Court to receive Orders; also the Bed wherein he first lay after his Bathing, together with the Singleton, and other Necessaries. In consideration whereof he finds on his proper cost, the Knights Coat, the Gloves, the Lace, and the Girdle.

The Marshall of the Hall, when the Knight is lighted from his Horse, taketh him as his Fee, or else hath in Money five Pounds.

The Master Cook hath his Spurs, or a Fee for them.

The Kings at Arms, have for their Fees all the New Robes and Mantle, in which he received his Knighthood, with a Mark of Silver, but if he be a Baron, it is double to that; if an Earl, or of a superior rank double thereunto.

The Witch in the Chappel hath the Russet Gown and Cap, or else a Noble in Money.

He must provide 18 or 20 Ells of White Linnen Cloth to cover his Bath or Bawyne, the price 5 d. or 6 d. the yard; also he must have a Carpet or Mantle for the said Bawine, price 13 s. Some are accustomed to have five or six yards of red Say for the same use, which is the Fee for the Serjeant of the Exchequer, with all that toucheth the Bawyne.

The Fee for the Esquires of Honour, 4 pounds, or according to pleasure; and rewards for the Officers of the Household, the Knights make a common Purse.

A Knight Bannerett.

Other Orders of Knighthood there are in England, but they wear no Garments, Badg. or Sign, to distinguish them from other Gentlemen, so that they are not known to Strangers; but we know them, because every one having such dignity, is stiled, or called Sir Thomas, Sir John, Sir William, Sir Henry, &c. But first of Knights Banneretts.

A Knight, that is to receive this Honour, shall be led between two other Knights, before the King or General, bearing his Penon of Arms in his own hands, and in the presence of all the Captains, the Pe-rard shall say, This Gentleman hath shewed himself Valiant in the Field, and therefore deserves to be advanced to the degree of a Knight Bannerett; being worthy henceforth to bear a Banner in the War.

Then the King, or General, causeth the point of his Penon to be cut off; then the new made Knight returns to his Tent (the Trumpets sounding before him) being conducted there between two Heralds.

A Bannerett thus made, may bear his Banner displaid with his coat of Arms thereon, as other degrees above him, and that in the setting forth of his Atcheivements with Mantle, Helmet and Crest, he may, and anciently hath had the same Supported, as the Baron or Viscount hath.

This Order was of so great estimation, that diverse Knights Batchelors and Esquires served under them; and was a Title, as it seems in many ancient Writs, and written Monuments, hath been mis-writ Baronets for Banneretts; as in the Patent of Sir Ralph Fane, a Knight Bannerett under King Edward the Sixth, where he is called Baronettus for Bannerettus. And in the South Chappel of Malpas Church about the top of the Screen, cut in Wood, in Saxon Characters is this, God bless good people for the prosperous estate of Sir Rondulph Breton, Knight Baronet, of this Wolk Edificatour, &c. which we may well suppose to be Banneret; being long before the time of King James the First; it being dated 1522, which was 14 H. 8.

Now although a Knight Baronett be an Honour given by Patent; yet it was by King James, in the tenth Year of his Reign, Decreed and Established, that all such Banneretts as shall be made by the King, his Heirs and Successors, under the Standard displaid in an Army Royal, in open War; the King personally present, such Banneretts shall for the term of their Lives, take place and precedency, as well before all other Banneretts, as younger Sons of Viscounts and Barons, and also before all Baronetts, but not otherwise.

A Knight Baronett.

This was a Title erected by King James, in the ninth year of his Reign, they are an Hereditary Dignity given by Patent, which are all of one form, the Proem or Argument at first, being for the Propagation of a Plantation of Ulster in Ireland, to which the aid of these Knights was required; the aid was to maintain 30 Soldiers in that Province for 3 years; their Title was to descend to the Heirs Males of their Body, and to take place before all Knights Batchelors, Knights of the Bath, and Knights Banneretts (the other Decree in the Knight Bannerett before specified, being afterwards made) and that to their Sir-name, Baronett should be added; and that the addition of Sir, should precede in all mentioning of his or their names, as the Title of Lady and Madam is to their Wives.

After this it was ordained in the Tenth year of his Reign, that they and their descendents, being of full Age should be Knighthed, and that they should either in a Canton or an Inescutcheon in Chief or Fesse, bear the Arms of Ulster upon their own Coat of Armour, which is Argent, a Sinister hand coupé, Gules.

There is no other Ceremony at his Creation, but the delivery of his Patent, except he be Dubbed a Knight.

Offert

Officers Fees for the making of a Baronett.

In the Signet Office these Fees; for drawing the Bill, and discharging the Clerks pains, 3 l. For the Signet 3. 6. 8. To the Clerks o. 10. o. For the discharge 1. 6. 8. To the Clerks o. 6. 8. For the Privy Seal 2. 6. 8. To the Clerks o. 13. 4. For the discharge 1. 6. 8. To the Lord Privy Seal his Secretary 1. o. o. To the Lord Chamberlains Secretary o. 5. o. For Expedition o. 11. o.

In the Tally Office, For Poundage 18. 5. o. For the Tally 1. 10. o. For the Enrollment of the Privy Seal o. 13. 4. To the Clerk of the Master of the Tallies o. 5. o. To the other Master of the Tallies Clerk o. 5. o. To the Tally cutter o. 3. o.

In the Office of Arms, for Registring it 2. o. o. Fees belonging to the Great Seal. For the Seal of the Clerk of the Hamper 2. 11. 8. For the Docket o. 5. o. For the Dividend and Enrollment. 2. o. o. To the Clerk of the Crown 3. 6. 8. For Vellum, and shewing the Patent 1. o. o. To the Deputy Clerk of the Crown 2. o. o. To the Seal, if of Schake Wax o. 15. o. To the Gentlemen of the Lord Keepers Chamber 2. o. o. To the Officers of his House 1. 5. o. To the Deputy Clerk of the Hamper o. 5. o. To the Gentlemen Usher of the Privy Chamber 2. o. o. To the Pages of the Bed Chamber 4. o. o. To the Gentlemen of the Buttery, Sellar and Robes 5. 12. o.

The total Summ of all Fees, is 70. 10. o.

A Knight Batchelor, or of the Spur.

This Knight is indifferently styled, Knight, or Miles, and Chivalier, and sometimes Miles Simplex, to distinguish him from the other Knight, which is a Bannerett. It hath been a Soldier like title of great Antiquity, as Selden in his Titles of Honour testifieth, part 2. fol. 770. And for that cause they are called, having admittance to beautify their Horses with Caparisons of their Horses and their Armour with Gold) Equites Aurati, Golden Knights, or else from the Golden Spurs which they were created Knights withal, as you shall hear shortly.

The persons that gave this dignity in former times, are of two sorts especially; which we may call Courtly Knighthood, and Sacred Knighthood.

The first is performed by the King, or his General, or one commissioned by him; which was anciently performed by Feasts, giving of Robes, Arms, Spurs; and sometimes by Horse and Armour; but of late times there is a new Ceremony produced, by the Party kneeling before the King, who with a Stroak on the shoulder with a Naked Sword, saith Sois Chevalier au Nom de Dieu, Rise up Knight in the Name of God; though the putting on of the Spur, and the girding on of the Sword hath lately been observed as a Ceremony of Knighting, either by the King for the greater Honour, or else by some commissioned from him.

These Knights have their Spurs and Swords carried before them in their Funeral, the Spurs being hanged at the Staff of the Standart, if Knighted in the Field.

To the name of Knight was added the name of Batchelor, as it seems about the 33 H. 3. as Math. Paris informeth, and that such Knights were then known by a Gold Ring on their Thumb, a Chain of Gold about their Necks, and Gilt Spurs on their Heels; also we read of Girdles, and Collars of Gold, and Swords were delivered at making of Knights, with Garments of Scarlet, which things none were to wear but them of such degrees.

A Knights bearing a Shield and Gauntlets, sheweth him to be a Man at Arms; this creation is an Universal Honour, for a Knight is a Knight in all Kings Dominions; when as other degrees extend no farther than the Longitude and the Latitude of their own Country.

The second way of Knighting, is by Sacred Ceremonies, and it was a great use and custom in former times, by either Bishops or Abbots, so to receive the dignity of Knighthood, and this was done by a solemn Confession of Sin, a Vigil or Watch in the Church, then receiving of the Sacrament after that the person had first Offered his Sword upon the Altar, and redeemed it with a certain Summ, which the Bishop, or Abbot, or Priest girded about him, and so made him a Knight; using many Prayers, which they termed Benedictiones Ensis, Prayers of the Sword: But this (through the multitude of Sir Knights thus made) was at length forbidden, and appropriated only as the Privilege of the Crown.

A Clergy Man, or any in the Order of Priesthood, is debarred the Honour of Knighthood of the Sword or Spurs, though anciently they have been allowed the same, but not without first laying aside their Spiritual Cures.

A Knight of the Green Cloth.

All such as have Studied Law, either Civil, or Common, Physick, or any other Arts and Sciences, whereby they have become Famous and Serviceable to the Court, City, or State, and thereby have merited Honour, Worship or Dignity from the Sovereign, and Fountain of Honour; if it be the Kings Pleasure to Knight any such persons, seeing they are not Knighted as Soldiers, they are not therefore to use the Horseman's Title or Spurs; they are only termed simply Miles & Milites, Knight, or Knights of the Carpet, or Knights of the Green Cloth; to distinguish them from Knights that are Dubbed as Soldiers are in the Field; though in these our days, they are created or Dubbed with the like Ceremony as the others are, by the stroak of a Naked Sword upon their Shoulder, with the Words, Rise up Sir. A. Knight.

H

Now

Now, these Knights, of what degree or creation soever, according to their power, should excel in these accomplishments; they are to be Faithful, Religious, Just in Engagement, Valiant in Enterprises, Obedient to Superiours, Expert in Military affairs, Watchful and Temperate, Charitable to the Poor, Free from Debauchery, not a Boaster, ready to Help and Defend Ladies, especially the Widows and Orphans, and to be ever in a readiness with Horse and Arms, to attend the commands of his Sovereign, in all Wars both Civil and Foreign.

The degrading of a Knight.

The neglect of those Duties aforesaid, are in Knights Arrants, Crimes as great as to Fight against the Sovereign; and merits at the least a shameful degrading; and indeed, for these or any other notable Fact against Loyalty and Honour, the Knight was Apprehended, and caused to be Armed from Head to Foot, and on a high Scaffold in a Church, he was placed; and after the Priest had sung some Funeral Psalm, as though he had been dead; first they take off his Helmet, then by degrees his whole Armour, the Heralds crying, this is the Helmet of a Disloyal Mifcreant, &c. and so with many other ignoble Ceremonies, he was by 12 Knights thrown down the Stage by a Rope, then was he brought before the Altar, and their laid groveling on the ground, where the Priest read over him a Psalm full of Curses.

This was the ancient way of Degrading; the modern is not altogether so severe, of which we have many examples: He that Dis honourably absents from the Kings Service; and for other Treasons, hath all that he enjoys, seized on (except his Horse) because in all Countreys the Title of Knighthood relates to a Horse, and from serving on Horse-back; then hath he his Spurs cut off his Heels, and then is his Sword taken from him, and the Herald as a Traytor doth reverse his Coat of Arms.

A List or Catalogue of the several Orders of Knights Seculars.

A Knight, Miles, a Carpet Knight.

A Knight of the Spur, Equus Auratus, a Knight in the Field.

A Knight Baronett.

A Knight of the Garter, or Order of St. George, in England.

A Knight of the Bath.

A Knight Bannerett.

A Knight of St. Andrew of Scotland, or Order of the Thistle.

A Knight of the Gennet in France.

A Knight of the Star in France.

A Knight of St. Stephen of Florence, and in Tuscany.

A Knight of the Porcupine of France and Orleans.
A Knight of the Crescent, or Half Moon of Anjou, and Sicily.

A Knight of the Order of St. Saviour of Arragon.

A Knight of the White Eagle, in Poland.

A Knight of Jesus Christ, in Portugal and Rome.

A Knight of the Birds, in Portugal.

A Knight of St. George, in Austria, Corinthia, and Genesey.

A Knight of the Lilly of Navarre.

A Knight of St. James of the Sword in Navarre.

A Knight of the Holy Bottle, in France.

A Knight of the Royal Crown, in France.

A Knight of the Broom flower, in France.

A Knight of the Order of the Ship in France.

A Knight of St. Michael, in France.

A Knight of the Order of the Holy Ghost, in France.

A Knight of the Order of Christian Charity.

A Knight of St. Lazarus, and St. Maurice, in Savoy.

A Knight of our Lady and the Chistle, in Bourbon.

A Knight of the Golden Shield, in Bourbon.

A Knight of St. Magdalen.

A Knight of the Permine, or Ears of Corn, in Britaigne.

A Knight of the Band, or Red Start, in Castile and Lions.

A Knight of the Golden Fleece, in France and Burgundy.

A Knight of the Dove, in France, and in Castile.

A Knight of Our Ladies Looking Glass, in Castile.

A Knight of the Dragon, in Hungaria.

A Knight of the Swan, of Cleveland.

A Knight of the Elephant, in Denmark.

A Knight of the Order of Cherubims, or of Jesus in Sweden.

A Knight of the Order of the Bear, of St. Gall, in Switzerland.

A Knight of the Annuntiation of the Virgin Mary of Savoy.

A Knight of St. Paul, in Rome.

A Knight of St. Anthony, in Rome.

A Knight of the Virgin Mary, in Italy.

A Knight of Mantua, or of the Blood of Jesus Christ.

A Knight of the Sword, in Cyprus and Lusignan.

A Knight of the Sepulcher of Jerusalem.

A Knight of the Temple, in Jerusalem.

A Knight of St. Lazarus, in Jerusalem.

A Knight of St. Katherine, of Mount Sini.

A Knight of Mount Joy.

A Knight of St. John of Acres.

A Knight of St. Thomas, St. Serion, and St. Blaz.

A Knight of St. Mark, in Venice.

A Knight of St. Mary de Mercede, in Arragon.

A Knight of Montefia, in Valentia.

A Knight of the Order of Christian Charity, in France.

A Knight of St. Julian, or the Pear Tree, in Leon.

These

These Orders of Knights, whether instituted by the Emperours, Kings, Popes, or Princes, were all called Cavaliers, having permission (though they were under Religious Vows and Rules) to bear Arms, wear Swords, and Gilt Spurs; as well as the rest of Secular Knights, whose Habit and Badges of Honour, see fully described in lib. 4. cap. 10.

Thus have I in short given a touch of the several degrees in England, whosoever desires a larger Story of these things, let them peruse these Authors.

William Malmesbury de gestis Regnum.
Ingulphus Histor.

Seyars Honour Military and Civil.

Dugdales Warwickshire, fol. 531.

Seldens Titles of Honour.

Matthew of Westminster, in Anno 1306.

Glover Somerset de Nobilitate Civili, Anno 1414.

Carters Analysis of Honour.

Fernes Glory of Generosity.

Stons Annals, pag. 693. 694.

Mills Nobility.

Candens Britannia, pag. 170.

VIII. He beareth Argent, an Herald arrayed in his Sovereigns Coat of Arms, proper, with a Battantado in his right hand, Or; and his left upon his side, a Cap of Dignity on his head Azure, turned up of the first; Breeches, Stockings and Shoes, Sable; if it may be believed, these kind of persons called Heralds, are sometimes stiled Dukes of Arms; and so I find both E. Chamberlain, in his Present State of England, pag. 166. and Carter in his Analysis of Armory, speaking of Heralds, pag. 31. terms them Dukes of Arms, if so, then in great Solemnities, they ought to wear Crowns as well as the Kings of Arms; but of that I shall say no more.

This Figure set down in the Plate, is the representation of an Herald, that is the second degree of the Officers of Arms, viz. Kings of Arms, Heralds of Arms, Purfevants of Arms, which in regard of their Office and place, may be termed Lords, or Barons of Arms. If it had a Crown, such as Kings of Arms wear at great and pompous Solemnities, with a Robe under the Heralds Coat, it were then to be termed a King of Arms.

2 Angels clad in the Sovereigns Coat of Arms, holding two Banners of the same, are the Supporters of the French King, as John Boissau, in his Armorial sets it forth.

The Creation of the Kings of Arms.

I have in the First Chapter of the First Book, in brief said something of the Name, Office, Fees, &c. of Heralds, referring the Reader to other Authors which have spoken more largely on that subject; so that I shall in this place (which is only wanting there) give you the Ceremonies in short, of the manner of the Installment in to those Offices.

When any is called to the Office of Garter, principal King of Arms, he is first by the High Constable, or Earl Marshal of England, commended to the King, by a Bill Signed with his Hand; which done, the King Signs the same, and so it passeth the Privy Seal, and Broad Seal; and that once obtained; he is to be Sworn and created by the King himself, or the Earl Marshal, in manner following.

First goeth the Purfevants, and then the Heralds in their Coats, carrying the several necessary Instruments; and things to be used; one the Coat of Arms where-with the new King is to be invested; another the Crown; another the Patent; another a Vole of Water; another the Book and Sword; another the Book or Bible, whereon he receiveth his Oath; then followeth the King of Arms called Garter, led between a King of Arms, and a Herald, in their Coats of Arms; coming before the King, all make their several Obeisance; then he kneeleth down, with those two that conducted him; one of them holds the Book and Sword whereon he is Sworn, the other reads his Oath: Then his Patent is read, and at the words Creamus & Investimus; his Coat is put on; and at the words, Nomen Imposimus Garter, the Water is poured on his head, giving him that Name; and lastly, at the word Coronavimus, he hath the Crown put upon his Head; and then he is a perfect King of Arms.

Creation of Heralds and Purfevants.

The two other Kings of Arms, stiled Clarenceur, and Noxroy, are Created after the same manner, order, and ceremonies: the six Heralds being all of equal degree, only proceeding according to the seniority of their Creations, their Patents being all under the broad Seal of England, have the same ceremonies at their Creation, save they are not Crowned.

The Purfevants are all of the same manner, having their Patents under the broad Seal, and are Created as the Heralds are. Only Leigh saith that in the investing of them, the Coat of Arms is cast over thwart, the Manches or sleeves thereof to be on the Breast and Back, and so they are to wear the same as long, as they are Purfevants. But now there is no such thing observed both the Herald and Purfevant wearing them a like.

The Chivaler of Arms, are such saith Leigh and Upton, pag. 40. which have served and behaved themselves wisely and discreetly in an under office, as a Currot, or Foot messenger for the space of seven Years: at which time they were set on Horseback, and termed Chivallers or Hoysemen at Arms, because they were then permitted to ride on their Sovereigns Messages.

Then were they clad in one coloured Garment, the Borders and Sleeves, garded of the colours of the Sovereign, bearing their Bores or Badges with the Kings Coat of Arms painted thereon, on the left Shoulder, and not elsewhere.

These are Created by the Heralds of Arms of the Province, first by ministring to the Chivaler an Oat:

the Knight Chivalier (for so he Stiles him) humbly kneeling upon his Knee, at which time he shall have no Spurs on: then removes his Badge from his Breast, and placeth it upon his left Shoulder: setting him on Horseback to see if he can ride.

The Curour at Arms, or Foot Messengers of Arms, are such Foot Servants, as are employed by the Heralds of Arms for the expedition of their business: whose Office is to pass and repass on foot, being clad in the Princes colours parted upright on the Back and Breast one side blew, and the other red: like as the Serjeants at Law do give their Liveries, in the time of their Feasts.

These are Knights in their Office, but not Nobles, and are called Knights Caligates of Arms, because they wear Startuppes (or half Hose turned down) to the middle of the Legs: and the Arms of their Sovereign painted on their Bores, like Badges, are fixed to their Backs. It is not permitted to them, to wear the Arms of their Lord, in any other sort.

There is also belonging to the Heralds Office, a Register a Marshal, and other Officers and Servants which are needless to mention. But amongst the rest, there are Painters called Herald-Painters, or Arms Painters: for every King of Arms hath power to commission, or depute in all Shires of his Province, one of that employ, to officiate for him in such things as are appropiate to his Business.

IX. He beareth Argent, a Mayor of a City in his Formalities, with his White Staff in his right Hand all proper. Every City by their Charters or Priviledges, is a little Common-Wealth, governed by themselves, choosing their own Governor, (which is called a Mayor) out of 12 16 or 24 Aldermen. In some other Corporations, a Bailiff is chosen out of a certain number of Burgeses.

The Office of a Mayor of a Corporation.

The Mayor of a City is the Kings Lieutenant, and doth give place to none save the King and Prince, his Heir. He with the Recorder, Aldermen and common Council (as it were King, Lords, and Commons in Parliament) can make Laws, called By-Laws, for the Weal and good Government of the City. The Mayor is for his time (which is but for one Year) Justice of the Coram, Judge of the Court, a Determiners of Matters, and doth mitigate the Rigor of the Law.

The Government of Boroughs and other Towns corporate, is much after the same Manner. In some there is a Mayor and Sheriffs: In others a Mayor and two Bailiffs: In others a Bailiff and two Serjeants: and in other places two Bailiffs: which have equal power within their Limits to a Mayor and Sheriffs, and during their Office are Justices of the Peace, having the same power, as Justices of the Peace have in the Country.

The Government of Villages, is usually by the Lords of the said places who keep Court-Leets, and Court-Barons (because anciently such Lords were called Barons) that is Court of Freeholders to which they own suit and service, where they may be tried final matters happening within the Manner, as Debts, Trespases, Echeats upon Felonies, Wastes, or other accidents, Custody of Infants, Lunaticks, power of passing Estates, admitting of Tenants, Reliefs, Varriots, &c. Under the Lord is a Constable or Headborough, or Petty Constable, chosen every Year, whose office is to keep the Peace, in case of quarrels, to search any house for Robbers, Murderers, or other Malefactors, to raise hue and cry after such upon their flying, to seize on them, keep them in the Stocks, or other Prison, till they can bring them to a Justice of Peace, and so to carry them by their command to the common Prison.

[]

The Officers of a Coporation with their Habits.

A Mayor, is a Person elected for the chief Governor of a civil Society or Body corporate, who is usually known by those Emblems of Magistracy carried before him: as Sword and Mace, &c. or by what he beareth himself, as a Virge, or white Rod, or Staff: and in most great Corporation, according to days, hath distinctions of Gowns, as a Morning or Walking Gown, which is a light loose Gown, made according to his own Fancie; a black Gown, a Murrey or Purple Gown, and a Scarlet Gown, all which are of one fashion, either Garded with Velvet, or lined with Furr, called Foines.

Sheriffs, they are the Posses Comitatus, the conservers of the Peace, the Executioners of all Writs, and punisher of all offenders. They are in some places called Bailiffs: But in Cities and grand Corporations they wear Gowns, and White Rods in their Hands, like the Mayor.

A Recorder is the Mouth of the Mayor, and Citizens: and Minister of the Law for the distribution of Justice and Judgment. These are generally Men Learned in the Law, whose habit or fashion of Gown is after the manner of the figure set down, in sub. 11.

An Alderman, and Justice of the Peace, is such an one, as hath born the Office of a Mayor of a City or Corporation, whose Gown is the like to that of the chief Magistrate, or Mayor.

An Alderman or a Single Alderman, is one that is called to that place but as yet hath not been Mayor, yet is capable of it, and in Election for it: His Gown is black, garded and faced with Velvet. But when the Mayor is in Scarlet, his Gown is Purple, faced with Foines.

A Council, in some places is called a Liberty Man: is such a Person, as is of the House, in time of their meeting or Assemblies, for the Weal and behoof of the Corporation: with us they are called a Forty Men, because the common Council consists just of forty: out of which number all Superior Officers are chosen. Their Gowns have no Shoulders but open at that place, having the Sleeves hanging on the Back, garnished with ruffled Buttons and Loops, and faced with Stuff or Silk, or Satinisco.

A Treasurer, is an office for the receiving of the Rents, and disbursing Money, for the concerns of the Corporation: which with us, is generally chosen out of such as are single Aldermen, or such as have been Sheriffs.

A Leavelooker, is an Office in Chester, but rare in any other City (as I could ever hear off) they are chosen out of the Forty: to gather and receive all customs due to the City, for goods brought there for sale, either by Sea or Land; which receipts are disbursed for the City Affairs, but chiefly for the Repairs of the City Walls.

A Murenger, is one chosen out of the Aldermen and Justice of the Peace, whose Office and care it is to look after the City Walls, to keep them in good repair, and if any breaches be, to build it up again: for which end, there is a City Wason to do the work, who besides his Wages daily hath an Yearly Sallery, and a City Porter to keep the City Streets, Lanes and High-ways in good Repair, who hath also a City Sallery.

A Crowner or Coroner, whose Office is out of such as have been Sheriffs. They examine all Murtherers, Fel de S's, accidental Deaths, &c. And accordingly bring in their Presentments.

A Constable, of which there are several in a Corporation; two or three in each division or ward, whose Office it is to preserve the Kings Peace, make hue and cry after Malefactors, search and fetch Offenders to the Seat of Justice, Imprison or bring to places of punishment such as deserve it. With an hundred other things whose Office it is to perform, but few know th power of their place.

A Chaler, is the keeper of the Prison, where all criminal Offender are secured, and Men for debt are Imprisoned.

A keeper of the House of Correction, to keep the Poor on work, and to punish Stubborn and Rebellious Apprentices, Idle Rogues and Vagabonds: where they are bridled, stockt, and whipped.

A Fraternity, or Society, or Brotherhood, or Company: are such in a Corporation, that are of one and the same trade, or occupation, who being joynd together by oath and covenant, do follow such orders and rules, as are made, or to be made for the good order, rule, and support, of such and every of their occupations. These several Fraternities are generally governed by one or two Masters, and two Wardens, but most Companies with us by two Aldermen, and two Stewards, the later, being to receive and pay what concerns them.

A Sword-Bearer, is him that carrieth the Sword of State before the Mayor or his Deputy.

A Mace-Bearer, is him that carrieth the Mace of Authority before the said Mayor: both these Officers wear in the Execution of their Offices Silk Gowns, or Stuff Gowns trimmed with Buttons and Loops, and faced with Silks, like to the Council or Freemens Gown.

A Town Clerk, who is the City Secretary, and Keeper of the Records of the Courts within the Corporation, Enters all Actions, and prepares causes to the pleadings, &c. We call such, the Clerk of the Pentice.

A Officer, or City Attorney, or Mayors Officers, are such as give Summons to Persons, and do Attach others, for their appearance in the City Courts in some places they are called Catch-Poles, or Bailles. But the Gentle name is Serjeants at Mace.

A Sheriffs Officer, doth (besides Summons and Arrest) serve all Writs of Execution, as Attachments, Judgments, Rebellions, &c.

A Cryer, is only in use in time of Court holding, to command silence, call Juries, swear them, and witnesses; with several other things belonging to his Office; he weareth a Gown, and carrieth a Mace.

A Porter, his Office is to keep the Court, or Council-House Door, and the Mayors - House Door; he weareth a Gown of Cloth faced with black Furr, Fitcher or Coney Furr: and carrieth a Porters Staff.

A Beadle, or Bang-Begger; is to keep the City clear from poor strangers, and send such a packing to the places from whence they came, they have Coats gathered about the Waste, and a Badge of the Arms of of the Corporation on their left Arm.

A Beadsman, such as live in Hospitals; and have an allowance for their maintenance, being old and infirme: in some places called the Poor Knights of Windsor, or Hospitallers, and Almesmen. These with us go in Gowns, and go two and two before the Mayor on several Festival Days in the Year.

A Scavenger, such as make the Streets clean, and carry away the Dirt.

X. He beareth Argent, a Chief Justice (or a Judge) in his Robes and Square Cap, holding a Charter in his right Hand all proper.

The Chief Justice is one set apart by the King for the executive power in all Temporal Affairs, under whose Commission he doth only act: for it is the King himself who is the Lord Chief Justice of England: therefore all the Laws of England are called the Kings Laws, being made by Him, and without Him nothing can have the force of a Law, but what He will: so all the Courts of Judicature are called the Kings Courts, and all the Judges of those Courts, the Kings Judges.

The Highest Court in England, is the House of Lords in Parliament; being a Court of Judicature, consisting of Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and these assisted with the most Grave and Eminent Lawyers of England, both in Common and Civil Law.

To this Bar of High Court, may the House of Commons, as the Grand Inquest of England, Impeach the Highest Subject in the Nation, whether of the Clergy, or of the Laity: and Prosecute them till they come to Sentence, after which it lyeth in the Kings Breast whether to Punish or Pardon.

The next Court for the Execution of Laws, is the Kings Bench so called, because the King sometimes there set in Person on an High Bench, and his Judges on a low Bench at his Feet, to whom the Judicature belonged in the Kings absence. In this Court are handled all Pleas of the Crown, that is Matters between the King and the Subject, as Treasons, Felonies, Breach of Peace, Oppressions, Mis-government, Loss of Life or Member of any Subject, &c. It doth also examine and Correct Errors in Facts, and in Jury, of all the Judges in England, in their Judgments, and Proceedings; both in Pleas of the Crown, Pleas Real, and Personal, and Mix; except only in the Exchequer.

The Officers, and Habits of such as are Members of the Kings-Bench.

The Lord Chief Justice, the Judge of the Court; who ought to be a Serjeant of the degree of the Coife, that is a Serjeant at Law, who upon taking this High degree, is obliged to wear a Lawn Coife under his Cap, for ever after.

The Justices, as Assistances, are three in number.

The Clerk of the Crown.

The Prothonotary, or Protonotary.

The Marshall or Keeper of the Kings - Bench Prison.

The Custos Brevium, two in number.

The Clerks of the Papers, two.

The Clerk of the Rules.

The Clerk of the Errors.

The Sealer of the Writs.

The Clerk for Filing the Declarations.

The Head Cryer, and two under Cryers.

The Ushers, two.

The Filizers for the several Counties in England, fifteen in number.

The Officers and their Habits in the Courts of Common - Pleas.

This is the Next Court, and is called the Common - Pleas, because there are debated the Pleas between Subject and Subject: Real Actions are pleaded in no other Court, nor Fines levied, or Recoveries suffered: none but Serjeants at Law plead in this Court.

The Lord Chief Justice of the Common - Pleas, or Common - bench.

The Justices three in number as Assistants: or the three Puisse Judges.

The Custos Brevium, is the first Clerk of the Court, whose Office is to receive and keep all Writs, and the Records of Nisi Prius, called Passers.

The Prothonotaries in number three: they are to Enter and Enroll all Declarations and Pleadings.

The Chyrophographer, doth Enter and Ingrose Fines acknowledged. All these Officers afore mentioned sit in the Court, their Heads covered with black round Caps or Bonnets, according to the Mode before Hats were Invented.

The Clerk of the Treasury, he keeps the Records.

The Clerk of the Inrollments of Fines and Recoveries, &c.

The Clerk of the Out - Lawries, who make the Writs of Capias Utlegatum, after Parties are returned Out - Lawed.

The Clerk of the Kings Silver, who receives the Money for the King which is agreed upon at all Sale of Lands.

The Clerk of the Warrant, who make all such Warrants of Attorney for Bailiffs, for the Plaintiff or Defendant. []

The Clerk of the Juries who makes out Writ for the Juries appearance either in this Court, or County Assizes.

The Clerk of Effoins, or Excuses for lawful cause of absence.

The Clerk of the Superfedeas.

The Filizers, for the several Counties of England, in number 15.

The Prothonotary Filizat.

The Exigenters five in number, who make out all Exigents Proclamations in all Actions where Out - Lawry doth lye.

The Cryers in number, four.

The Porter.

The Officers and their Habits belonging to the Exchequer.

This Court is called the Exchequer, from a Chequer wrought Carpet, which covered the Great Table of the Court: as the Court of Green cloth in the Kings House is so called from the Green Carpet. In this Court, called the Court of Equity, are Trials of Debts accounts, Revenues, Disbursements, Customs, Fines unposed, &c.

The Lord Treasurer.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The Lord Chief Baron.

The Barons of the Exchequer, three in number.

The Cursitor Baron, who gives Oaths to Sheriffs, Undersheriffs, Bailiffs, Searchers, Surveyors, &c. of the Custom - House.

All these Judges belonging to these three Courts aforesaid, sit in Scarlet Robes, and square Caps, like Doctors of Divinity: because (as some say) they were anciently most commonly Clergy Men and Doctors, Bishops or Prelates that sat there.

The Secretary.

The Seal - Keeper.

The Chamberlains of the Exchequer.

The Auditor of Receipts, called Scriptor Talliarum. He hath five Clerks to manage the whole Estate of Monies received, disbursed and remaining.

The Tellers in number four, who receives all Monies due to the King.

The Clerk of the Pells, who enters every Tellers Bill in Parchment (which in Latin is Pellis) whence the Office hath its name) he hath four Clerk to assist him.

The Deputy Chamberlains two, who sit in the Tally Court, cleave the Tallies and examin each piece apart.

The Tally - Cutter.

The Ushers of the Exchequer two, that look to it Night and Day.

The Messengers four.

Officers in the Higher or Upper Exchequer.

The Kings Remembrancer.

The Clerks of the Remembrancer eight in number: of which two are Secondaries. The

The Lord Treasurers Remembrancer.
 The Clerks of this Remembrancer, twelve: whereof the two first are called Secondaries.
 The Clerk of the Pipe.
 The under Clerks of the Pipe Office, eight.
 The Controlloz, or Comptroller of the Pipe.
 The Clerk of the Pleas.
 The Attornies four in number.
 The Foreign Opposer.
 The Clerk of the Estreats.
 The Auditors of the Imprest, two.
 The Auditors of the Revenue, seven.
 The Remembrancer of first Fruits and Tenches.
 The Deputy Remembrancers, two.
 The Clerk of the Parcells.
 The Clerk of the Richits.
 The Marshalls.

Officers belonging to the High Court of Chancery.

This Court is for the Mitigating the Rigor of that Law practized in the Court of Kings - Bench, and Common Pleas. It is called Curia Cancellariae: because anciently the Judge of the Court sat intra Cancellus, or Lattices: within Railes, Bars or Lattices, as the East end of our Churches being seperated per Cancellus, by Skreens or Lattice, Railes, &c. as peculiarly belonging to the Priest, were thence called Chancels.

This Court hath two in one, the first in Latin by which it grants out Writs Mandatory, and Remedial, Writs of Grace, or according to equity and conscience. The second by English Bills, Answers and Decrees, &c.

The Lord High Chancellor of England.

The Masters of Chancery, twelve in number.

The Masters of the Rolls.

The six Clerks.

The Examiners, two.

The Clerks of the Petti - Bag, three.

The Clerk of the Crown, and his Deputy.

The Clerk of the Damper or Vanaper, or Warden of the Vanaper.

The Warden or Keeper of the Fleet Prison.

The Serjeant at Arms, who bears the Mace before the Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper.

The Clerk of the Subpena Office.

The Clerk of the Patents, or of Letters Patents under the Great Seal of England.

The Register of the Chancery.

The Deputy Registers, three.

The Registers of the Rolls.

The Clerk of the Reports.

The Clerk for filing Affidavits.

The Cursiters twenty four in number: these make out Original Writs.

Officers in the Marshes of Wales.

The Lord President.

The President, who is ever the chief Justice of Che-

[]

The Judges Assistants.

The Counsellors.

The Secretary.

The Attorneys.

The Solicitor.

The Surveyor.

The Cryer.

The Clerk of the Crown with other inferior Officers.

Officers in the Dutchy Court of Lancaster.

The Chancellor.

The Attorney General.

The Receiver General.

The Auditors, in number two.

The Clerk of the Dutchy.

The Attorneys, two.

The Deffenger.

Officers of the Palatinate Courts in Chester.

Affizes.

The Chief Justice.

The Puisne Justice.

The Kings Attorney.

The Attorneys, sans qu.

The Solicitor.

The Petty Rogers.

Constable of the Castle.

The Prothonotary.

The Under Soaler.

Clerk of the Crown.

Clerk of the Indictments.

The Marshall.

The Cryer.

The Custos Rotulorum.

The Sheriff.

The Justice of Peace.

The Under Sheriff.

The Clerk of the Peace.

The Bailiffs.

The Catch poles.

Chancery.

The Chamberlain.

The Aice - Chamberlain.

The Baron of the Exchequer.

The Deputy Baron.

The Examiner.

The Bailiff Itenerant, and his Deputy.

The Kings - Attorney.

The Seal - Keeper.

The Filazar, and Deputy Filazar.

The Attorneys.

The Cryer.

The Deffenger.

The Clerks.

The Bailiffs.

The Catch - poles.

XI. He beareth Or, a Doctor of the Civil Law in his Gown, with a Roll of Paper in his left Hand, and the right extended, all proper. This may also be termed a Doctor of Physick, their Gowns being in a manner one, and the same: also a Chancellor, or Cicac - General.

The Civil Law, is the Law of Nations, which for the executive Power, in Church Matters, there are diverse excellent Courts, the Highest for criminal causes, was the High Commission Court: the Commissioners whereof had power to exercise Jurisdiction throughout the Realm; to Visit, Reform, and correct Errors, Heresies fies, Schifmes, Abufes and Deliquencies, that they be corrected and reformed.

The Civil Affair which concern the Church the Highest Court, is the Court of Delegates, to which Appeals may be made from the Highest Courts under the Arch-bishops, and from this to none other.

The next is the Arch-bishops Courts, where any Ecclesiastical Suite between any Persons within their Province may (waving all Inferior Courts) be decided: among them the Highest Court is,

The Court of Arches, so called from the Arched Church or Tower of St. Marys in London, where it was wont to be held: the Judge whereof is called the Dean of the Arches. To this Court belongs diverse Advocates, all Doctors of the Civil Law: two Registers and ten Proctors.

The next is the Perogative Court, called also the Spiritual Court: which each Bishop hath in his Diocess, which judgeth of Estates fallen by Will, or Intestates, giving Probats and granting Administrations, other causes belonging to Ecclesiastical Courts, are Blasphemy, Apostasie, Heresies, Schifmes, Ordinations, Justifications of Clerks to Benefices, Cerebration of Divine Service, Rights of Matrimony, Divorces, Bastardy, Adultery, Fornication, Incest, Pennances, &c. also Tithes Oblations, Mortuaries Delapidations, and Reparations of Churches, with several other Matters, which belongs not to the common Law of England.

The Consistory Court, is a Court Commissionated by a Bishop who hath a large Diocess, to a certain Person in a certain place, for the ease and benefit of the People.

The Dean Rurals Court, and the Arch-deacons Court, and Dean and Chapters Court: are Courts where smaller differences are pleaded which arise within their Limits, or Bounds of the Cathedral.

Lastly there are certain Jurisdiccions belonging to some Parishes, the Inhabitants whereof are exempt, some from the Arch-Deacons Court, and some from the Bishops.

The Officers in a Perogative Court.

An Arch-Bishop.

A Bishop.

A Suffragan Bishop, or Subsidiary Bishop, or Citular Bishop; such were of old Ordained for the ease of Bishops whose Diocess were large. These had the Name, Title, Stile and Dignity of Bishops, and were consecrated by the Arch-bishop of the Province, and were to execute such Power, Jurisdiction, and Authority, as are limited in his Commission by the Bishop or Diocesan, whose Suffragan he is.

A Dean.

A Dean Rulal.

A Chancellor.

An Advocate.

A Proctor.

A Parater General.

A Parater, or Promoter.

Now the Punishment inflicted by these Spiritual or Ecclesiastical Courts are these as follow.

First, the Lesser Excommunication, which Excludes the Offender from the Church, or if not from the Communion of the Lords Supper: is disabled from being a Plaintiff in a Law Suite. And this is generally for contempt, and not appear upon a Citation, or not obeying the Orders of the Court.

The Greater Excommunication, which excludes from the company of Christians in Spiritual Duties, but also in temporal Affairs; and this is commonly for Heresie, Schifme, Incest, Perjury and such Grievous Crimes.

The Anathematismus, is only inflicted upon an obstinate Heretick, whereby he is declared a publick Enemy to God, rejected and cursed, and Delivered over to Eternal Damnation.

The Interdictum, wherein is prohibited all Divine Officers; as Christian Burial, Administration of Sacraments, &c.

Penance publick, is for the Offender, to be compelled to confess his fault, and to bewail it before the whole Congregation in the Church, stand bare headed, and bare feet, in a white Sheet. But if the crime be not hainous, it may at the parties request be commuted into a Pecuniary Mult, for the Poor, or some Pious uses.

XII. He beareth Argent, a Livery Man of the City of London in his Guarded Gown, Furred down before with his Hood hanging behind his left Shoulder, all proper. As soon as the Apprentice hath by his servitude satisfied his Master, and that his freedom is now at hand; he is then brought by his Master to the Chamberlain of London his Office, where he is first made Free of the City, and enrolled to be so, that thereby he may enjoy a right and Privilege to the Franchizes of the City, and to follow that (or any other) Trade he was bound Apprentice unto.

That finished he is brought to the Hall - mote, the Place or Hall for the Assembling of every Guild of Fraternity, for regulating of what doth belong to each company or Trade in particular; where the new Freeman of the City is admitted a Brother of the said Hall.

The Traders of London are divided into several companies or corporations, and are so many Bodies politique, all which have Assembly places (as I said) called Halls, and each Company or Mystery hath a Master (or two) annually chosen from amongst themselves, by which the said Societies are Regulated and Governed, and all Misdemeanors corrected and punished, by Fines and Forfeitures: and in each Company there is other subordinate Officers, called Wardens (or Stewards in some) or assistance; The remaining part of the Hall, or Member of the Trades are termed Livery-Men, or Gown-Men: So that each Brotherhood do exactly correspond to the General Government of the City by a Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and common Council.

Now these Livery-Men, or Gown-Men are not admitted as Fellows of the Hall and to wear Gowns, as soon as made free of the Hall: but are counted as Freemen, and have liberty to follow their Trades for a considerable time, till they be Selected and by the Votes of the Hall, they be brought in to be Gown-Men, and (as it were) Council Men of their said Societies. And out of these Livery Men in each Hall, is again selected such Persons as are thought fit to make Council-Men for the City: which by degrees advance higher and higher till they be Sheriffs, Aldermen, &c.

During

During their time of being Livery - Men they wear on the left Shoulder of their Gowns, an hood behind with a long Tippet at it down before of two colours, one half Scarlet, the other green Silk: But when chosen to be of the City Conucil, they wear a long Tippet of the same colours about their Necks, reaching down before to the middle of the Belly.

XIII. He beareth Argent, a Beads-Man, or an old Man in and Hospital (or Poor Mans) Gown, with a Bonnet or Cap on his Head Azure; Faced and Lined, Or: with a Palmer's Staff in his right hand, Sable. It hath ever been the minde and care of Pious People to be charitable to the Poor, and therefore for that end have either built Hospitals or Alms-Houses for the dwellings of poor old and indigent People, endowing them with Lands and Revenues for their livelyhood and maintenance when past their Labours: or else to bring up poor Fatherless and Motherless Children that cannot help themselves, till such times as they were able to do Service, and become Apprentices; of which kind of Hospitals this Kingdom through the bounty of Benefactors is well Stored.

Hospitals.

Hospitals are of several Natures according to the Institutions of their Benefactors, some are for Poor People and Orphan Children, in which they are brought up to Learning, have Meat, Drink and Cloaths provided for them, Men and Women Servants to look to them: besides other officers pertaining to the said Hospital or Almshouse: as

The Benefactors that Builds, Erects and endues the place.

The Trustees or Overseers, to look after the Revenue, to place in, and put out.

The Steward and Caterer, that receives and layeth out for the necessities of the place.

The Cooke, Buttler and Baker, that orders Meat and Drink.

The Washers and House-keepers, to make and keep all clean.

The Wasters to teach, and his Usher to enter the Boys into the first rudiments.

The Chaplain to Pray and Preach, all which and more is necessary for a well Beneficed Hospital.

Other Hospitals are for old and aged Men: Others for old Women, and some for both, as the Hospital in Chesham, called the Fraternity of the Brothers and Sisters of St. Ann.

Others for Sick, Sore, and Lunatick Persons, who are kept and maintained at the Hospital charge till recovery, then sent away: as the Hospital at the Savoy and Bethlem in London, and St. Egidia for Lezars near Chesham.

These that are called Alms-Houses, are of another Nature, which have some of them Houses to dwell in, or Chambers to lodge in, and an Yearly Stipend to buy them their own Meat and Cloaths: of such we have several in our City.

Others of these Alms People have only small Houses to dwell in, and have no other provision made for them, but what they get by begging, of these kind are the poor Mendicants, who get their living by going from Door to Door.

Others there are which have neither House nor Parlour, but what they Rent, yet have Yearly Maintenance for the Support in old Age, and Caps and Gowns every second or third Year, to keep them Warm; and these are generally called Beads-men; or such as are allotted to have Poor Mens Gowns: which I have observed in several Towns upon Set, or Principal Days, to walk before the Magistrates, or Benefactors by two and two. And in some places to go in the same order before Dead Persons carried to their Funerals.

XIV. He beareth Argent, an Esquire in his Ruffe, or apparelled according to his Degree, standing in full aspect: thus in short he may be Blazoned; but if we must go to the particulars of his Habit then take it thus, an Esquire in his bravery standing in full View, having a Beaver with a Feather of three falls on his Head, a Satin Pinked Doublet, Breeches and Cloak cast over his left Arm, Scarlet: Imbrauthed with Gold, with Silk Stockings, Garters and Roses at his Shoes: a Belt over his Shoulder with a Sword Pendant thereat: having a Staff in his right hand pointing to the Dexter Corner, and with his left to the Smifter Base. This was the habit of either a Knight or Esquire, or Ancient Gentleman of a considerable Revenue, in King Charles the first his Reign: being then (as it is now in our Days) no distinction at all by their Garbs, every one going as it seemed best in his own Eyes: for now the Knight is not known from an Esquire, or an Esquire from a Gentleman by their Habits: nay it is a hard thing to distinguish a Master from his Man, but only that he goes after, and stands with his Head uncovered before him.

Now though fashion in apparel both in Men and Women do very much vary: yet as to the Principals of the Garments, they constantly stick to them; as Doublet, Breeches, Hat, Hose, and Shoes: and for their covering, it is a Cloak, or Coat with Sleeves.

Now the next below a Knight, is the degree of an Esquire, so called from the French word Esquier, Scutiger or Scutigeri: because they were wont to bear before the Prince in War, or before the better sort of Nobility a shield, of Esse because they bear a Coat of arms or Ensigns of their descent; and by our Lawyers are called Armigeri.

Several Degrees of Esquires.

Of this Title by the common Law of this Land are all the Sons of Dukes, Marquesses and Earls, are Esquires, and no more.

The next of this Title are the Elders and Younger Sons of all Viscounts and Barons; and the Elders Sons of their Younger Sons; and their Elder Sons for ever.

3. Then the Esquires of the Kings Body: which are mentioned among the Officers of the Kings Court. These are Esteemed before the Eldest Sons of Knights, and indeed in all Processions of Estate, they go before the Master of the Jewel house, and all Judges, and Serjeants at the Law.

4. The Eldest Son of a Knight claimeth the next place, as an Esquire by Birth, which he and his Eldest Son for ever, have that Title, and taketh his place according to the Seniority of his Family.

5. The next are Esquires Created by the King, by putting about their Necks a Collar of SS's, and bestowing on them a pair of Silver Spurs: which Silver Spurs shewed a difference of Honor from the Golden Spurs, given to a Knight: from whence these Esquires were called White - Spurs, whose Eldest Son saith Mr. Segar fol. 224. i, an Esquire for ever.

6. An Esquire by Office, or that is in Superior publick Office, for the King, or State: such are Serjeants of the several Offices in the Kings Court, and other Officers of Rank and Quality; as Mayors of Corporations, Justices of the Peace, Sheriffs, Echeators, and such like.

7. An Esquire by Repute, is such a Person who hath been, and is of an ancient Family, and considerable Estate, though neither himself, or any of his Ancestors have born any publick Office, yet such by the currence of England, and out of respect to their Family, are called Esquires.

8. To these may be joyned Councillors at Law, Bachelors of Divinity, Law and Physick, who take upon them the Title of Esquire, are reputed Esquires, or equal to Esquires, although none of them are really so.

Of this Degree, with each particular circumstance about it, you may peruse these Authors.

Seldens Title of Honor, fol. 555.

Ferns Glory of Generosity, pag. 100.

Spelmans Glossary, fol. 51.

Salers Analysis of Honor, pag. 26.

Chamberss Present State of England, pag. 280.

XV. He beareth Argent, a Gentleman in a Hunting or Walking posture, with his long Staff in his right Hand. This is termed either a Hunting or Walking posture, because in those time they cast of all outward Garments, as Cloak or Coat; that they may either go, or run with the more ease and dexterity.

Among the lower rank of Nobility are accounted the Gentry, which have no other Title, but Gentleman or Walter, which are such as are descended of ancient Families, that have always born a Coat of Arms. The word Gentleman first use from the word Gens or Gentes, Gentiles: which the Primitive Christians used for all such, and were neither Jews nor Christians, which the French called Payons, for Pagans; and the Dutch Heyden, or Heydenen, for Heathens. So that the Romans took it to be a distinction, or note of Honor to them, which the Christians had before in Scorn expressed them.

So then this Title, Gentilhomme, and Gentlehomme (which was received from the French, at the Norman Conquest; for till then we used no such word) as Gentleman, but the Saxon word, which was Ædel: then I say was the word made. And in all Latin Writs, pleading, and the like; the word Gentleman was generally used, till King Henry the Eighth time, since which they have used the word Generosus, for a Gentleman; of what sort soever, as Mr. Selden testifieth fol. 858.

[]

XVI. He beareth Argent, a Gentleman with his Cloak on the left Shoulder and cast about his middle, with his right Hand on his side, Hat, Boots and Spurs with his Sword by his side all in their proper colours,

In the Sinister Base of this Quarter, is a Demy Demers Arms, with a sharp Pointed Beard, Cloaths open at the Neck: which is a kind of bearing much used by the Germans and Dutch, both for Coats and Crests, some with Hats, some with Caps, others with Chapeaus, and others Bare Headed, &c. Others young Face, Spanish Beards, Bush Beards, or old Mens Faces; and with full Faces.

The Several Degrees of Gentility.

The first is a Gentleman of Blood, termed Gentilitas Nativa; to the making of which Gentleman perfect in his Blood, is required a Lineal descent on his Fathers side to the fifth Generation, as Father, Grand-Father, Great - Grand - Father, Great - Grand - Fathers-Father, and Great - Grand - Fathers - Grand - Father: And as much on the Mothers side, this doth not only make a Gentleman of Blood perfect, but of Ancestors too.

A Gentleman by prescription, is when for a long time and many Years, to the beginning whereof the Memory of Man runneth not to the contrary, causeth him that can duly without intermission of time, challenge the same prescription, ought to be had and reputed as rightly Noble and Gentle, as him that can shew it by Blood. For this time Immemorable, hath the force of a Law, & is Malqued, with the Title of Justice, of Priviledge, and of Truth: for our Legist doth tell us, Magis relict, a Parentibus, per tempus immemoriale, Nobilitas vellet, quam a Principe, sine Virtute Donata; So that this Nobleness of Gentry by prescription, is as all one, agreeing with that Gentleness of Stock, or Linage.

Now this Gentility by Blood, if seconded by Merit and Virtue, is justly esteemed the most worthy & honorable; and certainly is the least if attended by vicious actions; for the Glory they shine in, being but the reflections of their Ancestors, and not their own proper Rays.

The second is Gentilitas Nativa, a Gentleman made so by the gift or bounty of the Prince: Examples of many of this Nature Mr. Selden shews in King Richard the Second, Henry the Sixth, King James, and by Foreign Princes, the Emperor, King of France and others: Titles of Honour, fol. 832. 853. 870. Where Men have been ennabled by Letters Patents from their Princes, though they have no Superior Titles added: Yet thereby have been received into the State of Gentlemen, and are Stiled Gentlemen of Paper and War, Gls: pag. 61.

It

In General if any Person be Advanced by Lawfull Commission of his Prince to any Office, Dignity or publick Administration; be it either Ecclesiastical, Military, or Civil; so that the said Office comprehend in it, Dignitatem, or Dignitatis Titulum, the Title or Stile of Dignity; he ought to be Matriculated into the rank of Gentility.

So the King may make or create a Gentleman, and give him a Coat of Arms, though he be a single Subject, or unworthy of the same: but this is a Counterfeit Gentility, and only shrouds him from the name of a Plebeian: Such not exercising the Qualities becoming them, bring to the Purchaser but little more than the shadow of Honor, being excluded from the Priviledges of Gentility, nay ought, as saith Sir William Segar: to be deprived of his Title of a Gentleman, if he behave not himself virtuously according to his Title.

The third is Atchieved, or Merited Gentility: this is nobleness of proper Virtue, which is certainly to be esteemed above the other, for as Kingdoms happiness, and safety depends upon the Wisdom, Counsel, and Courage of the Virtuous, Ecclesiastes 9. 15, 16, 18. When the vain boasts of an ancient Stock or Linage, where Virtue fails; doth add nothing to the relief of a Countrey in time of need.

What these Virtues are, Sir John Fern pag. 30. 31. 96. 97. hath taken great care to set down: which we shall pass over and take notice only of these two Cardinal Virtues, Prudence and Fortitude; the merit Atchieved by the Pike and Pen, Learning and Soldierie. Now to which of these the precedence should be allowed, hath ever been the dispute, some gives it to the Scholar, others to the Soldier; one prefers the Doctor before the Knight, yet most esteem the latter predominate to the former, to which I do rather adhere.

For to obtain the Estate of Gentility by Learning, and discovering the Secrets of Heaven is certainly very Honorable: But to Atchieve it by Service in his Sovereigns Wars, the defence of the Church, King and Country, is of all most excellent and worthy: In as much as War is permitted by the Law of God, taught by the Law of Nature, and commanded by the Law of Nations, Anal. of Honor pag. 10.

For the Soldierie, they who by their Valour and Service done in the Sovereigns Wars, to defend the Church, King and Country, are worthy of their Atchieved Honor and ought to be Stiled Gentlemen, which is peculiar to all Listed, and are called Gentlemen Soldiers: of which these more especially (let their Original be what it will) may be admitted to bear Arms in the Military or Marshal Government, viz. The General, High Constable, Lieutenant-General, Governors or Guardians of Frontiers, and March Countreys, Admirals, Vice-Admirals, Treasurers, Marshalls, Majors-general, of Horse and Foot, Masters of the Artillery, Colonells, Majors, Captaines, Provosts, Serjeant-Majors, Lieutenants, and such commissioned Officers for Martial Affairs.

For the State Ecclesiastical, these in the Church being Officers of Dignity do merit Gentleness, and Coat Armour: as Patriarches, Primats, Arch-Bishops, Cardinals, Bishops, also all Vicars-General, Guardians or Keeper of Spiritualities, Deans of Cathedral Churches, Arch-Deacons, Chancellors, Registers, Treasurers, Chantors, Advocats, Doctors, likewise all Rectors, Provosts, Deans and Governors of Collegial Assemblies with diverse others in the Church, which are to this place, to be referred.

For the Civil or Politicall Estate, diverse Officers of Dignity and Worship do merit Coats of Arms: as the Chancellor, President, Treasurer; with such as occupy the Seat of Judgment, as Judges, Justices, Chief Officers in the Sovereigns Pallace, Secretaries of the Estate: also all Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs of Cities and ancient Burroughs or Towns Incorporated, Prothonotaries, and Chief Remembrancers, to High Court of Justice, with many other to long to recite.

Also Gentleness or the bearing of Arms may be obtained by the Service of the Sovereign, or any of his Superior Officers, according to this Rule: Adherentes lateri Principis & Officialis, & eis sem, in Officio quocunque minimo, Ministrantes nohilitantur.

From which we may conclude that all the Officers in the King Household, as Butler, Cooke, Baker, Groom of the Chamber, Keeper of the Wardrobe, and the like: also the Officers of Chief note belonging to Justices of Superior Courts, and Cities, as Sword-bearers, Mace-bearers, Marshals, Ushers, Messengers, Serjeants at Mace, and such like.

For the Liberal Sciences which are the Mistresses of all Vertues, Letters, and good Learning: the Excellencies whereof worthily deserve the Title of Nobility, therefore merit a Coat of Arms. They are called Liberal Sciences, for four reasons. Because the study of them required a free and liberal mind. Because of putting a difference between them and other Servile Arts, called Mechanical Arts, which require more the service of the Body, then travail of the Wit. Because, Children of Freemen ought to be put to the learning of them. And lastly because they are lawful, and may be learned without servitude of Sin or Superstition. These Sciences whereby the Ancients termed seven, to which may be added an eight (saith Sir John Fern) pag. 32. and that is Theologia a Science of God, and Heavenly things, surpassing Nature, and the capacitee of Nature. However we may pass it under the Science of Letters and Learning, the Professors thereof having received their Degrees, merited sufficiently (though they were ungentle born) to obtain Arms and have the Honor to be called a Gentleman: as Masters of Art, Bachelors of Divinity, Doctors of Divinity, Law, and Physick, Rhetorick, Logique, Mathematick, Musick, Geometry, Astrology and Astrology, also the Poets, Historiographers and such like, being most necessary in Cities, and common Weales, and accounted off amongst the Learned, are not excluded from the hope of Honor, therefore unto such must be due the Ensigns of Gentily, as the desert of their parts and callings shall require.

The fourth is Gentility Adoptiva, a Gentility arising from Adoption; this is, when a Gentleman of Blood and Coat Armour, for some special affection which he beareth to one, neither allied to him by Blood, nor a Gentleman otherways, adopteth a Stranger to be his Son, and constituteth him to succeed; as well in his Estate of Gentry, as to his name, Coat of Arms, and Possessions. This is termed a Gentleman by Adoption.

which

There is another kind of Gentility of this Nature, called Nobilitas Feudalis, or Ratione Feudi: a Gentleman of Purchase, as having a Possession bought by himself being both large and fair: as if a Merchant, Artificer, Burgess or Farmer purchaseth a Signiory or Lordship from the King. By reason the owner died without Heir, or sell to him by an Attenture; to this purchasing from the King, may also be confided by the Law of Arms, the Coat Armour of the Owner of the Lordship: which he may bear as his own to himself, and his Posterity.

For Mechanical Sciences, though their Professors in some respects be debarred the prebeminence of Gentry, yet it will not be denied, but that some such notable and collateral Merits, and worthiness may appear in them that they shall duely obtain the name of Gentles, and have a Coat of Arms: of these Mechanick Trades (my Author Sir John Fern pag. 70) will admit but of seven, which have the Title of Necessity, Honesty and Laudableness; which are, first Agriculture, which is the Tillage, Culture, and Manurance of the Earth. This is Sowing of Corn and Seeds, Planting of Trees of all sorts: Grafting of Orchards, and making of Gardens: and Pasturing and Feeding of Cattle, which is all comprehended in the word Husbandry. The second is Lanificium, the skill in Weaving and Makeing of Cloath, or any such like Matter, in which is comprehended all the Arts of Spinning, Weaving, Fulling, Dressing and Sowing. The third is Architecture, or the skill in Building, Framing and Erecting of Temples, Theaters, Pyramides, Castles, Forts, Basilions, Pallaces, Houses, and all sorts of Edifices: which is divided into Cementurie, or Masonrie, and Carpentary, the first working in Stone, or Brick; the latter in Wood. The fourth is Mercatura, the Trade of Merchandizing, or Buying and Selling: exchanging of Goods Forraign for Domestick: by which that Noble Art of Navigation hath been maintained, which did breed the two famous skills of Cosmography, and Geometry. The fifth Mechanick Art is Armatura, the skill of working in all sorts of Mettles: as the Forging of Weapons, Armour, and of other Instruments for Artists: which is comprehended under these two Heads; Malleatoria, the skill to work with Hammers, and Files: and the other Fusoria, which is casting Mettles into Molds. The sixth is Arts Venatoria, the Art of Hunting, which is a Gentlemans Occupation in England, France and Germany: It is divided into three Arts, Ferina, the killing of wild Beast; Aucupium, the killing of Fowl: and Piscatoria, the taking of Fish. The seventh and last, is called Theatrica, the Art and skill of Plays practized in Theaters, or exposed to publick view: of which there are four sorts, as Ludus Gymnicus, the skill and activitie of Wrestling, Leaping, Running, Casting the Dart, &c. And Ludus Circensis, the Running of a Chariot, or Horse in a Ring swiftly: then Ludus Gladiatoarius, the Art of Fencing, or skill to use any Weapon, either for the defence of our selves, or offence of our Enemies: And lastly Ludus Torneamenti, the Game and Play of Turney and Barriers, a most Warlike and Military Exercise.

Honors and Exemptions proper to Gentility.

The Lower Degrees of Nobility have less and fewer priviledges then those in other Monarchies, see Gla. of Generosity, pag. 77. &c. by which I mean Barons, Knights, Esquires and Gentlemen.

If a Knight be under Age, yet he shall be out of Wardship, both for Lands, Body and Marriage.

A Knight is Excused from attendance at Court. Leets.

A Knight and his Eldest Son, not compellable to find pledges at the Visus Franchi Plegij.

A Knight by Magna Charta, chap. 21. are so freed that no demesne Cart of theirs may be taken.

A Son, or Brother of a Knight: by Statute Law, is capacitated to hold more then one Benefice Ecclesiastical.

A Knight and his Son, though he cannot spend 10*l.* per Annum, nor be worth 200*l.* may keep Grey-Hounds, Setting-Dogs, and Nets to take Pheasants and Partridges, Stat. 1. Jac.

Anciently if an Ignoble Person did strike a Gentleman in England, he was to loose his hand.

A Gentleman may not be compelled to serve in Husbandry.

A Child of a Gentleman brought up to sing, cannot be taken without the Parents consent to serve in the Kings Chappel, as others may.

An Horse of a Gentleman, may not be taken to ride Post.

A Gentleman having his Honor detracted by a Churle, his remedy is an Action of Trespass: but if one Gentleman shall detract from the Honor of another, then Cornbate was engaged.

The Ungentle, is bound to yield obedience to a Gentleman in these things, to keep silence whilst a Gentleman speaks, to stand while he is in presence, to give him the right hand in going, and the chief Seat in sitting.

A Gentleman to Write his Name in any Instrument, or Solemn Act, next after the Bishop, or Prelate.

If in Common Elections for Officers, Votes be equal, then them of the most Gentlemen shall prevail.

A Gentleman is Honored with the Attire of his Body, to whom it is lawful to bear Silk and Purple colour.

A Gentleman is Honored with a Title to his name, even as a Bishop and Doctor are not spoken too, but with this Title (most Reverend) to Knights, Esquires, and Gentlemen, without an Addition of Sir, Worship, or Master.

It is the Duty of the unnoble to Honor and Salute a Gentleman with the Gestures of his Body.

The word of a Gentleman is of as much Validity, as his Deed; confirmed with Witnesses and Seal. The Laws presuming they had or ought to have a reverent regard to the preservation of their promise in all sincerity.

A Gentleman ought to be preferred to Offices before the unnoble.

The Testimony of two Gentlemen by oath before the Judge as Witnesses, is of more Credence then a multitude of ungente Persons.

A Gentleman might erect Images, and Statutes of their Ancestors and himself, which the Laws do mightily defend.

To deface the Arms of a Benefactor out of a publick work is punishable; but to wipe out the mark of a Merchant, or Artificer, is not.

The ungente may not challenge a Gentleman to the Combate.

Vertues to be Imbraced by the Gentry.

All Gentlemen by the observing of nine Vertues, with the avoiding of nine Vices following, will leave an Honorable Memory of his Gentle conversation to all Men: and these extend not only to the Simple Gentleman, but to each degree of Nobleness, even to the Sovereign: because they bear Coat Armour.

1. To be Meek, Duriful, and Obedient to Gods Laws.
2. To be Free from Oaths, Swearing, and Blasphemies.
3. To be Fearful, or Dreading to offend the King, and his Commands.
4. To know thy self and thy original Birth, and so accordingly to behave thy self towards all Men.

These are the Sovereign Vertues, which tend chiefly to the rectifying of the Soul. These following are called the Amorous Vertues, because they win Love, and a good Report at all Mens hands: a matter worthy the observation of all that desire, to seek to be Gentlemen.

1. To be of a Cheerful, and Lixam Countenance.
2. To be Affable, and Tractable in his Language.
3. To be Wise and Discreet in his Answers.
4. To be Just, and Perfect in his Rule, and Government.
5. To be Careful to bear good Will and Affection to Faithfulness.

Vices to be Eschewed by the Gentry.

Gentlemen are to fly from all Vice & Wickedness for that is a great Rebatement of his Honor, and Stains his Coat of Arms, making his Gentleness Ungente and especially in these nine things.

1. To fly from his Severaigns Banner in the Field.
2. To Revoke or Forfake his own Challenge.
3. to Slay his Prisoner with his own Hands, when he humbly yeildeth himself.
4. To tell his Sovereign false Tails.

These are called Terminata, Vices Terminable, because they are determined by sharp Punishments according to the Law of Arms. and are such as will determine and end his Gentility. These following are Indeterminable:

1. To be full of Lechery, giving his Body to Whoredom, and Uncleaness.
2. To be a Subject of Bacchus; a Riotous, Drunken, and Intemperate Person.
3. To be Slothful in the Warrs, or about the Kings Business.
4. To be a Boasters of Man-hood.
5. To be Cowardly in the Face of his Enemy.

Of these things concerning the Gentry, peruse Ferns Glory of Generosity, pag. 14. to 98.

Chamberlains Present State, pag. 280.

Spelmans Glossary in Verbo, Generosus.

XVII. He beareth Or, a Yeoman, or Countryman, or a Freeholder of the Country with a Staff in his right hand, proper. This habit (as to their inner Garments) Yeoman usually did wear in King James his time, viz. narrow bymed hats with flat Crowns, Doublets with large Wings, and short Skirts and Girdles about their Waists, Trunk Breeches, with Hose drawn up to the Thighs, and Gartered under the Knees.

Under the Title of Yeoman, in Latin Villani, is comprehended the Husbandman, Countryman, a Franklin, a Farmer, or any other sort of People, busie in Culture, or Tillage of the Earth.

The next to the lower Nobility, and the first degree of the Commons or Plebeians, are the Freeholders; commonly called Yeomen: It is a name from the High Dutch (Gemen or Gemain) in English Common. In the Kings Court, it is an Officer set in a middle Station between a Serjeant and a Groom. And they are termed Freeholders, because they hold Lands and Tenements inheritable, by a perpetual right to them and their Heirs for ever. This Tenure is called a Fes-Tail.

Others Freeholders there are by Copyhold, such are they who hold some Lands within a Manor or Lordship, only by Coppy of Court-roll of the said Mannor, &c: And have a perpetual right, and Lords Utileg; though no absolute Freeholders or direct Lord of what he holdeth; seeing he holdeth by Sute and Service, Herriots and Fines; some rateable, others certain, and some customarie. This is also called a Freehold by Law.

An other sort of Freehold is by Lease for Lives, or Lives Absolute: These are such Freeholders as are capable of giving Votes for Election of Parliament Men; to serve upon Juries; to bear the Offices of Constable, and Church-Warden. This is called a Freehold by Deed, or for Life.

The

The next sort of commonalty is the Farmer, or Rat let, or Dairy-Man, which are such as hold Lands and Livings, Farms and Demesnes, from the Lords thereof upon the Rack, or half Rack; that is upon the Yearly value, or half value: having no certain term of holding, but from Year to Year: or from three to three Years, avoiding at the Land-lords pleasure at such expirations of times.

The next Tradersmen are reckoned as of the commonalty of England, which are such as live by buying and selling, amongst whom Merchants of Foreign Traffick, have for their great benefit to the publick, and for their great endowments and Generous living, been of best repute in England, and have got great and vast Estates. But amongst Tradersmen there are Wholesale-Men, then Retailers, and lastly Mechanicks or Handy-crafts-men. These are all capable of bearing some sway, or office, in Cities and Towns Corporate. Yet notwithstanding, the Law of Arms hath forbidden these sorts of commoners, both from Honor, and the Ensigns of Nobility, till achieved by other means, or offices, as is afore shewed.

The third sort of People Ungentle, and of the Commonalty also; are those which are called Nativi and Servi, Natives or home torn People, yet Servants and Slaves to their Lords and Masters: in the English they are called Villains, such as live without Liberty and Freedom: Bondsmen, Apprentices: because during a certain time, they are bound to Service, for the attaining, and apprehending that Craft or Mystery, they are set unto: during which time they are little better in Quality and Condition then Servile Slaves, and Vassals.

The lowest Members, the Feet of the Body polittick, are the Day Labourers; who have no constant Master, but follow labouring from House to House, for Daily Wages: but of these see more numb. 21.

The Liberties and Priviledges of the Commons.

The Commons of England for Hereditary fundamental liberties and properties are best above and beyond the Subjects of any Monarch in the World: for

No Commoner, or Free Denizen of England: is to be Imprisoned, or otherwise restrained without cause shewed, for which by Law he ought to be Imprisoned.

To him Imprisoned may not be denied a Writ of Habeas Corpus if it be desired.

If no cause of Imprisonment be alledged, and the same be returned upon the Habeas Corpus, then the Prisoner ought to be set at liberty.

No Soldier can be quartered in the House of a Freeman, in the time of Peace without his Will, though they pay for their quarters.

Every Man hath a full and absolute property in his Goods, that no Taxes, Loans or Benevolences, Ordinary or Legally can be imposed on them, without their own consent, by their representative in Parliament.

[]

They may also Dispose of all they have, how they please, even from their own Children, and to them in what equality they will, without shewing any cause: which other Nations Governed by the Civil Law, cannot do.

No Freeman can be tried, but by his Peers or equals, nor condemned, but by the Laws of the Land, or by Act of Parliament.

No English Man can be Pressed or Compelled (unless bound by his Tenure) to serve as a Soldier in the War, or March forth of his Country, except in case of an Invasion by a Foreign Enemy, or a Rebellion at home.

Neither may he be sent out of the Realm against his Will, upon any Foreign Employment, by way of an Honorable Banishment.

No Freeman may be Fined for any Crime, but according to the Merit of the offence, always Salva sibi Contentamento suo, in such a manner that he may continue, and go on in his calling.

In brief their Liberties and Properties must be acknowledged to be transcendent, and their wordly condition most Happy and Blessed: for if it be considered, they are ordinarily Subject to no Laws but what they make themselves, nor no Taxes but what they impose on themselves, and pray the King, and the Lords to consent thereunto.

XVIII. He beareth Argent, the Lord Mayor of London, his - - - - or Boy in his Pride; the Lord Mayors Page some term him; his Habit is constant, viz Doublet and Breeches, Hose and Shoes, all of a colour; with a Loose Coat, or Jacket of Scarlet; reaching to the middle of his Thighs, without Sleeves, but such as hang upon his back, being of the same length of his Coat; having a Gold Chain about his Neck, a Velvet Bonnet on his head, with a Feather therein; in his left hand he carrieth a White Staff, with an Handkerchief Laced, tied on the top of it, with a Poetic of Flowers. In this habit doth a young Boy about 10 or 12 Years of Age, walks before the Lord Mayor every Easter, &c. when the Aldermen and Sheriffs in their Pomp, wait upon him to the Spittle.

A Page, is in some Sence taken to be an Office of Servile Employ and to follow business as in the Kings House, there are in several places Yeomen, Grooms, Pages, as in the Pantry, Cellar, Buttery, Pitcher House, &c. where they are to bear, and carry, and come and go at the Masters command. But Pages in the best acceptation, are young Youths of good Birth and Quality, which wait and attend upon Lords and Ladies, Kings and Princes, &c. none under the degree of a Lord having such a person, and by such a Title to attend him: Their Habit is Trunk Breeches, answerable to the figure of the Men before and after, numb. 17. 19.

A Footman, is generally, for the ease of his speedy going, clothed in light thin cloaths, and all in white, as Doublet lashed or open, Breeches or Drawers, and Stockings of the same, with thin soled Shoes called Pumpes; these Men run by their Lords Coach, or Horses side, and are ready to wait on him, and fetch and bring on all occasions; and sometimes make and maintain Foot Races.

A Querie, is an Officer or Servant under the Master of the Horse to the King, and none other; they are after the nature of Foot-men, whose Office is to attend the King in his Progress or Hunting, or on any occasion of Riding abroad, to help his Majesty up and down from his Horse, they generally go in the Kings Livery, and are 12 in number.

A Lacky, is the same for Office and employ as the precedent, only he hath not as yet attained his Age; yet for Archness he exceeds, for it is seldom known but such Boys are as full of Roguery, as an Egg is full of Meat: While they are Boys or Youths, they are generally termed Lacky; but when they come to riper Years, then Foot-men.

Upon the division score between these numbers 17 and 18, is fixed the figure of a demj Han to the sinister, sans Arms, bare headed, with a sharp pointed Beard, and two Elephants Teeth out of his mouth Argent, Clothed Gules, a Ruffe about his Neck. This kind of Creature, out of a Coronett, is the crest of Frischell van Martzel, of Bavaria. This is termed a demj Han with Elephants Teeth, A. sans Arms, clothed G. ruffed, &c.

XIX. He beareth Argent, two Lovers, (or a Han and Woman walking together Arm in Arm. in proper colours: But if you will go to a far her description of them, then say thus, a Han and Woman walking, their Arms Imbracing, his Hat Sable, Doublet with Broad Wings, and little Skirts, and Trunk Breeches, and Hose Purple; her Hood and Down of the second, Gorget or Wibisk and Apron of the first; see numb. 51. This is the Coat Armour of Anibony John Valere, of Spain, as my Author in an old Manuscript tells me.

XX. He beareth Or, a Serving Man, or a Gentlemans Servant standing (with a full Body or) in full Apert, with his two Hands on his sides, his head uncovered, clothed with Breeches Doublet, Hose, Shoes, Sable, overcast with a hanging or loose Coat, with the Sleeves hanging backwards, Gules. This kind of loose Coat with hanging sleeves cast over a Doublet or under Coat, was in the Reign of Q. Elizabeth termed a Mandilion, which is a loose Cassock, such as her Soldiers used to wear.

A Waiting Man, is such a person as goeth abroad with his Master or Mistress as a Companion, Manning or taking her by the hand in all dangerous places, for fear of a slip or fall; the Waiting Man is a degree above a Servant or a Lacky, they following their Ladies and Mistresses, but he goeth before them.

A Gentleman Usher, is an Office belonging to him that attends, and waiteth on Persons of Quality, none under the degree of a Lady to have such a person as is termed a Gentleman Usher.

A Servant, is such an one as doth follow Manual employs, and do the Work of the House, and are under Wages for such Drudgery Work as belongs to Families; they are commonly Hired by the Year, at the end whereof they may be Free to go and do Service for another Master. It is accounted discourteous and unfriendly, to take another Mans Servant before he hath fairly parted with his Master; and indiscreet to take a Servant without Certificate of his diligence and faithfulness to his former Master.

* A Servant, or an Apprentice, is a Servant for a certain space of time, as 5, 7, or 9 years, by Covenant, for the Exercise and Learning of Arts, Misteries, and Trades; these for that time carry the Mark of Villains and Bond Slaves, being subject to Correction for their Faults by their Masters and Mistresses; and resistance in a Servant, is punished with a severe punishment; and to take away either of their Lives, is Petty Treason, and hath a peculiar Punishment.

A Slave, from Foreign parts, we have none since Christianity, and any brought into England, are upon Landing, Ipso Facto, Free from Slavery, but not from Ordinary Service.

XXI. He beareth Argent, a Labouring Man with a Spade on his right shoulder, a Staff in the other hand; and an Apron before him, all proper. These kind of persons are such as work for Day Wages, either with Spade, Shovel, Mattock, Axe or Trowel, &c. of which there are several Operations.

The severall sorts of Labouring Men.

The Fundator, a Digger of the Earth to lay a Foundation, or make a ground work to Build upon.

The Fossoz, is a Digger of the Earth, to make Ditches and Trenches.

The Pastinator, a Labourer as Digs and Delves the Earth, to make it even and streight, such as delve Gardens, and such like Ground.

The Putearius, a Pit Digger, and such as Dig Wells for Water.

The Ablaqueator, a Digger or Delver about the Roots of Trees, to make them more Fruitful, and such are they who keep Orchards, Drefs Vinyards, and cure Hor-Yards.

The Cuniculator, a Miner, or digger under the Earth, such are all them that dig in Mines of Silver, Gold, Brass, Iron, Tin, Lead, Coal, and the like. Such are termed Pioneers, that undermine Forts, Towers and Castles, to Blow them up.

The Lapidooz, or Lapidary, a Cutter of Stones a Digger of Stones, such are they as work in Quarries, Quarry Men, Hewers of Stone, Masons, getters of Stone.

The Hanuporter, is him that bears or carries any thing by strength of hands; and such are Packing Porters, and them that carry with their hands by the help of Ways, Spikes or Purlocks, great Stones and Timber, which Masons and Carpenters use in large Fabricks.

The Barrow Men, such as carry on a Barrow between two; and they are Labourers in Brick and Stone Work; and carry Burthens of severall natures by that means.

The Wheeler, is such as transport weighty things from place to place; see numb. 53.

The Munginator, is such as blend Clay and Water, ter, of these kind of Labouring Men, are the Daubers, Mortar Temperers, Plaster makers, and the like.

The Manufactory, or Workers with the hand, and such as follow handy craft labouring, as Trowel Men, Axe Men, and seilers and coverers of Houses either with Straw, Shingles, Tiles or Slate; see numb. 38. 39. 51. 52. &c.

The Lator, or Porter, a Bearer or Carrier of Burthens on their Backs or Shoulders, and such are they that wait at Custom Houses, attend Merchants Cellars and Grocers Shops, to carry their Goods from place to place. A Miller, or Mill carrier, see numb. 45.

The Marianus, is a kind of Crabeller, or Way-faring person, which in his Journey carries or bears Burthens on his Back with the help of a Staff; and such Labourers I take Pedlars, Tinkers and Crate Carriers to be; and all such who bear Fardels or Trusses on Staves upon their shoulders; see numb. 46. 47. 63. 65.

The Phalangary or Palangarij, are Porters which bear Burthens on Slings, or in Ropes, with Ways, Hand-spikes, or Poles, as Beer-Brewers, Wine-Coopers, and such as bear Burthens, more than a Man or two is able to carry, see numb. 44.

XXII. He beareth Argent, a Shepherd habited or clothed in a loose Coat, and round or close kneed Breeches, supporting a Shepherds Crook in his right hand, with his Hat in a Complemental posture in his left, all in their proper colours. A Shepherd is, and ever was esteemed a Noble Employ, it being the business of the Patriarchs Abraham and Jacob, Gen. 47. 3. and who knoweth not, that David from following his Ewes, was made King of Judah, and gave Laws unto Israel, Psal. 78. 70: 71. And Tullius Hostilius was a Cow-Herd, and Pamphilus a Keeper of Cattel, the one attained the Government of Rome, the other of Bohemia. Timberlain, in his Youth was a Hog-herd, or Swineherd, and after by his Vertues, a Stout Warriour and King of Scythia: And the Prophet Amos, a Herdman, yet called to be an Ambassador of the Lord.

XXIII. He beareth Argent, a Country Cloutier, with a Staff on his right shoulder, with a Hand Basket hanging on it; and in his left hand, a Kettle or Pan, with a hanging Handle. This is the habit of a Country unbred fellow, which the Dutch term the Boors of the Country, such as have neither Learning, Wit, nor Manners.

A Churl, is one of a dogged and evil condition, that fears not God, nor reverences Man; such a person was that churlish Nabal, mentioned 1 Sam. 25. 3. &c. who though he was able, yet returned a reviling Answer, and was so wicked that none could speak to him; a covetous fellow, an inhumane person, one of no pity or manners.

A Boor, or Swain, is a Country Man that hath neither Breeding or Manners, one that lives in the country Villages, and knows nothing at all of Civil Behaviour.

A Rustick Fellow, one without City or School breeding, without cleanliness, and of a slovenly Speech; one born of mean Parentage, and without Learning, having neither been civilized or brought into good manners.

A Plebeian, is one of the meanest commoners, or lowest rank of people, and of a vulgar Speech or Language.

XXIV. He beareth Or, a Mower, or a Man holding of a Sithe, as if he were Mowing, his Cloaths and Hat, Russet, the rest proper. This is the crest of Mower or Rushmower.

The like to this, having his Suit per pale from Hat to Shoe, each counterchanged from the other A. and S. is the crest of Astton of Astton in Lancashire; and of Chatterton in the same County. This Mower hath the point of his Sithe turned the wrong way, which if it were to the dexter side, the right hand, then should be uppermost; but Pardon is desired for this fault, by the Graver.

Terms used by the Mower and Hay-makers.

To Mow, is to cut down the Grass with a Sithe. To Mowe with a Crather, is to cut Corn that is short in the Straw, with a Sithe having a kind of Rack fixed to it for the Ears of Corn to fall on.

A Day Mow, a Days Mowing, is as much as a Mower can cut down in a day.

A Swaffe, or Sithe Swaffe, as much as the Sithe cuts at one stroak of the Mower.

--- the Sithe stroaks or marks, which are left in the Grass that the Sithe leaves growing.

The Swarth --- are the rows of the cut Grass as the Sithe leaves it.

Edgewe, is the Grass left growing after Mowing; some term it the Latter grass, or latter growing.

Tedding, is with a Pitchfork or Pikill, throwing it abroad out of those rows in which the Sithe left it on the ground.

Turning, is to turn the Grass over, that the under part may wither and dry.

Making it into Wind-rows, is to gather it up with a Rake into long Rows.

Making it into Grass Cocks, is from the Windrows to gather it into little heaps, in which it lieth the first day to dry.

Breaking, is to throw the Grass Cocks all abroad.

Turning it again and again, is to cast it over several times, that it may wither and dry thoroughly: called Casting it.

Plecks, is to make it, or turn it into square Beds.

Making it into midling Cocks.

Bokeing it again, then putting it into Windrows again.

Making it into Hay Cocks, is to raise it into great heap when it is perfect Hay, and well dried; and so remain still it be taken away. Some term this Cocking or Coileing.

Raking the Bottom Stalls, is to Rake up all the scattered Hay about the Cocks, and cast it thereon.

Loading it, putting the Hay into the Cart.

Pitching it into the Cart.

Lead it Home, is to draw it to the place it must be kept in.

A Courle, is every Fleece or turn of Hey laid on the Cart.

A Binding Courle, is the top courle of Hay, which is put on before it be bound on the Cart with the Cart Rope.

Call it off the Cart.

Push it into the Window.

Tread down the Hay, is treading with the feet the Hay laid down, when it is laid in the Barn, Stable or Hay loft.

A Mow, or Hay Mow, is several Loads of Hay laid together in a Barn or Stable.

A Stack, or Hay Stack, is several Loads of Hay laid about, and trodden close together about a Stack Pole, being shaped broad at the bottom and narrow at top, Pyramid-wise.

A Rick, or Hay Rick, is Hay Mowed without in the open Air, and made after the form of a Barn with a heading Ridg.

Treading it, is to saddle it down either in the Mow or Rick, &c.

Sweating of the Mow, when the Hay heats in the Mow.

Drawing it out, to draw it out of the Mow or Stack with an Hay hook, to give it to the Cattel, which Husband Men call Foddering of the Cattel or Beasts.

A Lock of Hay, as much as hangs together in ones hand.

A Pikell of Hay, as much as hangs together on the points or grains of a Pikell.

A Cruss of Hay, as much as can be tied together in an Hay Rope, for a Man to carry on his shoulder.

A Jagg of Hay, is a small Load of Hay.

A Load of Hay, is a good Load, containing about 2000 Weight.

XXV. He beareth Azure, a Thrasher habited, or apparelled, or cloathed, of a party colour, each part counterchanged of the other Argent and Gules, with his Flail, or Thrashing Instrument raised over his head, and a Garbe at his right foot, Or. This is the coat of that worthy Family, Sir Cecill Trafford, of Trafford, in Lancashire.

Terms used by Husband Men, for the Tillage and Sowing of Corn.

Fallow ground, is ground not of a long time broken up with the Plough; Ground unbroken up.

Marled ground, is laid over with a kind of fat mellow clay.

Ducked grounds, is ground spread over with dung of Beasts.

Faugh ground, or ground lying Faugh, is to let it lie a year or more Unplowed; the same to Fallow.

Ploughed ground, is that as is broken up with the Plow.

Fallowing, is the first Plowing for Barley, or the breaking up of Fallow ground.

Stirring, is the second Plowing for Barley.

Cogling, or Hurling, is harrowing after the second Plowing.

Sowing, is the third Plowing for Barley, and the Sowing of it just upon the Plowing.

A Furrow, is so much as the Plow turns up at a time, and may be either a broad or narrow furrow.

A Rick, or Ridges, or Buts, are parcels of Land of several breadths and lengths.

Castling into Ricks or Ridges, is to make inch by Plowing.

A Reson, is the distance between two Buts.

An Hadland, or Headland, is the end of a Butt, which the Plow in Plowing turneth up.

Sowing, is the casting Corn upon the ground.

Harrowing, is the rearing and tearing of the Earth, that the same may cover the Seed sowed, or Corn cast upon the Earth.

Breaking of Clods, is the bruising of the Earth, which is in hard clods, that in dry Seasons the Harrow cannot rent in pieces.

Cleeding, is cutting up the Woods, lest the same overgrow, and so spoil the growth of the Corn.

Harvest time, the time when Corn is ripe.

Hay Harvest, Barley Harvest, Chestr Harvest, are the times for cutting of Grass, and those kinds of Grain.

Spitt, or Blasted, when it is beaten down by Rain, and through moisture begins to grow again.

Full Eared, when it is full and well grown Corn.

Reaping, is cutting down of Ripe Corn.

Laying in Rapes, is laying it in heaps to be bound up.

Gathering and Binding, is making them into Sheafs.

The Bond, is that as ties the Corn into Bundles.

A Sheaf of Corn, is a Bundle tied together.

An Battock, is three Sheafs laid together.

Riddors.

Half Chades, are 12 Sheafs set up together.

A Chade, is 24 Sheafs of Corn set up together.

Pitching, putting the Sheafs into the Cart, and out of the Cart.

Loading, is the orderly laying the Sheafs in the Cart.

Laying, or Carrying, is to bring the Corn to the Barn.

Cleaving, or Leaving, or Songoung, is gathering of the loose Ears of Corn, after Binding and Loading.

Cutting the Neck, is the last handful of standing Corn, which when it is cut down, the Reapers give a shout, and fall to Eating and Drinking; it being the end of that Mans Harvest for that year.

Mowing, Stacking, or Ricking of Corn, is before in Hay.

Sweating, is when it is hot in the Mow, Stack, or Rick.

Threshing, is the beating of the Corn out of the husk.

Straw, that as the Ears of Corn groweth upon.

Blade, the first springing of the Corn out of the ground, which is like Grass.

Chaff, the husk as covers the Corn, making them into Bars.

Winnowing, Winning, or Haveing, is to cast the Corn and Chaff into the Wind, to blow and cleanse the chaff from it.

Wanting, or Wantle Wind, is to make Wind with a Winnow sheet or coarse cloth held by two persons.

Ridling, is a sifting the corn from the chaff.

Reeking, is to sift the Corn, to cleanse it from small seeds.

Knottings, or Light Corn, such as is thin, and not well grown.

Baling of Barley, is the beating of it, to get the beards from it.

Bagging, or Sacking of it, is to put the clean Corn into big or little Bags, to carry it into the Garners or Granaries.

XXVI. He beareth Argent, an Hunter, or Hunter, his Horn by his side, and Staff upon his shoulder, and Greyhounds at his right side, proper, his clothes Azure. This is the coat and crest of the Family of Hunters. Some term this a Compter, but then he hath no Horn by his side.

The like Hunter with a Blood Hound on his left side, with a Collar and Liame in his left hand, is the Seal of the Town of Huntington, as Mr. Speed in his Map sets it forth.

A demy Hunter to the Sinister, holding his Staff Bendways before his Breast, with both hands each side his body, with an Insula Cap imowed and clothed, Gules, is the crest of Stangen zu Camitz.

XXVII. He beareth Argent, a Forester all in green, with his Steel Boto on his right shoulder, his Fauchion by his side, leading an Hound Collared and Liamed, all proper. This is the crest of Baskerville, of Old Withington, in Cheshire. Some do term this a Forester with an Hound on the near, or nearer side of him, &c. The Hunter (afore said) with his Greyhound on the farther side of him, &c.

The Excellencies which are contained in the Noble and Worthy Exercise of Hunting and Coursing with Greyhounds, is so well known to all Gentlemen who delight in this Pleasant Sport and Healthy Pastime, I shall pass over, and insist only upon some terms formerly omitted in lib. 2. chap. 9. numb. 58. And first for the Laws of Coursing, according as they were allowed and commanded by the Duke of Norfolk in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, set down by Mr. Markham.

Laws of Coursing with Grey-Hounds.

1. It was Ordered, that the Fewterer, or Letter-loose of the Greyhounds, shall receive the Greyhounds matched to run together, into his Leash, as soon as he comes into the Field, and follow next to the Hare-finder, till he come unto the Form; and that no Horseman or Footman, on pain of disgrace to go before them, or on any side, but directly behind, the space of 40 yards or thereabouts.

2. That the Hare-finder, shall give the Hare three Soho's before he put her from her Lear, to make the Greyhounds gaze and attend her rising.

3. That not above one Brace of Greyhounds do course a Hare at one instant.

4. That the Fewterer shall give the Hare twelve score Law, before he loose the Greyhounds, except it be in danger of loosing fight.

5. That Dog which gives the first Turn, if after the Turn there be given neither Coat, Slip or Wrench extraordinary; he that gives the first Turn shall be held to win the Wager.

6. If one Dog give the first Turn, and the other bear the Hare, then he which bore the Hare shall win.

7. If one give both first and last Turn, and no other advantage be between them, the odd Turn shall win the Wager.

8. That a Coat shall be more than two Turns, and a Go-By, or the Bearing of the Hare, shall be equal with two Turns.

9. If neither of the Dogs Turn the Hare, then he that Leadeth last at the Covert, shall be held to win the Wager.

10. If one Dog turn the Hare, serve himself, and Turn her again, those two Turns shall be as much as a Coat.

11. If all the Course be equal, then he that Bears the Hare shall win only; and if she be not Born, the Course must be adjudged dead.

12. If he that comes first in to the death of the Hare, takes her up, and saves her from breaking; cherisheth the Dogs, and cleanseth their Mouths from the Wooll, or other filth of the Hare; for such courtesie done, he shall in Right challenge the Hare, but not doing it, he shall have no Right, Privilege, or Title therein.

13. If any Dog shall take a Fall in the Course, and yet perform his part, he shall challenge the advantage of a Turn more than he giveth.

14. If one Dog turn the Hare, serve himself, and give diverse Coats; yet in the end stand still in the Field, the other Dog without Turn giving, running home to the Covert; that Dog that stood still in the Field shall be adjudged to loose the Wager.

15. If any Man shall Ride over a Dog, and overthrow him in his Course, (though the Dog were the worse Dog in opinion, yet) the Party for the Offence shall either receive the disgrace of the Field, or pay the Wager; for between the Parties it shall be adjudged no Course.

16. Lastly, Those which are chosen Judges of the Leash, shall give their Judgment presently, before they depart the Field, or else he in whose default it lieth, shall pay the Wager by a general Vote and Sentence.

Here note, that the Laws of Coursing, may and do often alter according to some Mens swaying Fancies; for it ever lieth in the power of him that hath the office of the Leash conferred on him, to make Laws according to the customs of Countreys, and the Rule of Reason.

Some other Terms and Descriptions relating to Forests and Forest Laws, and the different terms between Hounds and Greyhounds.

A Forest, is a place Priviledged by Royal Authority, and differs from a Park, Warren and Chase, and is purposely allotted for the nourishment of Beasts and Fowls thereunto belonging; for which there are certain Laws, Officers, and Orders; part of which are in the great Charter of the Forest.

A Forester, is an Officer of the Forest, sworn to preserve the Vert and Venison therein, and to Apprehend all Offenders, and present them to the Forest Courts, to the end they may be punished according to their misdemeanors.

A Purlieu, is all that ground adjoining to Forests, which being made Forest by the King; was afterwards by the King, severed again from the same Forest, and made Perambulations.

A Purlieu - Man, is he that hath ground within the Purlieu of 40 s. Freehold. And such an one with some caution may Hunt within his own Purlieu.

A Regarder, is an Officer in the Kings Forest, that is sworn to take care of the Vert and Venison, and to view and enquire of all Offences committed therein, and of all Concealments, and whether all other Officers do execute their Office or not.

A Raunger, whose Office is to look after the Purlieu, and to drive back the Deer into the Forest again; and to see, hear, and enquire after Offenders, and to present their Offences.

A Gerardoz, is an Officer of the Kings Forest, and chosen by the Freeholders of the County where the Forest is, by the Kings Writ directed to the Sherrieff for that purpose; such are chiefly to look after the Wood and Grass in the Forest.

An Agistor, is an Officer of the Forest, that takes in to Feed the Cattel of Strangers, and receives for the Kings use all such Cack-Money as becomes due from those Strangers.

Woodgeld, is the gathering or cutting of Wood in the Forest, or the Money paid for it to the use of the Forester, or an Immunity for this by the Kings Grant.

A Chase, is a place used for the Receipt of Deer, and Beasts of the Forest; it differs from a Forest and a Park; it may be in the hands of a Subject, which a Forest in its proper nature cannot be; neither is it inclosed as a Park always is; it hath a larger compass, more Store of Game, and more Keepers and Overseers than the Park.

Expeditate, is the cutting out the Ball of the foot of great Dogs in the Forest (as some say) yet others, that it is the cutting off the three fore-claws by the skin; and that the Owner of every such Dog unexpedited in the Forest, shall forfeit 3 s. 4 d.

Sence Month hath 31 days, begins 15 days before Midsummer, and ends 15 days after; in which time it is unlawful for any to Hunt in the Forest, or to go among the Deer to disquiet them, because it is the time of Fawning.

Frank Chase, is a liberty of Free Chase in a circuit annexed to the Forest, whereby all Men that have ground within the circuit of the Forest are forbidden to cut down Wood, or discover, &c. within the view of the Forest, though it be his own Demefne.

Green Hue, or Vert, they both signifie every thing that doth grow or bear green Leaves within the Forest, that may cover or hide the Deer.

Over-Vert, is all manner of high Wood.

Nether-Vert, is all sorts of Under-wood.

Cablish, is all sorts of Brushwood.

Horngeld, is a Tax within the Forest for all manner of Horned Beasts.

Footgeld, is an Amercement on such as live within the Forest, for not expeditating their Dogs; and to be quit of Footgeld, is a priviledge to keep Dogs there unlawed, without Punishment or Controullment.

Pawnage, is Money taken by the Agistors for the feed of Hogs with the Mast or Acorns of the Forest: But (Mr. Crompton saith) it is most properly the Mast, Woods, Lands, or Hedged Rows, or Money due to the Owners of the same for it.

A Scotale, is where any Officer of the Forest keeps an Ale-house in the Forest by colour of his Office, causing Men to come to his House, and spend their Money there, for fear of having a displeasure; but this is forbidden by Ch. rta Foresta.

Perambulation, is the measuring and setting down bounds and limits of the Forest.

Dart of the Forest, is an exact view and examination taken at certain times, as occasion shall serve, to know what Beasts are there; that none Common there but such as have right; and that the Forest be not overcharged with the Beasts of Foreigners.

An Assart, is a great Offence committed in the Forest, by grubbing up the Woods, Coverts and Thickets, and making them plain, as Arable Land, or the like.

Minoberie, is a Trespas or Offence committed by some Engine set up in the Forrest to catch Deer or the like.

Critis, is a Freedom that one hath from holding a Greyhound in ones hand when the Lord of the Forrest is Hunting there; or be amerced for his default.

Protoforestarius, the first or chief Forester, this was a great Officer heretofore in Winesfor Forest.

Stablestand, is when one is found standing in the Forest with his Bow ready bent, or Gun prepared to shoot at any Deer, or with his Greyhound in a Lease ready to slip.

Swainmote, or Swanninote, is a Court appointed to be held thrice in a year within a Forest, the first 15 days before Michaelmas, the second about Martinmas, and the third 15 days before St. John Baptist.

Chiminage, is taken by Foresters in Fee throughout their Bailiwick for Bushes, Timber, &c. And signifieth the same with Toll.

Afforest, is to turn Lands into Forrest.

Disafforest, or Disforest, is to turn Land from being Forest to other uses.

Proper Terms used for the Noises of Hounds.

We say that Hounds, They Challenge, that is when they open and make a noise at first cast off, having found some Game or Chase.

They Bawl, when they are too busie before they find the scent good.

They Babbie, if they be too busy after they find good scent.

They are in full Cry, if they run it endways orderly, making it good, and then hold in together merrily.

They Lapse, when Spaniels open in the String (or a Greyhound in his course).

They Plod, is when Hounds hang behind, and beat too much upon the scent in one place.

They Bay, is when they have earthed a Vermin, or brought a Deer, or Boar, or such like, to turn head against them.

Different Terms in Hunting, for Hounds and Greyhounds.

A Brace of Greyhounds, is two.

A Couple of Hounds, is two.

A Leace of Greyhounds is three.

A Couple and half of Hounds is three.

A Beamel of Hounds, or

A Pack of Beagles, when many together.

Entries, are such places where Deer have lately passed into Thickets or Underwoods, by which we judge their greatness, and there put in the Hounds or Beagles, to take their view.

They draw amiss, when Hounds have the scent of their Chase contrary, as to run it up the Wind, when they should it down.

Hunt change, when either Hounds or Beagles take fresh scent, hunting another chase, until they stick, and have it again.

Hunt Counter, when Hounds hunt it by the Heel.

Hunt the Foile, when the Chase goes off, and comes on the same ground again, travelling it over and over to deceive the Hounds.

Ringwalks, usually called Dew-rounds, which are things made by Huntsmen, when they go drawing in their Springs.

Prickhead, is the first head of a Fallow Deer.

Run Mute, when Hounds or Beagles run long without opening, or making any cry.

Run Riot, when Hounds run at a whole Herd of Deer.

Draw on the Slot, is when the Hounds touch the scent, and draw on till they rouse or put up the chase.

Deers Gate, or to know a Deers bigness by his Gate, is by the Huntsmans observing the Slot or footsteps of the Deer.

She carryeth, is when a Hare runneth on rotten ground; or in the Frost, sometimes it sticks to her feet.

Hearn, is when Beagles Bark and Cry at their Prey.

A Spitter, is by some called an Hart of the first Year.

A Pricker, is an Huntsman on Horseback.

Wiles, are any kinds of Engines to take Deer withal.

A Clautlay, is when Hounds or Beagles are set in a readinels, expecting the Chase to come by, and then cast them off before the rest come in.

A Blennish, is when Hounds or Beagles find where the Chase hath been, and made a proffer to enter, but have returned.

The Call, is a Lesson Blowed on the Horn to comfort the Hounds.

A Recheat, a Lesson also on the Horn.

The Host or Death, is a Lesson blown at the Death of any Deer. There are several other Lessons Blown on the Horn, which you may find. See in the following notes, with the names of the Notes.

— (6 6 6
Tone Ton Tavern Ton-tavern Ton-ton-tavern

To call the Company in the Morning, Tone tavern tavern tavern tone ton-tavern.

The Stroaks to the Field, Ton-ton-tavern tone ton-tavern ton-tavern ton-tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tone.

To uncouple the Hounds, tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern ton-tavern tone.

When the Hounds hunt a Game unknown, ton-ton-tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern, tavern ton-ton-tavern tavern tavern.

A Recheat, when they hunt a right game, ton-ton-tavern tone, ton-ton tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern tavern tavern tavern, ton-ton-tavern tavern ton-ton-tavern tone ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern tavern tavern tavern.

A double Recheat.

The trebble Recheat.

The Earthing of a Fox if recoverable, tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern ton-ton-tavern tone, ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern.

If not to call away, ton-tavern tone ton-tavern.

The Death of an Hare ton tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tone.

The Death of a Buck, Tone ton-tavern ton-tavern ton-tavern ton-tavern ton-tavern ton-tavern ton-tavern ton-tavern ton-tavern tone.

The Death of a Stag or Hart, tone ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern tone.

The Death of a Fox, tone tavern tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tone.

The Call for a Keeper in Park or Forest, ton-tavern tavern ton-tavern, ton-tavern tone ton-tavern, ton-tavern ton-tavern tone: tavern tavern tavern tone.

The Prize of a Heart - Royal, tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tone
tavern tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tavern
tavern tavern tone tavern tavern tavern tavern tone
The Stroaks for the Terriers when the Fox is Earthed, ton-tavern tone ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern ton ton ton tone.

To draw the company out of the Field, tone ton ton ton-ton-tavern ton-ton-tavern tone.

A Recheate or Farewell at the parting, ton tone ton tone ton-tavern tone tone-ton, ton tone ton tone ton-tavern ton tone ton tone ton tone ton-tavern ton tone ton tone ton tone-ton-ton-ton tone tone ton tone tone, ton tone ton tone ton-tavern ton tone tone.

Ton tone ton tone ton-tavern ton tone tone-ton, ton tone ton tone ton-tavern ton tone ton tone tone ton ton-tavern ton tone ton tone ton tone ton-tavern ton tone ton tone ton tone ton tone.

XXVIII. He beareth Argent, a Falconer Cloathed in Gray; with a Glove on his right Hand, with a Fal- con upon, his Lewre by his side, and his Staff in his left Hand holding it cross his Body in Bend sinister, all proper.

For the Terms of Art used by Falconers, and things necessary and useful for Hawks are set down to the full in
lib. 2. chap. 11. numb. 62. sect. 7.

XXIX. He beareth Gules, a Cooke with a Cap, Sleeves, and Apron, Argent; Wastcoat and Brea- ches, Azure: Dole of the second, Shoes Sable, holding of a Dish of Meat between his Hands proper. A Dresser fixed to the Dexter side Or.

Cooks Dressers and Tables, are Emblems of Good Housekeeping and Hospitality; a thing in this age much commended, but little practized. And seeing I am fallen upon this subject, it will not be amiss to give some little touch by the way, of the bounty of some Princes and Nobles in their Feasts and Hospitality towards Strangers in former times: Whereof I find King Solomon to be the most famous President; for his daily expences, that I read off wherein he exceeded all others that preceded or succeeded him, as we may see 1. King. 4. 22. 23 where it is said: And Solomons Victuals for one Day were thirty Measures of fine Flower, and thirty Measures of Meal, ten fat Oxen, and twenty Oxen of the Pastures, and one hundred Sheep, besides Harts, and Roebucks, and Fallow
Deer, and fatted Fowl.

We read also of a notable Feast kept by Josiah King of Judah, viz. The Feast of the Passover, of which it is said that there was no such Feast as that from the Days of the Judges, nor in all the Days of the Kings of Israel, and of the Kings of Judah. For Josiah gave to the People, Sheep, Lambs and Kids for all the Passover, even to all that were present, to the number of thirty thousand, and three thousand Bullocks; and his Princes offered willingly to the Priest and People eight thousand Bullocks, and seven thousand six hundred Sheep, as we read 2. King. 23.
21. Chr. 2. Chro. 35. 8. 9. 18.

And Darius who was the Sovereign Monarch of the Medes, Persians, and Caldæans in the third year of his Reign made a Royal Feast for all his Princes and Servants even all the power of Persia and Media, and for the Captains and Governors of an hundred and seven and twenty Provinces, which were before him. And for to shew the Riches and Glory of his Kingdom, and the Honor of his Great Majestic, this Feasting he kept for an hundred and fourscore days. And when those days were expired, the King made a Feast for all the People great and small that were in Shushan the Seat of his Royal Palace for seven days, as we may read in the Book of Ester chap. 1. Where he is called by the name of Abasbuerosh, and of some Historians is supposed to be Artaxerxes, Son of Darius Hystaspis.

From him we descend to the Hospitality of the ancient Kings of this Land: I find that King Lud commanded his Household Officers, to have the Table in the Hall daily covered from seven of the Clock in the Morning to seven in the Evening. His daily Diet was not much in rare and delicate Meats; but that he kept it constantly with good and wholesome Viands and such Cares as could then be gotten. And at the four great Feasts, he made Proclamation in the Country for all manner of People to come thither.

Also it is mentioned that King Cassibelane made a Royal Feast at the second triumph over the Romans: in which he gave out his Royal command to all the Gentiles of Brittany, to come with their Wives to Magnifie his Feast: for which he slew Forty thousand Kine, and Oxen, one hundred thousand Sheep, thirty thousand Deer, and other Wild Beasts of the Woods, besides the diverse kinds of Pullin, Coneys, Wild and Tame Fowl, both of Sea and Land, with much other purveiance of Victuals, with many Disguisings, Plays, Minstrelsie and sports too long to recite.

But to leave all others I shall only give a relation of one Feast more, made by George Nevill Arch Bishop of York; at the time of his Consecration, c. Installation,
7. E. 4. about 1466. at which there was provided this Provision,

Wheat, 300 Quarters.	Woodcocks, 400.
Ale, 300 Tuns.	Plovers, 400.
Wine, 104 Tuns.	Curlews, 100.
Inocras, 1 Pipe.	Quailes, 100.
Oxen, 80.	Egrets, 1000.
Wild - Bull, 6.	Rees, 200.
Muttons, 1004.	Harts, Bucks, and Roes,
Veal, 8300.	400 and odd.
Porks, 300.	Pasties of Venison cold, 4000.
Geese, 3000.	Pasties of Venison hot, 1000.
Capons, 2300.	Dishes of Gelly Pate, 1000.
Piggs, 2000.	Plain Dishes of Gelly, 1000.
Peacocks, 100.	Cold Tarts, 4000.
Cranes, 200.	Gold Custards, 4000.
Kids, 200.	Hot Custards, 2000.
Chickens, 2000.	Pykes, 300.
Pigeons, 4000.	Breams, 1300.
Conies, 4000.	Scales, 8.
Bitters, 204.	Purposes, 4.
Mallards and Teals, 4000.	Chief Cooks, 60.
Hearnsews, 400.	Servants and Brouche, tur-
Pheasants, 200.	about owners, 500.
Partridges, 500.

The Officers of the said Feast.

The Earl of Warwick Steward.
 The Earl of Bedford Treasurer.
 The Lord Hastings Controller.
 The Lord Willoughby Carver.
 Sir John Buckingham Cup-Bearer.
 Sir Richard Strangways Sewer.

Sir Walter Morley Chief Marshal of the Hall, with eight other Knights Marshals, besides Esquires and Grooms.
 Sir John Malvery Panter.
 Serjeant of the Kings Ewry, the Ewer.
John Graystock and John Nevill, Keepers of the Cubbord.
John Braynick Surveyor through the Hall.

The Ordering and Sending up of the Grand Feast abovesaid.

First Course.

Brawn,
 Furmenty viant Potage.
 Pennade purple Potage.
 Hare powdred.
 Roe Powdred.
 Pheasant Intrail.
 Swans.
 Capons in half Grease.
 Heronsewes.
 Carpet of Venison.
 Pike in Harblet.
 Leach Cant.
 Frutters.
 Venison Baked.
 Custard Planted.
 A Suttler.

Second Course.

Gelly pacted Pottage.
 Rassens Pottage.
 Venison Baked.
 Peacocks in Rapol.
 Conyes Reverse.
 Lardis of Venison.
 Partridges.
 Woodcocks.
 Plovers.
 Breames in Spile.
 Pumis Verte.
 Leiche Sipers.
 Fruter Napkin.
 Dates in Molde.
 Scatines Ryal.
 A Suttler.

Third Course.

Blanke Desire.
 Dates in Compest.
 Bitters Rofte.
 Pheasants.
 Egrets.
 Rabbits.
 Quailes. Martins.
 Great Birds.
 Larks.
 Porpose Rofte.
 Leach Blanke.
 Fruter Crispin.
 Quince Baked.
 Chamblett Vial.
 Suttler.
 Wafers and Ipocras plenty.

Terms for Carving and Sewing.

To Carve is to Cut up a Dish of Culpon that Trout.
 Meat, but according to the Meats Fin that Chevin.
 use these Terms for their Carv Cranson the Eel.

ing,
Break that Deer.
Leach that Brawn.
Crilace that Coney.
Chine that Salmon.
String that Lamprey.
Splat that Pike.
Sauce that Plaice and Tench.
Splay that Bream.
Side that Haddock.
Cush that Barbell.

Cranch that Sturgeon.
Cire that Egg.
Undertranch that Purpus.
Came that Crab.
Barb that Lobster.
Dight that Crevis.
Bear that Goose.
Lift that Swan.
Sauce that Capon.
Spoil that Hen.

Frust that Chicken.
Unbrace that Duck or Mallard.
Dismember that Hern.
Display that Crane.
Disfigure that Peacock.
Anjoynt that Bittern.
Antach that Curlew, and Brew.
Allay that Pheasant.
Wing that Patridge, and Quail.
Wince that Plover.
Chigh that Pigeon, and Woodcock.
Cut up that Turkey and Bustard.
Break that Teal or Sarcel.

Other Bills of Fare for Grand Feasts, and how to set the Meat in Order.

Novembers Feast.

Oysters.
 Brawn and Mustard.
 A Capon in Stewed Broth with Marrow-Bones.
 A Goose in Stuffed, or two Ducks.
 A Grand Saller.

A Shoulder of Mutton with Oysters.
 A Bisk Dish baked, or
 A Chine of Beef roasted.
 Minced Pies or Chewits of Capon,
 Tongue, or Veal.
 A Chine of Pork.
 A Pastie of Venison.
 A Swan or two Geese roasted.

A Loyn of Veal.
 A French Pic of diverse compounds.
 A Roast Turkey.
 A Pigg Roasted.
 2 Brangeese Roasted, one larded.
 Sowce Veal.
 2 Capons Roasted, one larded.
 A Custard double bordered.

The second Course.

Oranges and Lemons.
A Sowed Pig.
A Young Lamb or Kidd roast.
Shovellers.
Hens, one larded.
A Potage Pie.
A Duck and Mallard, one larded.
A Sowed Turbot.
Potatoes, one larded.
A Mackerel Carp, or Bream, or Pike.
Partridges, some Larded.
A made Dish of Spinage Cream Baked.
A Roast of Beef.
Tails roast, some larded.
A cold Goose Pye.
A Sowed Muller and Bace.
A Quince Pye.
Capers, some larded.
Dried Neats - Tongues.
A Dish of Anchovis.
A Sole of Sturgeon.
Jellies and Tarts Royal.
Ginger-bread, and other Fruits according to the Season.

A Christmas Days Feast.

Oysters.
A Collar of Brawn.
Stewed Broth of Mutton and Marrow-
Bones.
A Grand Sallet.
A Portage of Capons.
A Breast of Veal in stuffado.
Boiled Partridges.
A Chine or Surloin of Beef roasted.
Mince Pyes.
A Jegote of Mutton with Anchovis
Sauce.
A made Dish of Sweet - breeds.
A Swan roast.
A Pastie of Venison.
A Kid with a Pudding in his Belly.
A stake Pye.
A Haunch of Venison roasted.
A Turkey roast, stuck with Cloves.
A made Dish of Chickens in puff
Paste.
2 Geese roast, one larded.
2 Capons, one larded.
A Custard.

The second Course.

Oranges and Lemons.
A young Lamb or Kid.
4 Rabbits, two larded.
A Pigg sauced with Tongues.
Ducks, some larded.
2 Pheasants, one larded.
A Swan or Goose Pye cold.
Partridges, some larded.
A made Dish in puff paste.
Bologna Sausages.
Anchovis.
Mushrooms.
Caviare.
Pickled Oysters.
Teales, some larded.
A Gammon of Westphalia Bacon.
Plovers, some larded.
A Quince or Warden Pye.
Woodcocks, some larded.
A Tart in puff paste.
A Preserved Fruit and Pippins.
A Dish of Larks.
Neats - Tongues.
Sturgeon, and Anchovis, and Jellies.

in a Dish.

Other Bills of Fare for every Season in the Year, also how to set forth
Meat in Order accordingly.

First Course.

Oysters, Muskmelons.

1. Brawn and Mustard, Eggs and Collops, Hasty Pudding, Pudding Boiled, a Pot Ball or Dumpling or baked of Bread, or Rice, Puddings in skins of Blood and Oate - Meal.
2. Boiled Capon in stewed Broth, Fresh Neats - Tongues and Udder, Hens and Bacon, Beef and Cabbage, Capon portage, Panado, Compound-potage or white
Broth, Olio, Gruel, Furmenty, Honey Sops, Soops, Caudles of Oate - Meal or Eggs, Alebury.
3. Turkeys in Stuffado, Hash of Rabbits, Ducks in Stuffado, Haunch of Venison Roasted, Scotch Collops of Beef, Mutton or Veal.
4. A Hash or a Shoulder of Mutton, a Grand Fricassee, Loyn of Pork, Hash Capons, Calves Head stewed, Bisk.
5. Geese boiled, a Grand Sallet.
6. A Boiled Meat of Ducks, Roast Pork.
7. A Marrow - Pudding baked.
8. A Surloyn of roast Beef, a Chine or Ribb of Beef.
9. Minced Pyes, Steak Pye, or Hare, Pumpion, Artichoke, Urtible, Potatoes, an Oline or Pallate Pie,
Chaldron Pye, Giblet Pie, Calves head or feet Pie.
10. Loyn of Veal, Roast Venison.
11. A Pasty of Venison or Mutton.
12. A Pig Roasted, Leg of Mutton Roasted, Hare Roasted.

[]

13. Geese Roasted, Swan Roasted.
14. Capons or Hens Roasted.

Second Course.

- Oranges and Lemmons.
1. Lamb or Kid, Sallet of Herbs, Pease and French Beans, Rabbits.
 2. Sowed Pig, Capon, Swines head and feet.
 3. Rabbits roasted and larded, Widgeons, Teal, Dot-terells, Curlews, Ruffs.
 4. Ducks roasted and larded, Shovellers, Gulls, Hens,
Cranes, Bittorn.
 5. Teal or other Fowle, Woodcocks, Quailles.
 6. A made Dish or Batalia Pie, Sweet-bread Pie, Fried
Fish or Buttered Fish of any sort: as Pike, Salmon,
Dace, Muller, Turbut, Ray, Lump Fish, Plaice, Flounders, Soals, Lamprey, Eels.
 7. Neats - Tongues, Florentine of Tongues.
 8. Pigeons, wild or tame larded: Olines or Plovers,
Sparrows, Black-birds, Thrushes, Fieldfare, Railes.
 9. Sowed Capon, Sowed Eels or other Fish, Ray, Salmon, Conger.
 10. Pickled Mushrooms, Oysters and Anchovis, Lobsters.
 11. Orangado Pie, or Tarts of green Pease, Hips, Rice, Cheries, Goosberies, Plums, Prunes, Barberies with wet Suckers, Pippin Pie, Warden Pie, Quince Pie, Codling Tarts of diverse colours in puff paste, Quaking Pudding.
 12. Stur-

12. Sturgeon, Collar of Beef, Turbut, Pickled Puffins, Scallops, Cockles, Mussels, Sprawns, Shrimps, Crabs, Tortoise, Craw-fish, Snails.
13. Westphalia Bacon, Bolonia Sausages.
14. Turkey or Goose Pie, Marinare Flounders, Artichoke Pie, Smelts, cold Hare Pie, Selsey Cockles.
15. Jelly of five or six colours, Tapiacs, Fritters, Pancakes, Balls roasted.
16. Creams made of Godlings, Quince, Plums, Gooseberries of Almonds, Glouted Cream, Snow Cream, fresh Cheese and Cream, Syllabubs & Cream, Egg Pies.
17. Custards, White pots, Fools, Leach, Blamangers.
18. Day Farts of diverse colours, Farts Royal, Codlings and Cream, Cheese.

Third Course

1. March-pan-fer with several sorts of Sweet - Meats.
2. Preserves of wet Sweet - Meats in Plates as, Pears, Plums, Cherries, Quinces, Grapes, Raspals, Pippins, Oranges, Lemmons, young Walnuts, Apricocks, Peaches, &c. with their Syrup or other.
3. Dried Sweet-meats & Suckets of Oranges Lemmons, Citron: or, Conserve, or Candies, and Rock-Candies of Cherries, Apricocks, Plums, Damascus, Pippins, Pears, Angelica, Rosemary and Marygold Flowers, Pippins, Pears, Apricocks, Plums, Ringo roots: or Marmalet of Quinces, Damascus, Plums, Oranges, &c. Pasties made of Citron: Pippins, Apricocks, Rasbery, English Currans.
4. Bickets, Mackroons, naple Bisket, Italian Bisket, Comfeits round, Longs and Lofeng like, Gingerbread, Almond Cakes, Apricock Cakes, Lofenges, Quince Chips, Orange cakes, Marchpane Collops.
5. Sugar cakes, Iamballs, Iemehoes, Sugar Plate, Plum and Rasbury cakes, Cheese cakes.
6. Tree Fruit as Apples and Pears of diverse kinds, Cherries, Plums, Strawberies, Currans, Rapces, Walnut, Chestnuts, Filbertnuts, Dates, Grapes, Figs, Oranges, Lemmons, Apricocks, Peech, Dried Raisins and Currans, Prunes, Almonds blanched.

According as the season is for them, all which several things are mixt and interchangeably set on the Table according to the description of the Gentleman Sewer.

Cookery is an extraordinary, and an ordinary Art; the first exemplifieth in Dishes of such high Prices which none but Noble Hospitalities can reach unto, and those only Illustrate by new Terms of Art, more then any substantial solid Dish-meats, which in truth for all their costliness are meer Kick-shews, rather to please the Pallet with a delicate Ho-goo, then wholesome feeding. Whereas, the second may with less labour be better managed for the general good, and Treatments of meaner expences, given to Friends, Allies, and acquaintances; having handsome and relishing entertainment throughout all the Season in the Year: For I have found by Experience that some Country Cooks have out-gone, with mixtures easily prepared, and not too chargable to the Purse, those who have with cost made Hogg-podg Dish-meats, neither pleasing to the Pallet, or of credit to the Masters: But this is none of my business.

I have generally noted in great Feasts, Cooks have sent up their Dish-meats to the Table ad Libitum, according to their own will; some first Boiled Meats, then Baked Meats, then Roast Meats all together, &c. Other Cooks (but Gentlemen Sewers rather, whose Office it is to furnish Dishes on the Table) will fend them, one Boiled and one Baked, another Roasted, &c. Alternately Dish for Dish till the Table be furnished: and for that end I have observed gathered a Feast of twelve, fourteen, sixteen, or twenty Dishes for a considerable Feast for all times in the Year, noting several Dish-meats under one and the same figure, in the first and second Course intimating thereby, that if the Season of the Year will not afford one kind, it is probable it may another, except in cases of scarcity, or places of great distance.

[]

But let Cooks study new Dish-meats, and work on their Brains when they have done all they can; there is but four sorts of Meat which they can properly, and with safety work upon, viz. Flesh of Beasts, Flesh of Fowle, Flesh of Fish, and Field Fruits; and these again are according to their kinds, either Stewed, Boiled, Parboiled, Fried, Broiled, Roasted, Baked, Dashed, Pickled, Souced, or made into Sweet - Meats. Nil Ultra.

Sauces of all sorts, and of what Compounded.

Also Sauces of all sorts, and for most Dish-meats of Flesh, Fish or Fowle are by the Cooks Art compounded of these Ingredients.

Fatnings, as Butter, Gravy, Hogs-Grease, Sewer, Marrow, Lard.

Liquids, as Muskadine, Sack, Claret, White-wine, Sider, Vergis, Vineger, Aliger, Cream, Milk, Sallet, Oyle, Pickles of several pickled things, Water, Jellies of several sorts, Strong-Broth.

Chicknings, as Eggs, Bread or Sops, Biskets, Onions, Leeks, Chibals, Garlick, Artichoke bottoms, Sweet herbs chopped, Asperagus, Skerrets, Parsnips, Turnips, Green Pease, Colliflowers, Apples, Samphir, Anchovis, Blood, Capers, Olins, Mustard.

Sweetnings, as Sugar, Cinamon, Cloves, Mace, Pepper, Nutmeg, Salt, Goosberies, Barberries, Grapes, Raisins, Currans, Plums, Dates, Oranges and Lemmons and them candied, Mellacattors.

It is an easie thing to be a famous Cook, when he flows in all things to his desire; but he is the best Cook that shews his Art with small cost, and little expence of Fire.

But for Drink to these sorts of Meat we must go to the Buttlr, Yeoman of the Wine-Sellar and compounder of Liquors, and they will tell us that they have in their Custody these several sorts of Drinks.

Table-Beer.	Mum.
Ale.	Sack.
Sage-Ale.	White-wine.
Wormwood-Ale.	Claret.
Scurvy-Grass, or Purple.	Curran Wine.
Mint-Ale.	Couflip Wine.
Beer, mild and stale.	Jamaica Claret.

Punch.

Punch.
 Ipcras.
 Muskadin.
 Meath or Mead.
 Meheglin.
 Ulquebach.
 Stomach - Water.
 Aqua Mirabilis.
 Aqua Vitæ.

Aqua Cœlestis.
 Coffee.
 Chacolet.
 Tea.
 Sharbett.
 Raisin Wine.
 Raspberry Wine.
 Gillyflower Wine, &c.

A Bill of Fare for Lent - time, or other Fish or Fast - Days.

First Course.

Oysters if in Season.
 A Pudding Pie.
 Eggs and Butter.
 Rice Pottage or Barly broth
 Milk or Pease pottage.
 Stewed Oysters, Mussels,
 Cockles, Wilks.
 Buttered Eggs on Toasts.
 Buttered Turnips, Carrets,
 Parsnips, Potatos.
 Spinage Sallet boiled, or other cold or pickled Sal-lets.
 Boiled Rochet, or Gurnnet, or Flounders.
 A Jole of Ling.
 Stewed Carp.
 Oysters Chewits.
 Boiled Pike.
 Roast Eels, or fresh Herring.
 Haddock, fresh Cod, or Lobsters, or Crabs, or Whiting.
 Eel or Carp Pie.
 Made dish of Spinage.

Salt Eels.
 Souced Tutbut or Salmon.

Second Course.

Fried Soals.
 Stewed Oysters in Scollop shells.
 Fried Smelts.
 Congers head boiled.
 Baked Dish of Potatoes or Oyster Pie.
 A Spitch - cock of Eels.
 Quice Pie, or Tarts.
 Buttered Crabs.
 Fried Flounders or Flooks.
 Jole of fresh Salmon.
 Jole of Salmon.
 Fried Turbet.
 Cold Salmon Pie.
 Fried Skirts.
 Souced Conger.
 Spawn.
 Sturgeon.

The Names of Several Dish - Meats and Cooks Terms Alphabetically.

Andolian, is a kind of Pudding made of Hogs Guts filled with Spices, and one Gut drawn over another:
 some writ it Annolia.

Almon Bread, bread made of Almon.

Angelot, is Curds made of Milk Cream and Runnet, into thin Cheefe.

Alebury, Ale boiled with Sugar, Mace and Manchet.

A-la-Hugenotte, a Dish of Eggs dressed up with Gravey of roast Beef with boiled Mushromes and other Spices.

A-la-Sauces, Sauce made after the French Al-maigne or German fashion.

A-la-Doodie, is a French way of ordering any large Fowl, or Leg of Mutton, to be eaten cold with Mustard and Sugar: the thing is seasoned with Salt and Spice, Larded and Baked and kept cold.

[C]

A-la-Mode way, is the new or French way of dressing all manner of boiled or baked Meat.

Buttered Ale, is Ale boiled with Butter, Eggs and Sugar.

Batalia Pie, the same order of meat as in a Bisk, and put in a Pie.

Basting of Meat, is to Butter meat roasting at the Fire to keep it from burning, some do it with Butter, others clarified Suet, Claret Wine, Water and Salt, Cream and Eggs, &c.

Broth, is the liquor flesh is boiled in, being thickned with herbs and groats.

Beef, the flesh of Ox, Cow, or Bull.

Bisque or Bisk, a Dish-meat made of a Rack of Veal, a Knuckle of Mutton, Pigeons, Chickens, a Roast
 Capon minced: Sweet - breads, Marrow, Artichokes
 (and what you will) boiled or stewed together with Spices in water, and so Dishd up by Art.

Bisque, or Bisk Pie; is made of the like Ingredi-nces either of Flesh or Fish.

Bisket Bread or Cakes, is made of Flower, Sugar,
 Eggs, Caraway seeds, baked.

Blanch, is to take the skin of Almonds, also it is used for the taking off the top crust of Bread, and Lamb stones blanched, is to take the skin off, and blanch a Neats - Tongue.

Blanch Hanchet, is a fried Pudding made of Eggs and grated Bread.

Boile, is to put any meat into water, in a Pot over a Fire.

Boile Meat, are all boiled Dish - meats.

Blanchmanger, a made Dish of Cream, Eggs and Sugar, put into an open puffi paste bottom, with a loose cover.

Bredo Lardero, is an Italian term, and is the ordering of Tongues, Noses, Lips and Pallate of Beets, by boiling and blanching them whole, by halves or Gobbins:
 and served up in strong broth with Bacon interlarded.

Boionia Sausages, these are only made in September, they are Beef Guts filled with minced Pork and stamp: to which mixt Pepper, Cloves, Nutmegs, Salt, and Salt - Peter, Caraway seeds, and Cinamon: tied about a Finger long.

Blamanger, is a Capon roast or boile minced small, planched Almonds beaten to paste, Cream, Eggs, Grated
 Bread, Sugar and Spices boiled to a pap.

Breading of Meat, is Grate Bread and mix it with Flower, or do each it self: throwing it one meat roasted, and ready to draw of the spit.

Balls, those to fry are compounded, Fish or Fish, old
 Cheefe, Sugar Currans, made into paste: of which little Pasties, Toasts, Scallops and such like, are made for Garnishing: see Ranfoles.

Balls or Pot Balls to eat, see Dumpling.

Batter, is Flower Milk, Eggs and Spices, for the making of Pancakes, Fitters, and several other things for Feasts.

Bobillon, is a kind of Broth or boiled meat made of several things.

Chips or Italian Chips, is a paste made of fine Flower Gum Dragon steeped in Rose Water, rowled thin and cut them in peeces, and speck them with diverse colours.

L

Collar

Collar of Beef, is Beef half boiled and rowled up with Spices and sweet Herbs chopped small in it, and then baked in a Pot: Eels or Congers are so collared and Souced.

Calves Chaldron, the Intrails of a Calfe.

Chine, the Back-bone of any Beast or Fish.

Clouted Cream, is Milk, Cream and Rose water, get over a soft Fire for a Day and Night and it will be thick, then Sugar it well; it is made of Cream alone gon thick, which in some places is called thick Milk, or Bono-thlober.

Capilotadoc, or a made Dish-meat, or kind of Custard, called a Fool.

Collops, slices of Bacon.

Custard, open Pies, or without lids, filled with Eggs and Milk: called also Egg-Pie.

Cheesecakes, a cake of paste filled with Cheese Curds Currans, Eggs, Spice, with other Ingredients made by Art.

Cream and fresh Cheese, is Cheese, Curds and Cream.

Cream, is the top or setling of new Milk: there is Rice Cream, Piramidis Cream, Sack Cream, &c. made by Art with those ingredients.

Cracknels, is a Bread made of fine Flower, Coriander seeds, Sugar and Currans, made in form of a Pie.

Carbolion, is a liquor of Wine Water and Salt to boile Fish in.

Caudle, is made of Ale, Oate-Meal (or Eggs) Mace, Sugar, and Sliced Bread.

Catver, is a term used to a Flook or Flounder, when it is to be boiled in Wine, Vinegar, and all sorts of Spices: and so kept in it.

Chewit, or small Pie; minced or otherwise.

Chivering Pudding, is an Hogs longest and fatest Gut, filled with Nutmeg, Sugar, Ginger, Pepper, and sliced Dates boiled.

Carbonado, is to cut and slash any cold joynt of Meat and Salt it and then broiled it before the Fire: or Raw peeces of Meat thus broiled on the Fire, are termed of some Carbonadoes (of Beef because that is most used so) others call them Rashers of Beef.

Comfits, are round, long or square pellets of Sugar made by the Art of a Confectioner.

Champignons in Fricassee, is Mushrooms fried: they are also called Fungi and in English Toad Stools.

Deer, the flesh of Buck or Doe.

Dishmeat.

Dumpling, a Pudding of Meal or Grated Bread, Milk, Eggs, Suet, Currans &c. boiled in a cloth in a Pot: see Pudding.

Dredging, or breading of Meat.

Draw, as draw this Pullet, is to take the Guts out of its Belly.

Dress, is to prepare any Fowl for the Spit and Fire.

Eggs in Moon shine, are Eggs broken and boiled in Saller-Oyle, till the Yolks become something hard, and so are eaten with slices of Unions fried in Oyle, Butter, Verjuice and Nutmeg, Salt: like Poached Eggs, with Butter, Vinegar and Pepper.

Fricassee, or Fricassee, or Fricassee, or Fricate: are varieties of Meat boiled together in a Broth.

Fritters, are small Pancakes, having slices of Apples in the Batter.

Florentine, is a made Dish of any sort of Flesh, or Fowl, minced, with one part made in Balls, and the other part with Butter and Yolks of Eggs dressed up, which may be served in a Dish, Pie, or Patty-pan.

Furmetry, or Furmety.

Forced or Farced, a Forced Leg of Mutton, is to stuff or fill it (or any Fowl with a minced Meat of Beef, Veal &c. with Herbs and Spices.

Fry, is to order Flesh or Fish for eating, in a Pan with Butter.

Foole, is a kind of Custard, but more crudelly; being made of Cream, Yolks of Eggs, Cinamon, Mace boiled: and served on Sippets, with sliced Dates, Sugar, and white and red Comfits, strawed thereon.

Farcing, is stuffing of any kind of Meats with Herbs, or the like: some write it Fozling and Farling. To Farce is to stuff any thing.

Fuel the Fire, see Timber.

Force Meat, is Meat with a stuffing of Herbs, or other things made to that purpose.

Fillet of Veal or Beef, is a round peece cut of a Leg of Veal or peece of Beef and stuffed with Herbs.

Flee, pull of the skin.

Ginger-Bread, is made of Grated Bread, Ginger, Cinnamon, Sugar, with other Spices made into a paste with Rose-water.

Giblets, the Entrails of any Fowl, especially the Goose, as Heart, Gissern, Liver, Head, and great Gutt.

Gruel, is a kind of Broth made only of Water, Grotes bruised, and Currans, some add Mace, sweet Herbs, Butter and Eggs, and Sugar: some call it Pottage Gruel.

Grand Sallet, are of several sorts: some all sorts of pickles laid orderly in a great Dish, with a tree or some devise set in the middle of it, others of sorts of Souced Meats cut in slices, and others with all sorts of coloured Jellies.

Grand Dish-meat, is the chief, or Principal Dish in a Feast, whether it be Flesh or Fowl, which is generally filled with variety of things.

Signet of Mutton.

Gobbin, or Gobbet, or Gubbins; Meat cut in large peeces, as large as an Egg.

Galentine, is a sauce for any kind of roast Fowl, made of Grated Bread, beaten Cinnamon and Ginger, Sugar, Claret wine, and Vinegar, made as thick as Grewell.

Garnished, is to dress the sides of Dishes, to set them forth in great Feasts with Salt, Leaves, Flowers, Beers, Turnips, Carrots, and other kind of things, according to the Cooks ingenuity. Some say Garnish the Dishes.

Sammon of Bacon, or Ham.

Savoy, the fat as runs from Beef, or other Meat, in roasting.

Grillade, is a Broiled Mef, or Meat broiled on a Grid-Iron.

Gelly, see Jelly.

Hach, is a Dish-meat made of any kind of flesh minced or in Gobbets stewed in strong broth with Spices, and served up in a Dish with Sippets: to Hach is to stew any Meat that is cold. The French call it Hach or Hachee.

Paggas pudding, is either a Sheep, Calves, or Hogs great Gut, or Belly Gut filled with a Calves, or Sheeps Chaldron minced, Eggs, Cream, Sugar, grated Bread, Salt, Currans, Marrow, Sewet, and some sweet Herbs, and so boiled up: the ordinary way is with Blood, Grapes, Herbs and Sewet.

Pam or Westphalia Pam, is a Leg of Pork (if right, of a young Cub, or Bear) Salted dried and made black.

Pachis, Pachee, or Pach, see Hash.

Pautgout, a thing that hath an high taste, viz. a Ho. goo.

Jelly, a kind of oily or fat liquor drawn from Calves or Neats feet boiled.

Jamballs, a kind of sweet Bread, made up in rouls, compounded of fine Flour, Eggs, Cinnamon, and Sugar. Some call them Jamballs.

Jocras, a compound Wine made of Sack and divers Spices.

Jegote, see Giggett.

Jemelloes, is a Paste made like Butter, of fine Sugar, Yolks of Eggs, Musk, Carraway seeds seafed, Gum Dragon steeped in Rosewater and Flour run through a Butter squirt, and made into what fashion you please.

Interlarded, Bacon that hath Fat and then Lean, then fat and then lean, between one another.

Tole of Sturgion or Salmon, is the two quarters of them, the head parts being at them.

Indoice, is to rub the in-side of the Coffin of a Pie, with Butter very thin.

Leach, a kind of Jelly made of Cream, Ising-glass, Sugar and Almonds, with other compounds.

Links, a kind of Pudding, the skin being filled with Pork Flesh, and seasoned with diverse Spices, minced and tied up at distances.

Liverdug puddings, is the Hogs gut filled with the Liver boiled, and grated, and sifted through a Cullender, to which add grated Bread, Milk, Herbs, Salt, and other Spices and Sugar.

Lumber pie, made of Flesh or Fish minced and made in Balls or Rouls, with Eggs and hard Eggs, and so Baked in a Pye with Butter.

Lyth, or Lything, is Oatmeal or bruised Groats that thickens Broth.

Lear or Leir of an Egg, the White after it is beaten into a foam.

Larded Meat, is when long slices of Bacon are run through several places of it; as a Duck or Turkey Larded or interlarded in the Breast.

Hash, is to stamp and beat minced Flesh into a Paste almost.

Hanchet, is White Bread made in Rouls, broad in the middle, and sharp at the ends.

Hade Dish, is a Dish compounded or made of several sorts of Meat minced, or cut in pieces, stewed or Baked in paste, being liquor'd with Wine, Butter and Sugar.

Harchpane, is a round Cake raised in the edges with a Border, made of Almonds, Sugar, and Rose water beaten to a paste.

Head or Heath, a drink made of Ginger, Sugar, Honey and Spring water boiled together.

Hethglin, a drink made of all sorts of wholefom

Herbs boiled and strained with Honey and Water, and set to work with Bearm, as Ale or Beer.

Hackerons, see Hackrooms.

Helacatons, a kind of Fruit.

Hince, is to cut and chop Flesh very small. Hince-pies are made of any Flesh cut small, and mixt with Raisins, Currans, Sugar.

Hustard, is a kind of sharp biting sauce, made of a small seed bruised and mixt with Vinegar.

Hurine or Hartinate, is to pickle any sort of Fish, for to keep them for half a year or a year together, by frying the Fish crisp in Oil, and putting them into a pickle of Wine, Vinegar, sweet herbs and Spices, with Lemon peels.

Harrow, the fat in large Beasts Bones. Harrows-pies are made with it, with several other Ingredients, as sweet-breads, Potatoes, Artichokes, Bacon, Eggs with Fruit and Spices.

Haremsd pies, is a round Pie to be eaten cold, and is made of a Pig Boned and Quartered, and Eels intermixt with Spices.

Hackrooms, a kind of roul of sweet Bread made of the same stuff as the Bisket is made of.

Milk pottage, is made of Water, Oat-Meal, a little Milk or Cream, Salt, and Fresh Butter; so of Rice Pottage, and other kinds.

Hidcalf, the Intrals of a Calf, as Lights, Liver, Heart, and its appurtenances.

Meat, Beef of Oxe or Cow; but it is most used to the Tongue, as Neats Tongue.

Ollo, is made of Flesh or Fish Minced, putting to it sweet herbs, grated Bread, Eggs, Salt, Nutmeg, Pepper and Barberries, and make them into little Balls or Rouls; and so put into a Pie with variety of other Meats and Fruit.

Ollo podrida, is a Rump of Beef, Bolonia Sausages, Neats Tongues boiled with Beef, Mutton, Venison, Pork cut in Gobbits as big as Eggs, also Carrots, Turneps, Onions, Cabbage, with a Faggot of sweet Herbs, &c. stewed together; then all sorts of Fowl stewed with Bread, Marrow, Artichokes, hard Yolks of Eggs all served together in strong Broth finely stewed up; others call it Ollo podrida, an Hotch-potch.

Olives, or Olives of Beef or Mutton, are the same cut in thin slices, and hacket with a Knife; then with a farling of sweet herbs, hard Eggs, Beef Suet, or Lard Minced, Spices and Salt stowed or laid, on the slices, and so rolled up, and Roasted or Baked, and served up with a sauce of the Stuffing, Verjuice, and Gravy, and Sugar.

Omlot of Eggs, is Eggs beaten together with Minced suet, and so fried in a Pan, about the quantity of an Egg together, on one side, not to be turned, and served with a sauce of Vinegar and Sugar. An Omlot or Frostle.

Ollo, an Hotch-potch of several ingredients.

Peor Knights, are slices of White Bread dipt in Eggs, Cream and Sugar, fryed in Rose Water and Butter.

Puffe, is a roll of soft paste, made of Curds, Cream, Eggs and Flower, and so fryed in Suet purified.

Donals of a sheep, is all the Intrals, see Hidcalf.

Petipetes, are Pies made of Carps and Eels first roasted, and then minced, and with Spices made up in Pies.

Parmisan, or Parmisant, Old Cheese 7, 8, or 9 years of Age.

Parboile, is to half Boil any sort of Flesh or Fowl.

Bo-tage, is strong Broth of Meat, with Herbs and Spices Boiled.

Pottage, is the Broth of Flesh or Fowl, with Herbs and Oatmeal boiled therein.

Paste, is fine Meal or Flower, Water and Butter mixed up.

Past Royal, is made of Flour, Sugar, Almond Milk, Butter, Eggs, Rose Water, Saffron, Ambergrise and Musk worked up all cold together.

Puffe-paste, is made of Flour, cold Water and Butter, and laid in fleeces, with Butter between each, which makes it rise and swell in the Baking.

Pelipate or petite, is a French way of Mincing meat for Pies, with Lard cut amongst the Meat.

Panado, is a kind of Caudle, made of Water, grated Bread, Currans, Mace, Cinnamon, Sack, or White Wine and Sugar, with Yolks of Eggs boiled.

Pap, of Nurfes called papes, is Milk and Flour boiled together.

Pye, is any sort of Meat made up in a piece of fine Paste, made into diverse forms, as round, square cornered, &c. and called according to their filling, as Mince, Steak, Chaldron, Umble, Artichoke, or Eel Pies.

Pull, is to take the Feathers off Fowl; Pull off the Feathers.

Pine-Moiet, is a Manchet of French Bread, with a hole cut in the top, and all the crum taken out, and filled with a composition of rost or boiled Capons minced and stamped to a Paste, with sweet Herbs, Eggs and Spices, &c. and so boiled in a cloth; and serve it in strong Broth, with several sorts of Fowls about it.

Poulet, is hot Milk poured on Ale or Sack, having Sugar, grated Bisket, Eggs, with other ingredients boiled in it, which goes all to a Curd.

Puffs, are slices of Lemon dipt in a Batter made of Eggs and sweet herbs minced small and Fried, after Sugared.

Pudding pie, is made of Bread, or Flour, or Rice and Milk Baked in a Dish.

Pudding, made of Groats and Blood and sweet herbs, and put in Swine or Beefs Guts, and Boiled.

A Pudding, or Ball, or Dumpling, or Pot-Ball, is Flour, Bread, Milk and Eggs, with Sugar, Raisins, Currans, and Suet minced mixt together and put in a Bag, or made stiff into a Ball, and boiled. Some call this a Bag Pudding.

Press, is a cold Dishmeat made of a Swines Feet, Ears, Snout, and Cheeks boiled to a Jelly with Spices, make a lay of it, and press it square in a Cloth, then serve it up in slices.

Pancakes, is made of Batter fried in a thin Cake in a Pan.

Pocht Eggs, are Eggs broken into boiling Water, and quickly taken out and eaten with Butter, Vinegar and Pepper.

Pickle, is a kind of drink that souced meats are kept in, and Fruit for Salleting is preserved with, generally it is made of Salt and Water, or Vinegar, Dill, and some other Spices.

Pistaches.

Pie-paste, is fine Flour, Butter, Eggs, Kneaden, or Moulden together.

Pasty, is paste rouled broad, and the Meat being laid in Order on it, it is turned over, and made up on three sides, with garnishes about.

Quaking pudding, it is made of crumbs of Bread, Cream, Eggs and Spices.

Quodlings, or Codlings, are green Apples boiled.

Quinee pie, or Coffin for Quinces, is an open crust set in corners, into which Baked Wardens or Quinces Preserved are put.

Quelque chose, is a kind of Fricassee made of Eggs, Cream, Nutmeg, Salt, Rosewater; Sugar and Butter, and slices of Apples fried in Cakes.

Quiddony, is a kind of quaking Jelly made of fair Water and Pippins, or Quinces or Plums well sugared, and put into Boxes.

Rasher, is a slice of Beef Fried or Broiled.

Ransoles, are kind of small Balls rolled up in fine Past made of these compositions, Beet leaves beaten, Sweetbreads minced, Marrow, Herbs, Raisins, Dates, Naple Bisket grated and made in a paste.

Roast, is to turn Meat on a Spit before the Fire, till the Bloody part be taken away.

Roast meat, any thing roasted.

Rand or Ran of Sturgtion, a thick piece out of the middle of the Sturgtion.

Sauce, is any Liquor or liquid thing to be eaten with dry Meats, yet every Dishmeat hath its peculiar Sauce or Sallet.

Sallet, is either Sweet Herbs, or Pickled Fruit, as Cucumbers, Samphire, Elder-Buds, Broom-Buds, &c. eaten with Roasted meats.

Sausages, are Porket Guts, or Hogs or Sheep Guts filled with Minced Pork, Suet, Salt, Pepper, and tied up in Links about a Fingers length.

Scotch Collops, are thin slices of Mutton or Beef, hackt and salted, then Broiled up quick; serve them up with Vinegar and Butter.

Stoffado, is a term for the Stuffing of any joint of Meat, or Belly of any Fowl, or the like.

Sops, are Broaths made diverse ways, according to the Cooks Art, or rather Sauces to be under Dishmeats, though such are generally eaten with spoons.

Sop, is Toasted Bread steeped in Sack, Wine, or Ale, &c.

Sooops, a kind of sweet pleasant Broth, made rich with Fruit and Spices.

Souce, or souce Drink, is a Liquor made of Salt and Water, or Vinegar, to preserve Flesh and Fish in; each thing having (in a manner) a peculiar Souce liquor to preserve it from stinking or putrifying.

Souced Meat, is either Flesh or Fish boiled whole, or rouled up in Collars, or like Brawn, with sweet herbs and spices; and are to be eaten cold, and kept in Souce, Pickle, or the like.

Steaks, are the Breast, Loin, or Neck of Veal or Mutton cut into pieces, the Bones with the Flesh, and either Boil, Fry, or make them into Pies, seasoning them with with Salt, Pepper, sweet herbs minced, Nutmeg, Ginger, &c.

Sugar plate, is White Sugar sifted, White of Eggs, Gum Dragon and Rose Water beaten into a Paste, then moulded into any form, and so Print it.

Stewed Broth, is strong Broth boiled up with Raisins, Currans, Prunes, Mace, &c.

Stewed Meat, is to boil Meat gently over a soft fire.

Stink, a kind of Pottage made of Beef Broth with sweet Herbs, sorts of Spices, Marrow Bones, and thickened with grated Bread.

Snow Cream, is made of Cream, Eggs, Rose-water and Sugar, beaten into a Froth like Snow.

Stimub, is made of Vinegar and New Milk, the Card mixt with Cream, Sugar, Currans, Cinnamon.

Spitch-cock, is a dish of large Eels Fried cut into 3 or 4 pieces, with their skins on.

Sippets, are slices of Manchet, to set out dishes (as a Garnish) especially in Broths.

Slash, or Scorch, is to cut and scorch it cros with a Knife before it be Fried.

Slice, a thin piece of Bread or Flesh.

Searce, or Sift, is to take fine Meal from the course.

Strain, is to force a liquid and soft thing through a Cloth, to keep it from dross and dreggs.

Salmagundi, an Italian dish-meat made of cold Turkey and other Ingredients.

Scald, is to put any Fowl or the like into hot boiling Water, and take it out again.

Spit such and such a thing, is to put the Broach through it.

Tansy Cake, is made of grated Bread, Eggs, Cream, Nutmeg, Ginger, mixt together and Fried in a Pan with Butter, with green Wheat and Tansy stamped.

Taffaty Carts, are made like little Pasties, round square, or long, the Paste being rolled thin, and Apples in Lays, strewed with Sugar, Fennel seeds, and Limon Peel cut small; then lced in the Baking.

Coxtelleti, or little Pasties.

Coaks, are shives of Bread, dried, and made hard and hot before a Fire.

Tripes, are the Belly of a Cow or Oxe, cut in pieces and souced, and after fried with Butter, and eaten with Mustard.

Trotter Pie, is an Apple Pie mash'd in the Crust after it is Baked, having Cream and Yolks of Eggs beaten together, put in it and stirred up.

Crissel, is Cream boiled with Sugar, Mace and Cinnamon; when it is Blood warm, put in it a little Runnet which thickens it, being cold, serve it up with Sugar scraped on it.

Carts, are Apples laid in Paste, in Dishes, Patty pans, or round Pies, Stewed or Baked with Sugar and Orangado, or Lemond in fucket cut small. Tarts are thus ordered of all other kind of Fruits.

Timber the Fire, is to mend the Fire, make it burn better, by putting more Fuel of Wood or Coles to it.

Cruls, or Crulsing, is the dressing and ordering of Fowl for the Pot or Spit, by turning up the Legs and Wings.

Turn round, is to keep an even hand in turning the Spit, by the Turn-spit.

Gerjuice, is the juice of Crabs, or four Apples.

*

Vinegar, is White or Claret Wine turned sour.

Amble Pie, is a Pie made of the Intrals of a Deer, as Heart, Liver, &c.

Wassell, is a drink of Ale, roasted Apples, Sugar and Cinnamon mixt. Of some called Lambs-Wool.

Whipt Cream, it is beaten thick with a Whisk, then eaten with Cream and Sugar.

White-pot, it is a kind of Custard, and is made in a Crust or Dish, with these compositions of Cream, Eggs, Pulp of Apples, Sugar, Mace, Cinnamon, and Sippets of White Bread.

Walm, a little seething or boiling up of any Liquor in a Pot.

Wibos me quidos, is the Spanish way of dressing Eggs, which is to set them over the Fire with Sack, Sugar, Nutmeg, Salt, and juice of Lemon, and let them heat till they be thick.

XXX. He beareth Sable, a Baker, with a Peel in his both hands Bendways, with a Loaf of Bread upon it, Or. Others who give a fuller description of it, Blazon it thus, a Baker with his Peel in his hands bendwise, with a Loaf thereon, Or, a Cap on his head, his Waistcoat stripped above his Elbows, Argent, Breeches and Hose, Grey, Shooes, Sable; having an Oven fixed to the dexter side, Gules. This was the ancient Crest of the Bread Bakers of Chester, which now they have relinquished.

Terms used by Bakers.

Grind the Corn, to put it on the Mill to crush and brufe it.

Dress the Meal, is to sift it through a Sive, to take the fine from the course.

Fine Flower, the Dant or Heart of the Corn.

Bran or Scuffling, the Husk of the Corn.

Bolt the Meal, is to turn it through a courser cloth, to make a courser Flower. This is called a Bolter.

A Batch, is as much Flower made into Dough, as is baked at a time.

Season the Liquor, is to put Salt or Spices in the hot Water, that is to Knead the Meal.

Leaven, is Dough kept unbaked till it be Sower.

Leaven the Batch, is to put the Leaven broken in Water, and hide it into the middle of the Meal to sower the whole Batch.

Blend it up, is to mixt the Flower and Liquor to make it into a Paste.

Knead it, working the Flower and Liquor together.

Dough or Paste, is the Batch unbaked.

Break it, is to beat it with a long round thick Beater.

Couch the Dough, is the taking of it up as the Breaking puts it abroad.

Weigh the Dough, is to weigh it so and so according to the Prices of the Loaves.

Mould it, make it into Loaves, or Roulls.

Cut it, is the running the Knife round the Loafe, or Roull.

Pick

Pick the Loafe, is to make little holes on the top of the Loafe with a Bodkin.

Seal or Mark the Loafe, is to set the Bakers name or mark on it, that it may be known whose Bread it is if faulty, or not well made.

Set in, is the putting of the Loafe into the Oven.

Draw the Bread, when it is well Baken, then it is taken out of the Oven.

Fire the Oven, put Fire and Fuel in it, to heat

Sweep the Oven, is to make it clean from Ashes.

Ashes, is the out-cast of the Firing.

Close the Oven, is to draw the stock before the Oven Mouth.

Stop the Oven, is to Lute about the Oven stock, with Clay or Dirt out of the Street, to keep the heat in.

Several sorts of Bread.

White Bread, in Loaves, Roulls or Cakes: which is of pure fine Flower.

Wanquent, or Roul bread; called also a Wigg.

Boulsted Bread, or Wheaten Bread; being coarser than White, and worked up with Barne or Yest.

Brown Bread, or Brown-George: the blackest and coarsest Bread, being the Meal and Bran together.

French Bread, a light spungy Bread kneaden with Eggs.

Leaven Bread, a close well made Bread, worked up with Leaven.

Tannock Bread, a Sower Bread made of Oates.

Tamballs, a sweet Bread made up in Roulls.

Cracknel Bread, Kneaden with Saffron & Currans.

Bisket Bread, a sweet Bread made of fine Flower, Eggs and Sugar.

Almond Bread, made of fine Flower, Sugar and Almonds.

Backeron, a Sweet Bread made in Roulls.

Barra Pickled, a light Bread made in round Cakes.

Date-Bread, made of Oate-Meal Leavened.

Bread made of Roots, as Ground-Artichoke, Potatos, Turnips, &c.

Hoyle Bread, made of Bean and Pease, &c. with Scuttings of other Corn.

XXXIII, He beareth Azure, a Tanner working at his Beam, on a Hill: Others term it a Tanner at his Beam Fleshing of an Hide, proper. But if the Reader will have the particulars of it, then thus: He beareth a Tanner (working at his Beam, or) Fleshing of an Hide, his Apparel Purple, his Apron, Hose, Beam and Foot, Or; Fleshing Knife, Argent: the rest proper. This is the Crest of the Worshipful Company of Tanners of the City of Chester.

Terms of Art belonging to Tanners.

Scutching the Bark, is cleansing it from Moss, and the rough, crusty outward Bark.

[]

Belwing the Bark, is chopping it into small pieces.

Grinding the Bark, is putting it under the Mill to crush it very small.

Drying the Bark, is to dry it that it may Grind.

Setting down.

Stretching.

Laying down.

Ouse, is the Water in which the Bark hath been steeped: Tanners-Ouse is of some termed so, when the Bark and Waters is together.

Turfe or Tanners - - - that is the Bark cast out of the Can-Pits, which when it hath for a time lien for the Water to run out, it is wrought into Turfes, which dried is good fire Fuel.

The Wett-Glover.

The Trade and Occupation of a Glover, is in all respects answerable to the Tanner, both using one and the same way of work, with the same kind of Instruments, only in this they differ; the Tanner is for Beasts Hydes, as Oxen, Cows, Horses and Calves, being thick and strong skins for which Tanning they use Oake Bark. The Glover is for Sheep, Goats, Lambs and Casting skins which are slender, thin and gentle: for the dressing whereof they use only Lime, and Bran; and this doth easily appear if you read the names of their Instruments, only I do confels they differ something in their Terms of Art.

Terms used in the Art of a Wett-Glover.

Lyming, piting the skins with Lime and Water.

Digging, is hanging of many skins together.

Washing to pull, is cleansing them from Lyme.

Hanging, is to put them on a Horse or pale after they are washed that the Water may run off.

Pulling is stripping the Wooll of the skin.

Pelts, are the skins when the Wooll is taken off.

Working, is to lay them on the Beam and with the Fleshing knife and Vealing knife, to scrape off the lime and cleanse them from their Fleshyness.

Drenching, is the putting of the dressed skins into a liquor made of Barn and Water.

Drawing the Pits.

Pressing.

Allooming.

Drying, hanging them on ropes, lines, or laying them in the Sun on grassy Ground to dry.

Washing, is to scour them in warm Water and Eggs to make them fast.

Plumping.

Witching, is to rub them on a Withen, bent Iron, which makes the Leather soft and plump.

Pareing.

Calwing, is the treading of the Leather in a Trough frize.

Frizeing, is the working of the skin Woolly on one side.
Shammo, or Shammo Frizeing; is to make it Woolly on both sides like a peece of cloath.

The Currier.

This is the Dresser of Tanned Leather, for when the Tanner hath done his part, then the Currier he works the same so as it becomes soft, gentle, and serviceable for many uses and purposes; for without his Art, the Shoemakers, nor Sadlers and several other Trades could not make use of it, neither would it be good for any thing, save Cloutt Leather.

Terms used in the Curriers Art.

Scouring or Washing.
Shaving, is the taking down of the thickness of the Leather.
Dying or Liquoring.
Dying.
Rowling and Beating, is the beating it on the Pin block.
Scowering, is to cleanse it with scowering.
Colouring, is to make it either black, red, yellow, blew, &c.
Graining, is to work it into rounds and squares by making small Crevices or Veins in the surface of the skin.
Stickenning, is to make the Leather smooth and bright as if it shined.

XXXII. He beareth Gules, a Butcher with an Axe, in his right hand over his Head, and his left holding of a Swines head upon a Block, (as if he were about to cleave it) all proper. This is the Crest belonging to the name of Slaughter.

A Demy Butcher, with an Axe erected in his right hand, is the Crest of Dalsberg; a German.

Terms used by Butchers in their Slaughtering.

Strike down, is the term of killing an Ox or Cow, which is by giving him a blow or two on the Forehead with the round end of the Ax.
Kill, or Slaughter Sheep, or Calf.
Slaughter-house, the place where they kill their Meat.
Shambles, the place where Butchers Meat is Sold and Bought.

Butchers Terms for the several Parts and Joynts in a Cow, or Ox.

Beef, is the Flesh of either Bull, Cow, or Ox.
The four Quarters.

[]

The further Quarter.
 The hinder Quarter.
 The Chin, is the Back-bone.
 The Beast Cheek, is one side of the Head.
 The Head, is the whole Head.
 The Beats-Tongue, is the Tongue of Cow, Bull, or Ox.
 The Roote of the Tongue.
 The Beats Feet, are the Feet cut off at the Knees and Cambrel Joynts.
 The Belly, or Tripp.
 The Blood, and Puddings.

In the Farther Quarter.

The Shoulder, is when it is cut long from the Breast and Ribs, which being again divided hath
 The Top of the Shoulder.
 The Hogh.
 The Narrow Bone.
 The Neck piece, or Bloody end.
 The Breast, is all under the Shoulders: which being cut through the middle is called:
 The Upper end of the Breast.
 The Lower end of the Breast.
 The Sticking Draught, is a part of the Breast when it is cut long-ways over cross the Bones: having part of the Neck at,
 The Ribs.
 The Top of the Ribs.

In the Hinder Quarter.

The Sirloyn, is the top part of the hinder Quarter cut through the middle longways, which being cut in two, they are called,
 The Haidens Bone.
 The Cailick; or Rump, if it have the Rump at it.
 The Lift or Buttock, is the Flethy part of the Thigh which being cut and opened: then it is termed,
 The Out-side of the Lift, is that where the fat is.
 The In-side of the Lift, or Buttock; is the inside of the Thigh.
 The Narrow Bone, it is the Bone in the Buttock.
 The Bed of Beef, is the Belly or lower part of the hinder Quarter cut long ways, which being divided is.
 The Flank, is the bottom of the Belly, next the Pissel, or Udder.
 The Baking Draught, is the higher side of the Bed.
 The Udder.

The several Parts or Joynts of a Sheep or Calfe.

Calfe, is the Flesh of a Calfe.
Old Calfe or Young Beef, of some termed a Runner.

Runner or Running Veal, is the Flesh of a Calf a Year old, or thereabouts.

Mutton, the Flesh of a Sheep.

Lamb or Kid, is the Flesh of a young sucking Lamb.

Sheep Punnicies, is the Head, Heart, Lights, Liver and Wind-Pipe of a Sheep all hanging together.

Lambs Punnicies, is the same of a Lamb: or Lambs Head and Purtenances.

Lambs-Stones, Sweet-Bread, and Kidney or Lully.

Calves-Feet, eight Feet makes a pair.

Calves-Head, and Moidcaif: is the Heart, Lights, and Liver, and its Appurtenances.

A Side of Mutton or Veal, is the half of a Sheep or Calf: the further and hinder quarter joyned together.

In the Farther Quarters.

The Shoulder.

The Breast.

The Rack either of Veal or Mutton; is the top part of the Breast that as is half of the Back-bone, this being cut in two, are called

The Head end of the Rack, it is that next the Head.

The Lower end of the Rack.

The Calves Chaldron, are all the Intrells, Belly, Puddings, Manifolds, &c.

In the Hinder Quarters.

The Legg.

The Loin.

A Rowl of Veal, is a peece cut from the Fleishy part of the Leg of Veal.

Suett, is the fat that cleaves to the Loin.

Foynts, or parts of a Boar, Swine or Hogg,

Brawn, is the Flesh of a Boar.

Pork, is the Flesh of a Swine or Hogg.

Bacon, is Swins Flesh Salted and Dried.

The Cheeks, or Swins Cheek, is the Head cut streight down the middle from Crown to the Snout.

Souce, is the Swins head, Ears, and Feet, boiled and pickled in Brine, made of small Bear, or Water and Salt.

The Quarters, two farther Quarters; two hinder Quarters.

A Side of Pork, is the half of the Swine, the farther and hinder quarter, having the Legs cut off.

Swines Grease or Lard, or Swines Lease of fat.

A Fitch of Bacon, is the whole side of Pork, having the four Hoghs cut off, when it is Salted and Dried.

A Sammon of Bacon, is the Thigh and Buttock part of the Fitch of Bacon.

[]

A Pam of Bacon, is when it is Salted and Dried with the Hogh or Thigh at.

Farther Quarter,

The Hand of Pork, is the farther Hogh.

The Breast.

The Rack.

The Middle peece.

The Spar-Ribs, the Ribs when they are cut from the sides of such Pork as is intended for Bacon.

Hinder Quarters,

The Leg, is the hinder Thigh or Hogh.

The Loin.

The Middle peece.

XXXIII. He beareth Vert, a Smith with his Hammer working at his Anvile, all proper; or more particularly, a Smith with his Hammer in his right hand elevated, as high as his Head; in his left hand, a Pair of Tongues holding a peece of Iron on the Anvile, Argent: the Anvile or Stiddy, Or: Cap Azure, turned up Ermin: Doublet, Breeches and Hose gray, Apron of a dirty swarthy colour, Shoes Sable. And is born by the name of Smith, a Dutch-Man.

A Demy Smith, holding his broad faced Hammer in his right hand, Cloaths Gules: is the Crest of Goldbeater.

Terms used by Smiths in their Trade,

Blow up the Fire, is to make the Fire Burn, some say blow up the Coals.

Not feel the weight of the Hammer, is when Iron is so cold that it will not beat forth.

Red Sear, is when Iron is too hot, that it breaks or cracks under the Hammer in working between hot and cold.

An Heat, is when the Iron is made of the colour of the Fire.

Blood red Heat, is when the Iron wants a little hammering to smooth it.

Flame or white Heat, is when it is ready to the forming of that thing it is intended for.

Welding or a Sparkling heat, is when it is to joyn with another peece of Iron.

Clew, is to Batter or draw out a peece of Iron.

Double up, is the laying of one peece of Iron on another, by turning the end up, and working it into one solid peece.

Up-set, is when at a heat the Iron is beaten back into the Body of the work; this is often done when a thing is made too thin, or too narrow.

Seat Rod, or Punch Rod; is With or Wra-then stick turned about the Head of a fire punch to hold it on the hot Iron, while it is striking through or making a hole in it.

FOR

Forgering, is beating out hot Iron into any shape.
Brazing, is Sodering of two peeces of Iron together of the edges of any round thing, as a Hoope.
Loam, is a kind of mixture of Clay and Horfe-dung, which is put about any peece of Iron that is to be soder-
ed.
Cold Chissel, are all sorts of Chissels used to cut cold
Iron.
Cold Punch, is such as is used to punch holes through cold Iron.
Punching, is making a hole in any peece of Iron with a Punch.
Ridetting, is the battering of an Iron shank or pin, so that it fall not out of the hole it is put into.
Drill, is to bore a hole with an Instrument called a Drill.
Hammer Hardening, is hardning Iron or Steel with much beating it with a Hammer, the Iron being cold.
Screw, is a spindle of Iron cut into a Wreath.
Thrid of a Screw, is that part as stands up.
Grove of a Screw, is the hollow or sinking part between the Thrids.
Worm in a great Screw.
Box, is the Screw box in which the Screw turneth.
Twisting of Iron, is the wreathing of a square bar when it is in a flame Heat.
Cold Hardening, is the Hardning of Iron after the work upon it is finished: by heating it red hot and quenching it in Water, or by quenching it in Chamber-ly, or White-wine Vinegar wherein Bay Salt and the Powder of a Cows horn hath been put.
Healing of Steel, is to make it soft, that it may file or be Engraven upon: is by heating it red hot, and let it coole.
Hardning or Tempering of Steel, is quenching
it in Water being red hot.
Let it down, is the making of a Steel spring softer if it be too hard.

The Farrier.

This is a Kind of man of the Black-Smith, and therefore may well succeed him: he is described by either Bleeding, Shooring, or Dressing of the Wounded back of a Horfe: and sometime by giving him a Drench or Drink out of a Horn.

Terms used by the Farrier as to Horse-Shooring.

Bare the Hoofe.
Imperfect Hoofe.
Broad Hoofe, and Buttle Hoofe, or having a Raggedness on the out sides.
Long Hoofe.
Crooked Hoofe.
Domise, or Flat Hoofe.
Hollow and over Hollow Hoofe.
Hoofe Aloone.

Seat the Shooe, fit it to the Foot.
The Seat of the Shooe, that part of the Hoof where the Shooe is set on the Hoofe.
Well seated Shooe, is well placed on the Hoof.

Parts of an Horse - Shooe.

Horse - Shooe.
Crest.
Calkin or Caukin Shooe, having tang at the ends.
Spur.
Trim Light Shooe, is a Light Shooe. Widdle size Shooe. An heavy Shooe.
Falfe quarter shooe, is such as have a shoulder in the in-side of the shooe, to keep it from lying on a weak or fore heel.
Lunett, or shooe without heel parts, made to secure weak heels.
A Falfe quarter shooe, with one heel part.
Hollow shooe, it is wrought so much outwards, that it toucheth no part of the Ball of the foot.
A shooe disbord without the hoof, is when it is broader out than the hoof.
Web of the shooe, is the breadth of the shooe. Broad Web. Narrow Web.
Welt of the shooe,
Welt of the shooe indented, made like the teeth of a Saw.
Sponges of the shooe.
Pearles, or Pearked, is the holes in the shooe:
Nail-holes.
Deep pearked shooe, is when the holes of the shooe are made at a good distance from the outside, or near the middle of the shooe, which is often done for long hoof Horses.
Widdle part of the Web, is taken to be the inner part of the shooe that compasses the sole.
Out side of a shooe, where the nail holes or pearlings be.
Imbossed side of a shooe.
Drive in the Nails, is to nail the shooe off the hoof.
Horse-shoe Nails, Nails with four square heads.
Frost Nails, with sharp pointed heads.
Button Nails, with round heads.
Stump, a Nail overworn in a Horse-shoe.
Twichings, ends of Horse-shoe Nails cut off. Some term them,
Pinchings, because pinched and writhen off from the out side of the hoof with the Pincers.
Callon Nail, is that Nail driven in the shooe towards the Horse heel.
Cut off the Nails, twist or writh of the ends with the Pincers.
Clinch the Nails, is to beat that part of the Nail which remains out of the Hoof (after the end is cut away) with a Hammer on the hoof, to retain it being driven into the hoof.
Hide the Clinches, the clinches hidden in the hoof, when they are so beaten into the hoof, that they cannot discern where the points of the Nail came through the hoof in the shoeing of the Horse.

Unclinch the shoe, is to beat those clinched ends of Nails up again out of the hoof, that the shoe may be taken off.

Pair the hoof round, that is with a Rasp, Rasp of the hoof as much as exceeds the breadth of the shoe.

Shod round, when a Horse hath four new shoes set on; shod round.

Shod half round, when two shoes are set on one side.

Shod behind,

Shod or shod before.

Put on a Shoe.

A Remove, is when a shoe is taken off, and set on again with new Nails.

Removed round, when all the shoes are so set on again.

Rough shod, when the Nails are not yet worn that holds on the shoes.

Hoof Bound, is when the shoe is nailed too stre on the hoof.

Cast a shoe, is when the Horse looseth his shoe in Travel or otherwise.

Smooth shod, when the Nails are worn smooth.

Frosted, when the shoes are put on with Frost Nails.

Terms of Art used by Farriers about the Cure of Horses,

Accipum, a kind of Drench, and an Ointment, used about Horses.

Anodyna, or Lioys, are compositions of Simples to ease pains.

Baths, warm Waters to wash and bath Horses Limbs when stiff and benumbed, or places for Horses to swim and wash themselves in.

Cauterize, is to Burn the sore place with a hot Iron.

Corrode, Burning hot sores. Inflamed sores.

Corrosives, Compositions made for Burnings; burning compositions.

Cauticks, a Medicine that Burneth, which is used when a Disease cannot otherwise be mastered.

Conglutinate, to glew or set together.

Curtail, a Docking or cutting the Horse tail shorter.

Cordial, a Drink to cherish a Horse.

Crustick Medicines, strong Medicines inclining to Fire.

Drenches, Drinks or Bashes given to Horses to cleanse them.

Diapente, a composition made of five Simples.

Dissolve, to make soft and supple that place which is hard or swelled.

Docking, see Curtails.

Fumigations, a smoaking, or operating through smoaky Perfumes.

Frictions, is the chafing and rubbing and fretting of any grieved place.

Incise, the cutting into Sores with a Knife or Lancet.

Lauice, to cut open a swelling, or make a passage for corruption to issue forth.

Lyogs, see Anodyna.

Mundifie, cleanse.

Mollifie, make soft.

Narcotica, a composition of Simples to cause sleep; benumbing.

Putrification, corruption.

Putrificative Medicines, such as corrupt the complexion of a Member; or such as takes away dead Flesh as Carbuncles, Cankers, Ulcers.

Purgation with Glisters.

Roswelling of Horses, is putting of hair rings through the Horse skin to draw out Corruption.

Repercussive Medicines, are such as drive back humours.

Sorance, is any sort of sore in Horses.

Sellander, or Seliander a kind of dry scab in the ham of a Horse hinder Leg.

Sarcotica, compositions of Simples that incarnate or breed flesh.

The terms of Horse Diseases, and things concerning them, are formerly set in lib. 2. c. 7. numb. 113.

The Jewellers Working Instruments.

Gravers of all sorts large and small.	Wax Box
Flat Scalper	Using Stone
Half round Scalper	Corn Tongs
Round Scalper	Flint Morter
Pliers both flat and round	Inamell Grinder, or Muller, or Pestel
Sheers	Inamelling Point
Forging Hammer	Inamelling Bridge
Pinning or Rivetting Hammer.	Inamelling Tongs
Setting Hammer	Inamelling Plate
Dividers	Sothering Coal
Compasses	Blew Inamell solid
Painting Pencills small and larger	White Inamell
Cleansing Pencill	Green Inamell
Brush	Yellow Inamell, &c.
Bollishing Brush	Blew Inamell transparent
Scratch Brush	White, &c.
Rough Pollishing Stone	Foiles of all colours
Smooth Pollishing Stone	Tripillo
Trippilo or Pollishing Stick	Pumice
Crucible	Brimstone
Boiling Pan	Borax
Simmon Stick	Salt Peter
Muffler	Mercury
Wax Stick	Puttey
	Sandifer
	Salt

Terms of Art used by Goldsmiths and Jewellers.

Melting the Gold in a Crucible, some call it Smelt ing.

Casting it into a Langet.

Forging, beating it into a Form as the Workman will.

Planishing,

Turning up, the raising or turning a part of it, as in the turning up of the shanks of Rings, or Collets and Bezels.

Sodering,

Shank, is that part as compasseth the Finger, the Ring part.

Setting, is fitting the Stone into the Collett.

Cramping the Collets together.

Mounting, is fixing the Collets all together to the Shank of the Ring.

Filing, or Filing up.

Graving the shanks of the Ring, and Scallops or Mufells on the sides of the Collets.

Clearing and Boiling.

Inamelling, is laying on of the Colours. Camelling.

Bailing, is burning the Inamell colours, to make them soder and stick to the Graving.

Clasing off, is the clearing of the Inamell of the work.

Chaining, is the making of little pearls or heads at the foot of the scallops of the Collets.

Boxing off,

Putting in the Simmon.

Fitting the Stones.

Laying in the Foil, which is to make the Stone to make a Luster according to the colour of the Foil.

Setting the Stone.

Cutting the Cressants about the Bissell, or top of the Collett, which being turned down, holds the Stone fast in; they are cut into Cressants or Escallops.

Polishing it, making it bright, clear and Lustrous.

Reebing, is rubbing the Ring with Cork. Reebing.

Wasting, is clearing the Stones from Dust with a Pencil.

Slating of Inamell, is taking Inamell off a Ring, and Inamelling it with another colour.

Sticking, is setting a Black between the Stones to set them off.

Finishing,

The Needle Maker.Sorts of Needles.

Pearl Needle, is the least size of Needles.

The first, second and third sort of Needles, according to their sizes; so numbred till you come to ten.

Ordinary Needles.

Bush Lane Needles.

Glovers Needles have square points.

Book Binders Needles are long and round point

Sow-Selders Needles are flat pointed.

Chyrurgions Needles are the same, flat pointed.

Back Needles, crooked at the point, and some flat, others three square; others with a Back and Edge (like a Knife) at point.

The Cutlers Trade.

He beareth Argent, a Cutler at his Glasier or polishing Wheel, polishing of a Knife upon it, all proper.

*

Several sorts of Weapons under the Notion of Swords.

A Sword, the general term of all Cutting Weapons, by which Mans Life is taken away.

A Back Sword, having an edge on one side.

A Two Edged Sword, edged on both sides.

A Claved Sword, the Blade being uneven.

A Back Rapier.

A Rapier, with two edges.

A Cuck, a four square Blade.

A Hanger, or Back Fauchion.

A Scimitar or Turks Fauchion.

A Hunting Hanger, some have a kind of Saw on the Back.

A Cuttow, is a small Hanger.

A Dagger, or short Sword.

A Skean, or Irish Dagger, it is broad at the handle, and goes taper all along to the point.

A Baggonett, a Granadeers Dagger, to thrust into the Muffel of his Firelock.

Terms used by the Cutler.

A Forger, is him that makes Sword and Knife Blades

A Grinder, is him that works them out of the rough.

A Temperer, is him that brings it to its right temper.

A Furberer, that polisheth and makes them up.

Burnish, to make bright.

Furbish or Furbish, to clean a Sword Blade, and take all rusty spots out of it.

Glate, to put a gloss upon a Blade or Hilt, of what colour is desired.

Repairing, a mending or furbishing up of an old Sword.

Punching, to hollow or make holes in the Hilt.

Chasing, to make devices on the Hilt.

Hatching, is to Silver or gild the Hilt and Pommel of a Sword or Hanger.

Damasking, is to inlay a Hilt and Pommel with Silver, Gold, Copper or Tin.

Sanguining, is to make it of a pure Purple colour.

Clarnishing, is to anoint it with some Oil or Spirit, to keep it from Rust

Scabbard, is the Case for either Sword, Rapier, or Fauchion.

Sheath, is the cover for a Dagger, Skean or Knife.

False Scabbard, a Leather case to draw over it.

Draw out the Scale.

Rasp it even.

Lining of the Scabbard, is the Linnen or Woollen Cloth in the inner side of the Scabbard.

Bind it up and glew it, is to tye the two sides of the scale when lined, together, the Blade being between.

Cover it with Leather.

M 2

A

A Chape, is the Iron socket fastned at the end of the Scabbard or Sheath.

Hook and Socket, set at the top of the Scabbard to hang it by at the Belt. Joyning of it up.

Mounting of the Sword, which is either well or ill; well mounted when the Point upon the Welding or Brandishing of it, is not too heavy for the Hilt and Pomell, but equally ballanced; ill mounted when either is weightier than other, therefore it is, that a long and weighty Blade requires an heavy Pomell.

He beareth Sable, a Plummer, having a Ladle full of melted Lead, and pouring it into a Mould set at his feet, all proper. By the name of Plummer.

Plummers Terms of Art:

A Dig or Sow of Lead.

Melt it in the Furnace; some say Smelt it.

Put it into the Pan.

Plain the Mould, make the Sand smooth.

Set the Mould.

Cast it over, turn it out of the Pan upon the casting Frame.

Follow it with the strickles.

Catches, the waste Lead.

Cut off the catches, cut it from the sheet.

A Sheet of Lead.

Selvage or edge of the Lead.

A Joynt in the Lead, where two edges meet together.

Soder a Joint, is to make them one.

Burn a Joynt.

A Shem, is when two edges are turned one over the other.

A Crack or flaw, when the Lead is not well cast.

He beareth Argent, a Card-Maker, seated upon a Block, with a Board on his Knees, setting of a Card Leaf, all proper. This is the proper Crest belonging to the Card-makers, but now laid aside.

Terms of Art used in the way of Card-making.

The Pattern.

Open the Wyre.

Head the Wyre, beat the ends all even together.

Cut the Wyre.

Double the Wyre.

Crook the Card teeth.

Card Teeth.

The Leaf, the Leather to set the Teeth in.

Pricking the Leaf, is making holes in the Leather, into which the teeth are put.

Setting the teeth.

Nailing the Leaf.

Paring of the Card.

Stoning of it, is burnishing of it.

The Lifts, are the narrow pieces of Leather which are Nailed about to hold the Leaf on the Board.

Cutting the Lifts, is to make it even and straight, and cut off the ends.

A Card, when it is all finished; of which there are several sorts.

Wool Cards have close and short Teeth.

Star Cards, have longer and wider Teeth.

Stock Cards, are large Boards, one being fastned to a form, and the other by a top handle, is drawn with both hands.

XXXIV. He beareth Azure, a Sadler beating of his Hair upon a Cable or Cressel, Or; Capped Argent, Clothed, Gules. This is the crest of Beatwell.

The like to this with a Black Cap and Bowing Cable, the rest Or, was the ancient crest of the Hat-makers of the City of Chester, as I find in an old roul of the Companies made in the year 1579.

Terms used in the Sadlers Art.

A Tree, is the Wooden part of the Saddle, to which all the other things are fixed.

Marbe, or Marle, are Sinews pulled to Threads, or long slender pieces, and glewed on the Tree to hold the Tree from cracking or breaking.

Gullet,

Gullet plate, is a crooked Iron plate nailed on the fore part of the Saddle Tree to strengthen it.

Under Plate, is a like thin plate of Iron nailed behind the Tree.

Bars, the two sides of the Tree.

Cibett, or Cibetts, are square Buckles without Tongues, hung in Iron Plates or Chapes, and so nailed to the sides of the Tree, to hang the Straps and Sitrop Leathers at: Some call them Cibett Irons.

Girth Webb, or Webb, is that Stuff as the Girths are made of.

Straining the Webb, is nailing the Girth Webb over the hollow of the Saddle Tree, that the seat fall not between the two sides.

Setting the Seat.

Shaping the Skirts, is the drawing out the form and fashion that the Skirts are to be of; which are generally straight, and go from the Pomell to the Crupper, or else round skirts, which ly under a Mans Thigh, and no where behind.

Cutting the Seat.

Pomell, is the top of the fore-part of the Saddle, and is usually in great and rich Saddles made of Brass or Iron silvered or gilt; it is round like the Pomell of a Sword.

Crupper Buckle, is a large square Buckle fixed to the Saddle Tree behind, to fasten the Crupper to, each Buckle having a rouler or turn on it, to make the same draw easily.

Crupper, is a roul of Leather put under the Horse tail, and so drawn up by Leather thongs, or a Crupper Band, to the Buckle behind the Saddle, and keeps a Horse from casting the Saddle forward on his Neck.

Straps,

Strapps, are Leathers fastned to the sides of the Tree, to draw the Girths streight under the Horse Belly.

Pannel, is the under part of the Saddle, it lyeth between the Horse back and the tree, to keep his back from Gaulling; being made of strong Linnen cloth, welted about with Leather, and stuffed with soft beaten hair.

Stuff the Pannel, is to fill it with hair.

Tie the Pannel, is to make it fast with Leather ties or slices, to the Saddle tree, both behind and before: some term this, Tie the points in.

Buckling the Girth, is to fasten Buckles at both ends.

Buckle, or Girth Buckle; is a four square hoop, with a fonge: which is made stiddy with its going through a hole of Leather & fastned with a narrowthongs

Girth, is when it is Buckled, and compleat for use; else it is called no more then a Web, or Girth Web.

Suringle, or Surfingle; is a long peece of Web that will compasse a Horse about his belly and back, having at one end a Buckle, and the other a long strap of Leather with holes punched in it, to buckle at what distance the Horse keeper pleaseth: by the help of this the Horse cloth is kept on, and the Horse is Wadded with straw.

Mounty, it is a peece of Leather of a yard and half or more, and four inches broad, having an Iron hook fastned to one end, and long robe at the other; with this they tie Panniers, Hampiers and great Packs on Horse back to keep them from falling of the Pack-Saddles.

Rowler, or Body Girth; this hath a kind of Pad called a Rowler, which slippeth too and again on the body Girth, or Surfingle, which is ever fixed upon the ridge of the Horse back, to keep the Girth from fretting of the hair, or hurting his ridge.

Stirrope, Irons to get ones Feet in.

Stirrope Leathers, and Buckles.

Breast-plate.

Crappings, these Leathers which hang on the Horse Buttock, which are generally set with white and yellow Stud-Nails.

A Pad, is a soft thing made like the seat of a Saddle and stuffed with Feathers, which is fixed on the Saddle seat, that old men which cannot sit hard may ride thereon.

Collars.

Male Pillen, is that which a Cloak-bag or Portmantu is fixed stiddy and sure on a Horse back part: to the Male belongs these things.

Male Sticks, the peeces of wood on the Male-pillen.

Male Strap, is to tie it behind the Saddle to two Leather Loopes.

Portmantu, vulgarly Portmantle.

Staples.

Chain.

Lock and Key.

Locking Flap.

The Great Flap.

Straps made fast to the great Flap.

Buckles, to keep down the great Flap by the straps.

Loopes, to put the ends of the straps through, to keep them from unbuckling.

Male Girths, are two long Leathers with a Buckle at one end, the other going through the Loopes on the Male sticks, and then through Iron Rings fixed behind the Saddle and so over the Portmantu all is buckled together.

[]

End straps for tying, or buckling the ends to the Belly Girths, that it lie not to one side more then another.

Bydle, it is so termed when it hath all its appurtenances fixed together, for the several parts of a Bydle: they are these.

The Bit, or Snaffle; is the Iron work put into the Horse mouth of which there is several sorts as you may see chap. 7. numb. 44. 45.

Head stall, are the two short Leather that come from the top of the Head to the rings of the Bit.

Fillet, is that as lieth over the Fore-head, and under the fore-top: if the Horse have trapping this is usually adorned with a Rose or such like of Leather set with studs.

Throat band, is that Leather as is buttoned (from the Head band) under the Throat.

Raines, is the long thong of Leather which comes from the rings of the Bit and being cast over the Horse head, the rider holds them in his hand by which he guides the Horse as he pleaseth.

Button and Loope at the end of the Rains by which it is fastned to the ring of the Bit: the other end of the rains having only a Button so large that it cannot go through the ring of the Bit on the other side, this is called a running Rains: by which a Horse is lead at a good distance, & hath liberty to leap a ditch or mount a hedge.

Nose band, a Leather that goeth over the middle of his Nose, and through Loopes at the back of the Head-stall and so buckled under the Cheeks. This is usually adorned as the Fillet, if the Horse be trapped & studded.

Trench.

Cavezan, a false Rien to hold or lead a Horse by.

Hartingal, a thong of Leather, the one end fastned under the Horse Cheeks, and the other to the Girth between his Legs, to make him Reign well, and not cast up his Head.

Chaff Galter.

Side Saddle, is a Saddle for a Woman her self to ride upon. It hath these several things belonging to it, to make it compleat.

The Tree in which is the seat that is round.

The Single Head, hath one bow in the middle of the forepart of the tree.

The Double Head side Saddle, is with two bows one long the other short.

The two Barrs that are the side Barrs, to which is joynted the fore part and the hinder part of the tree.

The Sivets, which are square rings in Plates, three on each side the tree to put the straps too.

The Straps, which are long Leathers for the Girths. A Fore-Compass Plate, a Fore-Gullet Plate, Plates to strengthen the tree.

A Crown, or little half round Plate; to secure the fore part of the tree.

Hind Gullet, or inside Plate; to strengthen the hinder part of the tree.

A Plate half round behind on the seat for the strengthening that part of the tree.

Two thin Plates on the fore part of the seat.

A Crupper Sivet, or Swivel; on the hinder part, to hold the Crupper.

Two Buckles on either side the fore part to hold the Breast-plate.

Harting,

Darning, are Beasts sinewes dried and beaten and Glewed on the tree for its strengthening.

Canvassing the tree, also to strengthen it.

The Pannel, is Canvace stuffed with Wool to lie next the Horse.

The Skirts, the covers of the side of the tree, which are Fringed and wrought, and sometime plain.

The Out side, is the cover of the seat, which is Fringed round the Rimm.

The Seat, hath a Boss in the middle, and a Rim about it.

The Quilting of the fore parts of the skirts.

The Rim set together with a small sewing Fringe.

The Saddle Head, sei together with a small sewing Fringe.

Falle, or loose Cover; a cover to keep the Saddle clean.

The Girths, which are three; are Girth Web, with Buckles at each end.

The Crupper, that as lieth on the Horse buttock, with its garnishings, which are studded or tufted with Silk.

The Dock, that as goes under the Horse tail.

The Breast-Plate, for the steadfastness of the Saddle, the fore part and two straps.

The Footstool, with a Sivet, which is hung to the right side of the Saddle by a Leather strap.

The Bidle as a Mans Bridle, only this of a Womans is double Rained: see the figure of the side Saddle, chap. 9. numb. 108.

XXXV. He beareth Or, a Taylor sitting upon a square Cable (Stone or Humert, as others term it) Argent, with his right Leg over the left, and sewing a Garment Gules: his Cloaths Purple, Hat and Shoes Sable. This is a Dutch bearing, and is born by the name of Cleermacker, which in English is Taylor.

Terms used by Taylors.

In a Womens Gown there are these several parts, as

The Staves, which is the body of the Gown before the Sleeves are put too, or covered with the outward stuff: which have these peeces in it, and terms used about it.

The fore Part, or fore Body: which is the Breast part, which hath two peeces in it; as,

The Right side of the Fore-body.

The Left side of the Fore-body.

The two side parts, which are peeces under both Arms on the sides.

The Back.

The Shoulder heads, or Shoulder straps; are two peeces that come over the Sholders and are fastned to the Forebody: through which the Arms are put.

Scoreing, or Strick lines on the Canvace to sow straight.

Stitching, is sewing all along the lines with close stitches to keep the Whale-Bone each peece from other.

----- is the cleaving of the Whale-Bone to what substance or thickness the workman pleaseth.

[]

Boning the Stays, is to put the slit Bone into every one of the places made for it between each stitched line which makes Staves or Bodies stiff and strong.

Cordy Robe skirts to the Staies, are such Staves as are cut into Labells at the bottom, like long slender skirts.

Lining the Bodies, or Staves; is covering the inside of the Staves with Fustian, Linnen, and such like.

Binding the Neck, is sewing Galloon, at the edge of the Neck.

Eylet holes, or Eiglet holes, little round holes whipt - stitched about, through which laces are drawn to hold one side close to the other.

The Waist, is the depth of the Staves from the Sholders to the setting on of the skirts: now it is distinguished by the Back Waist, and the fore-body Waist, which is each side the Stomacher.

Side Waisted, is long or deep in the Body.

Short Waisted, is short in the Body.

The Stomacher, is that peece as lieth under the lacing or binding on of the Body of the Gown, which said body is sometimes in fashion to be.

Open before, that is to be laced on the Breast.

Open behind, laced on the Back, which fashion hath always a Maid or Woman to dress the wearer.

The Peake, is the bottom or point of the Stomacher, whether before or behind.

A Busk, it is a strong peece of Wood, or Whale-bone thrust down the middle of the Stomacher, to keep it straight and in compass, that the Breast nor Belly shall not swell too much out. These Buskes are usually made in length according to the necessity of the persons wearing it: if to keep in the fullness of the Breasts, then it extends to the Navel: if to keep the Belly down, then it reacheth to the Honor.

A Point.

Covering the Bodies or Staves, is the laying the outside stuff upon it, which is sowed on the same after diverse fashions: as,

Smooth Covered.

Pleated or Wrinkled in the covering.

The Wings, are Welts or peeces set over the place on the top of the Sholders, where the Body and Sleeves are set together: now Wings are of diverse fashions, some narrow, others broad; some cut in flits, cordy Robe like, others Scalloped.

The Sleeves, are those parts of the Gown, as covers the Arms: and in these there is as much variety of fashion, as days in the Year: I shall only give the terms of the most remarkable.

The close, or narrow Sleeve; which reacheth from the Shoulder to the Wrist of the Arm, and is not much wider then for the Arm: which were of old turned up at the Hand, and faced or lined with some other sort of stuff.

The Wide, or full Sleeve; is such as are full and long, and stand swelling out: such are tied about the Elbow close to the Arm with a Ribbon.

The open Sleeve, such are open the fore part of the Arm, that their bravery under may be seen whether it be a mock or cheat Waist-coat with Imbrauthery or the like; else their fine Lincens and Laces.

The

The flaſht Sleeve, is when the Sleeve from Shoulder to the Sleeve hands are cut in long ſlices, or fillets: and are tied together at the Elbow with Ribbons, or ſuch like.

The Sleeve and half Sleeve.

The Sleeves with hanging Sleeves, is a full Sleeve in any of the faſhions aforeſaid, with a long hanging Sleeve of a good breadth hanging from under the back part of the Wing down behind, even to the ground; in the greater ſorts of Gallants trailing a good length on the ground.

The half Sleeves with Hounds Ears, are ſuch as extend to the Elbow and there turn up, and being ſlit or open hang at the Elbow like Dogs Ears.

The Rim of the Sleeve, is that part which is at the Sleeve hand either lined or Edged or Welted: but of theſe ſorts of Sleeves ſee their figures and ſhapes, chap. 5. numb. 130. 131. &c.

The Facing.

The Skirt, or Gown Skirt; is the lower part of the Gown, which extends from the body to the ground: theſe are made ſeveral faſhions, as Open Skirts, is open before, that thereby rich and costly Peti-coat may be fully ſeen.

Turned up Skirts, are ſuch as have a draught on the Ground a yard and more long; theſe in great Perſonages are called Trains, whoſe Honor it is to have them born up by Pages.

Beavers, Rows, Fardingales; are things made purpoſely to put under the ſkirts of Gowns at their ſetting on at the Bodies; which raiſe up the ſkirt at that place to what breadth the wearer pleaſeth, and as the faſhion is.

Skirts about the Waift, are either whole in one entire peece with Goares, or elſe cut into little laps or cordy robe ſkirts: Gowns with theſe ſkirts are called Waiftcoat-Gowns.

Waiftcoat, or Waiftcoat; is the outside of a Gown without either ſtaves or bodies faſtned to it; It is an Habit or Garment generally worn by the middle and lower ſort of Women, having Goared ſkirts, and ſome wear them with Stomachers.

Goare, is a Cant or three cornered peece of cloath put into a ſkirt, to make the bottom wider then the top: ſo are Goared Peti-coats.

Peti-coat, is the ſkirt of a Gown without its body; but that is generally termed a Peti-coat, which is worn either under a Gown, or without it: in which Garment there are Beating, that is gathering the top part in into Pleats or folding to make it of the ſame wideneſs as the Waift or middle of the wearer.

Lacing, is ſetting a Lace of Silk, Silver or Gold about the bottom of it; which in a Peti-coat is called the Skirt.

Bordering, is the lining of the Peti-coat ſkirt or bottom in the inner ſide.

Binding, is the ſowing of ſome things (as Ribbon, Galloon or ſuch like) on both ſides the Edge of the ſkirt to keep it from ravelling; ſometime it is done by a Hem: the top part of the Peti-coat hath its Binding alſo; that is, it hath either Inle, Filleting, or Galloon, ſowed about the Edges of it, when pleated: which keeps the Pleats in their Pleats, the ends helping to make it faſt about the wearers Waift.

[]

Hem, is the turning of the Edge of the cloath in; two fold or more, then ſowing it up, keeps it from ravelling.

Tucking, is to draw up the depth of a Peti-coat being too ſide or long, and that is by foulding a part over another

Pocket, or Pocket holes; are little Bags ſet on the inſide, with a hole, or ſlit on the outſide; by which any ſmall thing may be carried about, or kept therein.

A Mantua, is a kind of looſe Coat without any ſtaves in it, the Body part and Sleeves are of as many faſhions as I have mentioned in the Gown Body; but the ſkirt is ſometime no longer then the Knees, others have them down to the Heels. The ſhort ſkirt is open before, and behind to the middle: this is called,

A Semmer, or Samare; have a loſe body, and four ſide laps, or ſkirts; which extend to the knee, the ſleeves ſhort not to the Elbow turned up and faced.

The Riding Suite for Women.

The Hood.

The Cap.

The Mantle, it is cut round, which is caſt over the Shoulders to preſerve from rain or cold.

The Safeguard, is put about the middle, and ſo doth ſecure the Feet from cold, and dirt.

The Riding Coat, it is a long Coat buttoned down before like a Mans Jacket, with Pocket holes; and the ſleeves turned up and buttons.

In a Mans Suite of cloaths there are theſe ſeveral parts: as

The Doublet, it is the whole covering for the upper part of the Man: in which there is theſe peecees and terms.

The two Fore Bodies.

The two Back parts.

The Waift, is the length from the ſhoulder to the middle, now in a Doublet it may be the faſhion to be Short Waifted.

Side Waifted.

The Skirts or Laps, becauſe one lieth a little over another, they are diſtinguiſhed by the fore ſkirts, ſide ſkirts and hinder ſkirts; ſometimes the cuſtom is to have them more or leſs, big and little: narrow or ſhort, and large or deep.

The Collar, is that part as compſeth the Neck.

The Belly peecees, the inward ſtiffning of the Breſt of the Doublet.

The Linning, is fine Flaxed or Linnen; called the out Lining.

The Inner Lining, is Canvice, Buckram, or ſuch like, next to the cloth or ſtuff, between it and the foreſaid Lining.

The Waift-band, is a - - - - - under the ſkirts to which the ſtraps are faſtned.

The Eyes, or Holders; are ſmall Wiers made round through which the Breeches hooks are put, to keep them from falling.

Straps, are peecees of Leather faſtned to the Waift-band inſtead of Eyes, or holders.

Waiftcoat, is a cloſe Garment worn under a Doublet, and within the Waift-band of the Breeches.

A Paradile, a thing put about Man or Womans Neck to ſupport and bear up the Band, or Gorget.

The Sleeves, are the covers of the Arms and are of diverſe diverse fashions, as I have set down in Womens sleeves.

Sleeve hands, the lowest part of the sleeve next the Wrist.

Turn ups, or Cuffs; are the turning up of the end of the Doublet next the hand.

A Slit Doublet, is when both sleeves, and back, and fore-body, are cut like unto long slices, or fillets.

Button holes, are such long slit holes whipped about with a Loop at each end, as are in the left part of the Fore-body, and at the sleeve hands, to receive the Buttons on the right side, and to keep it close together.

The Facing, is to Face the sleeve hands, is to adorn the turn up, with some other sort of Stuff or Silk, then the suit of Cloaths is made off.

The Breeches, is that part of cloathing which covers a Man from his Waist to his Knees; of the fashion of them there is many extent, I shall tell of some few.

The Spanish Breeches, are those that are stret and close to the Thigh, and are buttoned up the sides from the Knee with about ten or twelve buttons: anciently called Crowes.

The Sailers Breeches, are full and gathered both in the Waist and at the Knees; standing full out.

The Open Breeches, are such as are full and wide and not gathered at the Knees, but hang loose and open.

The Pantaloon Breeches.

The Trunk Breeches.

The Peticoat Breeches, are short and wide Coats with Waist bands, having no petition, or fowing up between the Legs; but all open like a short Peticoat, from whence they are named.

Trimming, is any thing put on, or about the Doublet, or Breeches: whereby they are adorned, and made more Gent, whether it be by Ruffles, Laces, Ribbons, Buttons, Loopes, Scalloping, &c.

In the Breeches, there are these several parts.

The Waistband.

The Hookes.

The Cottonings, is that with which the cloth or outward stuff of the Breeches are Lined.

The Drawers, are Linnen Breeches worn under the Breeches which are tied about the Waist and either above or under the Knees.

The Pockets, are little bags set in the sides of the Breeches to put or carry any small thing in.

The Seat, the hinder part on which we sit; also the inner part which is at the Breech.

The Out side, of the Breeches.

The Cod-piece, or open of the Breeches before.

The Knees.

Loose Garments usually worn over the Doublet and Breeches are such as these following:

A Stret bodied Coat, this is close to the Body and Arms, and is usually worn without a Doublet, having under it a Waistcoat with side or deep skirts almost to the Knees. These kind of Waistcoats are called Chates; because they are to be seen rich and gaudy before, when all the back part is no such thing.

A Vest, is a kind of wide Garment reaching to the knees open before and turned up with a Facing, or lining, the Sleeves wrought to the Elbows and there were turned up with a round facing: under it was worn another side skirted Coat made fit to the Body after the manner of a Doublet, which was called a Tunic: the sleeves of it were narrow, and rought below the Elbow to the middle of the Arm, where it was all beset with knots of Ribbons: about the middle was worn a Silken Girdle, which was called a Joan, or Sash: chap. 3. numb. 23.

A Jacket, or Jumpe, or loose Coat: It extendeth to the Thighs is open or buttoned down before, open or fit up behind half way: the Sleeves reach to the Wrist having the turn-up sometime round, then with Hounds Ears, and an other time square.

A Mandilion, or Madillon, or of old a Mantevil: It is a lose Coat without Sleeves it reacheth in the skirt to the seat of the Breeches, and is open before, it hath hanging Sleeves which hang down backwards, almost as side as the skirt: chap. 3. numb. 24.

A Coat, or Riding Coat; is a full Coat both wide and side with long and wide Sleeves to be drawn over other kind of Garments.

A Coat with a round Cape, is the same as afore having a Cape added to the neck part of it.

A Mantle, is a round thing made of any stuff, having a round hole in the middle, and so is cut through to the hole, which being put about the neck hangs round about the wearer: which according to the fashion, is large or little, faced or laced &c. chap. 3. numb. 32.

A Rocket, is a Cloak without a Cape.

A Cloak, is a peece of Cloth or Stiff cut round with a hole in the Center of it as the Mantle, on the back of it, is a Cape placed; some are deepe Capes, some narrow, others loose from the Cloak part at Cape ends: chap. 3. numb. 34-35.

Several Terms used in Sowing of Cloath.

Basting, is a slight running of the Needle and thrid through two peeces of cloth to keep them together while they are sowed with some of these following stitches.

Back-stitch.

Fore-stitch.

Whip-stitch.

Payv-stitch.

Fine Drawing, is sowing two peeces of Cloth together so curiously, that it shall not be seen where the sowing is.

Reddelling, is roveing or the loosing out of thrads or Silk-thrads from the peece of Cloth or Silk.

Stuff, is the general term given to that, of which any Garment is made, whether of Hare Wool, or Silk.

An Upholsterer.

He beareth Gules, an Upholsterer covering of Seol, or else making up of a Stool, Or, Bom by the name of Upholier. This may be termed an Upholsterer in his Shirt, his Breeches, Cemie, and his Stool, the Cover and Frame, Or.

Terms

Terms used about their Work in a Stool or Chair, Cushion or Bed, and Hanging of a Room.

Stool Terms.

Girth it, is to bottom it with Girth Webb strewn and crossed.

Canvice it, is to nail the Canvice on the top of the Stool or Chair Frame, over the Girth Webb.

Rowle it, is to put Rowls on the top edges.

Quilt it,

Stuffing, is to stuff it with Hay, Wool, Flocks or Feathers.

Fringing, is to Nail the Fringe about the Stool seat at the sides.

The Seat, is that place sitten upon.

Backing, is to Nail the Back on a Chair suitable to the Seat.

Garnishing, is the finishing it with Brass Nails.

Cushion and Bed Terms.

Bottom the Cushion, is to sow the lower part and top together.

Cuffs or Cuffings, are the Tassels at the corners of the Cushion.

Bed-Tick, to hold the Feathers.

Summing, or Clarifying, or Sizing, is to rub the in-side of the Bed Tick, with either Gum, Wax, or Size, to keep Feathers from coming through it.

Feathers, is the filling of the Bed-Tick, which are cleaned from Dirt and Foulness, these ways.

Dressing, making all clean from Quills.

Fanning or Dribing, taking the Down away.

Stripping the Feathers from the Quills.

Clipping, is the cutting of the Feather part from the Quill with Scissars.

Down, is the Dant, or pure soft airy Feathers which have no Quills.

Quilting, is to put Cotton Wool of an equal thickness between two Silks, or a Callicoe or other Cloth underneath, and a Silk above, which is wrought in scrolls, flowers, &c. to keep the Cotton from shifting its place.

A Mat of Straw woven or platted together, to ly on the Bed Cords under a Feather Bed to preserve it from Fretting.

A Matrice, is a Quilted Straw or Flock Bed.

A Flock Bed, is Sack Cloth filled with Wool or Flocks, which is a coarse Wool.

A Chaff Bed, is filled with Oat or Wheat shoues.

Terms about Hanging of Rooms.

Hanging a Room, is to fix about it, either Cloth, Silk, Damask, gilt Leather, Arras, or Tapestry, or any other thing that will cover or hide bare Walls.

Hangings or Rich Hangings, are generally taken to be Silk, Arras, or Tapestry.

Plain Hangings, are such as have nothing on them of shape, but only plain Stuff or Cloth.

Pain Hangings, that are plain Cloth or the like, yet have gilt Ropes or Staves set down the hanging at a certain distance one from the other.

Pixed Hangings, that is, when a Paine or Pillar of Gilt Leather, or painted Fruitages or Flowerages, are fixed between each breadth, either of cloth or stuffe.

A Seamster.

The Seamster or Seamstry work follows next in order to that of a Taylor; this being work to adorn the Head and Hands and Feet, as the other is for the covering of the Body; nay, very often the Seamster occupieth the room and place of a Taylor in furnishing the Nobility and Gentry with such conveniencies as serve the whole body, especially in the Summer season. I shall therefore give you the Terms used about their Employ, and then the names of such pieces of work both in the whole, and in the parts, as is usually done by them.

Terms used by a Seamster.

Patterns, Paper cut in fashions according as the Work is to be made.

Cutting,

Shaping, the ordering the Cloth to be cut.

Laying down, is the edges of the cut Cloth laid down to be hemmed.

Hemming, is sewing up the edges of Linnen, to keep it from ravelling.

Selvage, the out-side of the Cloth.

Seaming, is sewing two selvages together, which is called a Seam or two Hems together; or a Hem and a lay down.

Ravell, or Robell, vulgarly Rove, when threads come out of the edges of the cloth.

Tining, or sewing down the Seam.

Sowing, Stitching.

Names of things made by Seamsters.

Shirt, or Shift for a Man.

Smock or Womans shift.

Fenting, binding at the sleeve hands.

Sleeve hands.

Sleeves and Gussets at the Arm-holes

Neck, the gathering.

Open of the Breast. Back. Skirts.

Coar, or Gussett, the side pieces in a Smock.

Band, as Collared Band, Neck Band, Shoulder Band.

Hollowing, the rounding of it for the Neck.

Clocks of the Band.

Stock, or Neck piece.

Winder part of the Band.

Fore part of the Band.

Ruffs, pleated Bands of two or three heights.

Round Robins, narrow Ruffs only about the Doublet Collar.

N

Foulds.

Foulds. Sets. Ruffles.

Cravatts. Half-shirts.

Cuffs, or sleeve cuffs.

Ruffles for the hands, both Plain and Laced.

Sleeves. Bibbs. Beggings.

Handkerchiefs for Womens Necks, both round and square.

Whisks, to be worn with a Gown.

Shapes for Mantua's.

Tuckers, or Dresses.

Gorgetts, round Dresses plaited to be deep about Womens Necks.

A Band for a Morning Gown.

A Roman Dress, the Mantua cut square behind and round before.

Night-Rails, or Cover-sluts.

Womens Head Dresses.

Quoifs. Chin-cloth. Caul. Chapparon.

Croisset, or Croscloth.

A Pinner is with long flaps hanging down the side of the Cheeks.

Towers, curled hair on the forehead.

Ear Knots, Forehead Knots, Head Knots, and Crown Knots falling backwards.

A Ruffled Quoif, also with a Knot of Rubin in every fould.

Fillet and Snood.

An Andress.

A Coynett, or Coif with long Ears, tyed under the Chin, and hanging down deep to the top of the Breast, made of Birds Eye or Gauces.

An Head Roll.

Hoods, made of either Gauces, Alamode, Lute-string, Sarfenet, Ducap, Vinian Sarfenet, Persia, Lindia Silk, or Gauces and Birds Eye flowered.

Womens Sleeves.

Half Sleeves with Hounds Ears, or Boat sleeves; these are made of Silk and Satin Imbrauthered, some with Puffs, or ruffled in the turn-up, or Fringed.

----- Holland Sleeves with ruffle Cuffs tied about with Rubins.

House Cloths, or Linnen, as Sheets, Towells, Napkins, Table cloths, Cupboard cloths, Pillow bears.

Bone-Lace and Parchment-Lace Makers.

Laces, or Bone-Lace wrought with Pegs.

Scallops.

Golbertene or Colbertain, a kind of open Lace with a square grounding.

Point, a kind of Lace worked with a Needle.

Point of Genice, with raisings.

Point of Loxrain without raisings.

Purle Lace. Flanders Lace.

Lap it, is to stitch the seaming on the Parchment according to the Work drawn on it.

Overcast the laying.

Fill the Branches and Leaves with Diamond work overcast.

Loop-work.

Purles.

Raise-work.

Buttons, 11et holes.

Edged on the side with Cocks Comb.

Laundresses Terms of Art.

Sorting.

Soaping.

Soap Suds.

Scalding.

Washing.

Wrenching, or Blooming.

Booking or Bouking.

Batting, or beating the Cloths to get the Bucking Stuff out.

Starching. Wringing the Cloaths, to force the Water out.

Drying. Smoothing or Ironing.

Hanging up, to Air and Dry thoroughly.

To Ladder, is beating the Soap and Water together, to make it rise to a Froth, which the call Suds.

The School Mistris Terms, and things to work with.

Needles, of several sizes.

Cruel of all colours.

Silk for sowing of all colours.

A Tent.

A Samcloth, a cloth to sow on, a Canvice cloth.

Slave Silk. Naples Silk.

Fine white Alcomy Wyre.

Ising Glass. Gum Arabick. Gum Dragon.

The School Mistris Terms of Art for all her ways of Sowing.

A Samcloth, vulgarly a Sampler.

Plat-Stitch, or single Plat Stitch, which is good on one side.

Plat-Stitch or double Plat-Stitch, which is alike on both sides.

Spanly stitch, true on both sides.

Tent-stitch on the Finger.

Tent-stitch in the Tent.

Irish stitch.

Back-stitch.

Fore-stitch.

Queens-stitch.

Gold-stitch.

Satin-stitch.

Tent-stitch upon Satin.

Fern-stitch.

Funny-stitch.

New-stitch.

Chain-stitch.

Bread-stitch.

Fishers-stitch.

Rosemary-stitch.

Now-stitch.

Whip-stitch.

Cross-stitch.

Raised Work.

Needle work Pearl.

Geneva Work.

Virgins Device.

Cut Work.

Open Cut Work.

Laid Work.

Stitch-work, & Through stitch.

Lap Work.

Rock Work.

Frost work.

Nett work.

Purle Work.

Tent Work.

Finger Work, all which are several sorts and manners of Works wrought by the Needle with Silk of all Natures, Purles, Wyres, &c. which cannot be described.

Wash,

Wast, or Finger Bread, are kind of Purse-strings woven on the Fingers either round or broad, one side of one colour, the other of another; or wrought in Letters, Flowers, Chequy or Lofsenge ways.

Other Works performed by School Mistresses and their Scholars.

Sum Work, is by Gumming of several colours of seven Silk together, which being dry, they cut into shapes of Leaves and Flowers, and so tie them up upon Wyers.

Frost Work. Transparant Work.
War Work. Pull Work. Quill Work.
Paper Work, all which are the making of Leaves and Flowers of all the foresaid things, and binding them up in Branches or Poesies.

XXXVI. He beareth Argent, a Shoemaker upon his Seat, with his Tools, (or St. Hugh's Bones) on his right hand thereon, sowing of a Shoemaker, all proper. It is also Blazoned, a Man on a Seat, with St. Hugh's Bones by him; exercising of the Gentle Craft, all in their proper colours; where note, that the Shoemaker's Apron is always green. This is born by the name of St. Hugh.

Terms used in the Gentle Craft.

Cutting out.
Closing the Heel Quarters and Camp.
Rounding the Sole.
Setting the Sole on the Last.
Sowing on the Sole.
Beating down the Rann.
Stitching the Sole to the Rann.
Rounding the Soles on.
Channelling the Sole, is making a riggett in the outer Sole for the Wax Thread to ly in.
Sowing or stitching the sole round.
Rubbing it with a rubbing Stone.
Laying or beating to the stitch.
Sowing the Heel.
Pegging on the Heel pieces.
Sticking it off, polishing the upper Leather.
Pinking the over Leather, cutting the grain of the Leather into Roses, Knots, and orderly devices.
Colouring the soles, painting the edges with India red.
Burnishing the soles, setting a shining polish on the red.
Painting the stitches, laying the stitches which lie upon the Rann of the shoe with white.
Closing Thread, that as sowerth the heel pieces and over leather.
Stitching Thread, is that as sowerth the Soles to the Rann.

Leather or Heel thread, is that as sowerth the heel to the shoe.

The Size of a shoe, is the measure of its length, which is in Children divided into 13 parts; and in Men and Women into 15 parts; the first of them being five Inches long before it be taken for a size, what the shoe exceeds that length, every fourth part of an Inch is taken for the size 1, 2, 3. and so forwards to 13 which is called the Boys or Girls thirteens, or the short thirteens, and contains in length 8 inches and a quarter, from which measure of 8 inches and a quarter, the Size of Men and Women, called the long size or Mans Size, begins at 1, 2, 3, &c. to the number 15, each size being about the fourth part of an Inch as aforelaid; so that a Shoe of the long fiftene is in length 12 Inches just. Some term it a Gage or Shoemaker Measure.

Grain of the Leather, the hairy side.

Flesh side of the Leather.

XXXVII. He beareth Argent, an Imbrautherer sowing a piece of Work in a Tent, the Table, Or, the Imbrauthery variable colours, Hat Sable, Clothed in Scarlet.

The Praise of the Needle, both for its Antiquity and Excellency, doth abundantly surpass all other Arts; for the use of Sewing is so old, that it took beginning with our first Parents Adam and Eve in Paradise, as we may read Gen. 3. 7. also we find that the coverings of the Tabernacle, viz. the Curtains had made in them Cherubims of Broidred work. Exod. 26. 1. And that by the Almighty's great Command, Aaron the High Priest was invested with Gummen of Broidred work which were most glorious behold, Exod. 28. 2. 3. &c. And King David doth show by an apt Similitude, the Majesty and Glory of our Mother the Church, by comparing it to a Kings fair Daughter brought forth to her Spouse in Garments wrought of Needle Work of Gold, Psal. 45. 13. 14.

Terms used by Embrautherers and School Mistresses of the Needle, I have before set down under numb. 35. in the School Mistris terms, to which I shall refer you.

XXXVIII. He beareth Argent, on a Ground plot in Vase, a Joyner's Bench with a Workman on the nearer side, plaining of a Board, all proper. This is the crest or cognizance of Don de Christierna, a Spanish Family.

XXXIX. He beareth Or, a Joyner seated astride a piece of Timber with a Mallet in his right hand lifted up, and a Chissel in his left, making of a Mortice all proper; his Waistcoat, Gules, Breeches and Hose Grev. This is the Crest of Mort le maine. Some term it a Joyner set overcross a piece of Timber, with his Mallet and Chissel making a Mortice hole. This is born by Don Liago of Spain; he was an excellent Ship Carpenter, as my Author hath informed me.

N a

Terms of Art used by Joyners in their way of Working, and explained.

First, for the Names of their Timber.

Raile, it is a piece of Timber, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 foot or more long, and carrieth four inches broad, and an inch or more thick. A Raile is an half Spare.

Spare, is two inches thick, and four inches broad; in some places it is termed a single Quarter.

Joyce, it is four inches square. In some Counties called a double Quarter.

Bed posts, such as Beds either for Standards, Bed sides, or Beds feet are made of.

Stool feet.

Chair backs.

Buntion, the short down right pieces in Wainscot.

Stile, the over cross pieces in Wainscot, in the rig- get of which two, the Panell or middle pieces are fast- ned.

Boards of several sorts, as Plank of any length, but never under 2, 3, or 4 inches thick.

Inch Boards.

Half Inch Boards.

Wallens, narrow Boards, about 5 or 6 inches broad, and half inch thick, and of all lengths.

Pannell, little cleft Boards, about 2 foot high, and 16 or 20 inches broad, of these Wainscot is made.

Shingles, cleft Wood about 6 or 8 inches long, and 4, or 5 broad; with these in Wood Countreys they cover their Houses.

Secondly, for their Words or Term.

Architrave, is a plain or flat border, at the bottom moulding of a Cornish or Cornice.

Arras ways, is any thing set or hung Diamond wise, having one corner of the square set upwards, the other downwards.

Bale, the bottom, foot, or foundation of any work.

Bed moulding, is the smaller mouldings over a swelling Frieze.

Bead, the inner part of any moulding, being only a square.

Batten, is the laying of a long narrow piece of Wood on a Door or the like, to counterfeit Wainscot, being moulded on each side.

Bevil, is any sloping Angle that is not a perfect square.

Bevil Joint; see Joint.

Capitull, is the top mouldings or cornish of any Pillar or Pillaster.

Cast, it is when any Boards, or other stuff, doth cast, warp, or bend, or any way alter from its own flatness and straightness.

Clamp or Clampt, is when one piece of Timber with the grain, is fixed to another cross the grain; thus the ends of Tables are commonly clampt to preserve them from wrapping.

Cornice or Cornish, is the top and overseeling moulding on the top of a piece of Wainscot.

Cross grained, is that part of the Timber, in which a Bough or Arm of the Tree hath grown from the main Trunk of the Tree; in some Boards they are curled Knots, but in Deal perfect Knots.

Curling Grain, see cross grain. This is also called curling stuff, and knotty stuff.

Cypher, as to cypher of a square edge, making 2 edges for that one.

Door Case, is the Frame work about the Door, to which it hangeth by Hinges.

Draw the Saw through, is cut or slit such a piece of Stuff through.

Facia, is a plain square in a moulding, under a projected cornish.

Fence, is a part of the Plow Plain, to keep it from going deeper, or out of the place it is designed to groove.

Fine set, that is, when the Iron of a Plain is set so fine, and stands so shallow below the Sole of the Plain, that in working it takes off a thin shaving. See Rank set.

Frieze, or flat Frieze, is a plain and broad square between a Fillet moulding, and a Cornice moulding.

Frieze Pannell, is the uppermost Pannell in the Wainscot.

Frieze Rail, is the Rail as lieth next under the said Pannell.

Frowy Stuff, is such Timber as is soft and gentle, easie to be wrought, being neither too hard nor too soft.

Free Stuff, Timber of a good condition to work upon.

Frames, are those Wooden mouldings set about Pi- ctures, or Frames for Door Cases.

Groove, or Grooving, is the making of a long nick in a Spar, Board, or other Stuff with the Plow Plain.

Grain, is the running Veins, or breaking Lines which run all along the Wood, no Wood being without a cer- tain Grain either more or less, wider or closer, longer or shorter.

Helve, or Hast, or Handle, the holding place for working of any Tool, as Chissels and Gouges. Some call them Heads.

Hard Stuff, is such Timber as is naturally hard, as Box, Lignum Vita, &c. or else so Curling and Knotty, that a Plain cannot take a shaving off it as thick as a Groat.

Heads of Tools; see Helve.

Husk, is a square Frame of Moulding, like to a Pi- cture Frame or the like, set over the Mantle Tree of a Chimney between two Pillasters, having Capitalls, Frieze, and a projecting Cornish.

Inch Board, is a full Inch breadth in its thickness, after it is sawed.

Inch pickt, wants of an Inch in the thickness of the Board, because the Saw Kerfe hath taken half its breadth away in Sawing; so all scantlins are called, as 1, 2, or 3 inch sawn or pickt.

Joynt, is the edges of two Boards Joined and Gled- ed together in an even and streight line; yet besides this there is other kinds of Joins made in Wood, as

The

The Square Joynt, which is, when two pieces of Wood are set so together that it is the one half of a perfect square; four such Joynts making a square.

The Hyter Joynt, is the joining of two pieces of Wood, so as the Joynt makes but half a square and no more; three making a triangle frame.

The Bevil Joynt, is the joining of two pieces together, so as that they make any other sharp or acute angle; these Joynts are used in Frames that are made Pentagon, Hexagon, and Octagon, that is, with either five, six, or eight corners.

Kerf, or Saw Kerf, is the Sawn-away slit, which the Saw makes in any Board, or other Stuff.

Knot, is a hard place, or irregular part of a Board, which breaks the grain, or turns it in a round; being of a contrary nature to the freeness of the Wood.

Large Pannel, see Pannell.

Lying Pannell, see in Pannell.

Lower Raile, see Rail.

Lay a Kerfe in that piece, is to cut through such a piece.

Lining of Stuff, is to strike a Chalk Line upon it, to Saw it by.

Margent, the flat breadth of the Stile (of some called the Hunton) between the moulding on each side, is called the Margent of the Stiles.

Miter Joynt; see Joyn.

Miter, an Angle that maketh a three square.

Mouldings, the several ways of wrought Work made with Plains on Wood, are generally termed altogether Mouldings, though each Moulding hath its peculiar name.

Mortels, is a long or square hole cut in a piece of Timber, to hold another piece, or entertain a Tenant made fit for it.

Ogee, is a moulding in a Cornish, wherein one part swells out, and the other turns in after the manner of a Roman S.

Over seile, is when one part of a Cornish stands further out than another. Some term it a Project, or Projecting.

Pannell, it is the flat, and either square or long long Boards in Wainscot, which have their several terms according to their positions, as

The Lying Pannels, are the lower rank of Boards next to the ground.

The Large Pannels, or Middle Pannels, are those that run through the middle of the Wainscot.

The Frieze Pannels, are the top rank of Boards, which Pannels are generally according to Order of the Work set longways, and are not much more than a fourth part of the breadth of the other Pannels.

Par, or Paring, is the cutting of a thing, as a Joynt smooth with the Paring Chissel.

Plaster, is the half of a Pillar set to a Wall, as in Doors and Chimney peeces, and their Basis and Capital also cut off by the half; this term is given to such Pillar whether they be round or square.

A Pit-Man, the Sawyer that works in or at the Pit for Sawing of great Trees into several sorts of Timber for the Joyners use, is called a Pit-Man, but generally with us Sawyers.

Planchier, is a great round out swelling, between other smaller mouldings.

Plinth, is a Bevil, flat, or plain mould, whether in the Head or Capital Moulding, or Basis.

Project, see Over-seile.

Plow a Groove, is the working of a Groove in a Stile or Rail, to lay the edges of a Pannell Board in.

Paring of a Joynt, is to make a Joynt fit, by cutting it even with the Paring Chissel; see Shooting of a Joynt.

Rack, is a part of the Instrument used in waving of Timber, and is a flat piece of hard wood about an inch and quarter broad.

Rail, is the overcross pieces in Wainscot, which have several names according to their places, as

The lower Rail, is that next the Ground; next it is the Surbase Rail.

The Middle Rail, is that in the middle of the Wainscot.

The Frieze Rail, is that next to the top rail, or highest rail.

The upper Rail, is the top Rail on which the Cornice is set.

Rank, or Ranklet, is when the Iron of the Plain, is set so far below the Sole of the Plain, that in the working it will take off a thick shaving; or the Teeth of a Saw set so wide that it makes a broad Kerfe.

Range or Run-range, is the side of any work that runs straight without breaking into Angles is said to run range; thus the Rails and Pannels of one straight side of Wainscoting being set to a straight corner of a Wall, is said to range or run range with the Wall.

Return, the side that falls away from the fore side or any straight or Range work, is called a Return, as in Corners of Chambers.

Riglet, is a flat, thin, square piece of Wood, fitted to be Moulded and Waved in the Waving Instrument.

Rub, that is, whet the Irons of the Plain when they are dull and blunt.

Scantlin, is the size that the Joyner intends to cut his Stuff to. Sometimes it is used to that piece of Stuff as will not hold out to do that piece of Work for which it is intended.

Scribe, is the drawing of a line or stroak with the point of the Compasses upon a piece of stuff that is straight, thereby to cut it so as it may join to an Irregular piece, whether bowed or cornered.

Shoot a Joynt, is the making of the two pieces to be joined, smooth and even with the Joynter Plain; that is the Joynts are made so exactly straight, that being put together, no Light can be seen between them; this is shooting of a Joynt.

Shoot a Board, is to make it have a straight edge; as in a Ruler, where the edges are shot straight, and one side shot off with a cyphered edge.

Stile, of some termed Hunton, is all those upright pieces in Wainscot, in which the Pannels are fixed.

Stops.

Stutte, all sorts of Wood that Joyners work upon, are generally called Stuff.

Sur-Base, is the next Rail to the bottom Rail in a piece of Wainscoting.

Swelling

Swelling Prize, is a round swelling between other smaller moulding: it is of some termed a Planchier.

Shaving, is the thin cutting of Wood that a plain take off.

Square Joynt, see Joynt.

Setting of a Saw, is the drawing of the Saw - teeth one one way, and the other another way, thereby to make the Kerse broader or narrower, to cut the Timber more Rank.

Table, is a plain smooth board set about with Mouldings, whether it be round Oval or Square, or of what sort soever: but most used for those square Boards which have Frames about them for Pictures and Coats of Arms to be drawn and Painted upon.

Taper, is any sort of work that is smaller at one end then at the other: or diminisheth gradually from the biggest end, to the other.

Tennant, is a square end fitted into a Mortise made in another peece of Timber by which the two Peecces are closed and held together.

Top - Man, is the uppermost Man that is Sawing great Timber at a Pit; or on Trussels which are high Frames a little more then the height of a Man, on which the Wood is laid for want of a Pit.

Traverse, is working with the plain, or any other Tool crosse the grain of the Timber.

Try, is to see by the help of a straight rule, laying it on a flat peece, whether the work be true, which it is if no light can be seen between the edge of the rule and the work.

Wains - Cornice, is any small Cornish lying under a great swelling out peece, as under a Planchier, or swelling Frieze.

Upper Cornice, is the highest Cornish in any Moulded work.

Warp, see Cast.

Wedge, is a peece of Wood or Iron made taper, by which things are opened and made wide; or else to Wedge is to make a thing fast in another, by driving peecces of Wood so made between the open parts.

Whetting - block, is a peece of thick Timber having a Rigger in it, into which the blade of a new Saw is set and wedged that it cannot play whilst the Teeth are sharpening.

Wrest, is that by which Saw Teeth are set.

XL. He beareth Azure, a Chandler on the further side of his Houid, Dipping of a Staff or Rod of Candles in Tallow, all in their proper colours. This I have seen often times Painted on Sign - boards, to signify the dwelling - house of a Chandler, or Candle-Maker: But as a Badge or Coat Armour for any Family I never saw it so born, Save by the Chandlers of Dublin, whose Crest it is, as I am informed by G. Thompson, my Author.

Terms used by Tallow - Chandlers.

Wind the Yarn.

Candle Wreck, which is doubled Yarn, sometime four or six foulds, made either of Flax or Cotton loosely spun.

Cut the week, is by a measure on a Board cut according to the length & bigness that the Candles is to be made.

Twist the Wreck, is to roul the several foulds into one.

Rod the Wreck, is to put it on the Rod.

Ruff Tallow, Tallow made up in Cakes come from the Butchers Shambles.

Break the Cake, is to pull it into peecces.

Chop the Tallow, is to cut it small with a chopping Knife to melt the better.

Tallow the Pan, is to put it in the melting Pan.

Stir the Tallow, when it is melting in the Pan.

Settle the Tallow, is to receive or put it melted into a Tub.

Render the Tallow, is to poure it through a strained, to keep the Dross from the pure Tallow.

Graves, or Cratchens; is the dross of the Tallow.

Press the Cratchens, is to squeeze them in a press to get what pure Tallow can be gotten out.

Fill the Mould, poure the Tallow into the same.

Dipp the Wreck, is the first dipping it into the Mould, or warm Tallow.

Cool the Candles, or Stage the Candles; is to lay the Rod on the Stage to grow cold that then they may be dipt again and again for many times; for the oftner dipped, being cool the thicker is made the Candle.

Chrid the Candles, is to tie them by pounds.

Shop the Candles, is to hang them by pounds, dozens, two or three on the two ends of a strong staff, and so a Man on his shoulder brings them to the place where they are to be.

Wreck, is the burning part of the Candle, being still fed by the Tallow under it.

Snuff, the Wreck over burned which is Snuffed off, or cut away that the Candle may burn the better: or Snuff is the latter end when all the Candle is consumed and goeth out with a flink.

Drop, is the running away of a Candle, when it is made of Kitchen stuff, and not of good Tallow.

Chick, is when any thing is in the burning part of the Candle which makes it waste more then it would do.

Ends of Candles, as the bottom ends put out, and not suffered to burn any more.

Waste, is Tallow remaining unburnt about a Candlestick, or that as runs from the Candle into the Socket.

XLI. He beareth party per Fesse, Air and Water in a Fishing Boat (or Cock - Boat, as some term it) two Fishers Drawing of a Salmon's Nett out of the Water, all proper. This is the Coat of Arms anciently belonging to the Company of Fishers, or Drainers in Dee (as we call them) in the City of Chester.

In the Chief of this square is a Demy Woman Cloathed Gules, furs Arms; havin the Hands fired at the Shoulders proper, Crowned Or. Which is the Crest of Van Konigfeld of Franchford.

A Demy Man furs Arms, wreathed about the Temples, the ends flouant, A. and G. Cloathed with short round Sleeves, parted down the Breast of the said colours: Is the Crest of Van Konitz. Here I could not properly say the Cloaths parted per Pale, for then they should have come down with a straight line, when as this parting only bends out, as the Breast and Belly Belly cloth: Yet in such cases all these kinds of parting are understood, and taken to be no other then per Pale, allowance being given for the bending of the Body.

Things necessary for Fishing or Drawing with Netts.

A Fishers Boat.

Dares.

A Pole with Iron hook at the end.

Lanch out.

A Draw Nett.

A Draught.

Cast the Nett over.

Stall Nett.

Corks and Corks.

Backstrid.

Netting Needle.

Strong Hemp thrid.

Mask of the Nett.

XII. He beareth Argent, on a Grassy Plat in base a Piscator, or Fisher, or Angler, with his Rod lifted up, and the Line Pendant from the same, all proper. This is born for the name of Angelaer, both for the Coat and Crest.

In this Quarter a Demy Boy, his Arms Metamorphosed into Fish Hookes, the Beards Reversed, Argent; Cleared, Azure: on his Head a Plum of feathers, Argent. This out of a Coronet is the Crest of Van Angelloch of Rhyne.

Tackles belonging to an Angler.

A Fishing Rod, of which there are several sorts: as, A Crowing Rod, or a Crowier: hath a ring at the end of the Rod for the Line to run through, when it runs off a Reeel.

A Whipper, or Whipping Rod: is a slender top Rod, that is weak in the middle and top heavy, but all slender and fine.

A Dopper, is a strong long Rod very tite.

A Snapper, or Snap Rod: is a strong Pole, peculiar for a Pike.

A Bottom Rod, is the same with a Dopper but somewhat more plyable.

A Snigleing, or Pokeing Stick: is a forked stick, and a short long Line with a Needle Bated with a Lob Worm; It is only for Eels in their holes.

Lines, of which there are several sorts, and of diverse making: as,

Silk Lines, Fishing Lines made of several Silk thrids.

Hair Lines, made of the long hairs of an Horse Tail either single or twisted two together, sometimes three or four.

Chrid Lines.

Wire Lines.

[]

Hook, or fishing Hook of several sizes, big and little, and of these some have peculiar names: as,

Single Hooks.

Double Hooks, Hooks that have two bending, one contrary to the other.

Snappers, or Gorgers; which are Hooks to Whip the Artificial Fly upon, or to bait with the natural Fly.

Springers, or Spring Hooks; a kind of double Hooke with a spring, which Flyes open being stricken into any Fish and so keeps its Mouth open.

Baits, are of several sorts, as Worms of diverse colours and kinds; Flyes Artificial and Natural according to the seasons: Grashoppers, and Baits made up by Art.

Corks.

Quills.

Plumets of Lead, to stand at the bottom of the Line to make the Bait sink.

Reeles of several sorts to wind the Lines upon.

A Crash-Bagg, a little Bagg of Leather wherein is put Materials for all sorts and kinds of Fly fishing.

A Landing Hooker.

A Landing Nett, to put under large Fish when the Rod and Line is not of strength to pull them out.

A Water-Dog, is a round peece of Lead like a Ring: It is to unloose the Hookes if they be fastned at the bottom.

Swivells, turning Hookes in Rings to fasten Wyer Links to the Lines.

Baiting Needles.

A Knife and Scissars.

A War Chrid, and Silk; for the whipping of the Lines to the Hook.

An Apron with several Pockets to place the Anglers Implements in Order.

A Bagg to carry the Bait in.

A Pedd, or Basket, or Pannier; to carry the Fish in, when they are caught.

Terms used by Anglers.

A Jointed Rod, is a Rod that may be made longer or shorter at pleasure, by putting the end of one staff into a hoope fixed upon the end of another.

A Top, is the twigg or plying part of the higher end of the Rod to which the Line is fastned.

The Noose.

Gorge, is to swallow the Bait and Hook.

Bait the Hook, is to put a Worm, or other kind of Meat for the Fish on the Hook.

Bait, is any thing that is put on the hook, for the Fish to bite at.

Cast, Throe, or Coss your Line: is to fling it into the Water.

Bitt, is when the Fish take the Bait.

Trailles or Drags, when the Hook and Line touch the Ground under Water.

It Bottoms, lies on the Ground in the River.

Mid-water fishing, is to let the Bait Swims on the top of the Water.

Strikes.

Strikes, or Lacing : when the Hook is drawn into his Mouth or Gills by a sudden twitching of the Bait from him, and so pulleth it out of the Water.

Run or Egar, when Fish run away with th Bait in his Mouth ; Take his Run.

Plating or Weaving, is twisting the Hairs of the Line together.

Single, or Double Water Knot or Noose : the knots by which two, three, or four length of hairs are tied together.

Whipping, is both the fastning of the Line to the Hook, or to the Rod.

Cork Flotes, when the Cork swims above Water.

Dops, or Dives ; when sinks under Water.

Whipping, is also taken for the casting in the Hook, and drawing it gently on the Water, as in Fly Fishing.

No Sport, is when the Fish will not bite, but lie a ground.

Good Sport, or Play ; when Fish is eager at the Bait.

Snigle, or Proking ; is a kind of Fishing for Eels in their holes.

Dart, or Spear ; is to take Fish by a fishing Dart, or Spear : as Eels by Eels-Spears.

Troul, is a kind of fishing for Pike with a Rod whose lines runs on a Reeel.

Snap, is a kind of fishing for Pike with a strong Rod, with a double hook at the Line, called Snappers.

Snare, is to take Fish in Wyer Gryns, or Snares, Wills, or stall Nets.

Snickle.

Whip, is to fish with a Whipper Rod, for small Fish.

Dopp, is to fish with a Dopper Rod, for Pike, or large and strong Fish.

Grope, or Tickle ; is a kind of Fishing by Diving under Water, or in shallow Waters where Fish is seen, by putting ones hand into the water holes, where Fish lieth : and when felt tickle them about the Gills, they will lie so quiet, that you may take them in your hands and cast them a Land : or if great Fish thrust your Fingers into their Gills, and bring them out : to conclude,

For Pike, Dart, Spear, Troul, Snap, Gorge, Snare or Snickle.

For Troul, Chub and Eel : Whip, Dop, Sniggle, Grop or Tickle.

XLIII. He beareth Air, on an Hill in Base, an Horse loaded with Water - Baggs, with a Man following of him bearing a Scoope upon his shoulders, all proper. This is the Coat belonging to the company of Water - Leaders, in the City of Chester : which Coat in brief we blazon thus, a Water Leader following of his Baggs. But if you will go to the particulars then say a Horse passant Argent, bearing a pair of Water - Baggs, and Bridled Sable ; the Water - Man, or Horse - Driver, in a russet Suite, with a Linnen Apron about him ; Hat and Shoes, proper : holding a Scoope upon his right shoulder, Or.

In the Chief of this Quarter is a Demy Man to the sinister, respectant or looking backward, with a Laurel about his Temples, his left hand on his side, and with his right pointing to the Dexter corner, Cloathed and Girded about the middle : such a bearing cloathed Gules, is the Crest of Van Waldendek of Switzerland. Some term this a Demy Man to the Sinister, Regardant, or Face Revertant, or Respiciant, or Looking to the Dexter : any of them are sufficient blazons. The like to the Dexter, is the Crest of Van Bittenheim of Alsatia.

[]

XLIV. He beareth Argent, on a Mount in Base, two Men their Waistcoats Gules, Aprons white, Breeches and Hose Grey, Hats and Shoes Sable ; bearing between them on their right shoulders a Pole and Runge, Or. These are another sort of Water Carriers, and do belong to the Occupation of Beer and Ale Brewers.

He beareth Argent, two Beer - Brewers singing of a Barrel, is the Badge of the Apprentices, and Workmen at the Brewers Trade ; and is a fit sign or cognizance for a Brewer, or a Brew - house : see the Additional Plate to this Chapter, numb. 146. after chap. 4.

Terms used by Beer - Brewers, and Ale - Brewers,

Comb the Malt, is to put it into the Comb.

Heat the Liquor, boil the water the first time.

Strike it over into Steuk, put it into the the Malt in the Comb.

Steuk.

Mash it up, blend or mixt the Malt and warm Water together in the Comb.

Soak, the steeping of the Malt in the Water, whereby its strength and vertue is drawn out.

Draw it into the Trough.

Wort, is the running of the Water from the Malt.

Best Wort, or Wort of the first running, or drawing is for strong Beer.

Wort of the second running, it makes small Beer.

Wort of the last drawing, it is thin and makes small drink, of some called, put up drink, shower - trough or penny prich : this is only the washing of Grains and the Brewers Aprons, and to give it its true term, it is no other then Water bewitched.

Pump it into the the drawing Comb.

Pump or Guide it into the Copper.

Boyle the Wort, is the second Boiling.

Fire the Copper, put Fire under the Brewing Pan.

Lead it into the Cooler.

Run it into the yelling Comb.

Put to the store, is to put Barm or Yest to it, so set it on working.

Working of the wort, is the frothing and swelling of it up to the top of the Comb.

Stirring of the wort, is to beat it about the Comb to make the working of it fall, that it run not over.

Sweet wort, the Wort boiled, and not as yet having any store put to it.

New Beer, or New Drink ; so called while it is working in the Comb.

Wort that will not work in the Comb, when the Vessels have been long unused.

Patch Drink, is drink that drinks sweet and sower, through a taint that it hath taken through the foulness of the Vessels.

Tunning, is powering it into the Barrells when it hath worked enough.

Stoking in the Barrell, is foming and frothing out of the Bung hole.

Sellar it, is to set the Barrells on Stillages in the Sellar.

Posing of Beer, is the setting of one Barrell upon two, when the Sellarage and Stillage are two little to contain the Barrells one besides another.

Slinging of a Barrell, is to bear it up with Slings on Mens Shoulders.

Carrying it out, is to bring it to such Customers as are to have it.

Lecking, is when any Beer run through the joynts of the Barrell.

Spring of the Hoopes, is when a hoope come off, or breaketh.

Cap or Broach the Barrell, is to thrust the Spigot and Forceet into the Cork hole at the bottom of the Barrell end, thereby to draw the Liquor out.

Brewing Vessels, is the general term for all the things that a Brewer useth in his Trade.

A Malt - Makers Instruments for making of Malt.

A Measure and Strickles, to measure his Barley.

A Large Cestern of Lead, or Stone.

A Kill, with good Floors and Loft Floors.

A Cockle, the place where the Fire is made to dry the Malt.

A Disperser.

A Shovel, or Malt-shovel, and Basket.

Ribbs on the drying Kill.

An Half Cloth to dry the Malt on.

A Fan, to cleanse the Malt from its dust.

Terms used by Malt - Makers.

A Malster, is one that maketh and selleth Malt.

Malt, it is Barley wet and dryed again.

Wet the Barley, is to put it into a Cistern of Water.

A Wetting of Barley, is as much as the Cistern will hold at one time to Wet and swell up.

Couch the Barley, is to take it out off the wet and lay it on the Floor a foot thick, for as large a compass as the Weting will contain.

A Couching floore, a Floor made of Plaister of Paris smooth and even which no water will hurt; where the wet Barley is laid to come.

The Coming of Barley, or Malt; is the springing of it, as if it cast out a Root.

Wither it, is to cast it abroad on the Kill Floor, when it come, that the comings may wither away; and for the Barley to dry. It must be turned every twelve hours.

Turning, is to cast it with a Shovel on a dry Floor, and laying it thin to dry.

Drying the Malt, is to lay it on a Hair cloth on Wooden Ribbs, over a Fire made of Gorse, Sea-Coal or Coal Calcinde, or burned to Cinders, or Char-Coal.

Turning on the Kill, is to Shovel it over, that all parts may dry alike.

Fanning, is to clean it from dust and all small grains.

Malt Dust, is the conings of the Barley, which being dried on the Kill, when it runs through the Fan falls from the Malt into a kind of Dust, all small Corns falling through with it.

XLV. He beareth Gules, a Man passant, his Shirt or Shift turned up to his Shoulder, Breeches and Hose Azure, Cap and Shoes Sable, bearing on his Back a Bread Basket full of Fruits and Herbs, and a Staff in his left Hand, Or. This may be termed either a Hurter, or a Gardiner, having his Fruits and Herbs on his Back for the Market. This were a fit Crest for the Company of Fruiterers, or Huxters.

XLVI. He beareth Argent, a Lath-Man (or Lath Cleever) with a Bundle, or Bunch of Laths on his right shoulder, Or: Doublet and Breeches Azure; Apron, Hat, and Shoes, Sable.

A Man in a yellow Waistcote, and black Breeches close to the Legs and Thighs, with an Armed Garland about his Temples, carrying a bundle of Bowstaves on his Shoulder, Vert. Is the Crest of the Bowyers in Chester.

Terms used by the Fletchers, or Arrow - Makers.

A Staff, the first cleaving out of the Timber, to make the Shaft.

Pointing of it out, is the first cutting of it round with a Knife out of the rough.

Ripping it, is to give it the first round.

Shaving, is round with an hollow Shave.

Smooth it, is to Polish the same smooth with a Fish-skin.

Slitting it, putting the Horn for the nick.

A Cross slit, making the nick of the Arrow.

Fitting the Head, cutting the end to put on the Pill head.

Heading the Arrow, is Gluing it on.

Drawing the Feathers.

Cutting, or stripping the Feathers of the Quills.

Parcing the Feathers, is to cut the backs to make them lie close.

Ribbing, is cutting the side skirts away.

Cutting them of a length, is to cut them to their shapes and breadth.

Dressing the Feathers, putting them in a wet cloth to keep them even and straight.

Polishing.

Polishing, or Glazing, or Varnishing the Arrow with Glue; is to rub it over as far as the Feathers go with Glue, before they are set on.

Feathering the Arrow, is to Glue on the Feathers. Parcing or Cutting them down, is cutting the Feathers even and all of a length and breadth.

Poising the Arrows, is to know whether the pair of Arrows be of an equal weight as they are of a length.

Turning them, is to give them a Twerle in ones hand, to know whether they be straight.

Staff, the Bow-staff at its first cleft.

Perowing them with the Hatchet.

Pointing them.

Plaining them.

Set them to the right, is if they be crooked to set them straight.

Horn them.

Stick the Horns.

Plain them the second time.

String them to see whither they come right, one place as well as another.

Rasp them, to make them in a little shape.

Polish them, to make them smooth.

Rub them with a Boars tooth and an Oyle cloth, to them shine and set a glos on them.

XLVII. He beareth Argent, a Stringer, or a Man in a side Skirted Coat pet Pale Argent and Vert, Breeches and Hose counterchanged, Cap & Shoes Sable: having a Staff on his left Shoulder, with a Bugge of Bow-strings hung at the end thereof, Or. This is the Crest of the Bow-String-Maker, commonly called the Stringers of the City of Chesler.

XLVIII. He beareth Gules, a Man sitting on a Block Apron and Waistcoat, Argent: Hatchelling or Dressing of Flax, Or. This belongs to the Flax-Dressers Company: and is their Crest or Cognizance.

Things belonging to Dressing and Spinning of Hemp and Flax.

A Gigge, is a hole in the Ground where Fire is made to dry the Flax.

A Flake, or Hurdle of sticks laid over the Gigge hole on which the Flax is laid.

A Brake, or Flax Brake: is two pieces of Timber with Teeth made in them to bruse Flax stalks.

A Swingle Foot.

A Swingle Hand, corruptly a Swingoto Hand: a thing like a Wooden Fauchion with a square hole or handle.

An Hatchel, of which there are several sorts one finer then another, these are long Iron Pinns set orderly in a Board with which Hemp and Flax is combed into fine haies.

An Hurdle.

A Wheele and Distaffe, a Reel, and Reeling Pinn.

Parringle blades, Foot or Stand, and Parringle Pegs, or Pinns.

[]

The Sowing and Dressing of Hemp and Flax is a Branch of Huswifery: and is generally performed by Good Houswives at home, though other make a Trade of it abroad, however if at home or abroad, so the Country be supplied I shall be satisfied. Yet here give me leave to set down all the Terms of Art used by all Good Houswives, in this their work of Huswifery, from the first growing of these Herbs or Plants, viz. Hemp and Flax, till the same be made fit for the Weaver to make it into Cloth.

Terms of Art used by Hemp and Flax Dressers and Spinners.

Linseed, is the seed of Flax.

Hemp-seeds, groweth to Hemp.

Pulling, is to pull it up by the Roots, when at the full growth.

Bundling, is tying the Stalks up in Bunges.

Watering or Diving, is to lay the Bunges in water with weight on them to keep them from swimming.

Spreading, is to lay them abroad to dry.

Gigging, is to dry the Hemp or Flax over a Fire, made in a hole of the ground, which is called the Gigge or Gigge hole; and to laid upon a Flake, after the manner of a Kilne.

Baking, is the crushing, and brusing the Stalks, between peeces of Wood with Teeth like a Saw, made in them.

Pilling, is to Pill off the outward skin of the stalks of the Hemp, when they do not break it, reserving the stalk whole.

Swingowing, is the beating off the brused inward Stalk of the Hemp or Flax, from the outward pill, which as the Hemp or Flax.

Heading it, is to tie the said Hemp or Flax so swirgled into small bundles, which they call Heads of Flax.

Hatchelling, is to comb with Iron pinns to make it finer.

Hemp Huerds, the coufe that is drawn out of the dresse.

Hemp all one way, that is dresse.

Cest of Hemp, long and strong Hemp.

Steel Hemp, long and strong Hemp.

Kirtle Flax, is twelve heads in a bunch, and is about an hundred pounds in weight.

Rogisca, five heads is three pounds.

Pater Roster, ten handfulls in a strick, is 2 pounds.

Hemble, five heads, is two pounds.

Podola, three Bands is a bunch, & is forty two pounds.

Quinsborough, three Bands in a bunch, forty two pounds.

Elvens, three Bands in a bunch, forty two pounds.

A Baile of Flax.

A Bunch of Flax.

A Head of Flax, is twelve Stricks tied up to make a Bunch.

A Strick, is about ten handfulls made up together in a head.

A Handful, or hand of Flax, is an handfull tied up. Dysfening.

Dyponing, is opening and drawing the Flax to put it on the Distaff.

Carding of Huerds.

Spinning, is to twist the Flax hairs into Yarn or Thrid.

Reeling, is to wind the Yarn of the Wheel Spool on a Reel.

Knotting, or Delching, is to make a Knot or Cagg at every hundred times winding the Yarn about the Reel.

Cagging with the made Hank.

A Slipping, is as much as is wond upon the Reel at a time, which is generally about a pound of Yarn.

An Hank, is a slipping made up into a Knot.

A Lay-band, is an Inkle or Packthrid as tieth the Hank in the middle, by which it is hung up.

A Houswives pound of Yarn, or Teer; is two Wax pounds.

A War pound, is sixteen Ounces.

Fine hatchelling, and Round hatchelling.

An Hurle, is the hair of the Flax, which is either fine or round.

Shoves, are the small breakings of the Hemp or Flax stalks which often sticketh in the coursest sort of them.

Huerds, is that as is pulled out of the Teere or fine Flax.

Fine Flax, or Teere.

Flax all one way, is Flax in the ruff, undressed.

Scadding, or Steeping the Yarn.

Bucking, is to make it something white by washing it in Lye made of Gorse Ashes.

Dying, is to hang it up in the Aire to dry after the Washing or Bucking.

Winding, is to make it out of Hanks into round Cues or Balls.

A Clue of Yarn, is Yarn wond into a round Ball.

Yarn, is the single thrid of either Hemp or Flax.

Warping, is bringing to the Weavers to Lay for Cloth.

Weaving, is the Weavers work who make it into cloth, from whence it hath these Denominations, either.

Readings, is a coarse sort of Cloth.

Huswives Cloath, is the middle sort between fine and coarse.

Flaren, is the finest sort of Cloth made of Flax.

Whitning, is to make the Cloth white, which is the last thing of this part of Good Huswifry.

XLIX. He beareth Azure, a Weaver working at his Lomme, all proper. This is the Crest of the Silk Lye Weavers, and Ribbon Weavers, for the City of Chester only: All other Weavers bearing the Coat and Crest belonging to the common Weavers of Woollen and Linnen.

The several Parts of a Loom, or Weavers Frame.

The Frame, is the four standing peeces with the cross peeces to hold them that they stand upright.

The Yarn Beam, is that as hath the Yarn rowled about it, at the end whercof is a Wheele with a catch or two or three on it.

The Latch, is an Iron or peece of Wood that falls into the Catch of the Wheele aforesaid, which holds the Yarn Beam from turning.

The Leath, that is a moving Frame in which the reed is placed by which the Woof is knockt or beaten into the Warp.

The Reed, is that like Barrs of a Grate through which the Warp or Yarn runs.

The Coats, are the thrids that the Yarn run through: they are lifted up and down by help of the tradles, by means whercof they Warp at every cast of the Shuttle is crossed, one contrary to the other.

The Pullees, or Pullases; are those turning things on the top of the Frame by which with the help of the tradles the Spring-staves are raised up and down.

The Spring-staves, are the rising and falling staves, which have the Coats or Thrids fixed to them.

The Tradles, are playing staves at the bottom of the Frame from whence there goeth Robes or small Cords to Pulles and Spring-staves, which being put down with the Weavers Feet by help of the said Pulles raise and fall the Spring-staves, which by means of the Coats or thridden Nucces fixed to them raises by turns. and falls every other thrid or yard in the Warp.

The Breast Beam, is that as the Workman sets his Breast unto when he is Weaving.

The Cloth Beam, is that as the cloth is rouled upon, as it is Woven: It hath an Iron Wheel full of Notches, and a Catch, that is to hold it fast from turning.

The Thrum, and a Fent; is the cuttings off of the cloth when it is Woven, the remaining being the ends of the Warp, which being so short cannot be Woven, hath only a narrow peece of cloth fixed to it.

Terms of Art used by Weavers.

Wind the Beam, is to turn the Beam that the Warp may wind about it.

Rod the Lace, is to put two Rods through the cross thrids which were crossed at the Warping.

Knit to the Thrum, is to tie the end of the Yarn to the end of the Thrid that hangs from the Fent of the Thrum.

Draw through the Coat, is to put every particular thrid, through a particular Nucc of Pack-thrid hanging at the Stick or Rod.

Draw through the Reed, is to put the same through every cleft of the cloven Reeds.

Cord the Rode, that is tie the Cords to the Rod that goeth through the Fent that holds the Thrum together.

Trade the Tradles, is to make one fall, and another rise, by setting the foot upon each.

Winding of Pinn, is the winding of Yarn upon a Reed or Pinn.

Set the Pin, is to put it into the Trough or hole of the Shuttle.

Weave, is to cast the Shuttle through the cross Thrids or Yarn over cross the Loom.

Knock or beat the Warp, is the striking with the Reed the crossed Warp and Woof close together.

Beere, is nineteen ends of Yarn running all together out of the Trough upon the VVall, all the length of the cloth.

Warp, is all the Yarn that runs the length of the cloth, let it have either more or less Beers in, according as the breadth of the cloth is intended: for the broader the cloth is, the more Beers, or nineteen thrids must be warped into it.

Woofe, is that Yarn which is wrought out of the Shuttle, in the overthwart working.

L. He beareth Sable, a Cooper in his Waistcote, and Cap, Argent: Breeches and Hose, Russet: with an Arms lifted up in his right hand, and a Diver in his left, trussing up a Barrell with fire out of the top of it, all proper.

Terms used in the Art of Coopersy, viz. making of Barrells.

Trussing a Barrel, is putting it together from Boards or Staves within a Hoop.

Trussing Hoop, is a large strong Hoop which is first put about the Barrel staves to draw them to their compass.

Paring the Staves.

Fireing and Driving.

Hooping or Hoop.

Twigging a Hoop, is binding the two ends together with cloven Twiggs of Withy, or Osier Twiggs.

Noching of a Hoop, when the two ends are cut into two contrary cross Nochings or Nicks, which being put into the other, holds as fast as if it were Twigged.

Twiggs.

Barrel staves, or Boards; are long and slender or narrow Boards, which Barrells and other Vessels for liquor are made off.

Grooping, is the making of the Rigget at the two ends of the Barrel to hold the head in.

Heading, or Head; is to put in the round Boards fitted together into the Groop made to receive them.

Cross Barr, is the fixing of a Bar or two over the head of the Barrel to keep it firmly and strongly in its place.

- - - - - the Peggs as keeps the cross Barrs on.

Chine, or Lag; is a piece put into the top of a Barrel staff that is broken off at the Grooping.

Belly, is the round swelling bulk of the Barrell.

Bungg, is a large round hole in the side through which liquor is put into the Barrel.

Uent, is a small hole made to give Wind to the Barrel.

Cap, is the Forset hole made in the head of the Barrel to draw the Liquor out.

Several sorts of Vessells made after the Form and Fashion of Barrells.

A Dyftett.

A Tunn, is eight Barrells.

An Hogshhead, is two Barrells.

A Pipe, is a Barrel and half.

An half Pipe, is three Firkins.

A Barrel, is four Firkins, or thirty six Gallons.

An half Barrel, is two Firkins.

A Firkin.

A Kilderkin.

An half Firkin.

A Rundlet of thirty six quarts, all other Vessels less are called Rundlets of twelve, ten, six, four quarts &c. till you come to a Rundlet for Oysters pickled, containing about a quart, or a pint and half.

Terms used by the White - ware Cooper.

Falling, is the falling of the Trees, to make the work with.

Cleeving, is the cutting it into length for the work, which are termed according to the work for which they are ordered: as Boards, Hoopes, Bottoms, Staves, Pins, &c.

Hewing, is cutting it even from the running of the Grain.

Drawing, is putting the Wood into the pairing ladder, to shave and cut it to what thinness is fit for the work.

Joynting, is fitting the Boards or Staves, so that the joynts lie close and tite.

Peel Shaving.

Bozeing.

Grooping, is the making of the Rigget at the lower part of the Vessel to hold the bottom in.

Buckling, is the putting of the Vessel boards together with a Hoop about them, so making its compass.

Sawing, is to make the Staves all even at the ends, or top and bottom.

Hooping, is fastning the Hoops on the work made.

Quarter Cleeving, Trees cloven into four quarters.

Boults, the sawed peeces into lengths, out of which Laths or Latts are cloven.

Bottoms, are peeces of Wood to put in the bottoms of Vessels to make them hold any kind of Liquor: called Bottom Boards.

Staves, are cleft Wood, made either longer or shorter as the work requires.

Hoops, are long, slender, narrow peeces, cleft all the length of a Tree.

Pins, short, round, or square peeces of Wood, about six, eight, or ten inches long, and an inch or more in Diameter: or much larger if they be for great Work, as Combs, Tubs, &c.

L. He

II. He beareth Azure, a Carpenter Squaring of a long piece of Timber, lying on two Rowlers, Or: his Manicote Gules, Beeches and Hose Ruffet, Pat and Shooes, Sable.

In the Dexter base of this quarter, is the Figures of a Man and a Woman walking together: and such a like bearing I find to belong to the Coat Armour of the City of Dantzic in the Empire of Germany, viz. Or on a fesse Vert, between an Eagle Displayed Sable: and a Crofs Patee Azure: two Spaniards and their Wives Walking together, Argent. I might call them either French, or Spanish; because they contrary to us English, ever take the better hand of their Wives: as it is here to be seen. Some term them Mutually walking, or Coambulant, or Main a Main Ambulant.

Terms used in Carpentry.

Arch, is any work wrought circular, as the tops of Window frames, the top of Gates, and the Roof of Vaults.

Back, or Hip Moulding, is the Moulding in the back Hips, or Vally Rafters in the angle or corner of the back part of a Building.

Bannister, is the little Pillars set in a Balcony or Stair-case.

Base, is commonly the bottom of a Pillar or Column, or Pillaster, or the bottom of any Building; termed also the Basis or Foundation.

Batement, is to cut off or waste a piece of Timber to form it to the purpose designed; that a Workman instead of asking how much was cut off such a piece of Stuff, will say what Batement had such a piece.

Batter, is when the side, or part of the side of a Wall, or any Timber Bulges out from its foundation or bottom; this is said to Batter or hang over the foundation.

Battlement, is a flat Roof or Platform to walk on; but Battlements are more properly used for Walls built above the Plat-form to inclose it, as is seen in Towers and Castles of Defence.

Baulk, is a piece of Fir unsplit, from four to ten inches square, and is of any length.

Bear, that is Timber is said to bear at its whole length, when neither a Prop, Wall, or any thing stands between the ends of it; but if any such things be under it, and that the Timber rests upon it, then it is said to bear only in that distance where it hath no support. Thus Carpenters ask what Bearing such a piece of Timber hath? The Answer is 10, 12, 15, &c. foot, according to the length of the whole Timber unsupported, or distance between each end of the Timber.

Bearer, is a prop, post, or wall made up between the two ends of a piece of Timber to shorten its bearing, or help the weight that lyeth upon it.

Bond, is to make fast two or more pieces of Timber well together, either by good Tennanting and Mortefing, or by Duff-tailing and such like.

Brad, is a Nail without a head to floor Rooms withall, it is with us termed a Sprig, and is about the size of a ten penny Nail.

Bulge, see Batter.

Break in, is when with the Ripping Chissel Carpenters are forced to make a hole in a Brick or Stone Wall, to lay the end of a piece of Timber in it.

Bring up, is a term used by Carpenters to Bricklayers or Masons; that is to bring up such a Wall or Chimney, that is, build the Foundation so high, or build the Wall or Chimney.

Butment, is the support of a piece, or a stay of any thing that is laid against it; as a Summer in a Wall, which if the Wall be not strong to support it, but shrink or yield to its weight, it is said not to have good Butment, the Wall is not able to bear it.

Camber, is a piece of Timber cut Arching, so as when a considerable weight is laid upon it, it may in length of time be reduced to a straight.

Cantilevers, pieces of VWood framed into the front or sides of a House, to sustain the Moulding and Eaves over them; called also Cantelevers.

Carcase, is (as it were) the Skeleton or Frame of an House new raised, having neither Laths nor Plaster on it.

Cartouses, or Catouses, are VWooden Corbells ornamented, or wrought with turned Carved VWork.

Clear Story Window, are such VWindows that have no transum or crofs piece in the middle of them to break the same into two Lights.

Coping over, is a sort of VWork hanging over its upright VWall, which is generall Beveling on its under side.

Cornice.

Corbel, is a piece of Timber set under another piece to discharge its bearing.

Discharge a Wall, or piece of Timber, set up to another crofs piece, that is not able to bear the weight laid upon it, is said to be a discharge to that bearing.

Double Quarter, see Quarter.

Draft, is the form and manner of an intended Building described on a Paper, wherein is laid down the devised divisions and partitions of every room in a due proportion according to its scale. Some term it a Model or Ground Plot.

Drag, as a Door is said to drag, when either by its ill hanging on its Hinges, or the ill Boarding of the Room, the bottom edge of the Door rides (in its sweep) upon the Floor.

Enter, is when the Tennant is put into the Mortels, they are said to enter the Mortelles.

Feather Edge, Boards or Planks that have one edge thinner than another, are called Feather Edge stuff.

Furrings, is the making good of the Rafters feet in the Cornice.

Flyers, are Stairs made of an oblong square figure, whose fore and back sides are Parallel to each other, and so are their ends. The second kind of these Flyers stand Parallel behind the first, the third behind the second, and so are said to fly off from one another.

Foot-pace, is a broad place in a pair of Stairs, whereon you may take two or three paces before you ascend another Step, which is looked upon to be a great ease to the the Legs in ascending the rest of the Steps.

Flow, it is as well taken from the whole frame of the Floor, as the boarding of it over.

Gable, or Gable End, is the top end of an House, which reacheth just so far as the covering of the House, Eaves excepted, for they generally are lower.

Gain, is the letting of one piece of Timber Bevel-ways into another; that is, by shouldering or lapping of the end of a Joyce or Spar, &c. and then the cutting the thickness of the said shoulder in another piece bevilling it upwards, so that it may receive the Gain, and so the two pieces lie even and level upon their superficies.

Ground-plot, is the piece of Ground a Building is to be erected upon.

Hang over, see Batter.

Hand-spike, see Lever.

Juffers, are pieces of Stuff or Timber about 4 or 5 inches square, and of several lengths.

Knee, or Knee piece, or Kneeler, is a piece of Timber growing angularly or crooked; that is, a great Branch shooting out near the top of the Trunk of the Tree, and is so cut that the Trunk and the Branch makes an Angle. Some call it a Crook, or a Knee-Rafter.

Landing place, it is the uppermost step of a pair of Stairs; that is the floor of a room you ascend upon.

Lever, is the same piece in Wood as the Crow is in Iron; it is an Instrument whereby great Timber is lifted up; in some places called Hand-spikes.

Lintel, is a piece of Timber laid over a Window or Door-Case, either in Brick or Stone-work, to trim or fall even with the same Frames; and is as well to bear the thickness of the Wall laid over it, as to make a Bond, or be a binding to the sides of the Wall.

Mouldison, see Cantelever.

Mouldings, are the running of several sorts of Plains upon the edges of Spars, Joyce or other Stuff to adorn it; as in Chimney pieces, the inward edges of Window Frames, Shelves, &c.

Model, is the first draught, or frame, or fashion by which a House is to be Built.

Plate, is a piece of Timber upon which some considerable weight is framed; hence it is, that we call the place where any work is framed, Ground Plate, Window Plate, &c.

Profile, is the same with Ground Plot.

Projecture, is the Jetting over the upright of a Building with another Building; thus Balconies project into the Street; and one Story in a House projects that below it.

Puncheons, are short pieces of Timber placed under some considerable weight to support it.

Props, are longer pieces of Timber used to support a decayed Building.

Puglaises, are short pieces of Stuff used instead of Handspikes.

Quarters, are Timber of two sizes, viz. Single Quarters are Sawn Stuff, two inches thick, and four inches broad.

Double Quarters are Sawn to four inches square, and are of any length as the Workman ordereth.

Quartering, in the Front or sides of the House, in each Story all the working in of cross pieces or cant, into the principal Posts, Jaums, or Window frames, viz. the upright Trimmings and the Braces as some call them, are called Quartering.

Quirk, is a piece taken out of any regular Ground Plot or Floor; which said piece so taken out, is generally of a square nature; a square being struck into four parts, one of those parts in Carpentry Terms is called a Quirk.

Rail, Rails, stand over and under Banisters of Balconies and Stair-cases, &c.

Rafter, is the Board set on edge under the forehead of a Step in a pair of Stairs, which makes the height of the Step.

Raising-piece, are such pieces that lie under the ends of Beams and Summers upon Brick or Stone Work, or upon Timber Wall Plats by the sides of Houses.

Relish, see Projecture.

Return, is either of the adjoining sides of the front of an House, or Ground-plot, of some called a Return side.

Ridge, is the top of the House; where the meeting of the Spars or Rafter is on both sides of the House, is called the Ridge.

Roof, is the covering of the House; but the word is used in Carpentry, for the Timber work of the covering.

Scribe, see in Joyners Terms.

Shake, is such Stuff as is crackt either with the heat of the Sun, or Drought, or Wind, is called Shaken Stuff.

Shingles, small pieces of Wood used to cover Houses with instead of Tiles or Slates.

Shreadings, are the lower ends of the principal Rafter in the front of the House. Some term them Stirrings.

Sells, or Sells, are either Ground Sells, which are the bottom pieces of Timber on which the House is Built; or Window Sells, which are the bottom pieces of Window frames. Some term these Sils.

Stair-Case, is the inclosure of a pair of Stairs, whether it be with Walls, or with Rails and Bannisters, &c.

Stancheons, see Puncheons.

Scale, is the measure of the ground Plot on the Paper draught, by which the work is made.

Skirts, are the projecting of the Eaves over the Wall plat, to secure the Wall from Rain.

Transom, is the piece that is framed a cross; a double Light Window.

Trim, is when Workmen fit a piece into another piece, they say they trim in a piece.

Cusk, is a Bevel shoulder made to strengthen the Tennant of a Joyst, which is let into the Summer or Girder.

Valley Rafter, see Back Moulding.

Well-hole, is the void place in the middle of a square Stair-case, by which one may see from the bottom to the top of the Stairs.

Wall-plate, is the side of the Wall; or more peculiarly used by Workmen for the Timber in the Wall, whether upright or overthwart; all together makes but a Wall or Wall-plate.

III. He beareth Argent, upon an Hill in Base, Vert, a Mason skabbling of an Ashler, Or, Mast-coat, Gules, Bat, Breaches, Stockings and Spurs, Sable, Pick Axe, Azure. By the help of Masonry the most glorious Structures in the World have been set up; as if their Art did endeavour to imitate the Handy Works of God, in making little Worlds in the great Fabrick of the Universe.

Terms of Art used by Free Masons Stone-Cutters.

Guttering, is to make Gutters or Furrows in the top of the Rock, thereby to loosen it from the rest of the Rock.

Rigalding, is to set in the Wedges.

Setting,

Driving, is to strike in the Wedges, to force up the Bed or Litt of Stone, or that great piece of the Rock which was guttered about, or on two sides.

Cutting, is to cut that great piece of the Rock into any piece or shape as the Workman gives Order for, whether it be into Ashlers, Perpains, Flags, Gravestones, &c.

Skable, is the first working of a Stone out of the rough, and making it into shape for the use it is to be put unto.

Broach, is to hew away the rough skabbling stroaks.

Axe, is to work the Stone smooth, with a broad sharp Axe.

Rub, is to rub the wrought Stone with another, thereby to make it even, and wear away all the stroaks the Axe hath left in the Stone.

Cleanse, is to make the Joints in a Wall or Floor even, so that one edge of a Stone shall not be higher than another.

Plowing, see Skable.

Levell, is to see that a Floor be laid streight and even.

Plime, is to be streight in Walls, which is tried by the Plime Rule.

Champher, is to take the square edge of a Stone off Beville ways.

Names of Stons according to their bigness, and the use they are put to.

Rough Stone, or Penny Stone, such as are rough cut out of the Quarry, and are without any shape or form to make work of.

Perpin, are less than the size of Ashlers.

Ashler, is a Stone a Yard long, and 8, 9, or 10 inches square, according as the work will bear it.

Flag, Broad Stones for Floors of several breadths and lengths, and about three or four inches thick.

Girdle-stone, round Stones to sharpen Toolcs upon.

Mill-stone, a mixt stone of great and small Pipes, made round for grinding of Corn.

[]

Grave-stone, long and broad Stones to lay on Buried Bodies, which are about five or six inches thick.

Fractable, are the wrought stones that run up the Gable ends or Dormant Windows, which are made of Brick or Houses of Stones.

Crow-stone, is a Stone cut to rest upon the end, or point of the Gable end, on which a Pinnacle of Stone is fixed.

Finishing, or Pinnacle-stones.

Gutter-stone, is to have an half round cut in Stone, for water to run in, thereby to convey it away.

Crists, are wrought Stones, either half round, or with Bottles, or triangular; to lay on Brick or Stone Walls to secure them from weather. Some call them Top Stones.

Corbills, Stones set out of Walls to hold things on.

Coin, or Coin-end; are Stones laid in a Brick Wall at the corners of a House: called also Quine-stones. They are a yard long, and three Brick in thickness.

Note that Sixty Ashlers is reconed for an Hundred.

There are several other terms used by the Free-Masons which belong to buildings, Pillars and Columbs, to which places I shall refer you, lib. 3. chap. 13. numb. 55, 56. &c.

Terms of Art used by Free-Masons.

Antiques or Antique Work, is Carvings, of several forms and figures either Men, Beasts, Birds, Flowers and the like; turning and Winding into fouldage, or Scrowles, or jagged leaves.

Architrave, is the bottom part of a Cornish or several ways of Mouldings.

Abacus, is any flat or square in a Cornish.

Annulets, are all the small Rings or Fillets made in Pillars, or between Mouldings in Corniches.

Astragal, or Astragolus; are the round Rings with Fillets on each side, set at the bottom of Capitals, or Pillar Heads.

Buttresses, are square Pillars set at the out side of a Wall to support it from falling.

Butment, is good strong building on which Arches are built, or any part that other work is built against, which it must support.

Battlements, the top of Castle Walls.

Basis, or Base; the Foot of a Columb, or Bottom, or Foundation of a Wall or other building.

Breaking of a Cornice, when it runs not straight, but is made with returns: under which breakings are set Catoufes, or hung Drops (or pendals in Wood work) for Ornament.

Collarino, the bottom Ring, with its Fillets in the foot of a Capital. The same to Astragal.

Cambia, the same to Annulett.

Ceintures, the same.

Corona, is a flat in a Cornice, with a Channel or Rigger at the Bottom inwards.

Cima,

Cima, or Cimatia, or Cimatum; is a bending in the top of a Cornice in form of an S. but not so much bending: of some it is called an O. G. see Scima.

Capital, the Head, or Moulding, or Carved work on the top of a Columb or Pillar or Pillaster.

Chapiter, that which is set upon the Head or Capital of a Pillar to further Adorn or Beautifie the work, as Balls, Pine Apples, Beasts sitting holding Shields, with such like.

Cavetto, is an half round of a Cornice inward, in the Capital of a Pillar: the same to Scotia.

Cartouches, or Catouces; the turning Scrowles in form of an S. which are generally Carved, and set under the breaking of a Cornice, or support of a Beam, or such like.

Center, the middle of any round Body, or Circumference.

Columb, a round Pillar: see Pillar.

Cantilevers, Stones wrought into Scrowles, Corbills, on which a Wall may be further jetted out, for the benefit of some Room or Place of Easment.

Cornice, is any kind of Moulding work that over scileth or projects the place it stands upon.

Claretter Windows, that have no cross Barrs in them.

Dado, or Dye; is a flat in a Cornice or Pedestal, a square and broad Fillet.

Diametre, or Diameter; the breadth of any round from side to side over the Center.

Dentilles, are squares left on a square or flat part of a Cornice, to set out the work.

Echinus, the same to Ovolo.

Frize, is the second part of work in the bottom of a Cornice or Capital, and next after the Architrave: And it may be plain, or swelling out with a round.

Flutes, are the hollows, or channels in a Cornithian Pillar.

Fascia, are flats in a Cornith towards the Bottom: also termed a Frise.

Fillets, see Annulets.

Gutta, are Drops, or square pieces, or things like Bells, cut on the Frize, to set out the work.

Gradetten, are certain kind of Mouldings, or Carved work, on the flats of Cornices.

Head, the top of a Pillar, or of a Window or Door.

Oppotra = cheltum, is a Frise or Freze.

Imposset of Arches, are the Capitals of Pillasters, on which the springal of the Arch resteth.

Inter-columes, the distance of the Columb from a Wall.

Jaumes, the sides of a stone Window, or Door case: see Peers.

Liscella and Teinture, the same to Annulet.

Mullion or Munnions, the upright stands of a Stone Window.

Module, the Patern by which a Fabrick or Building is wrought, a rule to make his work by.

Mod lions, things like ends of Spatts fixed on the Cimatum of the Cornice.

Metopa, the Frize or flat of a Cornice, or any other place wherein Dropps, Scrowles, Triangle peeces and such like are set to Adorn the Cornice.

Mouldings, the general terms for all the rounds, flats, and other turnings in the parts of a Cornice.

Nowel, is the middle Pillar, or Post of a turning, or winding Stairs.

Ovolo, is a quarter round under a projecting square: a Moulding that is out at the top, and turns in at the bottom.

Ovlo, see Plynth.

Project, or Projecture; is that as over hangs, or stands further out then the thing it stands upon; as the Capital doth the Pillar.

Plynth, is the bottom part of the Basis of a Pillar, and also of the Pedestal.

Pedestal, is the Foot or Foundation of a Columb, and its Basis.

Pillar, is that which is square in the Body; a Columb round.

Pillaster, is half a Pillar, or Columb fixed to a Wall.

Peeces, the sides of Windows or Doors.

Rustick, is in the Joynts of every stone, either for Fractable or Pillasters taken of square, so it looks like a square set on a square.

Rebailed, is in the same way of work, but in this the joynts are but champhered, so that it is two edges of the joynt taken off.

Springall, is the foot or bottom of an Arch, or the place of its Foundation or beginning to rise.

Scima, see Cima, and Cimatum.

Scima Recta, is the top of a Cornice or Capital in form of an S.

Scima Reversa, is the bottom of the Basis or Pedestal and turns contrary to the former: an S the wrong way.

Stilobatum, is the Pedestal.

Scotia, is an inward half round, either in Capital, or Pedestal: see Cavetto.

Scrowles, see Cartouches.

Trigiffes, are triangle peeces set on the Frise, to set it out handsome to the Eye.

Torus, the same to Scima Reversa; but usually this is round: if two be in a Pedestal, they are called the upper and the lower Torus. Some call it Torcus.

Tenia.

Transome Window, that hath cross Barrs in it, to the third part.

Trasery, is the working of the top part of a Window to several forms and fashions.

Claustring, is to make the Jaumes, or sides of Stone Windows and Doors, to over sail the other part of the Wall they are set in: and this is performed with any kind of Cornice the Master pleaseth.

Zocco, the same to Plynth: called the Zocco of the Bale or of the Pedestal.

See more concerning these Terms in their true shapes, chap. 13. numb. 65. 66. 73. 74.

LIII. He beareth Or, on a Mount in Base, a Labourer rowling of a Wheel-Barrow, Gules; Clothen Azure: Hat and Shoes, Sable. Some term him a Barrow-Labourer, as being only employed in that work to fetch and bring Burthens: Some term him only a Wheeler: or Barrow-Men when it is carried between two Labourers.

In the Dexter side of this square, is the figure of a Fools Head couped at the Shoulders, Or: Cap, and Ass Ears, Azure: Belled, Or. Which is the Crest of Rallyhoff of Allmiz. Some only term this a Fools Head clothed O. Capped B. the Fools Cap being ever drawn with long Ears, and round Bells hanging at the tip ends thereof: see numb. 69.

LIV. He beareth Gules, a Potter sitting on a Stool working at his Wheel, Or; Cap and Shift, Argent: Apron, Vert: Breeches and Hose, Azure. This Crest belongs to the Potters, or sellers of Earthen or Tinkney Ware.

LV. He beareth Argent, a Rope-Makers Spinning or Twisting Wheel, Tenne; with a Man sitting thereat, Clothed Azure: Hat and Shoes Sable. Some more short blazon it, a Man sitting and turning of a Rope-Makers Wheel. See in the addition Plate for this Chapter, numb. 42. the manner of Twisting several Ropes into one Gable.

Terms used by the Roper.

Spinning, is the Twisting of the Hemp into a Yarn, or single Thrid.

Rope Yarn, the Yarn spun by the Roper.

Warping, is the laying of so many Thrids or Rope Yarns together, as will make a Rope.

Catting,

Laying, is the putting of so many Ropes into the Slead as will make a Gable; that is Laying a Gable.

Barbe or Plat the Gable.

Strands, the Twists of a Rope.

Fakes, one of the Ropes made into a Cable, or by Fakes is ment one of the lesser Thrids, or Rope Yarn; used to the making up of any small Cord, or Rope.

Sorts of Ropes.

Rope Yarn, the first spinning of the Hemp.

Packthrid, is 2 small yarns or thrids twisted together.

Small Cord, is two thicker or three twisted together.

Cord, Bed-Cord, or an Halter, a Pack-Cord: is also three large Fakes Twisted.

Rope, Carr-rope, Bucked or Well-rope, a Bell-rope: all aforesaid being a Degree one thicker then another.

Gable, a small Gable, middling Gable, or a great and thick Gable: which are used at Great and Tall Ships, Men of War, &c.

LVI. He beareth Argent, a Printer Working at his Printing-Press, all proper. Printing as some Authors have it, was used in China, and Prefter John, above a 1000 Years since; though it was not known in this part of the World till about the Year 1430. In which instance the Letters were cut in Wooden blocks altogether, by one Laurenz Janz Koster of Harlem; who after left Wood off, and cut Letters in Steel, and cast them in Metal: yet John Gutenberg of Mentz in Germany promotes his claim to the first invention of this Art by single Letters before Koster, and is more generally accepted to be so.

[]

After this it was practized in Oxford in the Year 1461. and in London 1471. and about 1480. it began to be received into Venice, Italy, Germany, and other places in these Western parts of the World: inso much that it is now disputed whether Typography and Architecture may not be accounted Liberal Sciences, being so Famous ARTS.

Persons Instrumental about Printing.

The Master Printer, who is the Soul of Printing; all other workmen about it, are as Members to the Body.

The Letter Cutter

The Matrice or Mould-Maker

The Letter Galle

The Letter Dresse

The Compositer

The Corrector

The Press-Man

The Ink-Maker

Besides several other Trades they take into their assistance without whose help they could not work: as Smith, Joyner, Wett-Glover, &c.

The several Parts of a Press.

The Press, is a Machine consisting of many Members, as

The Feet, are the two bottom peeces on which the Cheeks are fixed by Mortels and Tennants.

The Cheeks, are the 2 upright standards of the Press.

The Cap, is the top peece, which fastens the Cheeks above.

The Winder, is a peece under the Carriage: to hold the two Cheeks at a due distance.

The Head, is that peece through which the top of the Screw goeth, having a Female Screw fixed in it.

The Till, is a Board about an Inch thick, through the middle whereof the Shank of the Spindle goeth.

The Hole, is that peece of Iron work through which the Shank of the Spindle goeth.

The Hole Screws, are Screws with ears to turn them, whereby the Platin Cords are made more loose or tyght.

The Hooks on the Hole, on which the Platin hangs, are 4 Hooks on the out sides of the said Iron work.

The Spindle, is the thick peece of Iron on whose top is a Screw of three Worm.

The Neck of the Spindle, that part just under the square.

The Eye of the Spindle, the square hole in the middle.

The Shank of the Spindle, all from the square part to the end.

The Coe of the Spindle, is the very bottom of it, which is of an Hemispherical form.

The Worm, is the out part of the Screw, of which one part lieth below the head of the Press, and the other lies in the Nut in the Head.

The Nut or Screw Box, in which the great Screw turneth.

The Platin, a square Planck with a Smooth Face, to press down on the Letters, and is tied on the Hooks of the Hole.

P

The

The Platin hooks, are four Iron Hooks at the four corners Wormed or Screwed into the said Plank on the upper side.

The Platin Plate, is an Iron fixed in the middle of the Plank, on which is an Iron frame.

The Stud of the Platin, is a kind of a square Pan set on the middle of the Iron frame, so as to take out and put in, in the middle whereof is a center hole, for the Coe of the Spindle to work in.

The Platin Cords, are them as tie the Hooks to the Hole Hooks.

The Bar, is the crooked Iron on which the handle of Wood is fixed.

The Catch of the Bar, it is a Beville Piece of Wood to stay the Bar when it flies back.

The Handle of the Bar, is that by which the Workman turns the Screw.

The Wind Posts, are two upright Posts wrought with round tops, set behind the Cheeks of the Press.

The Hinder Railes, are them as fastens the Posts to the Cheeks, by Worms and Tennants: There are six of them, two behind, and two on each side.

The Wedges of the Till.

The Holes in the Cheeks, are the square holes in which the Tennants of the head are placed.

The Carriage, is the sliding Plank on which the Marble Stone is laid.

The Outward frame of the Carriage,

The Cramp Irons, are square Irons with battered Heads to nail on the under side of the Plank of the Coffin to make it slide the better on the Iron Ribs.

The Iron Ribs, are long Irons fastened on the Wooden Ribs, for the Carriage to slide upon.

The Wooden Ribs on which the Iron Ribs are fastened; they are four set at an equal distance, and so fastened by two end Railes.

The Stay of the Carriage, or the Stay; is the Girth fastened to the Carriage, to hold it that it shall go so far, and no further.

The Coffin, is a square Frame at the fore-end of the Carriage, and is the place where the Marble stone, or Lignum Vitae plank lieth; or is Boded.

The Stone of Marble, or Plank of Lignum Vitae.

The Gutter, is a peece of Wood three Inches larger then the Coffin, and is placed behind it: having a grove in the said Wood.

The Plank, is that on which the Coffin is placed.

The Gallows, is a thing of Wood like it, set on the hinder part of the Plank, and fastened thereon by two Male Dufaille groves.

The Cimpan, is a square Frame, three sides are Wood and one Iron.

The Match Joynt, is the Joynt or Hing fastened to the Cimpan and hinder Raile of the Coffin.

The Inner Cimpan, is a Frame three sides Wood, and one Iron.

The Frisket, is that as is laid on the Paper when it is Printing, to keep it clean.

The Stay of the Frisket, is that as holds it from falling back when it is opened.

The Points, are Iron Plates with a sharp point at one end of them.

The Point Screws, is a square head with a square Shank at the end whereof is a Screw, on which is a Nut with a Female Screw with Ears to twist it about.

The Studs, the peecees of Wood that the Iron Pins of the Barrel turns in.

The Rowler or Barrell, with its shoulder on each side, for the Girth to run in.

The Iron Wheel with Teeth, which upon its turning is stoped against a clicker.

The Turning Clasp, is that as holds the inner Cimpan close within the outer Cimpan.

The Clicker, or stop for the Iron Wheel that it turn not.

The Tube, the square part in the middle of the Spindle.

The Axis or Spindle, is a long Bar of Iron on which the Girth Barrel is fixed.

The Winch, is the Iron by which the Barrel or Girth Rowle is turned.

The Rounce, is the handle of the Winch which is of Wood.

The Sockets, are two Irons in which the Spindle turns.

The Garter or Collier, is the round hoop in compassing the flat Groove, or Neck in the Shank of the Spindle.

The Half Joynt, and the Match half Joynt; are the hinges upon which the Frisket moves, and are taken asunder by taking out the Iron Pin.

The Terms of the Letters according to their Size or Bigness.

1. Pearl,	184.	} contained in 1 Foot
2. Tromparel,	150.
3. Breuer,	112.
4. Long Primer,	92.
5. Pica,	75.
6. English,	66.
7. Great Primer,	50.
8. Double Pica,	38.
9. Two Lined English,	33.
10. Great Cannon,	17 and half.

A Body, is the quantity of each Letter.

A Font, or fund of Letters; is so many as are cast of each Body, whither more or less; which are provided suitable to the Work he designs to do.

Terms Relateing to the Face of a Letter.

Here you must note that the Body of a Letter hath four principal lines passing through it (or at least imagined to pass through it) at Right angles to the Body; viz.

The Top Line, or the Copping; is the straight line stroke or strokes that in the top Line of ascending Letters, as b. d. f. h. k. l. f.

The

The Head Line, is that as ascends above the Body of the Letter.

The Body, is that part as is contained between two Lines, having neither Head nor Foot at it: as a. c. e. i. m. n. o. r. s. v. x. z.

The Foot Line, or Footing; is the straight descending part of the Letter which is below the Body of

The Bottom Line, or Bottom Footing; is the fine straight stroak or stroaks that lie in the foot Line of descending Letters, as p. q. y.

The Stem of a Letter, is the straight down right stroak in every Capital or other Letters, as in B. the straight stroak on the left hand is the Stem: And in I. is all Stem, except topping and footing.

The Fat Stroaks in a Letter, are the thick and gross stroaks or crookes used in all the Capital Letters, in some part of the Letter.

The Lean Stroaks, are the narrow fine stroaks in a Letter, as the left hand stroak of A. and the right hand stroak of V. are lean: and so of all the other Capitals.

The Beak of Letters, is the fine stroak or touch that stands on the left hand of the Stem, either in the top line, as b. d. h. &c. or in the head line, as i. m. n. &c. or on the right hand the Stem, as f. s. t.

The Tails of Letters, is a stroak proceeding from the right hand side of the Stem, in the foot line, as in a. d. t. u. and most of the Italick small Letters have Tails: as also have most swash Letters, but several of their Tails reach down to the bottom line.

The Swash Letters, are Italick Capitals, which have generally long dashing squanging stroaks in them, either at the head or foot.

Note that all Topping and Bottoming Lines, in the Roman Letters pass at right Angles; but oblique Angles in the Italick through the Stems.

The Stem and other fat stroak of Capital Romans is 5 parts of 42 of the whole body, or a 6 part of the height of an ascending Letter (as all Capitals are ascendants) the Body.

The Stem and other fat stroaks of Italick Capitals is 4 parts of 42 the Body.

The Stem of English Capitals is 6 parts of 42 the Body.

The Stem of small Roman is 3 and an half part of 42 the Body.

The Stem of small Italick is 3 parts of 42 the Body.

The Stem of small English is 4 parts of 42 the Body.

Notes of Correction made by the Corrector.

The Corrector in his first reading of the Printed Copy ought to be very carefull and vigilantly examine the proofs, and consider diligently the Pointing, Italicking, Capitalizing, or any error which through mistake is committed by the Compositor, which in the Margent he notes that they may be mended: using these following notes.

c | If he find one Letter instead of another, as tho for the word the, he dashes out the wrong Letter, & writs the Letter it should be in the Margent of the Page or Columne right against the same Line where the mistake is: Some making a dash behind it as afore is noted.

o | r | c | a If two or three or more words in the same line have faults in them, as an o for an a, or c instead of c, and t instead of r, and c in place of o, he marks in an orderly succession towards the same line, beginning near the end of the line with the first faulty Letter, and so the others after it.

smile | If one word be set instead of another, as Scoff instead of Smile, here he scores out scoff and writs smile in the Margent over against it.

Λ If a word, or words, or Letter, or Comme, or Point be left out he makes such a mark between the Words or Letters where it is left out, for a mark of Insertion (as it is termed) and write in the Margent what must come in.

If a Space be left out between two words he makes the former mark of Insertion where it should come in, and makes this mark in the Margin.

out If a whole Line or Sentence be left out, too long to be writ in the Margent, he makes the mark of Insertion where it is left out and only Writs (out, or wants) in the Margent. If it be very long that is left, that it cannot be writ in the left hand Margent or under the Page: Some Correctors will write in the Margent, see the Coppy.

§ If a Word or Sentence be set twice as him him, he marks out one him, and makes this mark against it in the Margent, which is termed a Deleator of Deleo, to take out.

⊙ If a Letter be turned or set up side down, he dashes it out makes this mark in the Margent. It is termed a Uertex or Uertigon from Verto to turn.

∞ If v, ords or Letters are Transposed, (that is) one word stands in another words place, or thus; no I love Swearing, when it should be I love no Swearing: he marks this fault by drawing the crooked Line over the (no) and under the word (I love) to the place it should come in, this is Termed a Transpositi-on.

∞∞ The like mark he makes in the Matter and in the Margin over against it, if two Letters are transposed; as shuold, where the u is before the o. Yet some Correctors will make a dash with a Pen through uo and make such a mark in the Margent.

| If a Space or an n or m Quadrate &c. stricks up and Prints black, as between these words, he makes such a mark in the Margin over against the Line it is in.

Ital. Eng. If the word be set in Roman Letters instead of Italick or English Letters, he makes a dash under the word, and Writs Ital. or Eng. in the Margent.

In the like manner, if a single Letter or more Letters be set in Roman Letter, and it should be in Italick or English Letter: or if in English or Italick and it should be Roman Letter, he dashes under the Letter or Letters, and Writs in the Margin what it should be, either Ita. Rom. or Eng.

— If words in Copies are to be set in Italic or English or in Capital Letters, they are to have a line or lines drawn under them: for the Italic word a single line is to be drawn under it. If English words a double or two lines thus = under; and if the word must be all in Capitals, then a line of Pricks thus is drawn under it, or else a line with red Ink.

[If there be cause to make a break where there is none, in such case he makes a Crotchet thus [at the word he would have begin his new Paragraph.

Cap. If lower Case Letters be set instead of Capitals, he dashes them underneath or upon the Letter and Writes in the Margin Cap.

After all this the Corrector examines that all the Signatures are right, and all the Titles and Folio's: a Proof of the mending of each particular fault by the Compositor being again given him, which is called a Revise Sheet; he examines in this Revise, fault by fault: if all the faults he marks in the first or second Proof Sheet were carefully mended, if not he marks them in the Revise.

Points used in Printing.

A Cemina which is thus , and is used as a breathing place

A Semi Colon thus ;

A Colon thus : it is used in the middle of the Sentence.

A Period or full Point thus . which is at the end of a Sentence.

An Interrogation Point thus ? It is used in asking of Questions.

An Admiration Point thus ! when a thing is wondered at.

* An Apostrophe thus ' this is used when some Vowel is cut off as 'twas, for it was.

A Parenthesis thus () It is used between words in a Sentence, as a Sentence, without which the Sentence remains entire.

A Brace thus } which joyns one two or three Lines together.

A Division Point thus - or = it is when part of a word ends a Line, and the other begins a Line.

A Crotchet thus [] It is used in Folio's instead of Parenthesis.

A Section thus 2 and stands generally for a Section.

A Paragraph thus ¶ or thus ¶ or thus ¶ which stands for a Paragraph.

A Marginal Note or Mark, thus * or † or || which is a guide to direct in what part of the Margin answereth that part in the Verse or Paragraph.

Accent Letters, see in Printers Terms.

Several other things belonging to the Art of Printing.

Assidue or Assidue, is thin brass Plate, such as adorn hobby Horses: Founders use it to underlay the Body or Mouth piece of their Moulds, if they be too thin.

Balls, are those with which the Letters are inked or made black that they may Print.

Ball Knife, is a blunt Knife laid by, with which the Balls are scraped.

Ball Leather, is Pelts of Sheep skins, of which they cover the Balls.

Ball Nails.

Ball Stocks.

Beard Gage, a thing to try Angles, whether they be true or not.

Bearer, is a Riglet made Letter high and fastned to the Frisker, to keep the white Pages adjacent to the sides of the other Pages, from spots, and that they shall not cause the other to Print hard, as otherwise they will do.

Blankets, Woollen Cloth or white Bays to lay between the Timpanis.

Blocks Groves, are hard Wood, made with taper Groves in to receive Wedges.

Blocks, are the Male Wedges fitted for the said Groves, to hold a thing fast in it.

Brace, is a Character cast in Mettle thus marked ~ of which there are to be of them several breadths, to hook in or Brace so many Lines as is required.

Brass Rules, thin Plates the height of the Letter, which serves to make black Lines in Columes and Pages: Printing Rules.

Brayer, is a round wooden Rubber, flat at the bottom, it is used in the Inke - block to Bray and Rub Inke.

Bodkin.

Composing Stick, it is a wooden Rule with a back ledge for cast Letters to be set up in, that the Founder may scrape and dress them.

Case or Cases, are the Boxes in which each Letter is put, called the Upper Case, and the Lower Case; one holding the Capitals, the other the small Letters.

Chase, is an Iron Frame about 22 Inches long, and 18 broad, having a cross in the middle, in this are the Letters made fast when Printed.

Cards, is about a quire of Paper which Press-men use to lay upon a Form, when he hangs the Platin, see Card.

Composing Rule, is a thin Brass Rule cut the exact length as the sliding measures it set to make its Lines, it hath a small notch at one end to take it out of the Composing Stick.

Composing Stick, it is made of Iron, with sliding measures, in it the letters are set in that length of Lines as the Workman pleaseth.

Correcting Stone, is a Marble or Purbeck Stone, large enough to hold two Chases, on which the Compositor makes up his Forms, and corrects them.

Counter Punches, are Punches to strike into the Face of Letters, to make them hollow or open from the body of the Letter.

Characters of Astronomical Sign, are Planet Characters, Aspects; also Physical and Chymical Characters.

Copys, are also Quadrat high, and have one of their sides Beveled away, that they may Wedge or Lock up the Form, that the Letters fall not out of the Chase: their further office is to make Register at the Press.

to keep the Form that it move not.

Cross long, and Cross short; are the cross pieces of Iron set in the middle of the Chafe.

Distributing Stick, or Riglet; is that which the Distributer holds the Letters upon while he is distributing them into their several Boxes.

Dressing Block, and Dressing Block - Groove; are Male and Female Blocks one Wedging in another, by which Letters are held fast to be dressed.

Dressing Hook, Dressing Knife, and Dressing Sticks; are Instruments by which Letters are made smooth, even, and tite.

Distributing Frame, the Frame on which the Forms are set to be Distributed.

Female Gage, Screws, &c. are the hollow Gage or hollow Screw that receives its Match Gage, or Screw, in the Screw Nut, or Box.

Flat Gage, is a flat piece of Box or hard Wood made square, with several corners to hold a Rod of Steel or Body of a Mould.

Flat Table, is a Brass about an Inch and half square, to try if the Shanks of Punches be exactly perpendicular.

Foot Step, is an Inch board nailed on a piece of Timber, set under the Press for the Press-man to stay his right Foot against when he pulls at the Press.

Foot stick, see Furniture.

Furnace, the place where the Mettle is melted to cast the Letter with.

Funnel, is the place where the smoak goeth through from the Furnace Fire.

Furniture, by which is ment all the Wood work used in the Chafe, to keep the Form of Letter fast Wedged therein, as Head Sticks, Foot Sticks, Side Sticks, Gutter Sticks, Riglets, Quoins and Scabbards.

Frame, is that on which the Case of Boxes rest; It is also taken for the out side of Case, which is stronger then the Boxes within, and is also an Inch broader at the bottom.

Face Gage,

Finger Stalls, Leather to put on Boys Fingers to secure them in rubbing of Letters.

Gage, Gages mentioned and used by Letter maker have an ajunct name as, Flat Gage, Joynt Gage, Italick Gage, Long Gage, Male Gage, Short Gage, Steel Gage, Standing Gage, which see in their respective Alphabets.

Gally, is a board with ledges on three sides of it, in which the Compositor emptieth his Stick full of Letters to compose a Page, it hath a handle to pull the board in the Grove in and out, see Slice.

Grat, is the little spout or gutter made in the brim of Founders casting Ladles.

Gutter Sticks, are Sticks with Gutters in, which are used to be set between Pages on each side of the crosses in the Chafe.

Girth or Girts, are thongs of Leather cut out of a Horse Hide or Bull, these are nailed to the Barrel and the end of the Carriage, that by the turning of the Rounce, the said Carriage is drawn in and out from the Platin.

Gage Plate, a Gage for the trial of Letters sides and heights.

Head Stick, see Furniture; those Sticks as are at the Head of a Form, in the Chafe.

Hoyle, the Form or Bench Pressmen set the heaps of Paper on.

Hammer, it is a large Hammer commonly use, but hath no Claws but a Pen.

Joynt flat Gage, this consists of two Checks fastned together at one end like a Carpenters Joynt Rule.

Italick Gage, and other standing Gages; are only to measure the slope of the Letter Stem.

Inke, of Printing Inke there are two sorts, weak Inke and strong Inke, one for to use in the Summer, the other for Winter.

Kerning Knife, is a strong piece of a broken Knife, set in a Wooden handle with which Founders kern their kernal Letters.

Kerning Stick, is a small stick according to the bigness of the Letter that is to be kerned or scraped.

Knife - Backt Sculptor, is a Sculptor or Graver with a thin edge on its back.

Knife File, a File with a thin edge.

Knot, is a small square piece of Box Wood, the one above, the other below the Tongue of the Plow, as a Stay for it, when it runs through the Block.

Ladles, are those things as the hot Mettle is taken out of the Melting Furnice and powred into the casting Moulds, see Letter Ladles.

Leather Groove, the Matrice being justified; there is a Groove filed round about it (or a Notch or Nick) in the top to tie a Leather fast to.

Letter Boards, are oblong squares, about two foot long, and eighteen inches broad, plain and flat, with two ledges at the under side, to bear them off the Ground: on these the Letters are laid when Unlocked from the Chafe, where they are ready to be Distributed.

Letter Ladles, differ nothing from common Ladles save in the size, of these the Caster of Letters hath many of several sizes, to fit the several sizes of Letters he has to cast, both for Body and Thickness.

Liner, is a straight Plate of Iron or Brass, made sharp and fine, that it may try the face of a Punch or other work, whether it be straight or no.

Lining stick, it is all made of Brass, having a plain, a side ledge, a bottom ledge and a Stile: It is an inside square exactly wrought, and with small Rivets fastned on the side edge and bottom.

Long Cross, see Chafe.

Long Gage, are Notches, or Gages cut into a thin Plate of Steel, Iron, or Brass: of which the long one is for long Letters, and the short Gage for short Letters.

Lower Case, is the lower Box for the smaller sort of Letters to be distributed into.

Lye - Trough, to wash the Letters in.

Letters of all sorts and sizes, of English, Roman, and Italick.

Lye - Rettle, it is to heat the Lye in, for the washing the black of the Letters.

Lye - Brush, is a long bristled Brush to scour and rub the Lye upon the Letters.

Male Gage, the outward Gage or Screw, that enters or fits its Match Gage or Screw.

Ballet,

Gallet,
Matrice,
Mettle, that of which the Body of the Letter are cast.

Mould, is that in which the Letters are cast according to their shape.

Mouth Piece.

Notch of the Matrice, it is a stay on the back of it, to hold the point of a Wye or Spring of the Mould in, that the Matrice start not back.

Nest Frames, these are Frames made to hold Cases, Letter Boards, &c. that lie out of present use.

Nails, viz. Ball Nails or Pumping Nails; having round or square heads.

Open Furnace, so called because the Aire blows in through all the sides to fan the fire.

Oyle, viz. Sallet Oyle to make the Press run easie; and Linseed Oyle to make Varnish for Printing Ink.

Pack - thrid, fine Pack - thrid it is to tie up the Pages when composed.

Pan, the great ladle that Founders melt their Mettle in, when they are casting Letters.

Paper Bench, see Boxe.

Paper Board, see Letter Boards.

Peel, is an Instrument made of a Board with a long or short handle or stail, according to the height of the place where it is used; by this Printed Sheets are hung upon Cords, Poles, or Racks, to dry, and by them taken down again.

Pelts, Sheep skins untanned, used for Ball Leathers.

Plow, it is almost like a Joyner's common Plain, sawe through the length of the Sole runs such a tongue as throw the Male Block.

Press, or Printing Press.

Paper Windows, which keep out heat and the Suns Glory in Summer, and Frost in the Winter.

Points, or marks in Printing, such as are used in Sentences, as Commes, Colon's, full Points, &c. of which the particulars in Points used in Printing.

Parchment, or Foxel, or Uellom.

Punches,

Quadrates, large Spaces which make white lines

Quoins, are Wedges to lock the Form.

Quotation Quadrats, these are cast of different Bodies, that the Compositor may have choise of them to justifie his Notes and Quotations exactly against the designed line of the Page: they are cast the height of the Quotations.

Racks, to hang Printed Paper on to dry.

Riglets, is a sort of Furniture of an equal thickness all its length. It is Quadrat high of several thickness, viz. a Romparel, Brevier, Long - Primer, Pica, &c. thick.

Rincing Trough, the Trough wherein Forms are Washed and Rinced in.

Rules, viz. Brass Rules Letter height, by which black lines are made under the running Titles of Books, and on the sides of Pages, and between Columns.

Scabbord,

Shank, the square Mettle the face of a Letter stands on, is its Shank.

Sheep's Foot, that as the Press - man driyeth Nails into his Ball - stocks, or any other thing he hath occasion to Nail: It hath at one end a Hammers face, and the other end a Claw to draw Nails.

Shooting Stick, it is made of Box or other hard Wood and tough, its shape is a perfect Wedge; with it are the Quoins knocked up in the Chafe to lock the Form.

Short Cross, is the over cross piece of Iron work set in the middle of the Chafe, in which long holes are made through, for the Points fixed on the Tympan to fall into.

Side Sticks, are the outer side sticks which are placed against the out sides of Pages; which are sloped, or made Wedge - wise from one end to the other, and are Quadrat height.

Sllice, is a little thin Iron Shovel, through the handle whereof is fixed a cross piece about the thickness of a small curtain rod: It is principally used about the black on the Ink block. The Sllice is also the Board with a handle that runs into the Galley.

Sliding Gage, it differeth but little from the Joyner's running Gage: Its use is to set off distances between the Shoulder and the Tooth, and so to mark it.

Smoak Vent, is the hole in the Furnace through which the Smoak passeth.

Soft Ink, Ink or Varnish moderately boiled.

Solace, see Customs of the Chappel.

Spaces, are those Shanks which have no letter on the faces but lie below them, and are set between Word and Word to keep them asunder.

Stick, the composing stick is often so called.

Stirring Pot, is a long strong Iron Pot, with an handle about two yards, with it being red hot, is stirred the Mettle and Lead together in melting Pots, till they be well incorporated.

Stoak Hole, a round hole out of which the fire in the Furnace proceeds.

Straking Rod, a Rod of thick Wye put into such a handle as is the handle of a Letter Ladle, Founders use it to stir up the fire in the Furnace.

Stop, or Stops; these are kind of Matrices without any Letters sunk into them, by which are cast in the Mould Spaces thick and thin, N Quadrats, M Quadrats, Quadrats of several bigness.

Superior Letters, are Letters often set to Marginal Notes: they are Letters of a small face, high justified by the Founder in the Mould near the top line.

Sheers, are such as Taylors use, which are for cutting of Brass Rules, and Scabbord.

Stake, or Anvil; a great Iron for a Smith to Forge Iron or Steel work upon.

Cache, a small board with Noches in the fore edge, either nailed upon the fore edge of the Work - bench, or Screwed into the Alce, so as the Noches may stand forwards to rest the Shank of a Punch in.

Timpan Cloth,

Timpan Sheets, Paper Sheets fixed on it.

Underlays, are small slips of Scabbord put under letters to raise them higher for the Printing of red Letters or Words.

Varnish, a boiled Oyle with which Printing ink of diverse colours is made.

Alfozum,

Viforum, this is used for direction to the Compositor to have his Eye quick upon his Coppy, by pricking the point of the Viforum upon the Frame at the &c. box, then fold the leaf of the Coppy so as it may rest on the square Shoulder near the bottom of the Viforum.

Wind Furnace, see Open Furnace.

Wind Hole, or Air hole in the Furnace; is a square hole to let in Air that the fire may burn the freer.

The Terms used in the Art of Printing Alphabetically Explained.

Abbreviations, are Characters, or Marks on Letters to signify either a Word or Syllable, as e over the Head of y signifies (the) and a t over y signifies that. And a straight stroak over the head of Vowels abbreviates in or n.

Accents, are dashes or marks over the Vowels.

Accented Letters, are marked Letters of which there are these kinds: First the Grave Accent thus over a Vowels head marked ` The Acute Accent, thus marked ^ The Circumflex Accent thus marked ^ The Deferis Accent thus marked ..

Aire-hole, a hole under the Hearth of the Founders Furnace, to let in the Aire, that the Fire may burn the freer.

Ash-hole, the place where the Ashes that fall from the Hearth are taken away.

Ashes, Letter Founders call the skimmings of their Mettle, and the sweepings of their Houses Ashes, and save both to be refined: see Fat or Lean Ashes.

Ascending Gage, is the Gage of Letters that rise above the Body.

Almoue or Almouine, is thin Brass Plate, such as adorn Hobby-horses; Founders use it to underlay the Body or Mouth piece of their Moulds, if they be too thin.

Back of the Composing Stick.

Back side of the Form, is the under side that touches the Correcting-Stone, or Press-Stone.

Bad Coppy, when a Book to be Printed is badly Written or imperfect.

Bad Work, any fault at the Case or Press, or at the Furnace; or at the Dressing-block &c. is in Workmens Language called so.

Bake, is when Letters stick together in distributing, which the Compositor cannot without great trouble get asunder: This is called the Letter is Baked.

Beam.

Beard of a Letter, is the outer angle or edge at the square shoulder of the shank, which reaches almost up to the Face of the Letter, and is commonly scraped off by the Founder.

Bearer, is a stay or support to any thing they work at: But it is generally taken for a Riglet of a convenient thickness put on the Frisket to keep the sides of white Pages from hard Printing.

Beat, is blacking the Letters with the Ink Ball, by beating upon the Face of the Letters set in the Form.

Beat Fat, if the Press-Man takes too much Inke on his Balls, they will make the Letters too black. Yet the black English faced Letters is generally beaten fat.

Beat Lean, is to take but little Inke and often: for all small Letters must be beaten Lean for fear of filling with Inke.

Benvenue, the ancient Customs of the Printers.

Bite or Bites, is when the Frisket Prints upon the sides of the Pages.

Body, is the shanke of the cast Letter, which they call the Body of the Letter.

Botthing of a Matrice, is to strike a Bur into the side of it, to make it stand of the Register, if in case it be too thin, or past a Paper or Card to the side to thicken it.

Bottom Line, is the lower place that a descending Letter can be made too.

Bottom of the Matrice, is the lower end of it, near which the Letter is Punched.

Break, is a piece of a line, or ending of the Paragraph.

Break, is also the Mettle that is contiguous to the Shank of a new cast Letter: this is made in the Mouth piece of the Letter Mould, and is called a Break because always broken off from the Shank of the Letter.

Breaking off, is breaking the said Break off the Letter.

Brevier.

Broad side, is a Form of one full Page, Printed on one side of a whole Sheet of Paper, as a Sheet Almanack.

Broken Letter, by it is ment the breaking of the orderly succession the Letters stood in, either in a Line, Page or Form: Also it is used for the mingling of Letters together, which mingling is called Mic.

Bur, see Rag.

Bed the Stone, the Stone is well and evenly laid in the Coffin of the Carriage.

Burn Oyle, is to boil it, and then fire it, that the oyliness may be consolidated and drawn out: but this must be done with Art, else they may fire the house in burning the Oyl.

Batter, when the face of a Letter is spoiled, they say it is Battered.

Botches, it is a kind of bad Workman-ship, that is, when it hath Pidgeon holes, thin Spaces, no Spaces before Capitals, short &c's, abbreviated words, and titled Letters, &c. with several other Settings are esteemed Botches.

Canon, the great Canon is the name of the largest Letter for Printing that is used in England.

Card, is when several Bodies of Letters are set in a Page, Compositors to justifie that Page to an exact length, put a Card to some white line, or other Break and lengthen out the Page the thickness of a Card. And Press-Men also use a Card sometime for an underlaying.

Case Lyes, is into what Box the several Letters are disposed.

Case is Low, when a Case grows empty of Letters, Compositors say the Case is low, the Boxes having but few Letters in them.

Case is Full, viz. a Case full of Letters, wanting no sorts.

Case stands Still, when the Compositor is not at Work at his Case, it is said the Case stands Still.

Cassie

Cassie Quires, are the two out side Quires in a Ream, called also Cording Quires.

Cassie Paper, are Quires made up by Paper-maker of Torn, Wrinkled, Stained or otherwise naughty Sheets.

Cast, is to cast Letters in the Moulds.

Cast off Coppy, or Counting of Coppy (for both Phrases are indifferently used) is to examine and find out how much either Printed or Written Coppy will come in into an intended number of Sheets, of a different Body or Measure from the Coppy.

Chappel, every Printing-House is Termed a Chappel.

Charge, is to fill Paper with great Pages: It is also used for the filling of a Page with long and many Lines. Also to fill a Line with many Letters: And to fill a Pot with Sticks and Antimony.

Choake, if a Form be not washed in due time, the Inke will get into and dry in the hollows of the Face of the Letter, and that getting in of the Inke, is called Choaking of the Letters, or Choaking of the Form.

Clean Proosse, when a Proosse hath but few faults in it.

Close Matter, Matter that hath but few Breaks or Whites in it.

Close Work, the same.

Collation Books, or Collationing of Books; is first to examine whether the whole number of Sheets that belong to a Book are rightly gathered: Secondly to examine that two Sheets of one sort be not gathered into the Book. Thirdly to examine whether the proper Signature of every Sheet lie on its proper corner of the gathered Book.

Come, or Comes; when the Face and Shank of a Letter is cast perfect, Founders say, it comes well; If imperfect, they say, it does not come, or it comes not well.

Come Down, the Toe of the Spindle is said to come down by pulling the Bar; so the Bar is said to come down when it is pulled near the hither Cheek of the Press. Also the Press-Man is said to come down the Form with his Balls, when he beateth down the Form.

Companions, are two Press-Men working at one Press; the one, which is named the first hath his choise to Pull or Beat: the second take the refuse.

Comes off, a Form that receives a good Impression, is said to come off well; If a bad Impression, it comes off ill, or it comes not well off. Also it is used in gathering of Books, for a Heap that is gathered off, is said to come off.

Compositer, he that Composes or Sets the Letters.

Cording Quires, the outside Quires of a Ream.

Correct, when the Corrector reads the Proof, or the Compositer mend the faults he marked in the Proof, they are both said to Correct; that is, the Corrector the Proof, the Compositer corrects the Form.

Corrections, the Letters marked in a Proof, are called Corrections.

Counting of Coppy, see Cast off Coppy.

Cull Paper, are the good and whole Sheets picked out of the Cassie Quires.

Cutting the Frisket, is the cutting so much of the Parchment away from the Frisket cover, as the Form doth Print on the Sheet. []

Chapter, the Head of a Matter: Books are commonly divided in Chapters, and Chapters into Sections, and Sections into Paragraphes or Breaks as Printers call them; which is the breaking off at a full Point, and beginning a new line.

Column, is when a Page or side of a Leaf Written or Printed, is divided into two or more parts along the Paper, those divisions are called Columns.

Dance, when the Form is locked up, if upon the rising of it from the Stone, he finds there are many Letters do not rise with the Form, but are ready to drop out, he saith the form Dances.

Dele,

Distribute, is putting the Letter into their several Boxes again after the Form is Printed off.

Devil, the Press-Man sometimes have a Week Boy to take Sheets as they are Printed off the the Tympan; or run of Arrants: These Boys do in a Printing-House commonly black and dawb themselves; whence the Workmen do jocosely call them Devils, and sometimes Spirits, and sometimes Flies.

Direction, is the word that stands alone on the right Hand in the bottom line of a Page, is the Direction word for the following side of the Leaf.

Direction Line, the Line the Direction stands in.

Double Letter, as a st th and several others cast on one Shank are called Double Letters.

Double, or Doubling; is a Sheet that is twice pulled and hath a double Impression, this Sheet is said to be double: or if the Pressman run him in so far, as the further side in some part of the Sheet Print with the first pull, or the hinder edges of the first pull, Print with the second pull, either of these twice Printings is called Doubling.

Dress a Chale, or Dress a Form, is all one: It is to fit the Pages and Chale with Furniture and Quoins.

Dressing Letter, is to make them straight and tye, that they may come well, and lie even both in the Face and Shank.

Drive out, is when a Compositer sets his Words wide, he is said to Run out, or to Drive out: Also in Founding, if Letter be cast too thick in the Shank it is said to Drive out. Also if it be cast too thick in any part of the Shank, as at the Head, Foot, Side, they say it Drives out at Head, it Drives out at Foot, &c.

Deep Cut, Letters that are deep cut and stand high above the Shank, Print clear the longer, and are less subject to entertain picks.

Dedication, the Patronizing or Presenting of a Book by the Author to some particular Person.

Doubling, or Slurring; is when Paper is double Printed, which oft happens by the removing of the Sheet on the Tympan at going under the Platten.

Empty Case, see Case is Low.

Case Pull, see Soft Pull.

Cassie Work, is a Printed Coppy, or a fair Written Hand, and full of Breaks is that as pleaseth a Compositer, and is by them called, Good Coppy, Light, Cassie Work: Also a great Letter and small Form, is called Cassie Work.

Empty Press, a Press that stands by, which no Workman works at: most commonly every Printing-House hath one of them for a Proof Press, viz. to make Proofs on. English English Body, are the cast Letters of the English Alphabet.

English Face, are English face Letters.

Even Page, the first Page of a Sheet or Form is called an Odd Page, but the second, fourth, sixth, or any other even numbered Page, is called an Even Page.

Face of a Letter, is that flat part of the Punch on which letter is cut, to be stamped or sunk into the Matrice.

Face of a Page, or Form; the Superficies or top part of the Page or Form, where the Faces of every Letter lie in the same plain.

Fat Ashes, Founders call their Ashes Fat, if they are considerable heavy, because then they have much Mettle in them.

Fat, see Beat Fat.

Fat Letter, or Fat Face; is a broad Stemmed Letter.

First, is the first or chief Workman at the Press, he that takes his choice whether he will Beat or Pull.

First Form, the Form the white Paper is Printed on, which generally by rule ought to have the first Page of the Sheet in it.

First Page,

First Pull, is the Pull that Prints the first running half Sheet under the Press, or the first pulled file of the Sheet.

fly, see Devil.

Follow, viz. see if it follow, is a term as well used by the Corrector as by the Compositor and Press-Man, and it is to examine how the beginning matter of a succeeding Page, agrees with the ending matter of the precedent Page; and how the Folio's of those Pages numerically follow and succeed one another, least the Pages should be Transposed: and whether the Signature of the Pages follows orderly according to the Volume, least the Form should be laid wrong in the Press.

Foot of the Letter, the break end of the Shank of a Letter.

Foot Line, the bottom Line to which a letter extends.

Foot of a Page, the bottom or end of a Page.

Form, are the Pages of Composed Letters, when they are fitted to the Chafe.

Foul Proof, is when a Proof Sheet hath many Letters and Faults marked in it.

Font, is the whole number of Letters that are cast of the same Body and Face at one time.

Froze out, in the Winter when the Paper is Frozen, and the Letter Frozen, so as the Workmen cannot Work; they say, they are Froze out.

Fryer, is when the Balls do not take, the untaking part of the Balls that touches the Form will be left white; or if the Pressman skip over any part of the Form, and touch it not with the Balls though they do take, yet in both these cases the white places is called a Fryer.

Full Form, or Page; is a Form or Page with few or no breaks or white lines.

Full Press, is when two Men work at the Press.

Furnace open, or Wind Furnace; is the pulling down of the out Furnace Wall where the Mettle is made, and rake away the fire that the Mettle may cool in the Pots.

Folio, is two Pages and comprehends both sides of a Leaf: Some confounds Folio and Page calling a large Volume, a Book by Folio's; others by Pages when it is a small or Quarto Book.

Form Rises, that is, it is so well locked up in the Chafe, that in the raising of it up neither a Letter or Space drops out of it.

Fur up a Form, or Choak the Letters; is when the Inke is too thick and strong that it fills up in beating, the Hollow of the Letter.

Gathering of Books, is to take one Sheet off every heap of Printed Sheets, which make a Book.

Get in, that is, Matter is got in, in a Line, Page, Sheet or Book, if Letters be thinner cast then the Printed Copy the Compositor sets by: or Matter is got in, if he sets closer: or if he widens his Measure; or puts more lines in a Page, then he is said to get in.

Good Colour, is Sheets Printed neither too black, nor too white.

Good of the Chappel, Forfeitures and other Chappel dues are collected for the good of the Chappel, viz. to be spent as the Chappel approves.

Good Work, is called so in a two fold sense: the Master Printer calls it so, when the Compositors and Pressmen have done their Duty. And the Workmen call it Good Work, if it be light, easie Work, and they have a good price for it.

Going up the Form, it is a Pressman phrase, when he beat over the first and third rows or columns of the Form with his Ink Balls.

Great Numbers, above 2000 Printed of one Sheet are counted Great Numbers: see Lay on.

Great Bodies, or Letter termed English, and all above their bigness are accounted Great Bodies: But Long Primer, and all downwards are Small Bodies.

Half a Line, when Letters drives out or gets in, in the body, in a number of lines, Founders say, it drives out, or gets in half a line, a whole line, a quarter of a line &c. viz. half a body, a whole body, a quarter &c. of a Body.

Half a Press, when but one Man works at the Press, it is called Half a Press.

Half Work, he that works but three days in a Week, does but Half Work.

Hangs, see Letter Hangs.

Hang the Platin, is the tying of it with Whipcord to the end of the Spindle by the Hose-Hooks and Platin-Hooks.

Hang up Paper, is to hang it upon Rails or Cords to dry after it is Printed.

Hard Ink, is Ink very well boiled.

Hard Justifying, when the line or lines in the Composing stick are too close Wedged in.

Hard Pull, that which makes a hard pull in the Press is putting into the Mortesses of the Cheeks solid blocks of Wood, which will scarce squeeze by the strength of a pull which makes the Press go hard to be pulled.

Hard Work, is so termed by Compositor when the Written Copy is bad and hard to read, and hath but few Breaks: also small Letter and a large Form, Pressmen call hard Work.

Head Line, that part or line which the higher part of the body of a Letter toucheth.

Q

Head

[]

Head of a Page, the top or beginning of a Page.

Heap, so many Reams or Quires as is set out by the Ware-house keeper for the Press-man to Set, is called an Heap: but then it is a Dry Heap, when it is wet, then it is indeed called a Heap.

Heap holds out, when it hath its full intended number of Sheets according to its Quires.

Height, see High against Paper.

High against Paper, is when a punched Letter is not sunk deep enough into the Matrice, then the letter cast will not stand high enough against the Paper to make a good impression; And if it be sunk too deep, then the cast letter will be too high against Paper, and be apt to cut it.

Holds out, or Holds not out; these terms are applicable to the Quires of white Paper, also to the Wrought of Heaps, and also to the Gathering of Books. If Quires have twenty five Sheets, they say the Paper holds out twenty five Sheets of wrought off Heaps, the Heap as comes off first in gathering or wants of the number of the rest, is said, not to hold out. And in the gathering of Books, if the intended number of perfect Books are gathered, they say, the Impression holds out: but if the intended number cannot be gathered off the Heap, they say the Impression holds not out. And so for sorts of Letter, either when it is in the Founding-House, or the Printing-House, are so said, if they hold or not, one Box with another in the Composing.

Hole, by it in Printing Dialect, is meant a place where privat Printing is used, viz. the Printing of unlicensed Books, or other Mens Coppies.

Hollow of a Letter, is the sinking in of the Counter-punch into another Punch which makes such holes or hollows, and so doth sculping into the face of a Punch.

Horse flesh, is if any Journeyman set down in his Bill on Saturday Night more Work then he hath done that Week, that superflage is called Horse flesh: and he abate it in his next bill.

Hours, Press-Men reckon their Work by the Hours, accounting every Token to an Hours Work: also they make their prices of different Work by the hour, and passes currant for a Token. Also if two Men Work at the Press 10 Quires it is an hour; if one Man 5 Quires it is an hours Work.

Half a Body, it is in Founders and Printers Language, taken to be the driving out of half a line, or a whole line, or more or less, in the Composing.

Imperfections of Books, are the latter end of the gathered Heaps, which other Heaps not holding out to them, make them imperfect, which are bundled up, and Written upon Imperfections of such or such a Book, and the Signature of the Sheet or Sheets wanting.

Imperfections of Letters, is when the Founder hath not cast a proportionable number of each sort of Letter, the want of any make the Fount unperfect: see Sorts.

Impose, Imposing is the placing of the Pages that belong to a Sheet, within the Chase and Furniture about them in order, that when the Sheet is wrought off at the Press, all the Pages may be fouled into an orderly succession.

Impression holds out, see Holds out.

In-page, see Out-page.

Insertion, if the Compositor have left Words or Lines, the Corrector inserts it, and makes a mark where it is left out; which is called the mark of Insertion, see Notes of Correction.

Justifie, or Justifying; is first to make the face of a sunken letter, lie an exact depth in the face of the Matrice, and on all sides of an equal depth: this is called Justifie a Matrice. It is also to set or justifie the foot line of the letter exactly in line. It is likewise to set the sides of the Matrice to an exact thickness.

Justifying a Mould, is the working it so exact that in casting of the letter, the Shank be Parallel, and sides of an even thickness; And also that the Mould be clear from Ragging; which without several proofs and tryings it cannot be expected to be perfectly true.

Justifie a Stick, viz. the Composing Stick, is the stiff or loose filling of his Stick with Letters; if it be filled very stiff with Letters or Spaces, they say it is hard justified; if loolely, it is loose justified.

Justifiers, are either Pastboard or Scaboard or such like put into Mortises to make the same more binding and close.

Keep in, is a caution given to, or resolved on by the Compositor, when there may be doubt of Dismissing out the Matter beyond his counting off, therefore he Sets close, to keep within his compass: this is to Keep in.

Keep out, is a caution of the Compositor, given or resolved upon, when there may be doubt of getting in Matter too fast for his Counting off, wherefore he sets his Words wide, to Drive or Keep out.

Kern, or Kerned Letter; such as have part of their face hanging over one side, or both sides of their Shanks: and that part hanging over is the Kern.

Knock up Balls, is the nailing of the Pelts or Sheep skins on the Ball stocks, with Wool under it, to make them stand round and full; they are well done when the Wool is equally dispersed about all the sides, and the middle smoothly covered with Leather, viz. not rising in Hillocks.

Knock up Books, is when they are gathered out of several Heaps, he take them between his hands and knock them on a Table to make them lye even and straight in the backs and edges.

Knock up a Letter, is when a Letter by working is worn to low in the face, that it will not Print well in the Page; which the workman takes out and puts a better in. But if Letters be scarce and that another of the same be wanting, he takes out the old one and batters its Shank to raise it higher against the Paper.

Lay in Sheets, is when the Press-man lays Sheets on the Timpan, it is stiled Laying in Sheets.

Lay out Sheets, is the taking the Sheets off the Timpan when they are Printed, and laying them on the Heap.

Lay on, a Phrase used for the number of Books to be Printed, thus they say, there is 1000. 2000. 3000. &c.

Laid on: see great numbers, see small numbers.

Lean Ashes, Founders call their Ashes Lean, if they be light, because then they have but little Mettle in them; see Fat Ashes.

Lean, see Beat Lean.

Lean Face, a Letter whose Stems and other strokes have not their full wideness.

Lean Strokes, are the fine strokes of a Letter.

Letter Hangs, if the Compositor hath been careless in empying his composing Sticks, so as to let the Letters loosely down in the Galley so as that they stand not perfectly square and upright, they say the Letter hangs: or if after overrunning on the correcting Stone, the Letters are not set square and in a right position, before he locks up the Form; the matter standing thus out of square, is said to Hang.

Letter Break, see Squabble.

Light Work, see Easy Work.

Lock up, is to Wedge the Form fast in the Chale, that not a Letter or Space fall out.

Long Pull, is to give a stronger pull to a Form that is large and the Letters small; then to a small Form, and large Letters, which needs but a small pull, and it is in Printers Language called a Short pull, see Hard Pull.

Loose Justifying, see Justifie.

Low against Paper, see High against Paper.

Low Case, when the Compositor hath composed almost all his Letters out of his Case, he says his Case is Low.

M thick, is meant an M Quadrat thick.

Make a Measure, is to set the Composing Stick to that Measure or length of the Letter line he intends to Work by.

Make ready the form, is to put the composed Pages into the Chale, and lock them up, for the taking off of a Proof: besides all this under this phrase of Making ready the Form, is comprehended all thing to be done by the Press-man before he can go to work, as first to make Register, secondly to cut the Frisket, third to wet the Timpan, fourth lock up the Form well and fast, &c.

Matter, is the Series of the discourse of the Composers Copy which he doth compose by.

Measure, is the wideness of a Page, see Make a Measure.

Monk, when the Press-man hath not well be distributed his Ball, some spots or splotches of Ink may lie on one Letter, or more of them, which in beating he leaves upon the Form; so that the Sheet Printed on, hath a black blotch on it: which blotch is called a Monk.

Marginal Notes, are note set on the side (or sides if the Page have two columns.)

N thick, is meant an N Quadrat thick.

Naked Form, or Page; is when the Furniture is taken from about all sides of the Form or Page.

Neck of a Letter, so much of the Punch as is sunk into the Matrice, is called the Neck; and when that Letter is cast off in Mettle, it is so much as comes above the Square of the Shank, viz. above the Beard.

Notes, are Quotations down the side of a Page.

Number laid on, see Lay on.

Odd Page, is the first, third, fifth, seventh &c. all unen numbered Pages, are odd Pages.

Off, a Press-man usually says I am off, meaning he hath wrought off his Token, his Heap, his Form.

Open Matter, is when Pages Printed are full of Breaks and Whites.

Open the Form, is removing the Quoins from about the Form till they stand loose: and then opens the Furniture, that is, takes the Head sticks, and the inner Side sticks and Gutter sticks from about the Form.

Open Work, see Open Matter.

Over = Run, is when a Word or more is left out in the correcting as cannot be put in, except he must put so much of the fore part of the line into the line above it, or so much of the hinder part of the line into the next under it, as will make room for what is left out. Thus if he have left out much, he must over = run many line, either backwards or forwards, or both, till he come to a Break.

Out, a Compositor usually says, I am Out, meaning he hath set out his Page, Form or Coppy. Also out marked in the Margent of Corrections, denots that some Line, Sentence, or considerable part of the Matter is left out in composing.

Out = page, in Octavo's, Twelves, Sixteens &c. every out side Page in the Sheet is called an Out = page, the rest are called In = pages.

Out of Register, is bad Register, that is when the Printing on both sides the Sheet stands not even together both at head and foot; see Register.

Page, is the side of a Leaf in a Book; see Folio.

Paragraph, see Chapter.

Pale Colour, if there be not blacking enough in the Ink, or the Form be beaten with too lean Balls, the work will be said to have a pale colour.

Pick or Picks, is when either pieces of the skin or Film that grows on the Ink with standing by, or any Dirt get into the hollows of the face of the Letter, that Film or Dirt will fill and choak up the Letter and Print black: which is called a Pick, because the Press-man with the point of a Needle picks it out.

Paper the Case, is to put paper in every Box in the upper and lower Cases to keep the Letters from falling through the cliffs of the Boxes.

Paper up Letters, or Pages; are two phrases indifferently used for the same meaning; for the Press-man having wrought off the Form and washed the Letters, the Compositor having stripped the Form, whips Cords about every Page, to tie them up from falling, so puts them on papers bounding up the corners or lappets of the paper, and sets them by, till they have occasion to use them again.

Pidgeon Holes, when whites between words are as great or greater then between line and line: these wide whites whites are by Compositers (in way of scandal) called Pigeon Holes, and are no good Work, but in case of necessity.

Points, as these and other marks used by Founders and Printers, ; : . - = ? ! (') * [] &c. are all called Points, yet have different Terms.

Point Holes, the two holes the Points fixed on the Tympan prick into the Printed Sheet of Paper.

Press-Man, is him that Works at the Printing - Press.

Press goes, when the Press-men are at work, the Press is said to go.

Press goes hard or heavy, or It goes easie and Light: It is by the Justifying of the Mortises of the Checks and Head of the Press either too hard or more loose which makes the Press goe either hard or easie.

Press stands still, is when the Press-men are not at work.

Preface, the beginning or introduction of Matter to follow.

Proof or Proof Sheet, is that as is to be corrected.

Proof Letters, are patters Letters by which the Founder or Maker of the Moulds doth justifie his Mould by. And also by them new Fount Letters are tried by setting them together in the composing Stick.

Print hand, are Letters of Sentences Written in the same or like Characters as the Letters printed.

Pull easie, or Hard, Short, Long or Soft; see Hard Pull.

Pye, when a page is broken, those broken Letters are called Pye: see Broken Letters.

Printing-house, is taken for the House wherein Printing is used: but more peculiarly used for the Printing Tooles, which they usually call a Printing-house, as such a one hath removed his Printing-house, that is the Tooles used in his former House.

Printing in Quires, when quire work is Printed, according to the number of Sheets Quired one in the other, then the Signature of the first Page is A, then the Signature of the Sheet Quired next within the first Sheet A 2. so that the Signatures of all the Sheets in the first Quire is A. A 2. A 3 &c. according to the number of Sheets Quired together: the second Quire begins, B. B 2. B 3. &c. the third Quire is C. C 2. C 3. &c. according to the number of Quires.

Quarters, as Quarto's, Octavo's, and Twelves Forms are imposed in Quarters: they are called Quarters because they are lockt up apart. Also the short Cross in the Chase as in a Twelves Form, is called a Quarter, though it be but one sixth part of the Form.

Quires, is when Sheets are Printed one to go into another, whether they consist of two or three Sheets they are called Quires, and their Printing is termed, Printing in Quires.

Rag, when Letters cast hath a Bur or Selvage on any of its edges, that is called a Rag.

Register, is to Quoin up the Form on the Carrage of the Press, so that when the second Form of the same Sheet, Volume, Measures, and Whites, is placed in the same position, that all sides of each page shall fall exactly upon all the sides of the pages of the first Form. This is termed True Register.

[]

Register Sheet, the Sheet or Sheets printed to make Register with.

Reteration, the second Form, or Form printed on the back side of the white Paper.

Revise, that is a proof Sheet taken off after the first or second corrected Sheet, wherein the Corrector examines in this Revise, all the faults, fault by fault, if all be marked in the last proof Sheet be carefully mended, if not he marks them in the Revise.

Since the Form, the washing away of the Lie that Pressman cleansed the Form withal, after he had done the Printing.

Rise, a Form is said to Rise, when in rearing it off the Correcting-stone, no Letter or Furniture drops out, or stays behind.

Rowl up the Ball Leathers.

Rub Letter, is dressing the Shanks by rubbing them on a stone.

Rubs not, when the Shank is cast too thin, that in Rubbing, part of the face, or topping, or footing Rubs away: Founders say It does not Rub.

Rub well, when the Shank of a Letter hath a proper thickness, Founders say, it Rubs well.

Rub out Ink, it is only to spread some part of the Ink pretty equally oven the top of the Ink-block, from the corner of it, where the Ink generally lieth in a quantity or Mass together.

Run in the Carrage, is by giving the Winch one turn round about, which runs it into the middle: the second Run in, is by another turn.

Runs on Sorts, is when Matter runs much on some few Letters, they say it Runs on Sorts.

Runs out from Coppy, see Drives out.

Register be out, is when the two Printed sides meet not even at head and foot.

Setting up, is putting the new Cast Letter into the Founders composing Stick.

Sliding Measure, is the inner part of the composing Stick.

Second at the Press.

Small Bodies, see Great Bodies.

Second pull, is the second pull of the Bar, when the Carrage at the second turn of the Winch is run under the Plattin.

Short pull, is also called an hard pull, because it is suddenly performed, and the Form quickly feels the force of the Spindle.

Set Letters, is the Compositers putting each Letter into his Stick.

Sets foul, see Foul proof.

Sets clean, see Clean proof.

Sets close, see Set in.

Sets wide, see Drive out.

Set out paper, is the counting so many Quires out, as the Heap requires: see Token.

Set the Rounce, is so to set or fix the handle of the Winch as with one turn round, it shall run in the Carrage to the just middle of it: for by the well setting of the Rounce contributes much to the Riddance in a Train of Work.

Sets off, work that is newly wrought off at the press often sets off, especially if it be sat beaten with soft ink: that is when the said paper comes to be beaten, or hard press press by the Book-binder, the moist Ink spreads and declares it self round about the face of every Letter, and sullies and stains the white paper.

Short Page, having but little Printed in it.

Section, it a cutting or dividing of a Matter: see Chapter.

Signature, at the first page of the Sheet, at the bottom thereof is set a Capital Letter, as thus: If it be the first Page of the first Sheet of a Book, the Signature is A. If the first Page of the second Sheet, it hath a B. If the first of the third a C. and so successively till he come to W. which is alway skipt, because the Latin Alphabet hath not that Letter, but next V. follows X. Y. Z. So that if the Book contains above 23 Sheets, the Signature of the 24 Sheet must be A a, if 25 B b, till in like manner he run through the second Alphabet, and comes to the third which is A a a, and fourth which is A a a a. To the second Page or any other even Page he sets no Signature, but to the third Page which is an odd Page he sets an A 2. the figure 2 being no part of the Signature, but only an adjunct to shew the Book-binder the second Leaf of that Sheet, that he may the surer fould the Sheet right: see Printing in Quires.

Sinck Matrices, see Sinck Punches.

Sinck Punches, is the sincking of the Letter Punches into the Matrices, which is done with the face of an Hammer fizeable to the bigness of his Punch, by cautious knocks on the end of the Punch, with reiterated blows, till he have driven the punch deep enough into the Matrix.

Small Number, under 1500. laid on is accounted a Small Number, see Great Numbers, and see Lay on.

Smout, Workmen when they are out of constant Work, do sometimes accept of a day or two Work, or a Weeks work at another Printing-House: this By-work they call Smouting.

Soft pull, or Soaking pull; is when the Form feels the force of the Spindle by degrees, because it comes soft and easily down; see Short pull.

Sop the Ball, when a Press-man hath taken too much Ink on his Balls, he is said to Sop his Balls.

Sorts, the Letters that lie in every Box of the Casse are severally called sorts in Printers and Founders Language; thus a is a sort, b is a sort, c is a sort, &c.

Spirit, see Devil.

Squable, a Page or Form is Squabled when the Letter of one or more lines are got into any of the adjacent Lines; or that the Letter or Letters are twisted about out of their square position.

Stem, the straight fat stroaks of a straight Letter, is called the Stem of the Letter.

Stick full, is when the composing Stick is filled with so many Lines that it can contrain no more.

Still Justified, see Hard Justified.

Space thick, or Space thin; are ment the thickness or thinness of such Spaces, see m and n thick, and thick and thin Spaces.

Spaces, are thin bodies set between words to keep them asunder, which ought by a strict orderly rule, and Methodical measure to be made the thickness of the seventh part of the body of the Letter is in height; though

Founders make them indifferently thicker and thinner.

Strip a Form, is to take away all the Furniture from about it, and lett it so remain on the Letter board to be distributed.

Stroaks in Letters, are either fat, lean, fine, hair stroaks; that is thick or thin stroaks:

Taking off, is ment so many Lines on his rule, as he doth distribute at a time, they being taken off and put into the Boxes.

Take up, as many lines as he takes upon his Rule or Riglet at a time to distribute, is a taking up; and thus he takes up Letters and distributes by taking of his Riglet and putting into the Boxes till the Casse be full.

Take Ink, when the Balls are neither Grasse nor too Wet, the Ink will stick to them and distribute it self from one Ball to another, then it is said to Take Ink, else not to Take: Also Take Ink is to dab one of the Balls on the Ink-block to furnish the Form with blacking when the Balls are wanting, they say, Take Ink.

Teze Wool, or Hair; is to pull it asunder or card it, that neither Dirt or hard Lumps remain in it to hinder the Balls soft working.

Thick Letter, a Fount of Letter that rubs not high enough into the Neck, is called Thick Letter, and consequently will drive out Matter.

Thick Space, m and n Spaces are called Thick Space.

Thin Spaces, are then m or n Spaces, and are generally called Space Thick, that is one quarter so thick as the body of the Letter is high, though Spaces are seldom cast so thick.

Token Sheet, a Sheet foulded down at the end of every Token Printed.

Token, when Quires are counted out for the Printing, as many as are for one and the same work is called an Heap: Now in every Heap whether greater or lesser every 5 Quires is called a Token, that is an hours work for half a Press, or a single Press-man. But if it be for a whole Press, then every Token in the Heap contains 10 Quires.

Turn for a Letter, it often happens that Matter runs upon sorts, especially in Capitals, or some sorts seldom used, and that the Compositor wants that sort the Matter runs on: And being loath to distribute Letter for that sort, or perhaps his Casse is otherwise full. Then instead of that Letter or sort, he Turns a Letter of the same thickness with the Foot of the Shank, and the Face downwards: which turned Letter being easie to be seen, he afterwards when he can accomodate himself with a right sort, takes the Turned Letter out and puts the right Letter in its room.

Turn for it, it is a word used jocosely in the Chapel (that is the Printing-House) when any of the Workmen complains of want of Money, or any thing else, he shall by another Workman be answered, Turn for it, viz. make shift for it.

Three Worm Spindle, is a Screw with three thrids or rising in it, all going by the side of one another.

Train of Work, is a great deal of Work of one and the same sort.

Title,

Title, either the name of the Book, or content of a Chapter or Section is termed the Title of such a thing.

Transposed Page, is when one Page is set in the other Pages place.

Timpan Sheet, that Sheet as is pasted on the Timpan, which is to lay all the Printed Sheets in the Heap even by.

Uantage, when a white Page or more happens in a Sheet, the Compositor calls that Uantage, so does the Pressman, when a Form of one pull comes to the Press. But this is when they are agreed for so much the Sheet.

Unlock the Form, is to beat the Quoins back, that the Form be loosly held in the Chase.

Underlay, a Phrase used by Pressmen for the Light and Easie, or Hard and Heavy running in of the Carriage: thus they say, the Press goes Light and Easie under Hand, or above Hand, or it goes Heavy or Hard under Hand.

Upper Hand, when the Spindle goes soft and easie, the Pressman saith, it goes well under Hand or above Hand. But the Contrary if it goes Hard and Heavy.

Wash the Form,

Weak Ink, see Soft Ink.

White Line, a line of Quadrats, which Print not the Paper.

White Page, a Page that no Matter comes in.

Well Currying of the Steel, is an operation of the Smith, in working Iron out of Steel, that the Steel may be found and entire of it self.

White Paper, although the first Form be Printed off, yet Pressmen erroneously call that Heap white Paper, till the reiteration be Printed.

Whole Press, see Full Press.

Wood, that part of the Letter Mould as is of Wood.

Wooden Letters, great Capital Letters with Florishes about them, anciently uses to be set in the beginning of Chapters and Section, Dedications and Prefaces to Books.

Wetting of Paper, is to Wet it Quire by Quire in fair Water, to prepare it for the Press, laying it all on a Heap on the Paper Board.

Waste Sheet, is Paper laid on the Paper Board under the Wet Heap to keep the Board from fouling the first Sheet. Also it is Paper first Printed for a Proof which after Correction is termed Waste Paper.

Customs of the Chappel.

Every Printing - House is called a Chappel, in which there are these Laws and Customs for the well and good Government of the Chappel, and for the orderly deportment of all its Members while in the Chappel.

Every Workman belonging to it are Members of the Chappel, and the Eldest Freeman is Father of the Chappel; and the Penalty for the Breach of any Law or Custom is in Printers Language called a Solace.

[]

1. Swearing in the Chappel, a Solace.
 2. Fighting in the Chappel a Solace.
 3. Abusive Language or giving the Lie in the Chappel a Solace.
 4. To be Drunk in the Chappel, a Solace.
 5. For any of the Workmen to leave his Candle burning at Night, a Solace.
 6. If a Compositor fall his composing Stick and another take it up, a Solace.
 7. For three Letters and a Space to lie under the Compositors Case, a Solace.
 8. If a Press-man let fall his Ball or Balls and another take them up, a Solace.
 9. If a Press-man leave his Blankets in the Timpan at Noon or Night, a Solace.
 10. For any Workman to mention joyning their penny or more a piece to fend for Drink, a Solace.
 11. To mention spending Chappel Money till Saturday Night, or any other before agreed time, a Solace.
 12. To play at Quadrats or excite others in the Chappel to play for Money or Drink, a Solace.
 13. A Stranger to come to the Kings Printing - House and ask for a Ballad, a Solace.
 14. For a Stranger to come to a Compositor and enquire if he had News of such a Galley at Sea, a Solace.
 15. For any to bring a Wisp of Hay directed to a Press-man, is a Solace.
 16. To call Mettle Lead in a Founding - House, is a Forfeiture.
 17. A Workman to let fall his Mould, a Forfeiture.
 18. A Workman to leave his Ladle in the Mettle at Noon or at Night, a Forfeiture.
- And the Judges of these Solaces or Forfeitures and other Controversies in the Chappel or any of its Members was by Plurality of Votes in the Chappel; it being asserted as a Maxime, that the Chappel cannot Err. Now these Solaces or Fines were to be bought off for the good of the Chappel, which never exceeded 1 s. 6 d. 4 d. 2 d. 1 d. ob. according to the Nature and Quality thereof.

But if the Delinquent proved obstinate and will not pay, the Workmen takes him by force and lays him on his Belly over the correcting stone and holds him there whilst another with a Paper board gives him 10 l. in a Purse viz. 11 blows on his Buttocks, which he lays on according to his own Mercy.

Customs for Payments of Money.

Every new Workman to pay for his Entrance half a Crown, which is called his Benvenue, till then he is no Member, nor enjoys any benefit of Chappel Money.

Every Journeyman that formerly worked at the Chappel and goes away, and afterwards comes again to work pays but half a Benvenue.

If Journeymen Smout one another they pay half a Benvenue.

All

All Journeymen are paid by their Master Printer for all Church Holy-days that falls not on a Sunday whether they work or no, what they can earn every working day, be it 2. 3. or 4 s.

If a Journeyman Marries, he pays half a Crown to the Chappel.

When his Wife comes to the Chappel she pays 6 d. and then all the Journeymen joyns their 2 d. a piece to make her drink, and to welcome her.

If a Journeyman have a Son born, he pays 1 s. if a Daughter, 6 d.

If a Master-Printer have a Son born, he pays 2 s. 6 d. if a Daughter, 1 s. 6 d.

An Apprenice when he is Bound, pays half a Crown to the Chappel, and when he is made Free, another half Crown: and if he continues to work Journeywork in the same House he pays another, and is then a Member of the Chappel.

It is Customary for all Journeymen to make every Year new Paper Windows about Burgh-blowen-Tide, at which time the Master Printer makes them a Feast called a May-Guest, to which is invited the Corrector, Founder, Smith, Ink-maker, &c. who all open their Puries and give to the Workmen to spend in the Tavern or Ale-House, after the Feast. From which time they begin to work by Candle light.

The Printers, Journeymen, with the Founders and Ink-makers have every Year a general Feast, which is kept in the Stationers-Hall on or about May-day. It is made by 4 Stewards, 2 Masters, and 2 Journeymen; and with the Collection of half a Crown a piece of every Guest: the charges of the whole Feast is defrayed.

About 10 of the Clock in the Morning on the Feast day the Company invited, meet at the place appointed, and from thence go to some Church thereabouts in this following Order. First, 4 Whiffers (as Servitures) by two and two walking before with white Staves in their Hands, and red and blue Ribbons hung Belt-wise upon their Shoulders: these makes way for the Company.

Then walks the Beadle of the Company of Stationers, with the Companies Staff in his Hand, and Ribbons as above.

Then the Minister, whom the Stewards have engaged to Preach the Sermon, and his Reader or Clerk.

Then the Stewards walks by two and two with long white Wands in their Hands, and all the rest of the Company follows in like order, till they enter the Church &c. Service ended, and a Sermon suitable for the occasion finished, they all return to their Hall in the same order, where upon their entrance each Guest delivers his Ticket to a Person appointed, which gives him admittance; where every one Feast himself with what he likes best, being delighted all the while with Musicks and Songs, &c.

After Dinner the Ceremony of Electing new Stewards for the next Year begins: then the Stewards withdraws into another Room, and puts Garlands of Laurel or Box on their Heads, and white Wands in their Hands, and are ushered out of the withdrawing Room thus; first, the Companies Beadle with his Staff in his Hand, and Musick sounding before him, then followed one of the Whiffers with a great Bowl of White-wine and Sugar in his right Hand, and his Staff in the left, after him follows the eldest Steward.

[]

Then another Whiffler as aforesaid, before the second Steward: in like manner another Whiffler before the third; and another before the fourth Steward.

And thus they walk with Musick sounding before them three times round the Hall, and in the fourth round, the first Steward takes the Bowl from his Whiffler and Drinks to one (whom before he resolved on) by the Title of Mr. Steward Elect: and taking the Garland of his own Head, puts it on the Steward Elects Head, at which all the Company claps their Hands in token of Joy.

Then the present Steward takes out the Steward elect, and Walks with him hand in hand, (giving him the right Hand) behind the three other Stewards another round the Hall; and in the next round as aforesaid; the second Steward Drinks to another with the same Ceremony as the first did; and so the third, and so the fourth. And then all walks one round more hand in hand about the Hall, that the Company may take Notice of the Stewards Elect: and so ends the Ceremony of the Day.

LVII. He beareth Argent, a Barber bare Headed, with a pair of Cisers in his right hand, and a Comb in his left, clothed in Russet, his Apron Cheque of the first and Azure. A Barber is always known by his Cheque parti-coloured Apron, therefore it needs not mentioning; neither can he be termed a Barber (or Poller or Shaver, as anciently they were called) till his Apron be about him.

Instruments of a Barber.

The Instrument Case, in which are placed these following things in their several divisions.

The Glass or seeing Glass.

A Set of Horn Combs, with Teeth on one side, and wide.

A Set of Box Combs.

A Set of Ivory Combs, with fine Teeth, and toothed on both sides.

An Ivory Beard Comb.

A four square Bottle with a Screw'd head for sweet Water, or Benjamin Water, &c.

The like Bottle with sweet Powder in; but this is now not used.

A Row of Razers.

A pair of Tweezers, or Twitchers: with an Ear pick at the other end of it.

A Rasp or File, to file a point of a tooth that stands out.

A Set of Cisers, for the cutting of the Hair and Beard.

A Curling Iron, or Beard Iron, called the Forceps.

A Hone, to set or sharpen the Razers.

A Bottle of Oyle, or sweet Oyle, or Oyle Olive for the House.

A Powder Box, with sweet Powder.
 A Puff or Cuff, to powder the Hair.
 A Barbers Candlestick, to stick at his Girdle.
 A Barbers Apron.
 A Bason or Barbers Bason, having a circle in the brim to compass the Mans Throat, and a place like a little Dish to put the Ball in after Lathering.
Wash Balls, and Sweet Balls.
Water made sweet with having Bay Leaves, or other Leaves heated therein.
 A Chaffer to heat Water in.
 A Small Chaffer to carry Water in, with a hanging or falling handle to hold it by.
Linnens of several sorts; as Caps for the Head, to keep the Hair up
Trimming Cloaths, to put before a Man.
Napkins to put about the Neck, to dry the Face and Hands with.

Terms of Art used in Barbing and Shaving.

Take the Chair, is for the Person to be Trimmed, to sit down.
Clear the Neck, is to unbutton and turn down the collar of the Mans Neck.
Cloath him, is to put a Trimming Cloth before him, and to fasten it about his Neck.
Comb round the Hair, is to ready the Hair with a wide tooth Comb.
Powder the Hair, is to puff Sweet Powder into it.
Rub the Hair with a Napkin, is to dry it from its sweetness and filth in the head.
Comb out the Hair, and Power it; is to Comb the Hair straight with a wide tooth Horn Comb.
Comb it smooth and even with a Box Comb.
Comb it against the Grain, is to Comb it round the Head upwards to the Crown.
Walk your Combs, is to use two Combs in each Hand one, and so Comb the Hair with one after the other.
Quever the Combs, is to use them as if they were scratching on each side the Temples.
Quever the Head round, is to scrat it with the Combs all over.
Divide the Hair, is to lay it straight, or part it on the top of the head, even with the Nose.
Cut it up in heights, that is to cut as each person will have it, for there is variety of ways in cutting of Hair, as Cutting it all off the Top, and so they use it that wear Peruwicks.
Cutting it close, so that the remainder stands upright, this is called Round Cutting, and Pick Eared Cutting, because the hair is so short that it scarce covers the Ears.
Cutting in Falls, when the hair is cut to fall down each side the head, and extends itself to the shoulders. This is termed Parting of the Hair.

Jecimy the Hair, is to put Jecimin on the palms of your hands and rub it on the hair, and in the hair, by putting the locks between your hands, and rubbing the hands together.

Powder the hair.

Clap on the Cap, and divide the hair alike on each side.

Curle up the hair, is to rowle it about a pair of curling or beard Irons, and thrust it under the Cap.

Handle the Bason, and Ball; pour in the Water.

Lather the Face, is to wash the Beard with the Suds which the Ball maketh by chaffing it in the warm Water.

Hand the Razer, set it in a right order between the Thumb and Fingers.

Shave the Beard, is to take off superfluous hairs.

Wash the Face, with a Ball and Water, or a sweet Ball.

Clear the Face from the Ball, is to wash it over with clean Water to take off the sopiness.

Dry the Face, is airing of a Napkin (if cold Weather) and drying off the wet.

Crim the Beard, take away stragling hairs, and cut it thinner.

Take off the Cap, and fall the hair.

Comb out the hair.

Hold him the Glass, to see his new made Face, and to give the Barber instructions where it is amiss.

Take off the Linnens.

Brush his Cloaths.

Present him with his Hat, and according to his hire, he makes a bow, with your humble Servant Sir.

Other Terms used by Barbers.

A Barber from Barba a Beard, is a cutter of hair.

Poler an ancient term used for the cutter of hair.

Pole me, is cut my hair.

Shave, is to cut off the Beard with a Razer and Water.

Crim, is to cut the Beard (after shaving) into form and order.

Set the Razer, is to make it sharp and keen, on the Hone with Oyle.

Try the Razer.

Return the Razer, is to fould it up. and put it into the case.

Case, or Box the Instruments; is to put all the things into the case that was used about Trimming of a Person.

Fould the Cloaths.

Dry the Bason, wipe it with a Napkin after he hath done shaving.

Scoure the Dishes,

Instruments, a general Term for all the things that a Barber hath in his Case or Box.

LVIII. He beareth Azure, on a Ground Plot, or Mount in Base, a feltmaker, Walking of a Hat on his Plank, Or, the Pot to receive his Liquor, Argent, his Shirt or Waistcoat of the same. This is born by the name of Feltman.

Terms used in their Trade.

Bow the Wooll.
 Make the Wooll over.
 Fly the Wooll out.
 Make your Bate.
 Go to Bason.
 Set up the Hat.
 Boil the Hat.
 Cover it with Stuff, lay the Shagg upon it.
 Water the Hat.
 Make the Hat.
 Block the Hat.
 Round it, cut the Edges and Brims round and even.
 Colour, or Dye the Hat.
 Dry it.
 Stiffen it.
 Glaze it, or Finish it.

Sorts of Hats.

The Felt, it is made of Sheeps Wooll only.
 The Caster, it is made of Coney Wool, mixt with Polony Wooll.
 The Beever, it is made of Beever haire and Red Wool.
 The French felt, it is between a Felt and a Caster.
 The Cordiback Felt.
 The Carolina Felt.

LIX. He beareth Azure, on a Ground Plot, or Mount in Base, Vert, an Astronomer in his short Gown, Sable; Cap (or Bonnet) Pale and Shoes of the same; holding up a Quadrant in his right hand, and a Jacobs Staff in the left, Or. This is either termed an Astronomer or an Astrologer, both Sciences taking notice of the motions and effects of the Stars, and Heavenly Constellations.

Astronomy and Astrology described.

They are of the Seven Liberal Arts and Sciences, which though they be of a double Name, yet their Art tends to one and the same thing, viz. the measuring of the Heavens, observing the course and motions of the Planets, with all the moveable Constellations, only in this the words differ, Astronomy teacheth the Art of measuring the Heavens, the course and motion, setting and rising of the Planets; and Astrology telleth the future effect of things by their Motions, Conjunctions and Aspect, &c. they are both in one figure described, viz. either by Men, or Women, or both, with the Celestial Sphere before them with several Instruments belonging to that Art, drawn on Tables, or lying on the ground, as Books, Sun Dials, Quadrants, Jacobs Staff, and the Astrolabe, with such like.

As for the Terms of Art used in Astronomy and Astrology, I have formerly set them down (in some part) where I did speak of the Globe, or Celestial Sphere, to which I shall refer you, see lib. 2. cap. 1. numb. 77. and shall only take an occasion in this place to Treat so much of these Sciences as concern Heraldry and Antiquity, and that is of the course of the Sun, Moon, and Stars, as they manifest unto us Times and Seasons, Days, Months and Years, &c. the knowledge whereof I must confidently affirm to stand such in great use.

I shall begin first with the year, which consisteth of four Seasons or Quarters; each Quarter containing three Months, each Month four Weeks and some odd days; and every Week exactly seven days; every day being 24 hours, and every hour 60 minutes. Now how these several times were in former Ages distinguished, is the thing I am about to relate; and the ensuing Table will make to appear.

A Year hath by the course of the Sun 12 months, and by the course of the Moon 13 Months; of Weeks 52; and Days 365, except Leap-Year, and then it hath 366 days.

A Rule to know how many days each Month hath, and the Moveable Feasts.

Thirty days hath September, April, June and November; February hath 28 alone, and all the rest have Thirty one. But the Leap Year at that time, gives to February Twenty Nine.

How the Sundays or Sabbath days are reckoned throughout the Year.

Advent Sunday hath been by the Church in all Ages accounted for the first Sabbath or Lords Day in the year, which is the 5 Sunday before the Birth, or coming of Christ into the World, in his Humanity; after which followeth then this Account, viz.

The 1 Advent Sunday.

The 2 after Advent.

The 3 after Advent.

The 4 after Advent.

The 1 Sunday after Christmas day, which is 25 December.

The 2 after Christmas.

The 1 Sunday after Epiphany (or Twelfth day) which is ever on the 6 of January.

R

Th

The 2 Sunday after Epiphany.

The 3 after Epiphany.

The 4 after Epiphany.

The 5 after Epiphany.

The 6 after Epiphany.

The Septuagesima Sunday, so called of seventy days, or the Sunday 70 days before the Pascover, or Feast of Easter, or 9 Weeks.

The Sexagesima Dominia, or Sunday 60 days before Easter, or 8 Weeks.

The Quinquagesima Sunday 50 days before Easter, or 7 Weeks.

The Quadragesima Sunday 40 days before Easter (but this falls out very seldom, but when Easter is high in the year) it is 6 Weeks before Easter.

The 1 Sunday in Lent.

The 2 Sunday in Lent.

The 3 Sunday in Lent.

The Midlent Sunday.

The 5 Sunday in Lent, called Carle Sunday.

The 6 Sunday in Lent, called also Palm Sunday.

The Paschal, or Easter Sunday.

The 1 Sunday after Easter, or Low Sunday.

The 2 after Easter.

The 3 after Easter.

The 4 after Easter.

The Rogation Sunday.

The Sunday after Ascension, or Holy Thursday.

The Whitunday, or the day of Pentecost.

Trinity Sunday.

The 1 Sunday after Trinity.

The 2 after Trinity.

The 3 after Trinity, &c. to the 24, 25, or 26 Sunday after Trinity, if Easter fall to be in the beginning of the year, which is called a Low Lent or Easter.

To know the Moveable Feasts in the Year.

It is necessary for both an Herald, and an Historian amongst other things to know all the Moveable Feasts in the Year, and to whom and how Dedicated, thereby to give a true and exact account of the times; and this he may do if he observe these few heads.

Take notice that all the Moveable Feasts have their dependance on that day called Shrove Tuesday; now it is known by the first Change of the Moon in the Month of February, and the next Tuesday after the said first Change, is the undoubted Shrove Tuesday; But if it change on a Tuesday, then the next Tuesday following, is Shrove Tuesday.

Shrove Sunday, is the Sunday before the said Shrove-Tuesday.

Ash-Wednesday, is the day after Shrove-Tuesday.

Ember Week or Ember days, are the Wednesday, Friday and Saturday in the Week after the first Sunday in Lent, or Sunday after Shrove-Tuesday.

The Fast of Lent, is all the time from Ash Wednesday to the Feast of Easter, 40 days.

Midlent, or the Sunday in the middle of Lent, is the 4 Sunday after Shrove Tuesday.

*

Palm Sunday, is the 6 Sunday from Shrove-Tuesday.

Carle Sunday, is the second Sunday before Easter, or the fifth Sunday from Shrove-Tuesday.

Passton Week, is the Week after the 6 Sunday, or Palm Sunday, and before Easter.

Good Friday, is the Friday in the 6 Week, or after the 6 Sunday from Shrove-Tuesday.

Easter-day, or Easter Sunday, called also the Paschal Sabbath, or the Eucharist day, (because then the Celebration of the Lords Supper was chiefly performed) and the Resurrection of Jesus Christ; because on that day he rose from the dead; This day of Easter is (in memory thereof) kept annually the 7 Sunday after Shrove-Tuesday; or the first Sunday after the Full Moon which happens next after the 21 day of March; if it be on a Sunday, Easter is next Sunday after.

Low Sunday, is the Sunday after Easter.

Rogation Sunday, so called from their Catechising or manner of asking of Questions. It is the fifth Sunday after Easter.

Ascension day, from Christs going into Heaven in the sight of his Disciples, called also Holy Thursday; it is just the Fortieth day from Easter, Easter day being one of the account; or take it to be the Thursday in the Rogation Week.

Pentecost, or the Feast of Pentecost, or Whitunday, is the 7 Sunday after Easter, vulgarly called Whitsuntide.

Ember Week, or days in Pentecost, are the Wednesday, Friday and Saturday in Whitsun Week.

Trinity Sunday, is the 8 Sunday after Easter.

Advent Sunday, is always the nearest Sunday to the Feast of St. Andrew the Apostle, whether before or after it; and St. Andrews day is always the last of November; so that it is ever the fourth Sunday before the Nativity of Christ, called Christmas day.

The necessity of the knowledge of these days, and in what time of the year they happen to fall, is very useful to Antiquaries, and Keepers of old and ancient Records; nay to all Gentlemen who delight in the Study of Antiquities, thereby to know the exact time of the date of their Deeds, Evidences, Records, Edicts, Charters, with other kind of Manuscripts: for you must know that in ancient times they did not date their Writings as we do now, such a day of such a Month in the Year of our Lord, so and so. But their manner of Dating, was by the Days before or after such a Feast Day of Jesus Christ, or of a Day Dedicated to such and such a Saint: with the Year of the Kings Reign, or of the Popes Pontifical Chair, or Bishops and Archbishops time of their Consecration and Inauguration into their Cathedral Office: as thus.

Data Die Sabbathi proximum post Festum Epiphaniæ Anno Regni Regis Edwardi primi, Secundo.

Data Die Martis proximum post Festum Ascensionis Domini Anno Regni Regis Johannis Decimo.

Inquisicio Capta Die Veneris ante Pascam Anno Regni Regis Edwardi tertij post conquestum tertio.

Data Die Pentecosta Anno Pontifici Domini Nostri Urbani Divini Providentie Pape Sexti, Secundo.

Data

Data Die Sabbathi in crastino ante Rogationis Domini Pomificatus Domini Nicholai Pape Quarte, Anno Se-cunde.

Data Nona Calendis Aprilis Anno Primo Pontificatus
Clementis Episcopi (aut Pape.)

Data V. Idus Marcij Anno Pontificati Honorij Pape tertij, quinto.

Rogerus Dei Gratia Coventrie & Litchfield Episcopus,
&c. Data 14 Calend. Maij Anno Gratie 1277. & Consecratione Nostri vicefimo.

Bonifacius Episcopus Servus Servorum Dei, &c. Data
12 Calend. Julij Pontificatus Nostri Anno tertio.

Thus much for Dates that are Moveable Feasts: I shall give some whose Dates are on Saints Days which are fixed to certain Days of the Month: as thus,

Data in Vigilo Sancti Egidij Anno Regni Regis Henrici
Secundi, post conquestum Anglia Secundo.

Data Die Sabbathi in crastino omnium Sanctorum Anno Regni Regis Edwardi Tertij post Conquestum tricesimo.

Data Die Dominica proximum ante Festum Sancti Petri in vincula Anno Regni Regis Edwardi Tertij post Conquestum Secundo.

Data Die Lune in Festo Sanctorum Sabastini & Fabiani, Anno Regni Regis Edwardi Primi, post Conquestum Decimo.

Now for the certain knowledg of these Saints Days and Years, I have not thought it amiss in the next place to give you a Catalogue of the Kings of England, and the times of their Reigns, and the Calender of all the Saints Feast Days throughout the Year, which will be a great help to find out the very Day of the Date of an old Deed.

Kings Reigns.

William the Conqueror, began his Reign, 14. Octo. 1066.

William Rufus, began his Reign, 9. Sept. 1087.

Henry the first, began his Reign, 1. August 1100.

King Stephen, began his Reign, 2. Decemb. 1136.

Henry the second, began his Reign, 25. Octob. 1154.

Richard the first, began his Reign, 6. July 1189.

King John, began his Reign, 14. Octob. 1199.

Henry the third, began his Reign, 19. Octob. 1217.

Edward the first, began his Reign, 16. Novemb. 1273.

Edward the second, began his Reign, 7. July 1307.

Edward the third, began his Reign, 25. January 1327.

Richard the second, began his Reign, 21. June 1377.

Henry the fourth, began his Reign, 21. Sept. 1400.

Henry the fifth, began his Reign, 20. March 1413.

Henry the sixth, began his Reign, 31. August 1422.

Edward the fourth, began his Reign, 4. Mar. 1461.

Edward the fifth, began his Reign, 9. April 1483.

Richard the third an Usurper, began his Reign, 22.
July 1484.

Henry the seventh, began his Reign, 22. August 1486.

Henry the eighth, began his Reign, 22. April 1509.

Edward the sixth, began his Reign 28. January 1547.

Queen Mary, began her Reign, 6. July 1553.

Philip and Mary, began their Reign, 25. July 1554.

Queen Elizabeth, began her Reign 17. Novemb. 1559.

[]

James the first, began his Reign, 24. March 1603.

Charles the first, began his Reign, 27. March 1625.

Charles the second, began his Reign, 30. Jan. 1648.

James the second, began his Reign, 6. Feb. 1684.

January hath XXXI. Days.

calend. Jan.	1	Circum. of Christ. New Years-day.
4. nonas	2	St. Stephen. (S. Basil the Great.
3. nonas	3	St. John the Divine.
prid. non. Jan.	4	Innocence - day.
nonas Jan.	5	St. Tho. Becknet. St. Simcon.
8. idus	6	Epiphanie, or Twelve - day.
7. idus	7	St. Felix.
6. idus	8	St. Lucian.
5. idus	9	St. Agapets the Virgin. S. Julianus
4. idus	10	St. Paul t. Hermit. (Mat.
3. idus	11	St. Linus, and Higinus.
prid. idus	12	St. Archade the Martyr.
idus	13	St. Hillary Bishop.
19. calend. feb.	14	St. Felicia.
18. calend.	15	St. Maurice.
17. calend.	16	St. Marcel.
16. calend.	17	St. Anthony.
15. calend.	18	St. Prysea.
14. calend.	19	St. Wolfan, and Pontianus.
13. calend.	20	St. Sebastin, and Fabian.
12. calend.	21	St. Agnes.
11. calend.	22	St. Vincent.
10. calend.	23	St. Emerence.
9. calend.	24	St. Timothy. St. Babylas Bishop.
8. calend.	25	Conversion of St. Paul.
7. calend.	26	St. Policarpe Bishop.
6. calend.	27	St. Agnes the 2d. John Chrysostom
5. calend.	28	St. Valerius. (Bishop.
4. calend.	29	St. Theodore, and Char. the Great.
3. calend.	30	St. Batilde, and Marcellinus.
prid. cal. feb.	31	St. Victor, and Saturnus.

Badd and Evil Days in this Month are the first, second, fourth, fifth, tenth, fifteenth, sixteenth; of some the seventeenth, nineteenth, others say the twenty fifth: as the Egyptian and Caldean Astronomers. Innocence - Day on what Day of the Week soever it lights upon, that Day of the Week is by Astronomers taken to be a Cross Day all that Year through.

The Jews call this their eleventh Month by the name of Shebat: and their Week Days, the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, the seventh Day the Sabbath: and the Christians the Lords - Day, and the first Day of the Week: Zach. 1. 7.

The Romans call it Januarius from Janus their first Heathen King, and God; and their Week Days, Dies
Lune, Dies Martis, Dies Mercurij, Dies Jovis, Dies Veneris, Dies Saturni, Dies Solis: and from the Christians, Dies Dominici.

The Saxons, and English, call the Days of the Week,
Sunday, Moonday, Tuiscos or Tuesday, Woden's or Wednesday, Thursday, Freasday, or Friday, and Saterday.

R. 2

February

February hath XXVIII. Days, yet every 4 Year called the Bissextile or Leap Year, hath XXIX Days.

calend. feb.	1	St. Brigit. Ignatius Bish. & Mar.
4. nonas	2	Purifi. of Mary, or Chandlemas day.
3. nonas	3	St. Blase.
prid. non. Feb.	4	St. Gilbert.
non. Febru.	5	St. Agatha Virgin.
8. idus	6	Vedastus, Amandus. Dorothy.
7. idus	7	Angulus a Bishop.
6. idus	8	St. Paul a Bishop, and Lucius.
5. idus	9	St. Apolin.
4. idus	10	St. Scholastica. St. Will. confessor.
3. idus	11	St. Eufrastrus.
prid. idus	12	St. Eulalie.
idus feb.	13	St. Wolston, and Wolfranc.
14. cal. mar.	14	St. Valentine.
15. calend.	15	St. Faustine, and Jonett.
14. calend.	16	St. Julian the Virgin.
13. calend.	17	St. Polieron.
12. calend.	18	St. Simeon.
11. calend.	19	St. Sabinus.
10. calend.	20	St. Mildred.
9. calend.	21	69. Martyrs, alii 97. Martyrs.
8. calend.	22	St. Peter in Cathedra, or the Chair.
7. calend.	23	St. Polieron, a fast Day.
6. calend.	24	St. Marcellus the Apostle.
5. calend.	25	St. Paul.
4. calend.	26	St. Nector, and Alexander.
3. calend.	27	St. Augustine.
prid. cal. Mar.	28	St. Oswald.
	29	St. Romanus.

Bad and Evil Days in this Month are the fourth, but Erra Pater the Jewish Astronomer, saith the eighth, ninth, seventeenth.

The Jews call this their 12. Month, and give it the name of Adar: Esf. 9. 1. 17.

The Romans call it Februarius from Februa, Feasts then celebrated to Pluto the feigned God of Hell.

March hath XXXI. Days.

calend. March	1	St. David.
6. nonas	2	St. Chadd.
5. nonas	3	St. Martine.
4. nonas	4	St. Adrian.
3. nonas	5	St. Eusebius, and Foc.
prid. non. Mar.	6	St. Victorine.
nonas	7	St. Perpetua. St. Thomas Aquinas.
8. idus	8	St. Felix.
7. idus	9	40. Martyrs.
6. idus	10	St. Agapite.
5. idus	11	St. Quirion.
4. idus	12	St. Gregory Pope or Bishop.
3. idus	13	St. Theodore.
prid. idus	14	St. Candide, and Leo.
idus	15	St. Longius.
17. cal. Apr.	16	St. Boniface Bishop.
16. calend.	17	St. Parick, and Gertrude.
15. calend.	18	St. Edward Confessor and King.

[J]

14. calend.	19	St. Joseph Husband to Mary.
13. calend.	20	St. Cuthbert.
12. calend.	21	St. Benett or Benedict.
11. calend.	22	St. Aphrodosie.
10. calend.	23	St. Theodore.
9. calend.	24	St. Agapie, a fast Day.
8. calend.	25	Annun. of Mary, or Conception of
7. calend.	26	St. Castor Martyr. (Christ)
6. calend.	27	St. Drizipar.
5. calend.	28	St. Dorothy.
4. calend.	29	St. Quintine.
3. calend.	30	St. Quirine.
prid. cal. Apr.	31	St. Adelme.

Bad and Evil Days in this Month, are the first, fifteenth, say the Egyptians: but the Jews say, the fifteenth, sixteenth, twenty first.

The Jews call this the first Month, or the Month
Abib, or Nisan: as Exod. 13. 4. and Esf. 3. 7.

The Romans call it Martius from Mars, feigned by the Heathens to be the God of War.

April hath XXX. Days.

calend. Apr.	1	St. Theodore.
4. nonas	2	St. Mary of Egypt.
3. nonas	3	St. Richard Bishop.
prid. non. Apr.	4	St. Ambrose.
nonas	5	St. Martian.
8. idus	6	St. Sextus Bishop.
7. idus	7	St. Egilippus.
6. idus	8	St. Perpetuus.
5. idus	9	Passion of 7. Virgins.
4. idus	10	Ezekiel, Tiburtius and Valer.
3. idus	11	St. Julian Bishop.
prid. idus	12	St. Oswald Archbishop.
idus	13	St. Zenoni. St. Justinus Martyr.
18. cal. Maii.	14	St. Olyffe. Tiburtius.
17. calend.	15	St. Leonard.
16. calend.	16	St. Ysidore Bishop. Ireneus.
15. calend.	17	St. Colmie, and Anicete.
14. calend.	18	St. Quintine, and Valerian.
13. calend.	19	St. Alphege Bishop, and Osmund.
12. calend.	20	St. Victor Martyr.
11. calend.	21	St. Simeon Bish. St. Anselme Bish.
10. calend.	22	St. Sother Virgin.
9. calend.	23	St. George Martyr.
8. calend.	24	St. Wilfride Bishop, and Adelme.
7. calend.	25	St. Mark the Evan. St. Pauls Con.
6. calend.	26	St. Clere, or Cletus Bish. St. Basil
5. calend.	27	St. Anastasius Bish. (Bish)
4. calend.	28	St. Vitalis Martyr.
3. calend.	29	St. Peter Mediolensis.
prid. cal. Maii.	30	St. Arkenwald, a fast Day.

Bad and Evil Days in this Month, are the first,
21. as the Caldeans saith, but the Jews say only the 15.
21. Days are not lucky.

The Jews call this the second Month, or Ziv, or the Month Iyar: as in 1. Kin. 6. 1.

The Romans call it Aprilis, as some affirm from Aphro- dites Venus, the frothy and filthy Goddess.

May

May hath XXXI. days.

Calend. Maij	1	S. Phillip and Jacob Apostles.
6. nonas	2	S. Athanasie Bishop.
5. non.	3	Invention of the Holy Crofs.
4. non.	4	Feast of the Crown of Thorns.
3. non.	5	S. Godard. St. Austins Conversion.
Prid. non. Maij	6	S. John Port Latin. S. John Damascen
Nonas.	7	S. John of Beverley.
8. idus.	8	Apparition of St. Michael Archangel.
7. idus.	9	Transl. S. Nicholas. S. Greg. Nazian.
6. idus	10	S. Gordian and Epimachy. (Bp.
5. idus	11	S. Anthony.
4. idus	12	S. Acheley, And Pancrace. Epiph. Bp.
3. idus	13	S. Boniface and Servatius.
Pridie idus	14	S. Isidore Martyr.
Idus	15	S. Brandon.
17. cal. Junii	16	Transl. of S. Barnard. and Adelgunc
16. calend.	17	S. Diaicori Martyr.
15. calend.	18	S. Barnardine.
14. calend.	19	S. Dunstan.
13. calend.	20	S. Elen Queen.
12. calend.	21	S. Julian Virgin. Urbanus
11. calend.	22	S. Desiderius Martyr and Juliana.
10. calend.	23	Translation of St. Francis.
9. calend.	24	S. Adelme Bishop.
8. calend.	25	S. Austin of England.
7. calend.	26	S. Bede Presbyter.
6. calend.	27	S. Germane.
5. calend.	28	S. Corona Martyr, and Monica.
4. calend.	29	S. Felix
3. calend.	30	S. Petronil.
Pridie Junii	31	S. Nertus.

Bad and Evil days in this Month are the 3, 7, 15. but the Jews say the 7, 15, 20.

It is by them called the 3 Month, or Month Sivan, El. 8. 9. The Romans call it Maius, from Maia, a Hea-then Goddeffs, called also Flora.

June hath XXX. days.

Calendas	1	S. Nichomede Martyr.
4. nonas	2	S. Marceline and Peter.
3. nonas	3	S. Erasmus Martyr.
Pridie nonas	4	S. Petrosus Confessor.
Nonas Junij	5	S. Boniface Bishop.
8. idus	6	S. Wolstane.
7. idus	7	S. Midard and Gil.
6. idus	8	S. William Confessor.
5. idus	9	Translation of S. Edmund. Filician.
4. idus	10	Innocent Confessor and Onophrius.
3. idus	11	Longest day. St. Barnabas Apostle.
Pridie idus	12	S. Basil Confessor.
Idus	13	S. Anthony and Filicula.
16. cal. Julij	14	S. Basil Bishop. Valerius.
17. calend.	15	S. Rowland.
16. calend.	16	Translation of S. Richard.
15. calend.	17	S. Botolph.
14. calend.	18	S. Marcelline.
13. calend.	19	S. Gervest and Pro.
12. calend.	20	Translation of S. Edward. Silverius.
11. calend.	21	Walburge Virgin. *

10. calend.	22	Alban Martyr.
9. calend.	23	Andre. a Fast day. and Etheldred.
8. calend.	24	S. John Baptists Nativity.
7. calend.	25	Translation of S. Eleri
6. calend.	26	S. John and Paul.
5. calend.	27	S. Crescent Martyr, and 7 Sleepers.
4. calend.	28	S. Leo Bishop, a Fasting day.
3. calend.	29	S. Peter and Paul Apostles.
Pridie Julij	30	Conversion of S. Paul.

Bad and Evil days in this Month are the 4, 7, 10, 16. but the Jews say that the 4, and 7, are only unfortunate.

This the Jews call the 4 Month, or the Month Tammuz; it is not any where named in Scripture. The Romans call it Junius and Junonium, from Junio a Heathen Goddeffs.

July hath XXXI. days.

Calend. Julij	1	Octaves of St. John Baptift.
6. nonas	2	Visitation of our Lady.
5. nonas	3	Transl. S. Tho. Ap. S. Landfranc. Bp.
4. nonas	4	Translation of S. Martyn.
3. nonas	5	S. Zoe Virgin and Martyr.
Pridie nonas	6	Octaves of St. Peter.
Nonas Julij	7	Translation of S. Thomas Becket.
8. Idus	8	S. Chilianus.
7. idus	9	S. Cyrill Bishop.
6. idus	10	6 Brethren Martyred.
5. idus	11	Translation of S. Bennet. Pius.
4. idus	12	S. Nabor and Felix.
3. idus	13	S. Private. Bonaventura Cardinal.
Pridie idus	14	S. Revell. Bonavent.
Idus	15	Translation of S. Swithine.
17. Cal. Aug.	16	S. Osmand.
16. calend.	17	S. Kenelme and Alexius.
15. calend.	18	S. Arnulphe Bishop. Rosina.
14. calend.	19	S. Rufine and Justine.
13. calend.	20	S. Margaret Virgin.
12. calend.	21	S. Praxedis Virgin and Arbogast.
11. calend.	22	S. Mary Magdalen.
10. calend.	23	S. Apolin Bishop.
9. calend.	24	S. Christine Virgin, a Fast day.
8. calend.	25	S. James Apostle. S. Christopher Mar.
7. calend.	26	S. Anne. St. Vigilius Bishop.
6. calend.	27	The 7 Sleepers.
5. calend.	28	S. Sampson Bishop and Pantaleon.
4. calend.	29	S. Felix and Fellows. Beatrix. Olavs
3. calend.	30	S. Abdon and Senni. (King.
Pridie Augusti	31	S. Germane Bishop. S. Ignatius Loyola

Bad and Evil days in this Month are the 13, 20, 22. and the Jews say the 15, and 20, are only unfortunate: Also from the 19. day of July, to the 26. day of August, are called the Canicular, or Canical, or Dog-days, all which are days of great danger for any enterprise.

The Jews call this the 5 Month, and give it the name of Ab. The Romans anciently called it Quintilis, but afterwards in honour of Julius Caesar, their first Pagan Emperour, they called it Julius. August August hath XXXI. days.

Calen. Augusti	1	S. Peter in Avincula. Lammas day:
4. non.	2	S. Stephen Martyr. Moses.
3. non.	3	Invent. S. Stephen.
Prid. non. Aug.	4	S. Justin and Aristarchus.
Nonas Aug.	5	S. Oswald.
8. idus.	6	Transfiguration of Christ. Sextus.
7. idus.	7	The Feast of Jesus. S. Victrice.
6. idus.	8	S. Ciriack and Socius.
5. idus.	9	S. Roman Martyr.
4. idus.	10	S. Laurence Martyr.
3. idus.	11	S. Tyburtius Martyr.
Pridie idus	12	S. Clare Virgin.
Idus	13	S. Hipolite.
19. cal. Sep.	14	S. Eusebius.
18. calend.	15	Assumption of our Lady.
17. calend.	16	S. Roche.
16. calend.	17	Octaves of S. Laurence.
15. calend.	18	Agapite Martyr.
14. calend.	19	S. Magnus.
13. calend.	20	S. Lewes. S. Bernard Abbot.
12. calend.	21	S. Barnard. S. Augustin Bishop.
11. calend.	22	Octaves Assumption of our Lady.
10. calend.	23	S. Timothy.
9. calend.	24	S. Bartholomew the Apostle.
8. calend.	25	S. Lewis King.
7. calend.	26	S. Irenicus and Severine Martyrs.
6. calend.	27	S. Ruffe Martyr.
5. calend.	28	S. Augustine.
4. calend.	29	Beheading of S. John Baptist.
3. calend.	30	S. Felix Presbiter and Audact.
Prid. cal. Sept.	31	S. Cuthburge Virgin.

Bad and Evil days in this Month are the 19. 20.

The Jews call this the 6 Month, and name it Elul, Neb. 6. 15. the Romans of old called it Sextilis, but afterwards in favour of Augustus Caesar, the second Heathen Emperour, it was named Augustus.

September hath XXX. days.

Calend. Sept.	1	St. Egidius.
4. nonas	2	S. Anthony and Veronica.
3. nonas	3	S. Gregory. Scapia.
Prid. non. Sept.	4	Transl. S. Cuthbert & S. Theodofia.
Nonas Sept.	5	S. Bertine. Zacharias. Martine.
8. idus	6	S. Eugenius and Magnus.
7. idus	7	S. Gorgan.
6. idus	8	Nativity of our Lady.
5. idus	9	S. Silvius and Gorgan.
4. idus	10	S. Prothy and Jacinet. Hilarius.
3. idus	11	S. Martian and Felix.
Pridie idus	12	S. Maurily and Guidon.
Idus Sept.	13	S. Amancio.
18. cal. Oct.	14	Exaltation of the Holy Cross.
17. calend.	15	Octaves of our Lady Mary. Nicodemus.
16. calend.	16	S. Edith and Euphemia.
15. calend.	17	S. Lambart.
14. calend.	18	S. Victor and Fereoldus.
13. calend.	19	S. Januarius Martyr.
12. calend.	20	S. Eustatius and Faustas.
11. calend.	21	S. Matthew the Apostle.

*

10. calend.	22	S. Maurice.
9. calend.	23	S. Teole Virgin. Eldras.
8. calend.	24	S. Androche Martyr. Samuel.
7. calend.	25	S. Firminus Martyr and Cleophas.
6. calend.	26	S. Cyprian and Justine.
5. calend.	27	S. Colmin and Damian.
4. calend.	28	S. Erenpere or Exupera.
3. calend.	29	S. Michael the Archangel.
Pridie cal. Oct.	30	S. Jerome, or Hierom.

Bad and Evil days in this Month are the 3, 6, 7, 21. but Erra Pater the Jew faith only the 6, 7, are cross.

This the Jews call the 7 Month, or the Month Ethinim, and also Tifri, 1 Kings 8. 2. Levit. 23. 34. New Wine being then, Deut. 16. 13. The Romans call it September, from septem seven, being the seventh from March, and Imber Rain.

October hath XXXI. days.

Calen. Octob.	1	S. Remigius Bishop.
6. nonas	2	S. Leodegar.
5. nonas	3	S. Candidus Martyr, and Maximian.
4. nonas	4	S. Francis Confessor.
3. nonas	5	S. Apolinarius. Constane.
prid. non. Octo.	6	S. Faith.
Nonas Octob.	7	S. Marcus and Marcell. Sergius.
8. Idus	8	S. Pelagus.
7. idus	9	S. Dionice or Dionisius, or Denice.
6. idus	10	S. Gedeon and Victor.
5. idus	11	S. Nicasius. Burchard.
4. idus	12	S. Wilfride Virgin.
3. idus	13	Translation of S. Edward.
Pridie idus	14	S. Calix.
Idus	15	S. Wolfran and Hedwig.
17. Cal. Nov.	16	S. Mich. in the Mount. Gallus. Wolfr.
16. calend.	17	Translation of S. Etheld. Florentius.
15. calend.	18	St. Luke the Evangelist.
14. calend.	19	S. Prideswide Virgin. Ptolomy.
13. calend.	20	S. Austrebert Virgin.
12. calend.	21	11 Martyrs Virgins. Ursula.
11. calend.	22	S. Mary Salome. Cordula.
10. calend.	23	S. Maglory. Beverius. Sever. Boethius.
9. calend.	24	S. Crispin and Crispiana. Salome.
8. calend.	25	Translation of S. John.
7. calend.	26	S. Ursula and Amandus.
6. calend.	27	S. Florence, a Fast day.
5. calend.	28	S. Simon and Jude the Apostles.
4. calend.	29	S. Narcissus Bishop.
3. calend.	30	S. Germane Bishop, and Theonestus.
Pridie Nov.	31	S. Quintine and Wolfgang a Fast day.

Bad and Evil days in this Month are the 3, 7, 22, 25. but the Jew faith there is only the 6. an evil day.

The Jews call this the 8 Month, and give it the name of Bul, and also by Marbeshuan, 1 King 6. 38. The Romans call it October, as being the eighth Month from March, and eighth from the delivery out of Egypt, Exod. 12. 2.

November

November hath XXX. Days.

calend. Nov.	1	All Saints Day.
4. nonas	2	All Souls Day.
3. nonas	3	Winifride Virgin. Theophilus.
prid. non. Nov.	4	S. Amantius. Pierius.
nonas Nov.	5	S. Letic Priest, and S. Richard.
8. idus	6	St. Leonard.
7. idus	7	S. Wilfrid Archbishop. Florentius.
6. idus	8	S. Claudius. Quatuor Corona.
5. idus	9	S. Theodore Martyr.
4. idus	10	S. Martin Bishop of K. Erasms.
3. idus	11	S. Martyn Bishop in Winter.
prid. idus	12	S. Paternie.
idus Novemb.	13	S. Brice.
18. cal. Decem.	14	Translaton of S. Erkin. Frederick.
17. calend.	15	S. Machute and Leopoldus.
16. calend.	16	S. Edmund Archbishop.
15. calend.	17	S. Avianus. S. Gregory Thaumaturgus.
14. calend.	18	Oct. S. Martin. Gelasius. Martlemalle.
13. calend.	19	S. Elizabeth.
12. calend.	20	S. Edmund King. Agapite.
11. calend.	21	Presentation of Lady Mary.
10. calend.	22	S. Cicely Virgin.
9. calend.	23	S. Clement Pope and Martyr.
8. calend.	24	S. Chrisogonus Martyr.
7. calend.	25	S. Katherine Virgin.
6. calend.	26	S. Lyne and Conrade.
5. calend.	27	S. Agricola.
4. calend.	28	S. Ruffus and Thomas.
3. calend.	29	S. Saturn. a Fast.
prid. cal. Dec.	30	S. Andrew the Apostle.

Bad and Evil Days in this Month are the 5, 15, 19. others say only the 5, 19.

This Month by the Jews, is called Kislev, or the 9 Month, as Zech. 7. 1. from Kesil, it bringeth Tempests.

The Romans call it November, from Novem, Nine; it being the ninth Month from March, which is reckoned to be the first Month or beginning of the Year, and the ninth from Egypt's Bondage, Exod. 13. 4.

December hath XXXI. Days.

calen. Decemb.	1	S. Loy and Eligius.
4. nonas	2	S. Liban and Candidus. Longius.
3. nonas	3	Deposition of S. Osmond. Cassianus.
prid. non. Dec.	4	S. Barbara Virgin.
nonas Dec.	5	S. Saba Abbot, or Sabine.
8. idus	6	S. Nicholas Bishop.
7. idus	7	Octaves of S. Andrew. S. Ambrose Bp.
6. idus	8	Conception of our Lady.
5. idus	9	S. Cyprian Abbot. Joachim.
4. idus	10	S. Galatia Virgin, or Euralia.
3. idus	11	S. Damassin. Zintippa.
prid. idus	12	S. Paul Bishop in Winter. Epimachus.
idus Dec.	13	Lucie Virgin. Shortest day.
19. cal. Jan.	14	S. Othlie Virgin. Valerian. Nichasius.
18. calend.	15	S. Valery Bishop.
17. calend.	16	S. O. Sapientia.
16. calend.	17	S. Lazarus Bishop.
15. calend.	18	S. Gracian Bishop. S. Christopher.

14. calend.	19	S. Venium, or Vendius.
13. calend.	20	S. Julian, a Fasting day. Ignatius.
12. calend.	21	S. Thomas the Apostle.
11. calend.	22	30 Martyrs.
10. calend.	23	S. Victor Virgin.
9. calend.	24	S. Claudy, a Fast day.
8. calend.	25	Nativity Jesus Christ. Christmas day.
7. calend.	26	St. Stephen the Protho-Martyr.
6. calend.	27	S. John the Evangelist.
5. calend.	28	Innocents day.
4. calend.	29	S. Thomas of Canterbury.
3. calend.	30	Translaton S. James. S. David King.
prid. cal. Jan.	31	S. Silvester Bishop.

The Vigil of any of these foresaid Feast days, is the evening before the said day.

Bad and Evil days in this Month are the 6, 7, 9, 22. but the Jew faith the 6, 7, 11. others say the 15, 16.

The Jews call this Month Tebeth or Tobath, the 10 Month, as it is in Esther 2. 16.

The Romans call it December, as being the 10 Month from March.

Halcyon days, Dies Halcyonii, days of rest and quietness, free from Storms and Tempests.

Climacterical Years, are the remarkable degrees, or great Steps, whereby Mans Life ascends or mounts to its appointed Period; and are some certain years which are usually attended with some great Mutation or Fortune, as the 7 year of a Mans Age, the 21 year, which is 3 times 7; the 49 year, which is 7 times 7; the 63 year, which is 9 times 7; and the 81 year, which is 9 times 9; which two last are called the grand Climacterical years; in which many famous Men have been observed to Die.

In these Western parts of the World, are two accounts of the Years and Days, the first is the Julian account, so called from Julius Caesar, who 40 years before the Birth of Christ observed then the falseness of the Account then in use, ordained the year to consist of 365 days and six hours, which six hours in four years made a day civil, which every 4 year was added to the end of February, which made that year to consist of 366 days, and was called the Bissextile or Leap Year, because the sixth of the Calends of March was twice written, which was called the Intercalation. This Account was and is still accepted by the Old English and us at this time; yet Pope Gregory by the advice and direction of Antonius Lilius, and other excellent Mathematicians in the year of Christ, 1582. corrected the Calendar, making the year to consist of 365 days, 5 hours 49 minutes, 12 seconds; and that the Vernal Equinox, which then was on March the 11, might be reduced to March 21, as it was at the time of the first Nicene Council; he commanded 10 days in October to be left out, viz. from the 4 to the 14, so as the 4 day of the Month was accounted the 14: Hence it comes to pass, that the new Foreign Lillian or Gregorian Account, is both in Festivals and all other Month days accounted 10 days before the old English or Julian Account.

A way to find what day of the Month every first Sabbath day is, by two Verses, knowing the Dominical Letter.

At Dover Dwells, George Brown Esquire,
Gt. at Christopher Finch, And David Frier.

Or thus,

All Do Die, Good, Bad, End, Ric. Blackbourn,
Yet Christ First, A Dear Friend. } fecit.

Now, I would know what day of the Month the first Sabbath day is in October 1687. Dominical Letter B.

First I count what Month it is in the Year, and find it the 10; then I run over my Verses till I come to the 10 Word which is And, which begins with A, and is the Letter for the first day of that 10 Month.

Then count all the Dominical Letters as they ly in Order, beginning with A, till you come to the Dominical Letter of the year, which is B. viz. a, b, c, d, e, f, g, and as many as it is to the said Dominical Letter, so many days in that Month is the first Sabbath day, viz. the second of October.

Again, I would know what day the first Sabbath day is in August 1688. the Dominicals AG. being a Leap-Year.

First note in every Bissextile or Leap year hath a double Dominical Letter, the first for January, and to February the 25 only; the second for the remaining part of the year: All other years there is but one single Letter.

Therefore in the Leap Year for these two Months take the first Dominical; and for February by the Verses you find that the first Letter ascribed to that Month begins with d; so count through all the Dominical Letters till you come successively to A; and that is the day of the Month for the first Sunday in February, viz. d, e, f, g, a, which is the fifth day.

Again, I would know what day of the Month the first Sabbath in August 1688. it being a Leap Year, and the Dominical Letters AG.

First, I count what Month it is in the year, and find it the 8; then I repeat my Verses till I come to the 8 word, which is Christopher or Christ; so C being the first Letter for Christopher, is the first Letter for the first day of the 8 Month August.

Then I count all the Dominical Letters in order, beginning with c, viz. c, d, e, f, g, till you come to the Dominical Letter for the year; and as many as it is to the said G, so many days in that Month is the first Sabbath, viz. the 5 day. So having the first Sunday in the Month, it is easie to know all the days of the Month after, reckoning from Sabbath to Sabbath.

Geometry.

The Noble Art and Science of Geometry or Measuring the Earth, is described by a Man or Woman in loose Garments (or as the Painter pleaseth) with Compasses in their hands, measuring the Terrestrial Globe, with other sorts of Joyners, Malons and Carpenters Instruments of Working lying on the Ground, or laid on Tables, with Books and such like things; shewing thereby, that without Geometry no work can be brought to perfection, or have its due form and proportion; all Arts and Manual Occupations wholly depending upon it: Nevertheless, in this place I shall pass over all other Arts and Sciences which are and may be comprehended under this term Geometry, and only say so much in it, with the terms, as is usefull about the measuring of Land.

Terms or Names given to several parcels of Land according to their largeness, Alphabetically.

Acre, is a certain quantity of Land 40 Perches long, and 4 broad, or to that quantity, be the length or breadth more or less; and others write that 160 Perches square, makes but an Acre.

Butt, is half the quantity of a Loon.

Bovatt of Land, is as much as 15 Acres, in some places 20 Acres.

Barony in Land, is 20 Knights Fees, each Fee containing 680 Acres of Land.

Barly Corn, is the length of 4 Poppy seeds, and 3 Corns make an Inch or a Thumbs breadth.

Carucate of land, or Carve of Land, is a Plow Land, and contains as much Land as may be Tilled and Laboured in a Year and a Day with one Plough; it is also called a Hyde of Land.

Cubit, is the length of the Arm from the Finger end to the Elbow; of some termed a Cube, or Ell, being counted in exact measure half a Yard, or two Spans.

Ell, is three foot nine inches in length, or a yard and a quarter.

Earth, the whole massy Globe is said to be 21600 miles in compass; but the thickness of it is no more than 6873 miles.

Farundell, or Fardingdale, or a Farthendell of Land; it is the fourth part of an Acre.

Furlong, is a quantity of ground, containing 20 Lugs or Poles in length, and every Pole 16 foot and an half; eight of which Furlongs makes a Mile.

Fathom, is 5 foot, or as much as a Man can reach by extending both his Arms; some say 7 foot; the Sea men say 2 yards.

Foot, is 12 Inches in measure; three foot makes a yard.

Fall of Land, is six Ells long and six broad is a superficial Fall of measured land; otherwise a Fall is a lineal or line measure of 6 Ells long.

Furrow,

Furrow, is as much as the Plow turneth up at a time, which may be broader or narrower as the Plowman pleaseth.

Fingers breadth contains 2 Barley corns long, or 4 broad laid side to side.

Headland, see Selson; it is the end of the Butts which the Plow in Plowing turneth upon.

Hide of Land, it containeth an 100 Acres of Land, some places make 160 Acres go for a Hide.

Hand Breadth, two make a Span in a true proportioned Man; otherwise 3 inches is taken for the lesser Hands breadth. See Span.

Inch, is the breadth of 3 Barley Corns measured from end to end; 144 square inches makes a square foot, 12 inches make a foot in length.

Knights Fee in Land, anciently contained 8 Carucates, or 680 Acres of Land; of some 800 Acres.

Land, or Lond, or Launde, in some places called Loone, it is as much as two large Butts.

League, is Sea measure, and is 3 Mile in length.

Lugg, the same to Pole.

Mile in England is 8 Furlongs, every Furlong 40 Perches, every Perch 16 foot and a half, which is more than the Italian Mile by 56 Paces; but our ordinary Miles exceed both the Italian and true English Mile.

Nail of a Yard, is 2 inches and a quarter, which is the 16 part of a yard.

Or-gang of Land, or an Or-gate, is 13 acres; of some it consists of 15 Acres; see Bovate.

Perch, or Perch of Land, is 16 foot and a half long; some say 8, others 7 yards makes a Perch, and 49 a Perch square.

Pole, is the same to Perch, some say 40 makes but a furlong.

Pick of Land, is a parcel of Land that runs into a corner, containing half a Land.

Pace, is five foot, so that 100 Paces makes an Italian mile; but our English Pace is but 3 foot; see Step.

Plowland, is deemed to be the same in quantity as a Knights Fee; or as much as a Plough can Plow up in a Year, viz. 120 Acres.

Quarter of a Pard, is the 4 part of a yard, or 9 inches in length.

Rod, is the 4 part of an Acre; a Rood in length is taken to be 8 yards; but a Rood of Land is as aforesaid 10 fathoms in length, and 4 in breadth.

Rod, see Perch, it is a Staff or Pole of Wood to measure Land withal, of 16 foot and a half long; but a Geometrick Rod or Gad, is but 10 foot, and in some places but 9 foot.

Ratpe, is the same to Fall, or Rod.

Ree-an, is the distance between two Butts.

Selson of Land, is no certain quantity, it sometimes contains an Acre, sometimes half, sometimes more or less, it is taken for a ridge of Land lying between two Furrows.

Span, is as much as can be measured from the end of the Thumb to the end of the middle or little Finger extended, and is in a true proportioned Man taken to be a quarter of a Yard; yet in Geometrick measure 3 hands breadth or 9 inches is reckoned for a Span: This is termed the greater hands breadth.

Step, or the lesser Pace, which is two foot and an half; termed also a Pace.

Stride, or the greater Pace, which is 2 Steps or 5 Foot; from these the Romans counted their Mile, that is Mille Passus, a Thousand Paces, but our English Mile is 56 Paces more.

Virge, or Virgate of Land is 20 Acres, in some places 24 Acres, and in some 30 Acres.

Wareland, it is as much Land as containeth three Lands.

Wardland is the same to Virgate, and containeth 24 or 30 Acres.

Ward, is a Staff to measure by, which is three foot in length.

Geometrical Terms for their Plots, Figures, with their particular Compositions or Lines.

The Doctrine of Projects, is the knowledg of making a Figure.

Definition, is a brief explanation of the Names and Terms.

A Proposition, is a Sentence propounded or set forth to be proved by reasoning and demonstrations.

Axioms, are Sentences so true that they cannot manifestly be contradicted.

The Impetus, is a natural and movable falling Line, a perpendicular or straight down Line: as let the Impetus be given, the meaning is, that the same be given so much as is required to throw the Project from its first point, to the highest Perpendicular point.

Petitions, are clear and intelligible demands.

A Semicircle, is a half round.

A Tangent, is a three cornered Figure, one side being circular, made by Lines touching or crossing one another in a Figure.

A Parabola, is the bending Line of the Tangent.

Lemma, is an Argument or Reason by which such a thing is proved.

Arctus, a Turning Circle, a Vertical Round, see Azimuth; by it is ment principally the point in Heaven just over our Heads, perpendicular to the place where any one liveth. This point the Arabians call Zenith.

Amplitude, the largeness of a Project, or Figure.

Machine, or form of a Figure made by Engine, or Instrument, or any other Frame or Tool.

Semi-Diameter, the half of the middle of a Circle, or half the Diameter.

Semi-Right.

Problem, is a Proposition or Sentence proposed, with a question annexed: in the Mathematicks it is opposite to Theorem, and signifie such a proposition as is referred to practise, or doing something.

Sines, or Sine; is the widness between two crooked Lines; hence Geometricians call the Halves of a Chords or Right Lines which shuts up the Cavity of an Arch, Sines.

Sublimities, the heights or highness of things.

Degrees, a Degree in Astronomy and Geography is sixty English Miles: though some hold that one Degree in Heaven, is sixty nine Miles on Earth.

Minutes, is the sixtieth part of a Degree, and each Minute divided into sixty more, are called Seconds, and so to thirds, fourths, fifths, &c.

Superficies, is the plain of a Figure, all the Circumference or Square, with the Diameter, or Diagonal Lines in them: It hath length and breadth without depth. The Surface of a Figure.

Peripheria, a Circumference, or a Winding or going about.

Area of a Circle, is four times as much as the Circle: for multiply the Circle by four, and that is the Area, or Ground - Plot, or Compass of it: or as others describe it, a Triangle rectangle from the Circumference and Radius is the Area of a Circle; or from the whole Diameter and Semicircle, is the said Area.

Area of a Semicircle, is the plain of the Circle, or is from the Radius the fourth part of the Circle: a Quantant.

Area Sectoris, is from the Radius and half of the base: it contains the half and the fourth part of the other half of a Circle: Note that as near as fourteen is to eleven, so the square of a Diameter is to the Area of a Circle. Quia raturum 14 est 196. quo per 11 Multiplicato fit 2156. quo Diviso per 14 quatus est Area Circuli.

Geometrical Conclusions, are such works as are brought to pass through that Art: Propositions of Geometry.

Theorèmes, or Theorèmes; are the Proofs and Demonstrations of all Geometrical Works, or approved Truths in Geometry: a principal or undoubted rule in any Science or Art, it respects contemplation more then practice.

Scale, is taken to be parts divided in an Instrument, by which we measure a plate Form, according to the fixing of it for Degrees, Miles, Feet, or Inches.

Fractions, is the breaking or bursting of Figures or Measures into parts, or small fragments.

Radix, the Root, or square Root, or bottom of a thing.

Tabula, Table, places in which Figures are made.

Columnes, or rows downwards of Figures: or things divided into parts.

Geometrical Terms used in Surveying and Measuring of Lands.

Geometry, is to search out the Magnitude of things, and to give the true estimate of its Measure in height, breadth, and depth.

Geodesia, or measuring of Land.

Mathematicks, is an Art that contains Arithmetick for Number, Geometry for Measure, and Statics for Weight.

Survey, is that by which a Graphical description of a place is set forth.

Graphick, Graphical; is the Art of Portrature, or to be made: to set down the Geography, (Geographer) is the description (or such a Person) as Writes the description of the Earth.

Feudigrapher, is a Surveyor of Farms and Freehold Lands.

Symboligraphie, is the Clerkship or Penning of a Survey.

Speculator, is the Persons measuring: the diligent practizer of Survey.

Apomecometrie, is an Art teaching how to measure things at a distance, viz. how far they are off from him.

Chozography, called also Topography; It is a part of Geography, which describe only particular Provinces and Kingdoms.

Mathematical Operations, is a part of Survey by which the demensions of Grounds Plots, are performed.

Mechanical Operations, is the Manual acting or projecting of the Work of Survey: the handy labour of drawing and measuring of Ground.

Operation, is the setting forth a Plot of Ground.

Estimation, the value of Lands by the Year or otherwise, the rate of possessions.

Material part, the chief or principal part of a place Surveyed.

Legal part of Survey, it prescribes the Methodical and Juridical confines to the whole course of Survey, as the Clerkship, or Penning of the Surveyed Lands and Tenements.

Method, Methodical, the rule, way, or manner by which the Survey is performed.

Confines, are the Limits, or Bounds of places.

Juridical, the right, true, and uncontradictory draught of a place, or a true Survey of a place with its Bounds.

Particularize, to set forth every part of the place Surveyed.

Rectifie, is to correct or mend a thing done amiss.

Graphical Description, is to Write, set down, delineate, or give the portrature of Place, Town, or Farm: the Writing of a Survey.

Essential part, is the Matter and Form coincident to Possessions.

Species, the Form, Figure or shape of the Earth, that is to be Surveyed or Measured: the kinds of Earth.

Vulgar Soil, is common Earth, as Clay, Mould, Moore, Gravel, Sand.

Commirt Soil, is Creachie, Chalkie, Slayie, Sandy Earthe,

Liquable, is Juicy, concrete or soft Earth, as Salt, Alum, Bitumen, Vitriol, Salt Armonick, Sal-Gem, Sal-Niter, and Indian Salt Rock.

Moltable, the same to Liquable.

Unmoltable, Earth not to be melted, Earth indurated into Stone, or Mettles.

Situation, the seat of a place either to its Goodness, or Badness.

Crust, is the upper Soil, or Soal of the Earth.

Habitude of the Earth, is the temperature of the same in respect of Heat, Cold, Moisture, or Dryness: whether it be Light, Loose, Fat, Oylie, Sliperie, Barren, Fertile, Waterie, or Soal-bound.

Bosk of the Earth, is the Bowels of the Earth, whether it be Quarries, or Mines.

Peruestigate, is to seek out, or diligently to observe a thing.

Content, is the compass and greatness of a thing, and what it contains in measure.

Craftitude, the bulk or thickness of a thing.

Cubical Bodies, all solid things of Timber, or Stone, or Globes.

flat Superficies, things of length and breadth, but no thickness, to be measured: Flat Measure.

Product of the Earth, what the Earth brings fourth, as Trees, Plants, Shrubs, Grain, Grasse, Herbs, Weeds, Moss, and other Vegetables.

Cosmozant, confined kept within Bounds.

Transient, a passing behind the Bounds.

Tempereture of Ayre, as Pellucide, Mild, Subtil, Clear, Sweet, Pleasant, Hot, Cold, Healthful, or contrarywise, Grosse, Close, Foggie, Sharp, Fenny, Vaporous, Unwhollome.

Ground Plots, are projectures and all Fundamental contrivances of things, and they are either Internal, as Vauls, Cellars, Caves, Sinks, &c. or External, as Groves, Harbours, Bowers, Mansion-Houses, Allies, Mazes, Cock-Pits, Bowling-Greens, Moats, Ponds, Drains, Dames, and Sluces: the Tricking and Delineating of Lands.

Boundage, a describing of Plots of Ground according to its Limits and Meres.

Hetes, see Boundage.

Confrontage, is an abutting, heading, or facing such and such a place.

Collaterage, is Siding, Furrowing, Hedging, Girding, Bordering, Lying, Bounding, Extending between such places.

Compound Boundage, signifies a Side-haying, as Bounded, Limited, Compassed, Included, Terminated.

Remote Boundage, when the Plot is intercepted, or cut off by reason of the interposition of some Meere, Rile, Lane, &c.

Coastage, is the desciphering of the Plot as it lies East, West, &c.

Plot, see Ground-Plots.

Neighbourage, is the shewing how the Plot is accommodated with Wood, Water, Fewel, Fish, Fowl, Mannours, Lordships, Meadows, Pastures, &c.

Confinage, is the competent distant of Citties, Towns, Ports, Havens, Seas, Forrests, Waits, Moores, Quarries, Mines, &c.

Proportion, it consists in the general Model, and particular Modulets of the Plot.

Perfuration, is the Lineal extension of the Plot, the Measure of the Ground in length, breadth and circumference, &c.

Wadding, keeping in a right Line.

Calculation, the giving of an account or summe of a thing required.

Projection, the jutting or going out of a thing.

Delineation, the pourtraying or drawing of the Plot.

Magnitude, the greatness of a thing.

Geometrical Lines.

A Point, the Prick of a Pin or Pen.

A Line, a straight Line, or a crooked Line, a mixt or composed Line, a Circular Line, a Spiral Line, a Livel Line.

A Double Line, Parallel Lines, Oblique Lines, Perpendicular Lines.

An Angle, a straight or right Angle; an acute or sharp Angle, which is lesser then a right Angle: an Obtuse or blunt Angle, which is greater then a right Angle.

A Line Finite, is a Line bounded, that must keep to its length, and not exceed it.

A Line Infinite, is a Line that hath no precise length.

Traced, or Tricked; is a Line drawn with Pen or Pencil.

Occult, or White Line; is a Line drawn out by points or pricks, called also the pointed Line, or Line with pricks.

An Horizontal Line, is that which is of an equal poize, and falls neither to one side of the Figure, or other.

A Diagonal Line, is that as passeth through a Figure, and findeth the two Angles.

A Diameter Line, is that as passeth or traverseth any circular Figure by the Center, and ends at the circumference.

A Cord, Chord, or Subtendant Line; is a straight Line which joyns to an Arch or Bow by its ends. It divides a circle into unequal parts.

A Tangent Line, is that as toucheth the side of any Figure, and doth not in any part divide it.

A Line Secant, is that which traverseth, crosseth or divideth any Figure.

Azimuth, or Azimuths; great Circles meeting in the Zenith, or Vertical point, passing through all the Degrees of the Horizon Line.

Geometrical Figures.

A Circle, a round or circumference.

A Semi-Circle, an half round.

A Quadrant, a quarter of a round.

The Center, is the point in the middle of a round.

The Radius of a Circle, is the distance from the Center to the circumference, or out side of the circle. The Axis.

The Diameter, the breadth of the Circle from side to side through the Center: It is the third part of the circle, as near as 3 times 7 is to 22.

The Sector, is either a single or double Line, or such as are made square within a circle either over or under, or besides the Center.

An Oval, an Eclipse, or Egg Oval.

A Concentrical Figure, an excentrical Figure or Circle, or Oval.

A Triangle, an acute, or right triangled, a Triangle obtuse Angled.

A Quaterangle, a square or right four square, an oblong long square, a Parallelogram, a Rombus or Loſſeng Square.

The Diagonal Line, is the Line that goes from corner to corner of any ſquare or cornered Figure, whether it run tranſverſe, oblique, or perpendicular.

Geometrical Solid Bodies,

An Obe, a Globe or Sphear, the Conver, the Concave.

A Cylinder, a Turbe, a Cone or Conick.

A Cube, a Piramid, or Tetrahedron, a Pentagonal Piramide, an Hexahedron, an Octahedron; Balls of fix or eight Triangles.

Icoſahedron, and Polyhedron: are Balls or rounds of twenty Triangles, and many trigons upon them.

But of theſe Geometrical Lines, Figures and Solid Bodies: I have given the ſame to view in chap. 9. after num. 69. where you may ſee the Terms explained.

Arithmetick,

It is one of the ſeven Liberal Sciences, and is that by which a multitude of Unities is drawn up into a certain Number: Arithmetick diligently ſetteth, and ſeeketh out the reaſon of Numbers. And is deſcribed by a Man in looſe Veſtments according to the old mode, with Tables full of numeral Figures, with Pen or Pencil in hand Books about them, &c.

The Jews and Hebrews uſed their Alphabet Letters to expreſs their numbers, which they divide into three Claſſes whereof every one contains 9 Letters, the firſt are the Scales or Marks of ſimple Numbers, as

9.	8.	7.	6.	5.	4.	3.	2.	1.
ט	ח	ז	ו	ה	ד	ג	ב	א

The ſecond haſh the Marks or Numbers of Tens, as

90.	80.	70.	60.	50.	40.	30.	20.	10.
ט	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ל	מ	נ

And the third haſh the other 4 Letters, with the 5 final Letters, or ſuch as end words, which are longer and deeper then ordinary, which are marks of Hundreds, as

500.	800.	700.	600.	500.	400.	300.	200.	100.
ש	ק	ר	ל	מ	נ	ס	פ	צ

Now every one of them if they be Marked with Great Characters ſignifies ſo many Thouſands, as 1 3000. 2 2000. 3 1000. &c. Yet there are ſome which do not uſe thoſe final or ending Letters, but inſtead of them Write the Letters which ſtand for 100. and 400. for the Number Five Hundred, 200. with 400. for Six Hundred, 300. with 400. for Seven Hundred, 400. and 400. for Eight Hundred, and 100. 400. and 400. for Nine Hundred, &c the great Aleph for 1000. as aforeſaid.

The Grecians Numeral Notes or Marks were no other then the Letters of their Alphabet: as,

[]

1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	7.	8.	9.	10.	11.	12.
α	β	γ	δ	ε	ζ	η	θ	ι	κ	λ	μ
13.	14.	15.	16.	17.	18.	19.	20.	21.	22.	23.	24.
ν	ξ	ο	π	ρ	σ	τ	υ	φ	χ	ψ	ω

And this is the firſt Order of Numbers amongſt the Greeks. Secondly, the Greeks divide the whole Alphabet into three Claſſes, after the imitation of the Hebrews. Now becauſe their Alphabet wants by rule three Letters, it is neceſſary to add to them three figures, and to interlace them with the Letters by which they explain the fix, the ninetyeth, and the nine hundred, as is manifeſt in the following Claſſes.

1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	7.	8.	9.	10.	20.	30.	40.	50.	60.
Α	Β	Γ	Δ	Ε	Σ	Ζ	Η	Θ	Ι	Κ	Λ	Μ	Ν	Ξ
70.	80.	90.	100.	200.	300.	400.	500.	600.	700.	800.	900.
Ο	Π	Ρ	Σ	Τ	Υ	Φ	Χ	Ψ	Ω

Now if to any of theſe Letters there be ſubſcribed the ſtroak of an Acute-toke, or a Comma at the foot, then it ſignifies ſo many thouſands as the Letter ſtands for: as in theſe. A, 1000. I, 10000. P, 100000. And ſo in others.

But in after ages they from the example of the Latins uſed only Six Letters to ſignifie their numbers, by which any Sum in Arithmetick may be expreſſed. as I for 1. □ for 5. Δ for 10. H for 100. X for 1000. Where note that Δ. H. X. M. in the middle of the Letter □ ſignifies five times more then that Numeral Letter ſtands for, as 50. 500. 5000. 50000. As for Example, X [H] H [Δ] Δ [□] II which is 1667.

The Romans made uſe of ſeven Letters of their Alphabet which were, I. V. X. L. C. D. M. by which they expreſſed any Number as I have more fully ſhewed in chap. 10. after num. 1.

The Arabians ingeniouſly found out ten Characters, Ciphers by which the moſt numerous things that are, even the ſands of the Sea may be expreſſed, which were theſe, 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 0. every one of theſe Figures are termed ſignifying Figures, and hath his one value, as one, two, three, &c. being ſingly and found alone, or in the firſt place of any ſumme.

In the ſecond place it ſignifieth its one value ten times as 70. ſeven times ten, which is ſeventy.

In the third place it ſignifieth a Hundred times its one value as 700. ſeven times a Hundred, which is ſeven hundred.

In the fourth place it ſignifieth its own value a thouſand times, as 7000. ſeven times a thouſand, which is ſeven thouſand.

In the fifth place, it ſignifieth its own value ten thouſand times, as 60000 is fix times ten thouſand, which in Arithmetick is ſixty thouſand.

In the ſixth place it ſignifieth its own value a hundred thouſand times, as 500000 which is five times a hundred thouſand, that is five hundred thouſand.

In the ſeventh place it ſignifies its own value a thouſand thouſand times, or a Million; as, 4000000, which is four thouſand thouſand, or four millions.

In the eight place it ſignifieth its own value ten thouſand thouſand, or ten millions of times, as 30000000 is three times ten thouſand thouſand, or ten times three millions, which is thirty millions, or thirty thouſand thouſand.

In

In the ninth place it signifieth its own value a hundred thousand thousand, or a hundred millions of times, as 900000000 is nine times a hundred millions, which is in account nine hundred millions.

In the tenth place it signifieth its own value a thousand thousand thousand of times, or a thousand millions of millions of times, as 3000000000, is three times a thousand millions, that is three thousand millions of millions.

And so every place towards the left hand exceeds the former ten times; which for the more ready way to understand, and sum up any number, here followeth a brief rehearsal of the order and denomination of the places of Figures, which is sufficient for Numeration.

The Order of Places.
Tenth	Ninth	Eighth	Seventh	Sixth	Fifth	Fourth	Third	Second	First
4	3	2	1	0	1	8	3	4	5
The Denominations of their places.
 Unites Tens Hundreds Thousands Tens of Thousands Hundreds of Thousands Millions Tens of Millions Hundreds of Millions Thousands of Millions

So that to reckon up this number, it doth consist of Four Thousand Three Hundred Twenty One Millions, Eighteen Thousand, Three Hundred Forty Five.

But Country People and Farmers, reckon or count their numbers more simply: by Pairs, half Scores or Tens, Dozens or Twelves, and Scores or Twenty's.

At length a way was found out to cast up any summe by Counters, which was by four even Lines running Parallel on the lower Line, were Counters laid for Unites, or any summe not exceeding Ten: on the second Line or next to the lowest was Counters laid for Tens; the third Line Counters for Hundreds; and the highest Line for Thousands: as for Example,

●●●● ——— Thousands ●●●● ——— Hundreds ●●●● ——— Tens
 ●●●● ——— Ones

So that to summe up this Number it is just Three Thousand, Eight Hundred, Ninety Eight.

Terms used in Arithmetick.

Arithmetick, is the Art of Numeration, the way of Numbering.

An Unit, it is properly no Number, but the original or beginning of Number.

Numerations, is that part of Arithmetick whereby one way rightly Value, Express, and Write any Number or summe propounded.

The Characters of Numbers, are these 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 by which any Number may be expressed.

A Number, is a multitude of Unites put together.

An Even Number, is such a Number as can be divided into two equal parts, as 2. 4. 6. 8.

An Odd Number, is such as cannot be divided equally, as 3. 5. 7. 9.

A Fraction in a Number, is when a Number is broken, as one and an half. $1 \frac{1}{2}$

A Place of a Figure, is the Seat or Room, that a Figure stands in: so many Figures as are in a summe, so many places hath the whole Value thereof.

A Dyget Number, is all manner of Numbers under 10.

An Article Number, is any kind of Number which beginneth with a Cypher thus, 10. 20. 30. 40. 50. 100. and all such like, these are ever divided just by Tens.

A Mixt or Compound Number, is a Number consisting of diverse Digets, or Articles and Digets joyned together, as 11. 12. 13. 19. 22. 108. 1007.

A Cipher, is no certain Number, but by adding it to any Figure it signifies Ten times, a Hundred times, a Thousand times the value of the Figure, as 10. 100. 1000. This is a Cipher, 0.

A Figure, is a certain Character expressing a certain Number, which are Nine in the whole: as 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9.

Addition, is as much as to bring together one, two, three, or more Summs into one intire Number, or Sum.

Substraction, sheweth how to abate, or take a less Summe out of a greater, and what there doth remain. Now in Substraction there are three Numbers: as,

The Number for Substraction, is the Number which hath a part taken from it.

The Number Subtracted, is the Number taken out.

The Number Remaining, is that as is left of the greater Summ, the lesser being taken out.

Multiplication, is a Rule to shew the Number or Summ of several Figures joyned together having another Number so many times over added to it, as to know how much 7 times 66. or 123 times 648. or such Numbers, doth amount unto.

The Multiplicands, is the Number to be Multiplied.

The Multiplier or Multiplicator, is the Number by which the Summ is Multiplied: which is usually the lesser Number.

The Product, is the Summ which cometh of the Multiplication of the one by the other.

Division or Partition, is a Rule to seek and find out how many times one Number doth contain another.

The Dividende, is the Number to be divided, and that needs be the greater Number.

The Divisor, is the lesser Number to divide the greater.

The Quotien, is the Number sought for in the Division, and is the sum contained so many times the Divisor, as it self is in value.

The Remain, is the sum remaining of the Quotient, which is ever less then the Number of the Divisor.

Progression, in Arithmetick, is a brief and speedy Rule to add or sum up together diverse Figures or Numbers, every one surmounting the other by equal differences: as 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. or 2. 4. 6. 8. or else by threes. as 3. 6. 9. 12. &c. and so of other Numbers.

The Proof of Addition, or of Subtraction, or of Multiplication, or of Division; is to know by Rule or Method whether those Sums were well made, and truly cast up.

Progression Geometrical, is when the second Sum or Number contains the first in any proportion, either two, three, or four times: and so also the third Number contains the second, and the fourth the third, and the fifth the fourth, &c. as 2. 4. 8. 16. 32. where the proportion is double: likewise, 3. 9. 27. 81. 243. where the proportion is triple: likewise, 2. 8. 32. 128. 512. where the proportion is quadruple.

Excess in Quantity, is when the following Figure or Number exceeds its former only double, which is Progression Arithmetical.

Excess in Proportion of Number, is when the following Number exceeds its former, either double, triple, or fourtimes as much, which is Progression Geometrical.

The Rule of three, or the Golden Rule, and after others, the Rule of Proportions of Numbers: It requireth three Numbers in its operation, and serveth to find out unto the third Number, the fourth Number to it proportioned, in such sort as the second is proportioned to the first.

The Stile of the Rule of three, is the down of the three Numbers in a certain Order thus, $\begin{matrix} 1 \\ 6 \end{matrix} Z^2$ and then to multiply the 3d. Number by the second, and the product thereof divide by the first Number, (or the first Number divide by the second) and the Quotient being multiplied by the third, gives the fourth Number which you seek for.

The Denominator of a Number, is the Number named by which there is a Multiplication to be made, it is set under the Line of Fraction.

The Numerator, is the second Number by which a first is to be Numbred. And in the Line of Fraction is to be set above the Line thus $\frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{3} \frac{1}{4}$ that is, one part in two, one in three, one in four.

Fractions, are broken Numbers, as one divided into 10. 100. 1000. parts.

Reduction, is to bring together, or to put in semblance two, three, or many Numbers dissembling. But more properly, it teaches one to bring great Sums or Denominations into small, and small into great.

Fractions of Fractions, are broken Numbers of broken Numbers, as two thirds of three fourths of four fifths, or termed, broken Numbers of the parts of broken Numbers thus marked or figured. $\frac{2}{3}$ of $\frac{3}{4}$ of $\frac{4}{5}$

[]

Reductions of whole Numbers and Broken together into a Fraction, it is to reduce whole Numbers into broken Numbers, and broken into whole.

Abbreviation, of one great Number into a lesser broken, is as much as to set down or write a broken Number by Figures of less signification and not to diminish the value thereof: as $\frac{54}{81}$ being abbreviated make $\frac{2}{3}$

Addition in broken Numbers, or Fractions; is the gathering them up into one entire Number or Sum. And so there is Addition of broken Numbers of broken.

Subtraction of broken Numbers, is to take out a broken Number out or from a broken: as $\frac{2}{3}$ out or from $\frac{3}{4}$ the remainder is $\frac{1}{12}$

Multiplication in broken Numbers, is a Rule whereby to multiply the Numerator of the one Fraction by the Numerator of another Fraction, and then to divide, or abbreviate it.

Division in broken Numbers, is a Rule to know how many times $\frac{2}{3}$ contained in $\frac{3}{4}$ which is $1 \frac{1}{2}$

Duplication, or Triplication, or Quadruplication of broken Numbers, are the doubling, trebling, or making any Fraction four times as much as it is.

Proof of broken Numbers, is the Rule to find out its true casting up.

The Rule of three in Fractions, as the Rule of three is in whole Numbers, so this is in broken.

The Rule of Practice, it is also termed the Wise Rule or the small Multiplication, because the product is always less in quantity then the number which is to be Multiplied; and is no other then to convert lesser and particulars Sums into greater, as three shillings the piece of any thing, what shall 684 pieces cost after the same Rate. It is also in uneven parts, as Penny farthing; or Penny three farthings, &c.

The Rule of three Compound, to this Rule there belongs 4 and 5 Numbers, as if 100 Crowns in 12 Months gain 15 Pounds, what will 60 Crowns gain in 8 Months.

The Double Rule, or Double Rule of three, or the Rule of three at two times; it is a Rule of proportion which hath its Denomination from its double working: because under this Rule is comprehended diverse Rules of pural proportion.

The Rule of Fellowship, is to find out what proportion of gain each party shall have according to their stocks laid together, as if one laid 500 Pound, another 250. the third 380. and they have gained 126 Pounds, how much each Man shall have according to his Money laid in.

The Rule of Fellowship with time, is to find the true gain of one, two, or three stocks of Money laid in at several times one after the other.

The Rule of Company between Merchants and their Factors.

The

The Rule of Barter, is to shew the value of Goods upon Exchange, that each receive his due proportion.

The Rule of Alligation, is so named, for that it teacheth to alligate or bind together divers parcels of sundry prices, and to know how much you must take of every parcel according to the numbers of the question. It is commonly divided into two parts, Alligation Medial, and Alligation Alternate.

The Rule of Falshood, or false positions, not so named because it doth teach any deceit; but that by feigned numbers taken at all adventures, it teacheth to find out the true number that is demanded.

The Rule of Equation, is for the equality of payment according to time, and teacheth to reduce the times of several particular payments to one time for the payment of the whole sum.

The Rule of Rebate and discount, the use is either in damage of Goods, or payment of Moneys before the time it is due.

The Rule of Exchange, which teacheth to pay one sort of Money in one place or Countrey, and receive in another the like value or sum, with consideration of either Loss or Gain.

The Rule of Loss or Gain, teacheth what is lost or gained in the buying or selling of a Commodity, as to know what is gained or lost per Cent, per Pound, per Ell, per Yard, &c.

The Rule of Interest, or Interest upon Interest, it teacheth a brief and compendious way of working all manner of Questions upon Interest, or for Interest of Interest, being the sum hath been unpaid for several years.

Phylosophy.

A Philosopher, is a lover of Wisdom, Philosophy searcheth out the causes of things, what, whence, why and how every thing is.

A Metaphysitian, is a searcher of, and imployeth and busieth himself to find out and abstract Idea's of all things in the Universe; a Diver into supernatural causes and effects.

Metaphysicks, a Science which listeth it self above the changeable nature of things. School Divinity is the highest part of it.

A Naturall-Philosopher, or a Naturallist, is such an one as busieth himself about natural bodies, and forms concreate with the things thereof.

A Moralist, is a Writer of the Manners and Behaviours of Men.

A Philologer, a lover of Learning and Eloquence, that studieth the reason of Speech, and definition of Words.

A Magitian, is the Naturallist highest pitch of understanding natural things in their effects, and he is such a person that hath skill of producing effects by a secret application of Actives to Passives. But the Monsters of this Art are Sorcerers, which perform things more by Spells and Inchantments, than sound Learning; such are Hags and Witches that deal with the mere delusions of the Devil.

A Mathematician, one that by the Mathematick Art openeth the way to Philosophy; for he diligently searcheth out the reason of Numbers in Arithmetick, and of Measures in Geometry, and of Weights in Statics.

A Statick, is a weigher or tryer of solid things, and then their worth by weighing the heaviness of them by the force of Scales or Ballances and Weights.

Philosophers described.

Zeusippus, this Philosopher was Painted with a crooked Neck in a loose Coat, and a Mantle carelessly cast about him, as in old times all such were invested.

Aratus had his Neck bending, or bowed downwards. Zeno is drawn with a wrinkled Forehead.

Diogenes with an hairy rough Beard, a loose Coat to his Feet, a Staff in one hand, and a Candle and Lanthorn in the other, with a Cloth copped head cover on his head. Some also do describe him sitting in a square hole made in the side of a great Tub or Barrell, or walking with a Candle and Lanthorn; As he did through the City of Atheans at noonday to find an honest man.

Democritus with his lipps open, as laughing: called the laughing Philosopher, who always laughed at the Athenians to see their eager pursuit after Riches, and to see the Change of Fortune, and Follyes of Men.

Peraclitus with his eyes shut and weeping, wringing of his hands. He was the crying Philosopher, always weeping to see mens Follyes, and the miseries of the world.

Hippocrates an excellent Phisitian of Cous, Scholar to Democritus, whom Artaxerxes promised great Honors, if he would come and live with him in the Persian Court.

Socrates a Morall Philosopher; He in the Judgment of Apollo, was the wisest man on earth: His enimyes accused him of contempt towards their gods, for which he was condemned to dye.

Aristotle is drawn with a stretched out Arme, he was a famous Philosopher Alexanders master; He was banished because he held not a right opinion about the gods. He was the chief of the Sect of the Peripateticks.

Xenocrates a Philosopher, but of so dull a Capacity, That Plato his master said, Aristotle had need of a Bridle but Xenocrates of a Spur.

Chrysippus a Stoicall Philosopher, born at Tarsus, an acute Logician, had his hand open, pointing with his Fingers of the other hand to the open hand Fingers.

Euclid, a famous Geometrician, had his hand open, and his Fingers put asunder, to shew the space of measures.

Pythagoras is drawn with his Wheel in one hand, and a Quadrant in the other, with a Mantle cast carelessly over his Vestment or Coat.

Empedocles, who writ the nature of things, and that they were all composed of Love and Discord; that after Death he might be Feared and Honoured, he stole away away from his Company by Night, and cast himself into the Burning Mountain Aetna.

Lucretius, a Naturalist, he writ six Books in Latin, his Wife giving him a Phyltrum, or Love Cup to make him Love her, causing him to go Stark Mad, and so he Killed himself.

Agelastus, Grandfather of Crasus, he never laughed but once in all his life, and that was when he saw an Ass eat Thistles; upon which occasion he said Similes habent labra Lactucas, like Lips like Lettice.

Antisthenes a Philosopher, who hearing of Socrates sold all that he had, and gave it to the Poor, and went every day six Miles to hear Socrates; he was Digenes Master, and chief of the Cynick Sect.

Apollonius Tyaneus, a Pythagorian Philosopher, he was a great Magitian; some Heathens in malice of Christianity, affirm that his Miracles were as great as Christ and his Apostles.

Apuleius, a Philosopher born at Madaura, from whence he was called Madurensis, he writ the Metamorphosis of the Golden Ass; he was accused for Magick, whereupon he writ his Apology.

Archytas, a Noble Philosopher, Master of Plato, whom he delivered from the Tyrant of Sicily; he was Captain of the Invincible Army.

Aristippus, an Auditor of Socrates; he was a Philosopher pleasing to all persons; he would use the pleasures he had, and despise those he had not: When he was to Travel to increase his Knowledge, he bid his Servants cast away their Money that they might Travel the better.

Athenodorus, an Athenian Philosopher, who taught Augustus this Lesson, that he should neither say or do anything, but take respect while he may read over the Alphabet, that so he should not say or do any thing in rashness and Anger.

Chales Nileus, a Philosopher that first found out the cause of the Eclipses of the Sun and Moon.

Solon, one of the 7 wise men of Greece, and a Lawgiver to the Athenians, tould rich Cresus, that Tellus a poore man, was more happy then he, being a good man and dyed well, and in a good age: For tell one be dead he cannot be said to be happy, as Cresus found afterward true by wofull experience.

Byas, a Philosopher, one of the seven Wise men of Greece.

Hermogenes, a Philosopher at Tarsus, when he was 18 yeares of age was a famous Scholar, afterwards alwayes went worse and worse: Of whom it was said, Hermogenes inter Pueros Senex: Inter Senes Puer.

Hippias, a Philosopher singular in all Trades, Arts and Sciences; That he needed not the help of any man to supply his wants, so that the Buskins he wore were of his own making.

Homer, a great Philosopher and a very learned Poet He writ of the Warrs and Destruction of Troy.

Phocion a famous Athenian, honest and poore, and yet contemned Riches, when some perswaded him to provide for his Children, else they would come to need; answered. If they be like me, that which served me will serve them; if unlike; I will not seek to nourish their Luxury by providing Superfluity.

Pitticus, a Philosopher, and one of the 7 Sages of Greece, he challenged Phrynos the Athenian Captain (in the Wars against them) to a single Combat; carried a Net privily, and so caught him and overcame him.

Seneca, a Stoick Philosopher, born at Corduba in Spain, he was both Consul and Senator of Rome; he writ Philosophy with so Divine a Quill, that some Fathers esteemed him as a good Christian. Nero caused him to drink Poison, and after his Veins to be opened, and he to be put into a hot Bath.

Stilpo, a Philosopher of Megara, who when his Wife and Children and Countrey were all Burnt, being asked by Demetrius what loss he had sustained, answered that he had lost nothing, for he accounted that only his own, which none could take from him, namely his Vertues.

Zenobia a Philosopher of Cyrus, the Father of the Stoicks, he compared Logick to a close hand, and Oratory to the same hand opened; he taught that Men having two Ears should hear much, and but one Mouth should say little, Anno Mundi 3698.

LX. He beareth Azure, a Linner (or a Picture Drawer, or a Painter working at his easell, set on a Stool, with his Pallet on his left hand, all Or, Clothed and Capped, Argent. By the name of Painter-Stainer.

Painting is an Art so much imitating Nature, that by proportional Lines with answerable Colours; it represents to the Life the form of all Corporeal things; it is called in Latine Pictura, and in English Painting and Limning.

It consists in a sevenfold practice, as in Drawing, Engraving, Etching, Limning, Painting, Washing and Colouring; but principally the whole Art lyeth in these three things, viz. Design, Proportion and Colour; all which are expressed in three sorts of Painting, as Landskip, History and Life.

Instruments for Drawing, Limning, and Painting.

Charcoals, are Sallow Wood, or Withy Burnt and split into the form of Pencils, and sharpened to a point.

Feathers of a Ducks Wing, or such like, which is to wipe off a superfluous score made in a draught by the Charcoal.

Black and red Lead Pencills, which are to draw over your design the second time more exactly.

Pens, made of Ravens Quills, which are to finish and shadow your draught.

Rulers, to draw streight, or Perpendicular Lines, Triangles, Squares and Poligons.

Compasses of Brasse, with Steel points, by which is measured the proportion of all things; as also to make Circles, Ovals, and Arches withal.

Coloured Paper or Parchment to draw upon.

Pastils, are rouls of Plaster or Clay, made of divers vers colours, to draw withal on coloured Paper or Parchment.

Patterns or good Copies to draw by, without which it is impossible a young Artift should attain to any perfection in Drawing.

Gums, which are generally four, as Gum Arabick, Gum Lake, Gum Hedra, Gum Armonick, and Al-lome.

Colours of all sorts, the principal are these seven, White, Black, Red, Green, Yellow, Blew, Brown, out of which are made, mixed or compounded all sorts of colours.

Liquid Gold, and Silver, Leaf Gold and Silver, Gold Armonick.

Grinding Stone and Muller, to Grind the colours upon, either in Water, with Gums, or in Oil; and a Lantern Horn or Knife to take them off.

Pencils of all sorts, big and little, and called by several names, as Duck Quill pointed and Fitched, Goose Quill pointed and Fitched, Swan Quill pointed and Fitched, Jewelling Pencils and Bristle Pencils, &c.

Bushes or Tools, are larger than Pencils, and are made of Bristles bound about Sticks, and in Nicks of Sticks, Ueining Tools.

Tables and Cloths, to Limn and Paint upon.

Stye, is Glue made weak with Water.

Shells, Cups, Biadders, or Tins to put the Colours in after they are ground, according as they are to be used either in Water or Oil.

An Easel, it is a frame of Wood made after the form of a Ladder, broader at the bottom than the top, with a Stay behind it; on this Frame Painters set their Cloth or Table while it is in working.

A Pallet, is a thin Board, on which Colours are laid for working, to temper them.

Streining Frame, is a Frame of Wood, to which with Nails is fastned the primed Cloth which is to be Painted upon.

Primed Cloth, is the Cloth to be Painted upon, which is first run over with any colour, which is called the Priming.

Stay or Hot Stick, of some called a Rest; is a light yet strong Stick about a Yard long; it is to rest the Arm upon when working.

Stainhall, of some called a Smuch Box; it is a Tin with a bottom and three sides, in which Oil Pencils are put with their points in Oil to keep them from drying.

A Cleanster, is a Tin or Pot with a smooth edge, having Oil in it to make clean Pencils, that have worked colours in Oil.

Crucible of Earth or Iron to Burn colours in.

Oyle, as Nut Oil, Linseed Oil, Oil of Turpentine, Spike Oil, Varnish.

Terms of Art used by all sorts of Painters, Limners, Washers and House Stainers.

Arches, or Arch Work.

*

Angles, cornered Figures.

Artist, a Workman in his Calling or Trade.

Arteries, representations of Veins and such things in Naked Bodies.

Anatomy, or Anatomical Figure, draughts or Pictures of the Skelletons or Bones of Creatures; either Men or Beasts.

Aspect, of or belonging to the Face.

Antique, or Antick Work, is a Work for delight sake, being a general or irregular composition of all manner of compartments of Men, Beasts, Birds, Flowers, Fruit, and such like, without either Rule or Reason.

Active Prospective, is the right drawing of Prospective, by its Horizontal and Ichnographical and Geometrical Lines, without which the Active part of Prospective, must of necessity fail in its true proportion of things.

Altitude, the height of any proportioned thing.

Almagum, or Almagrium, a kind of red Earth for Painting.

Arsenicum, Oximent, a gold yellow.

Auripigmentum, the same.

Ash colour, a composition of much White and a little black.

Azure, a pure bright Sky colour.

Aqueducts, representations of Waters running in Rivers, or in falls from higher places.

Broken Radiation, a kind of By-light.

Base, the bottom or ground work of any thing.

Blew Black, Black made of Charcoal.

Brown red, a red Earth.

Bize, Blew Bize, a delicate Blew.

Bole Armonick, a red much like a Brick Stone, much used by Gilders.

Backside Work, is a kind of Painting and Gilding upon Glais on one side, to be seen and looked upon on the other.

Black Chalk, a good transparent shadowing Black.

Colour, or Colouring, is any sort of Colour or Work done with Colours, see Paint.

Circle, a round thing.

Coppy, is the drawing of one Picture or the like from another.

Cones, a thing that goes Spirall, as Spire Steeples.

Cylinders, things that are round and of an equal size at its length, as Pillars, Columns.

Contraction, is the drawing of a thing into a less compass.

Crions, either White or Red Chalk cut into long pieces, and made sharp at the end to draw withall.

Circumference, the rounding or compassing of a thing.

Countenance of a Face.

Circular shadow, a shadow that turns round.

Contemplation of the Object, is the considering and well adviting with ones self, how to do, or perform the working of such a piece, as is shewed.

Catoptrick, Catoptrica, it is a second kind of Prospective, and proceeds from a reflected light, as reflection of the Sun Beams, or Looking Glais, where the resemblance alters not from the Original.

Cerule, a pure white ground, white Lead refined.

T

cen

Center, the middle of any circumference or round figure.

Cherry Stone Black, are the Stones Burnt.

Charcoal, Burnt Wood of Willow, or other soft Wood, which is used to draw withal.

Cullen Earth, a kind of dark brown Earth, Fullers Earth burnt.

Crimson colour, it is compounded of Lake and a little White.

Cataracts, falls of Water from high and steep places.

Catagraphy, is the Art of Painting.

Catagrapha, is a drawing of Pictures, so as that they are to be looked upon but one way, if turned they represent other forms.

Colour Man, he that sells Colours, or worketh Colours.

Cleanse, is the making clean either of old Paintings, or the making clean of the Muller, Grinding Stone and Pallet from their colours; or of the Pencils which have Colours in them.

Curved, is a thing drawn crooked or awry, and not according to its due station or proportion.

Cambuginum, a kind of Gum of a pure yellow colour.

Calke, or Oxball, a Blew colour for Lining.

Carmaine, a rich Red, far exceeding the Scarlet or Vermilion; it is a colour only for glazing.

Drawing, is that whereby in lines we represent the shape and form of any corporal substance.

Draught, is the thing so drawn in rude lines.

Diapery, is the imitating of cloathing, and Artificial setting off the outward coverings, habit and ornaments of the Body.

Drawing after the Life, is to draw the similitude of a thing from the thing it self, a Hand from an Hand, a Face from a Face, a Horse from an Horse, a Flower from a Flower.

Depict, Depicted, Drawn, Painted.

Distance, is the space of place between the painted work and the station of the Beholder. It is also taken and used in the working of Landships, for to observe a due distance of things, and a universal measure in representing Nature.

Doeling, it is a certain besmearing of a draught with white or red Chalk sharp pointed, here and there, to set it off.

Dark, deep shadow, are shadows for inward parts of things, which are much from the Lights reflection.

Distances in a proportion, is the just length and breadth of one thing from another, as one Member from the other, without which it cannot be an exact draught.

Double shadow, is when one Hatching or Stroke in a piece of Work crosses another. This is called also a Double Hatch.

Delinate, is to describe a thing in lines according to its apparent or visible proportion.

Direct Radiation, is the streight Light which passeth between the eye and the object looked at.

Diapering, is a tracing or running over a work (when it is finished) with Damask Branches, and such like; it is the counterfeiting of Cloth of Gold, Silver, Damask, with either Branches, Flowers, or other antick devices, in what fashion is most pleasing; it is termed also Damasking.

Dioptrica, it is a kind of Prospective, which is seen by a broken radiation, or Sun Beams; the Dioptrick or broken sight is rightly seen in a Tub of Water where the surface is cut.

Diagonal Lines, or lines of distance, are such as are drawn from the point of distance to any other point higher or lower than the Horizon line.

Dead colour, is the first colouring of a piece of Painting.

Degrees of colouring, is colouring according to the various forms and complexions, as Infants and young Children to be painted of a soft and delicate complexion. Virgins and fair Women, as curious, having their Muscles and Veins more perfect. Naked Bodies are to be Painted strong, lively and exact, shewing each Muscle, Nerve and Vein, fixing each Artery in its due place, giving each Limb its proper form and shadow. And old and aged Bodies are to be set forth with eminent, exact, and curious shadows, and all the marks of Antiquity or Age to be very apparent and formidable.

Design, is the depicting of a thing according to Fancy.

Designing Lines, are the first Stroaks which are made for the drawing of any piece of work, whether Life, History, or Fancy.

Dragons Blood, Sanguis Draconis, is a perfect deep Blood red, and is a good Water Shadow for Vermilion and Red Lead.

Distemper work, it is a working the colours with Gum Water or Size, as Oyl colours are wrought. This is called also working in Great.

English Ind or Indicoe, a deep Blew.

Exercise or Practice.

Equidistant, of an even distance.

Edifice or Building.

Extention, the stretching out of a thing, Extend, make larger.

Experience, is the knowledge of a thing by often doing it. Practice brings Experience.

Emblem or Empress work, is drawing Faces from the Life, which is the most hard and difficult of all other works in this Art, and the most to be commended of all other works.

Foldage, is the folding of Garments in their natural and proper folds; or any thing that turns or crimps it self.

Folds, are the turnings and lapping over of any piece of Cloth in Vests or Garments; of which there are two sorts, the outward folds are them that lye outward and most in sight and to the light; the inward folds are such as have folds lying over them, and are most from the Light.

Figure, is any proportion of Man or Beast, either drawn or modeled. Also by Figures is understood the Geometrical Figures, called angles, Triangles, Polygons, &c.

Fallings, either in loose Garments, as the folds fall off one from another; or in feathers, which in the falls bend themselves.

flat,

Flat, is in Painting and Shadowing, and the term is used when the thing painted comes not round off, or rises not by its shadow, but lieth flat down, as if it were of no body or substance.

Faint shadows, are such shadows as are scarce seen or discern'd.

Features, are the comely shapes and proportions of a Face.

Face, is the known and chief part for Grace in any reasonable Creature, it is often used in the Art of Painting, thereby to express its manner and form, as a full Face, when every part is seen at one and the same instant of time.

Three quarter Face, when one side and a part of the other side of the Face is only seen.

Half Face, when only the Nose and one side of the Face is seen.

Oblique Face, is when a part of the Face is not seen by reason of some motion, as looking back, upwards or downwards, side ways.

Floxy Blew, a colour used by Limners and Washers of Maps.

Finish, is the compleating or ending of a piece of Work.

Foreshortning, is the drawing of things as they appear to the eye, not to the full proportion of each part, but to shorten it according as it is obfuscated or hidden by other parts.

Fore-right side, is that side (in a piece of Prospective work) in which the Artist stood when he drew it from the Place it self; the front of the Work.

Finitor, or Horizon.

Fancy, is a Work done according to a Mans own Mind or Pleasure, or as his own Genius leads him unto.

Fiction or Fantasy, is the making of such Creatures as never were or shall be, upon probable conjecture. Forced Figures to express a Novelty, as Centaurs, Satyrs, Griffins, &c.

Frescoe, or Wall Painting; some call it seiling.

Festoons of Flowers or Fruit, are such things tyed or hung together in a long row, and so turned about Pillars, or set on the tops of seiled Work for Ornament.

Flowerages and Fruitages, are Flowers and Fruit hung and compact together, and proceeding out of an husk or bottom of a Cup Flower.

Fading Colours, such as will not continue long in their Beauty, but turn to another colour.

Fat or clammy, is when colours are old ground, and not fit for working.

Fat Oyl, is Linseed Oil grown thick, or made thick and clammy through Boiling.

Grottescoe, or Antique Work.

Gold Cise, is a colour made for to lay Gold upon.

Ground Plot, is the draught or design of a thing to be worked.

Geometrical Figures, are Lines, Angles, Circumferences, Ovals, &c.

Grind, is to make the colours fine on a Grinding Stone.

Green Bize, a green Colour used by Painters.

Green Verditer, a Welmish or Willow green.

Green Earth, a kind of green Clayie Earth used for a Colour.

Grey, a compound Colour made of much White, and little Black mixt.

Glazed, is to make a thing shine by Varnishing it. Gloss the same.

Ground or ground Colour, is the first Colour, called Primer.

Herbage, see Flowerage, Leaves and Herbs compacted together and hung along.

House Painter, such as only Paint Houses and Plastered Walls.

Hatches are stroakes of a Pen or Pencill, in imitation of a shadow, and they are threefold, as single Hatches, which is only one stroak; double Hatches, which is cross Hatches, for a deeper shadow, and a treble Hatch, which is three stroaks one crossing another, and is for a dark Hatch.

Hard shadow, is when a shadow is deep, or comes not smoothly off, but ends with an edge. Hard shadows.

Horizon, is used several ways, as a fair Horizon, when the Heavens are Painted with a large sight, and shewed with cloudy and clear Air; or else it is taken for the Line in Prospective and Landskip work, equal to the height of the Eye, to which all other parts of the Work both above and under it do tend.

Homogene, is to have a work continued throughout with one and the same kind, not of various matters, as in Diapering and Damasking.

Horns Horn Black, is the Horn burnt in a Luted Crucible.

History, is the Painting of Stories taken from Histories.

Heightening, is to touch up a deep colour with a lighter, to lighten any colour with White.

Herald Painter, is such as Paints Coats of Arms on Escotions, Shields, Tables, Penons, Standarts, and such like.

Imitation, is to make one thing by and like to another.

Idea, a figure or form of a thing conceived in the Imagination.

Ichonography, Ichonographick, is the description of the plain, base, or bottom of any piece of Work or Building.

Ichonographeick Geometry, is that as gives the sight of the bottom or base of any Work or Fabrick; as a Circle is the base of a Column, and a Square of a Pedestal.

Ivory Black, it is burnt in a Crucible close stopped.

Indian Lake, a pure Blood colour.

Indian Red, a kind of red Earth with Sparks of Silver in it.

Invention, the finding out of a thing, the first device of it, or the bringing out of that which was not before.

Indicoe, an hard, deep, or Black Blew.

Inde Baudias, a kind of Indico or Blew colour.

Limning, Painting in Water colours with Gum or Size.

Limner, a Painter in Water colours, whether by Life, or otherwise.

Lines, are long scores or strokes made with Chalk or the like, having length only without breadth or thickness.

Lineaments, are the several parts of the Body.

Landskip, is that kind of Painting as represents the Heavens and the Earth, Trees, Houses, Waters, &c. 1. in their distance. 2. in their mutual position. 3. in visible Aspect.

Light side, is that side of a thing where the Light takes it, and enlignens it by striking a lustre upon it, more there than elsewhere.

Lamp Black, it is the soot of Wood Burnt.

Lake, it is a Blood red colour.

Litnole or Stone Blew, it is a dark filthy Blew.

Life, or Painting from the Life, or thing it self which we imitate.

Lines of distance, Diagonal Lines.

Lay in colours, is the Painting with a Pencill or Brush.

Model, is a Figure of a thing in kind, being made to do the like by it, and that either in big or little.

Master strokes, are the out or principal lines of any thing to be drawn, or that is drawn.

Measure, the bigness of a thing.

Magnitude.

Mastic, or Masticote, a fair yellow finer than fine Sand.

Murrey, a compound colour of Lake and Smalt.

Papery, the working of Linnen in Painting according to the foldings thereof.

Quais, are long rounds.

Originals are pieces made from the Life, having no other pattern to work them by; what are worked from them are Coppies from the Originals.

Out sketches, are the out-lines of any draught, or piece drawn.

Oblique Face, a Face that looks any other way than straight forward, as upwards, downwards, sideways.

Obscured, is when one Part or Member is hid by another.

Opticks, is a Prospective term, and signifieth a direct or straight Beam of Light, which pass between the Eye and the Object.

Object, is the thing on which we fix the Eye, or that Figure, Body, or Edifice intended to be expressed in its proportion.

Orthography, Orthographick, is the sight of the foreright side of any plain or superficies, which lies equidistant to a right line; so that Perspective Orthography is the delineation of the apparent right plain, or plat of Building drawn out in that Figure and Order as the whole Work is, the Pillars behind the fore right side or front declining even to the Visual point.

Obliquely, crookedly, awry, sidelong.

Ochre or Cork, a Blew colour.

Ocar de Luce, an Earth of a bright Hair or Mouse colour, which is a good shadow for Gold or Yellow.

Operation, a working with the hands. Workmanship.

Ointment, a pure yellow, having glittering of Gold in it, called Auripigmentum.

Out-lines, see Master strokes.

Polygraphy or Polygraphice, is the Art of imitating Nature with proportional lines, and answerable colours to the Life.

Painter, one that follows the Art of Painting, of which there are several sorts according to the Figures or things imitated, as the Painter by Life, History Painter, Landskip Painter, Prospective Painter, the Linner or Water colour Painter; Herald or Arms Painter; Seller or House Painter; Glass Painter; Backside-work Painter; Glazier of Maps and Prints; Engraver that works on Copper Plates; the Etcher; and the Drawer for Needle Work and Embroidery; all which may be famous in their way, and yet Ignorant and unskilful in one anothers Art of Painting, or Drawing.

Perpendicular lines, down right lines.

Polygons,

Practice, is the use of doing of things, exercise in Drawing.

Patterns, Copies to draw by.

Polished, made smooth and shining.

Perspicuous, that as is most visible and easie to be seen.

Pounce, is to prick holes in a Paper of any form, and then to dust the same with Lime or Charcoal (according to the ground colour, on which the Pricked Paper is to leave the impression of the thing Pricked) and being laid thereon and the Dust rubbed on the holes, leaves the Figure on the Paper or Cloth under it.

Proportion, is the giving each Figure drawn, its due shapes, not one exceeding another, but agreeing in magnitude, similitude and parts, lest it seem crooked and deformed.

Proportion at Distance, is to augment or lessen every thing to their distance from the Eye, making them accordingly.

Perspective, is the Art of well seeing, and is that by which we behold, contemplate, contract and draw the likeness of all Magnitudes and great Bodies, just in the same form and manner as they appear to the Eye; as the inside of Churches, Rooms, long Streets, and great Fabricks.

Prospect, or Perspect, is to see a Country round about, and at a great distance from us, a looking about.

Pinke, a kind of yellowish green, a colour used by Painters.

Purple, a compound colour of Red and Blew, Lake and Smalt.

Peeling, is the cracking and fretting of Colours in a Picture.

Primer, is the ground colour on which the Painting is wrought, a Primed Cloth is a Cloth made ready and fit to work on.

Painter Stainer, it is the general term given to him that any way dealth in Colours, either in Selling, or working with them.

Paint seller, a seller of all sorts of Colours.

Portraiting, or Drawing.

Purding, Hatching with a Pencill, as Herald Painters finish up their Work. Finishing.

Prepare your Colours, is to grind them, and make them ready and fit to be used.

Rude Draught, the first drawing or touching out

Figure, when there is a design to draw it: see Out Sketches.

Rectifie, mend what is amiss, help the place in Painting where there is an error, or fault: make it more perfect.

Reflection, is a returning of the light from one Figure to another.

Reflected Radiations, is when the beams or light, fall on any polished Body: and from thence conveyeth a shape in light to its opposite.

Radiation, is a beam of light conveying the likeness of a thing to the Eye or sight: and the knowledge thereof to the minde and understanding.

Return of the Fore-sight, this is a term in perspective, and is that side which declines from, or maketh an Angle with the right Line or Horizon, from the sight of the Eye.

Rays, Sun light; see Visual.

Resemble, Resemblance, is the likeness of one thing to another.

Red lead, Lead burnt and made red by fire, and so becomes a colour.

Red Ocar, yellow Ocar burnt in a close Crucible or Iron Pot well luted.

Roset, a Soft and fading colour which will not continue long, it is a rich Carnation, or Peach colour.

Ruines, Decayed Houses, Monasteries, Towers, and Castles; Runous Places.

Squares, are Geometrical Figures with four corners.

Scale, is the square crossings of a Picture, with a Chalke, thereby to draw the like by the help of another Scale made on the cloath, paper, or tablet to be drawn upon. It helps the young Artift to draw a Figure bigger or lesser then the Pattern, and yet have in all parts its due form and proportion.

Schetches, are touches on a Paper with the point of a Charcoal in drawing out of any Figure, and so by little and little running over the whole Work. Some call these Touches, Out Sketches.

Scatch, Scotcht, the same: the out stroakes of a Figure or Draught.

Shadow, it is that as makes a Figure to rise, seem round, of which there are several ways of shadding, as faint, flat, deep, harsh and dark Shadows.

Shadow Lines, is to shadow by Lines, which are single Hatching, double Hatching, and treble Hatching.

Skew, a term in Herald-Painting, which is with a Wing, or Hares foot brush away all the loose edges of Silver and Gold that remains of the working of them. Strike off the loose Gold or Silver. Brush off.

Superficies in Painting terms, is a complication of Lines; that is, a length and breadth but without thickness.

Solid, is a complication of superficies; that is, length and breadth, having depth or thickness.

Scenography, Schenographick; It is the description of a plaine, or other Figure that declines from the apparent or foreright plain: that is of that plain or part which makes Angles with the said foreright plain.

Scenographick Vision, is that as shews the side or a Body, or Edifice which declines from or makes an Angle with the right Line, appearing, rising obliquely to the same side.

[]

Spodium, a kind of white Paint, or Soote rising from the fining or trying of brasse.

Spanish white, is chalke and Allome burned together.

Sinaper Lake, is a kind of deep blood colour, or purple.

Sap green, is the joyce of the Buckthorn Berries.

Saffron, is a yellow for washing of Maps.

Smalt, some call it blew Starch; because much used by Landresses in their Starch to make it blew.

Spanish brown, or deep blood red.

Scarlet colour, the purest and best of reds.

Steeped colours, such as require no grinding, but only put into Water, Vinager, or Gum.

Slickned, polished, or glazed.

Skin, Skimming of colours; is the skin that groweth on Oyle colours, if they be not quickly wrought up.

Sweetning, is the working one colour into another with a soft Pencil: that they will look as one colour, though they be diverse.

Sweet Shadow, is so finely worked into another colour that it seems to be no shadow.

Seileing, is House Painting, where Plaister Wall are made to look like Wainscate, or outlandish Timber.

Section, or Glass; is a plain of transparent or pellucid Matter, raised upright upon the plain of a base set before you, parallel to a straight Line: through which passeth the convex Centers of both Eyes.

Spruce Ocar, a reddish yellow or sand colour Clay or Earth much used in House Painting, some call it English Ocar.

Second colouring, is the Painting of a Face after the dead, or first colouring of it.

Triangle, is a Figure with three corners.

Trick, is the drawing of any Figure or Coat of Arms with Pen and Inke for a Pattern to Engrave by.

Treble shadow, see Hatch.

Terra Vert, a green Earth used in Painting.

Turn-sole, died Raggs, which refuse in Waters make it a pure Violet colour.

Tawny, a compound colour of red and much yellow.

Tempering of colours, is mixing of them one with another: or tempering them on the Pallet with a Knife to make them fit to Work, or such colours as need no grinding, are said to be tempered on the said Pallet with Oyle.

Turmarick, a transparent Water yellow.

Visual Point, is a Point in the Horizontal Line, wherein all the Beams of the Eyes unite: the center of the Horizon Line.

Visual Rays, are those Lines which proceed from the Visual Point, to any point-higher or lower then the plain of the Horizon.

Vermilion, a pure Scarlet colour, it is both Natural and Artificial; having the resemblance of Silver Ore, before it be Ground.

Verditer, a soft and pure blew.

Verdigrease, a Sea Water green.

Amber,

Amber, an hair colour or brown Clayie Earth.
Venice Berries, boiled in Water make a transparent yellow.

Ultramarine, the richest and purest of all blews.

Washing, or Wash with colours; is Painting of Maps, Prints, and Papers with thin transparent colours: Some tennas it colouring.

Wash colours, are all transparent colours, so that Writing and Printed Figures are seen through them.

Washer of Mapps, is the Painter of Mapps and the like.

Working in great with Water colours; see Distemper Work.

Graving or Engraving.

It is an Art which teacheth how to transferr any thing designed upon Copper, Brass, or Wood, by the help of sharp pointed and cutting Instruments. Now it is possible that a Man may be a good Painter, and yet not be able to draw well with the Pen; but it is impossible to be a good Graver or to Hatch well except he can draw well with the Pen, and have a curious and exact carriage of the Hand.

Gravers Instruments, and their Terms used in the Art of Engraving.

Gravers of all sorts, some call them Graving Tools: some for hard Work, some for sweet work, some for smaller work, and some for greater work; some long, others short; some straight, others crooked; some formed square, others Lozenge.

An Oyle Stone, to sharpen his Gavets on; and Oyle Olive.

A Sand Bagg, or round Cushion filled with Sand to Engrave upon: on which the Plate is turned at pleasure.

A Burnisher, is a smooth Iron which is used to rub out scratches and specks, or other things in the Plate.

A Pece of Box or hard Wood, to strike the point of the Graver into after it is sharpned, to take off all the roughness about the point, which was caused by whetting it on the Oyle stone.

Plates of Copper, Silver, Brass, and Pewter: but especially the two first, which must be exactly polished.

Pumice stone, and Charcoal.

Drawing Point, a Steele with a sharp point like a Needle to draw the Work designed on the Plate: a Needle fixed in a Stick.

Grinding Stone, to grind the Hammer stroaks out of the Copper - Plates.

Fine smooth Hoan, to rub the Plate smooth.

Smooth Charchoal, without Knots.

[]

Planish the Plate, is to beat it on a smooth Anvile with a broad and smooth faced Hammer, to cause it to lie straight and flat upon a Table.

Annale, the Copper is to put it in the Fire several times at the beating of it out to keep it from cracks and flaws.

Polish the Plate, is to rub it smooth and bright that one face may be seen in it.

Hammer strokes, are Marks which the Hammer leaves in the Plate at the planishing of it: Dings or Marks of the Hammer.

Flaws in the Plate, are Scales rising up in the Plate, fire flaws.

Scratches, are slips of the Graver from the designed work, some term them slips of the Gravers.

Hatches, are stroaks or lines made with the Graver in the work designed, of which there are three sorts: the strong or largest Hatches, made by a square pointed Graver, the fine and delicate Hatches, made by a Lozenge pointed Graver; and the faint and smallest Hatches, with a middle size or sharp pointed Graver.

Whet the Graver, is to sharpen it on the Oyle Stone, or to sharpen either the sides or points of the Graver, flat or sloping.

Soft or hard, and without Pinholes; the Oyle Stone is not to be too hard or too soft, but between both, and free from holes.

Deep or Gros Graved stroaks, are black Lines.

Fine and Faint stroaks, are small Lines in Graving.

Burnish or make the Plate bright, clear, and shining.

Tough Graver, is one of a good temper, neither too hard, and so brittle: nor too soft, and so never keep a Point.

Clean or Clean your Graver, is to strike it into a piece of hard Wood, to take off all the roughness out of the point which was caused through whetting.

Scrape your stroaks, that is alter you have done the Hatching, with the sharp edge of the burnisher, or back of the Graver: run over the Plate to take off the roughness of the stroaks.

Traced or Draught, is the first draught on the Plate with the drawing Point, or Needle.

Carved or Graven on Wood, is Figures cut on Wood for Printing, it is termed cutting of Wood Prints.

Coppy, is the thing designed to be Engraven on the Plate.

Large stroaks, lines made by a square Graver: see Hatches.

Delicate or Lively stroaks, such as are made by Lozenge point Graver.

Hold your Graver, is to keep your Hand and Arm stedfast, and hold the Graver fast in turning the Plate to make crooked and winding stroaks.

Guide your Graver, is to carry it rightly and even, that it makes no scratches with the Graver, called Slipps.

Hard Tempred, when the point of the Graver oft breaks, it shews it to be too hard tempered.

Blunt, is when the Graver becomes dull, and loofeth its Edge, and yet breaks not, shews it to be nought and nothing worth.

Etching.

Etching.

It is an Imitation of Graving, but more speedily performed, being an Artificial way of Hatching or making stroaks in Copper Plates by the eating of Aqua-Fortis; and things may be expressed to the Life thereby, but not so sweetly as by the Graver.

Instruments and Terms used in Etching.

Hard Varnish, to Varnish over the Plate to be Etched.

Soft Varnish, for the same purpose.

Prepared Oyle, is to preserve the back of the Plate and other places from Aqua-Fortis, that it hurt not the same.

Aqua-fortis, to eat the Hatchings into the Plate.

Needles of all sorts and sizes set in sticks, after the manner of Prickers: called Etching Tooles.

Brush Pencil, to cleanse the Work, and wipe off the dust.

A Frame to fix the Plate upon: which is only a large Board.

A Trough to receive the Aqua-Fortis as it runs off the Plate.

Linnen Raggs to dry the Plate after its often washings.

A Board, with edges on three sides to lay the Plate upon; at the pouring on off the Aqua-Fortis: it must have six Wooden Pegs or Nails to rest it on.

An Earthen pot well leaded, it is to pour the Aqua-Fortis on the Plate.

Oyle Stone, Burnisher, and Copper Plates as is before said: and for the same use as in Graving.

Oval pointed Needles, are such as are ground sloping, and so fall to be Oval like: called also Oval points, which make large and thick stroaks.

Strike your stroaks, is to cut the Varnish through which is laid on the Copper Plate.

Capping, is wipe or sliding ones hand upon the Varnish to make it smooth and even on the Plate.

Cover the plate, is to lay the prepared Oyle on those places where the Aqua-Fortis is to eat but faintly.

Wash the plate, to wash off with Water the Aqua-Fortis that it may eat no longer into the Plate.

Ground, or Varnish, which is laid on the Plate.

Rub off the Ground, take the Varnish off the Plate, that the Etching may be seen.

Blacking the Varnish, is to hold it over the smoak of a large Tallow-candle.

Dry or Harden the Varnish, is to set the Plate (when Varnished) on four Andirons, and to make a Charcoal Fire about it, till the Varnish smoak and it is done.

Brittle or Hardened Varnish, is through over drying it on the Plate.

Whetting the Needles, is to make the points sharp at the ends, either round or sloping.

Preserve the Varnish, is to cover that part of the Plate not working on, with Paper to keep it from dust and injuring.

Hatches, are lines of several sorts, some big, some small, some straight, some crooked.

Leaning hard on the Needle, is to make great thick stroaks in Etching.

Passing the Hatches over, is to make double stroaks crossing one another.

Stroaks in Etching, they are of three sorts, either all of bigness and thicknels all along; or thick at one end, and small at the other; or else small at both ends, and thick in the middle.

Shadow, or Shadowing in Etching, is but a reiteration of the same stroaks, close one to another, or crossing one another; which is termed a Deep or Dark Shadow.

Holes, or Scratches in the Varnish, cause the same in the Plate.

Oyle mixture, is Oyle and Grease melted together to cover the back of the Plate that the Aqua-Fortis touch it not.

Cast on the water, is the pointing on the Aqua-Fortis on the Plate.

Wash off, is to poure water on the Plate to keep the Aqua-Fortis for not eating any deeper into the Plate.

Faint Hatches, are small tender stroaks, of which there are several degrees and operations, such as represent a thing far off; then those as represents a thing somewhat nearer, which is done by stroaks yet less faint, or more blacker; and then such as shew a thing more plain and within the sight of the Eye, which is by thicker stroaks, yet faint in respect of such which present things at hand, and near to sight.

Clots, or Bumples, are rising in the Varnish at the Grounding of the Plate therewith, if it be laid on too hot.

Border the plate, is to make a Brim of soft Wax either Red or Green about the Plate to keep the Aqua-Fortis from running off the Plate.

White Ground, is the making the Varnish white instead of black, which is done by Ceruse mixt with Starch and laid upon the Varnish hot with a soft Brush.

Grave, or Re-grave, to mend with the Graver those stroaks omitted or not eaten with the Aqua-Fortis. Some term it, to Touch up, or Mend.

Glass - Painting.

It is contrary to all other ways of Painting, of which there is three manners of Painting, the one is with Oyle colours, the second is by Burning and Annaling; and the third in Water colours termed Backside work: and seeing these have a near dependency one to the other, I shall set both their Instruments and Term in the same, altogether in one Class.

Instr.

Instruments for Glass - Painting.

Crucible, is a brittle fastned in a stick, to draw on the Glas to shew how it must be cut.

A Crucible, to melt the colours in.

A Pestil and Morter, to beat the colours and jett withal.

A Certe, to take the grosse from the fine pounded: for there is but few of these Painters but they make their own colours.

A Copper Plate polished, to grind these colours on; for they are so hard that they scratch other Stone.

A Wooden Buller with a Glas simoned at the bottom of it, to grind the colours on the Plate.

Colours, of which there is only seven used in Glass-painting.

White, which is made of a white Marble or Garden Stone burnt, and ground with powdered Jett, and Gum-water.

Yellow, it is made of Silver burnt in Brimstone, and ground with Gum-water, and six times as much yellow Ocar, or any other Earthy colour, which is only to Master it in the Annaling.

Blue, is made of the deepest and coursest Smalt, such as Painters call Strow blue, put to it a quantity of Salt-Peter and melt it in a Crucible, after bray it in a Morter, Certe it and grind it as aforesaid.

Green, is made of Green Glas-beads, and Green Amel cerfed, and ground with Gum-water: others make it of Red Lead, Copper-scales, White Marble burnt and powdered, to which add a third part of Salt-Peter, melt all in a Crucible, then grind it as afore.

Red, is made of Red Chalk ground on the Copper Plate (with Gum-water) having in it a third part of Jett.

Purple colour, is made of brown Stone, white Marble burnt, and Salt-Peter as the Green before.

Black, called Painter by them; it is made of either Iron or Copper Scales (the latter best for a shadow, the other for a black) Jett and Gum-water ground extraordinary fine, almost to an Oyle on the Copper Plate.

Jett, is a thing used in all colours save yellow, and is made of Red Lead, and White Marble, or fine Sand and Salt-Peter melted in a Crucible, like a piece of Glas.

Pencills of several sorts, and Bristle Pencills.

A Washer, it is a large soft Brush to sweeten the Shaddow in a piece of Glas-work.

Gum Araback, that holds the colour on the Glas till it be Annale.

A Sharp pointed Stick or Skewer, much used to give an heightning to a Shaddow, and to Damask on any colour.

A Furnace, to Annale or Burn the colours on the Glas: it is a square thing made of Brick.

Slacked Lyme, to lie between each parcel of Glas in the Furnace.

Glas that is white and pure, and free from blobbs.

Patterns for the work, which are always drawn proportionable to the thing made on the Glas, upon which the Glas is laid, and so is drawn on the Glas by the draught of the patern.

Matches, pieces of Glas painted with several colours put into a hole in the Furnace side to take out to see and know if the colours be well burned on the Glas, or not.

A Tenedish, which is a piece of Lead made like a Muscle shell, in which the black (called Painter) is kept moist to work withal.

Terms used in the Art of Glass - Painting.

Cut the Glas, make it suitable to contain the thing designed upon the several pieces.

Trace the Draught, draw the out Lines of it on the Glas as it lies on the draught of the designed work.

after the draught is made, then the Workman with Painter casts a thin watery colour like a mist on the Glas, which being dry, the Glas will receive a shaddow on it.

Shaddow, is to put a thicker painter or black in the light or dark places.

Sweeten your Shaddow, is to breath on the Glas, and strike it lightly over with the Washer Brush.

Heighten the Shaddows, is to run it over with a deeper black Shaddow, which the darker they are the other they must be run over, and sweetned.

Touch up the lighter parts, is with the point of a stick, to scratch or scrape off the misty colour first laid on, that the plain and perfect Glas may be seen through, and thereby light in Shaddows do appear.

Lay in the colours, is to paint the several parts of the work with its suitable colours.

Annale, is to burn the Glas in a Furnace to make the colours stick fast on.

Lyme the Furnace, is to sift sleekt Lyme through a fine seive, on the Plate of Iron or blew stone laid in the Furnace.

Bed the Glas, is to lay the painted or wrought Glas on the laid bed of Lyme piece by piece, but not to lie on one another, or touch.

Fill the Furnace, is to lay a bed of Lyme and a bed of Glas time for time one upon another, till it be full.

Watch Hole, is a hole made in the side of the Furnace to put the Watch pieces of Glas in, which is as many pieces as you lay beds of Glas.

Close or stop the Furnace, is to cover the top to keep the fire in, that it may burn the Glas both in the top, bottom and sides.

Fire the Furnace, soft Fire, is to make a Fire Gently, and to heat the Furnace by degrees, for an hot Fire too suddenly, is apt to break and crack the Glas.

Draw the Watch, is to take the lower watch Glas out of the hole to coole.

Try the Watch, is to scrape the painting laid upon it, which if it stick fast to the Glas, it is Annale enough: if it come off, it hath not sufficient Fire as yet.

Colours run, that is, they melt with the Glas, and so incorporate or joyn one to another.

Smith

Melt together, the colours melt or run all at a time, else one that melts first is apt to be over Burnt and lose its colour, if the others be any long time before they run: for in this very thing lies the Art and Mystery of a good Glaz Painter, to order his colours as one be not harder then another, but all of an even Temper to burn and run together.

Cool the Furnace, is to withdraw the Fire from under the Furnace, and to let the Glaz coole by degrees.

Famous Men for Inventions, and Improvers of Arts.

Abates a Trojan, was the first that found out the way to strike fire out of a Flint.

Abraham and Seth, (as Josephus affirms) were the first that found out the Art of Astronomy.

Alus, the first creator of a common Library.

Aeolus the Son of Jupiter and Acesta, the first that made Observation of Winds, and the first that invented Sails for Ships.

Aesculapius the Son of Apollo, and the Nymph Coro, he was famous for the first invention of Physick and Chirurgery.

Amphion, is (by Pliny said to be) the first inventor of Musick, and that he had such skill on the Lute, that by the sound he is said to have built the Walls of Thebes.

Anacharsis, the inventor of Bellows, and the Potters Wheel.

Anaximander a Greek Philosopher, the use of the Spear.

Apollo the Son of Jupiter, inventor of the Harp, and Bow and Arrows.

Arcturus, the first maker of Honey, and gatherer of Bees.

Artemon, invented the Warlike Engine called a Trebuchet: the Bastiles, and Target-roofs for the assaulting of Cities.

Atlas King of Mauritania, the inventor of Astrology.

Autreas King of Eis, the first that taught Duging and Manuring the Earth.

Bellerophon, from his bestriding of Pegasus in the Fight against Chimera, is by Pliny said to be the first that taught Riding.

Capaneus, the first inventor of scalding Ladders at the Siege of Thebes.

Cadmus Son of Agenor King of Phoenicia, first that brought Letters into Greece, but Diodorus Siculus saith Mary first invented Letters in Aegypt: Moses first taught them to the Hebrews.

Chalcus, first inventor of Shield and Buckler.

Ceanthes a Corinthian, first inventor of Delineation, or making the rough draught of Pictures.

Cleophrastus, that invented colours to paint with.

Closter, found out the use of the Spindle.

Crisibius, found out the Clepsydra, or Water Hour-Glaze.

Cyclopes, the three Sons of Neptune, their Names Bronthes, Steropes, and Pyracmon, were the first inventors of Forges and Smiths work, finding out the use of Brasse, Iron and other Mettals: which most ascribe to Vulcan, whose Servants they are said to be.

Daedalus, the first worker of Wood, and inventor of Carpenters Tooles, as Hammer, Hatchet, Saw, Level, &c. Augur and Wimble.

Danneus, the first that found out Shipping, and taught Navigation after Noahs Arks: he first Sailed over Seas from Aegypt to Greece.

Dibutades, the inventor of Plastick, or the Potters Art.

Dircaeus, the inventor of the blazen Trumpet.

Draco, the first Law-giver (though a ridid one) to the Athenians.

Empedocles, the inventor of the Art of Rhetorick.

Epeus, invented the battering Rame, at the siege of Troy.

Erichthonius, he sprung out of the Earth, where Vulcan spilt his seed; having Dragons Feet to hide their deformity: he invented the use of the Chariot.

Etholus the Son of Mars, invented the Dart or Javelin.

Eumolphus, the first Graffer or Inoculator of Trees.

Eurpalus and Hyperbius, Athenian Brethren, that first built Houses of Brick.

Gyges, the first that drew Pictures in Aegypt. But Euchir in Greece.

Johannes Guttembergus a German Knight, was the first that found out the Art of Printing.

Lycaon King of Arcadia, the first that brought in Truce and Cessation of Arms in War.

Lycurgus King of Sparta the Law-giver of Sparta, and the Lacedaemonians: as Moses to the Jews, Solon to the Athenians, Charandes to the Tyrians, Phaeroneus to the Argives, Dinos to the Cretans, Romulus to the Romans, &c.

Lyfistratus a Famous Artist, the first that found out the Art of Proplistic, or casting of Figures in Moulds.

Paulus Aenetus, the first finder out of the Virtue of the Load-stone.

Phryas, the inventor of the Tibia, and Fistula, two sorts of Pipes.

Pydas, the first inventor of the Coat of Mail, and Cuirasce.

Dyphus, he wouderfully improved the Art of Playing upon the Harp and Lute, that he made Wild Beasts, Trees, and Rocks to Dance after the sound of his Lyre.

Oris King of Argos, the first that propagated Husbandry in Aegypt.

Palamedes, invented Weights and Measures, and of using Calculy, or Counters: both for Computation, and Summing of Numbers, and Votes.

Pan, the Author of the Fistula or Musical Pipe, and the Recorder, both the single, and severall of them joyned together in one: though the double or joyned Tibia is ascribed to Cerpander.

Flavius Sit of Naples, the first inventor of the Mariners compass and use of the Magnet, or Load-stone, in these parts of the World.

Perdit, was the first inventor of the Compass.

Filumnus, the first inventor of Mills for Corn, Baking, and ordering of Corn for Bread: others ascribe them to Ceres.

Pyriteles, the first Carver in Marble, and inventor of Looking-Glasses, which he made first of Silver.

Pythagoras, the first inventor of Arithmetick, and the Art of Numbers.

Pythus, the first inventor of many Games at Ball: I do not say of Gaff, Tennis, or Paille-Maille.

Sesostris a King in Aegypt, first made Ships long, which before were round like a Shield.

Bartholomew Swarth or Niger, a German Friar; first found out the way and use of making Gunpowder, whence sprung the original of Pistols, Muskets, Cannons, Morter pieces, and all kind of fire murdering Engines, about the Year 1470.

Syrhians, the first inventors of the War Engine, called a Catapulta.

Phrygians, the inventor of the Chariots, called Bigae and Quadriga, and of all sorts of Needle Works.

Phaenicians, the inventors of the Cross-bow, Ballista or Brake, and Sling in War.

Lacedaemonians, (as Pliny writes) were the first inventors of the Sword, Helmet, and Spear.

Athenians, first had the use and invention of making Wool into Cloth, and Oyle from Fruit, and to be Planters, Pruners, and Cutters of Vines.

Egyptians boast themselves to have the first invention of Letters, Astrology, Geometry, and the use of the Lamp: and particularly ascribed to the Person of Mennon.

Theodorus de Samos, the inventor of the Norma or Ruler, Key and Lock, and the Turners Wheel, square and level.

Thessalians, the first People that addicted themselves to Horsemanship and Riding, that brought in the use of Bridle and Saddle, and the custom of Fighting on Horseback.

Thracians, the first inventor of the Sithe.

Vulcan, the first discoverer of the use of all sorts of Metals, and the inventor of Smiths Work.

Zoroaster, first King of the Bactrians, who was the only Person as made known the skill of Magick to the Persians.

Anaxagoras, a Noble Philosopher, he by his skill in Astrology foretold what time a great Stone should fall from the Sun; which accordingly came to pass in the sight of many: he was the first that Wrote of the Eclipses of the Moon.

Cecrops, the first King of the Athens, he first invented Marriage amongst the Heathens, found out Images, built Alters, and offered Sacrifice amongst the Greeks.

Cleostratus a Noble Philosopher, the first that Wrote of the Constellations.

Coroebus of Athens one who first invented the making of Earthen Vessels.

Diburades a Potter in Corinth, that first taught how to make Vessels with Figures & Pictures of Men on them.

[]

Cerythras the King, that found out the use of Shipping and Sailing in the Red Sea; as Pliny saith.

Eudorus a Philosopher and great Geometrician, and the first among the Grecians that brought the Year to the course of the Moon.

Hipparchus, the first that found out Mathematical Instruments.

Laocoon the Son of Priamus by Hecuba, Priest of Apollo, he dissuaded the Trojans for taking the Wooden Horse into Troy: because he having run his Javelin into it, made the Armour of the Armed Men in it to make a clatter. But Miaeris was angry with him for it, and caused a Serpent that came out of the Sea to slay him and his two Sons.

Naucrates taught the Egyptians to Write by the Pictures of Beasts and Trees.

Palamedes, he invented the four Greek Letters, $\Theta = X +$ adding them to the 16 invented by Cadmus. He first found out the Eclipse of the Sun, and the Month to the course of the Moon: He found out the skill of ordering an Army, and the giving of a Watch-word, which was said he learned of Cranes.

Perillus the inventor of the Brazen Bull, in which if a Man were put, there should proceed a noise like the lowing or bellowing of a Bull. Phalaris the Tyrant put him in first, and there being tried: he shewed the Experience of his Work with loss of his own Life. It was a good piece of Justice on such a Witty inventor of other Mens mischief.

Prometheus Son of Japetus, Father of Deucalion; He was the first that made Man of Clay or Earth: Minerva would give him his desire if he perfected it, being brought into Heaven, he saw all things lived by Heavenly fire; and having a little Ferula in his hand, he put it to the Chariot Wheel of the Sun, and being kindled brought fire to the Earth, and therewith put Life and Soul into his Man made of Clay. Jupiter being angry thereat sent Pandora with a Box to her Husband, which after he had opened, the flew out thence all sorts of Diseases which infected and destroyed all Men made of Clay and Earth.

Simonides, he was the first that found out the Art of Memory.

Thrasymedes a Schollar to Socrates, he first found out points in reading: as Comma, Colon, &c.

Triptolemus the Son of Celeus King of Attica, who first espied how Corn grew of its own accord, reaped it, and after that Plowed and Sowed more, he grew so skillful that he wrote Commentaries of Tillage, and sent them abroad into the World.

Crismegistus, a Ruler in Egypt in the time of Moses, he first invented Characters for to Write by (not such as we use now) but shapes and pictures of Beasts, Birds, Trees, Fish, &c. whereby in brief they might express their minds: which Characters they called, Hieroglyphickes.

Zoroastes a King of the Bactrians, Anno M. 1951. whom Ninus slew; he first found out Magick, Writ of the nature of Precious Stones, of Astrology and the seven Liberal Arts. At his birth, (it is said) he of all Men only laughed, and that he did so beat, that he did repell the Mid-wives hands.

Bacchus

Bacchus was the first inventor of the Royal Ensign and Ornament for the Head called, the Crown or Diadem, and for that was accounted a Prince.

Cinyra Son of Agrippa, first invented Pincers, Hammer, Anvil, Iron Crow, and the Sithe.

Chalon the first builder of Stone Walls, Towers, and Fortrelles.

Egyptians, first found the invention of Weaving.

Lydiens, the first Dyers of Wool.

Closter the Arachne, the making of the Spindle for Wollen Yarn.

Piccas the Megarcan, the Fullers Craft, the Milling of Cloth.

Boetius, the Taylor Craft in making of Garment.

Lybus the Scythian, the Founders Craft and Casting of Mettles.

Acus, found the Mines of Silver and Gold, and worked in that Mettle, being the Master of Gold-Smiths: others say Cadmus.

Phacritus was the first as brought Lead for the Plumbers to work with.

Carthaginians had the first Honor of being Merchants and following Traffique, and Trading in Merchandizes.

Anisus and Praetus, devised Shields, Bucklers, and Targets, when they Warred with each other.

Cuvians devised the Grievs, the Crest and Pennaches upon the Helmet.

Scythes Son of Jupiter, devised Bow and Arrows.

Acetolians, the Lance and Pike.

Pentethilia the Amazon Queen devised the Grieve, Bill, Halbert, and Battle - Axe.

Pileus, the Boar Spear, Chasing - Staff.

Certes, the Crofs - Bow.

Pileus the Tyrrhemian, the Brason Trumpet.

Pelethromas, invented the Saddle, Bridle, and other furniture for the riding of the Horse.

Anarimander, invented the Sphere, or Celestial Globe.

Acastus in Jolcum, we are beholding unto for the first Solemnities of Funerals, and Funeral Ceremonies.

Trojans and Mylians, are said of some to be the first that sailed in Ships over Seas, passing from one Land to another.

Jason first used the Long Boat, or Ship, or Galley.

Copeans, devised the Oars.

Itarus, the Sails, and Daedalus, the Mast and Crofs Yard.

Epalamus the Anchor, and Typhis the Helme or Rudder.

Men Famous for the Art of Painting.

Some disingenious Spirits will tell me, that Mechanical Arts, and those wrought with the Hand are for the most part base and unworthy, the practise of great Personage and Gentlemen: But let me tell such, that surely it can be no more a disgrace to a great Lord to draw a fair Picture, then to cut his Hawks Meat, or play at Tennis with his Page. Yea far more Honourable to exercise himself in this, then to spend his vacant hours in the sinful practizes of wickedness which tend to nothing but disgrace and destruction.

[]

Quintus Fabius (whose Family was one of the Noblest in Rome, who after had the Surname of Pictores) with his own Hands painted the Walls of the Temple of Salus, and wrote his Name under his own Work.

Pomponius Atticus, a Man of singular Wisdom, who after he had composed a Poem of sundry devises, beautified the same with Pictures of his own drawing.

The Emperour Constantine got his living a long time by Painting: as Sigebert in his Chronicle relateth.

Parrhasius most of all others in his time excelled in drawing in black and white.

Apollodorus among the Athenians was the first that did expresse the Life in colours.

Pyreicus was only famous for counterfeitings of base things, as Earthen Pitchers, a Scullery, Rogues together by the Ears, Swine tumbling in the Mire, &c. Whereupon he was Surnamed Rupographus, that is Painter of base things.

Metrodorus an Athenian, was so excellent in Painting that he was well - nigh Honored as a God.

Aristides, was the most excellent of his time for expressing Sense and Passion.

Protogenes, was the first that could lay his colours so Artificially, that one being worn off, a fresh would succeed to the Number of four or five.

Apelles who lived in 1312 Olympiade, excelled all the rest, yet for Action he gave Place to Amphion.

Zeuxis, L. Manlius, and Pacuvius; excellent Painters who have made many Artificial pieces.

Nothing inferiour to these rare Artists (in my Judgment) have been our Painters of late time viz. within these two Centuries, and many now living at this day in sundry parts of Europe, whose Works do and will remain as famous to Posterity, as Apelles or the best of them all have done to us.

Raphael Urbine, is ever to be admired for that excellent piece of his, in the Church of St. Victore in Millane.

Michael Angelo, his rare Workmanship of the last Judgment in the Popes Chappel in Rome.

Hercole di Ferrara, his Noble Art is seen in Bononia, and the beautifying the Church of Laterane in Rome.

Petro de Burgo, for Prospective.

Albert Durer, for Drapery.

Goldzius, for good standing and bold Action.

Hans Holben, for Sense and the Life.

Marcus de Siena, for Land - skips, with infinite others.

Andrea Mantega, so famous in his Art, that Pope Innocence the eight gave him 2000 Ducats for a Months Work.

Sir Anthony Van Dike, for draught and good postures, and lively Painting, none before him.

Mr. Stennick, for Prospective Work.

Mr. Puck, for Figures and Prospective to be looked through a hole.

Wanderbus, for Pots and Kettles, &c. And Bassano, for Sheep, Cows, Doggs, &c.

Cornelius Johnson, for smooth Painting.

Adrian Vandyman, for a Face and smooth Painting.

V 2

Paulo

Paulo Veroniza, Paulo Morello, Tician, Tintoret, Ruben, Zurck, Kneller, Swiftick, and Miteins, all famous and great Masters for Invention and Painting.

Humphrey Cumber, for sweet shadows, and a true Complexion.

Alan Colson, Alan Somer, excellent for Flowers, Fruit, and Birds, &c.

Nor must I be unmindful of our one Countrymen who have been and are able to equal the best: as,

Mr. Williard and Isaac Oliver, inferior to none in Christendom for the Face or Countenance in small.

Mr. Peak, and Mr. Marques, for Oyle colouring.

Sir Peter Lilly, for Womens Faces.

Mr. Doufman, for Mens Faces.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Wright, for fine curious Painting.

Mr. Richard Blackborne, for a fleshy Face scarce any before him; and an excellent Poet.

Mr. Bloomer, for Country Swain and Clowns.

Mr. Walker, Mr. Dobson, who died in his prime, Mr. Fuller, and Galtorpe, excellent Painters by the Life, with Inventions.

Mr. Smith for Fruit, Mr. More, for generall painting. Booley, for a Face. Lutcher, for Landskip. And Servile, for Drapery.

Mr. William Bumbury, Wilcock, Hodges and Hodgskis, all good Painters by the Life, and otherwise: Mr. Posnes for Draught and Invention.

Mr. Tho. Arundel for good Draught and History painting: with many more unknown to me.

in their proper colours. This is the Badge of the Musick Houle, or Chamber in the City of London.

He beareth Vert, a Woman in a Loose Garment, Mantle flying about, Argent playing upon a Lute, Or. Born by the name of Lutener.

He beareth Gules, a Man in a side Coat of blew, laced in each Seam, Or: on his left Arm hangs a Tabern and a Pipe in his Hand, with a beaking stick in the other, Or. This in short is termed a Taberner, or a Man playing on the Tabern and Pipe; which is no other then a small Drum hung on his left Arm, on which he beats with his right hand with a Drum-stick, and a long Pipe or Whistle in his Mouth held by his said left Hand. The Jews calls this the Tabret and Pipe; the Vulgar a Tabert and Whistle; and Tabern and Pipe.

He beareth Azure, a Turke skipping or holding up one Leg, and his Arms playing or beating on a Taberbase, Or. This is a Turkish Musical Instrument, which they use in all their Dances, and Merry hopping, and leapings.

He beareth Azure, an Angel, Wings Sepulture, Argent, playing on a Recorder, mounted up to the Dexter chief, Or. This is the Coat and Crest of Moun-Angello of Italy: a Cognizance answerable to the name, and that Elusion of the Palmyr, which Shawmes & found of Trumpets sing loud before the Lord, Psal. 98. 6.

Massey Tinter.

This is a New and Late Invention of taking from a Plate any form or shape of Creature without Etching or Engraving, and is performed by smooty shadows, as if the thing were painted or limed with black and white: Is is a very curious Art, and as report goeth, was first found out by Prince Rupert, Son to the King of Bihemia by the Princess Elizabeth, Daughter of King James the First of England.

LXI. He beareth Argent, a Musitioner playing on a Treble Vial, cloathed all in blew with a Scarlet Cloak hanging on his back, Hat Sable, Feather Gules. This is the Crest of Fidler in Countryton.

LXII. He beareth Or, a Bag-Piper playing on his Bag-Pipes proper, Cloathed all in Scarlet, Cloak Azure: Hat and Shoes, Sable. Born by the name of Piper.

He beareth Or, a Man sitting in a Chair with a Base Vial between his Knees playing upon the same all

[]

Musick Vocal or with Strings.

Whether it be Vocal or Instrumental, is a great rejoycer of the Heart, and a lifter of Dead, Drowsie and Melancholly Spirits; being an Art unsearchable, Divine, and Excellent: and is nothing else, but a true Concordance of sounds, which produceth a sweet and delightful Harmony to the Ears of Men, with a pleasing of the Phantasie.

The Scale of Musick, is to shew the Degrees by which a voice Natural or Artificial may either ascend or descend.

Degrees in Musick, are seven which are marked by these Letters: A B. C. D. E. F. G.

The Gam-ut, it is the naming of the Scale, or Notes in Musick which were these six: Ut, Re, Mi, Fa, Sol, La; but now four are only in use, as Sol, La, Mi, Fa: so that Ut, and Re, are changed into Sol, and La.

Cliffs, or Cleaves: are the terms of the seven foresaid Letters, and the Gam-ut or Syllables joynted to them are the names of the Notes or Keys.

Septenaries, are three degrees ascending one above another, and by them is distinguished the three several parts of Musick: as,

The Base, which is the lowest part of Musick.

The

The Mean, or middle part of the Musick. The Cenoz, or Counter - Cenoz.

The Treble, or highest part in Musick. The Can.

The Notes or Keys, are the Syllables of the Gam-ut, which are 20 in Number: as.

E. la.
D. la. sol.
C. sol. fa.
B. fa. mi.
A. la. mi. re.
G. sol. re. ut.
F. fa. ut.
E. la. mi.
D. la. sol. re.
C. sol. fa. ut.
B. fa. mi.
A. la. mi. re.
G. sol. re. ut.
F. fa. ut.
E. la. mi.
D. sol. re.
C. fa. ut.
B. mi.
A. re.
G. ut.

called the Alts, the Treble, or Highest Keys.

called the Cenoz Notes, or the Mean or Middle keys.

called the Base Notes, or Lowest Keys.

The Characters of the Scale are in Number three, as

The F Cliffe, or F fa ut Cliffe, marked thus F. it is the lowest, and is peculiar to the Base, and set on the fourth Line.

The C Cliffe, or C sol fa ut Cliffe, marked thus C which is a fift upon the F Cliffe, and stands for all Cenoz, or inner part of Musick.

The G Cliffe, or G sol re ut Cliffe, is marked thus G and is the Treble or Highest part, and is a fift above the C Cliffe.

The Lines or Spaces, are those Lines made in Song and Musical Books, for the pricking of Songs and Lessonson; which are only five Lines together, they being sufficient for all Notes: if any exceeds higher, it is usual to add a Line in that place.

The Staves of Lines, or Spaces; for Organs, Virginals, Harps, and such like; have two Staves of six Lines together, one for the left hand or lower Keys, the other for the right hand and upper Keys: they are called a Staff, or Stanza.

The Flat in the Song is thus marked b which denotes that if it be in the beginning of a Song, it causes all the Notes in that line or space to be called fa throughout the Song: if in any other place, it serves for that particular Note before it is placed.

The Sharp in a Song is thus marked  this is contrary to the other, for whereas the b take away a Semi-tone or part from the sound of the Note to make it more grave and flat; this  doth add a Semi-tone to its Note before which it is set, to make it more Acute and sharp.

The Notes with their Names and Characters are these as follow.

The Large Note is thus marked || or thus || which is a Double or Treble long Note, which the Latins called Larga or Maxima Nota, which is our large or highest Note.

The Long Note, is thus marked ≡ or thus ≡, containing the space between three Lines: this is in order to a Long Syllable.

The Breve Note is thus marked =, or thus =, being the space between two Lines.

The Semi-breve Note is thus marked o or ! on the lower side of a Line.

The Minim Note is thus marked l or thus l fixed on the top of a Line.

The Crochet Note is thus marked ┐ or thus ┐ on the top of a Line.

The Quaver Note is thus marked ┌ or thus ┌ on the middle of a Line.

The Semi-quaver is thus marked **┐.

The Demisemiquaver is thus marked **┐.

The Rests or Pauses, are the strokes or marks which are set over cross the Lines from outside to outside of the Staff, whether it consists either of five or six Lines: which are called Long Rests, Breve Rests, Semi-breve Rests, &c.

Modes or Moods, are the way of measuring of Notes and they are three; of some four, which are,

The Perfect of the Mode; it is the Measure or Mood in which (time and prolation being employed) a Large contains three Longs; and a Long contains three Breves; a Breve three Semi-breves; and a Semi-breve three Minims: It is thus marked o 3.

The Perfect of the Less, it is the second Mode or Measure, and in it the Large contains two Longs: the Long two Breves, &c. the Time and Measure Note in this Mode is the Breve, and the Sign or Mark is thus, o 3.

The Imperfect of the Mode, is a Measure in which the Large contains 2 Longs; a Long 2 Breves; a Breve 2 Semi-breves; and a Semi-breve (which is the Time Note of this Mood) contains 3 Minims: its Sign or Mark is thus, C 3.

The Imperfect of the Less, (now called the common Mood, the other three being laid aside as useless) it is a Mood wherein 2 Longs makes a Large; 2 Breves a Long; 2 Semi-breves a Breve; &c. so that a Large contains 2 Longs, 4 Breves, 8 Semi-breves, 16 Minims, 32 Crochets, 64 Quavers, &c. The Sign or Mark of this Mood is thus, C or thus **♩.

Time or Measure, is the motion of the Hand or Foot down and up, successively and equally divided;

The Measure or Time Note, it is the length of a Semi-breve in a Song, or Tune.

Bar or Bars, are the distance between the cross strokes with the Lines, or Spaces between them in every Staff or Stanza, thus | or thus **||.

A Director is thus marked ✓ and it is set at the end end of the five Lines, to shew where the first Note of the next five Lines doth stand: Some term it a Direct Character.

A Cy, or Arch stroke thus  either over or under 2. 3. or more Notes: signifies in vocal Musick, so many Notes to be sung to one Syllable: and in Viols or Violins, it signifies so many Notes to be play'd with one motion of the Bow.

A Prick of Perfection or Addition, is ever marked with a point or prick of a Pen on the right side of all Notes thus    and is for the prolonging the sound of that Note it follows, to half as much more as it is of it self.

Tying of Notes, that is when Notes of 2. 4. or more Quavers or Semi-quavers are tied together by a long stroke on the top of the Tails; which though they be so, yet they are the same with the others, being so tied only for benefit of sight, when many of them are altogether thus, those with one stroke through their Tails are Quavers, those with two strokes are Semi-quavers, when have 3. or more strokes, they are Demi-semiquavers.

A Double Tying of Notes, or the second sort of Tye is thus  and it is set over 2. 3. 4. or more Notes to shew they must be all played with once drawing the Bow on the Viol, or Violin.

Tablature, is the placing of Letters, or the Gam-ut Notes on the Lines or Spaces in Musical Books to play by.

A b. is to be observed, that where this Character b. is set before any Note of the Gam-ut, makes it stop a Fret higher.

A X or X. being set before a Note, makes it a Fret lower.

A Sharp Note.

A Flat Note.

A Division in Musick.

A Strain in Musick.

The End of a Straine, is marked with 2 strokes through the Lines thus, || which signifies the end of the Song.

The Straine Repeated, is thus marked  which signifies that part to be Sung over again.

A Repeat is thus marked  and signifies a repetition of the Song from that place only where it is set.

A Stay or Hold is thus marked  and is commonly set at one end of a Song or Lesson to signify the close or conclusion thereof.

A Syncope or Driving a Note, is when after some short Note which begins the Measure, or half Measure, there immediately follows 2. 3. or more Notes of a greater quantity.

Odd Rests, are such as take up only some part or parcel of a Semi-breve, Time and Measure; and have always reference to some odd Notes, by which the Measure is made even.

The Cripla Time, it is marked at the beginning of a Song or Lesson thus  and signifies that the Time and Measure must be computed by threes.

[]

The Common Cripla, signifies the common Measure of time: as 3 Minims.

A Diminution, it is the lessening or abating something of the full value or quantity of Notes: the Sign or Mark is thus  turning of the Sign of the Mood backwards: or else thus  which requires each Note to be playd on sung twice so quick as when it stands the usual way.

A Counterpoint, is the composing of Descant or Tunes for Songs or Lessons by setting point against point, from whence it still retains the name of Counterpoint.

Intervals in Musick, is that distance or difference which is between any two sounds, where one is more grave, the other more Acute.

An Unison or Octave, is one and the same sound, or Tune, whether it be by one voice or diverse in the same Tune.

Semitone, the lesser Second, or half Note.

Tone, the greater second.

Semiditone, the lesser third.

Ditone, the greater third.

Diatessaron, the perfect fourth.

Tritone, the greater fourth.

Semidiapente, the imperfect fifth.

Diapente, the perfect fifth.

Hexachordon mi, the lesser sixth.

Hexachordon ma, the greater sixth.

Sept Hinoz, the lesser seventh.

Sept Hajoz, the greater seventh.

Semidiapaphon, the defective eighth.

Diapaphon, the octave, or eight.

Semi, it is not to be taken for the half of such a Note or Interval in Musick, but only imports a deficiency, as wanting something of perfection.

Concords, is an agreement in Musick: called also Cords.

Discords, is a disagreement in Musick.

Composition, is the composing of Tunes.

Passage of the Concords, is when the parts of a Lesson pass into a contrary motion, as to pass from a 5th. to an 8th. or from an 8th. to a fifth.

The Key, or Mood, or Tone; of a Song or Lesson, is the sound or grace of a Song: which is said to be either flat or sharp, according to the flat or sharp 3d. that is joyned to it:

The Closes or Cadences of Musick, are falls or rising in Musick, which serves as Bounds and Limits to keep it in due Decorum: these Closes or Cadences in any Key or Tone is sometime used in the Middle of a Tone, as well as at conclusions.

Composition of parts, as 2. 3. or 4. parts; is the orderly composing of Tunes, so as 2. 3. or 4. may joyn together in one and the same Song or Lesson, to make a Concord.

Base and Treble, when two play together.

Base, Alt, and Treble; when three joyn in one confort.

Base, Tenor, Alt, and Treble; when the composition is in four parts.

Transition or the Breaking of a Note, that is to make smooth or sweeten the roughness of a Leap by a gradual passing to the Note next following.

Base,

Base, Tenor, Alt, Treble 2. Treble 1. when five are in a consort.

Base, Tenor 2. Tenor 1. Alt, Treble 2. Treble 1. when six are in a consort.

Base, Tenor 2. Tenor 1. Mean, Alt, Treble 2. Treble 1. when seven are in a composition of parts.

Base 1. Base 2. Tenor 2. Tenor 1. Alt 2. Alt 1. Treble 2. and Treble 1. when it is of eight parts: and so they are termed according to their parts.

Diminution, is a discord in Musick yet admitted; that is, when 2. 3. or more Notes of one part are set against one Note of a different part: and this is done by a gradual Transition from one Concord to another.

Syncopation, is another way of Discord in Musick; and that is, when a Note of one part ends and breaks off upon the middle of the Note of another part: it is called Syncops in Discord.

Bindings or Syncopations, are sevenths with sixths: sixths with fifths: fifths with fourths: and fourths with thirds.

Passage of Discords, is the winding or bringing a Discord off, and that is by changing from thence into some imperfect Concord, into which more sweetness seems to be added by the Discord sounding before it.

Note against Note, is another way in which Discords are used in Musick, which is by setting Note for Note of the same quantity one against the other.

Inharmonical Relation, is a harsh reflection of flat against sharp in a cross form: that is, when the present Note of one part compared with the foregoing Note of another part, doth produce some harsh and displeasing Discord.

Diatonick Scale, is the rising in Musick, or Voice; to a fifth and to an eight by two Tones and one Semi-tone.

Chromatick Scale, rises to a fifth by a Tone, and five Semi-tones.

Enharmonick Scale, it rises gradually by Deises or quarter Notes, of which 24 makes an Octave.

Open sound, is the sound of any Musical string stop in the middle, if it be compared to the sound of the open string.

Greater and Lesser Semi-tones, are higher or lower sounds made on a Musical according to the distance of its stops from the Bridge of the Instrument.

Figurate Discant, is that wherein Discords are concerned as well as Concorde: for in this are introduced all the varieties of Points, Fuges, Syncopes or Bindings, diversities of Measures, intermixtures of Discording sounds, or what else Art or Phancy can exhibit: some call it Florio Discant.

Counterpoint, is when each part doth orderly and ordinarily move within its own Sphear: they orderly pass through one another.

Disallowances, are when the higher parts in Musick skips to a fifth or eight, whilst the Bass removes but one degree, or when both parts together skip the same way.

Descant, is the Art of composing of Musick in parts.

A Double Descant, is when the parts are so contrived, that the Treble may be made the Base, and the Base the Treble.

Consecution, is a consequent or orderly following of Musical Notes, as fourths following fifths, &c.

Fuge or Fuga, this is some point consisting in 4. 5. 6. or more Notes; begun by a single Person one part, and then seconded by a following part, repeating the same or such like Notes: The leading part still flying before those which follow.

Per Arsin and Thesis, the inverting of points; that is, where it rises in one part, it falls in another: and so the contrary.

Double Fuges, is when the Musick begins with 2 or more different points, which the parts do interchange by turns.

Theory, or Mathematick part of Musick; is the contemplating, affecting, proportioning of sounds, with all their nice concertments.

Practick part of Musick, is to design contrive, and dispose those sounds into so many strange varieties.

Active or Mechanick part of Musick; is the bringing forth of those sounds, either by the excellent Modulation of the Voice: or by the exquisite dexterity of the hand upon some Instrument.

Several sorts of Tunes in Musick.

Vocal Musick, is the Harmony of the Voice, of which there are different kinds: as namely.

Madrigals, are grave and serious Songs.

Dramatick or Recitative Songs, as Trills and Grappo's used much in Italy, and now in England.

Canzonets, Villanellas, Airs: or what else Poetry hath contrived to be set or sung to Musick.

Canons, Catches, and Rounds: Songs designed for Mirth and Recreation.

Ditty, a Song or Tune: a pleasant Ditty or Snee.

Fancy, it is a chief and most excellent part of Musick, being the Art and contrivance thereof: Fantasia.

A Pavan, is the height of composition made only to delight the Ear: be it of 2. 3. 4. 5. or 6. parts, doth commonly consist of three straines, each straine to be played twice over.

A Straine, is an airy touch of 3 or 4 parts.

Aires, or Ayrie Tunes.

A Galliard, it is a lusty and frolick movement, it consists of two, sometimes of three strains: the Measure of it, always a Tripla of 3 Minims to a time.

An Almaine, it is of a more quick and airy movement: it commonly hath but 2 straines, the first ending most in a middle Key.

A Corant,

A Saraband,

A Country-Dance Tune,

A Jigg, all these are running Merry Tunes.

A Ronupla, is a quick time in Musick peculiar to Gigg and such like: having 9 Crochets between Bar and Bar.

The Dorian Mood, of singing consisted in sober slow tuned Notes counterpoint, where the composition of parts part goes Note for Note together, be they of 2, 3, or 4 parts.

The Lybian Mood, was used to grave solemn Musick, the Descant or Composition being of slow time, and fitted to Sacred Hymns, Anthems, and spiritual Songs; either alone, or in 4 or 5 parts; also Psalms, Versicles, Responsaries, Motets, &c.

The Eolick Mood, is that which is of a more Airy and soft pleasing sound, as the Madrigals aforesaid, and Fa la's of 5 or 6 parts, composed for Viols and Voices.

The Phrygian Mood, is a Warlike and Courageous kind of Musick, expressing the Musick of Trumpets and other Instruments of old exciting to Arms and Activity.

The Ionick Mood, is a far more light and effeminate Musick, as pleasant Amorous Songs, Corants, Sarabands, &c. used for honest Mirth and Delight at Feasts and other merriments.

The Graces or Flourishes in Musick, are of several sorts, the Shake is the principal, of which there are two, as

The Close Shake, is when the first finger stops the first fret, and shake with the second finger as close to it as can be.

The Open Shake, is when the first finger stops the first fret, and shake with the third finger on the third fret.

Double Relishes, is thus marked :

A Backfall Shake is thus marked :

Backfalls have this mark before its notes > 3 >

A double Backfall, thus marked. 3 >

A Beaty is a grace or flourish thus marked before its Notes.

An Elevation is a flourish thus marked +

A Springer, is a grace or flourish marked thus : <

A Cadent or Fall is a flourish thus marked \

A shaked Beat, is a grace in Musick thus marked

An Elevation shaked, is thus marked :

A Cadent shaked is thus marked : > *

A Figure thus 3 is often set at the beginning of a Song or Lesson, which signifies that the time or measure must be computed by threes, and the end of the Song is thus marked  or thus  -

The Musitian or Musitianer, is one that hath the Skil and Art of Musick.

The Principles of Composition, is the Learning of all the Keys, Moods, Notes, and Characters and terms of Musick.

A Consort, is many Musicians playing on several Instruments together.

A Doctor in Musick.

A Batchelor in Musick.

The Rudiments of Songs or Musick.

The Contrivance of Canon.

They that desire farther knowledg in the terms of Musick for the Voice or Viols, let them peruse these Authors.

The Introduction to the Skill of Musick by Jo. Playford.

The Compendium of Practical Musick by Christopher Symphon.

Musick recreation for Viol Lyra way. And Apollo's Banquet for the Treble Viol.

Musick's Hand-Maid for the Virginals, in quarto.

Musick's delight for the Cithern, in Octavo.

Treasury of Musick for Cithern, Theorbo-Lute and Viol.

Wind Musick.

By Wind Musick I mean all sorts of Piping Instruments, as the Flagellet, Flute, Hoboy, Flatter, Recorder, Cibia, Bag-pipes, and such like, which receive sound from the Wind of the mouth.

Now the Directions for young Beginners to attain to the Art of Playing on these said Instruments and several others (sounded by the Mouth, and having holes on the sides to be stoppt with the Fingers) have all of them one and the same method and terms (in a manner) as to their Teaching, which said Terms take in short, as followeth.

Dots, are the Pricks upon the Lines of the Musick Book, which answer to the Holes on the Instrument, thus, 1

Lines for the Pricking of Tunes or Lessons are six in a Stave, which are the number of the Holes, each Line for a Hole.

Notes, are certain Characters placed over the Dots of the Lines for the expressing the measure of time, slow or swift.

A Cypher set upon the uppermost Line, signifieth that in that place or part of the Lesson all the holes are to be open.

Stopt, that is, the holes must be stoppt by the Fingers answering the Dots or Pricks set on the six lines, as

The Thumb on the left hand stops the under hole of the Instrument according to the Dots on the first line.

The first Finger of the same hand, stops the hole on the top, as the Dots or Pricks are set on the second line.

The second Finger of the said hand stops the second hole on the top of the Instrument, according to the Dots set on the third line.

The first Finger of the right hand, is to stop the third hole on the top, according to the Dots on the fourth line.

The Thumb of the right hand, is to stop the second or lower hole under the Instrument, according to the dots set on the fifth line.

The second Finger of the same hand stops the fourth hole above, according to the Dots on the sixth line.

Tunes, or Sounds, or Notes Ascending, are the eight sounds an Instrument gives according to theseveral holes stoppt, as first the six holes to be all stoppt, then 5, then 4, then 3, then 2, then two again, the Thumb and second Finger of the left hand, then 1 hole stoppt, and lastly all the holes open.

Tunes.

Tunes, or Notes, or Sounds descending, are the eight sounds played back again in order downwards as they were raised, beginning with all the holes open, then to stop one hole, then two, &c.

Rising and falling Notes, are those ascending and descending as aforelaid; where note, that the taking up of a Finger raiseth the Note, and the stopping down falls it.

Pinching Notes, or higher Notes, are sounds that ascend 8 Notes higher than the plain notes, and are marked or distinguished from them by a dash drawn through the first or highest Dot, making it a cross; thus $\overset{\times}{\bullet}$.

The Graces in a Tune or Lesson are several, which be thus termed and marked.

A Beat, whose mark or character is thus J which if it be on the same line even with the dot, then you are to lift up that finger, and shake or quaver it on the said hole several times, and lay it down again, before you Play any other Note.

A Shake is thus marked J which if it stand alone upon any other line under a Dot, then with the Finger belonging to that line on which it is set, you must shake and quaver, taking it off again before you Play any other Note.

A Slur or Slide, which is thus marked J beginning at a line and falling back, riseth again and dasheth through it and the line above it; it is placed under the line that hath the dot, and is a tie of that Note to the next following, shewing thereby that those two Notes must be expressed together or with one breadth.

The Mood for Common Time, or Proportion of the Notes, either by two times, as one Semibreve makes two Minims; so one Minim makes two Crotchets; and one Crotchet two Quavers; and 1 Quaver makes 2 Semiquavers. This common time is thus noted C .

The Mood for Triple Time is thus marked C and is multiplied by 3.

The Names of the Notes of time are these, Semibreve, which is thus noted O Minims thus Q Q

Crotchets thus J J Quavers thus J J

Semiquavers thus J J any of these Notes

having a prick added to it at the head on the right side, makes it three of the following Notes, as P is three Crotchets in time, and a P three Quavers.

The Division or Parts of a Lesson is marked with a long perpendicular stroke through all the six lines thus; if the lesson consist of two parts, each is distinguished thus: ||

For the better light to these terms, take and peruse this one Pricked Lesson, having all its Lines, Dots, Graces, and Notes of time.

O	Q	Q	J	J	P	Q	J	P	Q

C	J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J
3	J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J
J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J
J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J	J

LXIII. He beareth Argent, a Crate-Carrier, with his Crate vpon his back, Or: Cloathed in Rusied with a Staffe in his left hand, Hat and Shoes Sable. This is the Crest belonging to the family of Wantherling.

He beareth Vert, a Porter carrying of a Pack, Argent, Corded Sable; Cloathed in Tawney, Cap and Shoes of the third. This is the Badge and Cognizance of all Porters and Carriers of Burthens; they have ever a Leather Girdle about them, with a strong Rope of two or three fouldings hanging thereat, which they have in a readines to bind the Burthen to their Backs whensoever called thereunto.

This is also termed a Pedlar and his Pack; only they differ in this, the Porters Pack reacheth over his head and so answerable below; but the Pedlars is a small Truss, Bundie or Fardel, not exceeding the middle of his head, as numb. 63.

LXIV. He beareth Argent, a Tinker with his Budget on his Back, Hat, Apron and Shoes, Sable; Clothed all in grey; having always in his mouth this Merry cry, Have you any Work for a Tinker.

After the Tinker, may follow the Sow Gelder, and the Bedlam, being all Wandering Knaves alike, and such as are seldom or never out of their Way, having their Home in every place.

The first is described with a Long Staff with a head like to a Spear or a Half Pike; and a Down hanging by his side at a broad Leather Belt or Girdle cross his Shoulders.

The Bedlam is in the same Garb with a long Staff and a Cow or Dr-horn by his side; but his Cloathing is more Fantastick and Ridiculous, for being a Mad Man, he is madly decked and dressed all over with Rubins, Feathers, cuttings of Cloth, and what not; to make him seem a Mad-Man, or one Distracted, when he is no other than a Dissembling Knave.

He beareth Argent, a Chimney-sweeper, Sable; thus in short, but if more larger, term him a Man in a Gown, and Broad Wynted Hat, with a Bag and his poles on his Shoulder, with a Beazom or Brush at the ends, all Sable. This is the Badg of a Chimney Sweeper.

LXV. He beareth Argent, a Salter, or Salt-Man, or Witch-Man, with a Staff ou his right shoulder, with a Salt Basket (or Salt Panmier)

X hu ng

hung thereat, and a Staff in the other hand, Or, Cap Sable, turned up and Cloathed Gules, Hose of the first, Shoes of the third. This was the Antient Crest belonging to that worthy and antient Family of Bruen, or Brun, of Bruen-Stapleford, in Cheshire. But of latter times they have born it as in the following example.

LXVI. He beareth on a Hill in Base, Vert, a Sailer proper; Hat and Shooes, Sable; Cloathed, Gules; his under Coat Argent, with a Staff in his right hand, and a Salt Basket hanging over his left shoulder, Or; the Rope or Withe, Sable.

LXVII. He beareth Azure, a Sailer, Argent, Hauling of a Rope out of the Chief, Sable. If you desire it more fully Blazoned, term him a Sailer, proper, his Cap, Gules, turned up, Or, a Crebat or Sailors Scarf about his Neck party coloured, in a Waistcoat and Canvice Breeches, Hose, Argent, Shoes, Sable; holding of a Rope in both hands, which proceed out of the Dexter chief, of the last.

O. to the Sinister, the like Sailer in a short Coat and Startops, and a Cap turned B. turning A. holding a Rope over cross him, with his left hand up and right down, which is the Coat and Crest of Wideman of Meychrysch.

Terms used by Marriners and Saylor's.

And here as the Art pertains to the Ocean, so I see I must enter into an Ocean of Words; the Profundity and Mystery whereof few Men can attain unto; and for the multitude of them, they are able to make a Dictionary themselves, to which I must refer the Courteous Reader; only here give a touch of their most usual Terms, leaving those pertaining to Vessels and Ships to their proper places.

- Aft, Go aft, go towards the Stern.
- Aft the Fore-Mast, go to the Fore-Mast.
- Aloof, when the Ship falls off from the Wind, she goes aloof.
- Amayne, is to do a thing as fast as may be.
- Anchoring, or Anchorage, is to let fall the Anchor to stay the Ship.
- Arm, is a word of an Allarum; a Ship well Armed is well provided for a Fight.
- Bale, is to lade Water out of the Ships Hould.
- Ballast, is Gravel, Stones, Lead, or any other Goods that is laid in the Belly of the Ship to keep her steady and stiff in the Sea.
- Ballast shoots, when it runs from one side to the other.
- Bear in, when a Ship sails into the Harbour.
- Bear off, when a Ship keeps off the Land.
- Bear up, when a Ship goes right before the Wind.
- Belage, make fast any running Rope, when it is as high as you would.
- Bent the Cable, tye it to the Ring of the Anchor.
- Unbend it, is to take it away from the Ring.
- Berth, as take a good Berth, is a good distance, and room to Moor a Ship in.

Berthing, is the raising or bringing up the side of a Ship.

Bight, a Ropes end; hold by the Bight, is by one of the Fakes, which lies rolled one over another.

Bidge or Buldge, when the Ship strikes to a Rock and springs a Leak.

Bidge-water, it lieth at the bottom of the Ship, and cannot come to the Pump.

Bitter, is to fasten the end of the Cable about the Bits, and so to stop the Ship at Anchor. Bitter end, is the Cable end which is within the Ship.

Blow, as, the Wind Blows home, or Blows through, is when it doth not cease till it comes past that place.

Blows into the Courses, when it is so high that they cannot bear any Top Sails.

Blows hard, fresh, stiff, are expressions of extraordinary Winds.

Board, as Go aboard is go into the Ship.

A Board, within the Ship. To make a Board, is to turn the Ship Windward. Weather board, is Windward.

Board and Board, is when two Ships touch each other.

Bowes, or Bowes-hoa, and Bowse upon the Tackle, is the Sailors Cry when they pull or haul any thing by Ropes.

Breeze Wind, is such as doth daily keep its course; it is also a Sea Turn.

Brooming, is when a Ship is brought a ground, or on the Carreen to be Trimmed and Mended.

Bulk, as break Bulk, is to open the Hould, and sell out Goods.

Outward Bound, when they Sail from the Harbour or Haven.

Inward Bound, going into an Harbour.

Bound Homeward, Sailing home to their own Country.

Boyant, or Buoyant, any thing that is floating, or apt to float.

Buoy, as Stern the Buoy, is to put the Log of Wood fastned to the Anchor into the Water, before the Anchor fall.

Butt-end, is the end of a Plank. To Sprink a Butt, is to have a Plank end loose, in the side of a Ship.

Calm, or Becalmed, is when the Sea hath no Wind.

Camber, or Cambering, is when a Deck lyeth higher in the middle than at each end, it is Camber Deeked, or the Deck Cambers.

Camber keeled, when the Keel is bent upward in the middle.

Capstain, a kind of Windlace to wind and hale up great Weights, as Ordinance, Anchors, &c. Lambed at the Capstaine, is to heave no more at it.

Card, or Sea Card, is a Geographical description of Coasts, with the distance, height and Winds laid down in it, by which the Pilate guides the Ship to its Haven.

Carreen, is the best way of Trimming a Ship under Water. Carreening, is the laying of the Ship on one side, she being on float. To Sail on the Carreen, is when a Ship lieth down much with the Sail.

Car.

Carnell Work, is to Build Ships first with their Timber and Beams, before they put on the Planks. Clinch Work is to Plank the Ship sides.

Caulk, Calking, is to drive Ockham into the Seams, Rends, or Treenels, throughout the Ship, to keep it Tite, and hold out Water.

Chafe, Chafed, is when any Rope or Cable is chafed or fretted.

Channel, is the deepest part of any River or Harbour mouth: It is also meant by narrow Seas. Steer in the Channel, is to Sail in the midst of the narrow Seas.

Chafe, when a Man of War doth follow any other Ship out of his Course.

Chafe pieces, are such Ordinance as lie streight, or right forward on the Head or Stern.

Choak, when a running Rope sticks in a Block or Pullace so that it cannot be haled through.

Clinch, is to rivet or batter a Bolt head on a Ring, or to turn back the point of a Nail, so as to make it fast at that end.

Clinching, is a slight caulking at Sea, or to clinch the Ports, is to drive a little Ockham into the seams of the Ports when foul Weather is suspected.

Cloath, a Sail doth cloath the Mast, when it is so long that it doth touch the Hatches; a Ship spreads much Cloth when she hath broad Sails.

Coats, are pieces of Tarr'd Canvas put about the Masts to keep Water from running down by them.

Compass, is a moveable Instrument with a Fly, whereon are described the 32 Points or Winds, by which they direct their Course at Sea.

Cond, or Cun, to direct or lead the Ship which way she shall go.

Course, as alse the Course, is to Sail on another Point of the Compass. Mistake the Course, is not to know the lying of the Land.

Craft, is any kind of Nets or Lines to catch Fish with.

Cradle, a Frame of Timber to hang by the Ship side to Trim the Ship withal.

Crank sided, is when a Ship will bear but little Sail.

Culver Tail, is the way of setting one piece of Timber into another so as they cannot slip out.

Cut the Sail, is to let the Sail fall. Cut the Cable, is when the Ship rides in a Storm, and she desires to let Sail.

Dead Water, is the Water at the Stern of the Ship.

Disembogue, is to come out of the Mouth of any Gulph.

Dock, is the place where Ships are Builde; of which there are two kinds; a Dry Dock, which is made with Flood Gates to let Water in and out; and a Wet Dock, which is any Creek or Place, where a Ship may cut in out of the Tides way; where it is said the Ship hath Dockt her self, when made a place to ly in.

Diaggs, are any thing that hangs over the Ship into the Sea, which hinders her Sailing.

Draws, or Draught, is meant so many foot as the Ship goes in Water. It draws much Water, it swims deep in Water.

Dregg, or Dregging, is to take a little Grapnel, and let it down into the Water to drag on the ground, to find a Cable which hath been let slip.

Drive, is when an Anchor is let down; and will not hold the Ship, but draws it after her. Drives to Lee-ward, or drives in with the Shore.

Duck up the Clew Lines, or Fore sail, and the like, is used when the same are to be drawn up.

Ease such a Rope, is slacken it; Ease the Bowlings sheets, make them slacker, strain them not so hard; but the proper term is, Rise the Tack, for the Tack being loosed, it rises the Bowling Sheats up from the Chestrees.

Eddy, is the running back of Water contrary to the Tide. An Eddy Wind, is that as returns back or recoils from any Sail.

End for End, is when a Rope runs all out of the Block; or the Cable after the Anchor out of the Ship.

Fatling, is the ravelling of a Ropes end.

Faddom, is six foot; all Ropes are measured by Faddoms, as a Cable or Hawser, so many Faddoms long; and so many inches about; the deepness of Waters is founded by Faddoms.

Fack, is a round of a Rope; how many Facks is in the Rope; how many rounds it hath; see Quoye.

Fall off, is when a Ship under sail, doth not keep so near the Wind, as is appointed, but falls off another way.

Falls of a Ship, are the rising higher and lower of the Decks of a Ship.

Farthel a Sail, is when it is wrapped up close together, and so binds it with the Caskets to the Yard.

Fenders, are pieces of Timber, or the like hung over the Ship sides, to keep other Ships from rubbing their sides. Fend the Boat, is to save her from beating against the Ship side.

Fidd, is an Iron Pin made tapering, to open the ends of Ropes, and the strands when they are to be spliced two Ropes together.

Fidders, are made of Wood to splice Cables.

Floan, is when any of the sheats are not haled to the Blocks.

Flood, is the rising of the Water: Young Flood, Quarter Flood, Half Flood, are all terms commonly known.

Flote, is any thing that swims above Water. Ship is a flote, it toucheth no ground: A Floaty Ship is one that draws but little Water.

Flow, when the Water riseth and over-runs its Banks.

Flon, is the bottom of the Ship on which it stands.

Flush, is when a Deck is laid from Stern to Stern without any falls or risings, or in a right line.

Free, the Ship having Water, it is said, the Pump will free, or not free her. Free the Boat, is to get the Water out.

Fresh, is an extraordinary Land-water coming down a River suddenly. Some term it a Fresh shot.

Fore and Aft, is to come in before, and go out at Stern.

Fore-reach, a Ship that Sails with another, and out-sails it, is said to fore-reach upon the other.

Foul, is when a Ship hath been long untrimmed, so that Grass or Filth grows on her.

Founder or Foundred, when a Ship hath sprung an extraordinary Leak, or else by any Storm great Seas have broken into her that she is half full of Water, so that it cannot be freed; it is said to be Foundred.

Furr, or Furred, is to double Plank the sides of a Ship; it is said to be Plank upon Plank.

Gage, is to measure what quantity of Liquor is either in or taken out, or wanting in a Cask. Gaging a Ship, is to know exactly what Water it draws when it is afloat.

Gale, is when the Wind blows not too hard, but so as a Ship may bear her Top-sails. A Loom Gale, is little Wind, or an easie. A fresh stiff Gale, when it is much Wind.

Girt, is when a Ship lieth cross the Tide.

Grave a Ship, is to lay her on dry ground, and so to Burn off the old filth and stuff; and the laying on of new, is termed paying the ship.

Grip, as a Ship doth grip, when she is apt (contrary to the Helm) to run her head or Nose to the Wind more than she should.

Ground a Ship, or grounding the Ship, is when on purpose she is brought to land to be Trimmed. See Grave.

Gull, or Gulling, is when the Pin of a Block doth eat or wear into the Sheever; or a Yard against the Mast; the wear of it is called Gulling the Mast; of some Galling.

Hale, or over-hale, is pulling at a Rope; over-hale is to pull a Rope contrary ways, to make it flacker and more gentle.

Hall, or Halling of a Ship, is calling to her to know whence she is, and whither she is Bound, and the like.

Hoa and Hae, the Call and Answer of one Sea Man to another, when they Hall each other in.

Hand, or Handing, is the passing or giving of a thing to another, to have it brought elsewhere. Hand this way, or hand it along.

Hatch-way, on the Hatches.

Hawse, the great holes through which the Cables run into the Sea with the Anchor. Fresh the Hawse, is to keep it from fretting the Cable. Clear the Hawse, is to undo the turns of the Cables which lie cross through the winding of the Ship. She rides upon the Hawse, another lies athwart her Hawse.

Head Sea, is when the Water goes one way and the Wind another.

Heave, or Heave away, is fling, or cast away.

Heele, is for a Ship to ly down on a side, whether she is afloat or on ground.

Heels to the Starboard.

Heels to the Larboard.

Heels to the Shoarward, lieth aside towards the shoar.

Heels to the Off ward, is to the Seaward, sideways.

Hitch, is to catch or take hold of any thing with a rope or hook.

Howlson, is when a Ship will hull, try and ride well at Anchor, without rowling and tumbling and labouring much at Sea.

Hoyle, is to hale or pull any thing up into the Ship either with a Tackle or a dead Rope. Hoyle up the Yard, is pull it up.

Hulling, is when a ship is at Sea; and hath taken in all her Sails in calm weather; this is termed lying at Hull or Hulling.

Iron sick, is when the Bolts, Specks or Nails are so eaten with rust and salt water, that they stand hollow in the Planks.

Junk, is a piece of a Cable that is cut off; any part of an old Cable is called a Junk; such as these they hang for Fenders by the Ship sides, or else untwist it to make Plats for Cables, Rope-yarn or Sinner; if old, it serveth to make Ockham.

Reckle, or Reckling, is to turn small Ropes about Cables and Bolt-ropes to keep them from fretting in their several places as they lye; in other smaller Ropes this way of preserving of them, is termed Servicing of them.

Redg, or Redging, is the staying of a Ship in a River by an Anchor, that she go not too near the shoar.

Reenke, is the crossing of a Rope when it runs in a Block, or runs double in a Cable.

Ruittledge, the same to Ballast.

Ruots, as a Bowling Knot.

A Wale Knot, which is made round or knobbed with three strands of a Rope that it cannot slip.

Labour, as a Ship labours when she rous and tumbles very much either a Hull, under Sail, or at Anchor; they labour and roul most when they lye between Wind and Tide.

Lade, is to fill the Ship with Goods or Provision; also some say lade the Water out of the Boat.

Landfall, is a falling to Land on the day assigned, if after the day then it is said to be a bad Landfall.

Land locked, is when a Ship is in a Road or Harbour so as the Land lies round about it, and the Sea lies not open to it.

Land-to, when a Ship is just so far off at Sea as we can see the Land.

Land-turn, is the same of the Land, as a Breeze from the Sea; a Land-wind by Night.

Large, is when a Ship goes neither before the Wind, nor by-wind, but between both; such a Wind is a large Wind.

Lash, or Lashers, is to bind any thing to the sides of the Ship; or Ropes as tye things together.

Lasking, as when we say the Ship goes Lasking or Veering, or Quarter Winds, or Large and Roomer; they are all one, for then the Ship neither goes by a Wind or before a Wind.

Launch, is to put out the Ship to Sea; as Launch a Ship out of the Dock, or out of a Key; also in showing the Hould, they say Launch aft, or Launch forward, when they would have any thing brought further; when they have hoisted up a Yard high enough, or the Top-mast, they cry Launch hoa, that is, hoise no more; and when they are Pumping, if the Pump sucks, then they cry Launch-hoa, that is, Pump no more.

Lay a-land, when a ship is sailed out of sight of the Land.

Leak, is when a ship lets in water; some say she hath sprung a Leak, or makes much water.

Lee, is understood to be that as is opposite to the wind, as Lee-shoar, the shoar against which the Wind blows.

Lee the Helm, put the Helm to the Lee-side of the ship, that side as the Wind blows not on.

Lee-ward, is not fast by the Wind. To come by the Lee, or lay the ship by the Lee, is to bring her so that all her sails lie flat to the Masts and Shrouds.

Let fall, is the putting down of any of the Sails and Yards; but in the Top-sails they say heave out the Top-sails, and set the Mizen sail, and not let it fall.

Lifts, as topping the Lifts, is the haling of the Top-sails lifts, as Top a Starboard, or Top a Port, that is hale upon the Star-board or Lar-board lifts.

Loom Gale, see Gale.

Loom, or Looming of a ship, is the Prospect of a Ship; as the ship Looms a great Sail, that is seems to be a great ship; the Looms but small, is or seems to be but a little ship.

Ly under the Sea, when in a Storm the Ship is a Hull, and makes fast the Helm a Lee, so as the Sea breaks upon the Bow and Broadside of the ship, then she is laid under the Sea.

Matt, or well Manned, when a ship hath Men enough to guide and defend her.

Marling a Sail, is to fasten a ript Sail to the Bolt-rope: By Marling is also meant a small Line of untwisted Hemp to be gentle, to tye up the ends of Ropes from farsing out, or ravelling, or keep them from untwisting.

Marling Speck, is an Iron made of purpose for the splicing together of small Ropes.

Matts, are clouts or thrums to save things from galling.

Mow, or Mowing, is to lay out her Anchors, as is fit for to ride by, which is no less than two.

Mow a cross, is to lay out 2 Anchors, one on one side, and the other on the other side the River.

Mow along, is to lay an Anchor in the Stream out at the head, and another at the stern.

Mowing Water-shot, that is quartering between both.

Neal too, is when the Water is deep down close to the shore, without any showing.

Neap, or Neap Tide, is a low Tide, or falling of the Tide.

Observe, is to take the height of Sun or Star with an Instrument whereby to know in what Degree and Latitude the Ship is.

Off ward, is when a Ship is on shoar, and lies side-ward to the water, or if the stern lie to the Sea, it is said he stern lies to the off-ward (that is to the sea) and her head to the shoar-ward.

Over-set, when a ship with bearing too much Sail is blown over on a side, and so foundred in the sea.

Overthrow, when a ship is cast on one side to be Trimmed.

Oze, or Ozie, is a soft limy muddy ground.

Pantch, the same to Matts.

Parcell, or parcelling a seam, is to seal it over with Canvas and Pitch and Tar made hot.

Pay a seam, is to Pitch and Tar it after it is caul-

Pawle, is a little piece of Iron which is a stay or stop to the Whelps of the Wheel of the Captain.

Pitching, is setting of the Main Mast in its place or stop.

Plott, see Card.

Pointing the Cable, is to keep it from farsing or untwisting.

Purchase, is the fast drawing, caining, or coming in of Rope by haling with the hands.

Quoyse, or quoyse of Ropes, is a Rope laid up round, one take over another: A Quoyse of Cable, that is a Cable turned round up: A Quoyse is the whole Cable or Rope; if half be cut away it is called Half a Quoyse.

Quarter Winds, are when they come in A-bast the Main-Mast shrouds just with a Quarter.

Rabbit, is the hollowing of the Keel that the Planks may fit in.

Reach, is the distance of any two points of land, in a right line to one another.

Reeve, is to put in and put through, or passing through. Reeve the Rope in the Block; and unreeve the Rope, or Brakes, Lifts or Shears, &c. that is, take the Ropes and draw them out of the said Blocks.

Rides, or a Ship rides when her Anchors hold her fast.

Road, is any place where a ship may ride at Anchor.

Robbins, are little lines reeved or put into the eyer holes of the sails to make the sails fast to the yards; make fast the Robbins, is to tye them; Land Men say tye a Rope, but Sea Men use the word make fast such a thing.

Round in, or Rounding aft, is to hale the sails of the Main and Fore-masts down, to keep them steady from flying up when the Wind larpes upon them.

